All you people in the race for out-doing each other in loud colored clothes can stop trying. Frank won first prize with his luminous green job and now his bright yellow with a lady and tiger painted on the front. . . . FLASH: Hide your silverware if you see Lorraine around in her red hooded jacket, or was the joke on you, Lorraine? . . . Nancy's face was quite red when she reached into her purse for bus fare and came out with a very cold baked potato. Shame on you, Mildred. . . . Noah Kuntz now carries a firearm to work. We needn't worry as we found out that it was only a toy. . . . We welcome George Jennings, Bill Mowery and Harold Settlemyer to second trick. . . . We are glad to see Rollie back. . . . Vi Schnepp looks nice in her new hair bow. . . . We hope Celeste Farrell likes her new home. . . . Leon Bond paid us a visit last week. . . . Glenn France is in the doghouse. He forgot his wedding anniversary. . . . Edna Knuebuhler is the proud aunt of a new nephew. . . . We are glad to see Jane Eiler back with us. . . . Fred, were you so excited about getting married Saturday that you slipped and hurt your hand? . . . Bill Edmunds has a new nickname, "Buster." . . . Max Kimble uses his black schedule book to meet new people. What is your new approach, Max? . . . Carmela, to be an officer in an organization, one must be a member of the same organization. . . . "Maude" Lois DeBolt had been having machine trouble. It sounded as if she had a machine gun in that corner. . . . Dave Mannix is a super candy salesman. If in doubt, see Kathryn Bailey. . . . Dick Rump reminds Jackie of Grand Canyon. Why, Jackie? . . . All those different shades of green Jimmy Witzigrueter was wearing on his face last week was caused by a new pipe. . . . Otto Reitdorf gave himself a hot seat last week. As the story goes, he had quite a fire in his pocket. Otto, carry a lighter; it would be safer.

CONGRATULATIONS: Mr. and Mrs. Walt Gerke are proud parents of a new boy, James Paul, their second. Their baby outweighs Miller's even after it's two weeks old. Don Miller says if his baby gains four ounces a day that makes one pound for every four days or 91 pounds at the end of a year. That's a hard record to beat, Gerke. . . . SECOND SPRING: Dottie Brubaker attended a Printers' Auxiliary Convention at Evansville. Spring was in full swing for the temperature was in the 90's. If she stays here long enough, she may see a repeat performance. . . . RED HOT: Spring weather and red necks go hand in hand. The earliest entries of our sunburned turkey neck contest are Lowell Ray, Jack Clarkson, Bob Dobbin and Don Miller. . . . MOTHER'S DAY: Nancy Grosh will be eligible to celebrate, because she's the proud mama of a new fire engine red Ford convertible. . . . MISTAKEN IDENTITY: Betty Rose lost a small knitting needle and it was found by Don Harbour. Guess what he thought it was; a ball point pen. . . . WELCOME: Welcome to Milton DeJean, Jim Stokke and Bob Cochran. All are test engineers. Also: Ruth Epperson, an engineer's assistant.

Ten teams have entered the Interdivision Softball League for the 1951 season. This is the largest number of teams in recent years.

Although it was decided in a league meeting, April 24, that play would begin May 7, regular league games will start Monday, May 14, because floodlights will not be available until that date.

The games will be played at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in McMillen Park.

The following teams have entered in this year's league play:

Team	Manager
Apprentice Alumni	John Jeffers
Fireman	Art Lindenhurg
Squares	Al Reynolds
Works Lab	Bill Hunt
Winter St.	Hector Frazor
Test Engineers	D. Bergermeister
Fractional	R. Rasor
Small Motor	L. Haley
Taylor St.	R. Howell
Motor-Generator	C. Young

TAYLOR ST.... DIVISION 17
by Margaret Stahl

Dale Ross spent the week-end in Lansing, Mich., visiting her daughter and son-in-law. . . . Where was Bob Heinzelmann Saturday night during the big blow at Tri-Lakes. Were you under the table, Robbie? . . . Robert Robertson is starting a garlic farm. Gladys Pantazin brought him in the start in his garlic business. . . . Virginia Buesching had a very interesting trip to Milwaukee by plane Saturday and visited MacArthur Square and his home. She returned home by plane Sunday afternoon. . . . We welcome Ruth Clark in Group 17x52. . . . We are sorry to hear that Betty Pion is on the sick list again. . . . Yes, sir, it just goes to show you what a nice week-end will do to people. It makes 'em self-conscious, or embarrassed or sump'n. Judging from Ross Strodel's ears Monday morning, somebody must really have been talking about him. Were they ever done to a turn! . . . Oh, yes, Dan Bishop goes to the lake to work, not fish. Imagine that! Darn that spring housecleaning. . . . Beverly Numhers has finally evened the score with Ralph Keller by bringing in a cherry pie that was edible. He wasn't the only one that rated as several of the group had a piece. We will enjoy pie like that any day, Beverly. . . . L. Ray Shreve, former resident of Fort Wayne, and husband of Mary Shreve, is now located here in the real estate and insurance business. . . . Louise Keller celebrated her birthday Thursday. Thanks for the treat, Louise, and many more happy birthdays. . . . Some people should learn to ask for what they want instead of pointing. In the cafeteria, they would get fish instead of pork loin. For particulars, ask Delores Shull. . . . It is reported that wedding bells will be ringing in kindergarten one of these days for Mary Smith. . . . Linda Wahrer spent the week-end in Cleveland visiting her nephew who has been a patient in the hospital but was released Saturday. . . . Anybody wanting a bargain in street car checks, see Mary Shreve. . . . Would someone advise George Marschand how he and his wife can keep their secret orders from conflicting. . . . We wonder if Herman Watters couldn't make it to work Monday on account of the new time. . . . Elinor Laux attended the wedding of her niece Saturday at Sidney, O.

Summertime always brings about enthusiasm to get the work done so one can enjoy various sports and the outdoors. . . . Bertha Furge, who is now on first shift, said she'd like to tell Babe Gephart that she saw Babe's brother one evening. . . . Russell May said his foreman is really a pal with the employees. When production went over the top last week, Harry Chism treated the gang to candy bars and cigars. . . . Bea Lantz found the needle in the haystack, or we should have said in the wastebasket. . . . We welcome two new girls on Line Three. They are Vivian Tennell and Ella Grimes. Hope you like us, girls. . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Ethel O'Leary, who had a major operation at the St. Joseph Hospital last Monday. Drop her a line or a card. Ethel is a former employee of Bldg. 17-3. . . . We hear Jack Underhill is fond of pigeons and expects to go into business. . . . Frank Beck got tangled the other evening and had a rough time. . . . Iva Stephan returned from her winter vacation and has her housecleaning done. She now has left for a vacation in Michigan. Lots of luck when you go fishing, Iva. . . . Kay Dolan told Mary Stroup to be sure and spray those quince trees so the girls could have plenty of quince honey or Kay wouldn't fix Mary's hair anymore. . . . When asked why she took her glasses off while working, Marge Radu replied, "They hurt my eyes." . . . Barbara Nine wondered if her coat had shrunk. She found out the belt was tied in a knot. . . . Mabel Drummond and her family spent Sunday visiting her sister at Monroeville.

Ted Schlup had a remarkable stroke of luck recently. His brood sow had a litter of 13 pigs instead of the six Ted had estimated. Upon hearing the good news, Ted was radiant with joy the rest of the day. Congratulations, grandpa. . . . Did you ever know that Frankie Enderle was once a shoe cobbler and also worked for the Missouri, Valparaiso and Indiana Railroad? Or that Rudy Rastenburg once lived in Missouri and Texas? Or that Frank Elder and Art Keller were once members of the underground? That is, they dug ditches for the city of Fort Wayne. Or that Leland Brown was once a school teacher? Or that Willie Irmscher was once a noted soccer player? . . . Slim Neireiter, however, until he was 21, was only an apple-cheeked farm lad, and look at him now, a stalwart boring mill operator. It is rumored that Clayton Dafforn was once an undertaker's assistant, a kind of apprentice Digger O'Dell. . . . We wonder if Charlie McCormick's shooting ability has improved since he joined the rifle club. . . . Cal Case is looking for some nice girl to give him a Toni. Cal's last hair cut happened Jan. 5, but he promises that just as soon as it warms up, he'll get sheared again. . . . George Winans, the Al Capp of Bldg. 22, possibly doesn't realize that he takes horrible chances with his life every time he leaves the confines of Bldg. 22. To see him strolling blithly down the main aisle of Bldg. 19-3, whistling cheerfully, you'd think that he didn't have a care in the world. Take warning, my friend, after all those cartoons you've drawn, I doubt if you have a friend left among all those that know you. . . . We welcome Doug Heckman to Bldg. 19-3. Doug is breaking in with Otto Pflueger. He is also president of the G-E Rod and Gun Club. . . . There are two sure signs of spring, the swallows coming back to Capistrano and Elmer Warner taking off his heavies. We can't say about swallows but the other day Elmer showed us that the heavies were doffed. . . . Clyde Becker or rather Henry Becker, was hotly indignant a couple of weeks ago when his picture appeared in the paper with another man's name under it.

Tournament of Champions

WOMEN'S DIVISION: Team No. One of the Monday girls' league walked off with the sweaters. They shot a 3,011 total on games of 987, 1,041 and 983. Helen Wagner's 516 on scores of 158, 188 and 170 paced the girls. Other members of the team are Ilo Matter, Mary Leiter, Evelyn Scheuman and Marge Huber.

Other scores in the women's division were Friday Night Girls, 2,917, and Tuesday Afternoon Team No. 11, 2,806. The Friday girls were led by Liz Schearer's 498, and J. Korn's 492. D. Hoffman of the Tuesday Afternoon League rolled a 428 to head the league.

Men's Division

The Brouwer Tire and Battery team's 3,182 took first place honors. They had games of 1,068, 1,027 and 1,087. The team was paced by Les Shroyer's 591. Other members of the team are Elmer Schoenlien, Vic Rump, Frank Matthews and Paul Perry.

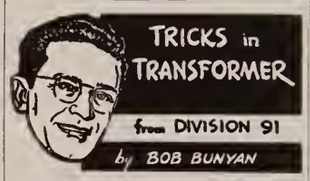
Other scores were as follows: Shafts of Div. 14 League, 3,070; Standardizing of Office League, 3,039; Models of Small Motor League, 3,004; KSP of Specialty FHP League, 2,952; Squares of the Masonic League, 2,912; Fan Motor, Taylor St. League, 2,826, and No. Eight, Apparatus League, 2,802.

Lloyd Parrish had the high series of the tournament, a 601 on scores of 177, 213 and 211.

Two hundred scores were rolled by Vic Rump, 202 and 201; Frank Matthews, 211 and 202; Paul Perry, 213, Les Shroyer, 201; Carl Hattendorf, 203; Frank Schlink, 204; Bill Piercy, 218; Ken Williams, 202, and L. Glougie, 233.

High scores in the Girls' Division were Mary Leiter, 188; J. Korn, 192, and Liz Schearer, 180.

Sounds from the Alley



The bowling ball given away by Frank Brouwer of Brouwer's Tire and Battery was won by Jim Ruhl of the Masonic League.

I guess this just about winds up another season. So long until next fall.

Ham Practice Slated

Ham League softhall practice sessions will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, at Packard Park and 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 10, at Hamilton Park, Bill Schible, team manager, announced today.

The team is made up of men over 35 years old who still enjoy playing softhall.

Joe Hendrickson says he doesn't have fun anymore. He hasn't lived the past six years and is getting as much sleep as Rip Van Winkle, living in his country home where he doesn't have electricity. . . . Anyone knowing of some part time jobs open should contact Doyle Miller. Group 16 is very interested. . . . Group 15 welcomes two new men, Stanley Wagner and Bob Loveett. Both are very fine boys. . . . Don't think Paul Noffze is mad at you if you see him waving his arms. That is just sign language he and George Christman use everyday. . . . Fred Wellensiek has suggested that Jim Stauffer take care of his chickens while Fred is away. Jim could feed them on the way to work, do the same going home, plus gather the eggs. This could be a solution to Jim's meat problem. . . . Happy birthday to Orlo Eamick. Our thanks to you and Mrs. Eamick for the very good home-made candy. . . . John Laymon has been released from the hospital and will appreciate you calling at his home, 457 W. Williams. We wish a speedy recovery, John. . . . Harold Jamison, the third trick whip, rules his crew with an iron fist. There is, publicly posted, a notice of what his boys can expect in case there are idle moments. . . . William Gepfert tried hard but vainly to pour coffee from his thermos jug. Upon examination, he found two weiners stuffed into the bottle, obviously by the children. . . . Winfred E. Guldice could probably hold his place in line if he would quit hollering about going out. Maybe he wouldn't go out of the line on the fly so often. . . . Scotland Yard will evidently have to be called into the "Case of the Bolts and Nuts." . . . Ed Haas promised some second shift news which we didn't receive. He said he was too busy working this week (no comment). . . . To those involved in the discussion of the selection of language used, we think it would do good to think of an old proverb this way, "Say and do unto others as you would have them say and do unto you."

Corporate Profits Help Increase Flow of Income to All Classes

WHEN a wage earner steps up to the company pay window, collects his wages for the week and then stops by a grocery store on the way home, almost anyone can see what becomes of a sizable slice of his take-home pay. The balance probably will be spent on rent, clothes for the children, a weekly movie or some other typical family expenditure. This is as it should be.

But when the profit statement of a corporation is released to show the owners' share of the fruits of production, some people seem to think an outrage has been committed against society.

They want to know what becomes of these thousands or even millions of dollars. Are they hoarded, exported or buried with the gold at Fort Knox? Are they spent on luxurious estates, pink-tiled swimming pools and cases of imported champagne? Or is it possible that these profit dollars, in much the same manner as wage dollars, may become a part of the healthy flow of ready cash throughout the economy and may even turn up at the corner grocery store, neighborhood theater or department store?

The truth of the matter is that the bulk of corporate profits, if and when earned, are not sterile things incapable of begetting any good. In fact, there are really only two basic alternatives confronting those who must decide what to do with business earnings after payment of taxes. A company may (1) retain its earnings for some legitimate business purpose, or (2) pay out its earnings to the owners of the operation in the form of dividends.

No matter which of these two courses is followed, the important point here is that the profits are spent. If, for example, the directors of a corporation elect to withhold some of the earnings for a new building, money will be spent on steel, cement, electric wiring and the thousands of other items which construction of a modern plant requires. Not only is this company buying the skill and labor of the construction crew required on the job but it is also paying a part of the wages of workers all along the line.

But if profits are not spent by the company itself, they must be paid out in the form of dividends. The Internal Revenue boys prevent hoarding of earnings by imposing special surtaxes on "unreasonable additions to surplus." Once dividends are paid, the responsibility for spending falls upon the individual stockholders and their families.

Since about one third of corporate dividends go to persons with yearly incomes of less than $5000, this responsibility probably does not create a very difficult problem. It is true that some thirty years ago only about 300,000 persons owned corporate securities. But today, the total number of shareholders has been estimated at from ten to fifteen million persons, obviously not all millionaires and most of them ordinary Americans with saving habits.

The fact that any business shows a substantial increase in net income from one year to the next has been offered repeatedly as clear-cut evidence of rascality. Perhaps if some of the mystery which shrouds the use of business profits can be dispelled, the importance of profits to all classes in a healthy economy will be more generally understood.

General Electric's Employee Relations Division prints the above digest of an editorial by Arthur M. Whitehill, Jr. in the April 28 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, because of its timely interest.

Volume 34 FORT WAYNE, INDIANA, FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1951 No. 19

God took the sunshine from the skies
And made the lovelight in your eyes;
From honeyed flowers he took the dew
And made your tears—unselfish, true.

Upon a rock He built your faith
With angel prayers He gave you breath;
And with His love made yours devine
But best of all—He made you mine

Value Measured by Satisfaction

Several months ago General Electric took a company-wide inventory. But G-E didn't add up its physical assets—the toasters, turbines, lamps, buildings and material on hand.

It was a human inventory, the adding up of the stake each employee has in the Company.

It was called "Your Share in General Electric's Employee Benefit Plans," and it showed every participating employee his personal share in the Company's Pension, Insurance and Savings and Stock Bonus Plans.

In one simple, four-page pamphlet each employee could see at a glance what his pension would be when he retired, how well he was protected under the Insurance Plan, and the amount of U. S. Savings Bonds and G-E stock bonus he had credited to his account.

Worth Not Measured by Money

It took several months to take this personal inventory. And it was a costly undertaking for the Company. But, unlike physical property inventories, its worth was not measured in dollars and cents. Its plus values have been measured in terms of employee satisfaction, as expressed in the following letter, from Mr. Joseph A. Hines of the Schenectady Works, which is typical of the many received by G-E works managers:

"I have received the statement regarding my pension, bonds, insurance and other benefits that I am entitled to and I want to tell you that, in my opinion, it is one of the finest things that the G-E Company has ever done for its employees.

"I realize that the cost of compiling this data, both in time and money, has been considerable, but no one, except an old timer like myself, can understand what a load of worry and speculation it has taken off my shoulders.

"If the people of the countries behind the 'Iron Curtain' could see my statement it would certainly give them a new viewpoint as to the treatment given an ordinary employee by a great Company under the capitalistic system.

"The only bad feature (from the Company's standpoint) is that I feel so much better now, physically and mentally, that I shall probably live at least five years longer than I would if I had kept on figuring and worrying for the next five months until I retire.

"Please let me thank the Company through you."

REMEMBER WHEN?

30 Years Ago

1921—At an open meeting for all inspectors and testers, a gentleman from Scheneetady gave a talk on refrigeration, whieh was not at all "eold and frosty" as the title might indicate. As part of the program a beautiful "Hawaiian Maiden" expounded the mysteries of the Hula Hula. The "Hawaiian Princess" was none other than George Bashara of the Receiving Department.

20 Years Ago

1931—The following managers were selected to guide the Interdepartment Baseball League: Apparatus, Ed Koeh; Apprentice, Adam Farrell; General Service, E. C. Huth; Squares, N. M. Chapman; Meter, Raymond Smith; Veterans, Freeman White; Small Motor, William Weber; Transformer, Ernest Hanauer. Ray Lindenuth and Osear Shady will again handle the indicators for the league eontests.

10 Years Ago

1941—Charles E. Wilson asserted an "overwhelming faith and confidence in the final result" of America's national defense program. . . . "We have not yet fully awakened to our present danger. . . . behind the headlines of the day, there is an outpouring of economie and industrial activity, which will ultimately decide the pressing issues."

5 Years Ago

1946—Thirty-three more veterans of World War II have returned to take over their peaee-time jobs at G-E. Each returning veteran reeeived a leather folder for their diseharge papers as a gift from the Company.

TWO MINUTES MORE

Darkness had fallen,
'Twas Saturday night.
Storm clouds were outlined,
By flashes of light.

High overhead,
In the inky black dome,
Was a transport approaching
With folks coming home.

Majestic and stately,
It glided along,
No one suspecting,
Anything wrong.

Far down below,
And away to the right,
A million stars twinkled,
'Twas Fort Wayne at night.

Two minutes more,
Came the pilot's report.
Two minutes more,
They would land at the port.

Two minutes more,
Doesn't seem very long,
But it takes only seconds
For things to go wrong.

Then, out of those clouds
Broke the storm with its force,
And the pilot to miss it,
Tried changing his course.

But caught in the grip
Of the hurricane's might,
The plane with its cargo,
Went down in the night.

A crash, an explosion,
A last second prayer,
And then kindly darkness,
For all who were there.

You see when Eternity
Opens the door,
There is no such a thing,
As "Two minutes more."

—W. L. Whonsetler.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the siek list and returned to work:

Siek List

THIS WEEK'S COVER

Our cover mother, Mrs. Eleanor Paetz, is a retired G-E employee with 29 years of serviee, 20 of them continuously. She is a former winding maehine operator from Bldg. 17-2 and Taylor St. Her son and two daughters, like sons and daughters everywhere, claim their "mom" is the most wonderful in the world. Mrs. Paetz lives at 2206 Thompson Ave.

Two brothers and former G-E employees, Pfc. James D. and Pfc. Richard J. Ludlow, are serving with the Marine Corps. Both left Fort Wayne Aug. 25 with Company B, 18th Infantry Battalion of the Marine Reserves. James reeeived his training in Yokasuka, Japan, and was sent to Korea. He was wounded Feb. 24, hospitalized in Japan and later returned to duty with the First Marine Division. Richard received part of his training at Oceanside, Calif., and is now being trained at San Diego with the 7th Engineer Reeruits. . . . Pvt. Henry G. Betley, who enlisted last December, is now stationed at Camp Polk, La. . . . Bill Bunnell visited the second shift crowd in Bldg. 17-3 last week. He is now stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Verl H. Ohmart and Lester W. Hahn have left the Company to enter the Army.

Here are some addresses of employees now serving in the armed forces:

Blood Transfusions, Ambulance Benefits Paid by Co. Insurance

Included among the many benefits which are available to all employees covered by the General Electric Insurance Plan are coverage for ambulance and blood transfusion expenses.

Ambulance fees to and from the hospital, whether furnished by the institution or private facilities, are considered chargeable to the $100 which the Plan allows for special hospital services.

Expenses incurred for blood transfusions are returned under the Insurance Plan in several ways. First, as part of the $100 special hospital services benefit which covers such things as X-rays and anesthesia and, second, if the balance for transfusions exceeds the amount available under this benefit, the insured has further coverage up to $150 under the schedule of surgical operations—if the maximum surgical benefit has not been used up. Maximum payment for blood transfusions, as listed under the schedule, is $25 for each one, with a total of six covered by the Plan.

Costs Employee $5

For example, if an employee requires eight transfusions costing $200, other expenses costing $30 and a surgeon's fee of $50, payable under the schedule, he would have a balance of $70 from the hospital services benefit to apply to the $200 cost. In addition, he could collect $125 from the surgical schedule which is the amount available in this case. The $125 plus the $50 paid for surgical fees equals the top payment of $175 allowed. Thus a balance of $70 added to $125 would cover $195 of the $200 transfusion cost. In this example, the employee pays only $5 of the total bill.

New Adventures Ahead Magazine Has Many Interesting Articles

Teen-agers who are thinking about their future will find three articles to interest them in the May-June issue of Adventures Ahead.

"Don't You Want to Be An Engineer" was written by G-E Vice President Harry A. Winne, because he believes that young men faced with military service should not forget the long-range view. He tells why he chose engineering and why he thinks young men would be interested in that career.

For girls, whose influence will be felt in the home and community of tomorrow, there is an organization called Girls' Clubs of America. "Getting Ready for Tomorrow" tells how the Pittsfield girls of this organization have fun and at the same time learn to make themselves useful through their club.

The manner in which one employee put his G-E foundry training to work in Germany during the last war is told in "A Foundry with a Future."

Two "how-to-do-it" articles give instructions on making your own telescope to study the stars and explain how to build a tough table top out of plywood and Textolite.

Adventures Ahead is available on a free-subscription basis for teen-age children of G-E families.

Shorter Lunch Period to Affect Only Broadway Salaried People

Half-hour lunch periods for salaried employees at the Broadway Plant will be put into effect Monday, May 21, Ab Martin, works manager, announced this week. Employees whose starting time is 8 a.m. will continue to begin work at that time, but will quit work at 4:30 p.m.

The change is being made in response to many petitions in its favor, Mr. Martin said. The new schedule will be tried out during the summer months, when Daylight Saving Time is in effect. Toward the end of the summer, the situation will be reviewed and studied in order to determine its success and the advisability of changing it or continuing it throughout the year.

Schedule Outlined

Staggered lunch periods for divisions have been established so the maximum number of employees can be accommodated in the cafeterias. Broadway salaried employees have been divided into three groups as follows:

Group 1 will include all salaried employees of the Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions and the Large Motor and Generator Divisions. Lunch period for this group will be from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m.

Group 2 will include all salaried employees of the Fractional Horsepower Motors Divisions at Broadway. This group will have a lunch period from 12:30 to 1 p.m.

Group 3 includes all salaried employees of the Works Service Divisions at Broadway. Their lunch period will be from 12:45 to 1:15 p.m.

The schedules do not include salaried employees such as foremen who take their lunch period at the time hourly-rated employees are scheduled. Such salaried employees will continue to have their lunch periods at their regular times.

Purdue Summer School Classes Will Begin At Center June 18, 25

The summer school schedule of both college credit and Technical Institute classes at Purdue University Center has been announced by Dr. R. M. Bateman, director of the Fort Wayne Center. Classes will start June 18 and 25.

Doctor Bateman has stressed that this will be the last semester for veterans to start training under the G.I. Bill as official cut-off date for beginning schooling is July 25, 1951.

Veterans interested in taking one or more courses in the eight weeks summer program should start processing eligibility papers at once for enrollment this summer.

Technical Institute classes scheduled are: technical report writing, practical speaking, psychology applied to industry, technical drawing, machine drawing, advanced

Reservations for Elex Bermuda Journey Will Be Accepted Here Through May 31

Reservation deadline for the Elex-sponsored trip to Bermuda during vacation shutdown has been set for Thursday, May 31, Veora Habig, travel chairman, said today.

More than 150 members of G-E women's organizations have made reservations, Mrs. Habig said. Thirty girls from Elex are already scheduled to board Pan American Clippers for the four-day trip. Ninety women from Schenectady have made plans for the excursion and Interclub members from Bridgeport and Bloomfield are also participating.

Pan American Clippers will leave La Guardia Field in New York on four successive days, Monday, July 30, through Thursday, Aug. 2. Interclub members and their friends will stay at the island's finest luxury hotels. The all-inclusive price of $159 includes air travel, meals, lodging and sightseeing fees.

A Bermuda news release advises tourists to wear sneakers and hire a bicycle to get the fullest enjoyment from a Bermuda visit. With a picnic lunch and bikes, tourists can sightsee in every corner of the island, Mrs. Habig explained.

Bermudians protect the beauty of their islands. There are no billboards, nightclubs or industry to mar the landscape. The island's only factory is a vine-covered, white-washed house where perfume is made from native flowers, travel folders declare.

HOUSEWIVES NEEDED!

Part-time employees are needed to help operate the Broadway Plant Cafeteria for two to three hours daily, W. E. Beer, supervisor of Employment, said today. Available to women who can leave their homes during the noon lunch hour, the positions offer good pay, uniforms and a meal.

Interested housewives should contact the Broadway Employment Office immediately for complete details, Mr. Beer said.

Elex Notebook

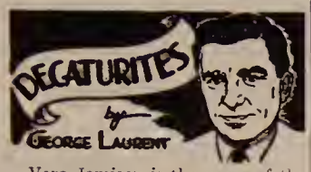
by Bess Brown

Maxine Baker writes to her favorite soldier in Korea on some lovely Cameo notepaper, which she purchased at the Elex Korner Kupboard. The Korner Kupboard is located in the Employees' Store. Maxine says her husband enjoys her little intimate notes on Cameo paper because they are so feminine.

CHOIR FESTIVAL—The Decatur Plant's 60-voice Aeolian Choir, shown here, appeared at the first annual church music festival at Indiana University Sunday, May 6, as one of nine choral groups selected throughout the state. All participating groups were church choirs except the Aeolian Choir, which was invited to show what an industrial choir can do with church music. David C. Embler, director, and John Welch, manager of the Decatur Plant, accompanied the group.

Colonel Lichtenberg Chosen IEC President

Col. Chester Lichtenberg, retired G-E engineer, was elected president of the Indiana Engineering Council at its annual meeting Saturday in the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce.



Col. Lichtenberg is currently serving as director of civil defense for Allen County. He succeeds G. F. Switzer of Indianapolis in his new capacity.

Elex Partizans Plan Breakfast Tuesday

The Partizan Chapter of Elex will hold a May Breakfast in the Portage Room at the YMCA at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 15.

The program will include a motion picture entitled "Never Keep a Good Steak Waiting." Film will be furnished by the Kroger Company.

Those in charge of arrangements for the breakfast are Agnes Schlatter, Nola McVey, Lola McKay and Pearl Boise.

Vera Jamison is the name of the new girl who has made her appearance on the Winding Line for Mr. McDougal. She is the daughter of Orley Krick, a former G-E welder. Vera is being taught by Barbara Robinson. Good luck, Vera, and we want to see you often. . . . Rollie Affolder and Ernie Foreman, aviators deluxe, had a little motor trouble and were forced to land at Garret the other day. . . . Welcome to Boyd Bienz, a new employee in Bldg. 1 on the second shift. Boyd hails from the suburbs of metropolitan Willshire. . . . Art Denig and Frank Braun are talking to each other a lot these days. You can be sure the conversation is mostly about fishing. . . . Al Windmiller has not made his appearance lately. . . . Gertie Balsiger lost her purse the other evening. When she got it back it had more in it than when it was missed, but what stuff—slot wedges and what-have-you. Of course, Kokomo Mounsey lost his apron strings in the shuffle, and I think Gertie will keep them for keepsakes. . . . They also say that Bob Teeple is a new father. Congratulations, Robert. . . . It is still a question as to where Art Denig lives in Convoy. I heard him tell someone the other night that it was the third house. What is the color, Art? . . . Jake Eady must have gone into hibernation. I don't see him anymore. . . . Some card playing! In a recent euchre game, Jim Staley got set playing it alone. Dick Steele laughed and then got euchred himself when he held four trumps the very next hand. . . . Florine Gerber wonders if she has to be a big shot to get her name in the News. No! Florine, not quite. . . . We are still wondering if Grant Fry is going to paint Tibby Gehrig's boat. . . . There is a lady from Geneva that has a very hazardous hobby. She says that she is a cat sorter. The cats must have used their claws freely. She reported for work one day with numerous scratches on her arms. . . . Acrobatic ability and rapid foot work kept Emma Goldner from taking a plunge into a pool of small size. We don't mean a swimming pool either. . . . "Say, Ezra, what do you have to do around here to get your name in the News?" asked Dan Foreman one day. "Dan, I try to keep out of it but seems as though they always pin something on me," answered Ezra. So here you are in print Dan. How does it look? . . . The time changing caught up with Marcia while she was visiting friends in Elgin. Of course, it caused her to arrive home in the wee hours of the morning. . . . Bob Miller returned to work after several weeks of illness. . . . The new operator on the Flange Line on days is Vera Hammond. Glad to have you with us, Vera. . . . Why was Clara Ellen Noack's face so red the other night? We know that it wasn't the warm weather. Could it have been something that she said? . . . Janis Blocker is the cute little girl that is replacing Mary Maloney in the Credit Cage. Yes, she's married; the wife of Jim Blocker, who is on the third shift in Bldg. 1. Hi, Janis, glad to have you with us. . . . Cletus Miller, Foreman in Bldg. 1, is confined to his home because of illness. Hurry back, "Shortie," the gang misses you. . . . We have several new faces in Bldg. 1 this week. Among them are James Burdg, Richard Springer, and George Hindenlang. Welcome, folks! . . . BOWLING FINALE:

Top Bowler

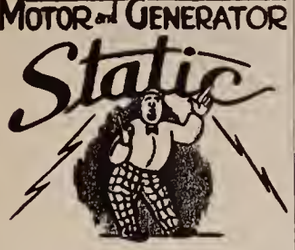
Charlene Evans and Chet McIntosh with a 1216 score took first place honors in the Mixed Doubles Bowling tournament sponsored by the Decatur G-E Club for employees as a final event of the bowling season; Lloyd Kreischer and his daughter Goldine Magley came in a close second with 1203. Other prize winners finished in the following order: Dorothy Heimann-John Beery, Mary Fennig-Lloyd Ahr, Laverne Hobbs-Kent Geisler, Bernadette Reynolds-Lloyd Reynolds, June Railing-Joe Railing, Doris Koenig-Eugene Meyer. . . . BOWLING BOWS OUT—GOLF BARGES IN: John Baumann, one of our foremost golfers, has been honored by the Moose Lodges of this area by being selected as Chairman of the Moose Traveling League. John is also captain of our Decatur G-E Club golf team which will participate in the Decatur Golf League.

Spring and romance are in the air. We are wondering if that has anything to do with Addie Masbaum buying a very large cook book. . . . I know that it can't be the heat, but every time I look up, Vern Castle's conference table is either moving in or out. Believe me, when the new table comes in, we are going to bolt it to the floor, just to prove to ourselves that tables do not vanish into thin air. . . . Marilyn Richard and Eleanor Bolenbaugh are hoping the new sun lamp will give them that Florida look. Here's hoping that they can endure their sunburn until then. . . . Joan Toderoff is just now getting accustomed to the new Daylight Saving Time and can now get to work on time. . . . We see that Dorothy Mills has also joined the Order of the Little Red Shoe. . . . And if anyone should just happen to miss me next week, I'll be on vacation. Did I say "vacation"—with all that garden to put out?

We would like to welcome Deloris Turley, Mary Grace, Mary Call, Helen Merren, Betty Rex, Tom Parker, Stan Hamilton, Frank Pequignot, Agnes Schaffer, Joan Gregg and Lawrence Burkhart. . . . Ray Schiebel's employees wanted to know what those red marks were on his face. To prove that they belonged to her, Mrs. Schiebel sent in a sample on a white card with her signature. . . . We congratulate Evelyn Jenning's daughter, Judy. She won the art award in the regional exhibition with her composition, "The Nativity Scene." . . . Jenny Baker is now doing detective work in the evenings. She even tells the "Cops" how and where to get the information. . . . Get well wishes to Marilyn Noble, Ruth Thompson, Audrey Oberley and Arlene Barrett. . . . We now know why Whitey is getting his teeth pulled. When asked by George Brehm if his teeth bothered him or if they were causing him any illness, the answer was, "no." Brehm decided he is having them pulled for style. . . . Who is responsible for taking Gene Christman's red shoes. She always finds them in a high place. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Barney Morrill upon the arrival of a new daughter and to Celeste Farrell, who became grandmother for the second time. . . . A group of girls were out to see Grace Campbell. She is getting along fine. . . . Anyone wishing to know about housekeeping see Stella Wells. She has the answers. . . . Lonnie Rockstroh forgot to set her clock ahead and was late for work Monday. . . . Helen Greshman also forgot to set her clock ahead. She had help getting ready for work so she made it on time. . . . Congratulations to Fred Linker, who was married Saturday. . . . A happy birthday to Martha Doehrman. . . . We hear that Ronnie Davies is now a professional roller skater. . . . Bill, will you please tell Cal when pay day is? . . . The heat bothered Levi Carpenter last week. He lost his stamp pad and was running all around looking for it. . . . The girls in Preliminary Section had a pot-luck lunch and hankie shower for Zelma Kuyoth on her birthday last week. . . . Dick Rump and Al Coxon were betting on whose shoes weighed the most. Coxon won. . . . Harry Keller gets his morning exercise by working the venetian blind in the office. . . . Larry Schuster had a fight with his Bantam rooster, Louie. Results: Louie won the battle. . . . Linda Werling has a new permanent. . . . Loraine, what's bothering you. First, you lose things under the table, and then you put your arbors in the machine backwards. . . . Wanda Grimm has a new Studebaker. . . . Shorty puts the wires on the wrong machine, then wonders why Wanda still wants wire.

Art Winner

Our sympathy is extended to Fred McAfee in the death of his father. . . . It has been reported that Dewey Erne is doing as good as can be expected. Anyone visiting Dewey at Room 418, Lutheran Hospital will also find Art Hyser, one of our electricians on the same floor. He will be glad to have you drop in on him too. . . . Birthday greetings go to Justin Heaston this week. . . . Walter Schelper recently celebrated his 35th anniversary with G-E. The occasion was recorded by our staff photographer. On our way out from work last Friday, Walt was observed carrying a few extra copies of the WORKS NEWS. I suppose he wanted to show the neighbors his picture.



Hershey bars are two for five cents now. Bill Wickliffe got two for one nickel out of the new candy machine. He wasn't the only one. Louie Barrows also got two! . . . Wilbert Wells wonders what he is going to do with the slug that came along with his change when he bought some cigarettes! . . . Audrey Brindle had an exciting time at her home last week. The motor on the pump burned up and the hot water tank bulged at the bottom when she shut the safety valve off to stop the water from leaking out. . . . Paul Hendricks should know by this time that he can't get a bond a month on a buck a week! . . . Avery Spayde and John Figley are together so much they are beginning to look alike. They have their daily conference every morning down on one. . . . We all wish Jessie Hamilton's husband a very speedy recovery from his operation. . . . We are surely glad Mildred Gaffers' mother is getting better. At least she's home from the hospital. . . . Welcome to Merl Keesler, who came back on days last Monday. Also a welcome to Ross Hobbs who came from Bldg. 17-3. . . Our sympathy to Reggie Engeman, whose father died this week. . . . What is Martha Sherzinger holding back from us? At a recent wedding reception, she asked for a cigar for her old man! . . Genevieve Moody really hurt her arm when she leaned too far out the window. If it hadn't been for catching her arm on the window she would have been all the way out! . . . The girls in 1x79 surprised Neva Scott on her birthday recently. They appeared at her home with a potluck dinner and gifts. And after all that talk about her husband taking her out to dinner too. . . . Welcome to Leah Coolman, who is on days now. . . . Ronnie Lee is the name of the new arrival in the Dave Eckelbarger home. Congratulations to all! . . . Bonnie Barks spent the week-end doing some whitewashing. There is some doubt as to what she was whitewashing. Most of it was on her when the job was finished! . . . Dick Clendenen celebrated his birthday during the past week. Here is hoping that you and all the rest who had birthdays last week and those who have them yet to celebrate this month will have many, many more. . . . Here is a list of those who celebrate birthdays this month: Esther Harkenrider, Pauline Anderson and Evelyn Foulks, May 3; Bill Widdefield, 4; Edna Rohrbach, 7; Dorothy Hoffman, 9; Wilma Linker, 15; Betty Kummer, 20; Ralph Gilbert, 21; George Luedeman, 28; Gerna Cook, 29, and Marian Miller, 29. . . . A group of people who work in group 1x43 have been together for a good many years and have accumulated a total of 375 years of service. They are Frank DeVaux with 36 years service; Carl Hitzeman, 34 years; Glen Carney, 32 years; Ed Glenwith, 31 years; Ray O'Brian, 29 years; Emily Neirman, 29 years; Al Rebber, 29 years; Henry Grepke 29 years; Rudy Zelt, 28 years; Luella Hockemeyer, 25 years; Dillion Kable, 22 years; Henry Grepke, 29 years; That seems like a lot of years service but time surely goes fast. . . . We hope that all you grandmothers and mothers have a very nice Mother's Day.

Those who expect to reap the blessings of freedom must, like men, undergo the fatigues of supporting it.—Thomas Paine.

Thought for the week: "Most of the hero worshippers are their own heroes."—Luke McLuke.

FERRETED FONE FACTS—Telephone companies of the world, aceording to facts ferreted from "Telephone Statistics of the World," now have the physical facilities to eonnect almost any phone with over 67 million other phones on earth. By just pieking up Mr. Bell's gadget, you can now phone such places as Malta and Gozo, Papua, New Guinea, Morocco and the Belgian Congo. . . . WRONG-WAY HOBSON: Last week was a bad week for Dick Hobson. One noon Ed Horman walked out of Bldg. 31-1 with Dick's coat. Friday night, Dick boarded the South Wayne bus instead of a Mount Vernon Park, paid his fare, looked around, saw no familiar faees, asked for a transfer and sneaked off. And last but not least, our hero decided to teach his young son, Dick, how to play basketball inside of the house. Yep, you guessed it. He missed a shot from his son. Between the two of them, they managed to break one of his wife's lamps. Needless to say, there will be no more basketball in the house. . . . Yes! Yes! You have heard of people looking at clocks and stopping them. Here is one for the books. Mavis Koehendorfer can look at an electric fan and stop it. . . . SHRIMPS: We have been told recently that Ivan Rinehart, Bldg. 18-3, is quite an expert in the art of ordering shrimp ala carte. While on the subject of food, we also heard that Dick Hartigan is allergic to potatoes. . . . ANOTHER DAMON AND PYTHIAS FRIENDSHIP: Bob Kite and O. K. Keller, Bldg. 19-1, will be neighbors at Turkey Lake this summer. They are sharing all tools and boats. Visitors are welcome throughout the summer. All eats and refreshments are furnished by the boys. All you have to do is bring your own bait. We certainly think this is mighty nice, and will try to take advantage of it during the summer. . . . We welcome to Bldg. 31-1 Ann Marie Reed, Dorothy Pooler, Doris Hart, Carol Jacob, Marvin Cristil and Terry Bowman. . . . Charlie Fisher returned this morning from a two weeks' vacation. . . . We have been requested to learn how many employees from Bldg. 31-1 desire another party. Don't be backward about coming forward. . . . Diek Hobson says, "Well at least, I didn't try to pay a bill for some sand last Friday by mailing a check that wasn't signed like Ed Foley did."

We wish a happy birthday to Don Beitz today, and to Don Batchelder, Tuesday. . . . The Harold Wilkersons are in their new home. . . . Ronnell Allen was in town for a few hours over the week-end. Ronnie is still stationed at Camp McCoy and hopes to get home again this week-end. . . . Dick Wagner is having a party for all the boys in Class F and their families at his home in Kendallville tomorrow night. . . . We were very glad to receive another letter from Bob Doelling. Bob is with the Third Division in Korea. He is only five miles from the front and their headquarters is located at Seoul. Bob says, "You can't realize what a horrible time the boys have had over here this winter until you get over here and see it with your own eyes. The boys are just keeping their fingers erossed in hopes that someone back home will wake up and put an end to this mess as it seems so worthless now that I am over here and see it. Over here we hear very little about anything going on back home. In fact, we don't even know if they are still drafting men or not." PLEASE write Bob right away. His new address is: Pvt. Robert E. Doelling, US 55049883, Co. E 2nd Bat. 7th Regt. 3rd Div., A. P. O. 468, c/o P. M., San Francisco, Calif. . . . Robert Hill was in to see the gang last Monday. Bob has been stationed at Norfolk, Va., but hopes to be back in the school soon as he is to get a medical discharge. He has had spinal meningitis since he has been in the service.

Some time ago Johnny Redmerski bet on a horse called Honest John. The horse lived up to his reputation for honesty, but nothing else. Maybe it would have been better if the horse had bet on a man called Honest John Redmerski. . . . FLASH: Willie Irmscher is spending his life savings on a new Pontiac. . . . We wish to thank Ludwig Stetter for his translations, also John and Joe for their amusing bits of news about the west end. Keep the news eoming, boys. . . . Howard Musselman must have really been excited about spring. In fact, he was thinking so much about it, he forgot to cheek his gas gauge. Oh well, it was nice weather to walk, wasn't it? . . . Poor Verne Pease! As he was brushing his molars, one of his front teeth flipped out of his mouth and down the drain. Since it would take a week or so to have it fixed, Verne had to be seen with a missing tooth. Said Verne, "Why, that's like not being fully dressed." . . . Would you believe a man if he said he rode on a groundhog from Toledo to Fort Wayne? Rudy Rastenburg and Clayton Dafforn haven't quite made up their minds about Forest Reed's story as yet. . . . Remember the kindness of others, but forget your own.

Tales from Taylor

by Harry Parker

We learn that Darcie Campbell carries an alarm cloek in the glove compartment of his car and all of us are curious as to why he does this. He explains it in this manner: "As you know, I live quite a distance from the plant (approximately one and a half miles). During this long gruelling drive, I become drowsy at intervals. To avoid any possible accidents I keep the alarm ringing during the trip, thereby keeping myself alert." . . . Joe Turley came breezing in the other afternoon and announced that a rich relative had passed away and left him a sizeable fortune. His financial worries were now at an end. He even intimated that he might resign his position here at the plant and also give up the job of passing the collection plate at church. Better go easy, Joe, as we have just learned that the legacy you received amounted to less than $50. . . . To all of you who are interested in square dancing and are desirous of becoming proficient in it, we wish to announce that Kenny Thompson has just completed a course of instruction in this art. He even has a diploma to prove it. He desires that it be known that his services as an instructor will be available at all times. The fee will be nominal, so if any of you desire to improve your teehnique, we urge you to join one of his classes which are now forming. . . . As you probably all know, Ray Heck has a new Chevrolet of which he is very proud. According to him, there is no other car in the world like it. He is forever pointing out the merits of this car. He tells us that its top speed is 115 miles per hour and that he has driven it this fast. We wish to suggest to him that he had better cut his speed, or the car will have no merits at all.

"No. The two generals in question are able military men, but to elect one of them for president would be a mistake. In the first place their training and experience do not fit them for an important position such as president. The second reason is that they are needed more as military men because of international unrest."

BILLY GAWTHROP

Bldg. 4-3

"Yes, I most certainly would. I think a military man would be better informed on the world situation and would know more how to handle things, especially foreign affairs. I believe a general could do a better job all the way around."

CLIFFORD MERKEL

Bldg. 19-3

"Yes, because as things stand and look now, we will probably have wars such as we are having for the next ten years, and I think a general would make a good president."

EDITH M. McKEON

Bldg. 26-1

"Yes, a good military man, an American citizen, who loves his country and works for it, protects and stands by it, and has had experience in foreign wars, understands and is worthy of being elected president."

JULIUS SMOLA

Bldg. 20-1

"No. A military man for president may be what we need with the war situation as of now, but the war will be over soon; we hope. Then the president will be faced with situations that never have or will exist in military service. I don't think a military man would be qualified."

Here's wishing all the mothers a very happy Mothers' Day. . . . First it was new spectacles, then china clippers, a slight reinforcement of the best buttons, and finally the big day arrived. Bill Martin is a new grandpop. Of course, Michael Allen is different. He isn't going to be spoiled. He wasn't either until after he left the hospital. . . . Nora Vanover also is a proud new grandma. It is a girl. . . . Congratulations on the pink-bootied tax deduction at the Leland and Lioba Ryan Richardson home. The mama is a former co-worker.

Cause I thought I was too busy,
I just haven't given time
Thought or effort to my hobby
Meaning, write a little rhyme.

But the season and the sunshine
Makes me feel and want to say
I am thankful, downright happy
Just to be alive today.

Yes, the wonder and the beauty
Of this special time of year
Should convince a thoughtful person
God is good and very near.

For 'twas God who planned the seasons
Don't forget or ever doubt it
Not a person dead or living
Had a thing to do about it.

Let's be happy about the weather
Lots of other reasons, too.
Cultivate cheerful dispositions
Shouldn't be too hard to do.

Happy birthday to Anne Kensill, Elma Keiser and Orville Kaufman. . . . Ferbie Maggard is displaying new choppers. . . . We're glad to see Mildred Briggs and Ray Williams back in the groove. . . . Our sick list includes Juanita Moenning and Annie Dixie. . . . Our sincerest sympathy to Stella Kempf and Doris Lontz in the death of their husband and mother, respectively. . . . We're sorry to hear Dorothy Seibert's daughter was in an auto accident. She is at the St. Joe Hospital. . . . Violet Martz's brother-in-law who was injured in Korea has been released from the hospital. . . . Wouldn't you know it? The day it rained, Harold Kiel had a flat tire. . . . Don Bufink requests that we have the right change to purchase our gloves. . . . If you thought Sarah Meagher had a bump on her head, it was because she dropped the bed lamp on it. . . . Anyone have any mushroom plants for sale? Hazel Lockwood is looking for some. . . . Walter Kryder is going to have to increase his carrot quota. His eyesight is failing. He even used Prell to brush his teeth.

When John came to U. S. he couldn't speak English, so his friend taught him to say, "Apple pie and coffee." After a few weeks, he grew very tired of that diet. One day he met his friend. He asked how John was getting along. John replied, "All right," but I'm so tired of apple pie and coffee." So his friend taught him to say "ham sandwich and coffee." John was so happy. He hurried to the restaurant. The waitress asked for his order and John proudly told her, "Ham sandwich and coffee." Then she asked, "White or rye?" John gave her a puzzled look and said, "Apple pie and coffee." . . . Our vacationers this week are Ralph Smith and Lee Anderson. . . . We are sorry to hear of the illness of Ollie Fox's wife. . . . Goodbye and good luck to Kenny McDaniels. He has left us to work in Bldg. 31-1. . . . We extend our sympathy to Glen Baker in the death of his mother. . . . On our sick list are Homer Hibler, George March, Flossie Shoppman, Paul Hathaway and Vaughn Hiser. . . . Here's one for Ripley: Rod Bradburn recently had part of a tooth removed from the tip of his tongue. . . . Wallpaper cleaning is wanted by Dewey McDowell. He has special rates for widows and eligible maidens. . . . We welcome our new employees, who are Joseph Lichty, Fannie Gearhart, Silas Gatewood, Harold Baker, Arthur Schoolcraft, Edna Mounce and Wilbur Steffen. . . . Walter Hart made good use of his week's vacation by building himself a garage.

"It's wet," so the sign says on the newly painted fence around G-E. We've been patiently waiting for someone to come in with green stripes on their back. No luck yet. . . . There's good news for all the golf players and the lake-goers. With only a half hour for lunch, work will be over at 4:30. Now we can all bring our lunch and have a picnic in the park. There will be no more swimming at Swinney Park during the noon hour and no more shopping trips. Oh, well, we can always go after work. . . . Norman Jueschke will spend the next two weeks working on his new home on Buell Drive. With the help of a contractor, Norm is building a nice six-room, one-floor home. It doesn't look like Norm will get much rest on his vacation. . . . Red Kissell received an announcement of the marriage of Glenn Tobias. Glenn, former sales engineer, married Pauline O'Brien Saturday, April 28, at Fall River, Mass. Perhaps someone will be interested in Glenn's new address. After June 1, it will be 17 Smith St., Marblehead, Mass.

How did you like the Squares' "Holiday Ranch?" Wasn't it even better than I said it would be? We're all proud of Spike Speicher and Al Johnson, real thespians at heart. . . . The Payroll Section bade farewell and good luck to Lucile Schelper, who will now be working in Bldg. 31-1. . . . The Production Office extends heartfelt sympathy to Ralph Hageman and his family over the recent death of Mrs. Hageman. . . . Gale Kirk and her husband enjoyed a very pleasant week-end visiting relatives in Southern Indiana and Indianapolis. . . . Another Spring sign: Herman Norr's green hands. The industrious Mr. Norr gathered his spray, his ambition and sprayed his trees. Herman's comment, when quizzed about the color of his hands, was, "Well, at least it adds a different taste to my food." . . . While Mary Ann Fletter was eating lunch the other day, she absent-mindedly picked up an egg shell instead of a piece of celery and began chewing like mad. Evelyn Campbell reported that Mary Ann dropped it like a hot potato when she discovered her error. . . . Welcome to Isabel Bartholomew. She is replacing Ann Jacobson, who is on a leave of absence in the Accounting Section. . . . Why does it take "Mac" MacDougall exactly four and three-fourth minutes to eat his lunch? Could it be that he is watching his figure? . . . Where did George Michaels acquire his poison ivy? With all this nice weather, maybe he has been weeding his garden. . . . It's no new face-lifting job that makes Wayne Gilberg look differently these days, but just a new hair-style and a new hair cut. . . . The Accounting Section extends its sympathy to Mary Ann Royse on the recent death of her mother. . . . The new typist in the Accounting Office is Betti Foreman. . . . The Sunburn Club welcomes as one of its newest members, red-beet Joan McBride, of the Accounting Office. Some of the other club members are Helen Smith (who burnt-forth at Easter time), Donna Bauermeister, Perry Zahn and Ralph McVay.

The Plating Section

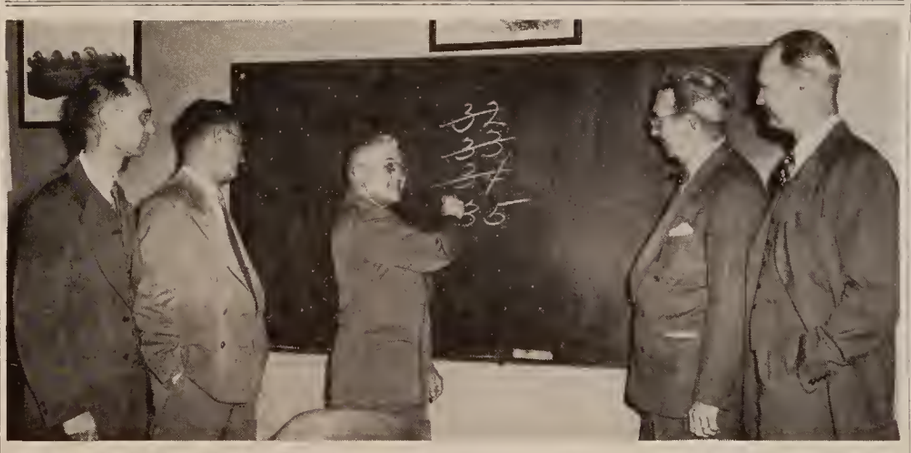
NEWS FLASH—'POSSUM IN THE LAP: In the Plating Section of Bldg. 2-1, second shift, it seems there are at least a couple kind, humane and chivalrous gentlemen. Come what may, neither of the two ever misses his chance to do a "good deed for the day." . . . Thursday night, April 26, Hugo Wengert was looking for something near Bldg. 8, and in so doing, he found a 'possum. . . . Surprised, he stopped the 'possum with his foot and it rolled over as though it were dead. Hugo then "rescued" 'possum by the tail and took it in the plating room to show the gang what he had found. . . . As he proudly held the 'possum high for all to see, he discovered that this was a mother 'possum with a family of young ones hanging onto her tummy. They were still quite young, had no hair, and were about one and a-quarter inches long. They held fast and hung on in no uncertain manner. . . . Mother 'Possum wasn't too happy in her new surroundings, as evidenced by the look in her eyes. She was evidently quite humiliated, but she had no choice but to make herself at home for the time being. . . . About 11:30 p.m. Marion Patty went into action. He put Mrs. 'Possum and her family into a carton, slated to be taken out into the country where the family could be set free. He placed the carton of 'possums on the front seat beside him and started for home. On the way, he recalled a good place to take the 'possums. It was three or four miles from town along the Sandpoint Road—in a woods where there is plenty of good cover. . . . Suddenly, Patty felt something on his leg. He looked down and there was Mrs. 'Possum right in his lap. The box had come open and she had sneaked out. The car was brought to a stop. Patty carefully felt around for the tail end. He put her back in the box and drove on towards the woods. . . . Mr. Patty assured all concerned that he released the 'Possum family at just the right spot, when he reached the woods by the side of the road. It just goes to show that most anything can happen in the Plating Section, and it usually does, sooner or later.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of "the little man who wasn't there," please notify Bea Webster. Her imaginary Harvey ran away. . . . Now that we have the coke machines, Helga Wickliffe is forgetting her diet. . . . And, speaking of diets, Angie Mello has traded her evening lunch for a banana split. Ohhh! the calories, Angie. . . . Dorothy Favorite got her money's worth when she bought a dress recently. She was showing it off when she shook a mouse out of it. . . . Martha Scott is still undecided about getting on roller skates. We promised to hold her up, but Martha is still doubtful. . . . We wish Helen Thieme's little boy a speedy recovery. Les was a very sick boy last week. . . . We hope Jo Lee is feeling better by now. It's just spring fever, Jo. . . . We take this way of inviting you to FHP-Div. 1 Skating Party, Saturday May 19. For further information, see the posters on the bulletin board. We hope to see you all there.

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary, and they shall walk and not faint.—Isaiah 40:31.

TRANSFORMER TATTLES

By Gladis Getts



Mr. and Mrs. Norman Graves are the parents of a new son. Congratulations and thanks for the cigars. . . . Say, Al Topp never passed cigars when he became a grandpa. What about that, Al? . . . Ray Hosler is playing in the state shuffle board contest at the VFW home. . . . Ralph Braden is now the ex-champ trapshooter, as Joe Troendly took over the honor at Ossian, Ind., at the Conservation Club, April 21. . . . The Dinner Winner program called Mike Dunscomb's home. Mike just said "hello." That is a sure way of getting rid of a basket of groceries. . . . Ed Koontz' famous last words were, "I'll never come back to Transformer." Now he says, "I have returned." Welcome home, Ed. . . . Gerald Norwalt made a good try when he tried to make a super-highway out of test. . . . If the keys would have fit, Morgan Fortney would have taken home a new two-door Chevy. We saw him trying very hard to do just that. Don't you like your four-door or did you just want a new car? . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muller, who celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary April 3.

Gets Results

. . . Tom Freeman says he just couldn't get anything to put in the NEWS. Several weeks ago, he saw Paul Peterson and finally got results. . . . William (Slecpy) Moses is leaving the stock room for Bldg. 26-5. . . . Arthur Brown is taking Sleepy's place. . . . We just learned that George Harmeyer has changed barbers. He now goes to Joe Troendly and Otto Braun's barber. . . . The fellows say that bull frogs must be in season. Morgan Fortney has been going around with one in his throat. . . . Harold Rhine is planning on a terrific pear crop. Everyday he looks out the east window and exclaims, "Look at that pear tree. I'll bet it will have 50 bushels of pears on it." . . . Retta Biddle has joined us on first shift. . . . Congratulations to John Hockaday, who married Pat Moran April 21. . . . Our deepest sympathy to Harry Snoke, whose father died last week. . . . Our sympathy to Eve Johnson in the death of her father-in-law. . . . One of the fellows said that it is surprising what Ralph Smith will do for a case of Canada Dry. . . . Dutch Norwalt has returned to work after a five weeks' illness. . . . George Harmeyer and Ray Horstman, weren't you afraid you would break Edna Bailey's leg by dropping her from so high up from the floor.

WELL, WELL, WODDA YA KNOW? There are two new daddies in the D. C. Division, and both of them can boast, "It's a boy." Garland Roby has it over on Bill Rutledge in that it is his second son and he also has a daughter. Bill's baby beat Garland's by 1 lb. 9 oz. Anyhoo, congrats to Mr. and Mrs. William Rutledge who are the proud parents of William Michael, 7 lb. 12½ oz., born April 25, and also to Mr. and Mrs. Garland Roby, proud parents of a boy, born May 3, 6 lb. 3 oz. . . . NEW MEMBER: Only three weeks back with the Company and already he is a member of the Floor Sitter's Club. Who? Why Lowell McLaughlin. I'm sure it jarred all of Bldg. 4-6 when he made connections. Would stirrups help you to hold on better, Lowell? . . . CONGRATS: We have a lot of happy birthdays to wish the following: Lawrence Diller on May 2, Mabel Waggoner, May 5; Shorty Poyser, May 7; D. C. (Direct Current) Reek, May 8; Georgia Garrett, May 12, and Walter Hahn, May 14. . . . BACK AGAIN: It looks like AC Division couldn't get along without Paul Shaffer. He left us last Monday to go back to AC. . . . OH, BOY! Was Everett Letsinger's face red last week! He was taking three of the girls from the office to his home where Mrs. Letsinger had prepared a delicious luncheon and to show the girls the beautiful narcissus and daffodils, gracing the natural landscape surrounding his home, when lo and behold, he couldn't get his car unlocked. After about five minutes of struggling he made it and everybody was happy again. . . . RED TIE: Anybody walking in the AC Division last Friday didn't know what to think. The first thing that could be seen was Don Miller's fuchsia tie. What a monstrosity it was! . . . WELCOME: We wish to welcome Wendell Adams, a new draftsman in the Development Division. . . . CONGRATS: To C. A. McKay, who was the proud father of a boy weighing 8 lb. 13 oz., born Wednesday, May 2, named John Michael. . . . We extend get well wishes to Bob Kirby.

CHALKS UP 35 YEARS—Paul E. Bohn (center), Bldg. 31-2, recently completed 35 years of service with G-E. Watching him "chalk up" his record Tuesday, May 1, are (l-r), J. W. Reardon, F. J. Kissell, Mr. Bohn, R. M. Hartigan and M. A. Baker.

G-E DEATHS

heart attack fatal

G. C. Liby Services Held Last Wednesday

Grover C. Liby, 67, died at 5:15 p.m. Sunday in his home at 203 East Woodland Ave., following a heart attack.

He joined the General Electric Company at Decatur in 1925. In 1929, Mr. Liby came to Fort Wayne as an armature worker in Bldg. 4-1. He was employed in Bldg. 4-1 and 4-2 until 1946 when he transferred to Taylor St. as a multiple spindle operator.

Surviving are his widow, Carrie E.; a son, Russell Liby, South Bend; a daughter, Mrs. Lee Roy Blough, Fort Wayne; six grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Susie Eury, Miami, Fla.

Services were held Wednesday at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church with the Rev. O. D. Wissler officiating. Burial was in Zion Cemetery in Adams County.

Carl Sorenson Dies In His Home Sunday

A retired G-E employee, Carl Sorenson, 82, of 3914 Lillie St., died at his home Sunday following an illness of five months.

Mr. Sorenson was born in Denmark and had been employed at G-E for 42 years when he retired in 1939. He joined the Company in 1894 as an armature winder and was an inspector in Large Motor and Generator Divisions.

He is survived by his widow, Johanne; two daughters, Mrs. Francis Engman and Miss Gladys E.; two sons, Walter L. and Carl W.; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, all of Fort Wayne.

Funeral services were held at the Chalfant-Perry Funeral Home at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. O. D. Wissler officiating. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

U. S. railroads, with 225,000 miles of track network from coast to coast, haul 1,000,000 tons of freight a mile every minute, and in addition 550,000,000 passangers a year. With but six per cent of the world's land area, our country has 29 per cent of the world's railroad mileage.

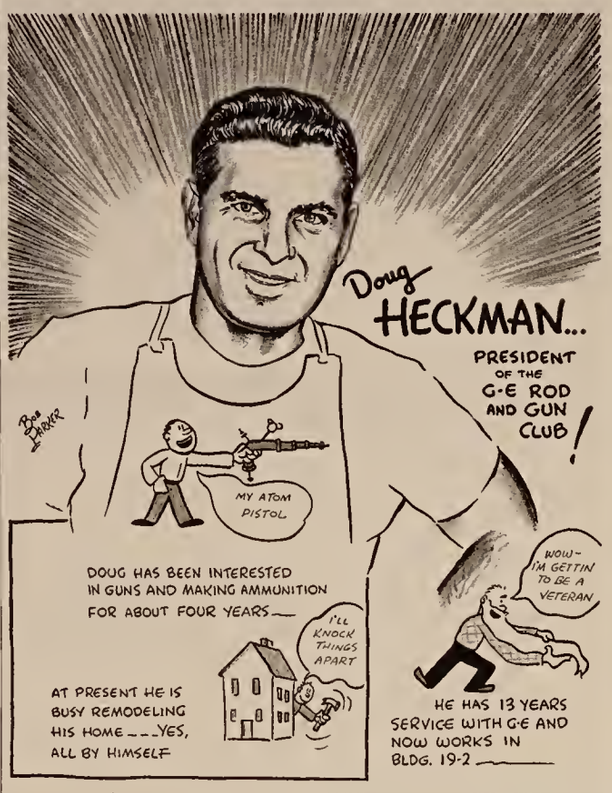
6-4 AIRLINERS

By Joan Lindeman

Many happy returns of the day to you, Martha Jesse. Thanks for the candy. . . . Wava Lee Miller was entertaining everyone while showing Zara and Gloria a new dance step. . . . Rita Sherwood doesn't keep up on the time very well. She forgot to turn her clock up an hour and arrived Monday morning nearly an hour late. . . . Zara Van Skyloek is quite put out with her husband. He has papered their new knotty pine walls by the kitchen table with the "Fat Man's Diet." But Zara says, "He takes a look and heaps his plate." . . . Pondo says Evelyn Partee is welching out on her deal to buy him this sweet smelling tobacco. . . . Betty Thompson thinks Marcie G. has the skin you love to touch. . . . Andy Anderson is really up in the chips now. He has a '49 Oldsmobile 88. . . . Agnes looks very stunning in her new hair-do. . . . Moe Satterwaite gave Elmer 50 cents to buy him two sandwiches at the cafeteria, and was quite put out when he had to dish out 24 cents more to pay for them. . . . Why does George Regent buy Pondo ice cream every day? . . . Del Gillian sat down to a nice big bowl of breakfast food the other morning, took a bite, and discovered she had used buttermilk instead of milk. . . . The most cool-headed person in Bldg. 6-4 is Fred Sarasien. . . . The girls in assembling are glad the suspense is over. Delores Gladbach's boyfriend bought wood and glass and had an aroma, but wouldn't tell her what it was. She had everyone guessing for days. It was a small cedar chest with a glass top full of candy. . . . Tillie Hautch has but one topic of conversation. It is the new house she is building. . . . With all the treatments Delores Schinbeckler is taking and the way her hands are bandaged, we wonder if she will have any hands left when it is all over. . . . Did you notice Pat Alles' sunburn? I hear she was having quite a time on a tractor for a couple of days.



Helen Fraiser is grandmother again. It is a fine grandson, Gregory Scott. . . . It looks good to see Lela Seibert back again after being off work for five months. . . . Mary Rose wants to know what you have to do to be "Queen for a Day." You should have thought of that before you went to California, Mary. . . . Braunie is happy to be back at her old job. The girls welcome her back. . . . Dorothy Hart has a new place to fish. She catches them in the trees. . . . Alma Raymer spent the week-end at Moline, Ill., visiting her son and family. . . . Jack Craft is leaving us to go on third shift. Good luck, Jack. . . . Mary Biehl celebrated her birthday last week. . . . Millie Snider visited a girl friend in South Bend over the week-end. . . . Ann Cuellar had a wonderful time in Chicago last week-end. Tell us more, Ann. . . . Let's all remember our mothers this coming Sunday, Mother's Day.

45th ANNIVERSARY — Last Thursday, Raymond J. Hoffman was the "Man of the Hour" when Mr. Wylie presented his 45th anniversary certificate signed by Mr. Cordiner and a congratulatory letter from Mr. Martin. A group of his friends were assembled in Mr. Wylie's office. Amid congratulations and reminiscence, there were many facts brought out. The span of time between 1906 and 1951 has brought about many changes. At that time, G-E was known as the Fort Wayne Electric Company, and J. J. Wood was the manager. (It was not until 1911 that it was integrated into the General Electric Company as the Fort Wayne Works. By comparison with present day employment, records show that there were only 549 full time employees. The average rate of pay was 20 cents per hour, and the average work week was 55 hours. The pay envelope came around twice a month and in many cases contained gold coins.) The Hoffman family has been "All Out" for G-E. It started back before the turn of the century when Ray's father Nicholas Hoffman worked in the Brushholder Department and then in the Pattern Shop. To sum up the Hoffman family's G-E connections: Ray has had his father, two brothers, four sisters, one son, now a part of our Plant Engineering, two uncles, two aunts, six cousins, three nephews and one niece all employed by the Fort Wayne Works. We believe that this is a record that cannot be equalled. We wish to join Ray's many friends in extending congratulations. . . . SHE DID IT AGAIN—Minta Cole of Bldg. 18-B did it again. This time, she fell for A. C. Hartman (the last time it was John Estabrook). At least Mr. Hartman was here to lend a helping hand when she fell as she was leaving Bldg. 18 Wednesday evening. She came through without any broken bones, but the sprained ankle and various black and blue marks were painful. We are really sorry, Minta. . . . Monday of this week found all of our "gardeners" feeling the affects of working the earth. A quick poll on Monday morning brought out the thought that, at the moment, the gardens were not worth the sore muscles.

Meet the President

Get set for another Transformer skating party. This one is to be held Wednesday, May 16, at the Roller Dome. Everybody is welcome! . . . Loretta Bloom sure had the check pool cinched Wednesday. Loretta was the only one that had five numbers. The rest of us only had three. . . . Dick Hurst was seen trying to dry himself with an air hose! . . . Want to see Walt Pohler's face light up like a Christmas tree? Just call him "General!" . . . Barbara Shipman dropped a core and coil on her foot and had to be assisted to the dispensary. We'll have to take up a collection for a pair of safety shoes. . . . If anyone happened to pass by Al Miller's farm recently, they might have seen what looked like one of those chariots that were used in the days of ancient Rome! But it was just Al sowing his oats with a grass seeder. Al tried out a new fertilizer and had so much seed left he thought he could do a better job with the grass seeder. . . . Elvie Dafforn just showed me a ticket that is going to win a new Olds for him. . . . There are a number of new faces we bid welcome. They are Rex Hoover, Haywood Starnes, Charles Garriatt, Vernon Smith, Lloyd Somers and Charles Elzey. Charles came from Bldg. 26-4. On second trick, we have Lillian Detwiler, Mary Edgar, Bob Rineheart and Louie Diller. . . . Did you get a gander at those pants Lyle Bertsch wore Monday? Maybe he forgot to take off his pajamas! . . . Agnes Jump and Darrell Hirschfielder celebrated their birthdays May 4 with a pot-luck in their honor. . . . What goes on during second trick when they work overtime? One guy, Archie by name, came in with a black and blue knot on his head! Also we hear that second trick is a lot quieter since Evelyn Brunkhart was transferred to first trick. It has been quiet and peaceful around here too since Louie Sordelet took his vacation. . . . Agnes Jump has been practicing her whistling since Evelyn Brunkhart left. That's so Darrell doesn't get lonesome. . . . Howard Shipman and Walt Mertz really play golf in comfort. They take two other persons along; one to carry a gallon thermos jug of refreshments and one to carry the glasses. They get five holes per gallon.

CELEBRATES 45TH ANNIVERSARY—Raymond J. Hoffman, Bldg. 18-4, (center), celebrated his 45th G-E anniversary May 3 and received a 45-year certificate signed by R. J. Cordiner, G-E president. Left to right are W. K. Rohe, C. A. Brenner, J. B. Greer, Edna Miller, C. H. Matson, Arthur Hoffman, his son; Arthur Braun, H. S. Garton, Mr. Hoffman, L. C. Swager, Robert Wylie, Ab Martin, H. E. Hire, I. H. Freeman, A. E. Leider, Chester Lichtenberg and Vivian Bond. Mr. Hoffman came to G-E in 1905 as a lathe hand in the Fan Motor Department. He went to school in Sept., 1905, and returned a year later to work in the Wiring Dept. His next job was in the Arc Lamp Testing Section where he was a student. In May, 1909, he became a tester in General Testing Division and later worked in Bldg. 18-1. In 1949, he became superintendent of test after being general supervisor several years.

SHIPPING: The sudden temperature change that ye old weatherman threw our way caught poor, unsuspecting Helen Elbert off her guard. It threw her into a tizzy because the interior of her auto was like an oven on the way back to work. Of course, after Helen Eggeman suggested turning off the heater, both Helen and the interior of the car returned to normal. . . . Nayadeen Brown's flu condition remains the same, but we are all hoping to see her back with us again real soon. . . . Something new, in the form of automatic coke, candy, and ice cream bar machines, has been added to our little domain. Ivan (I'll try first) Doster was the first Shipping Section employee to try out the new fangled gadgets. . . . MAILING: Jerry Gardner, William Fitzgerald and Bob Heyn (a former employee of the section) spent the week-end out of the city, but failed to divulge where. . . . It seems Minta Cole can't walk forward with her head backwards, without folding her legs under her. . . . Farewell to Loren Dunlap, who left us to work in the factory. . . . Keith Mast is going to raise his standards on the uncle relationship, he was an uncle again. . . . It was bound to happen, and it did. Jack Scoheneman arrived an hour early the first morning of Daylight Saving Time. . . . RECEIVING: Bob Younghouse handles return material in our Receiving Section. Bob reports that at times it is simply maddening the way the returned apparatus is packed. Sometimes when newspapers are used for packing, the comic sections are torn so badly he can hardly read them. . . . Ruth Schroeder has planted many shrubs and flowers at the site of her new home. Therefore, when the first flower of the season (a beautiful hyacinth) bloomed forth, Ruth exclaimed over the fragrant odor of it, and urged hubby Ralph to sniff the flower also. "Wouldn't I look silly, down on all fours sniffing at flowers," he remarked. "What would the neighbors think?" But manly though he be, curiosity got the better of him. He kneeled down to sniff the luscious aroma, but not until after dark.

More than 80 per cent of the trainees for skilled work in our land today are ex-GI's, of an average age of 26 years.

Wilbur Smith visited his friends in Bldg. 26-4 last week. He has been in Florida all winter and plans to spend the summer in Arizona. . . . Another visitor this week was Fred Rapp, who retired three years ago and is now living in sunny California. The Bldg. 4-6 gang says all the sunshine must be grand judging from the way Mr. Rapp beams with health and vitality.

SWEET SIXTEEN—Daniel Laisure was 16 years old when he posed for this picture. Mr. Laisure retired in 1941 from Bldg. 27. His brother, J. E. Laisure, is employed in Bldg. 19-2.

An Alaskan Vacation
by
Charles S. Friend

Editor's Note: The following is the first part of a travel story written by Charles S. Friend, a former Works Lab employee who retired in 1946.

From Fort Wayne, I boarded a train for San Francisco. Then I traveled to Sacramento to attend the State Fair. I took a train for Vancouver, B. C., by the way of Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash.

I would advise anyone to plan his next vacation in Alaska. If time permits, I recommend the interesting voyage to Alaska by way of the calm and fjord-like Inside Passage.

Summer nights have a weird, lovely twilight—giving an uncanny beauty to earthly things. An unforgettable sight is the miracle of the crackling Aurora Borealis turning the sky into a spectacular display of flashing color.

You also see the giant totems with their grotesque symbolism. In the far northern towns, you can see Eskimos in their furs. There are countless fascinating trips to be made to scenic points in the interior—a vast mountain frontier.

Steamers make several stops a day and sometimes we would get off and take tours of the ports. We visited one place at Ocean Falls where they had an average of 172 inches of rainfall per year. At Prince Rupert nearly every home had a totem pole and the cemetery was full of them.

How strange it seemed to see those various great totems and markings. One of them had Abe Lincoln on top. The story is that it was made by one of the tribes that had heard Lincoln freed the southern slaves and they thought he could also free them from being driven from their homes by outside settlers.

Open Letter to Bob Pickett, who is stationed in Japan. In your recent letter, Bob, (which we appreciate very much), you were wondering what happened to Steve Bobay since you have not seen his name in the WORKS NEWS lately. This is to inform you, Bob, that Steve's been a pretty good boy lately. Since he got rid of that old tired, worn out nag and started raising rabbits, there is not much news about Steve. Raising rabbits keeps him quite busy building new hutches to keep up with the housing problem. However, when his first litter came to town, Steve was so happy about the whole thing that he passed out cigars. (Sorry you were not here, Bob). However, Steve tells us this must stop since the rabbits are coming so fast and furious he does not have the time to pass out cigars. Maybe, Bob, by the time we see you again, Steve will be in the pigeon business and giving away colored pigeon eggs. Anything can happen with a character like Steve. Best of everything, Bob, and let us hear from you real soon again. . . . Monday Morning Virgil Howell asked for permission to go home, his excuse being mamma pig was having some little pigs. Wonder what the next excuse will be since the baseball season has opened. . . . Gone Home. Elmer Hamilton has left the hospital and is convalescing at his home on the Poe Road. Elmer is doing a swell joh of getting well. Hope to see you back real soon, Elmer. . . . Who Ever is taking fresh chawing tobacco out of Bill Rohe's poke and replacing it with old, dried out tobacco, Please Stop. Bill tells us he doesn't like stale tobacco. . . . Your Editor is the proud grandfather of a brand new granddaughter named Linda Ann, weighing 7 lbs. and 15 oz. Daughter and granddaughter are doing very nicely. We are very happy and grateful that God has seen fit to give us another fine grandchild to love and help make our lives more complete. . . . Forrest Gill has left us to take up new duties in the Chicago office. Forrest was presented with a very appropriate gift and the best wishes of all his coworkers.

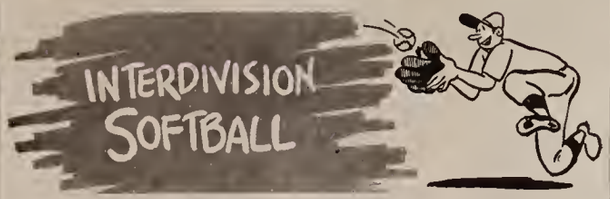
Eight teams teed off yesterday in quest of the Owl golf crown. For the past four years the Hot Shots from Bldg. 19-1 have run off with the honor. They have left it up to the rest of the league to lift their four-time, top-heavy crown.



No other league has the advantages of the Owls. All matches are played in the morning when there is ample time for completion before it is time to go to work or, as the day league, darkness comes near the end of the nine.

Only two of the eight teams are old standbys. Besides the champs, the Owl runnerups of last year remain intact. John Stark will captain that team this year.

Listed below are the teams slated to compete this year:

	Team	Captain
1.	Hot Shots	Warren Wickliffe
2.	Traps	Harold Nieman
3.	Putters	Bob Markey
4.	Spoons	John Stark
5.	Drivers	Carl Kuzeff
6.	Flags	Dick Merchant
7.	Brassies	Gus Ormsby
8.	Bunkers	Don Hower

Schedules and league rules will be given to each team.

by Don Stoneman

The softball season will get underway for the Interdivision League Wednesday, May 16.

Due to the large number of teams entered, two teams a week will draw a by. This and the fact that two nights had to be omitted because of holidays will extend the season.

Most of the teams have scheduled practices and it looks as though the competition will be keen.

The schedule for May 16 is as follows:

Works Lab. vs. Squares, Diamond One, 6:15 p.m.

Test Engineers vs. Fractional, Diamond One, 8:00 p.m.

Small Motors vs. Taylor St., Diamond Three, 6:15 p.m.

Motor Generator vs. Winter St., Diamond Four, 6:15 p.m.

HAM PRACTICE TUESDAY

The Ham Baseball League will practice Tuesday, May 15, in Packard Park from 6:30 to 8 p.m., Manager Bill Schible has announced.

If Cozy Walper's husband had been on the ball the other night on the Dinner Winner program, they could have saved on their grocery bill. . . . We think Clarabelle Whiteman and Cozy Walper are out Aba-Dab-A Honeymooning today. . . . Ruth Clark's son Harold was married Saturday. . . . Ruth Cavender spent Saturday in Muncie and was also in the Eagles' parade. Frieda Flaugh spent the week-end in Cincinnati. . . . Roy Wiegman thought he had a private swimming pool. It turned out to be a public one. Better get your bathing suit out of the moth balls for your next swim, Roy. . . . Alma Dailey is wearing a new diamond ring on the third finger of her left hand. When is the big day, Alma? . . . Mabel Quickery is now working in the Winding Section on days. She was transferred from second trick. . . . We welcome Barbara Gates, Phyllis Jean Stein and Alice Scheiman in Kindergarten. . . . The boys were wondering why Herb Richter was gathering up hack-saw blades last week. They found out he took a trip to Michigan City. . . . We hear Bob Johnson is building a chicken house, but we are wondering if it isn't a doghouse. We also wonder why he lost his female riders. . . . William Dunmire has changed from second shift to first shift, also Joe Sweeney is welcomed as a new employee in Div. 17x10. . . . If you don't think children's toys can be dangerous take a look at Ernie Krause's forehead. . . . Sydonna Fox and Elinor Laux attended a hobo party Friday night. Sydonna won first prize. We would liked to have seen them. . . . Al Seifert must have had a hard time finding fish worms. He had to go all the way to Middlebury, O.

Owls Edge Salisbury Axle 8-7 In Practice; Play Begins Wed.

by Bill Geist

The G-E Owls turned back Salisbury Axle 8-7 in a practice game at McMillen Park. Our team made numerous errors that helped the opposition score. The hits were matched with the score. G-E got eight and Salisbury, seven.

G-E at bat had only one strikeout while ten Salisburg men went down swinging. G-E's long ball hitting turned the tide.

Bud Hower pulled a homer deep over the left fielder's head, scoring Gay and Tripsord ahead of him. G-E's final run was a homer by Spiker in the sixth inning, with him sliding safely into home plate. Jacobs got the perfect day at the plate with a walk and three singles.

League play begins Wednesday morning, May 16, at McMillen Park. The schedules have not been given out yet.

Ralph Steward appears to be the first one to use his bathing suit this year. Hearing that wool is good for arthritis, Ralph wears his bathing suit wrapped around his knee. . . . Ross Cohagen has argued long and loud that his cat is a nicer pet than Gerhardt Schinnerer's parakeet bird. Last week he had to rescue the kitty from the top of a small tree. He is not saying much now until the scratches are all healed. . . . Speaking of cats reminds us of John Montgomery's experience. His cat was injured by a car and after some competent medical advice he endeavored to put her to sleep with chloroform. However, the next morning the cat was hale and hearty. . . . The second shift grinders welcome Anthony Lavelle. . . . DIE PLANT: That new look comes from the paint job now being applied to the machinery. . . . Living a half mile away, Dallas Smith was the fourth person to arrive at the scene of the fatal airplane crash. Dallas claims it was so muddy that they used his father-in-law's horses and wagon to remove the fatalities from the area. . . . George Spittler agreed to send a certain job down to Rufus Niblick on the elevator. Not receiving the work, Rufus impatiently investigated the reason for the delay. George had him though. He had used the dummy elevator while Rufus was checking the freight elevator. . . . DeWayne Schele has made another payment on his garage while Bob Brodrick is trying to devise a method to change his luck. . . . Lake George was always too big for George Houser to row a boat around so he invested in an outboard motor. Now the lake is too small for his motor. . . . We don't really know what Everett Schmidt's technique is, but he really has a good one catching his limit of fish in five hours' time. . . . James McFeely claims he played bridge just once. It seems Jim misunderstood his opponent's doubling four spades to mean an eight spade bid. So Jim, not to be outdone, came out and bid nine spades which was two more than he could possibly get. . . . Young Jim Ehresman must be learning to be a paratrooper. He jumped from the top cellar step without a chute. . . . Jim Kavanaugh won the sectional bridge title at South Bend. Congratulations, Jim. . . . Mart Walsh is busy these days trying to set a date for the tool room picnic. He was trying to schedule it on the same day and place of the foreman's picnic. He claims his troubles include everything from the Apprentice Alumni dance to a Girl Scout cookie sale.

Picnic Planner

It is beginning to look like old times in Bldg. 17-3. Our group is increasing rapidly. . . . We welcome Marietta Beckman, Lillian Murphy, Mary Rucoi, Gertrude Turner, Audra Willett, Sherry Varner and Delores Wilhelm. Hope you enjoy your work, girls, and enjoy being with us on second shift. We also welcome Harry Townsley, a new tester. . . . We extend our sympathy to Stella Kempf, whose husband died suddenly last week; also to Willis Mettler, whose wife died recently. Willis is recuperating nicely from a recent operation. . . . Ask Patsy Auer who Slim and Tubby are. They are new names for Patsy and Eileen, aren't they girls? . . . Bldg. 17-3 is getting to be a place where old friends meet. Marge Radu and Mary Rucoi have been friends for some time and renewed their friendship here at work. . . . We wish a happy birthday to Patsy Auer, May 10. . . . Did Norma Miller get excited after she came from the dispensary? She had to fill out her time slip and hand it in quickly, so she asked, "Am I fired?" You'll have to do more than cut your finger to get fired, Norma. . . . Mabel Drummond and her husband spent the week-end in Detroit visiting Mabel's sister. . . . Marietta Beckman has a very reliable escort. Her husband is quite faithful in meeting her so she doesn't have to walk home alone. . . . Lillian Murphy doesn't mind working Saturdays. She just minds waking up on time.

Laughter is God's hand upon a troubled world.

Our Privileged Millions

THE GREATEST HOAX that has been perpetrated upon the American people in my lifetime, probably, is that insidious and malignant phrase: "the privileged few."

It has been used frequently and with telling effect by men in high places. It has been widely exploited by demagogues, to their own political profit. It has been caught up and parroted on every hand. And it has become the basis for more perverted economic thinking than any other single phrase in the English language.

Today there are millions of people who have swallowed that malicious hoax, hook, line and sinker—people who sincerely believe that the great industrial enterprises of America are owned and controlled by a handful of wealthy men; and that these privileged few whack up, among themselves, the "fahulous" profits of "giant" corporations.

Economically and politically this widely-entertained misconception possesses all the explosive potentialities of a hydrogen bomb. Clearly it is high time to nail it for the barefaced lie that it is. What privilege do the owners of American industry possess that their fellow citizens do not? How wealthy must they be? And how many stockholders constitute a "few?"

The truth, of course, is that ownership of a share in American enterprise lies within the financial capacity of virtually every family in the land. If all of the dividend-paying stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange at the close of last year had been rolled up into one composite issue, a single share in this average American industry would have cost the investor exactly $33, and would have paid him a dividend of $2.21 during the year. That is hardly a "fabulous" profit; but nevertheless it represented a good return as dividends go—a return of 6.7 per cent on the investment.

There are approximately half a million corporations in the United States, and each of these is owned exclusively by its stockholders. Not one of those stockholders, however, possesses any "privilege" that is not available to every man, woman and child in the nation. Anyone who possesses a few dollars and who is willing to invest them in the plants and tools and furnaces and machines that make production possible, can become one of the owners of a corporation and can participate in its profits by merely purchasing a single share of the listed capital stock of that corporation. His share of stock will earn him exactly the same dividend that is paid on every other share of the same stock—no matter who owns it; and it carries with it exactly the same voting powers—the same right to register approval or disapproval of management and its policies. The price at which he buys that share of stock, or at which he may later sell it, is determined at public auction on the floor of the Stock Exchange by the bids of hundreds—or even thousands—of other buyers and sellers, like himself.

In short, stock ownership is one of the most completely democratic institutions to be found anywhere in this democracy of ours. There is no special privilege about it; but there is a very important privilege that the people of many other nations do not enjoy. Here, in America, everyone is at liberty to participate in corporate ownership or to refrain from doing so—just as he pleases. He may select freely the particular enterprise in which he wishes to invest, and may choose the stock which, in his opinion, promises the greatest measure of security coupled with the highest rate of return.

The citizens of many other nations do not have that privilege. They are compelled, by taxation, to provide capital for Government-owned corporations, whether they wish to do so or not; and they are denied the right to participate proportionately in any profits which their investment might yield.

So it appears that all Americans are "privileged"—and equally so, whether they own stock or not. But how about the "few?" How many stockholders are there?

To that question there is no exact answer, but responsible estimates put the figure as high as fifteen million. That is certainly quite a "few."

Many of America's largest corporations have more owners than employees. American Telephone and Telegraph, for example, is owned by more than a million stockholders. General Motors is owned by nearly half a million. Few of these owners, however, could be classed as wealthy by any standards, and large numbers of them have a total annual income of less than $5,000. With each passing year, moreover, the number of individuals holding stock in American industrial enterprises grows larger as more and more people avail themselves of the opportunities afforded by corporate ownership.

Records of United States Steel Corporation show that it is owned by 256,630 stockholders, of which 238,966 are individuals. This represents an increase of more than 15,000 individual owners of U. S. Steel stock in the past twelve months.

They come from every walk of life and from virtually every economic group. They are to be found in every state of the Union and in more than fifty foreign countries. Not one of them, however, owns as much as three-tenths of one per cent of either the preferred or common stock of U. S. Steel.

Nine out of ten of the preferred stockholders own fewer than 100 shares each. So do about three out of every four of the common stockholders. The average number of shares per stockholder is 47 in the case of the preferred stock, and 145 shares in the case of the common. More than half of all the individual stockholders are women.

Clearly, therefore, United States Steel is not owned by "the privileged few." Together with the other corporations in our nation, it is owned by America's privileged millions—by free men and women who have exercised their democratic opportunity to invest their money and to share in the profits, or the losses, of American industrial enterprise.

Yet, in the face of these facts, the lie persists and millions of people still believe that capitalists are a privileged few. What makes this lie especially dangerous is that the misguided millions who have accepted it so readily as a fact, are by no means willing to accept it as an unalterable economic condition. Many of them desire actively to do something about it.

They argue, truthfully, that industrial wealth stems initially from the God-given natural resources with which our nation has been so richly endowed; and they insist, quite plausibly, that the basic industries which transform those precious raw materials into useful end products, should belong to the people . . . not just to the privileged few!

I would go even further. I believe that all enterprise should belong directly to the people, and I hope that the day will come when every American family will purchase a share of American industry, however small or large that share may be.

That, to me, is true public ownership, and I favor it just as ardently as I oppose Government ownership. Let no one tell you that the two are the same. They are as far apart as the Poles.

Today, American enterprise does belong to the people—to the people who have built it with their ingenuity and maintained it with their savings. I know of no other nation in the world where such vast industrial resources as ours are owned and controlled so extensively, and so directly, by the public. I do know of other nations, however, where the Government has seized the industries created by its people, and placed them under control of politicians and bureaucrats.

That, to me, is the antithesis of real public ownership. It is truly control by the privileged few!

Broadway Bus, Lunch Hours Changed

16-2 Restaurant Will Operate As Snack Bar; Buses Leave 4:30

Changes in bus schedules and cafeteria arrangements for the new half-hour lunch period for Broadway salaried employes were made known today.

As announced last week by the Works manager, salaried employes at the Broadway Plant will have a half-hour lunch and will quit work at 4:30 p.m. beginning Monday.

In line with the new working hours, the Fort Wayne Transit Company has moved all 5:15 p.m. bus schedules up to 4:30 p.m. to accommodate employes. The following buses will leave from the west side of Broadway at 4:30 p.m.: Oxford, South Wayne, Pontiac-Fruehauf, Mount Vernon, South Calhoun and Waynedale. The Third Street and the regular No. 4 bus will leave from the east side of Broadway and a new special will

Insurance Plan Covers "Legal" Hospitals Only

Coverage for hospital room and board up to the semi-private room rate, not to exceed $10 per day and to a maximum of $700, under the General Electric Insurance Plan applies only to confinement in a legally constituted hospital.

This provision of the Plan was emphasized recently when the insurance company had to refuse several employees claims for payment of expenses incurred during stays in rest homes.

Payment was refused on the basis that rest homes are not legally constituted hospitals. Under the Company Insurance Plan, no hospital benefits can be paid unless

Ten-year MBA Members on Retired Lists May Get Paid-up Life Insurance Policies

A meeting of the General Committee of the Mutual Benefit Association has been called for 9 a.m. Friday, May 25, in the G-E Club. Following that meeting, at 9:30 a.m., MBA officers and directors will meet to consider a recommendation to amend the Plan for Dissolving the Employee Coverage with regard to the death benefit for members on pension retired before Dec. 1, 1950 with at least ten years of membership.

The proposed change concerns Article II, Section 2 of Exhibit A, attached to Resolution dated Nov. 22, 1950, which now reads in part:

"For those eligible retired members, the two hundred ($200)

This "Label" Business

Labels are useful things, in a grocery store. This can is labelled "BEANS" and beans it contains; that can is labelled "SOUP" and if it's soup you want, there it is and no mistake. Cans, cars, coats, crackers, clam-chowder—almost everything in our land is labelled . . . with the exception of people.

How can you label people in America? Take a man working in a factory. Would you label him "Labor?" He owns his own home, an automobile; he carries life insurance and, from his savings, has bought a few shares in the company he works for. Under the definitions, then, you would also have to label him "Capitalist," for he possesses capital.

Label him "Employe"? He and his wife hire a baby-sitter to come in once a week while they go to the movies; he hires a man to paint his house, or to fix the roof. He employs people, so you could label him "Employer."

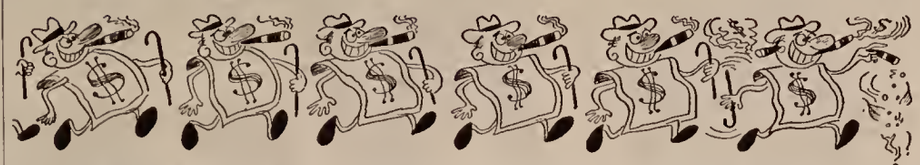
Our factory worker now bears the labels of "Labor," "Capital," "Employe," "Employer." He also buys things from the grocery, the clothing and the hardware store—so, label him "Consumer." . . . But the biggest label he wears—and the proudest one he possesses, whenever he stops to think of it—is "Citizen."

We can discard all the rest of the labels, any one of which is meaningless by and of itself in our country, and keep just the one which applies to every truly loyal American in the land—that of "Citizen."

Tale of a Town—Before, After

The run-down, ramshackle town of Wheelwright in the Kentucky hills was about as shabby and desolate a place as you could imagine. Dusty, falling to pieces, unpainted; toilets were dingy outhouses stretched on poles over a creek.

Today that town shines with new buildings, built of brick and stone in the Colonial style, and with the bright paint of the older homes (each of them now having a bathroom and indoor toilet). There are paved streets and sidewalks, free college scholarships for the school children, and an $18,000 clubhouse with a 9-hole golf course and swimming pool. The average house rents for $18 a month.



A Government project—or a socialistic dream come true? Hardly. It's all come about since the Inland Steel Co. of Chicago took over the Wheelwright mine and thereby "inherited" the decrepit town that came with it.

Paternalistic? Also hardly. It's just good business, the dividends of which are health, happiness, high morale—and much more production.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. WILLIAMS

INFLATION IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

If a suit worth 40 dollars costs you 80,
And a hat that once was five, now costs you ten,
Then it can be safely stated
That your dollar is inflated,
You'd be better off to curb your buying yen.

If your money's burning holes in every pocket,
And the things you want are now in short supply,
Stick it out a little longer,
Till your dollars are much stronger,
And will get you more of anything you buy.

If you're tempted to go out and "stockpile" tires,
Or use credit to buy items you don't need,
You would better serve the nation,
In its fight against inflation,
By just holding off so pressures can recede.

If you need a pound of coffee, don't buy twenty,
Try to get along without those extra shoes,
More than dollars will be wasted
If inflation isn't pasted,
We'll have nothing left, except our lives, to lose.

If we really want to save our nation's future,
Want the world to see the torch of freedom glow,
Pay defense bills now, not later,
Make production even greater,
And our flag will never bow to any foe!

CURIOSITY

Curiosity, I've heard it said,
At one time killed a cat,
But how and when it happened
I am not so sure of that.

I imagine, that some kitty,
Way back years and years ago,
Got a little bit too curious,
With some dog he didn't know.

That, of course, is ancient history,
But it serves to clear the way,
For you see, I've picked Curiosity
To write about today.

It is plain, why folks are curious,
All they want to do, is see.
But this morbid type curiosity
Is one that puzzles me.

Sometime, when there's an accident
With sirens screaming loud,
Just take a couple minutes,
And analyze the crowd.

You'll find a few assisting
Maybe two or maybe three
But you'll see another hundred
There, through sheer curiosity.

You will likely see some woman
With that lack of self-restraint
Who must see each gory detail
It would seem so she can faint.

Was there anybody injured?
You will hear some fellow say.
If there wasn't, then just watch him
For he soon will walk away.

In our recent air disaster
There were thousands rushed to see.
A few to lend assistance;
But the rest—Curiosity.

Surely people don't enjoy
Seeing others maimed or killed
But if not, then why this gruesome,
Morbid way of being thrilled?

Well, I told you I was puzzled
And I'm still remaining so
But if some one knows the answer
Won't you kindly let me know.

Four G-E Drivers Will Compete in Truck Rodeo receives promotion

F. C. Fisher, Former Employee Here, Gets Pittsfield Position

Forrest C. Fisher, former Fort Wayne Works employee, has been appointed assistant production manager, Production Division, Transformer and Allied Product Divisions, according to an announcement by J. B. Dunn, production manager.

Mr. Fisher joined the General Electric Company in Fort Wayne in 1935. He was assigned to FHP Motor Divisions upon completion of the Production Training Course. At the time of his transfer to Schenectady in 1948, he was serving as production supervisor in Large Motor and Generator Divisions.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher and their son, John, make their home in Schenectady.

Fire Protection Show To Be Held Here Wed.

An industrial fire protection demonstration will be held Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Taylor St. Plant, G-E Fire Chief Ernie Hanauer said today.

Sponsored by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce, the project is designed as an educational program for paint and fire protection personnel.

Taking part in the demonstrations will be the Fort Wayne Fire Department, International Harvester Company, Tokheim Oil Tank and Pump Company and General Electric.

Various types of extinguishers, including sprinklers, will be demonstrated to emphasize difficulties of extinguishing indoor fires.

Chief Hanauer is chairman of the First Prevention Committee's Education Sub-committee.

Alumni Planning Spring Cabaret Dance June 1

The Spring Cabaret dance is provoking an unusual amount of interest among Apprentice Alumni Association members, Earl Plummer, publicity chairman, said today as he revealed plans for the annual party. The dance will be held at 9:30 p.m. Friday, June 1, at Goeglein's Mill on the Maysville Road (Lake Ave. extended).

In addition to a full evening's dancing, several specialty acts have been arranged. One of these is Tribal Chieftain O-mi O-mi and his six native hula dancers. The group admits they are not from Hawaii, but insist they can do anything a native can. Their routine to the strains of "Hawaiian War Chant" is something no member will want to miss, Mr. Plummer declared.

Another highlight of the evening will be the unmasking of the "Alonesum Gal," who will mingle with guests and dance with the men. According to Alumni sources, she has promised to sing at least one song before she leaves for an extended engagement in Oddefriggun, N. Y.

The dance is for Alumni members and their guests. Tickets are $1.50 per couple and may be purchased from contact men.

drafting supervisor

George W. Owens Gets Promotion In STAB Drafting

George W. Owens has been appointed assistant supervisor of Drafting, Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions, according to an announcement by P. A. Ohnesorge, supervisor of Drafting. Mr. Owens assumed his new duties May 7.

A 1931 graduate of the Apprentice School, Mr. Owens joined the General Electric Company Aug. 16, 1928, as an apprentice draftsman. The majority of his service has been spent in STAB Divisions' Drafting Section.

He entered military service in January, 1941, as a first lieutenant and was relieved of active service in 1945 with the rank of major.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens, with their son and daughter, live on R. R. 11, North Bend Drive.

Annual Driving Contest Slated Sunday Afternoon at Smith Field

The annual truck rodeo, sponsored by the Fleet Safety Committee of the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce, will be held Sunday at Smith Field, Committee Chairman Jay Greer announced today. The rodeo is slated to begin at 10 a.m. with a parade from the corners of Baker and Calhoun Streets to Smith Field, north of the city.

Open to the general public, the events are expected to get underway at 12 noon. Four G-E drivers are included in the 38 participants. They are Charles Woodworth, who will drive a tractor-trailer unit; Ted Raypole and Carl Wagoner, driving straight trucks, and Merle Bachellor, driving a panel truck.

Safe Drivers Featured

In order to be eligible to compete, drivers must have at least 12 months of accident-free driving prior to the rodeo. Upon arrival at Smith Field, drivers will be rated on personal appearance, written work, and defective equipment tests.

Competition will be held throughout the afternoon. Winning drivers will receive awards and eligibility to compete in the state rodeo at Indianapolis which will present an opportunity to enter the national contest. Ten firms will have equipment on display for the public.

The Elex Club will operate a concession stand at the field, selling coca-cola and hot dogs. Justine Coudret, Winter St., and Margaret Taylor Bldg. 4-6, are in charge of the stand. Other restaurant facilities for meals are available at the airport. There is no admission charge.

Herb Wesling, of the Allen Dairy Co., is co-chairman of the Fleet Safety Committee. Mel Slater, of Standard Oil, is rodeo chairman and G. K. Bond, Bldg. 6-2, is chairman of the driver registration committee.

Indianapolis speaker

Foremen, Supervisors To Hear E. R. Krueger Wednesday in Club

Elmer R. Krueger, Indianapolis civic leader, will address a joint meeting of the Foremen's Association and Supervisors' Club at 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, in the G-E Club.

Mr. Krueger is president and founder of Paper Art Company, Inc., of Indianapolis, a firm which manufactures household paper products. He is a director of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and past chairman of their World Trade Committee. He is also a director of the Indianapolis Rotary Club and National Sales Executives, Inc.

Mr. Krueger was an organizer and chairman of the Latin-American business air tour through 14 countries in 1946 and the recent European business air tour through ten countries in 1949. He personally made an air trip around the world last fall.

All eligible foremen and supervisors have received invitations by mail.

Square Dance Planned

G-E Squares have planned a square dance for Friday, May 25, at Goeglein's Barn, Chairman Jim Walley disclosed today. Mr. Walley said the dance has been arranged because of the enthusiastic reception of the Squares' barn dance held last month.

The affair will be strictly informal. Paul Weaver will be caller for dancing from 9 to 12 p.m.

Tickets are $1 per couple for members and $2 per couple for guests.

MAKE "THE VOICE" LOUDER

Three Big Generators From Here Assist Word War Against Soviet

G-E folks in the Large Motor and Generator Divisions will have a share in helping freedom-hungry people, trapped behind the Iron Curtain, to hear news of the outside world and to learn something of Democracy.

Three large Fort Wayne-manufactured generators were shipped from here last week on the first stage of a journey to another part of the world where they will help provide power for the United States' Voice of America broadcasting system.

Weighing 8,000 pounds each, the generators will be Diesel-driven. The order for the equipment, of which the G-E generators will be a part, was placed by the State Department. When, due to the materials shortage, it became difficult to get forgings, Large M-G Divisions received a priority for them. The "Voice" is considered to be one of our strongest weapons against Communism, because of the importance of keeping our contacts with communist dominated countries.

To Ring the Soviet

Congress recently appropriated funds for new equipment to help break the Soviet jamming of our stations and to increase the world audience. When the present expansion is completed, the Soviet Union will be ringed by U. S. radio relay bases and the Voice of America will be able to reach every radio receiver in the world, according to a recent State Department bulletin.

Broadcasting on a 24-hour schedule, 70 separate programs send out over 200,000 words a day in 24 different languages. By the end of 1951, the bulletin estimates that over a half million words will be beamed daily in 50 different languages.

The Voice of America is just part of the overall informational and cultural program of the United States. The radio phase consists of a great international network with 38 short-wave transmitters located in all sections of the United States. These stations, owned partly by the government and partly by private interests, feed relay bases in England, Germany, Tangier, Greece, Hawaii and the Phillipines. The relay bases pick up the radio signal and boost it on either short or medium waves.

Radio programs familiar to all Americans closely cooperate with the Voice. Such programs as the Hit Parade, the Telephone Hour and Adventures in Science, for example, are almost as well known abroad as they are at home.

It is difficult to estimate how many listeners the Voice of America has behind the Iron Curtain, but attacks delivered by the Soviet radio indirectly provide free advertising for the Voice and give a clue to the U. S. radio's popularity in communist controlled countries.

personnel president

L. C. Swager to Head Ind. Personnel Assn.

L. C. Swager, assistant to the Works manager, has been named president of the Indiana Personnel Association. New Officers of the group were announced at a business meeting at Purdue University this week.

Other G-E employees attending the conference were W. E. Beer, supervisor of employment; G. E. Hicks, supervisor of wage rates for FHP Motor Divisions; J. V. Johnson, assistant supervisor of labor relations, and Ivan D. Rinehart, assistant supervisor of personnel.

Parkview Operating Rooms Will Feature Latest Medical Aids

The Surgical Suite at the new Parkview Memorial Hospital, for which G-E employees and the Company contributed $152,175, will include two emergency and seven operating rooms according to plans revealed in the Memorial Hospital Newsletter.

Operating rooms will be equipped with every conceivable aid to facilitate the work of the surgeon. Room temperature and humidity will be automatically controlled and operating lights will incorporate latest improvements. Oxygen will be piped into the rooms. X-ray view boxes will be recessed in softly colored, glass covered walls. Even the floor will be especially designed and constructed for top safety.

In anticipation that surgical work will be high caliber, visiting doctors will be able to observe operations in one room from a specially designed, balcony-type gallery.

Operating room facilities will include two complete "scrub-up" the institution is legally defined as a hospital.

In a statement explaining the insurance company's action, E. S. Willis, manager of the Employee Benefit Plans Department, said if employees plan to enter an institution where there is some doubt whether it is a rest home or hospital, inquiry should be made to be sure payments under the Plan can be made. This also applies to convalescent and nursing homes.

Mr. Willis explained that the problem is particularly difficult in California because of the large number of rest and nursing homes in that state.

Check to Be Safe

"It will be well to keep this provision in mind so maximum benefits can be paid if you are hospitalized," he pointed out, adding that "if there is any doubt, the safest procedure is to verify."

The Company's Plan covering hospital expense insurance provides for payment of the actual charge for room and board up to the hospital's semi-private room rate, but not more than $10 for each day of confinement up to a maximum of $700.

The Plan states that a hospitalized employee may occupy a private room, but benefits for room and board will be based on the hospital's charges for semi-private accommodations, up to the $10 daily maximum. Hospital confinement must be recommended by a physician or surgeon who is licensed to practice medicine.

In addition, up to a maximum of $100 is paid for special hospital services including the actual costs of anesthesia, ambulance, certain X-rays, and other services.

The above has been recommended to read:

"For those eligible members (Article VI, RETIREMENT—of the By-laws) retiring on pension on or before Nov. 30, 1950, a paid-up individual life insurance certificate in the amount of two hundred ($200) dollars will be purchased from the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company of Fort Wayne, Indiana. Such certificate will be delivered to each insured pensioner and will show the name of the insured and the beneficiary. Coverage under such certificate will become effective at 12:10 a.m., June 1, 1951. Should death occur prior to June 1, 1951, payment will be made to the beneficiary of record by the Association."

Proxy blanks have been mailed to all MBA officers and directors along with notices of the meeting.

MBA members are also reminded that all Class A claims must be filed with General Secretary Ruth Hartman, Bldg. 18-3, by Friday, June 1.

In order to receive a "superior" award, a student must have had no accidents, warnings or arrests during the school year and must have been the recipient of a special commendation from a police officer or faculty member for unusual driving courtesy and skillful driving practice.

"Good driver" cards are also given to other students who qualified by driving throughout the school term without accident, warning or arrest.

Ten county and five city schools are participating in the program. Six county schools have already scheduled their award programs and city schools are slated to receive awards later in the month.

The restaurant in Bldg. 16-2 will be operated as a snack bar, serving sandwiches, soups, salads, beverages and desserts. The snack bar, handled in cafeteria-style, will be open from 12:15 to 1 p.m. daily.

Under the new lunch period schedule, Specialty Transformer and Ballast, and Large Motor and Generator employes will have their lunch periods from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m. Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions employes will take their lunch from 12:30 to 1 p.m., and Works Service employes will eat from 12:45 to 1:15 p.m.

JOIN RETIREMENT LIST—Neil V. McNamara (left), and Raymond C. Renfrew have joined the ranks of retired G-E employees. Mr. McNamara started working for G-E in 1919 as a truck driver. He later became a machinist hand and has been an assembler since 1926. At his retirement he was a motor repairman and assembler in Bldg. 4-4. He worked in Bldgs. 4-1, 4-3, 4-4, 17-1, 17-3, 19-4, 19-5 and Taylor St. An employee since 1902, Mr. Renfrew's first job was toolmaking in Bldg. 17-3. He was made a foreman in Bldg. 17-4 in 1924, and since 1936 has been located in Bldg. 19-5.

Bob Benz, who is quite particular about his new car, had a let-down while giving it a weekly bath. He tried to wash a window with a sponge full of water but the window was open. . . . Having missed catching a nice pike that snagged his bluegill hook, Bob Hirshman isn't missing any emphasis on his story. He claims it was 28 inches long. . . . Working from five in the morning until five in the evening, Bill Sletzer was able to get his garden out. We are looking forward to seeing that huge tomato, Bill. . . . John Hensler was seated at his sister's table which was filled with appetizing delectables. Suddenly John excused himself and dashed for the telephone. On the other end of the line in our Bldg. 19-5 tool crib, Jack Acker promptly made a quick search and found the cause of all the disturbance. John had forgotten to take his teeth which were soaking in a glass of water. . . . Ralph Reed must certainly be a champion, gathering two thousand mushrooms in one week. . . . Tool division people at Indianapolis race trials were Don Alcott and Marion More. Mary Ellen Owen, a race driver in the powder puff class, was thrilled to shake hands with Duke Nalon and snapped his picture after his great performance. Glenn Hoon, Jack Schemehorn, Woody Hursh and Bud Dunlap were also present using field glasses to take them in on the curves.

Wedding Bells are ringing again in Bldg. 31-2. This time they are for Richard Cox of the Drafting Section. Tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Waynedale Methodist Church, he and Patricia Beaman, of Bldg. 4-4, will be married. . . . Helen Moeschberger reports that her vacation next week will be one of rest and relaxation. How some of us envy her and hope she returns as fresh as a daisy! . . . How many of you have missed the boss the past few days? Pete Stough is a member of the General Engineering Committee of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, and is attending the annual national convention at the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., this week and part of next. Mrs. Stough is accompanying him, and we especially wish her luck in the women's golfing events. In previous years she has already chalked up top scores and won some very lovely prizes, while Pete was slaving away in committee meetings. We are looking forward to hearing the good reports for this year. Our sentiment to Pete is, "Cut the meetings short and have all the fun you can while you are there." . . . The moral of this story is if at first you don't succeed, make the most of the second time (no matter what it be). Last week during one of our spring showers, Ed Cwiklo wasn't able to make his usual 4 p.m. trip to the candy lady, so instead he tried his luck with our ice cream machine. It seems that he put two nickels in and got in return: Ice cream? No—a nickel and a spoon. So with spoon in mouth he was seen by Claude Penn, who inquired about his unusual diet. Ed replied, "I gotta chew on this thing. It cost me a nickel!" . . . Won't we all be glad when Gerry returns from her vacation to write this column again? The two of us who tried to write the column for this week will be. Confidentially, we don't blame her for "not being responsible," but we didn't think we would ever live to see the day she would admit it. Seriously we hope Gerry had a swell vacation. Let's all give her all the help we can by reporting good news events, so we can have a really good column.

Inquiring Reporter:

"DO YOU BELIEVE IN CAPITAL PUNISHMENT"?

HOWARD MUSSELMAN
Bldg. 19-3

"I believe in capital punishment on the grounds that when a person takes a life, he should pay with his own. Also, it saves the taxpayers a lot of money."

HAZEL GAHMAN
Taylor St.

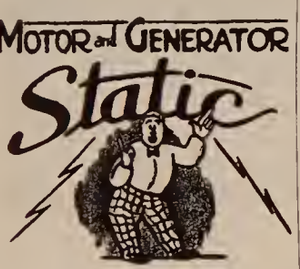
"No, I do not believe in capital punishment. There have been cases where the innocent received the death penalty and in later years the guilty person has confessed the crime."

HARLEY M. BUTTORFF
Bldg. 17-1

"I do not believe capital punishment should be abolished, but no person should receive the death penalty on circumstantial evidence. The guilt should be established beyond a doubt. Some crimes may be prevented by fear of the death penalty."

VIVIAN O'NEILL
Bldg. 26-4

"Capital punishment is necessary, but only the civil authority, representing God, should inflict such punishment. Individuals are members of society and just as a diseased limb is amputated for the good of the whole body, so should criminal members of society be executed for the good of society."



KARL SOEST
Bldg. 8-E

"I definitely do, and positively believe it should not be abolished. In fact, it should be used more extensively, especially in cases of cold-blooded murder, where the guilty party has not been provoked into committing the act. However, in all cases, the courts should be sure beyond all question of doubt that they convict the right party."

Would you like to give a real surprise party for your wife? Then just ask Otto Pflueger for all the details. Everything clicked off like clockwork at his party. The only trouble was Otto ate too much. . . . Am I seeing things? That's what Elmer Warner wondered when he looked at his cupboard one morning. Yes, it was really true. During the night a truck ran into it and spilled almost everything on the floor. Poor Elmer's aching back. But it's spring and just in time to do spring cupboard cleaning. . . . At last after all these years, Eddie Lepper has had a dream come true, at least for a couple days. He has a helper whom the fellows are calling "Lepper, Jr.," otherwise known as Eugene Bly. Gene is learning the grinding operation. Now watch production increase. . . . Congratulations to the Lawrence Breslers. They now have a baby girl at their house. We bet their three boys are pretty happy about this, too. . . . About this time every year we begin to hear about who will have the best and biggest strawberries. Sometimes we even see samples of their crops. Who will be the one this year, Al Nahrwold, Elmer Warner or Del Morrical? . . . Charlie McCormick is getting his boat in shipshape condition. It won't be long until you see him cruising over the lake. . . . We've been seeing Thelma Fields and Martha Ruhl coming into work with their arms full of flowers. It's just another sign of spring. . . . It's time to start getting your summer tan, but take it easy on the sunburn. . . . Happy week-end.

Thought for the week—"One way to keep your head above water is to keep out of expensive dives."—Rod Brasfield.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: Ad in the classified page of the LaGrange (Ga.) Daily News: "Our lost and found ads have found everything hut the Lost Chord and the Missing Link." . . . Lost and found item in small paper: "Green fountain pen lost by a man full of red ink." . . . Whimsical notice above soda fountain: "All our soft drinks are guaranteed to be highly adulterated." . . . Bulletin board announcement at Veterans' Airport, Bloomington, Ind.: "Notice! Absolutely no flying over nudist camp located exactly eight miles SSW on a true course of 190 degrees." . . . REMEMBER: Now that the time for the 500 mile race at the Indianapolis Speedway is near, our thoughts go back to some of the old cars that used to go through Fort Wayne. In fact, the majority of them went south on Broadway and out the old Bluffton Road. How many of you remember some of these cars? Marmon, Matchson, McFarlan, Mercer, Moon, Monroe, Star, Haynes, Haynes-Apperson, American, National, Decatur, Coppack, Overland, Wolverine, Stutz, Cord, Duryea, Chandler, Craig-Toledo, Abbott-Detroit, Winton, Rickenbacker, Jackson, Jenkins, Owen-Magnetic? Perhaps some of you remember the Owen-magnetic transmissions that were manufactured at Fort Wayne. Carnation, our friend, E. A. Barnes, had one of these. Here are some more: Case, Lafayette, Locomobile, Pierce-Arrow, Rambler, Sun, Trumble, Graham-Paige. Since the beginning of the automobile industry, there have been 1,490 American cars either in the blueprint or the manufacturing stage. . . . We welcome Hedwig Munsell to Bldg. 31-1. . . . Dick Hobson says that after all the razzing he has had from Poison Pen and the editor of this column, he at least isn't so absentminded. He doesn't go home without his key and have to spend the whole noon hour in the yard—this happened to Ed Foley. . . . Our sympathy to Don Shultz, who is confined at home due to an accident to his right foot. We hope he has a speedy recovery.

Here it is the middle of May and so far no one has told us how many weeks until vacation. Guess the gang is slipping. . . . Is there a conductor in the crowd? Yes, none other than Cliff Dunten. He works on the T. P. R. R. (Trier's Park Railroad). Do you suppose we could thumb a ride? . . . The only excuse Merle (Red) Coburn had for wearing the loud shirt was that his better half, Ruth, insisted on it. Well, anyway, it brightened up the place for a while. . . . Yes, that's "Sandy" Bennett you see on first trick now. Sandy replaces Lawrence Mellinger, who left us for Bldg. 4-6. . . . Our South End gang helped Ed Klomp remember his birthday last week with a potluck lunch. Ed will admit he is 55, but says he will never admit to anymore than that. He'd rather stay 55 years young than to get any older. Hooray for you and best wishes, too. . . . Elmer Brown is now a part of the North End, first trick, and Dale Hobson has deserted us for Bldg. 6-2. Good luck, guys. . . . Larry Rickert is still on the sick list, but we're hoping to see him back soon. . . . Now, we've heard everything. Dick Spoerhase made a date with his girl to go mushroom hunting. Now that's not unusual. When he does his hunting here and his girl does her hunting in Bloomington, that's unusual. Besides, we never did find out if they got any.

We were very sorry to hear Ad Ragan was ill last week and hope it didn't delay his bath installation. . . . Jay C.'s speedometer on his Chevrolet showed 95 when he passed that collie dog. Maybe that was a greyhound, Jay. . . . Bill Conrad would be interested in buying a registered white-faced bull. He had a misfortune in losing his best by an error. . . . Some have been wondering why McKinsey was sitting on the floor the other day. Maybe Jim Calihand could shed some light on it. . . . Doyle Miller, it's either Ed Parker, the Busco hillbilly's calling or your dancing. They just can't get together. Skipper Kramer has suggested a new call, but so far Ed hasn't used it. . . . Sam Rhoades has two unusual pets, two half-grown hoot owls. He has undertaken the job to feed and tame them. From the claw marks Sam had last Friday, the owls must have tamed him. . . . Have you seen Mack McConnehey's little hood yet? . . . Group 112 welcomes Farris Thomas and hopes he likes us, too. . . . The Golfing Hall of Fame is missing a good bet on Herschell Gratts. He gets up at five every morning, shoots 18 holes of golf and is never late for work at seven. He is proud to say he only used 160 strokes to complete the full 18 holes. . . . Wayne Brinkley is in training to take over the shear job. Good luck, Wayne. . . . Forrest Rupright is leaving the shears to work for Emmet Bobay. Forrest should not miss the shears too badly as he will have a good man to work for. . . . Sole Booker probably was a very busy man last week-end. He started on the spot welders last Monday. After the boys informed him of conditions, he was not going to waste any opportunities. . . . Our buddy Nick Pennick left us Monday to work on the second trick, and Sherman Miller took over as chief spot. . . . The big question in Group 112 is whether Russell Golliver is ailing or is taking a nurses' training course. . . . Fred Thiemen is reported seeking a new corn collector to replace Eddie Dauscher. All the rest of the gang have valuable pieces of money, but his quarter is still only worth two bits.

A warm welcome to Jo Quinn and Vivian Hill, who are newcomers to our office. Jo was the star of "Holiday Ranch." Vivian hails from Roanoke. . . . Barbara Schuckel went on the Community Chest Come-and-see tour. . . . Bud Mendenhal had everyone in the dark in the office as he accidentally leaned on the light switch. . . . Vi Schneiders, Dee Hahn, Marilyn Spice, Joyce Greiser, Jean Smith and Judy Krebs enjoyed an evening of shopping, dinner, and the movies Wednesday evening. Ed Sembroski was "Production Manager" briefly, as Barbara Schuckel mistakenly signed a letter as such. . . . Carol Harrington's car that was stolen was found in Michigan, and we are all certainly glad. . . . A very happy birthday to Faye Alexander and Vivian Grepke. The candy was delicious. . . . Edith Sevain was showing us colored pictures of her children. She has a lovely family. . . . We don't know if Maurice Petgen is having his "ups and downs," but he sure is having his "back and forths"—from Broadway to Taylor St. . . . Maxine Householder is an avid softball fan. She was playing catch last Wednesday. . . . Norm Wichmann is the proud possessor of a new Ford, new to him, anyway. . . . Stella Hagadorn keeps the office looking mighty pretty with the lovely flowers she brings in from her garden. . . . Judy Krebs tried the use of face cream for tooth paste—Jean Smith tried to put the sugar in the refrigerator and the cream in the cupboard. You know why? Their boy friends are coming home on leave. . . . Vivian Grepke is wearing a beautiful solitaire. Bob Rietdorf, of Bldg. 31-1, is the lucky guy.

LOGS 30 YEARS—Williard F. Smith, Bldg. 4-3, (seated, center), added another year to his service record to make a total of 30 years recently. Congratulating him on his long record are (l-r) seated, Jay Michaels, Mr. Smith and William Charleston; standing, Robert Blee, Florian Korte, Glenn McDonald, W. W. Dreyer and R. L. Spitler.

G-E DEATHS

C. M. Ross Services Held Tues., May 15

Charlie M. Ross, 73, died of a heart attack at 11:45 a.m. at his home last Saturday.

He had been a General Electric employee from 1942 until his retirement in 1946, working in Bldg. 26-5 and at the G-E Club.

Mr. Ross is survived by his wife, Ammie; two daughters, Mrs. John C. Erhardt, Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Elmer D. Becker, R. R. 6; two sons, Roy R. and Chester A., Fort Wayne; a brother, Alvah, Hebron; and eight grandchildren.

Services were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the funeral home with the Rev. Dale Stackhouse officiating. Burial was in Greenlawn Memorial Park.

SHIPPING: In answer to those numerous questions that go with a black eye, let us here and now state that Xercia Sinish got that shiner when she slipped on her waxed floor and cut her eyebrow. The fall didn't dim her graciousness as a hostess, however. The Sinishs entertained 33 people at their lake home Sunday afternoon. . . . Orchids to Mary Jane Wise tomorrow on the occassion of her (?) birthday. . . . Our deepest sympathy to Ivan Doster upon the death of his sister. . . . Betty Campbell reports that her hubby (former third floor employee, Dick Campbell) is now stationed in Texas. . . . RECEIVING: Speaking of people, Marie Renz and Heiny Brueggemann are our best "laughers," with Frank Parker running a close third. Mary Wolfe is our best "sneezer," with absolutely no competition, since Harry Beaty left. Ruth Schroeder is the winning-est person, (check pool, that is). Phyllis Emenhiser is the blondest. Dorothy McCoy is the Irish-est, and Rebecca Murphy is the brainiest (former school teacher). This adds up to some of the grandest people you'd ever want to know. . . . Dwila Parish, our new typist, is a recent graduate of Churubusco High School. She is cute, brunette and single. . . . TELEGRAPH: We wish Beverley Staley would learn to spell South Whitley since she insists on living there in her brand new house trailer home. . . . MAILING: Out goes the welcome mat for Kenneth Bodenhamer and Art Rodgers, whom we're hoping like it here even though we only see them on the fly. . . . We sometimes wonder how long it takes people to gain consciousness before they get to work, for this experiment we are using none other than Gene Dockter. . . . Norm Gertz reported a good time in Ohio over the week-end. . . . Loren Hill is going to hoof it to and from work, at least temporarily. It seems two cars came too close together, and one of them belonged to Loren.

PENSIONER PARADE

An Alaskan Vacation
by
Charles S. Friend

Editor's Note: The following is the second part of a travel story told by Charles S. Friend, a former Works Lab employee who retired in 1946.

As we gazed from the beautiful valley we could see the mammoth glaciers with hundreds of feet of frozen ice and snow and the mighty fall of water rushing down the falls. On this tour I asked the bus driver if they had any trouble raising funds to keep up their roads. His answer was that they had very little difficulty since they only had 26 miles of roads to keep up. However, Alaska is busy building some highways.

From Skagway you can cross the mountains to Carcross, Lake Atlin and the headwaters of the Yukon. From Valdez or Seward there are interetsing trips, especially to Mt. McKinley National Park embracing majestic Mt. McKinley, the highest peak in North America (20,404 ft.). It is also a thrill to circle over this glacier with ice and snow 600 feet deep.

Fairbanks is a strange looking city, but in time I believe it will be great. It is such a famous mining center. On Dec. 21, the sun rises there at 10:45 a.m. and sets at 1:15 p.m. Incidentally, did you know that Alaska has an area of one-fifth that of Continental United States?

Ninety-eight per cent of the land is owned by the Federal Government. Cabbage, potatoes and other hardy vegetables flourish far north of the Arctic Circle. Flowers and berries grow profusely. Delphiniums grow nine feet high and strawberries are two inches in diameter. They have very little taste, though, because they get so little sun.

At Fairbanks, some 120 miles from the Arctic Circle, it is sometimes 100 degrees in the shade. And the average snowfall in the Arctic lowlands is less than in the state of Virginia.

One day while they were digging for gold with the big powerful cranes, they discovered they had struck some form of an animal in the frozen earth. It was an elephant with hide and hair still intact. They unearthed it, packed it and shipped it to a New York museum.

Bald-headed eagles are very numerous in Alaska. They destroy fox, goats, sheep and salmon. Man is about the only enemy they have. We also saw the work of the Great Beaver. The fox is his natural enemy.

The three principle industries of Alaska are fishing, mining and furs.

Living Costs High

Living costs are approximately 15 to 20 per cent higher than in the States, but wages are also higher. Some popular conceptions of the Arctic region are that it is inhospitable, uninhabitable, silent, snowbound and solidly frozen the year round. Each of these ideas about the frozen North is incorrect. The Arctic is friendly to those who understand it—and downright pleasant to some.

The Arctic is particularly pleasant and friendly to those who live there. The Eskimos, who are among the happiest people on earth, know and understand the Arctic. They easily wrest a living from it and have much time for leisure. They delight in games, dancing and story-telling. Most explorers agree that an Eskimo laughs as much in a month as an average white man does in a year.

The Arctic is habitable not only for man but for other mammals as well. The Arctic waters contain as much sea life per cubic foot as do the waters of any other part of the world. Moreover, some of the largest mammals on earth prefer the Arctic to any other habitat—such as polar bears and whales for instance. There are also fox, caribou, musk oxen, walrus, seals, wolves, hares, owls, hawks, and at times, gulls, swans, cranes, loons, ducks and ravens not to mention mosquitoes, blue beetles, flies and bumble bees.

Bears are plentiful all over Alaska, they feed on skunk cabbage roots in the spring, berries in the summer and salmon in the fall. I wish everyone could see Alaska with his own eyes. It is a land of flowers, grass, swimming, and gardens from June to October.

If you are considering a vacation, I wish you would all consider a trip to this country—you can go by steamer, plane or drive to Fairbanks and tour the rest of the way.

Norm Wolf went to the try-outs over the week-end. Here is the story he tells: There was a rabbit running 90 miles an hour all the way around the track. Next Norm will have him leading the race on Memorial day. . . . Pearlean Webber has all the luck when it comes to losing her pocketbook, especially after all the girls in the car chipped in for her to eat. She got out of the car and there was her purse on the floor. . . . We all are wondering what has happened to Gerry Crabill. Her favorite snack at 8:30 a.m. is one large dill pickle. She now buys them by the gallon. . . . We wonder what the trouble is with Willie Palmer. She is getting her days all mixed up. Maybe it can be arranged to get her check for her on Tuesday. . . . Nellie Williams went home over the week-end and bought a new car in the morning. Maybe we should move in with Nellie to see how she does it. We hope you like your car a lot. . . . Selma Voight and Lona Cook went to Holland, Mich., over the week-end and had a wonderful time seeing all the beautiful tulips. . . . Jerry McKown and his boys are going to open Tri-Lakes up for dances May 25 and 26. Now Jerry won't wake up until Tuesday instead of Monday noon. . . . Alma Welch and Carlos Rogers are back after an illness, but Alma has a new car now. Maybe Carlos didn't have the right pains. . . . Happy birthday to Fred Adams, and what did that "39" stand for that was on the cake, Fred? . . . Elsie Fabian came in sporting a beautiful new watch, and we might add she really has something to be proud of. . . . We hear Tom Burlage really has his troubles, even with his car, so he can't get in to work. . . . We miss Arnold Wolf, who left us to go back to Bldg. 26-3. . . . Thanks to Esther Schladenhauffen, the sound room is brightened up with lovely tulips. . . . Eldon Lewis and Chet Carey were seen fighting over a broom in the aisle the other day. But to be real truthful neither one wanted to use it. . . . Give Lela Line 6 feet of floor space, a newspaper and a bouquet and she makes a very lovely corpse. . . . Ruby Stucky went to the lakes over the week-end and reports cleaning, painting, etc., are all finished. She's ready to relax and enjoy herself. . . . If Nora Dudgeon has more money than she knows what to do with, she doesn't have to throw it away. There are a lot of people that would love to have a dollar bill. By the way, Nora, why was your face so red Saturday morning while you were holding that cup of water? . . . Beulah Howard had better stop taking iron pills if she is going to jump over the fireplug here at the G-E yard.

Success shuns the unworthy, the unwilling, and the unprepared.—Fraternal Monitor.

6-4 AIRLINERS

By Joan Lindeman

If you have ever seen anyone put on their brakes in a hurry, you should have seen Don LeMaster last Saturday. I'll bet his feet are still burning. Don was hurrying around the corner of an oven with an air hose in his hand and ran smack into Carl Metker. . . . Congratulations to Dwight Stoner, who was married last Saturday. . . . Too bad Pondo picked the wrong day to collect on his bet. He had to drink a coke. . . . Erwin Zollinger looked and studied and examined a reject with a tag on it which read "Down to Earth." He finally discovered it meant "Grounded," but he would like to know who it is that has such a brilliant mind. . . . If you wondered why Glen Castle came in limping Monday and had a few bandaged spots, it was because he had a few young ideas over the week-end. He took a spill on a motorcycle. . . . Pondo has quit smoking for the third time. How much willpower will he have this time? . . . Two familiar faces again are Henrietta Jimison and Helen Shuler. We are glad to see you back with us, girls. . . . Happy birthday to Jackie Keller and Jean Nebehy, May 8. . . . We welcome Kathyleen Bright, Faith Robinett, Rosella Roller and any other new girls we might have missed. Florence Bieber was transferred recently to our floor, also. . . . While home on a week-end pass from Great Lakes, Selma Hans' husband was taken to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy. . . . If anyone faints or needs any first-aid, call for Florence Weber. She is taking a first-aid course. . . . The joke was on Pondo. He didn't know that when Moe sneezed down his neck, he really had water in his hand and blew it on Pondo's neck, faking a sneeze. . . . Delores had a close call the other morning. A car speeded around the corner and brushed her. . . . Jackie, this might not make the Taylor St. news, but you told the wrong person to keep it out of ours. Yes, Jackie kept her husband waiting over an hour one night last week while she was out with the girls.

Apprentice BROADCAST

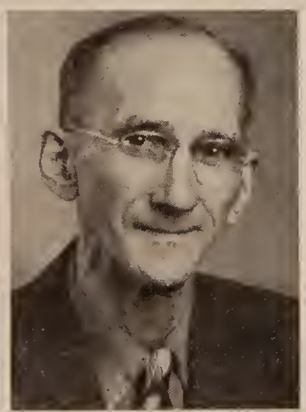
by MILDRED ELLIS

Congratulations to Bill Smith and Joan Zickgraf, who have announced their engagement. . . . Jim Hoppel's timing was very poor when he made his grand entrance at the party Saturday night. . . . We were very glad to have another letter from Bob Doelling, who is in Korea. How about hearing from some other apprentices in the service? . . . Ronnie Allen didn't make it home this week-end. Dirty rifle, no pass. . . . We heard by the grapevine that Don Konow is stationed at Camp Hood, Texas. We hope to have some news from Don real soon. . . . Dick Wagner's party last Saturday night was a big success. Jim Pugh had a little trouble finding the place as he was following the Hoppels, who were on the wrong road. . . . SIX EYES: Norm Patton was seen trying to put on the second pair of safety glasses. . . . Neighborly love? The Owens and their neighbors have been feuding about a tree that was on the boundary line. As no agreement could be reached, Bill and Mary cut down the half of the tree that is on their property. . . . The welcome mat is out to our new apprentice, Carl McCartney. . . . Congratulations to Don Batchelder. It's a light blue Packard convertible.

Lulu Witte proved that she is a little absent-minded. She drove to a movie in her car. After the show, she boarded a bus and went home. In the morning, she went to the garage, but the car was not there. Thinking that it had been stolen, she became frantic and called the police. After doing so, it finally dawned on her what she had done. She returned to the scene of the crime. There sat the old rattler docile as could be. . . . When it comes to baking cookies, Ruth Fuller excels. The other evening she whipped up a batch. When they came from the oven, they were beautiful to look upon. When sampling one, she found it to be very salty. Thinking this strange, she decided to check the recipe again. Then it dawned on her what she had done. The recipe called for one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. She put in four teaspoonfuls instead. Ruth, this might have been all right for salt rising bread. . . . John Bolivar Weber decided to raise rabbits. He purchased 10 bunnies with the expectation of having a large crop of speed meat this year, but no young ones were forthcoming. Upon investigation he discovered that his 10 originals were all bucks. Now Bolivar is scouting around for some does. . . . One afternoon a couple of weeks ago Archie Boren was proceeding west on Taylor St. in his trusty rattler after work. He was not paying too much attention as to where he was going. He piled into the rear of the car ahead of him. The front of Archie's car suffered considerable damage, while very little was done to the other car. Archie maintains that it was not his fault at all, as the fellow in front of him was driving backwards.

Last week when we were having light trouble, Millie Bowers was confused. She took off her smock and was ready to go home when someone told her it was only 10:30. . . . "Buster" tells me that we have two more nicknames in Preliminary. Cora is better known as "Baby," and Millie is known as "Chicken." . . . When Earl Bartling calls out, "Hupp," you should see the shoulders straighten. . . . Zelma says she is either out of practice or getting too old for calisthenics. . . . Rose is now using tooth paste for shampoo. . . . Bob Knoll was complaining about the wind mussing his hair (what hair?). The girls wonder. . . . Dorothy Mable, you should be more careful what you eat. Carrots are hard on teeth. . . . Madge is teaching her grandson to blow bubbles. . . . We have a tester that can talk turkey. Art Rall is his name. . . . It seems that Gladys Freeman was the first to step on the new yellow paint. . . . Audrey Oberley wishes to thank everyone for the get well cards. . . . We are glad to see Billie Tucker back to work. . . . We hear Mildred Leazier is having a little trouble with her livestock. What's wrong, Mildred, have you been feeding them Hadacol? . . . Happy birthday to Ruth Redman. . . . Dorcas Colbert has a new Pontiac. . . . Good luck to Betty Warnick, who is leaving us. . . . The Winding Section enjoyed the mock wedding that Ernie Clark and Art Pequignot had for them. . . . An artificial snake caused a few screams in the Finishing Section. For more information see the following people: Doris Rinehold, Stella Wells, Dorothy Donahue and Nancy McCrea. . . . We would like to welcome Ann Wible. . . . We are sorry to lose Dorothy Whonsetler. . . . Vi Schnepp is now impersonating Carmen Miranda. . . . Congratulations to Arthur Reinhard and Lucille Stover on their engagement. . . . Harold Settlemeyer, what is your new name?

The older members of the Armature and Field Coil Sections of the Large Motor Generator Division were saddened to learn of the death of Carl Sorenson. Before he retired 12 years ago, he was an inspector in Bldg. 19-2. Foremen, supervisors and operators well remember the meticulous care he used in his inspection of our finished products. His long experience both in Madison and Fort Wayne well qualified him to give advice to many who frequently went to him for counsel. Never one to watch the clock, he could be frequently seen going home long after the whistle had blown, not leaving until he had completed a job previously started. To his widow and children, we extend our deep and sincere sympathy. . . . I wish to thank Robert Mungovan for the above writing about our long time friend, Carl Sorenson.



The hunting season is really here at last. The mushroom happens to be the victim of the early season. Charlie Fisher is one of the lucky ones able to find this edible fungus. . . . We extend our get well wishes to Murray Holloway, who is spending some time in Arizona for his health. Anyone wishing to write to him may send it to Murray Holloway, 701 E. Main St., Misa, Ariz. . . . Birthday greetings to Esther Ehrman. . . . If you happened to be near the Lead Section the other day, you might have thought you were in a drug store. It was only Marcia Martin trying camphor for a new purpose. . . . It seems as though you are never too young to start climbing the ladder of success. While working on the roof of his garage, Dick Schnitz was very surprised to turn around and find his 21-month-old son had also climbed the 14-foot ladder. Some quick thinking and careful climbing by the mother soon brought the young climber back to earth safely. . . . The many friends of a former co-worker, Helen Weber, now Mrs. Albert Erxleben, wish to announce that she now has two new additions to the family. Twin sons were born May 3. . . . When it comes to baking cookies, Irene Bieberich really has the ability and knowledge of what pleases the crowd. Those who had the opportunity to taste the cookies that she brought along for samples will join me in saying, "Thanks, Irene. You may bring more any time you wish." . . . Helen Funk can't keep awake when she goes to Delphos, but she wants you to know that she now has a telephone. . . . Clarence Morgan opened the refrigerator door and spied a quart of milk, which gave him an idea for strawberry shortcake. He looked for the cake and couldn't find any, so substituted a breakfast roll. He scooped out the jelly and filled it with peaches. After searching for the sugar and finding it gone, he sweetened it with Karo. Clarence was still hungry for shortcake. . . . Roger Fruchte, son of Alma Fruchte, won first prize in the regional drawing contest sponsored by Purdue University. . . . Ruth Reppert became Mrs. Sheets during her recent absence. Best wishes, Ruth, to you and Mr. Sheets. . . . Sincere sympathy to Bob McAfee on the death of his father. . . . Fern Passwater, of the Payroll, has received a beautiful diamond. The lucky guy is Ira Huber, tester, in Bldg. 2. Haven't heard the date as yet, but will let you know as soon as we are informed. . . . Several people have returned from illness; among them are Imogene Coffee, Charlie Morgan and Joan Workinger. Good to have you folks back. . . . We forgot to tell you that Clara Weaver and Virginia Diehl have transferred to the day shift. Now we hear that two more girls are contemplating doing the same thing—Bert Strickler and Barbara Robinson. We are surely sorry to see them go. Good luck, gals, and we hope to see you back on second some day. . . . Virginia Drake takes this manner to thank her friends for the lovely cards and gifts she received during her illness. Virginia is now on the road to recovery and hopes to see us in the near future. . . . Patricia (Pat) Lyons is the girl who has made her debut for Mickey. Pat is learning to place leads. Howdy Pat, we welcome you. . . . Nelvalene Beihold has been ill for the past week. We are sorry to hear this, Nelvalene, and we sincerely hope you will be back soon. . . . Joe Booth is the good looking chap now working for Vernon Fairchild at the stator rack. . . . Mabel Eyanson also has been absent this week due to illness. Let's get well, Mabel. . . . At the tying table, we have Ruth Debolt trying her hand. . . . Now Don Morrison is not what you call a "pinch-penny," but why did he think he could get a coke last week for a penny? You noticed it worked real well with a nickel, didn't you, Don? . . . If you see Paul Briede smiling, just attribute it to an error by Florine Gerber. Yes, she saw Paul coming down the aisle dressed up and asked Bert Strickler if that wasn't Mr. Welch. Florine doesn't get around too much and we will have to get her a personal introduction to Mr. Welch. . . . We are sorry we didn't tell you of the recent marriage of Ruth Ehrsam to Edwin Coil. Ruth is the mighty little gal who is on the tying table for Pat. Sorry, Ruth. Hope you and yours have the good luck and everything that goes with it. . . . Harry Stults still remains about the same. Harry was recently the victim of a heart attack. We want to see you back soon, Harry. . . . Miles Jones is replacing Louis Drake at the label outfit. Louie is still confined to his home. . . . Clarence (Riggy) Geisler has entered the Vets' Hospital at Fort Wayne for an examination.

Wonder if Bernice will let the rest of us gals know how she can get so many fellows to greet her when she walks into Bldg. 10. . . . Our deepest sympathy to George Dunifon on the recent death of his brother. . . . Happy birthday, Wednesday to Lee Miller, one of our pensioners. The boys in Bldg. 10 sang him the usual birthday greeting. . . . Ask Wayne Marquart how the olives that he bought turned into a dolly and man hole cover by the time he got home from work. . . . Johnny Repine has a new car. When he would come to a stop in his old Chevy, he couldn't hear the motor idle. He now has a Ford, so there aren't any doubts. . . . Art Everett is now getting 10 miles to a gallon on his Chrysler. Arnold Wuebbenhorst's Model A does better than that. . . . Do you know that we have a fellow in the paint shop at Taylor St. who once started for Hollywood to be an actor? Why did you turn back, Bob? You might have made the ladies forget about Valentino. . . . Oren Miller is having trouble with ants in his house. He has tried getting them up with the carpet sweeper but even that doesn't work. Any suggestions will be gladly accepted. . . . Carl Furge is now an accomplished square dancer. He has a diploma to prove it. . . . Joe Barr rode his motorcycle to work without a license. He did a lot of fast talking when the boys in blue caught up with him. . . . Anyone wanting to hear a half hour lecture ask Al Schairbaum if he likes Vaughn Monroe's "Cadence Count." Al was in the Air Force. . . . Hank Tucker was off work recently. We wonder if he was looking for another still in a brush pile.

Spring housecleaning is the time to dis-harm your home, the National Safety Council advises.

Parkview Operating

units, fast action sterilizers and blanket and solution warmers. An integral section of the operating suite are locker rooms for doctors and nurses, and the operating room supervisor's office.

Central Sterile Supply

The central sterile supply department will be adjacent to the operating suite. Here, many and varied instruments, dressings and medical and surgical supplies used in the operating room, as well as throughout the patient areas, will be stored. A high percentage of the instruments must not only be thoroughly cleaned after use, but must also be processed through an autoclave under high pressure steam to assure complete sterilization. One room will be set aside for processing hundreds of pairs of rubber gloves to be used in the hospital each day. An automatic glove washing, drying and powdering unit will be installed to minimize labor involved in handling.

The central supply room will also include "pressure washer sterilizers." These units receive soiled instruments and automatically put them through a cycle of washing, rinsing and sterilizing. The supply area will be connected to each patient floor by three automatic dumb waiters and also by a pneumatic tube system. This will enable high speed transportation of medical and surgical supplies throughout the patient area.

The operating suite and central sterile supply will be located on the first floor of the hospital in close proximity to: the emergency ambulance entrance, the clinical laboratory and to the X-ray department. The top floor, often reserved for operating rooms, will be utilized for patient rooms. Patients recovering from an operation or illness will benefit from the fresh air, sunlight and view of the parklike area to be seen from the top floor.

Clarence Morris had heart failure when he was called to the telephone by the guard and told to report to the west gate. He thought his car was on fire again, but the horn was stuck. . . . Dale Ross, who retired last Thursday, was pleasantly surprised when her daughter

Surprised

Mrs. Hazel Bell of Jackson, Mich., was ushered in at eleven o'clock to enjoy the retirement dinner with her. It was just like a homecoming with some of our pensioners, Rose Chambers, Minnie Jones, Al Mettler, Thomas Cannon and also Carrie Menges from Broadway, who was a former co-worker, attending. Dale was presented with an electric clock and overnight case. . . . Kenny Brown spent a week's vacation. We are happy to see that he has all of his fingers after laying hard wood flooring. . . . We welcome Lucille Turner in Group 17x52. . . . Roy Weigman had a hot seat last week when he sat down on a towel saturated with thinner which penetrated his pants. He is standing at his work now. . . . Mary Smith is our new Bride of the Week. She is now Mrs. William Hopkins. . . . Group 17x54 welcomes Hilda Pressler, Vera Adams and Virginia Ruhr. . . . Pvt. Samuel E. Hamilton, son of Edward G. Hamilton, who was injured near Suwan, Korea, is now on a convalescent leave from Percy Jones General Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich. . . . Ross Strodel brought in the flower girl, Zella Witte, in the brand new car last Thursday. . . . Mary Mertens has invented a new name for bases on stators. She calls them stators with handles on. . . . Among the various names that "Gus" Harrison has obtained, "Fancy Pants" is his latest. What's the story behind this one, Gus? Happy birthday, Gus. . . . If the average man wants to know how to overcome the laws of gravity, just ride with Doyle Sheets in his little red jeep. . . . The birthday gang had a dinner for Jackie Keller at the Blonde Room last Wednesday night. She was presented with a lovely gift and birthday cake. Later they all attended the Clyde Theater. Those enjoying the evening were Selma Voight, Lona Cook, Ruby Stoops, Elinor Laux, Sydonna Fox, Hilda LeCoque, Marguerite Stahl, Peggy Bandt, Betty Pion, Ruth Cavender, Francis Walker, Gladys Pantazin and Jackie Keller. One who didn't enjoy the evening was Ralph Keller. He spent his evening in the little building he has erected at the rear of his lot where he is building his new home. We of the Birthday Gang apologize, Ralph, for not letting you in on our secret. . . . Happy birthday to Laura Adams. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Chet Reinking on the arrival of a new son. The pink and blue room will come in handy now. We are wondering if Chet will have super flowers. After his wife planted the seeds, he dug them up and replanted them. . . . Group 17x70 welcomes William Brown. . . . Ed Saxton and Lloyd Smith, our convalescents in Group 17x10, were in to pay us a visit.

Regulation 10 in a manner indicating an intention to permit general increases even above the present 10 per cent ceiling over January, 1950, rates. Historically such increases have been given to all employes almost automatically once an increase was given to another related group of employees.

Action by the board on the Company's applications is expected without undue delay, although the board is faced with the processing of an estimated 1,200 applications from all over the country which piled up when the board was not operating.

In the meantime the Payroll Department is continuing to set aside an amount equivalent to the pay increase which will be paid to employes if and when board approval is given.

Q. When is the Earth nearest the Sun?

A. The Earth is nearest the Sun in January and farthest from it in July. The former position (called perhelion) occurred in 1951 on January 1, with a distance of 91,447,000 miles. Aphelion, the time of greatest distance, will occur July 4, with a separation of 94,562,000 miles.

COMPLETES 30 YEARS—George Kaade (center), FHP Div. 13, has completed 30 years of service with G-E. He celebrated his anniversary Friday, May 11, and is pictured showing Lyford Stroh (left) and Herb Heddon a letter he received from M. E. Lord congratulating him on his employment record.

Due to a change in the working schedule the Div. 1 skating party will be Sunday, May 20, from 8 to 11 p.m., at the Roller Dome. Tickets are 35 cents. Get them from Doris Doehla or Marie Griffin. . . . Christine Cormies hasn't been working her fingers to the bone, she is working them to the elbow! . . . Ida Mae Ernsts' mother came the longest distance for the Elex Mother-Daughter party and was given a prize. When Ida Mae was asked where she worked, she promptly replied, "At the G-E." . . . We know how to break up a meeting now; just faint, that is what Barbara Tsehannan does. . . . Ed Taylor is now raising geese and ducks, so if anyone is interested just let him know. . . . Edith Juillerat is using a scout knife at work. We always thought she was a good scout! . . . Ellen Bauer had a nice surprise birthday party for Violet Elliot. She reeeived some lovely gifts from the girls. . . . Fern Painter was mushroom hunting last week-end. We wish we knew where she went; she sure got a lot of them. . . . Earl Sexton got a big rattlesnake for himself while hunting for mushrooms. After he killed the snake, that was all the hunting for Earl! . . . Bill Charlston is baek from his vaeation—no fish, just dirty paint brushes! . . . George Worley must be quite a talker. His little Dodge truck got to bueking or he was trying to save gas, we don't know whieh. He got the family out to help get it to run. He even got his mother-in-law out to help. An innocent bystander saw all this. . . . By the looks of Everett Lindenman's forehead, it must be fishing time. He said he caught 20 fish! . . . This is the time of year for red faces. Helen Struver says she is going to invent a special nose sun guard! . . . Bertha Click has a new power lawn mower, but her husband won't run it until she has a seat put on it! . . . Ed Kirsehner had plenty of trouble with his eyes last week. In fact he has to get new glasses! He had a week-end to rest them, so maybe he will get along okay! . . . Wonder if Sam Taylor ever found out why Joe Diebert called Avery Spayde "boermeat?" . . . Herb Black, now known as the "Slieker," sure made a "goat" out of Joe Diebert. Herb had beforehand information on the Yankees, and he got Joe to bet on them. . . . Ray O'Brien is watehing the new machines to see if there are any niekels left behind! . . . Congratulation to Dorothy Olry, who beeame Mrs. Roy Conner May 6, at St. Patrick's Chureh. She received several lovely gifts from the gang. . . . Edna Rohrbach gave a friendly greeting to the guests at her surprise birthday party. In fact, I can't even print the greeting! . . . Hazel Stauffer didn't know she had so many friends until she forgot her lunch. She had more to eat than she would have brought in the first place! . . . Congratulations to Joyee Scheoeder and her husband on their new daughter, Dorothy Rebecca. Joyee is a former worker in 1x29. . . . Hilda Seiler is taking her vaeation this week to clean house! . . . Ruth Cartwright must he in her second childhood. She is baek at work from a siege of the measles. . . . When Rena Hullinger got back from luneh, her twin sister was sitting on her ehair, but she didn't do a bit of work.

If you didn't attend the Mothers' Day program given by Elex you really missed something. We should give a vote of thanks to all who made it possible. . . . Do you remember these G-E belles of 1930? Reading from left to right are Pauline Leis, Katherine Weigele, Nellie Enslen, Mary Ryan, Maude Miller and Frieda Ramm. We don't know who the children are, but we'll bet they are G-E workers now. . . . Joe Matter and Faye Kitteridge attended the Kentucky Derby. They reported a very fine trip. . . . Mary Oliner Murphy also visited in Kentucky for a week. . . . LaVerne Furguson has returned from New Jersey. She went to see that certain someone and returned with stars in her eyes. . . . lvah Grandstaff visited with her daughter in Terre Haute last week-end. . . . It's a happy birthday to Therlene Freiburger, Emma Snyder, Verda Deal and Glennis Adams. . . . The welcome mat is out for all of our newcomers. Hope you like us. . . . Gladys Lutz is glad to have a daughter just her size, espeeially when Gladys discovers she has sent all of her clothes to the cleaners. . . . Sidney, the dog, was "King for a Day." Eunice Zehr had packed sueh a niee luneh and then forgot it. Sidney really enjoyed it. . . .

TRANSFORMER TATTLES

By Gladis Getts

Jeanne Salgi's husband is home from the Navy. . . . Evelyn Yoquelet's brother is also home on leave from the Army. He paid us a visit the other evening. . . . Jaekie Rhoades has a car. He tells us he is really getting plaees. . . . We are still wondering why Eddie Englert looked so pale and peeked the other night. . . . We see that Bettie Melchi is riding in a new Kaiser. . . . Belated birthday greetings to Jeanne Slagi, Violet Rhoades and Maude Harden. Violet thanks the girls for her presents and birthday eake. . . . Grace Poorman really gets exeited every time the telephone rings on Saturday nights. She has to work. . . . Our friends are all getting older. This week Martha Hutson beeame a grandma and Jim Goldsberry became a grandpa. . . . Irene Shroyer's son Norman left for the Navy and is stationed at Great Lakes. . . . Harry Lehman and Joe Fosnaugh are disgusted with the Pennsylvania Railroad for transporting Allis-Chalmers transformers right past the G-E transformers. . . . We all hope Mike Dunseombe's "farm fever" will hold out long enough for his tractor to get here. He watches every train go by in hopes of it's arriving. . . . Henry Muller has finally sold his team of horses. However, he says he still has a good set of harnesses for sale. Tom Karns elaims the harnesses are held together with bailing wire and doesn't recommend them too highly. . . . The fellows are all wondering why Ralph Braden is taking vitamins. Could it be that he is afraid that Ralph Bultemeier will heat him shooting? . . . WARNING TO AL TOPP AND HIS GANG: Tom Freeman is collecting feathers and he is going to tar and feather you guys. . . . Otto Braun has taught us a new way to eat bananas. Cover them completely with salt. . . . Ethel Shroyer spent May 10 and 11 in Bloomington attending a convention. Speaking of Ethel she makes the best oyster soup of anyone this side of the border. . . . There is a new type transformer being wound now. Ed Koontz wound a pair of scissors in a coil. . . . We extend our deepest sympathy to George Harmeyer in the death of his mother. . . . We wish a speedy recovery for Josephine Fullhart, who underwent surgery. She is at the St. Joe Hospital. . . . Phyllis Borkenstein couldn't figure out why things looked blurry last Saturday. She didn't discover her trouble until her husband called. He wanted to know if she could tell him where he might find his glasses. Phyl could—she was wearing them. . . . Last week Ralph Smith was crawling around on the floor, picking up money and handing it to the candy lady. We thought that was very polite and niee of him. Can you imagine how humiliated he was the next morning when he asked her for it all back. He was holding his hillfold upside down, and it was his own money rolling out. . . . Have you seen Nora Spencer's beautiful diamond. . . . It's nice to have Bill Mooney back in the Green Room. . . . Weleome to Ralph Skiles who had been on third shift. . . . We were sorry to lose Jack Sweet, who went to the third floor.

G-E Belles of 1930

Joe Bright is looking for some rubber shoe laees. Everytime he gets hungry he has to tighten his shoe strings. If they were rubber, they would tighten when he gets hungry and stretch after he eats. . . . Eveleyn Krueger must have been in a hurry for supper. She removed the lid from her pressure eooker before the steam was down. She reeeived a burned arm. . . . Edith Bohde found out that she couldn't get the same results from leaving the ironing board against the wall to get in the attic as she eould hy using a stepladder. . . . Eliza Page and Thelma Forehand will be a little more careful of where they are when hot solder is flying around. . . . Edna Mowery is wearing a brand new grandma's smile. It's a boy. . . . Saturday must be Margaret Woleott's lucky day. First she said, "I do!" Then last Saturday, she got a new car. What next, Margaret? . . . We're sorry to hear that Mary Land is very ill. We hope she is mueh better by the time this goes to press.

We wish to congratulate the new Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kuzeff, who were married May 5. They were presented many useful gifts. We wish them lots of happiness. . . . Velora Drury is going to make sure she has plenty of flowers this summer. She bought $6.75 worth of flower seeds. . . . Wedding bells will ring Sunday for Delores Ginter. We'll he thinking of you, Delores. . . . Virginia Ostrowski has left us to spend the summer at home caring for her two sons and hubby. . . . Ruth Raidy was presented with a beautiful cake. Of course, Ruth is one year younger. . . . Charlie Best wants it known that he now has six puppies for sale.

FHP Div. 1 Skating Party Planned Sunday

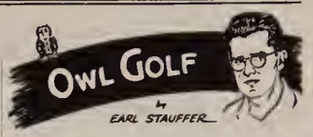
By Bonnie Hull

Welcome to our newcomers, Barb Mertz, Irene Kocis and Delores Leffel. We hope they will like our division as well as we like them. . . . Several of the fellows, George Houser, Hank Lantz and Harold Smith, went down to see the time trials over the week-end. Much to Ed Ellenberg's displeasure, they are sure he doesn't have a chance. . . . Poor George Owens, our new assistant to Paul Ohnesorge, has been going around in circles. The other night he couldn't find his time card. He looked all over for it. It finally dawned on him—he doesn't have one anymore. Don't feel so bad, George, because Dick Koop has started smoking lighted matches and throwing his pipe away. This pleased Dora Augenbaugh very much, I'm sure. She just hates the pipe Dick has. . . . Ruth Ehrsam is certainly popular. I hear men are falling for her. Gerry Doden was having a little door sticking difficulty. The door suddenly gave and Gerry nearly found himself on his face. Ruth promised that if he would knock she would be glad to open the door for him.

BIG CHASE: "Here, follow that car!" These were the momentous words of Customer Billing's Irene Gruelach one day last week. Irene, like a lot of working mothers who have small children, has found a wonderful day-time baby-sitter for her off-spring. The baby sitter arrives each morning at the Gruelach residence, loads Irene, the baby, and a shopping bag containing baby necessities (which is always (?) deposited on the back seat) into her car, and then drives Irene within walking distance of the Taylor St. Plant. This is their usual pattern of procedure. One day last week, having just been "dropped off," Irene stood watching the car and her "bundle of joy" drive off down the street. She discovered that she was still holding the shopping bag. Quick thinking Irene rushed to the first car stopping at the intersection, yanked open the stranger's car door, and in gun-moll fashion spit out, "Here! Follow that car!" The bewildered driver looked at the shopping bag, the seriousness on Mrs. Gruelach's face, and the desperation in her voice, and proceeded to do just that. When the Good Samaritan came alongside of the baby-sitter's car, he gave several ear-splitting blasts on his car horn, only to receive dark and cloudy looks from the pursued woman. Without a moment's hesitation, the masculine driver held up the shopping bag and both cars pulled to the curb where the bundle was restored to its rightful owner. Thanks to this Samaritan, the day was saved. . . . New members of the Sunburn Club are Mae Bain, Production Office, and Edith Biddle, of Billing. . . . Farewell to R. E. Brake, who has left the Purchasing Office and is now to be found in Div. 17. . . . During the last war, Mary Olson, of the Tabulating Section, enlisted in the WAVES and saw the world from Peru, Ind. After the war, she enlisted in the Naval Reserve. This week we welcome her back to the office after having completed her two weeks tour of the USN and MCRTC depot on Dwenger Ave., Fort Wayne. . . . Better fortune has befallen Naval Reservist, Al Volz, also from Tabulation. He reports Sunday to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Chicago, where he will start his two weeks' cruise. . . . A dancing doll entertained all on-lookers in the ediphone room recently. This crepe-paper and cardboard doll's antics were created by the manipulation of taut strings.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO: Gilbert Baker and Bob Huffman, both May 21. We'll all be here next Monday, you know, our first short noon-hour day. And what could be better than cake for dessert? Also happy birthday to Virg Cauthen, May 22. . . . BYE, BYE: Today we bid farewell and good luck to Paul (Mrs. Sidesaddle) Binder. He is being transferred to Nela Park (Cleveland) Office, his next test assignment. The place won't be the same without you, Paul. You really were one of our gang and maybe some day you'll come back, huh? . . . HOWDY: Hello to Keith Fish, new test engineer, replacing Paul Binder. . . . SHORT NOON: Isn't it grand and glorious to get home so much earlier in the evening (you can just go home and work some more, help house clean, etc., huh, or does Momma have supper right when you get home?) . . . WRONG MAN: Jim Walley wouldn't accept the congratulations we tried to offer him on the local newspaper announcement that James Walley was a new daddy. Jim sez, "Not me, must have been some other Jim Walley." . . . MORE NICKELS, PAUL: Paul Motter put a nickel in the cigarette machine. While trying to decide what kind of candy he wanted, he noticed it wasn't for candy. (He just got new glasses too). . . . NOT ENOUGH ROOM: Paul Berghorn backed his Chyrsler into a rocket 88 Oldsmobile. I guess he thought his car was the only one in that line. . . . DEEPEST SYMPATHY: To Dan Geary on the death of his father-in-law. . . . CONGRATS to L. H. Shields of the Service Engineering Division on his retirement after more than 37 years of service. Mr. and Mrs. Shields entertained the office group with a dinner at their home Tuesday evening. A gift was presented to him from his co-workers in Transformer and Service Engineering. He was again presented with a gift Wednesday afternoon and honored with a party by the Service Engineering group. Best wishes and loads of luck in the future, Mr. Shields. . . . GET WELL QUICK: Bob Kirby fell under the Doc's wide sweep of a scalpel. We understand that the medic didn't know whether to throw away the appendix and keep Bob or vice versa. He's doing fine now. . . . RARE SIGHT: Some enterprising individual should charge admission to watch Charlie Koomjohn mow the lawn with his one-wheeled lawnmower. Charlie could improve on his design by putting the one wheel in front and center like a wheelbarrow, because hold-

So Long, Paul



We think there should be a light installed over the exit door so Martha Girardot will know which door to go out. . . . Pearl Forshea has left for Bldg. 19-2. . . . Welcome back to Dick Clancy on nights. Merle Keesler has gone on days. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schroeder on the birth of a baby girl. Joyce is a former co-worker. . . . The next time that Delores Johnston wants to be quiet for an hour, the gang had better let her. Delores says they will be sorry. . . . Welcome to the new girls in the group—Delores Lee, Annabelle Blaugh, Ann Ooley, Martha Calland and Margaret Girardot. We hope you like us, too, girls. . . . Jo Lee Zimmerman is on a diet of four candy bars and four cokes a day. You will never keep that girlish figure that way, Jo. . . . Martha Scott is in the doghouse. But, she could dig a foxhole in that pile of dirt for her own protection. . . . Carol Weber became Mrs. James Klinger Saturday. Carol was a lovely bride. We wish both of you a lifetime of happiness. . . . Ginny Beverforden believes in having enough to eat. She was supposed to furnish beans for a recent potluck, and Ginny forgot the beans. At the last minute, she had to dash down to the store. All Ginny could get was a half gallon can, so there were beans enough for all. . . . Ann Hershberger was seen talking to herself, but we couldn't hear what she said. . . . At last, we have found out. "Harvey" is a rabbit. . . . We wonder if Arlene Welches would know whose laundry was left in the washroom. . . . Hazel Maxom has been sporting her best clothes at work. . . . We're glad to see Thelma Wyss back on nights. Carol Klinger, Jim Klinger, Leah Coolman, and Bea Webster have gone on days. . . . Did you know that Jo Lee is Simon Lagree? . . . Ed Cooper is a member of the birthday club. . . . We would like for the girls to enlighten us on the mysterious phone calls Delores Johnston and Reggie Engeman received. . . . Helen Duff performed a major operation the other night. She left with a pair of scissors and came back with three stays. . . . Don't forget the skating party Sunday night, May 20, at the Roller Dome.

WHICH ONE IS MAMA?—Berneta Welbaum, Elex vice president, presents a gift to the youngest mother-daughter combination at the second shift Mother-Daughter party. They are Mrs. Bertha Miller and Madonna, of Bldg. 26-2. The one in the center is Mrs. Miller.

The weather man was uncooperative last Thursday when the Owl Golf League was slated to start the 1951 season. Rain was coming down in buckets. A few of the hearty met in the Brookwood Club house to hash over old times and to renew old friendships and at the same time kept their eyes on the weather outside. Talk usually centered on the idea that this year would be the last of the Hot Shot's reign as Owl golf champions. Warren Wickliffe and Lloyd Grider summed up the defense of the four-time champs when they said, "You gotta show us, brother."

1951 Owl Golf schedule:

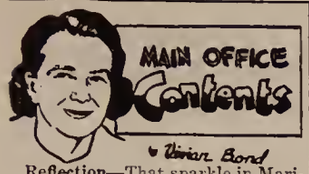
Owls Trample Zollner In Five-inning Game

by Bill Geist

G-E Owls used all talent available to down the Zollner Team No. Two, 18-1, in a five-inning practice game.

The pitching was divided between Morrie Moffet and Bud Hower. The former went the first three and Hower the last two innings. Between the two pitchers, the opposition was limited to one run and four hits.



The G-E Owls, with the aid of numerous walks and errors, romped to 18 runs and ten hits. Bud Hower wielded the heavy stick for G-E with a homer, a single and a walk. He was followed closely by Earl Tripsord with two singles and a walk.

Box score:

G-E	AB	R	H	Zollners	AB	R	H

HAM PRACTICES SLATED

The last two Ham League practices will be held Tuesday, May 22, and Thursday, May 24, Bill Schible, manager, said today. Tuesday's session will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Packard Park and Thursday's workout is slated for the same hours in Hamilton Park.

Reflection—That sparkle in Marilyn Brown's eyes, Bldg. 18-4, is a reflection from her new diamond. The lucky boy is Stan Tielker, telephone company employee. Best of luck to both of them. . . . Happy Birthday to Juanita Spice, Bldg. 18-1, last Monday. Her desk was an array of birthday and Mother's Day gifts from her friends and secret pal. . . . QUESTION! The Chair now directs the question to William (Bill) Spahr. Just why DID you come into work one morning last week at seven o'clock? I know it was not due to the stress of work at the office. Were you supposed to do something at home that you did not want to do? . . . Ill—Evelyn Crouch, Bldg. 18-1, has been absent several days due to illness. . . . NEW—Pat Hoover is the new employee in the vault in Bldg. 18-5. Hope you enjoy your new associations. . . . Elex Party—The Mother Day Party given by the Elex was a gala event. There were more than 700 in attendance. All reports indicate that the skit was the hit of the evening. . . . Holiday Ranch—Our G-E talent came to light in many ways during the show, and we all appreciated the amount of time that such a performance must have taken in preparation. It was good entertainment, and we will look forward to next year's production. . . . Moved—Last week-end may have been a week-end of leisure for many, but for Mildred Whitmer it was not. She moved into her newly purchased home on Downing Ave. . . . Dick White left Mr. Wylie's office last Monday to report to Specialty Transformer Planning as his first assignment on the Manufacturing Training Program. . . . When I hear all of these men talking about playing 36 holes of golf, I get a little tired. That seems like a lot of walking over the same ground. Yes, yes, I know it is good exercise! So is gardening. . . . Half-Hour Lunch Period—Monday we start on a new era. A change is always welcome. Variety is the spice of life, so the changed working hours will be a new adventure for the salaried people at Broadway. Maybe the first few days will be a little rugged, but we will soon take it all as a matter of course. The extra time in the evening will be wonderful. It's just one more step by the General Electric Company to make life for their employees better. . . . Discovered—A definite use for the fully equipped beds in William (Bill) Spahr's Nash. You will recall—last Thursday noon it rained and rained hard. Arnold Hensick and Bill Spahr were marooned in Bill's car. Since it was quite early they decided to make the most of the opportunity and take a rest. Now, to make this a really good story, I should tell you what time they got into work—but I won't! . . . The girls in the Personnel Division beat the ants and flies to the draw and had a picnic in the park last week. They filled up on everything from ham and baked beans to cake.

Question

The U. S. isn't the only country that makes automobiles, but it is the only nation in which the workers who make the cars can afford to buy them.—Chicago Tribune.

HOW ARE WE DOING?

This is a time to measure progress.

America faces its gravest threat. It is greater than the country knew under Washington or Lincoln, or under Madison in the War of 1812. There is no telling how much longer it will last, or how much greater it will grow.

So we must use a terrible candor in judging how our defenses stand. Complacency and dismay are equally blind in auditing freedom's strength.

It is true that there is lack of leadership in many places where leaders should be strong. There is much confusion of ideas. But in the resource that represents our unique strength—the power of production—there is no question that the job is being done.

Here at least the nation has made more progress in the past six months than ever before in history. By the end of the year our production of things we need to defend ourselves will be greater than we have ever known. In many vital fields we will produce more than all the rest of the world put together.

How did this come about? How did a country which gives so much freedom to the individual find such unity to produce?

It happened because men are free to pick their jobs here, to advance in their jobs, and to take pride in the company they work for or manage. They are not automatons of a Police State, fearful and timid and broken in spirit. Called on to produce, they turn not only their hands, but all of their hearts to the effort.

[This message, by N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., is reprinted by General Electric's Employee Relations Division because of its timely interest.]

The biggest news to hit this column is the story on Richard (MacArthur and I) Hurst. Who's going to fix our traffic tickets now? . . . Dorothea Winburn was on a fishing trip to Crooked Lake. Everyone was pulling in bluegills and perch, everyone except Dorothea, of course. She could only catch crawdads. . . . When Mildred Smith and her husband get mad at each other, they argue with notes. Mildred claims she got the upper hand one time by starching her husband's pants! The pants stood up by themselves. . . . Did you see Ray Feller going around huffin' and puffin'? That red face resulted from some peppers that Grace Bolyard brought to work. . . . Maxine Bakle took an embarrassing flop in front of a crowd of people when she was leaving work. Max also got two bruised knees out of it. . . . Howard Winters has been breaking in Don Beghtel on the set up job in winding. Don already has one thumb in a brace. . . . Yipe! We forgot to mention last week about Tom Woodward's new baby boy, Roger Allen. This makes three boys for Tom! Keep on and he'll have a baseball team. . . . Fred Dey and Jewel Wickliffe have joined the first trick for a couple of weeks. Walt Mertz and Howard Shipman has switched to the night shift, so they can practice their golf. . . . Rhumba! Senor Mark Bartrom and Senorita Bartrom were seen cutting a rug Friday night! . . . Take your empty Dixie cups to Ethel Brown. She uses them for flower pots. . . . Did you know that Earl Waterman has a title? It's "Salvage Engineer." . . . Lester Baker and Harold Niemeyer get their hair cut in Angola. What they will do for 50 cents. . . . Ivan Lepper and Bill Mills both see eye to eye. Could they be related to each other. . . . There's a new face at the Irene Slater's, and what a face! It's an English Bulldog. . . . Famous last words, by Dick Hurst, "So I told the Mayor." . . . It's one down and one to go for Elvie Dafforn. His son was married last Saturday, and his daughter will be married in July.

Editor's Note: In last week's G-E G-I column, we incorrectly listed Verl H. Ohmart as having left the Company to enter the Armed Forces. We're sorry, Joe, we knew you were working in Bldg. 12-2 all the time.

The following is a letter from Wilbur W. Shaffer to Bob Bunyan, the editor of Tricks in Transformer:

May 5, 1951
Pusan, Korea

Dear Bob:

Have just read your weekly contribution in the WORKS NEWS and remembered clearly promising you I'd write.

I've managed to get a couple letters off to those in my group there at G-E, but I wish to say "hello" again to all who were so thoughtful at my time of leaving.

It seems like every week you have managed to put something in your column, Bob, that gives me a good laugh. Hope to hear soon that Collar has returned. As for myself, I don't look to make it back until some time next fall.

I've been very fortunate in getting this assignment here in Pusan. My work so far has been entirely in an inventory group. I don't mind it too much except the fact that handling so many items, I always run across that ole' G-E emblem which brings to my mind better days there at home.

If you get a chance, Bob, tell Tom Woodward that, "Yes, I know Cleveland is on top yet." (Or was it today?) To all the guys in Stauffer's gang I wish to say that I miss the daily arguments and discussions that surpass any I have run into since leaving.

Did they ever stop the noontime poker session? Does Kaylor still just make it every morning? Is Hamilton still around? 'Bye now—

WILBUR W. SHAFFER

P. S. Tell Gephert, Hughes, or Noffze I'll gladly take any job they have in preference to this!

MAIL CALL BOUND—Parcel Post business boomed this week as the Elex Defense Committee shipped out the first 200 boxes to G-E employes in the armed forces. Left to right are Mary Zirkle, Bldg. 4-3; Thelma Stone, Bldg. 18-1; June Allgeier, Bldg. 4-4, and Avenel Stanton, Bldg. 26-2. The postal clerk is Lester Clapp.

Elex Mails Over 200 Packages to GI's As Club's Defense Projects Gain Speed

G-E "guys and gals" in 47 states and in such far-flung areas as Korea, Cuba, the Canal Zone, Japan and Germany will soon receive packages from the Elex Club as a reminder that G-E has not forgotten them, President Thelma Stone reported today. The first shipment of 200 boxes was mailed this week.

There are approximately 400 Fort Wayne Works people in the various branches of the services. Boxes will be sent to everyone as addresses are received, Miss Stone said.

As the national defense program got into full swing several months ago, the Elex Club began its own defense organization. Drawing on

Special New York City Excursions Planned by Elex During Vacation

Tour plans and prices for the Elex Club's New York City excursion during vacation shutdown were revealed today by Bess Brown, publicity chairman. Members and friends taking part in the Bermuda trip will also be able to take advantage of the special rates to and from New York.

The following tour has been arranged for Elex members and their friends at a charge of $69.55: The group will leave Fort Wayne on special deluxe coaches of the Trail Blazer at 6:27 p.m. C.D.T. Monday, July 30, and will arrive at the Pennsylvania Station in New York at 9:25 a.m. D.S.T. Tuesday, July 31.

Upon arrival in New York, the party will be transferred by special buses to the Hotel Taft, located at 50th St. on Seventh Ave. Rooms will be on a four-to-a-room basis with bath. The price for two-to-a-room will be slightly higher.

The first morning will be free. After lunch the group will take a three-hour tour on sightseeing yachts to see large ocean liners, Ellis Island, the Statue of Liberty, Governor's Island, and will sail under all the East River bridges through the Harlem River to the Hudson at the Palisades and then return to the pier. The evening will be open.

BLDG. 16-1 CAFETERIA SERVICE FASTER NOW

Speedy customer service is now available to employes in the Bldg. 16-1 cafeteria. Improved service is made possible through new facilities and additions to the working force.

Employes are invited to make use of the added cafeteria convenience, Cafeteria Supervisor Daryl Long said today.

Foremen, Supervisors To Hold Joint Picnic

The Supervisors' Club and the Foremen's Association will hold a joint picnic Saturday, June 9, at Voigt's Retreat (see map page 4), club sources announced this week.

Baseball, horseshoes, shuffleboard, cards and refreshments throughout the day are on the entertainment agenda. Members of both organizations will be notified of the affair through contact men.

Serving on the committee are R. A. Wefel and Louis A. Shattuck for the Supervisors' Club and Ewald Stinsmuehlen and W. L. Paulson for the Foremen.

25 Kids Make Little League Baseball Team

League Play Gets Underway About June 1; Volunteers Needed to Complete Diamond

Twenty-five young hopefuls have been selected to represent the Fort Wayne General Electric Company in the city's Little League Baseball circuit this year, Pres Slack, Bldg. 2-2, G-E team manager, said today.

Of the 25 boys, ranging in ages from 12-years-old and younger, 18 will be chosen to complete the league-allowed team roster while the remaining seven boys will constitute a farm team or player pool from which replacements can be drawn, Mr. Slack explained.

League play is slated to get underway about the week of June 11 or very soon after the summertime school dismissal. Practice and games will be held at Hamilton Park on a diamond nearing completion. According to Mr. Slack, work on the diamond is being done

Employes' Store Hours Switched Starting Monday

Beginning Monday, Employes' Store hours will be changed to coincide with the new working schedule for Broadway salaried employes, R. L. Fischbach, Employes' Store supervisor, revealed today.

The Broadway store will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and the Taylor St. store will be open from 12:30 to 3:45 p.m.

The new schedule will give hourly-rated employes with early lunch periods a better opportunity to visit the stores, Mr. Fischbach said.

Special Shoe Hours

The stores at Broadway and Taylor St. have also initiated new hours for safety shoes sales, Mr. Fischbach added.

Safety shoes will be on sale at the Taylor St. store from 1:30 to 3:45 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday of each week, and at the Broadway store from 1 to 4 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

No safety shoes will be sold at Taylor St. on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays, and no shoe sales will be made at the Broadway store on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Hours for handling safety shoe sales have been adjusted to provide better service to customers and to facilitate shoe sales at both locations, Mr. Fischbach asserted.

Vets Plan Memorial Service Tuesday Noon In Front of Bldg. 19

The G-E World War Veterans' Association will hold its annual memorial service at the General Electric Veterans Memorial in front of Bldg. 19 at 12 noon Tuesday.

The Rev. Russell E. Palmer, pastor of the West Creighton Ave. Christian Church, will be guest speaker. Rev. Palmer served in both North Africa and Italy during World War II.

American Legion Post 47 will provide the color guard, firing squad and bugler for the ceremonies. George Graue, representing World War I veterans, and Bill Hanley, representing veterans of World War II, will place wreathes on the memorial.

Ab Martin, works manager, will be the company representative at the service.

Carl Wagoner Wins First Honors In Rodeo's Straight Truck Div.

Carl K. Wagoner, a G-E driver, placed first in the straight truck division at the annual Truck Rodeo held at Smith Field Sunday and won the right to compete in the Indianapolis state events during early July.

Entrants were judged on a written examination, neatness and appearance, and on an equipment defect test, where drivers were required to examine a defective unit and locate at least five major flaws. Contestants were also required to put a unit through a series of seven different problems within a specified time. G-E's driver won against a field of 19 entrants.

Mr. Wagoner joined G-E in 1941 as a freight handler in Bldg. 6-1. He became a truck driver in 1942 and left for the service the following year. He returned in December, 1945, and has had an accident-free driving record since then.

G. K. Bond, chairman of the driver registration committee, reported the largest number of entrants in the history of the rodeo. The annual event is sponsored by the Fleet Safety Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Jay Greer, Bldg. 20-2, is committee chairman.

Life Is Longer Now, But . . .

General MacArthur's now famous comment, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away," got us to thinking the other day about life expectancy. How long can we expect to live, anyway—50, 60, 70 years?

We got to looking up life expectancy tables, furnished mainly by insurance companies who are experts at this sort of thing.

A person born 50 years ago could look forward to a life of perhaps 49 years. Odds are that he would be dead now. These same figures show that a person born today can expect to survive the rigors of life (barring a catastrophe) for about 69 years. That's an increase of nearly 20 years. And we can thank medical research for that.

While we were in the middle of these figures, a couple of paragraphs concerning benefits recently paid to beneficiaries under G-E's Insurance Plan came across our desk from our Employe Benefit Plans Department in Schenectady.

They were revealing.

Although statistics show that a good number of people can look forward to a reasonably long life, many die young, as facts in the Schenectady report show.

During a recent month death benefits under our Insurance Plan were paid to beneficiaries of 113 employees and pensioners. Of the 57 employees, 10 were women, and the new accidental death benefits feature in our Plan was paid in seven cases.

More revealing than this total was the fact that deaths of employes under age 50 accounted for 60 per cent of the benefits paid to employes' beneficiaries. Broken down, it looks like this: benefits were paid in six deaths of employes under age 30, nine benefits for employes who died in the 30 to 39 age bracket, another 15 between ages 40 and 50. Five death claims were paid in the cases of employes who died after only three to five months' service.

On the other side of the age scale were 10 pensioners who lived beyond 80 years of age.

So we all have to go sometime, you might reply.

That we all do.

But the point is many people, especially the younger ones, seldom think far enough ahead to consider the need for some kind of protection for their loved ones.

They put it off, and, with a shrug, usually explain that there is always time for that sort of thing.

The figures from our Employe Benefit Plans Department are not the exceptions; they are fairly typical.

And while old soldiers may never die, but just fade away, life's responsibilities are too demanding to wait for time to fade away.

I WONDER

When, I think about Memorial Day,
This thought occurs to me,
I wonder what our honored dead,
Would think if they could see?

If they could see, the things we do
On their Memorial Day,
I wonder if they'd understand?
I wonder what they'd say?

I wonder if they'd ever guess,
Just what it's all about,
Our annual speedway classic,
I'm afraid might leave some doubt.

And our baseball double-headers
Might extract from them a sigh,
For it's possible they wouldn't Understand the reason why.

I've a vivid mental picture,
Of some boys I used to know.
I can see, in France, their crosses,
White and wooden in a row.

There of course are many others,
Boys, that other people knew.
There are many other places,
With these wooden crosses, too.

When it's life, that one must offer,
It's the most that we can give.
But they gave it, so that others
Could enjoy their's and live.

But it seems a lot of people,
Use Memorial Day for fun.
Racing cars and double-headers,
Wild applause for those who won.

It of course is not expected
That we spend the day in tears.
But those rows of wooden crosses
Just don't call for yells and cheers.

So I'm still inclined to wonder
What these boys I knew would say.
If they saw how some remembered,
When we have Memorial Day.

Tusa and Thata "SPECIALTY MOTOR"

By Helen Emole

On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag is displayed at half-mast from sunrise until noon, and at full-mast from noon until sunset. Let us all pause in remembrance of those who gave the fullest measure for their country. . . . Butch Claymiller is now a full-fledged farmer after securing three ducks and his garden turned into a truck farm. Anyone wanting fresh green vegetables later, be sure to see "Tony." . . . Harry Dull and Dave Eckelbarger did a fine noble deed Friday by giving blood to the Red Cross. . . . Dick Smith returned after a two weeks' cruise on the Mississippi River with the Naval Reserve. . . . Marie Griffin went riding the other night. Her young sons wanted some ice cream. After they were all ready for bed, they decided to go and get some. Not bothering to change clothes, they started out in their night clothes and were riding down the street. Someone kept honking his horn at her but she paid no attention until he drove up beside her and told her to turn on her lights! . . . Why does Ben Farrington's nose and chin get tanned so much more than the rest of his face? . . . We extend our sympathy to Bill Poelcher, whose father died, and to Ella Franz, whose brother was killed in Korea. . . . We hope that Dorothy Hoffman's brother continues to show improvement. . . . Hazel Niswonger was on her vacation last week, and Frieda Knoche is on hers this week. Frieda and her nephew will be found painting the house! . . . Audrey Brindle is driving a new Buick! . . . Bob Worges has a '49 Chevrolet. George Crickmore, not to be outdone by anyone, sold his '50 and now has a '51 Chevrolet. . . . Josephine Chavarria is sporting a new red convertible. . . . We welcome Maxine into group 1x74. . . . Emmett Rasor is trying something new. He was trying to mill with a loose vice and with the cutter backwards. . . . Fern Hollowell bought some rabbits and flowers. The most trouble she had was the rabbit's feet sticking out and embarrassing her as she went shopping. . . . We all thought it was bad enough when Neva Scott came to work the other day wearing two different shoes. The pay off was when Modene Smith held her glass upside down and tried to pour buttermilk into it! . . . Ida May Ernst doesn't want any more helpful suggestions from Helen Bodecker. The last one resulted in the two girls picking up 2,000 cardboards. . . . We all missed Kathryn Hepker, who was off because of a sprained ankle. . . . Our best wishes to Ross Hobbs and his new job in Bldg. 6-B. . . . Welcome to Pat Gardner, who came from the cafeteria, and Carol Klinger, who came on days. . . . Anyone who wants to take a beautiful trip go to Watkins Glen, N. Y. Neva Scott visited there last week. . . . The skating party for the division was a success. Mary Parent and Julia Hohnhaus were the only day-shifters who showed up. . . . Maude Oetting broke her glasses. They say she sat on them. . . . Leah Coolman really got a beautiful sunburn over the week-end. Too bad, they had to throw back the bass. She elaims they had a big fish fry. . . . Sam Taylor took over as the acting boss on Monday morning, and Arthur, the sweeper, called him the little round headed guy! . . . Jake Kugler has moved to LaOtto. He is selling fishworms and taking orders for onions. . . . John Figley's new baby sure is growing like a weed, that is in parts, and from all reports since John has taken his cap off the boys say the baby is getting to look more like him everyday! . . . "Buss" Romary had better take the advice of those who know. I guess Frank Voirol knew what he was talking about when he said, "It would take eight yards of cement." . . . Fish are biting on Fish lake as reported by Willard Smith. . . . Floyd Truelove spent the week-end visiting his son at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. . . . Stella Mailand and her family went to see her nephew, stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Base.

TOOL BITS

By Don Clark

The boys in Jig and Fixture Section welcome George Spittler as foreman. . . . Condolence is given to Frank Druhot in the death of his brother. . . . Lowell Welker, after listening to the prize fight Friday night, was willing to bet that the winner had won 11 of the 15 rounds. . . . Our office group settled right down to take advantage of the new lunch period. Some went out to eat, while the remainder ate sandwiches and relaxed with a little reading, checkers or card playing. Gus Mittermaier and Chet Burgette are becoming experts at playing "give away." . . . Many people are driving to Indianapolis to see the time trials. They must not know that Maury Sordelet and John Snyder are having their own time trials in Maury's Model A on a local race track. . . . I hope we are safe in reporting that Dick Burns had an incident at Pleasant Lake similar to Dan Knepper's riding the horse through the barn door that happened to be too small. Dick and his little boy were riding in a canoe. The lake was high, and Dick failed to notice how close the bridge was to the water as he endeavored to paddle under it. One end of the boat caught on the bridge and upset our occupants. The only loss outside of Richard's humiliation was his tackle box. . . . Seeing Russell Kensill wearing a money changer, we wonder who has the paper route in his family. . . . Woody Hursh was proving to the boys what kind of a gardener he is by passing out a sack of delicious radishes to all comers. . . . Gene Denig is now doing his own cooking, since his wife is visiting relatives in Germany. . . . Jim Kavanaugh had Glenn Hoon and Hank Sandkuhler as guests out at the Elks Country Club. Glen says the course is built to order for mountain goats. Hank thought they ought to furnish row boats so he could go fishing for his ball everytime he hit into the river. . . . We extend our sympathy to Walter Greiner in the death of his brother-in-law. . . . John Inches visited the Tulip Festival at Holland, Mich. . . . DIE PLANT: Bob Sowards has invaded the city with his cultipacker. See Elmer Auman as to the quality of his work. . . . Arriving at work four hours late, John Bartle blamed a flat tire. Not only was his tire flat but the spare was safe from any road abuse. The handle was broken off the trunk lid. . . . Quentin Corkhill thought sure the oil in his grinder was so hot it was boiling until he discovered that Maurice Guenther was experimenting with some dry ice. . . . Bob Benz thinks Sunday was an unlucky day for him. He sprayed four dollars worth of weed killer on his lawn only to have that nice rain storm wash it off. . . . Kenny Frick, an ardent lover of nature, was enjoying the wide open spaces last week-end until he felt a bug crawling up his pants leg. The bug turned out to be a bumble bee. Kenny gave it a big squeeze but the bee didn't return his affection and stung him on the finger.

Apprentice BROADCAST

We received a letter from Myron Auer last Monday. Myron and Pete Zook are still together and were on the ship USNS General M. C. Meigs headed for Yokohama, Japan. From there they are to go to Camp Drake, which is about 13 miles from Tokyo. Myron asked for the Works News and I'm sure he would appreciate some letters. His address is: Pvt. Myron C. Auer, U. S. 55060953, Prov. Co. S. E. 159 A. P. O. 613, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif. . . . Bill Smith anxiously awaited the postman one day last week as he expected to receive his "Greetings." No postman—no greetings—so "Poor Willie" had to go home and start studying for his final exams. . . . Jim Pugh bought the other half of his horse. We wonder if last week's item about Bill Owen cutting down his half of a tree had anything to do with the sale? . . . Come on, Rasor, who was the super one that caused you to put a milling cutter on backwards and not to have bolted your vice down on the table? . . . In order not to have to walk a mile, have that new moist flavor or a fast burning cigarette, Norm Patton has invented a fancy cigarette holder. . . . Here's a new excuse for that tired run-down feeling on Monday morning. Oliver Brueck says it is from all the hard training he has been getting at Baer Field and not from those late dates. . . . Welcome to our new apprentice, Harry Kock. . . . With all the spring rain, Carl Johnson is having a hard time getting his garden planted. . . . Jim Hoppel and Merle Aughinbaugh go to the lake just for the drive and the sunshine—no fish.

By Bonnie Hull

The latest report is that Ed has just qualified at the Indianapolis speedway. Even though he placed, he is very disappointed because they spelled his name Faulkner instead of Ellenburg. . . . Barb Mertz and Fuzz Houser took off for the week-end. They went to the lake and enjoyed the sun and swimming. A certain party would like it clearly understood that they spent their time at two different lakes. . . . Andy Anderson made a fast trip to Chicago and back while Bob Wigent spent a quiet two days loafing under a shade tree. . . . Welcome to Helen Brooks, who is taking Elaine Wareham's place. . . . Today is Elaine's and Joyce Keller's last day. . . . Best wishes to Joyce, who will be married Sunday in Bluffton. . . . Best of luck to Elaine and we hope it's twins. . . . "Topys" Augenbaugh has a new hair do. . . . Anyone interested in zoos might make a tour of Transformer Drafting. We have a lizard, spiders, a mouse, a turtle, wolves and chickens. . . . Dick Koop would like any suggestion on how to keep his cat off his neighbor's driveway.

Engineers' Club Elects Three G-E Men

Three General Electric employes were elected officers in the Fort Wayne Engineers' Club at the club's annual dinner meeting held last week.

C. J. Herman, Bldg. 4-6, was chosen vice-president; Marion Halleck, Works Laboratory, treasurer, and Lloyd J. Dockal, Bldg. 26-2, director. S. W. Winje, of the Indiana and Michigan Electric Co., is the new president.

Newly-elected officers will assume their new duties June 1. All terms of office are for one year, except directors who serve two-year terms.

J. C. Duryee Appointed Drafting Supervisor Of FHP Development

The appointment of Jerry C. Duryee as division supervisor of Drafting for the Fractional Horsepower Motor Development Engineering Division was disclosed this week by L. R. Beard, division engineer.

A native of Fort Wayne, Mr. Duryee received a B.S. degree in Agriculture from Purdue University in 1926. He has been employed at G-E since 1928, serving eight years in engineering and drafting work at Winter St. and 15 years in FHP Motor drafting work.

At the time of his recent appointment, Mr. Duryee was assistant supervisor of FHP Motor drafting in the Developmental Engineering Division.

Mr. Duryee has been a volunteer fireman since 1945. He served as secretary of the G-E Club in 1947-48, business manager for the G-E Voltmen in 1949, and was president of the Exchange Club. He is also active in YMCA work.

The Duryees with their two daughters live at 3937 Hoagland Ave.

W. Robert Blomker Receives M-G Manufacturing Divs. Promotion

W. Robert Blomker has been appointed section supervisor, Load Control and Customer Service in the Large Motor and Generator Manufacturing Divisions, according to R. A. Woehr, production manager.

new section supervisor

Mr. Blomker came to G-E in 1937 as an apprentice toolmaker. Late in the fall of 1939 he transferred to Large M-G Divisions. During that period he worked on various assignments in production, planning and cost.

Prior to his present appointment he was assigned responsibility in connection with quality control, manufacturing losses and cost improvement.

Before joining G-E, Mr. Blomker attended the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. He is an active member of the Chicago Alumni Association. At present, he is president of the Supervisors' Club.

He was recently married and lives at his new home at 2326 Indian Village Blvd.

THE STRANGE THINGS WE SEE: Anita Boyd with gravy on her head scarf at the cafeteria. Nellie Parr trying to ring her card out a minute too early. Carlton Peters with enough lunch to last a week and pheasant for mid-morning snack. Bob Stute swiping a glass of water from a friend at the cafeteria. Ernie Allmandinger urging everyone to vote at primary election and failing to show up himself at the polls. Howard Berrier walking down Broadway at 3:30 p.m. and suddenly turning back toward the G-E, remembering he had driven his car that morning. Amanda Pautsch doing an Indian dance to the beating of the tomtoms. Jerry Taylor working so hard he set his machine on fire. Frank McCalip looking at the stars at corner of Wayne and Calhoun. . . . Our vacationers are Edna Etzler, Ollie Fox and Arnett Clouse. Arnett plans to visit his relatives in Kentucky. . . . Dewey McDowell has moved from his abode on Lavina St. to Kentucky Ave. . . . It is good to see Paul Hathaway with us again after a ten weeks' illness. Frank Schlink is back after a week's illness with the flu. . . . We welcome our new employees: Pearlie Seymour, Lavon Snyder, David Marks, Lee Bryant, Elaine Ramsey, Mary Barnes, Jack Lowe, Richard Goegline, Newberry Harris, Charley Fortney and Robert Butcher. . . . Belated birthday greetings to Mary Brown, John Kokosa and Mae Null.

George Houck's absence has been due to his having the mumps. At this writing, George is recovering in fine shape. . . . Charles Florent, who has quite a bit of his carboloy work done in our group, was having some work done in the welding booth. He didn't notice that a spark flew into his shop coat pocket until he had made a trip down the aisle. When the odor of burning cloth became strong, he started feeling around and found a hot pocket. . . . Jess Batchelder and Dale Hershberger have been vying for top honors in the bankers' hours class. . . . Bob RePine was having trouble keeping fuses in the line for his washing machine after blowing them four times and making a trip to the fuse box each time. Bob blew his own fuse when it happened for the fifth time. . . . Paul Armstrong and Ralph Solt both pass another of life's milestones this week and on the same day, too.

If you jump at conclusions you'll suffer contusions.

F. H. Fleischer Named Assistant Div. Engr. of FHP Engineering

Frank H. Fleischer has been appointed assistant division engineer of Fractional Horsepower Motor Engineering Division, according to an announcement by J. H. Behm, division engineer. Mr. Fleischer assumed his new duties May 1.

Mr. Fleischer graduated from Cornell University with a BSEE degree in 1929 and has been with the company since that time. He was formerly section engineer for the Hermetic Section.

He is a past president of the Fort Wayne section of AIEE, a member of the Fort Wayne Engineers' Club, G-E Squares and the Supervisors' Club.

The Fleischers and their son make their home at 4821 Indiana Ave.

Pensioners' Beneficiary Questionaires, sent last week to all pensioners eligible for death benefits under MBA, should be returned promptly to the MBA Office, Bldg. 18, MBA General Chairman Hubert Myers announced today.

Safety Engineer Here To Speak in Chicago

Herschel Smith, safety engineer, will speak at the Midwest Safety Show and Civil Defense Conference Thursday, June 7, in Chicago. Mr. Smith's topic is "Learning Safety the Hard Way."

The conference, sponsored by the Greater Chicago Safety Council and Cooperating Agencies, will be held June 4-7.

Apprentice Alumni Dance Ducats on Sale

Apprentice Alumni were reminded this week by Publicity Chairman Earl Plummer to get their tickets for the Spring Cabaret Dance slated to be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 1, in Goeglein's Mill on the Maysville Road.

The affair is for Alumni members and their guests. Tickets are $1.50 per couple and may be purchased from contact men.

Glenn D. Stapleton Receives 2nd Patent

Glenn D. Stapleton, of the Fractional Horsepower Motor Engineering Divisions, has been granted a patent on an improved brush holder assembly.

A feature of the invention is the ability of the cap to seat in one-fourth turn. The Patent Office has granted two claims of originality on the device.

Mr. Stapleton entered the Apprentice School in 1928 and graduated in March, 1932. He was employed as a tester in Bldg. 4-5 until March 2, 1936, when he was transferred to FHP Motor Drafting. He has remained in that work and is at present in the DC and Specialty Motor Engineering Division.

Mr. Stapleton received one previous patent.

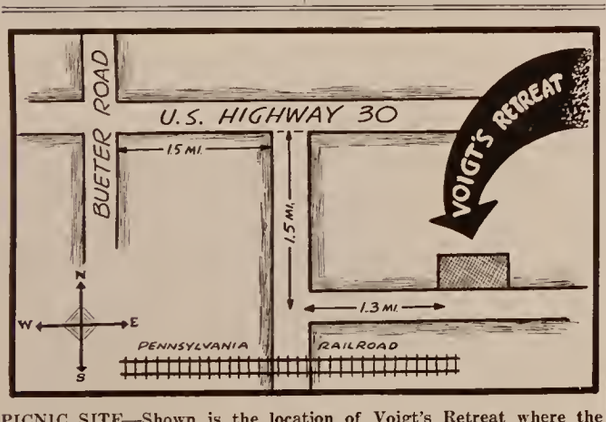
M. O. Marsh Invents New Transformer Case

A patent has been granted M. O. Marsh on his invention of an ignition transformer case to provide ease of assembly and greater mechanical strength.



Mr. Marsh is employed in Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions as assistant to the manager of engineering—cost reduction. He has received five patents.

Wedding bells have rung for Carol Weber and Jim Klinger. It was like old home week at the reception. Violet Smith and her husband were there, well equipped with camera and flash bulbs. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clancy, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Keesler were also present. The highlight of the evening was Harold Baker's jitterbugging. Dorothy Groves and Betty Baker really enjoyed the refreshments. . . . Happy birthday to Martha Bulleit. . . . Howard Pfeiffer's pockets look as bad as most women's purses. Howard had to take everything out to get what he wanted. . . . Lucile Hetherington has a new reducing diet. The first day consists of two cokes, two candy bars and a bag of peanuts. She said at this rate she lost four pounds a week. . . . Florence Siebert should feel honored. Her boyfriend has named one of his prized calves after her. . . . Alice Lause likes to paint so well that she painted several rooms in her mother's home. At present she is redecorating her apartment. . . . We are sorry to hear that Harold Dalman's father is in the hospital, but we wish him a speedy recovery. . . . We don't know why Ed Glenwith wouldn't put on roller skates at the party. Maybe Ed felt one pair just wasn't sufficient. . . . Dale Stalter did so many fancy skating tricks at the Rollerdome last Sunday that he had to get a heat treatment at the dispensary Monday for his aching muscles. . . . The welcome mat is out for Mr. Hartman, who is our new general foreman on nights. . . . We had good representation at the skating party Sunday. Carol Eastes and her better half and Helga Wickliffe and Warren were seen rolling around the rink. Dorothy Favorite gave the floor a rough time. Dale Stalter and his wife got there just in time. Mary Reynolds and Lefty were seen waltzing everyone's. Eula Laisure got cold feet and just wouldn't put on the skates.

Our little gardener, Gladys Pantazin, reports that her garden is coming along fine. We are all looking forward for some of those lovely fresh vegetables. . . . Walter Amacher has returned after his recent illness. . . . Bob Robertson and Harry Byall consoled each other Saturday at the hospital while Bob's daughter Connie, and Harry's son Richard had their tonsils removed. . . . Bob Heinzelmann should have a medal pinned on him for rescuing his little nephew out of the lake. Bob has decided to take advice from his wife and keep the children off the pier. . . . Vadas Putt has returned from a visit with her son Billie, at Camp Carson, Colo. . . . Linda Wahrer learned Saturday that she can get much better programs on television if she plugs in the antenna instead of the electric clock. . . . Laura Gerber spent Saturday at Holland, Mich., at the tulip festival. . . . Clara Gidley and Irene Meyers enjoyed the dance at Hotel LaFontaine in Huntington Saturday. . . . Pearl Everly is one of the early birds with her spring cleaning nearly completed. . . . Robert Smith has changed from first to shift to second. . . . Carl Scott came in all dressed up with white shirt and tie. He has transferred to planning. . . . We are all waiting to see that new shirt that Red Yant won at the ball game yesterday. . . . Harry Todd, Enno Richter and Otto Geiger are now manufacturing parts for Roto-Tillers. . . . Bill Brown's second home is the Legion home in Churubusco at the square dance on Saturday night. . . . Chet Reinking has blisters on his hands from dish washing, so he says. Since the arrival of the new son, we are wondering. . . . We wonder if the extra housecleaning duties are what made Clyde Helms so tired that he overslept Monday. . . . The Lead Section welcomes Marcille Ewart and Vesta Trout. . . . Gus Harrison got lost Sunday trying to find the state forest at Bluffton. We wonder if that is why he got so sunburned. . . . If you should hear Mary Shreve asking for a kiss it's because she is taking lessons from the parakeet that she has been entertaining weekends. . . . Marguerite Stahl enjoyed a two-day trip with the Wells County Home Ec group to Holland, Mich., tulip festival. . . . Ruby Stoops and Selma Voight spent Sunday in the Irish Hills.

PICNIC SITE—Shown is the location of Voigt's Retreat where the Supervisors' Club and the Foremen's Association will hold a picnic Saturday, June 9. (see story page 1)

Just as free as a bird in a gilded cage. This was the experience of Francis Eady recently when Fred Busse locked the tool cage and departed for Bldg. 1 for supplies. Upon returning, he found Francis impatiently waiting his return. . . . Have you ever felt a sharp pain in your knee while down cleaning the floor? Vida Lammert did and found a thumb tack in her knee. . . . Have you heard that Marcia Martin entertained an unwelcome guest at her home recently? The caller was an insectivorous night-flying mammal; in other words, just a plain ordinary bat. . . . A recent encounter with bees left Carl Smith a victim with badly swollen lips. Better detour around their home the next time, Carl, they might gang up on you and attack in full force. . . . Mina, after this when you leave pie in your lunch, why not label it so Ada would know what kind it is? It would save her a lot of time trying to decide if she likes that kind of pie. . . . Eldora was passing the candy for Walter Heimann, who celebrated his birthday. Happy birthday, Walter. . . . The tulip festival held each year at Holland, Mich., was the alibi given by several employes for their week-end in Michigan. Hilda Staley, Tye Fry, Betty and Grace Reichert were among those who made the trip to view the tulips. . . . With the bowling season closed, outdoor sports are now in the limelight. It is now time to think of baseball teams. We notice Ora Brentlinger and Joe Adams of the Inspection Section are now getting in practice for the season. Not having contacted the Athletic Association, we can't announce what positions these players are signed up for. . . . How sad it is to have a car and not recognize it when you see it! One noon Mina Lampy passed by her car then went to the service station where she had taken the car to have some work done, and then found that the car had been returned to the factory for her. What could she have been thinking of after passing the car and not seeing it? Why not change the color and see if that would help, Mina? . . . We not only hear of Freida Keller riding in her new Buick but we also see her. . . . Pat Andrews, who is leaving us to take up household duties, received a lovely gift from her co-workers. Pat, we'll miss you and we hope to see you around. . . . Happy birthday to Ercie McConnell. . . . Probably one of the biggest real estate deals occurred lately in the shop. Pete Fairchild has purchased the Harry Brown country estate, located several miles east of Decatur. And do you know a lake is located on the ranch? We wish to congratulate Vernon on his choice and do hope he enjoys many happy hours of leisure. . . . Roger Borne is a man-about-town. When he is attending the races, there is nothing too good for Roger. Roger was watching at the trials recently when a knight of the road solicited Roger for the price of a sandwich and coffee, Roger immediately handed the gentleman a fiver. . . . Bob Stults, son of Harry, just wanted his name in the paper so I guess this will do until we see him. Hi, Bob. . . . John Waltke is the proud father of a baby boy. Congratulations, John, and we do hope it will be a big man like you. Mrs. Waltke, who is formerly Katie Ryan, was an employee of the G-E. Margaret Waltke, first shift, Group 7-51, is the grandmother. . . . Janice Garlinger is the new young lady that has made her appearance at the winding machine for Mr. McDougal. Welcome, Janice. . . . Agnes Cunningham says it is the first time she has ever been told to go wash her face. I guess it was rather dirty, Agnes. . . . Margaret Amsbaugh is absent due to illness. Hurry back, Margaret.

Group 15 welcomes Dick McCoy, Tom Bailey, Loren Dunlap, Lester Wheeler and Klee Hancock. We hope to have them around for some time. . . . Jim Callahan is not so easy to convince, but the audience seemed to be satisfied that Dale Horner and Tom Lynn could pin him down. . . . Benny Benzinger's pep has been below par. I wonder what the reason might be. . . . The old saying, "who laughs last, laughs best," proved correct for Bill Halloway when he saw Freeman Rohlfing's shirt. He visited the heat treat room and came in contact with a red spray which also happened to Bill some time ago.

Education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave.—Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Warm weather is the season of outdoor get-togethers, and our foreman and supervisors weren't going to be caught napping. They held their stag party for Mr. Hartman and Mr. Crow at Carroll Elder's place on the river north of town. The guys enjoyed steaks and poker in that order. Mr. Hartman and Mr. Crow were presented with gifts from the group. We add our best wishes to theirs for success to both men in their new assignments. . . . Mike Lowe found out what is meant by "Fall Guy" last week. He sat on the end of the bench while talking to Jerry Holdgreve and Larry Reed, but he won't be so apt to sit down next time. The boys unseated Mike and surprised him so, he couldn't even think of anything to say. . . . We hear Carl (Bldg. 18-3) Swaim is having trouble getting his lawn mowed and at last report had his small son, David, pulling the lawnmower. What's wrong, Carl, heat got you down? . . . Howard Brooks had a hard time hanging onto his keys Friday. All we could hear was something about a hole in his pocket. Next time fasten them on your belt, Howard. . . . Carl Cochren dropped in to say hello. He looked wonderful, sounded as good as ever. He sure looked like he should be coming in to work. As we always say when we see our pensioners, this life of leisure sure agrees with them. Hurry back, Carl. . . . Larry Rickert returned to work last week, and we're hoping it's to stay this time.

. . . Happy birthday to Ellen Marchenko. . . . Ad Ragan and Gerald Crum have been having a race to see which one could provide the prettiest bouquet for the office force. . . . We welcome Jimmy Bell. . . . If the beef trust committee would only investigate a certain brake in Bldg. 24 where Forrest Rupright and Russell Jewel labor, they would see beef at its best. . . . Ed Byers has joined the ranks of happy tractor owners. We are looking forward to a treat out of his garden now. . . . Happy birthday to Paul Noffze. He gave a candy treat. We all thank him for it.

OBSERVES 45TH ANNIVERSARY—Charles Backofen, Bldg. 19-5 (second from left), has worked in the General Tool Division 45 years. He began as a bench hand May 14, 1906, and at present is a machinist in Bldg. 19-5. Above, he is showing (l-r), Edward Schafenacker, Paul Dole and Harry Henline a 45-year certificate signed by R. J. Cordiner, G-E president.

Congratulations to the Oris Cagnets, who are the proud parents of twins, a boy and a girl, born Sunday, May 13. . . . Walter Maneke has a lucky star. He had a blow-out while traveling 90 mph and stopped safely. . . . Benny Keller is getting tighter every day. He wouldn't even give a new winder a half roll of scotch tape. Benny, have a nice vacation this week. . . . Elsa Louthan took time out to braid the leads on her coil, but her work was in vain. . . . Edith Johnson has completed her yearly planting. . . . Gracie Lobdell will be too busy with her new home to put out a garden this year. . . .

Mike, Michigan Farmer

Shane has headed for an Arizona vacation. . . . Nettie Englebrecht's daughter and granddaughter are vacationing here from Kimball, Neb. . . . Al Helwig has been attending fishing school. The big ones in Pretty Lake should look out. . . . Game wardens are being stationed on Ralph Braden's lot. Archie Ryan was seen there with a shotgun watching the fox squirrels. . . . Is the membership to the new Club Edna Bailey just joined limited or can anyone join? . . . Surely if Ed Koontz can buy a new davenport for his cat to have kittens on, he can afford to buy the TV set from Charles Jennings without bickering for a discount. . . . Bill Crouse has a new Oldsmobile. . . . If you think Harry Lehman is looking bewildered, it's because he is trying to figure how Harry, Jr., broke the brake drum on his car. . . . We must admit it was surprising to see what Bill Crouse and Paul Peterson would do for Archie Ryan and Al Topp. . . . We miss Pat Lahr, who underwent an appendectomy Saturday night. . . . Mike Dunscombe has that look in his eye again. He wants to go back to the farm up in Michigan as he did in boyhood days. . . . We welcome Charlie Rensenhouse, Thelma Wilson, Anne Lowe, Martha Leto, Christine Arend, Edna Karn, Kathryn Hade, Mary Vignraux, Patricia Paunala, Betty Rex and Joan Inman. . . . Best of luck to Barbara Zuber and Jeanne Salgi who have left us.

We welcome Harold Deem, Ireta Gille, Charlotte Beaman, Joan Vilez, Flora Niemann, Gladys Peffley, Jack Sweet, Bernadine Gutierrez, Pauline Denny. . . . Eugene Scherer and Eddie Alter. . . . Otto Fultz had to make an Eastern trip. To make sure Mrs. Fultz is busy, he bought strawberry plants and rose bushes to be planted. . . . Bill Edmunds was seen acting like a bird on top of the file cabinet. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pequignot and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Phieffer, who have baby boys. . . . Audrey Oberley is getting better. . . . It isn't a secret in Packing Section anymore. We found out what makes Dee Baker blush. . . . Lenora Luttman had a week's vacation. . . . Blanche, that man you wanted to call on the phone works in our office. Someone should have told you who Ray Schiebel is. . . . Glad to have Harry Brattain back. . . . Dorothy McGowan says, "Those boxes have legs. They are always gone." . . . Congratulations to Eugene Boothby, who was married Mothers' Day. . . . Eileen Young is going on a new job. . . . Mary Williamson says Cora and Jenny's driving is the cause of her gray hair. . . . The only way Billie Tucker could think of getting Martha Doerhman to bake her a cherry pie was to say it was her birthday. . . . Freda Brandyberry started to work with her umbrella up. After a while she decided she didn't need it because it wasn't raining. . . . George, were you excited or confused when you made out a tool order to send Lorraine to the dispensary. . . . Hope you get over the measles soon, Lorraine. . . . Nancy and Wanda thought Don had picked up a pet (striped kitty) on their way to Indianapolis. They discovered that the odor came from a special brand of cheese.

Happy birthday to Arlene Neuman, Eileen Younger and Leo Persing. . . . The office girls of Bldg. 4-5 took advantage of their last week of long lunch hours. They went to Foster Park for a picnic Wednesday. . . . A new income tax deduction arrived at Dohr Kreig's house. Congratulations. . . . Funeral services were held Friday, May 18, at 12:20 p.m. for Mr. Pinoehle. We wish to express our deepest sympathy to his most ardent admirers. . . . Congratulations to H. G. Siebold, who is a grandpa. . . . We welcome Gladys Elliott, Audrey Baumgardner and Elfrieda Lamle. . . . We congratulate Leo Persing for completing 35 years with G-E last week. . . . Art Bashelier tried out a new "gas stretcher" on his car last week. The plant police would not cooperate, however. They sent a messenger up to notify Art that he should go to the parking lot and shut off the motor of his car.

SHIPPING: Orchids and a nice shiny medal of honor for Viola Haiber on her 17th year with the company yesterday. . . . Ruth Sorg won her battle with the flu and returned to work Monday. . . . Shipping Section employees really gave Chicago a going over last week-end. Eileen Fitch, her hubby, Ivan Doster and his better half were among the principals in the big rush. . . . Phyllis Crace became trapped in one of her big generous moods Saturday, and was forced to bring in doughnuts. Rumor has it that she's going to be less talkative about bringing in food hereafter. . . . RECEIVING: Mary Wolfe came back to work limping from the after-effect of too much gardening. . . . Mr. Dent spent a quiet week-end at his summer home at Lake George, but he was walking at a very slow gait as the result of a knee injury. . . . Ruby Flaugh survived a week-end of house cleaning, but suffered a back injury while dusting the floor at the Roller-dome. . . . Our deepest sympathy to the Clyde Kreighs. Clyde's mother, Mrs. A. A. Kreigh, died in Holbrook, Ariz. where Clyde, his wife and her mother and father, were staying overnight on their vacation trip. . . . Summer is really here cause George Michael has taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and is now down to one pair of heavy underwear. . . . TELEGRAPH: Congratulations to the bride (Luella Welbaum Mannix) and her hubby. Luella is sporting quite a nice tan from the trip. . . . Beverley Staley and her hubby took in "South Pacific" in Chicago the past week-end. All reports are that it was a perfect week-end. . . . MAILING: A hardy welcome to Clarence Saylor, who is back after a month of illness. . . . We have a stranger in our midst, Jaek Joseph. Hope you like it here, Jack. Incidentally, Jack's dad works downstairs. . . . Bill Fitsgerald is the proud owner of a Buick. We won't exactly mention the year, hut it's a '47. . . . Jack Pranger recently got rid of his old Plymouth. Could it be the hot breath of the police check up? . . . Jerry Gardner loves moldy cake. Inquiring Reporter:

"DO YOU THINK WE SHOULD GIVE, OR SELL ON LIBERAL TERMS, WHEAT TO INDIA TO RELIEVE THE FAMINE THERE?"

FRANCIS HOWELL
Bldg. 4-2

"We should give the wheat to the people, but we should follow through and make sure it goes to the right places. We should not just turn it over to them. We should give them some, if they can't afford to buy it, or sell it if they can."

HELEN McCOMBER
Bldg. 20-2

"No, I don't approve! Many European and Asiatic countries have always had a low standard of living. We cannot bring the Asian standard of living up to ours, but if we keep on, we'll bring our standard of living down to theirs."

GARY M. PEQUIGNOT
Bldg. 26-3

"Yes, I think we should sell on liberal terms wheat to India to relieve the famine, or trade with them in some way that it will help the people."

WILMA ECHTENKAMP
Bldg. 31-1

"From a humanistic or social point of view, I would favor sending surplus grain to India gratis; however, from a political angle, considering Nehru's recent attitude toward alignment with the Western democracies and his recent statement that no strings must be attached to such shipment, it would seem wiser to consider granting wheat relief on a business-like or loan basis."

NOEL BOLINGER
Taylor St.

"We have helped about every other nation in the past few years. I think we should also help India. We should give them some wheat to help them if they need it and then give them liberal terms on more if needed, if we have a surplus."

HAM a la General Electric

Grease paint—one of the keys to an actor's make-believe world—is deftly applied by Bob Triplett with technical advice from Phil Campbell.

At that breathless moment when the enthusiastic applause of a Fort Wayne audience rings down the curtain on a Civic Theatre production, there are eleven G-E employees who wouldn't trade their hobby for any other in the world. Through the Civic Theatre, these drama-lovers can leave their work-world of motors and transformers and enter a play-world of grease paint and make-believe.

How are folks first attracted to show business?

Some of them, like Phil Campbell, Taylor St., or Jane Wagner, Bldg. 8-2, had footlighter friends, who introduced them to the Civic Theatre. Phil and Jane soon were involved in the thousand and one details of backstage work, and one night found themselves trying out for a play.

Jane has since appeared in five shows, among them the feminine lead in the "Devil's Disciple." Phil also appeared in "Devil's Disciple," and in "Edward, My Son," during the past season.

Most Civic Theatre people are jacks of at least two theatrical trades. Bob Triplett of Bldg. 26-2, with an extensive background in "little theatre" and radio work, enjoys all phases of stage production. He has appeared with groups in other parts of the country, as well as locally.

Barbara Meyer, of the Taylor St. Plant, is versatile enough to handle properties and wardrobe for one production and earn a critic's praise as being "sensationally effective" in the next Civic Theatre venture.

Players Build Props

For nearly 15 years, Wilbur Boltz, Bldg. 4-6, and his wife have been helping the Civic Theatre. The "grand drapery" at the Civic is a product of their energies, for he and his wife made the entire curtain themselves. He recalls that it occupied their whole house during the process. Mr. Boltz has appeared in productions occasionally and sometimes manages the lighting and switchboard.

W. C. Wichman, Bldg. 26-2, has lent a guiding hand to the business side of the project for several years. He is at present a vice president, member of the Board of Directors and chairman of the Budget and Accounting Committee.

The new firm votes to call itself the Earle Production Company, and to manufacture a holder for spools of thread.

THOUSANDS of American youngsters today are learning how business operates by organizing and running small business enterprises of their own. Known as Junior Achievement, this spare-time educational program is helping the young people of this country learn the truth about business operation and the part it plays in the tremendous growth of our country.

Providing actual experience with the ideals and methods of this business system, Junior Achievement — through miniature or junior companies — gives teenagers a clear understanding of American business fundamentals. They are finding out for themselves that the system we live by operates in the best interest of everyone — of employees, customers, owners, the government, and the whole public.

The movement originated with an idea of a practical businessman in New England, which resulted in the incorporation of Junior Achievement in 1926. Without political, economic, or religious affiliations, it is open to American youth of both sexes and of all races and creeds, between the ages of 15 and 21.

Junior Achievement groups across the country are assisted by volunteer adult advisers furnished by business corporations. Today 2,150 miniature corporations are being operated in 20 states by 29,847 teen-agers, guided by 6,450 advisers. Representative of industry's interest in the movement, General Electric in several plant cities has been sponsoring a number of these "little companies."

G-E ACTORS DOUBLE IN BRASS BEHIND SCENES

Taylor St., has been doing odd jobs around the playhouse for nearly ten years. She is currently head usher, has worked in the box office, at properties, make-up and even appeared in one play. A recent "convert," Marian Davies, has been a faithful hand this season with programs, ushering, and photographing sets and scenes as a camera club project.

Perhaps the spirit of the Fort Wayne "Hamateurs" is best exemplified by veteran actor, E. G. Stock, of Bldg. 17-4. Mr. Stock has been "stage struck" for over 20 years. He regularly appears in three or four productions each season and "if I had my choice," he declares, "I would never do anything else."

Jane Wagner (above), the leading lady in "Devil's Disciple," studies her lines while perching on the apron during rehearsal.

Marian Davies and Marceille Bandtel (above), under the supervision of Harvey, get programs ready for an opening night.

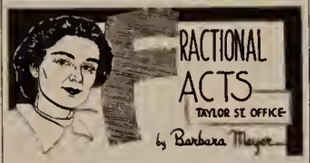
We see that the girls are ready for summer with "shortie" hair cuts and are trimming off a few pounds. . . . Dick Gidley is wearing his air-conditioned hat. . . . Love is still in bloom for Luella Masson after 10 years of married bliss. Last Friday she forgot to say goodbye to her hubby, so she rang out, went home, said "goodbye" and came back to work. . . . Was Jerry Loos in the doghouse when he got home from work? He had spilled five pounds of sugar and didn't have time to clean it up. . . . Anne Kensill was at Indianapolis last week-end for the try-outs. . . . Hilda Ellis started to her home in southern Indiana to spend the week-end, but ended up in Kentucky. . . . Happy birthday to Dorothy Blume, Margaret Wolcott, Bill Ort and Edith Beaty. . . . MYSTERY OF THE WEEK: Who embroidered and put fringe on Joe Bright's apron last Thursday? . . . Marie Dunfee has the recipe for keeping cool these warm days. "Talcum powder does it," she says. . . . Marge Goble takes off her shoes and relaxes to keep cool. . . . That bright flash was caused by those new shirts worn by Delbert Thomas. . . . Elmer Lamley was on vacation last week, and remodeled his kitchen. . . . We're glad to see Pat Holley and Harold Bowker back in the groove. . . . Mary Land is very much improved. . . . Clara Thomas, Sarah Meagher and Rachel Jackson are on the sick list. . . . We're sorry that Helen Brieker's husband has been very ill. . . . Did you know Eleanor Paetz, a former co-worker, posed for the Mothers' Day picture? She was one of our winders when we were still down on the second floor. . . . Rose Fuhrman found out that washing dishes can leave a person in stitches. She had to have a sewing job done on her hand when a dish broke. . . . Velma Seibt is looking for a power lawnmower. She also wants someone to run it. The line forms on the right. . . . Bonnie Nesbitt did it. She really cashed one of our new styled check stubs. Of course, it came back in a couple days. . . . We think that Gwen Robinson has the honor of being our youngest grandmother. . . . Our sincerest sympathy to Bill Yaeger in the death of his grandfather.



Congratulations to our fellows who were in the Squares' musical production "Holiday Ranch." You were really wonderful. . . . This week Andy O'Dwyer is leaving us for a bigger and better position with the Company in Washington D. C. Best of luck, Andy, and don't forget to come back and see the old gang. . . . We're having quite a few housing problems. Frank Ondrovik is remodeling the "old homestead," and 'tis many a morning that Frank has trouble getting the sore muscles functioning. Ginny Winegart is trying desperately to get the plumber out to her new home to finish the installation of the plumbing fixtures. . . . Welcome, Walt Reidinger. Walt's just newly added to the division and we hope he likes it here. . . .

Wendell Hughes was quite embarrassed recently. 'Twas neigh on to 1:15 and Wendell, having just returned that morning from an out-of-town trip was returning to work. On the way he saw Salona Hunter and Ruth Bullerman going in the opposite direction. Wendell made a remark in regards to the lateness of the time and proceeded on his merry way to work. Suddenly, Wendell saw the light; he was still on Eastern Daylight Saving Time. He was one hour early for work. On the train coming into Fort Wayne, he had argued with a new acquaintance about the time and stated that he was right. It was only afterward that Wendell realized that it was "the other fellow" whose watch was right and that Wendell was one hour early.

Norm Wolf must be having all kinds of trouble. Now he can't keep the same girl working with him two days in a row. . . . We are wondering if Fred Adams has really recovered from the operation he had last week. . . . Mel Kestner was seen last week driving a Diesel to work, or was it the Ford just doing a little smoking? . . . Friday must have been a bad day for a lot of people. Lona Cook says she is in her second childhood. Her husband gets more playful every day. Someday old age will really catch them. . . . Jennie Kemp and Bill Jones both have new cars to drive now. We hear Bill has everything but running water on his. . . . Selma Voight enjoyed the week-end just driving around. One of the points of interest was the Irish Hills. . . . Maxine Cavinder is wishing every day was Friday just so she can have two more days' rest. . . . Ed Birely just won't ever grow up, he went fishing, so he says, and took off his shirt. Results is a mighty red back. We wonder if he was playing Indian with his boys. . . . Elsie Fabian and Enid Gahman attended the tulip festival over the week-end. . . . We hear Verena Morgan is improving some from her illness. We hope to see her back real soon. . . . Wilbur Scott gets along with his false teeth pretty good, he says they feel fine, that is, in his pocket. . . . Congratulations to Dave McConnehey, who was married over the week-end. . . . Robert Vaughn is the new tall and bashful boy in the Packing Section. We hope you like us, "Tony." . . . We welcome Ray Burris to our group. He is taking Jimmy Bender's job, and Jimmy is going to Bldg. 4-1. We wish both good luck on their new jobs. . . . Anyone else wanting their garden plowed up will have to see someone else besides R. Boone. He's all booked up. No more commitments taken. . . . Owen Winters hasn't moved into his new house yet but he has his basement almost completed. . . . G. Cunningham is sold out of pups at present, but place your orders early for later. . . . Tommy Williams was up on the end of a barrel painting the milk house (we wonder) when the end fell in and rolled over with Tommy in the barrel. She couldn't get out. Results: She's mighty stiff and sore.

When Bob Wildermuth discovered the other day that he had on two different shoes, he said, "That's nothing, I have another pair just like them at home." . . . Dorothy Savoie is new in the Accounting Section. . . . Anyone wanting to get uptown after work in a hurry should thumb a ride with Louise "Barney Oldfield" Goudy. . . . Red Raney has a "get-rich-quick" idea. His formula is to purchase one umbrella, bring it to work, and leave it, and some day when it unexpectedly rains, sell it to someone for a higher price than the initial cost. Then buy two umbrellas, repeat the procedure, and thus with the passing of years, you'll be rich(?) . . . Four or five days preceding his vacation time, Elmer Hough had been awakening each morning around four o'clock. Everyone in the Accounting Section hopes that he is not too exhausted or worn out to enjoy his Florida vacation. . . . Art Wessenfeld even had his vacation figured to the last seconds when he left last Thursday afternoon. . . . Wayne Gilberg and his wife attended the time trials at Indianapolis last week-end. . . . New Orleans bound is the Billing's Harry Mintch. . . . A belated welcome is extended to Charlene Ceh in Mr. Becker's office. . . . Welcome to E. C. Thronsden's office, Virginia Beck. . . . We're glad to have Verneal Meyers on third floor. . . . Your reporter is an aunt for the first time, and her nephew and sister are doing nicely. . . . Happy birthday to Payroll's Betty Garber, and belated greeting to Sales' Clara Billue. . . . Bertha McCague's age must be showing. The other day a seven-year-old girl gave her seat on the bus to Bertha. . . . The other day Pauline Meehan was found trying to put toothpicks into her hair instead of bobby-pins. . . . Indianapolis shopping centers opened their doors over the week-end to Gert Kaismier and Dorothy Crist. . . . Lois Tritch Wilson is bubbling over with excitement over her new apartment. . . . T. E. Homer Porte and Sales' Betty Cline are now working for Joe Horn in Bldg. 4-6. . . . Mae Bain celebrates her birthday today. . . . BIG FALLS were taken by Mae Bain and Jo Barr. . . . Congratulations to Gil Ormson on his recent marriage May 19.

Who has any more trouble than Charles Drury? He set out some blackberry bushes at the back of his lot, and a grader came along and took them right out. . . . We welcome Coy Capesius back to work. Coy is feeling fine and says she is glad to be at work with the girls. . . . Betty Shocky is wearing a new diamond. Nice going, Betty. Red Fruit is the lucky man. . . . Virginia Free and Violet Renkenberger have moved into their new homes. . . . Agnes Stansberry is in the hospital again. We all wish her a speedy recovery from her recent operation. . . . Mary Jane Bakle celebrated her birthday May 15. She received some nice gifts. . . . Margaret Harrison and Adele Wietfeldt have their housecleaning done and can enjoy the summer. . . . Agnes Niedeffer is in the bantam chicken business. . . . Mary Biehl visited her brother in Rushville over the week-end. . . . Mae Boyce has a pup for her son, David. . . . Dollie Fodge's purse isn't going to get away from her. She found it really fastened down. . . . Delores Ginter became Mrs. Norman Ward May 20. . . . If you saw Pres Chaney's strange look, it was because his trousers were torn. . . . Edna Parker is especially fond of bananas. She usually eats them three times a day. . . . Ethel Jones celebrated her first wedding anniversary last week. Congratulations, and we hope you have many more happy anniversaries. . . . Joyce Lee celebrated her birthday by serving devil's food cake to the girls in Inspection.

Without real friends even a millionaire is poor.—Forbes.

Thanks to Margaret Norman and her assistant, Bev Branning, for last week's column. . . . With the half hour lunch period in effect, there are many comments pro and con. Happy are those who always did bring their lunch. They will have to miss their eard game, but they can get an early start to the golf course or their favorite fishing pond. . . . Some of the girls in Bldg. 31-2 are very clothes conscious. One went home one day in the middle of the morning to change clothes. Somehow an ink bottle spilled its contents all over Bev's skirt. After some aid from her co-workers, she managed to wash the ink out. Hurrying home for dry clothes, she returned a short time later cool as a cucumber and fresh as a daisy. . . . Vacation time is really under way when seven people in the drafting room chose next week for vacation. Those who will not be punching the clock next week are Ross VanHorn, Arthur Shull, Harold Garrett, Blair Bushong, Stanley Tisovic, Richard Frede and Homer Carson. . . . It would pay Arland Werker to tie a string around his finger to remind him Friday night that he is to work Saturday. Last week he dashed in at two minutes to seven and had to shuffle through the clock cards in the box to find his. He just made it before the clock turned over. . . . Larry Moore, our blue print boy, has been transferred to Taylor St. We have Jim Mueller to take his place. . . . Becky will return from her vacation, and Hodge Vineyard will leave for Arkansas and Texas next week.

This is what we call real service, and if you work in the Shaft Lathe Section, you rate. When Dorothy Brimeyer comes up with the candy wagon, Lawrence Bresler buys all the orangeade he can hold in one arm. As he starts down the aisle, he tosses a box at Floyd Mutton, then Art Swain and so on down the line. Doesn't that sound like service plus? Now, if we were just as good at intercepting, we could have an orangeade. . . . Ed Dikty has reached his goal by losing quite a few pounds. What will-power. . . . According to Bill Klepper, who operates the east freight elevator, Melvin Green has a new pastime. It's scrubbing the elevators. Bill says it's well to have a clean floor, but he hopes Melvin uses soap and water the next time. . . . We'd like to introduce and welcome Isobel Thompson. She will take over the job of general office clerk in Charlie McCormick's office. . . . This is the final "Shaft Shavings" column by your present reporter. It's been lots of fun and thanks to everyone for all your co-operation. I'd also like to say you all have been swell sports for letting me write about you. At present, I can't tell you who your next reporter will be. . . . As I am writing this, I'm sitting along the St. Joe River, sipping Seven-Up and watching the speed boats go by. I've begun to enjoy the summer season already. So here's wishing you a very happy, pleasant summer, too. Adios.

New York Trip

Wednesday morning at 8 a.m. there will be a bus lecture tour of Greater New York which will include Fifth Avenue, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Central Park, Harlem, St. John the Divine's Cathedral, Grant's Tomb, Riverside Drive, Broadway, Little Church Around the Corner, two stops in Chinatown, the Battery, Little Italy and the Bowery.

In the afternoon, the tour will attend a show at Radio City's Music Hall.

Thursday the party will spend all day on a cruise to Poughkeepsie and return—a 150-mile trip on the Hudson River.

BERMUDA TRAVELERS—Elex members and friends who are taking the Interclub trip to Bermuda will have special train rates to New York and return with the New York tour group. Round trip rail fare will be $39.05, including breakfast and dinner on the train and transportation in special buses to La Guardia Field.

Trains will leave Fort Wayne at 6:27 p.m. C.S.T. Monday, July 30, and Tuesday, July 31. Contact the Women's Activities Office at Broadway or Taylor St. for reservations.

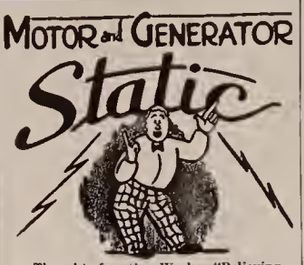
The last morning, Friday, will be open for shopping. In the afternoon the group will make a trip to the top of the Empire State Building before leaving for the station and the return trip to Fort Wayne. The group will arrive in Fort Wayne at 5:13 a.m. D.S.T.

The $69.55 fare includes round trip rail tickets, pillows, breakfast and dinner on the train and all sightseeing and transfers. A folder on the New York tour will be ready about June 1.

All Elex members, their friends and guests may make reservations by contacting the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St.

Fathers to Be Feted

Plans were also announced for the annual Father-Daughter Party Sunday, June 3. Elex members will entertain their dads at the Fort Wayne Daisies ball game in Memorial Park. The Daisies will play the South Bend Blue Sox at 2:30 p.m.



All girls and their fathers are asked to be at the park at 2 p.m. so fathers may register for prizes. A registration table will be arranged at the gate and gifts will be given to each father who registers.

Prizes for the oldest and youngest father, oldest grandfather, and father traveling the greatest distance to attend, will be awarded during the game.

There will be peanuts, cokes and crackerjack, compliments of the Elex Club during the afternoon.

Tickets are $1 each for members and fathers. Tickets will also be valid for the evening game at 8:15 p.m. the same day.

Compliments are like perfume, to be inhaled, not swallowed.

Thought for the Week: "Believing too firmly in the precept, 'love thy neighbor,' can get a man into a lot of trouble."—Joseph Salak.

ONE SECOND SERMONS: You cannot go far enough or fast enough to outrun guilt . . . Peace of mind and a happy outlook are vital to good health. The surly bird catches the germ . . . The world needs to re-light the fundamental moral principles . . . A little girl, repeating the 23rd Psalm, said it this way: "The Lord is my Shepherd, that's all I want." ABSENT-MINDED: Charlie McAfee brought his lunch with him one day last week for which his wife was very well pleased. She had some work to do that would take all day and did not want to stop for the lunch hour. She was very surprised to see Charlie come in the door shortly after 12 o'clock for lunch. Mrs. McAfee said, "Charlie, don't you remember? You carried your lunch this morning." Charlie replied, "By George, I did," and came right back to the office to eat his lunch. . . . Floyd Wygand is accepting congratulations because he is a grandpa for the second time. . . . We are glad to announce that on June 16, 1951, Gloria Barr will become the bride of William DeLait at the Saint Patrick's Rectory, 2120 South Harrison. Reception, 6-9 p.m. at the Navy Club, South Calhoun Street at Baker. . . . BUCK WEAVER SCORES AGAIN: The old physical culture lessons are paying off. Until Bud Weaver started this course, he just didn't have it. After taking 12 lessons he is now able to crush grapes without breaking out in a sweat. Of late our hero has been experimenting with the game of horseshoes and is doing fine. He reports he can now throw ringer after ringer with no trouble at all. We feel that after Bud takes a few more lessons, he will be able to move the pegs 15 feet apart and use regular horseshoes instead of pony shoes.

PACER: The big question of the week is, "Is Dent Manecke pacing the floor like a frustrated father or measuring the office for rearrangement?" . . . CHOW TIME: One thing these short noon hours did was to bring out dusty old dinner buckets or have guys showing up with kiddies' dinner buckets. Poor hungry little kids. . . . SYMPATHY: Our deepest sympathy to Carl Mann on the death of his calf, Bonnie Lou III. . . . UNDETERMINED: Is "Moose" Foltz raising tomato plants for rabbits or does he use the tomato plants to lure the little animals so his boy can catch them with a landing net? . . . TOOK A CUT: Marylis Redding has that neat neck look since she fell asleep in the barber chair. . . . GREETINGS: Greetings from Uncle Sam have been extended to Lawrence Diller. This means that he will be leaving us today to join the armed forces. Our best wishes go with you, and we'll miss seeing you around. . . . NOW YOU HAVE: It looks like that's the name of the game AC and DC are playing. Last Monday DC lost another employee to AC in the person of Charles Kelso. . . . BYE, BYE: We will also miss our handsome bachelor (Phil Campbell) in the DC Division. Phil also joined the alternating current group as of last Monday. . . . GLAD YOU'RE BACK: We are glad to see Toby Tyler back at his desk again after being absent for one week, due to illness. . . . WHO TORE WHAT, WHERE AND WHEN? . . . Congratulations to William H. Weikart, who completed 45 years of service May 22. In honor of this event, an anniversary cake was presented him by the members of the Sales Division. . . . WE WONDER why Walter Sunier gave Eric Hoppe and Joe Cline a booklet on "golf lessons." Could that be the $64 question?

experience in World War II, when over 10,000 boxes were sent to employes, a special defense committee was formed by the club to handle its various projects.

The Defense Committee is divided into three units. The first group, headed by Mary Zirkle, Bldg. 4-3, is the Ways and Means Department. They raised the necessary funds for boxes through an Elex Easter Egg Day, when colored eggs were sold throughout the plant; a Tulip Time Benefit Carl Party, and concession stands at the G-E Club Hobby Show and the Truck Rodeo, Miss Stone explained.

Unit II, under the chairmanship of June Allgeier, Bldg. 4-4, is responsible for disbursements—deciding how the money shall be spent and the selection of gifts.

Avenel Stanton, Bldg. 26-2, is in charge of the third group. Its job is to keep records and correspondence, to locate service men and women's addresses and to handle mailing. Miss Stanton urges parents and friends of G-E servicemen and women to send in addresses so the G-I's may receive Elex boxes.

Other recent defense projects have been home nursing classes, the purchase of special television stands for wounded Korean veterans at Camp Atterbury and two shipments of gift cigarettes to Atterbury wounded.

One day Harold Koehlinger was very troubled. Upon arriving at the plant and after parking his car, he reached over to snap the lock on the right front door. In doing so, he caught his sleeve on the door release. Jerking loose, his cuff links caught on the seat cover, tearing quite a gash in same. Getting out of the car on the left hand side, he snapped the lock and slammed the door shut. It was just too late. The car keys were locked inside, and the motor was running. He then hurriedly contacted somebody and sent him out to his home to get the spare keys. . . . Art Brandenberger is now actively engaged upon the construction of his new home on the Windsor Road north of the city. The name he has selected for this home site is "Swampy Acres." Desiring to be upon the scene of activities at all times, he has moved an old box car onto the grounds where he and his wife have set up housekeeping. Art said they are a little cramped, but, nevertheless, it is quite cozy. The old car reminds him of the days when he saw the country in this manner. . . . In just one short month, our old friend and co-worker Willard Hull will retire. Having had close contact with Bill for the past 28 years, we do not like the thought of him leaving. He will be greatly missed. Bill is a conscientious soul and is very considerate of the desires of the inspectors. He would lean over backwards to please them. Here is an example as to just how considerate he is of other people. In endorsing his pay check each week, he always signs, "Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hull." Now if any of you are in doubt about this, ask Joe Turley. He furnished us with the piece of information.

One of Those Days

Clarence Sapp Rites Held in Churubusco

Clarence B. Sapp, 55, died Tuesday afternoon, May 15, in the Fort Wayne Veterans' Administration Hospital. He had been a patient there since January for treatment of a heart ailment.

A member of American Legion Post 82 and the Disabled American Veterans, Mr. Sapp was a veteran of World War I. He had been employed at G-E at various times since 1925 as an electrician in Bldg. 20.

Surviving are his widow, Elnora; a daughter, Mrs. June Cole, Albion; a son, William B. Sapp, Fort Wayne; four grandchildren; a brother, Henry Sapp, Fort Wayne, and two sisters, Mrs. B. C. Smiley, Angola, and Mrs. Elizabeth Crowe, Fort Wayne.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Sonday Funeral Home in Churubusco. Chaplain Edmund W. Weber of the VA Hospital and the Rev. Alfred Burk of Arcola officiated. American Legion Post 82 held military graveside rites in the Eel River Cemetery.

In answer to the appeal from the Red Cross for blood donors, the G-E responded quite well. Walt Mertz, Howard Shipman, Bob Schmeling, Orville Langhor and myself answered the call from Bldg. 26-5. More volunteers might be needed later so contact Orville or I for more information. . . . A potluck was held last Friday for Mabel Nelson, who retired. . . . When Mabel Moore came running to answer Loretta Bloom's screams, she expected to find something terrible had happened. But no, it was just Loretta expressing her surprise over her newly-painted radishes that had begun to show. . . . Pauline Auer walked into the rest room and proceeded to wash her hands. While she was drying them, it suddenly dawned on her things looked different. She beat a hasty retreat from the MEN'S rest room! . . . The west end gang presented Quentin Freiburger with a wedding gift, a kitchen clock. . . . Louie Sordelet was telling how he dreamt he had marked his newly painted walls with a pencil. The next morning the walls had been marked. Somebody better chain that guy down to the bed at night! . . . Hap King took a two-day trip to Indianapolis recently. The gals on Hermetics are wondering what he did to make him look so worn out, tired and sleepy. . . . Darlene Richardson was given a potluck by the second trick gang. Darlene started in on first trick. . . . Wimpy Blalock was walking around displaying some fried chicken. While he was making everyone hungry, a couple of "mice" carried two pieces from his desk drawer! . . . Congratulations to Donna Miller, who will be a bride June 23. . . . We are glad to hear Hazel Busse is up and around and feeling better. . . . Welcome to Nick Kitchen, James Key and Gus Goodman, new employees. . . . We also welcome back Mary Louise Hartman, who formerly worked here. . . . Arietta Denney, Emma Lou Ragan, Cecelia Pranger and Ginny Keesler have joined the reporting staff for this column. Careful what you say, we're listening!

SUGGESTION: Surprising, isn't it? I mean what you can do in 30 minutes. You never would have believed it, but the salaried people were actually served in 30 minutes. By the way, why not accumulate all the money you save on carfare, etc., and it won't be long until you can buy another government bond. It is just a suggestion! . . . BLOOD DONORS: Hazel McDougall and Marilyn Mattes answered the Red Cross Blood Bank's call for help last Friday. . . . VISIT: The girls from Bldg. 18-2 made a trip to Yoder last Monday night to visit Flossie Greek, who has been quite ill but is now recuperating. Flossie has been night matron on the floor for a number of years. We miss seeing you and hope that you will soon be well again. . . . MEMORIAL DAY: Next week we take time out from our daily rush, to pay tribute to our nation's dead and our own loved ones. We trust that you have a pleasant holiday. If it is your pleasure to attend the races in Indianapolis, look out! There may be a FEW cars on the road! . . . CONVENTION: Ruth Fritz and Phyllis Rudolph attended a sorority convention in South Bend over the week-end. Their husbands were on hand for the formal dance Saturday. . . . CLEVELAND: Mr. and Mrs. Wylie were in Cleveland visiting their grandchildren. . . . VACATION IN OKLAHOMA: Al Tharpe of Data Bureau is spending part of his vacation in the oil fields of Oklahoma. He visited his brother there who has been on the sick list. . . . NEW: Welcome is extended to Ladonna Marquardt, new clerk in the Purchasing Section. She was formerly employed by the Boston Store. . . . NEW HOME: Everyone in Bldg. 18-4 is rejoicing with Florence Badger, who has moved into her new home at 1437 West State St. . . . ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Charlotte Hallauer and Howard Miller, which was recently solemnized at Minneapolis. We understand they will reside in Tuscon, Ariz. May we offer our sincere congratulations.

6-4 AIRLINERS

By Joan Lindeman

Happy birthday to Bernice Winters. . . . Marty Sexton is back with us. It's good to have you back, Marty. . . . Buying cokes is getting to be quite an expense for Glen Archbold. He bought one the other day and it slipped right through his fingers onto the floor, so he had to divvy out another nickel. . . . Fred Clark will have to buy a new deck of cards since he got disgusted one day and tore the old ones up. . . . Johnny Wetzel is sporting a brand new Chevrolet. I hear he isn't driving it to work because is might get dirty. . . . Andy Anderson is walking to work. Could it be troubles with his new Olds already? . . . The boys wonder why Ralph Lee never shows up after work to buy the hot dogs he promises to buy. . . . The girls are wondering if they should remind Don Wilson that summer seems to be here so he can take off one of his two shirts. . . . Lillian Kidder was stopped by a policeman for speeding, but got no ticket! . . . Ruth Baker has a birthday May 20, so many happy returns. . . . Famous sayings by our talented "Moe:" "Nowadays the risen generations retires when the retiring generation rises;" "Isn't it funny how night falls but never breaks, and how day breaks without falling?" . . . Don LeMaster wanted everyone to know he had a new pair of pants. He left a big tag on the back of them. . . . Anthony W. Crow sent this picture to Henrietta Jimison from Tuscon, Ariz., where he is spending some time for his health. Crow is from General Service, Taylor St., and is expecting to be back with the Company soon. Henrietta, his sister-in-law, thought his many friends would be interested in picking out Crow. He is there! . . . The office gang attended a square dance Friday night and had quite a time. Al Olson was really in the swing of it, when his partner swung him away and he went down.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Sick List

Robert Kirby, Matty Fancher, Howard Johnson, Viola Muehlenbruch, Everett Sloffer, Cleo Haymond, Dona Mcyer, George Houck, Agnes Stansberry, Tudor Frey, Richard Gierbaum, Ermond Tickel, Walter Knipstein, Wayne Blake-Hedges, Matilda McClain, Maxine Van Allen, Alberta Wilson, Earl Wynn, Esther Verhaegen, John Putman, Patricia Lahr, Minnic Shoff, Wade Taylor, Albert Miller, Clara Thomas, Sherman Lysher, Raymond Eller, Josephine Fullhart, Lillian Detwider, Geraldine Cannon, Charles Dockery, Ann Jacobson, George Tarr, Alma Ladig, Clara Nine, Thelma Hubbard, Ruby Del'ew, Wanita Koehlinger and John Danks.

Dismissed from Hospital

Ethel O'Leary, Earl Wynn, Carol Shoff, Maryellen Moudy, Patricia Lahr, Josephine Fullhart, Arthur Hyser, Robert Kirby, Walter Knipstein, Ruby DePew and Rosemary Diehm.

Returned to Work

Edith Venrick, James Stearns, Wilber Ribel, Lawrence Rickert, Mary Noll, Mary O'Shaughnessy, Fannie Whitt, Berneice Scheumann, Alberta Watt, Louis Scherer, Lucille Orr, Elaine Frankhart, Leola Johnson, Evelyn DiGregory, Leander Knapp, Wilma Cross, Floyd Dowell, Paul Beaver, Coy Capesius, Ruth Cartwright, Harry Brattain, Harry Hatcher, Marjorie Crabill, Mary Brickley, Ruth Fields, Walter Amacher, Clifford Balyeat, Doris Coddens and Aaron Krakwoer.

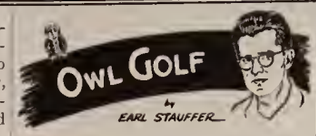
Tony and Friends



DIDN'T KNOW HIS BUNNIES: George Andorfer bought a pair of rabbits from Louis Dasher so he too could raise rabbits and win ribbons like Louie does. After several weeks, George came back to Lou with the complaint that he thought both of the rabbits were bucks. Louie, being the congenial fellow he is, told George to bring one of them back and he would replace it with one that George would be satisfied with. Now, when we say that George didn't know his bunnies we mean just that, for, after one week the bunny that George traded back to Lou produced 12 little bunnies. . . . REFRIGERATED FISHWORMS: Fritz Rudusky, without telling his wife, placed a can of fishworms in the refrigerator. A day or so later, his wife noticed that the cabbage had worms on it, and she threw it out still not surmising what had happened. The next day she noticed worms were crawling up and down on all sides of the refrigerator. Instantly an investigation was started which brought immediate results. The good wife found the can of worms. The culprit, Fritz, started to clean up the refrigerator from the top to bottom. Serves you right, Fritz, old boy. Never hold out on your wife. Wives have ways of finding out things sooner or later. . . . HELP WANTED: Donald McCrea was going to do some cement work and asked some of his supposed to be friends to help him. Here are some of his loyal friends' excuses. Porky Schocnenfeld, "Ma's boss and she says I got to paint and help house clean." Charley Adams, "I'm going fishing; wife's out of town." Eubert Logan, "Sorry, going to Ohio (for free refreshments)." Virgil Howell, "I got to referee." Steve Bobay, the farmer, "Sorry, going to give my neighbor-farmers plowing service and fatten up my bank roll." Tom Hutsel, "Going to lake to help friend paint." Warren Harding (also a club brother), "Getting new water softener installed and must be home and see that it's put in right." After all this, Donald finally found a couple of suckers in Virgil Nash (who brought his mixer) and Clarence (Salty) Coulter (who brought his own cigars). . . . WE ARE HAPPY to sec Elaine Frankert back to work after an extended absence due to an operation.

We are coming to see that there should be no stifling of labor by capital, or of capital by labor; and also that there should be no stifling of labor by labor, or of capital by capital.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Sorry, folks, our column was forgotten last week, but here we go again. . . . We welcome Dona Sipe, and Doris Stevenson. . . . We all hear Ralph Armey has a cute nickname. What is it, Ralph, or are you bashful? . . . Mary Rucoi should learn to tell time, at least when she goes on pool. . . . Ask Mabel Drummond who her best friend is. You will be surprised. . . . Bea Lantz has been excused for some things, but she really did get cigarettes mixed and took Berniece's. It was a mistake, but Bea likes to try different brands. . . . Lillian Murphy gave us a real description of her hands. She says they are flat like her feet. . . . Catherine Stanton lost her lunch and there was no candy lady. At last, it was recovered. . . . Ruby DePew is recovering nicely from a recent operation. . . . Edna Butler is leaving us to return to a full-time job of keeping the home going. She was presented a lovely gift from co-workers Friday night. Edna treated us all to candy bars. We'll miss you, Edna. Let's hear from you every once in a while. . . . Marietta Beckman, by now, has learned a drink is obtained at the water fountain and not the time clock. . . . Ask Lillian Murphy for her comparison of the colors of the rainbow. . . . Can you imagine Harry Chism without a cigar or Russell May with one?

Ideal weather prevailed for the Owl "cow pasture pool" opener. Thirty-one lads teed off in quest of fun and fame last Thursday morning at the Brookwood links.

Quite naturally you would expect Warren Wickliffe to figure prominently in the low-score department. He did just that by firing a 40, the league's low for the day. The four-time champs, paced by Wick's 40 and a neat 41 by Lloyd Grider, clobbered Harold Nieman's Traps by 21 points. Lynn Fryback paced the losers with 49.

Bob Markey's power-laden "Putters" dumped John Stark's "Spoons" by four points dispite a nice 41 effort by Johnny. Rollie Wickliffe (Warren's young brother) and Tony Wichman fired 44's to lead the Putters.

Another close match gave Don Hower's "Bunkers" a four-point victory over Gus Ormsby's "Brassies." Gene Englebrecht was low for the winners with 45 while Wayne Rousseau shot a 45 for the losers.

The outcome of the match between Carl Kuzeff's "Drivers" and Virgil Snyder's "Flags" is in doubt because only three lads played for the Flags. The fourth man did not have an average for the 1950 season. The result will depend on next week's match.

With teams like the Putters and the Drivers in this league, the four-time crown held by the Hot Shots will always be wobbly. The season is young and anything can happen.

G-E Owls Bat Down F.O.P. Nine 10-4; Hower Refuses Single Hit

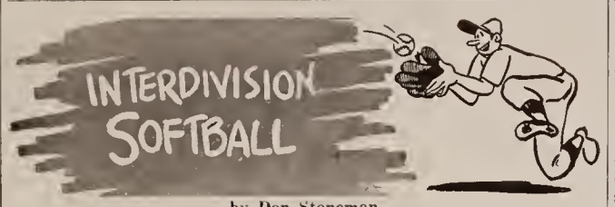
by Bill Geist

With Bud Hower pitching hitless ball, the G-E Owls turned back the F. O. P., 10-4.

Bud's wildness and an error gave the cops three runs in the first inning. After that he was practically invincible. The other run was scored when Earl Tipsord threw wild to Morrie Moffitt at second trying to catch a runner off base.

G-E scored two runs in the second on three hits and an error. In the third, Cliff Grimes led off with a homer to right. Ken Spiker followed with a triple. Jerry Jacobs sent Ken home with his double. Ken Zurbuch lined to short stop, and Jerry was doubled off second for two outs. A free pass given Morrie Moffitt scored when Earl Tipsord and Bud Hower singled.

G-E also tallied two runs in the fourth inning and three in the fifth to finish the scoring.



The next game will be held with the Zollner A team at 10:30 a.m. at McMillen Park.

The Interdivision Softball League got underway Wednesday, May 16, with four games being played.

Test Engineers came from behind in the seventh inning to defeat Fractional, 11-10. Highlight of the game was a triple play by the Engineers in the second inning. Play went from Ewing to Deleve to Neuman. Binder homered in the fifth for Test Engineers.

Winter St. coasted to an 11-1 victory over Motor-Generator. Ron Young pitched good ball for M-G, but his support was shaky. Ailman gave up only five hits for Winter St. while his mates collected nine.

In a free scoring game, Taylor St. defeated Small Motor, 15-9. The Taylor lads collected 12 hits while Small Motor could get only seven, two of which were home runs by Zimmerlee and Smead. Both homers were scored in the second inning.

Works Lab bested Squares, 11-10, in a close, hard fought game. Bob Holman hit two home runs and Bob Guingrich hit one for Works Lab.

Home team managers are asked to keep a complete and legible score in order that accurate box scores can be published.

High Spots

by Marie Fox

Bldg. 4-2 took on a pleasant new look a couple of weeks ago. The place is cleaned and flowers have appeared daily every since. . . . But that's not all. In sympathy with any bosses who might come through and wonder, what is a pile of solder drippings doing on top of a tool rack? We warn you. What you see isn't solder drippings. Two pigeons have been sitting above there for two weeks doing their bit to fool you. One of the bosses says you have to feel it to tell the difference. . . . Here is news for those who need something to celebrate. "Marry your husband over again," Edith Parisot says. She did it after 19 years, and got a second wedding anniversary. Congratulations, Edith. . . . Does anybody know anyone who can teach a couple of poor girls how to make artificial flowers. Contact clock No. 62564, Bldg. 4-2. . . . A known fact is that unless we add work to the business of wishing, we don't get much credit for having ambition.

Bill Schible has a different car. It was rumored that he was entering it in the truck rodeo. We didn't hear anymore about it. Were you disqualified, Bill? . . . John Lare was really beat when a few of the fellows sang "Happy Birthday" to him. . . . Bob Dressel picked some dandelions for Porky Schoenefeld. Ralph Storm, not to be outdone, brought in some lilacs for him. Would anyone like to try roses? . . . Erv Huth has a sore finger. Forest Somers has a new and fascinating adding machine that gets temperamental. In searching for the cause, Erv caught his finger in it. It almost took an Act of Congress and the whole office crew to get it out. . . . Sam Henry should be more careful of where he finds a resting place; things like that can be painful. By the way, is Steinie carrying the load since Sam's "accident?" . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meggison on the arrival of Mary Margaret. . . . We are happy to hear that Merla Miller's son and Wayne Bastian's wife are getting better. . . . Elton Swank and Ed Trabel went to Houghton Lake last week-end. They didn't get any mushrooms, and the fish they caught were illegal. They said they threw them back, but they didn't say back in the lake or in the back of the boat. . . . Arnold Landis had a power lawn mower demonstrated to him. With the throttle pulled out, he started down the yard on the run with grass and dirt flying in every direction. The pace must have been too much for him. He finished it with a hand mower.

★ We must build our military strength—and at the same time we must keep our economy strong for the long pull.

★ Inflation bleeds *both!

Controls can help "hold the line" —but they can't cure Inflation!

● Just because controls have been ordered by the Government does not mean we can now afford to sit back and think there's nothing we individually need to do to check Inflation. Far from it!

To win the battle against Inflation, every one of us must take a personal part. And let's not forget that if this battle is lost, every one of us will suffer.

What can each one of us do to lick Inflation?

1. All of us can help our Government make controls effective by holding the line on prices. Controls may not be pleasant—"good medicine" often has a bitter taste. Controls are helpful as a "stopgap"—until production has a chance to catch up with demand.

2. Production is one basic weapon against Inflation. When we produce enough goods to meet the demand, prices should stop going up. So everything we personally can do to help "get the job out" helps keep Inflation from striking at us.

3. Save all we can, in every way we can. When we save, we take money out of competition for scarce goods. We make money available for more production. And we build a reserve for our future needs to be spent in more normal times.

4. Buy only for basic and immediate needs. We must prevent bidding against each other for goods which are in short supply.

5. Support "pay-as-you-go" taxation. Tough as it is to pay more taxes, they help us keep the economy of the nation strong which is vital for the long pull.

6. If we want to save on taxes as well as help check Inflation, let's let our representatives in government (Federal, State and local) know that—while we support strong defense—we also support their efforts to cut all spending that can possibly be cut. The time to speak up is right now!

The Sixth Column Enemy — Inflation — must be checked at all costs. The country's military and economic strength — and the value of your savings — demand it.

A WELCOME LIGHT

Employe Benefit Plans Are Old Stuff With G-E

Not long ago an employe with a particular interest in General Electric Benefit Plans, asked when the company first put its many employe benefits into operation.

The question was sent to Employe Benefit Plans Department in Schenectady and, in short order, they came up with a whole string of dates showing when various plans were put into effect and revised.

The effective date of the first plan on record goes back to 1885. It was a mutual benefit association for employes of the Edison General Electric Company in the New York area.

The plan called for monthly dues of 50 cents and provided weekly sickness and accident benefits of $6 per week for 13 weeks. It also provided a $100 death benefit to the employe's beneficiary. (G-E's present Insurance Plan provides non-occupational accident or sickness benefits up to $35 per week for 26 weeks, life insurance amounting to about one and one-half times annual earnings plus a $2,000 accidental death benefit, and help in covering hospital and surgical bills.)

Similar mutual benefit plans followed in 1888 and 1902.

Pensions Began in 1912

In 1906 a suggestion plan was adopted and in 1912 the General Electric Pension Plan was put into operation. It was entirely paid for by the company, and the annual pension was equal to one per cent of an employe's average annual earnings for the last 10 years of work prior to retirement. Normal retirement age was 70, 60 for women and 20 years of service was necessary to qualify for pension benefits.

Other plans and revisions of existing ones followed.

1917—First Employe Savings Plan
1920—Free Group Life Insurance Plan
1922—Charles A. Coffin Foundation
1922—Suggestion System Formalized
1925—Additional Group Life Insurance Plan
1927—Gerard Swope Loan Fund and G-E Employes' Education Plan
1928—Additional Pension Plan
1936—Relief and Loan Plan
1939—Insured Health Plan
1945—General Electric Educational Fund
1946—Amended Pension Plan
1948—Savings and Stock Bonus Plan
1948—Pensioners' Hospitalization Plan
1950—New G-E Employe Benefit Package—including a guaranteed maximum pension of $125 a month at age 65 with 25 years of service; improved health and life insurance program as well as adjusted wage increases.

This box score of dates, when various G-E benefit plans were put into effect or revised, is more than an assemblage of cold figures and facts.

It represents management's constant concern, dating back many years, for the needs and desires of G-E employes.

It also represents an unusual foresight that has earned for your company the proud reputation of being a pioneer in employe benefit plans.

No, these employe benefit plans are nothing new with G-E.

TO A GRADUATING SON

My son, you have graduated—
You have finished the job you began.
I hope, you've acquired something helpful,
To assist in becoming a man.
In the past, you've had teachers and parents,
To help you and guide you along,
But your future will be what you make it,
So watch that it doesn't go wrong.
In your class, you may not be the leader—
There can only be one, that's the best,
But remember, you're only beginning
With a chance, just as good as the rest.
Some of your friends may become famous;
And a few may attain great success.
Maybe some will be just mediocre
While others may even be less.
If you can't be a leader, then follow,
But follow some one who is right.
If you can't win in all of your battles,
Be sure that you put up a fight.
Some time when the bases are loaded
You'll find yourself coming to bat.
So dig in your toes and start swinging,
And the world will admire you for that.
If you hit the ball into the bleachers,
The crowd will arise with a shout.
But don't let it flatter your ego
For some time, you're sure to strike out.
Keep your eyes on the top of the ladder,
But your mind on the rung you are on.
Where you stand is the spot you'll be measured—
How you stood, you'll be judged when you're gone.
So, my son, here's a thing to remember—
Do always the best that you can.
You may not reach the top of the ladder,
But, you can be a good Christian Man.

Dear Lou:

I have been receiving the WORKS NEWS for some time now and really enjoy it. I would like to take this time to thank you for sending it to me.

I am enclosing a picture of me reading the paper out in front of the Escape Tank just after mail call, the most important time of the day for us.

My address has been changed, so it takes a long time for the paper to get here.

I will close now by saying it sure will be good to get back to the G-E when I get out. Sure miss that happy face of my old boss, Jerry Smith. He's a lot better to work for than Uncle Sam is.

Yours truly,
Walter Childers FN

A group in Bldg. 26-3 received the following letter from Sgt. Ralph Bradtmiller in Korea:

Hi, Dee:

I just got the wonderful package the other day and it really hit the spot. I was up on line for 17 days on C rations and when I got back down and got that package from you, it was like a gift from heaven.

I want to say thanks to each and every one of you for thinking of me that way. I only wish I could thank you in person, but then maybe some day not too far away I will get the chance.

It's a wonderful day in Korea today. I'm up in the mountains getting a sun tan. It really feels good for a change.

Well, again I want to thank you and everybody and I hope it isn't too long before I see all of you again.

Your pal,
Ralph

Francis F. Fann

Maurice L. Poling

F. F. Fann, M. L. Poling Appointed Foremen in FHP Motor Div. 15

The appointments of Francis F. Fann and Maurice L. Poling as foremen in Fractional Horsepower Motor Div. 15 have been announced by M. G. Pugh, assistant supervisor of Inspection and Tests. Mr. Fann will serve as foreman of Inspection and Test on the first shift and Mr. Poling will have the same responsibility on second shift.

Mr. Fann joined the company as an apprentice in 1929. Upon graduation in 1931, he was assigned to small motor engineering in Bldg. 4-6. During the war he served in the armored field artillery and spent 18 months in Europe.

He has been employed in Bldgs. 4-2, 4-4, 17-4 and 4-5 during the past few years.

Mr. and Mrs. Fann live at 3109 Winter St.

Began in 1929

A native of Marysville, O., Mr. Poling came to Fort Wayne and the General Electric Company March 28, 1929, assigned to the Test Section at the Winter St. Plant.

In 1935, he transferred to Bldg. 17. All of his service at the Broadway Plant has been with Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions. He joined the FHP Motor Div. 15 organization in 1942.

Mr. Poling has six children—five sons and one daughter. Three of his sons are in the armed services.

The Polings live at 2810 Queen St.

French Group Honors G-E Board Chairman

NEW YORK, June 1—Philip D. Reed, chairman of the board of General Electric, received the Legion of Honor with the rank of commander recently at a luncheon given by the French Chamber of Commerce in New York.

The decoration was presented by Roger Seydoux, French consul general, in recognition of Mr. Reed's capacity as president of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Co. Awards Scholarships, Credit Totaling $15,875 to 59 Students

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 31—Two Fort Wayne students are among 59 employes and children of employes of the General Electric Company and its affiliates who will receive loans and scholarships totaling $15,875 for undergraduate education during the 1951-52 school year. William W. Trench, company secretary and secretary of the G-E Education Committee, announced the awards today.

Clifford Leroy Meints, 21, Winchester Road, will continue his studies at Purdue University with the help of a $250 G-E Educational Fund loan. The son of John A. Meints, Bldg. 20-1, the Meints youth has been majoring in organic chemistry at Purdue Center in Fort Wayne. He will enter Purdue University this fall.

A graduate of Concordia High School, Clifford is a member of the Purdue Student Senate, assistant editor of the Purdue Riveter, campus publication, an ex-officer of the rifle team and former manager of various intramural athletic teams.

Virgil I. Hagy, 19, of 346 Dalgren Ave., will also receive a $250 Educational Fund loan to continue his studies at Indiana University. Virgil, who received an education loan for the third consecutive year, is the son of Alva A. Hagy, Bldg. 4-3. He is a graduate of North Side High School where he was a four-year honor student and a member of the National Honor Society.

123 Apply—59 Accepted

Winners of financial assistance were selected on a competitive basis from 123 applicants. They represent General Electric plants and offices in Pittsfield and Lynn, Mass., Schenectady and Elmira, N. Y., Philadelphia and Erie, Pa., Nashville, Tenn., Bloomfield, N. J., Ontario, Calif., Fort Wayne, Ind., Bridgeport, Conn., Milwaukee, Wis., Cleveland, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Chicago.

The new loans and grants will bring the total awards to $238,113, granted to 948 employes and their children since 1924, when the first formal employes' education assistance program was offered by the company, Mr. Trench said.

Loan and scholarship winners will study such diverse subjects as music, nursing, agriculture, engineering, and education at 27 schools, colleges, and universities.

The awards include 13 scholarships totaling $3,225 and 24 loans totaling $5,950 from the G-E Employes Educational Foundation; eight Charles P. Steinmetz Memorial scholarships, totaling $3,200 for study at Union College here, and 14 loans from the Gerard Swope loan fund, totaling $3,500.

The Swope loans come from a $25,000 fund established in 1924 by the former G-E president. The Steinmetz scholarships were established by General Electric in 1923 in memory of the famed scientist.

Elex Offers One-day Cedar Point Excursion to Members, Friends

Plans for a special one-day excursion to Cedar Point on Lake Erie Sunday, June 24, were announced this week by Thelma Stone, president of the Elex Club. The trip is open to Elex members, their families and any non-members who are interested.

The excursion will leave at 8 a.m. on the Nickel Plate Railroad for Sandusky and proceed by ferry to Cedar Point. On the return trip, the group will leave Cedar Point at 6 p.m. D.S.T. and return to Fort Wayne about 10 p.m. The price of six dollars includes train and ferry fare and admission to the Amusement Midway. Children under 12 years of age may make the trip at half fare.

Everyone is asked to take their own box lunch. Tables will be reserved for the picnic and ice cream and coffee will be furnished by the Elex Club.

Cedar Point is a wooded peninsula north of Sandusky Bay on Lake Erie. There is a seven-mile white sand beach. The Midway amusements include a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, tunnel of love, Monkey Speedway, Krazy Kastle, Noah's Ark, kiddies' rides, miniature golf, shooting galleries and bicycle riding.

Reservations and complete fare must be turned in to the Women's Activities Offices at either Broadway or Taylor St. not later than Monday, June 18.

Squares' president

Frank Ondrovik To Head Squares During 1951-52

Frank Ondrovik, Bldg. 26-2, has been elected president of the G-E Squares' Club for the year 1951-52. Election results were announced last night at an annual meeting in the Squares' Hall.

Other officers who will guide the organization's affairs are M. W. Edgar, Bldg. 4-6, vice president; J. A. Walley, Bldg. 4-6, secretary; E. M. Freegard, Bldg. 26-2, treasurer, and H. B. Carter, Bldg. 4-6, director for a three-year term.

Proposed house plans and determination of the club's future direction were also discussed at the meeting.

The election was conducted by mailed ballots. Ray N. White, Bldg. 18-4, served as chairman of the nominating and tellers' committee, assisted by Gordon Harvey, Bldg. 26-2; R. W. Dochterman, Bldg. 4-6; A. L. Johnson, Taylor St.; J. F. Formanek, Bldg. 31-2, and M. C. Halleck, Bldg. 28-2.

Information Clinic

Question: Will you please explain, in the next issue, if it is possible for a non-union office employe to work overtime on Saturdays, if during the week, that employe was absent one-half or the whole day.

Answer: Whether an employe is union or non-union does not enter into the consideration of overtime. This also applies to salaried as well as hourly workers.

Overtime is requested on Saturday if there is an established need for work to be done. Overtime is not scheduled to make up time lost by an employe during the week.

G-E Monogram Had Its Earliest Beginnings on Fans, Violin Bag

(reprinted with permission of the Bridgeport Works News)

Almost everyone familiar with G-E or its products has sometime or another wondered how one of the world's most famous and honored trade marks, the G-E Monogram, was created.

The story of how the Monogram "happened" (and it was just like that) was related some years ago by A. L. Rich, a New York fellow, in a letter to the company. The letter reads.

"It was at my suggestion that the G-E Monogram was made part of the fan guard of the fan motors, this being the first of its general use on apparatus; and to 'put it over,' as we say today, I painted the mark in correct position on a fan motor photograph to show how it would look. It went over—big.

"This design, which I made nearly thirty years ago, was done at the request of certain officials of the Company, who felt that an organization such as the General Electric should have something for general use that would be what we now call a 'tie-up' between the product and its advertising. As I happened to have then, as now, the distinction of being the only advertising artist ever born in captivity, I was asked to develop a trade mark.

First Design Rejected

"I first submitted a design, using in a lettered monogram the caduceus of Mercury as typifying the General Electric Company's place in matters electrical, accompanying my sketch with the explanation of its application—that the rod or staff denotes 'power of authority,' the serpents 'wisdom,' and the two wings 'diligence and activity,' all of which the General Electric Company could claim. It was given careful consideration, with the final decision, however, that this symbol could be, and might already be, used by other business organizations in other lines, and that something distinctively 'General Electric' that could not conflict with any other trade mark, would be desirable. So I was asked to try again.

"I was given no suggestions as to what to use, and it was left entirely to me. Being one of those eternally busy General Electric men, I could find no time at the office to devote to the trade mark matter, and it was delayed until I took it home one night to dispose of it. It did not take long, however, to develop it, for the idea came to me in a flash. And this is how:

Written to Music

"About eight years before that time, I lived in Zanesville, Ohio, where I knew most pleasantly a Mr. G. E. Gebest, who had been a circus band master, and who later settled there and became the orchestra leader at the theater. One day he brought me a new violin bag, and asked me to put his initials, G.E.G., on the bag in order that he might have it worked in silk. So with a piece of chalk I wrote on the bag—which pleased him very much. And so it transpired that when I took up this trade mark matter, I unconsciously and in my everyday handwriting wrote the initials and was immediately reminded of that similar monogram that I had made years before. So I swept a ring around it in a single stroke—

and it looked good to me.

"If Mr. Charles Gebest (the son of G. E.), who has been for many years the musical wizard of the George M. Cohan theatrical productions, has ever noticed the similarity between the monogram of the General Electric Company on the electric fan above his desk, and the monogram on his late father's violin bag, he will know how it happened, should this ever come to his attention."

The U. S. Air Force is testing new telephoto lens by which it hopes to get aerial intelligence photos made from eight miles straight up. At that height, planes cannot even be seen from the ground.

Pretty Time Clerk Gets Thrills & Spills Driving Hot Stock Cars

When the announcer calls, "Come on, gals, let's roll 'em over," at stock car race tracks in northern Indiana, G-E employe Mary Ellen Owen, Bldg. 19-5, eagerly dons a crash helmet ready for anything.

Mary Ellen's love for racing began about two years ago at a local speedway, where she and her husband Bill, of the Apprentice School, were attending races. When the voice over the loudspeaker announced the ladies' event, Mary Ellen ran down to the pits to see about getting into the race. "Just borrow a car and get going," the announcer told her. She came in second in that first attempt and has been a stock car driver ever since.

She remembers very well the day she rolled over. It was a bad day from start to finish for her. At first, she couldn't find the starter, then after a few laps, she "threw the rods through the pan" and rolled over. "It didn't bother me much," throttle-happy Mary Ellen said, "It happens so fast." She recalls that, just for a second, she realized she was upside down.

Free Mud Baths

But, according to G-E's only feminine racer, rolling over isn't half so bad as driving full speed through mud puddles with no floorboard in the car. During another exciting moment, she was overcome by gas when the manifold broke and exhaust fumes filled the car.

When she is track-bound, Mary Ellen is usually garbed in green slacks and an orange sailor cap. The color green is on most drivers' taboo lists, since it is traditionally considered bad luck. The superstition doesn't bother Mary Ellen much, but she admits there may be some truth in it since she has yet to win a race.

ON THE JOB 30 YEARS—Ralph Shaffer (second from right), an electrician in Bldg. 20-1, is shown starting his 31st year on the job at G-E. Watching Mr. Shaffer while he puts the finishing touches on a test set he has built are (l-r) Harold Axe, Harold Werst and William Lewis.

Everyone took advantage of the warm weather. The girls were decked out in their cottons, and even some of the guys. George Houser sported a black and yellow shirt and matching yellow shoes. The gals are not to be outdone, however. Sheila Juillerat wore a darling chartreuse dress embroidered in black and white ballerinas. Eleanor Stoll strutted a pert little green and white check. . . . The heat made Dick Koop a little soft, but not in the head. He purchased a foam rubber cushion to sit on. . . . Paul Ohnesorge tried to make things a little warm for Mollie Hile. They were in line for their dinner, and he accidentally spilled some coffee on her. . . . Things are turning all topsy-turvy. Ed Ellenburg took a desk next to Hank Lantz in hopes Hank would be a good influence. Instead, Ed is the influence and it's all bad. Next thing we know, Hank will back the top off of his red car. . . . We received a letter from Les Hahn. He's getting along just fine. He wants Norma Arnold to wait for him. Les expects to be home on leave in about three months. Upon arriving at the station, the boys were met by a band and a welcoming committee. It was all so exciting until they had to walk two miles to their barracks.

EARNS PATENT—M. W. Sims has recently been granted his fifth patent on a gap bridging lamination invention for noise reduction in magnetic structures. Mr. Sims is designing engineer of the Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions.

Paul Peterson and Dorsey Merchant were discussing the "good old days" when they used to work. No one in Bldg. 26-4 can remember when they ever worked. . . . Otto Braun has quit complaining about higher taxes since he learned they were going to name a new aircraft carrier after him. . . . We see that Carolyn Bannet is riding in a DeSoto instead of a Chevrolet. . . . Bea and Henry went to see the double-header at Cincinnati last week-end. . . . Congratulations to Dorothy Woods and Harold Fletcher, who were married last Saturday night. . . . If anyone wants to buy a good home, see Ed Englert. He

BIG G-E CLUB PICNIC—JULY 21ST—KEEP THE DATE OPEN! WATCH THE NEWS AND THE BULLETIN BOARDS FOR FURTHER DETAILS. . . . Charlene Evans took the middle aisle trek Saturday, May 26. Charlene, we sincerely hope you have a wonderful married life and all the things that go with it. We will sure miss you and hope you come back to visit us. . . . Ruth Temple and Eileen Davis are the new girls working for Mr. McDougal. For Mr. Patrick, we have Betty Patch, Wava Fox and Lorraine Allen. Dave Sheets is the new fellow in the stockkeepers' group. Hi, folks! Be seeing you around. . . . I talked with Cleva Weaver and Virginia Diehl the other day. They say they are getting along fine on the day shift, but I guess they miss the old gang. Whenever you girls are tired of the day shift, come back. . . . Mabel Eyanson is still on sick leave. . . . Rose Miller has returned to work after several weeks of illness. Rose has become a proud grandmother of a baby girl. Congrats, Rose! . . . Some changes have been made. Jerry Gehrig, who has been working days in Bldg. 2, has transferred to the third trick in Bldg. 1, Ronald Ballard has changed from third trick over to days in Bldg. 2. . . . Birthday greetings to Mary Fennig. Sorry we didn't hear about it in time for your birthday. . . . "Oh, oh, these cabins belong to members of the House of David and I won't stay there." Wonder why Betty Reichart changed her mind and drove several miles to another cabin? Would you mind telling us what changed your mind about those attractive cabins, Betty? . . . As the old adage has it, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." So the salt and pepper shakers which Marcia lost or misplaced should rate very high in her affections by this time. "Now what can be in that sack?" asked Ada. The sack was one which she had removed from the car about 10 days before and had placed on the shelf along with several others. The lost shakers were at last discovered. It seems as though Marcia and Ada are comparing notes on forgetfulness. . . . A new hobby has added to Tye Frye's enjoyment on vacation trips. She now collects rose bushes. In a year or so, this should be a very lovely hobby, one that adds much to the attractiveness of a home. Don't forget that when your roses are blooming, Tye, we would like to see some samples. . . . Vacation days are here. Henry Krueckeberg took advantage of the Memorial Day vacation to get in an extra day in his vacation. Mina Lampy is very busy taking care of the line in Henry's absence. She is in such a rush that she claims to have lost something, but we haven't found out what. . . . Can anyone give a tried and true method for keeping your thermos bottle from the sad fate of always being left in somebody's car? Give all suggestions to Marcia Martin. . . . Wonder why they call Hilda Staley the Zesto Kid? Hilda, we suggest taking a freezer along to hold your favorite food when you go on a vacation trip. It would save many a disappointment. . . . Mary Ann Laurent is an aunt of a bouncing baby boy. By the way, this is Mary Ann's first nephew. . . . Hello to Bert Strickler, who came in on days from the second shift. . . . Monday morning Margaret Waltke looked as though she was blushing constantly, but it was only the strawberry rash. . . . Max Case returned to work after a few days of illness. . . . Agnes Nesswald is very busy these days as a gardener and from all reports she has a very neat little plot of lettuce, radishes, tomatoes, and cabbage. Her only pet peeve, while she is working so ardently, is her neighbor, Ezra, who sits on the other side of the fence and asks, "How are you doing, Agnes?" . . . Crayton Grubb and Martha Mazelin were married Sunday, May 27, at her home, by Rev. Milo Nussbaum, a nephew of the bride. . . . Our sincere sympathy to Frank Braun upon the death of his father, Fred Braun, who was a retired G-E employe. Fred was a former foreman over the Yard Group.

We are certainly having an epidemic of changing faces in our office recently. George Denner left us to go to Bldg. 4-6. Robert Brake has taken his place in the Raw Material Order Section. Pat Morey is leaving the Cost Section today to become a fulltime housewife, and Jeanne Harmes is taking a new job in Transformer. Eileen Goehringer is taking Jeanne's place, and Barbara Crouch has joined us from Regional Warehouse. Carl Scott has come into the office from the floor to join the Planning Section. We wish all of these people good luck on their new jobs and welcome the new people. . . . Have you seen Charlie (Clark) Gable and his new mustache? He now has a full two weeks' growth and if you look close you can see that it is a mustache and that he hasn't forgotten to wash his upper lip. The only trouble is that it is so light and SO red. We have all offered suggestions as to how we could help darken it, but he still insists that it will get darker and if it doesn't, there is always Tintaire. What we are really waiting for is for Gordon Smith to carry out his threat to take Charlie down and shave off half of this new mustache and dye the other half black. . . . Pat Morey, Ann Smith and their husbands are going to Chicago this week-end to see South Pacific, and to do a little shopping and sightseeing. . . . Ed Schotter is very proud of the tool kit sent to him by his son in Germany. It was a complete set all in one handle. . . . Frank Peternell is wondering just what kind of a garden he is going to have this year. Pete had worked very hard to get the garden planted early, keep the rows straight and the vegetables and flowers separated. His son, thinking he was being helpful, came in the other evening and said, "Well, dad, I fixed your garden for you." He had hoed all the rows together not knowing that his dad had spent many long hours on his knees planting that garden. The Peternells are now anxious for things to start growing to see if the carrots come up with lettuce tops or the spinach has ears of corn. Who knows, they may have something new in gardens. . . . Alma Witte is going to have to be more careful or Melrose Bryson and the rest of her neighbors are going to start complaining. The other evening Alma went to bed rather early, and when her aunt came home, everything was locked up tight. So after getting all the neighbors awake, she finally managed to get Alma to hear her. . . . Guy Chambers is leaving us today. He is being called back into the Army. That is, he will get to camp providing he is able to get his new Chevrolet fixed. We do hate to see you leave, but we wish you a lot of luck. And don't forget to come back and see us when you get back to Fort Wayne.

Welcome, Eda Conn, to the group. Also welcome back to Maxine DiGregory who has been on the sick list for quite some time. Glad to see you back, Max. . . . Mary Noll has left us for Bldg. 17-3, and Joyce Druce is leaving, too. Good luck, girls. . . . Reggie's mysterious friend is still mysterious. . . . Was Martha Scott's face red when she took a nose-dive from the chair to the floor. She wasted no time in getting to her tootsies again. . . . Have you seen our yodeling cowgirl? She is Delores Johnston, complete with duds with the exception of the lasso. . . . What was Ann Rohlfing blushing about? Anyone interested, see Ann. . . . Sorry to hear Marie Johnson's boy met with an automobile accident, but glad to report he or none of the parties were injured. . . . We hear Evaline Best took the last doughnut because she needed the weight. . . . Angie Mello has spring fever. . . . "Muscles" Norris must have been musclebound, as he couldn't hold up a little tray of coils, not even with Jo Lee's help. . . . My apologies to Earl Stauffer for giving out the wrong information. It even surprised Earl, not mentioning anybody else. . . . We never know who is going to win the race between Delores Johnston and Eleanor Hoffman answering the telephone. . . . Wish a speedy recovery to Rosemary Diem, who is home after an operation. Hope to see you back soon, Rosemary. . . . The storm is over and Helen Thieme is singing like a lark. . . . When Jo Lee Zimmerman gets wound up, you want to be on guard, as you never know what to expect next. And she is so sincere about it all.

Have you noticed the roofs and walls bulging at the Elwonger's house lately? After having a picnic for 19 adults and 16 children on a rainy day, Earl has decided never again to invite so many people. Thirty is plenty and probably too many unless one uses sky hooks. . . . Charlie Brown almost knocked himself out having a good time. He forgot to pull in his head going down the stairway. . . . A week of rest and relaxation, or anyway a week of doing just what they please, is in store next week for Dean Shaffer, Wayne Bergman, Elaine Holmes, Bill Purman and Warren Brighty. . . . Erv Aumann and his wife left last week by train for a tour of the West. Starting out to St. Louis the Aumanns visited the southern states and are taking in the Grand Canyon and Mexico on their way to California. After touring Los Angeles, San Francisco and other popular sites in California, they will go to Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash. Then taking the steamer from Puget Sound, the Aumanns will see Victoria. Back in Seattle again, they will come home by way of the northern states to Chicago.

"WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH THE MONEY IF YOU RECEIVED A $1,000 SUGGESTION AWARD?"

JOHN A. CROCKER

Bldg. 8-1

"I'd be tempted to contribute it to a fund for a farewell party for Dean Acheson—if he would say farewell—but I'd more likely use the biggest share to make a substantial payment on an existing FHA home loan. With the balance I'd put new tires on the Ford and take the family for a vacation."

HELEN G. STALEY

Bldg. 19-1

"If I received a General Electric Suggestion Award of $1,000, I would apply the amount on our home."

AVON L. MOREY

"If I should win a $1,000 suggestion award, I believe I would give some to church or welfare. Then I would buy some much needed things in the home and make some repairs. If there should be anything left, I guess I would put it in the bank to add to a nest egg."

WAYNE D. BRICKLEY

Bldg. 26-1

"After receiving a $1,000 award, I would consider putting the money in a good investment such as real estate, bonds, or a trust fund so as to insure a college education for my three-year-old son."

"Due to the present world conditions, I would invest the money in defense bonds."

G-E DEATHS

Rites Held Tuesday For Maynard Norris

dies in Roanoke

Services were held Tuesday for Maynard G. Norris, 63, who died at his residence in Roanoke at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, May 26.

Mr. Norris joined the General Electric Company in 1910 as a draftsman in Bldg. 18-5. He subsequently served as section head of drafting in Bldg. 4-6, and, at the time of his retirement in 1947, was serving as supervisor of Drafting in Bldg. 4-6.

Surviving are his widow, Edna; two sons, John M. and Richard H., of Roanoke; two grandchildren; two brothers, Everett M., of Culver, and Marvin, of Fort Wayne.

Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

William Black Dies After Long Illness

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Marquart Funeral Home in Monroeville for William Black, 57, who died at 12:3[illegible] a.m. Saturday, May 26, at his home there.

He had been employed in Bldg. 19-3 from January of this year until he left the company for illness a month later.

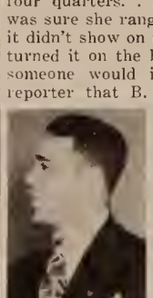
His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Gladys Black; two sons, Robert L., Fort Wayne, and Stanley F., of Bakersfield, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Ella Belle Shimack, Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Virginia Rhode, of Bakersfield; two brothers, Elzy Black and A. Dee Black, of Monroeville, and five grandchildren.

The Rev. William Bushee officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in the Monroeville IOOF Cemetery.

Fred Braun, 83, Dies At Decatur Residence

Fred Braun, 83, retired Decatur employe, died at his home there at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 24. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Braun was engaged as a yard foreman in 1920 and retired in 1938.



He is survived by his widow, Mary, and a son, Frank, both of Decatur.

Don Huffman went home last Friday all tired out after repiling Paul Noffze's books. Don says, "Paul should have smooth sailing for the next few days." . . . Fred Thieme sure was disappointed when he had to work last Saturday. He had made plans to spend the day at his favorite spot up the river where he always gets the big ones. . . . Russell Akers was very upset the other day when his neighbor kept his radio on loud and late which prevented him from getting his sleep. He said he wouldn't have cared so much if the man had had television. . . . Al Campton says, "When a man gets as fat as Al Ragan he has to whistle at the girls to get their attention." . . . Melvin Lykauff should have his return engagement with Reuben Dewart before the weather gets too hot. We don't think either one could take it.

Ruth Mutton was kidding Alma Merwin about saving five cents on her lunch ticket. Ruth ended up by borrowing lunch money from Alma because she forgot her billfold. . . . Dorotha Ramsey had a brother who is in the Army visit the floor last week. . . . Esther Johnson locked her purse and all her keys in her locker the other day—what happened? They borrowed a man with a saw. . . . The Test Section can boast that they have a modern "Caruso." You should have heard Ralph (The Crooner) Lee one night. . . . Our good friend, Elmer Harshman, went bargain hunting again. This time it was for shoes. They didn't have a 5½ (men's size, that is), so he went ahead and bought two pairs of chi'dren's size. He got them both for the price of one. . . . Delores Gladbach used to sing "Don't Fence Me In." Now it is "I'm Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage." . . . You wouldn't guess that Betty T. would be a harmonica player. Neither did she! . . . Our deepest sympathy to Evelyn Partee in the death of her niece. . . . Bob Kerr, do you know there is a five-inch limit on bluegills? . . . Thelma Purdue had her electric alarm clock in the repair store three weeks. She got it back Wednesday. Thursday morning the alarm didn't go off, and she arrived at work about 9 a.m. . . . Fred Sarasien says he is the only one on the floor who can put a dollar bill in the coke machine and get back four quarters. . . . Jackie Keller was sure she rang in one noon, but it didn't show on the card until she turned it on the back. . . . "I wish someone would inform our news reporter that B. T. gets tired of seeing P. V.'s name appearing in this column. Let's give them all a break." Signed, Pondo. Open letter to Pondo from your reporter: "In due respect to your request, Pondo, of having your name kept out of the column, I shall do so (for awhile). But I think it only fair, since so many have asked, 'Who is Pondo,' to publish this snap of you. I'm sure you won't mind since so many of your friends are interested in seeing you." . . . Congratulations to Betty Thompson for her $25 suggestion. . . . Spring weather and summer clothes have Art Bobay in a daze. . . . Birthday greetings to Virginia McCoy and Alice Flaugh. . . . DAY OR NIGHT. Charley Siders tells us that he was so dog tired one afternoon after working all day, that immediately upon arriving home he laid down to take a snooze. About 7:30 he awoke and said to himself, "If I don't hurry, I'll be late for work." Charley, who lives way out in the southeast part of town, did all the hurrying he could to catch a bus. Upon arriving at Pontiac and Calhoun Sts., he noticed all the lights on at the Rialto Theater and said to the bus driver, "Since when do theaters turn on their lights so early in the morning?" When the bus driver informed Charley that it was evening and not morning, our Charley gave a big sigh of relief to know that he was not going to be late for work. At least, that's the way he tells the story. . . . COW LICKED CARL (SNUFFY) JUNK went fishing. When the fish didn't go for Carl's lure, he desided to stop fishing for a while and lay in the shade of the old apple tree. Naturally, Snuffy fell asleep and was only awakened by the hot tongue of a cow who was licking the perspiration from his face all the way from his Adams Apple to the top of his bald head. No doubt, the cow thought she saw salt coming out of Snuffy's skin. Be that as it may, Snuffy tells us that when he looked in the cow's face, it looked as big as an elephant. White or pink, Snuffy? . . . MADE

A VISIT. Leo Edward went to visit Elmer Hamilton, who has been convalescing after a recent operation. Elmer has a dog and Leo tried to make up with it. However, the dog had a different idea. Result? Dog took bite out of Leo's trousers which left him in a very embarrassing situation. Need we say more? . . . Earl Gebert, Bldg. 12-3 and his wife visited their son, Dick, and his family at San Diego, Calif., for two weeks. Above is a picture of Dick taken in Balboa Park. That is Dick on the left.

Here's a fact which may surprise a lot of younger employes: America's unions have five times as many members today as they had only 18 years ago.

Lois (Maude) DeBolt has a rooster that causes Al Coxon a lot of worries. . . . Frank Obringer was quite disturbed to find that a "large" city like Milwaukee was on different time than Fort Wayne. . . . Jim McGill is having trouble with his ball team. It isn't winning like he thinks it should. Raney doesn't care because Jim usually pays off his bets.

WITH G-E 35 YEARS—Leo Vachon, (third from right) celebrated his 35th G-E anniversary Thursday, May 24. Shown are several of his co-workers in Bldg. 26-1 who gathered to offer their congratulations. They are (l-r) W. H. Crouse, Ralph Braden, Gerald Norwald, Al Topp, Mr. Vachon, Archie Rian and Paul Peterson.

Decatur G-E Firemen Hold Fire Fighting School

Volunteer Flame Eaters Receive "The Word" from Chief Hanauer

by Fire Chief E. M. Hanauer

Thirty-eight Decatur G-E volunteer firemen attended a six-hour course in fire prevention and fire fighting May 15-16-17 in Decatur.

An indoor meeting was held the first day to acquaint the fire-fighters with various extinguishers and their proper application. Demonstrations of special hazards, explosions, and flammable liquids and solids were also on the May 15 agenda.

The second session consisted of hose laying and connections and proper application of salvage covers. On the third day, firemen worked with fires from six to 98 sq. ft., using all kinds of extinguishers to learn their correct application for various fire types. On large fires, combination fog applicators and dry chemical hand extinguishers were used.

Learn by Doing

Each fireman extinguished two to four small fires with first-aid extinguishers.

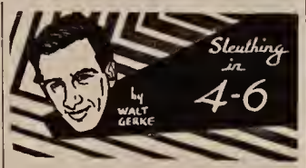
Guests at the demonstrations on the last day were Decatur Mayor John M. Doan, Decatur Fire Chief Cedric Fisher, C. I. Finlayson, manager of the Central Soya Co., C. P. Underwood, Central Soya fire chief, and A. R. Holthouse, editor of the Decatur Daily-Democrat.

Ray Shackley was in charge of arrangements and G-E Fire Chief E. M. Hanauer conducted the school.

FIRE TAMERS—Decatur firemen spent three days, May 15-16-17, learning techniques of fire control during the plant's first fire class this month. In the top photograph, firemen are shown playing water on a 98 sq. ft. fire of oil, oleum and gasoline. In the center, firemen are hooking up fog applicators in the hose-laying course. In the bottom photograph volunteer firemen demonstrate the proper use of salvage covers during a fire.

GYPSIES AT HEART: Have you noticed Barbara O'Connor and Rosalyn Cameron of Bldg. 18-1? They both had a very piercing experience. Last week they bravely trekked to a doctor's office and emerged wearing some very attractive new earrings. Now! that sounds very simple—but, oh the trials and tribulations! Rosalyn required the use of three drugs to stop the hemorrhaging, and of all things, they had to pierce Barbara's ears twice. (Guess they needed a G-E draftsman to prepare a diagram with "X" marking the spot). Anyway, vanity is now appeased, and they are just a couple of gypsies at heart. . . . The newly-acquired beauty of earrings worn with piereed ears is not the only excitement in Rosalyn's heart. Mixed in is the happy anticipation of a new Buick due this week-end. . . . EXCITING DAYS: Loren Hill, the Bldg. 18 messenger, came in all beams and thrills. It seems that the one and only girl in his life (Grace Taylor) said "yes," and the eventful day will be announced later. Life can be so wonderful. . . . Now that the 30-minute lunch period is just a matter of habit now—what WILL we talk about? . . . TIME TRIALS: Last week Pay Roll was well represented at the time trials in Indianapolis, Nila Hansen and Julia Ray, with their husbands and Marrinell Bosselman and a friend, were there clocking every lap. The sun was a little warm there, too. . . . Thelma Stone was the living example of what happens when you spend too much time out in the sun. She served with Elex at the Truck Rodeo. . . . GOODBY: Doris Conroy is temporarily away from her duties in the Accounting Section due to the illness of her mother. Glenna Arnold is also leaving Accounting Section. She will teach music this summer and continue her musical education this winter. She has been replaced by Carold Kryder. . . . Venus Fann, Bldg. 18-4, is attending Delta Sigma Kappa's convention at Columbus, O., as a delegate of Iota Chapter. . . . J. Fred Andrews is attending the Methodist Conference held at Anderson, Ind., this week. . . . Betty Eisenacher took in the Memorial Day Races at Indianapolis. She attended the trial runs also to keep her ability to pick a winner up to par. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY, May 27, to Delores Carter. . . . SORRY: Florence Badger's new address is 1837 W. State. We told you last week it was 1437. . . . Ab Martin's romance with his new power mower was all washed up over the week-end. They parted company suddenly Saturday. Ab was proudly marching behind the mower on its trial run, cutting the grass around the edge of his pond. A moment later he was still proudly marching—but not behind the mower. In a sudden flight of fancy, the new-fangled machine took a suicide leap into the middle of the lake. Ab's Texas-training soon proved its worth. With the help of the children's jumping rope, he lassoed the handle ends which were still above water. Then all five Martins put their shoulders to the rope to haul out the wayward mower. "Funniest thing that ever happened to me," Ab says. "Pop was better with a lasso than 'Poppy'" said the delighted little Martins.

RECEIVING: Joe Rygowski hurried like mad to be first in line to ring out, the other night, but the fellows at the end of the line met him coming back as they were leaving. It seems that Joe's car starts easier if he has his car keys with him. . . . Ruth Schroeder is back from her vacation. Dewayne Freshwater will have a tough time explaining why he used her nail polish while she was gone. . . . Marie Renz is in the market for a pair of blue jeans. Marie is on vacation this week and that will be her attire while she cleans house. . . . Dorothy Ehernman was called home because of the illness of her mother. It is not known at the present time when she will return. . . . Notice! To everyone who was in the vicinity of Bldg. 6-1 last Friday afternoon and heard the horrible shricks and piercing screams. There was no murder committed. An innocent little bat was trying vainly to get out of the office. Everyone within the radius of a city block came to the rescue. The man who actually caught the attacker was "Fearless Bill Brown." . . . MAILING: Welcome, Arthur Rodgers. . . . Jack Stoody, former employee, dropped a line to the office to state that he now is located in Oceanside, Calif. . . . Robert Haughan is looking forward to the coming week. Last week of school, no more books, no more school. . . . SHIPPING: The O-O-Ohs and A-A-Ahs were over how Uncle Sam has streamlined Bob Gebert during his stay in the Army at Fort Meade, Md. Bob surprised the gang with a short visit last Friday. . . . Congratulations to Carl Wagoner for proving what a marvelous truck driver he really is by winning first in the straight truck driving class.



NEW SUGGESTION COMMITTEE—Shown (l-r) are members of the Central Suggestion Committee, F. D. Schafenacker, Taylor St., R. C. Meyer, Bldg. 18-1, A. C. Hartman, chairman-secretary, and M. O. Marsh. Mr. Marsh, assistant to the STAB Manager of Engineering, and Mr. Meyer, cost supervisor for Works Service Divisions, have recently been named to the Central Committee. The committee meets weekly to formulate policies and to serve as a "supreme court" on questions arising from various subcommittees.

Top Floor didn't turn out so well for the last skating party. Only myself and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson showed up. The Petersons were sitting in the front row of the spectators' seats, and Mr. Peterson commented, "This is as close to skating as I am going to get!" . . . Al Miller has returned to work after a two-weeks' sickness. . . . Val Sitcler called in and reported she had fallen from a ladder and cracked four ribs. . . . Cleota Stallbaum has returned after five and one-half months' illness. . . . Walt Mertz, Howard Shipman and Dick Pierce take their golf seriously. They came home looking like wet dish rags after playing in the rain. . . . Did you know that Jane Maloney is on the G-E ball team? . . . Paul Haffner can sure make a smell around here when he burns up a transformer. . . . Greetings to our new employes: Becky Wagner, Bob Seigel, Lucille Ramm, Christina Helms, Dorothy Hart, Esther Walker, Pauline Cunningham, Rose Higgins, Bonnie Wilt, Joan Ott, Judy Goff, Jan Miller, Charlie Hobbs, George Castle and Gene Brueck. . . . Benny Cahn didn't lose the shirt off his back, but he lost part of his pants. Benny had to take a quick stitch amidst the razzing of his co-workers. . . . Congratulations to Jack Baumgartner, who recently became the proud father of a baby girl. . . . Nona Hedges and Garnet Borne returned from the trials in Indianapolis. The gals are still in good shape after the trip. . . . Pat McLaughlin managed to get back to work after spending her honeymoon in Florida. . . . If things work out right, Gene Mettler should be Indiana's next "Potato King." What's all this stuff about ratios, Gene? . . . Mary Wasson wishes to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the sympathy extended her in her recent bereavement. . . . Delmer Grotian believes in good housekeeping. Delmer asked one gal to sweep his place out, who had already done so. But eagle-eye Grotian spied one piece of tape she had overlooked. . . . According to Harold Niemeyer, there are more interesting things at the MBA meetings than the business at hand. . . . Blanche McDonald claims she's going crazy looking through the fence in front of her bench. . . . Les Baker has volunteered under pressure to be the news reporter for the test and inspection. . . . I don't think Jane Maloney will make any more comments at future potlucks in regards to "who baked that lousy cake." . . . Today we say, "So long, it's been good to work with you," to Bobbie Shaw, who is leaving us to devote more time to her home life.

Usually when a fellow says, "Well, to make a long story short," it's too late.

MAY SHOWERS: "Moose" Foltz looked like a cub bear trying to carry an armful of shelled corn when those file folders showered on him from a top shelf. . . . WHERE IS IT? The open windows between AC and Developmental make it confusing for Dottie Brubaker to answer a phone. She answered Dwight Willits' phone, but it continued to ring, and no wonder, because the guilty phone was on the other side of the wall. . . . DIGGING OUT: After the dust agitators left the offices covered with fractions of an inch of dust, it was like old home week to Ruth Burris. She has seen the effects of Kansas dust storms many times. . . . LIKEABLE SHORT NOON HOURS: Ray Jones was seen leaving the plant the other day with two lunch baskets. My, what a capacity! Can you explain that one? From the looks of things, Ray thoroughly enjoys his short noon hours. It even allows him a short (almost horizontal) siesta before the afternoon hours. He leans backwards in his chair, head on desk and feet on a chair, handkerchief over his eyes and really snores (poor Mrs. Jones). Anybody got a pillow for his head? . . . A NEW SLANT: A good way to get out of paying your lunch check is to just leave your ticket on the tray when you send it down the conveyor. Ask Ernie Hicks, he is an expert at this. He claims he found the tray back in the kitchen and paid for his lunch, tch, tch. Conscientious, isn't he? . . . QUICKIE: Bob Wilch pulled a "quickie" on us last Friday and announced it was his last day. He has accepted employment in Detroit. Good luck to you, Bob. . . . OPERATION TONSILS: Phyllis Faulkner had a round with a tonsillectomy last Friday. We hope, Phyl, that by the time you read this, you will be all back to normal again and feeling much better without those nasty old tonsils. . . . CONGRATS: Happy Birthday to H. P. Love today. . . . STILL TIME: Harry Gebfert has proven that you can do downtown, cash a check, make a purchase, and be back to work all within the one-half hour lunch period. He did it last Friday. How did you manage to get a bite to eat, though, Harry? . . . WELCOME: To Betty Quine, who is a new member of the Sales Division, formerly with Sales at Taylor St. . . . BYE, BYE: Mary Strenio is leaving the Developmental Division to take up her duties as a housewife.

By Don Clark

All the boys in Die Repair are wondering who will take care of Ross Cohagen's cat June 18. . . . That happy look on Pete Carmony's face comes from passing another milestone marked "birthday." . . . Two little mice kept Betty Strong from entering the drawing vault until she caught the little fellers—with a trap, of course. . . . We will miss Bernie English, who has exchanged positions with Herschel Odier. We hope you like it here, Herschel. . . . Henry Gerdom is the envy of all the teen-agers in his neighborhood since he bought that new hard-top convertible. . . . It seems that someone posted a pin-up picture at Russell Sage's place of work. It didn't last long when Russell came back with our powder-puffer. . . . Will Harold Hoffman ever learn he can't run over a Chevy even with a Pontiac? That ruined fender will help him to remember. . . . After John Roemer failed to show up for work last Wednesday morning, we think the boys were unfair. They called him "Bingo John." . . . Since LeRoy Paulson made that hurried trip home the other morning, he is planning on writing a book. The title is "Is This Trip Necessary and How to Avoid It." . . . It's reported that several fellows are taking lessons in plastic surgery or face lifting. In recent weeks, Glenn Ramsey was a student. Now we learn Al DeVaux and Mart Walsh are honor students. (To those who do not know, face lifting is tool room slang for merely bashing ones face in.) . . . We saw a red fluorescent tie walking down Main St. last Monday evening. On closer observation, we discovered Lloyd Welbaum hiding behind it. . . . Dave Bartle gets attention in the news this week. He was the first one to show up with a classy straw hat. . . . Some of the boys have been receiving letters from Ron Aleen, who is now stationed at Sparta, Wis. Good luck, Ron. . . . Jack Schemehorn's "Droopy Drawers" swing band has been practicing for his nephew's wedding reception tomorrow. Herb Mennewisch is the old master on the keyboard with Jack on or under the bass fiddle. Jack had been practicing every night on the bass fiddle until the neighbors began complaining about all the windows rattling and dishes breaking. . . . Jimmy Mattes won our Dagwood sandwich championship. His sandwich was so thick he was seen down at the arbor press squeezing it together so he could get his mouth over it. . . . Rumor has it that Walter Greiner has a lot of liquid refreshment on ice. We expect Glenn Ramsey and Mart Walsh to start planning another party. . . . Kurt Martin changed a recent informative meeting into a safety meeting by demanding a signal light at College and Wall Sts. Kurt says, "Dem crazy driver, by golly, I can't get across da street." . . . Henry Sandkuhler is sending out a distress call for a G-E farmer to plow his garden. Hank claims he has dishwater hands and can't risk spading it by hand.

Remember the horse—that draft, riding, carriage and show animal which used to be common all over the U. S. in every pasture, town and city? Today, such is the advance and spread of our way of doing things, there are twice as many trucks and automobiles in our land as there ever were horses.

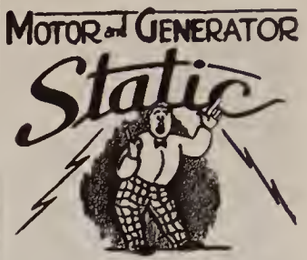
No, it can't be that after four enjoyable years we shall soon be missing Joe Zasa's presence in Sales. I'm sure his good work, gay sense of humor and enchanting accordion music will be missed by all. We all wish Joe, his wife, and his son Bobby the best of luck and happiness with his new job in the Appliance Control Division, Commercial Section, Schenectady. Come back and see us, Joe. . . . The Western Union boy sang Happy Birthdays to Mae Bain, Production, May 24; Joan Crowell, Sales, May 28, and to Mary Kay Hostetler, Purchasing, on May 17. Best wishes and may you all have many more. . . . Congrats to Frank Stenberg of Sales and his wife on the arrival of their baby daughter. Remember Gene Rezabeck, formerly of Sales? His wife presented him with a baby girl, too. . . . Pat Brueggeman, Sales, and hubby Jack have come through their first year of married life with flying colors. Congratulations and best of luck in the future. . . . If any of you are interested in getting your head scratched, see Rog Fuller in Sales for details. . . . BACHELOR'S LAMENT: Arnie Bowers, Accounting, can start eating again. His wife and son will be back from Florida this month. . . . SHE'S LOVELY, SHE USES POND'S: Jean Stitz, Accounting, is all enthused over a beautiful engagement ring she received last week. The day after she received her ring she was two hours late for work. It's possible she forgot to set her alarm. . . . Memorial Day wasn't too exciting for some. Instead it was full of work. Evelyn Campbell, Betty Harrison, and Katie Walper washed windows and mowed lawns. Meade Waugh had a different idea about celebrating. He started the day by watching the usual parade, then a drive out to the cemetery, then a nice picnic by some quiet stream. Louise Goudy had a boat that needed painting, and also did some fishing. Donna Bauermeister and Barb Meyer of Production went to Pokagon with the Toast-Mistress Club. Of course, Barb had the dentist's approval to be around the lake, for she has just had some teeth pulled. Mary Rogers had a family party at Lake George. Mae Bain just couldn't wait to go swimming. . . . Pat Brueggeman finally had some time to do all the cleaning she's been talking about. . . . Hearty welcome to Jean Walter, who is in Customer Billing, and to Carmen Sordelet in Production. Carmen transferred from Regional Warehouse. Hope you both enjoy your new jobs with us. In gaining two new people, we are also losing two, which makes us sad. It's "so long for now" to Allis Brown and Norene Roth, both in Customers Billing. Good luck in housekeeping, you two, and don't forget your friends here at T. S. . . . Congratulations to Virginia Beck, of Production, who just graduated from Leo High School. . . . Casey Stengle's Yankees have nothing over Sales' Dean Burgermeister's Test Engineers. Dean got quite a few grey hairs when the TE's played the Motor and Generators team. It was the last half of the last inning, and the M-G's were up to bat. The TE's led 18-5 when the M-G's rallied and made 10 runs in that inning. It gave everyone a scare, but the TE's came through.



John Bolivar Weber and Herschel Foreman are conducting a contest to see who can reduce the most within a period of three weeks. The one who loses the least poundage in the aforementioned period has to treat the winner and his family to a big chicken dinner. As the contest is rapidly nearing a close, it begins to look as if Herschel will he the winner. He looks positively anemic while Bolivar looks as sleek and fat as a well-fed porker. . . . Sam Allmandinger, whose years are rapidly nearing the 50 mark, is looking very pert these days. It seems that some young lady desiring some information from him addressed him as "boy." This made Sam feel pretty chesty. He seems to have lost that heavy drag in his step and bounds about like a spring lamb gambolling on the green. Looking at Sam, one is inclined to believe that if a lot of us oldtimers were addressed as "boy," it might put a lot more snap into us. . . . It must be catching. That is the fact that some people are absent-minded enough to lock their keys in the car with the motor left running. Last week it was Harold Koehlinger, who was found guilty. This week, it was Ward Grim, who did the very same thing. If it had not been for a cafeteria worker discovering the fact, Ward's engine, in all probability, would have run all day. . . . James Gambrell, desirious of raising a few hantam chickens, asked Lindsey Eastes if he would provide Jim with a start of the tiny poultry. Now, remember, Jim just wanted a few. Upon arriving at Lindsey's home one evening last week to pick them up, he really hit the jack pot. Lindsey, desiring to be rid of the little chicks, rounded them up, placing them in a crate which he presented to Jim. Upon his arrival, there were 35 chicks in all. "Quite a start," we would say.

is really in the business. . . . Leo Vachon has built up a nice record at G-E. He completed his 35th year. Congratulations. . . . Arthur Gallogley bought a new power lawn mower to lighten his chores. He let his grass grow so high around his lake cottage that he couldn't use it. He had to use a scythe. . . . Benny Keller has taken a week off to run his money bailer. . . . We fear that Connie Craig's boy friend must have kept her out too late Monday night. We didn't see her until Tuesday noon. . . . We wish Ginny Meier a speedy recovery from her recent surgery. She's feeling fine and would like to have some cards and callers. . . . Robert Waltke has left G-E and will be a salesman for Al Topp in his Canada Dry line. Good luck, Bob. . . . The fellows were happy to see Carl Lunn, who was home on leave from the Marines. . . . Happy birthday to Nancy Heiniger and thanks for the treat. . . . The famous last words of the division are, "Stock out." . . . Leatha Hey bought a new casting rod; and she was practicing out in the yard. She caught a cat instead of a fish. . . . Irma Bradtmiller went to Chicago last week-end to the ball game. Jeanette Kiger went to Detroit to see the roller derby. . . . Archie Rian's son, Dick, was here to visit us this week. He is home on "boot leave." . . . Lucille Quirk is back after being off on a sick leave. Beulah Smith also has just returned. Both girls are working on stacking. . . . Bob Motes is interested in starting a baseball team. Any fellow who might be interested is urged to contact Bob on extension 336 or come to the green room, Bldg. 26-4. The fellows also would like to have a sponsor. . . . The green room welcomes Charlene Myers, Lucy Keller, Talitha Stickler, Shirley Martin, Andy Bauman, Pat Hoffman and Bob Montes. The new girl on the bushing line is Marjorie German.

Thought for the Week—"Often a dash of judgment is better than a flash of genius."—Howard Newton THOUGHT STARTERS — National defense does not come in the large "economy" size. . . . The picture of health requires a happy frame of mind. . . . Most wives will listen to reason, but not the same one too often. . . . Don't let prosperity deceive you—the hog is fattest when he is taken to the butcher. . . . Nobody is ever too old to learn, but many people keep putting it off. . . . When children get on the wrong track it's time for parents to use the switch. . . . He spent so much that he had to marry her for his money. . . . If robins come, can fishing worms be far behind? . . . He was an excellent author, and his best fiction was his last income-tax return. . . . High brass is the only strategic metal not controlled in war. . . . Money talks, but it never gives itself away. . . . He told the boss he needed a raise and that three other companies were after him—gas, light, and telephone. . . . A safe driver needs a good head on his shoulders, but only one at a time. . . . REWARD—You have heard that old one about, "Casting bread upon waters." It seems Bud Weaver did a little casting last week. Being a generous soul, Bud gave Mr. Foley a ride home, and Ed was most profuse with his thanks and promises to do nice things for Bud. Then what happened? Ed published the story of Bud's "Horseshoe" activities and Mr. Weaver was most embarrassed. Now, Bud is doubtful of the reward you receive for "casting" and feels he must settle for, "Virtue being its own reward." . . . WON'T TALK—Speaking of Bud Weaver, when he read the story in our "News," he was heard to remark, "Next time I get anything or do anything, I won't say a word. You just make some remark, and 'Bang' there it is in print." . . . THAT IS—It seems Ed and Bud are usurping most of the column. The rest of us folks behave ourselves. Ed made a week-end trip to Cincinnati to attend a Cincinnati and Brooklyn baseball game. When he arrived, no tickets were available. He spent the day at Coney Island eating hot dogs and riding the merry-go round.

The more patient pedestrians, the fewer pedestrian patients.

JOINS 45-YEAR RANKS—William H. Weikart (second from left), Bldg. 4-6, has been with the company 45 years. He was guest of honor at an anniversary luncheon Tuesday, May 22, given by his G-E associates. Mr. Weikart is shown receiving a 45-year certificate signed by R. J. Cordiner, president of G-E, from R. C. Hanna (second from right). Looking on are F. J. Kissell (left) and L. L. Beam of Schenectady. Mr. Weikart began his G-E career in 1906 as a supply salesman in Bldg. 18-3. Since 1948, he has been Sales Manager of FHP Renewal Parts.

High Spots

by Marie Fox

The people in Bldg. 4-2 were especially pleased when they heard we were to have a spot in the WORKS NEWS. Your reporters hope you will stay that way. Meet our reporters who are Audrey Turney and Floyd Loraine, Sheet's Section; Barbara Yingling, Office; Francis Howell, Machine Shop, and Mildred Carpenter, Glusenkamp's Section. . . . We're kicking off with a couple birth announcements. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shultz. This makes Superintendent Siebold a grandpa again. Then there's a sweet baby girl for Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Brown. . . . Roy Christman is off work because of injuries received in an automobile accident. . . . Lou Pettit's better half is recovering from an operation in the St. Joe Hospital, Room 426. . . . People come and go all the time. We said goodbye to Janice Keller and sent her on her merry way with a pretty blanket and a thrill. . . . We extend a hand of welcome to night foreman, Bob Boyd, back from DeKalb and Bldg. 6-2. He says he feels at home already. . . . There's Janet Craim and Charlene Bly, who transferred from Taylor St. to our office. Elvira Ostermier is new in the factory and just out of high school near Decatur. Harold Devall is a new tester from Huntington. . . . Almost everybody knows Hilda Walda, but did you know she's a city farmer? She's been looking for her garden to come up for three weeks and no signs of it yet. It's her first farming experience. Maybe you forgot to plant the seed, Hilda. . . . Here is some food for thought, take it or leave it: "Personalities do not develop out of themselves. Instead they absorb something from each soul with which they come in contact, as a bee collects honey from a million flowers." . . . Someone suggested I might need a "ghost writer." That is one ghost I'd be happy to have by my side. Come out wherever you are, Mr. Ghost.

Did you know that Ralph (Digger) Craig has a casket finder? He is an officer of an organization to take care of the upkeep of a small cemetery near Roanoke. There was a burial last week, and since there are no tombstones, Digger Craig had trouble finding an unoccupied space. Arnold Landis finally came to his rescue. Wonder if Butch Vegalues helped; he is president. . . . Walt Siedel ordered some eggs and made arrangements to pick them up at one of the gates. His wife called and said he wouldn't be able to get them because he had sprained his ankle running after a fire truck. How job conscious can one get? . . . We are sorry to hear that Butch Vegalues was off sick for a few days. We heard from the outside contractors that they might be the cause of it. Butch gets worked up over the Truman-MacArthur deal. . . . I bet Ralph Storm won't be kidding Dressel and Myers about getting easy money anymore. His fun back-fired when he was included. . . . Roger Pierson has a new over-grown Ford. He must have been listening to Butch sing about the laurels of the Mercury. . . . Our deepest sympathy to John Lare on the recent death of his uncle. . . . Charlie Hartman was supposed to get oil May 30. I'll let you know next week if there is any news.

Ralph Gilbert received a small live pig for his birthday, and he was seen leading it around on a leash. The guys want to know when you are going to butcher him as they are getting hungry for roasted pork! . . . That bright light shining along the aisle is the diamond on Garnet Patrick's finger. She received a beautiful ring from Jim Grice, who is in the Navy. Congratulations, Garnet, and here's hoping you get the other one that goes with it soon. . . . Fred Castor and Everett Lindeman went fishing on Hogback Lake last Saturday. They got the limit in bluegills. Now Fred answers to the name of Bluegill. . . . Betty Kummer, Janice Egolf, Mattie Fancher and Emily Nierman are on the sick list. Hurry and get well, girls. . . . We hope that Cecil Foor's wife has a very speedy recovery from her operation. . . . Louie Dabis is going to spend his vacation this week cleaning house. . . . He is probably a little bit taller than the President, but Elmer Schnepp looks like Harry S. Truman! . . . We think John Willett got too close when they were shearing the sheep. Then maybe his wife got a new pair of scissors and wanted to try them out. In other words, he has all his hair cut off! . . . Willard Smith can't be beat. Buss Romary is still buying the cokes! . . . Howard Hamilton had the wind taken out of his sails when he had to fork out $40 to get his son back in circulation. He will drive too fast! . . . We wonder if Gus Rutz has a new shower stall, or is he just afraid of running water? . . . Floyd Steinbacher is on his vacation this week. . . . Here is a list of June birthdays: Donna Lindley, June 2; Helen Engle, 2; Frieda Knoche, 3; Janice Egolf, 3; Edith Schriener, 4; Francis Harter, 2; Veva Healy, 14; Maude Erhardt, 15; Lee Raver, 17; Elbert Niswonger, 21; Mary Nute, 24; Fred Couture, 25, and Geneva Worden, 28. . . . Lola Rowe spent last weekend in Cleveland attending the ball games. She also got a hair cut there. It sure is a long way to go to get your hair cut. . . . Congratulations to Modena Smith, who had a birthday last week. Violet Elliott entertained some of the girls in Modene's honor on Friday night. She received some lovely gifts from the girls. . . . Mary Warren and Flo Stricat aren't satisfied with working eight hours. They promptly went down the basement the other night instead of out the first floor door. . . . The girls in 1x50 had a farewell potluck for Paula Hurley, who quit last Friday. We all will miss her. We also say goodbye to Helen Thomley, who left us this week. Good luck, Helen; hope you like Toledo. . . . We are saying goodbye to Ruth Wilson, too. She is leaving to make her home in Dallas, Texas. . . . Christine Cormier painted all the walls in her apartment recently. No more painting for her for awhile. . . . Anna Ruth Clements paid us a visit last week. She really looked swell. Hope to see you again soon, Anna Ruth. . . . Carl Kinsey spilled all the trays the other day, and Max Herzog spilled the oil. Vacation time can't get here soon enough for them. . . . Congratulations to Mary Gerard, who became a proud aunt last week. . . . Ray Soest has a new job. It is finger painting. However, I think he is ready to give it up. . . . Helen White won two prizes at a recent party. Martha Scherzinger won a prize, but wasn't even there. Some people have all the luck. . . . Tom Fleckenstien was late the other morning; and to think all the while his wife was out of town he was here on time!

"Democracy is eternal and human. It dignifies the human being; it respects humanity."—Thomas Mann.

A daughter was born Sunday, May 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGinnis. Joe returned to work Tuesday night feeling well and passing out Roi Tans. Congratulations, Joe. . . . When a gal chucks her blue jeans for pink, pastel blue, and other soft-colored dresses to wear to work, there is bound to be a reason. Mary Camos is doing just such a thing. She has a tall, dark and handsome reason in Bldg. 19-3. We must admit she looks mighty pretty in those dresses, too. . . . To have seen Harry Rhodes Saturday night at the Art Appreciation Club's Music Review with his attractive date, one wouldn't have to guess why he was humming "The French Love Song" at work Monday night. He and his date were natural born "high brows" in McCalip's opinion. . . . Sawdust is getting mighty deep in the Stator Section. John Kokosa is building a garage for his newly purchased Studebaker. A dollar says he'll have it built by May, 1955. . . . How honest is a "certain-you-know-who" who works second shift, now that he has considered a state political job? He has gained the reputation as an organizer of distinction of the Bldg. 19-2 Improvement Association. He should make a good, let's say, superb excise man, since he is so bitterly opposed to old "demon rum." . . . We now have a student in our midst from Indiana Tech. Joe Dunham is getting his practical experience in stator winding. At the same time he is also supplementing his meager GI allowance. . . . We welcome our new co-workers John King, Robert Dorman, Jack Eley, Clarence Mathes, Marvin Kindley, Gene Uhrick, Ronald Rider, Jr., Theodore Carteaux, Jr., and Robert Grace. . . . The new addition to Murray Johnson's family is a new Chevy. . . . Our vacationers are Ed Hormann, Emmett Zollinger and Willis (Bill) Bunyan. Bill and his wife plan a two weeks' tour of Florida.

Meet the President

Uhligs Down G-E Gals' Softball Team 18-2 in Season's Opener

by Betty Puff

The G-E Girls' Softball Team, coached by ex-Daisy Dotty Collins, lost to Uhligs by the score of 18-2 last Monday at Packard Park. Two homers by Liz Schearer, the Uhlig first sacker, and steady pitching by Schweizer led to the defeat of the G-E gals in their first game. The big blow for the G-E lasses was a triple by Deloris Drewett. Gert Koldeway made the feature catch of the evening with a one-handed stab at third base.

Helen Miller, Elaine Nieodemus and Gert Koldeway shared the twirling chore with Deloris Drewett behind the bat for G-E while Schweizer and Buecler were the battery for Uhligs.

Jess Hahn says that he doesn't mind the heavy rains taking his grass seed away, but he sure hates to see his lot going down the sewer. . . . If you value your life, and who doesn't, just don't try putting any stators or rotors down on Vern Castle's new table. He even uses a white felt pad on that precious table. . . . We are just waiting for Marty Cox to get moved into that new home so we can go out and raid her refrigerator, or something like that. . . . Fred Fenner is on vacation this week and has gone to Canada to do some fishing. Hope he gets some big ones. . . . The Birthday Club had a picnic supper in Foster Park with Evelyn Scheuman and Addie Masbaum as hostesses. Dorothy Askren celebrated her birthday by seeing how much she could eat. These present were: Eleanor Bolenbaugh, Clara Theisman, Dorothy Askren, Marilyn Richards, Evelyn Scheuman, Phyllis Braun, Addie Masbaum, Dorothy Crawford and Laurel Weaver.

Celebrates Birthday

EARL CATCHUM—Earl Tipsord, Owl catcher, wielded a big stick last week when his club downed the Fraternal Order of Police, 10-4. Earl got two for three and scored one run.

We hear Betty Bertch got sueh a huge amount of money in a pay envelope, she just can't decide where to start spending it. . . . Ruby Stueky is having company from California over the week-end. We hope your cousin enjoys our weather here, Ruby. . . . Laura Krauskopf is really thrilled. Her daughter and son-in-law are coming home, and he will have his diseharge from the Marines. . . . The girls are wondering if Otto Helmrieh got his oats sowed last week and if he doesn't want to take some more time off so they can make more money. . . . Lela Line enjoyed going to Russell Point in Ohio over Decoration Day. . . . We wish Virginia Johnson's baby a very speedy recovery and hope to see Virginia baek with us again. . . . Jerry MeKown doesn't have time at home to do anything. He even had to wait until he eame into work to empty his pants cuffs. . . . Selma Voight enjoyed a few days with her mother in Effingham, Ill. . . . Why did Dave Reid's face get so red when he asked Tommy Williams about paying taxes the other day. After all, Dave, how would she know. . . . Della Zulch has all the luck, espeeially getting special invitation letters. . . . Carlos Rogers has worn a hat all week. We think he might as well let everyone see his new hair cut. . . . Ernie Raypole will never learn to stay home nights during the week. The next morning he always says, "Never again." . . . Norm Wolf must really like eggs the way he has been eating them lately. . . . All the screams you heard in the winding section last week were caused by spiders, big and small. . . . We are sorry to lose Eva Creigh to Bldg. 4-2. We hope you like your job, Eva. . . . Summer has arrived for sure now. Marion Horman is wearing dresses again. . . . How did Dave McConnehy rate that second wedding present from the gang? . . . Fern Smith is spending the week-end in Marshall, Mich., with her parents to celebrate her own anniversary and her mother's birthday. . . . Ruby Debolt believes in the old adage, "fingers before forks." She forgot her silverware the other day at luneh. . . . We welcome Joan Copp and Joan Gambrell to our group. . . . Ruby C. couldn't get in her drawer the other morning because she just locked her keys inside. . . . Virginia Reed, is the old saying that laughing makes you fat, really true? We think someone is kiddin' you. . . . Doris Brager's eyes have really been sparkling since she reeeived word that her husband might be home in June instead of September.

The four-time champion Hot Shots celebrated the return of Jimmy Sternberger by taking a nine-point lacing at the hands of Bob Markey's Putters. The Putters, led by Frank Allen who fired a 39, were red hot. They also gave notice that they were to be reckoned with when the pay-off comes around. The win put the Putters in a tie for first place with the Drivers. Bob Craig paced the Champs with a 41.

The Drivers, who share first place in the Owl standings with a +13, disposed of the Brassies by a 10-point vietory. The main reason for the win was not due to Herman Uhrick's nice 41 but to Minnick's 44. Forty-four may not look so tough but it is when the player's average is 55 as was the case of Minnick. The Drivers also pieked up three points from the Flags on the game in doubt in the first week's firing.

The Spoons barged into the win column at the expense of the cellar dwelling Traps with an eight-point win. Lou "old pro" Barney shot a 41 to lead the winners while Lynn Fryback paeed the losers with 44.

Virgil Snyder's Flags picked off a seven-pointer against the Bunkers. Hinton paced the winners with 46 while Engelbreeht was low for the losers with 47.

Jerry Webber gave up only four hits as the Fireman beat the Works Lab, 9-3. Arnie Grieder struck out 11 Firemen, but issued 11 walks and 12 hits. Chick Morkoetter homered in the sixth for the Firemen.

Winter St. came from behind with six runs in the fifth and five in the sixth to beat Small Motor, 14-12. Small Motor had seored seven runs in the first inning. Umphery's home run was the big blow in the fifth. Smead homered in the third inning for Small Motor.

Motor-Generator scored 10 runs in the sixth inning, but eouldn't catch up to the Test Engineers, who beat them, 18-15.

Apprentice Alumni stopped a Squares' rally and went on to win, 6-4, behind steady pitching by Ray Wiese.

Box scores for the Apprentiee Alumni vs. Squares and the Fraetional vs. Taylor St. games were not turned in. Managers are again urged to turn in the seore books as soon as possible after the game.

Dads Attending Elex Party Can Also See Daisies' Nite Game

Guest tickets for fathers attending the afternoon game of the Daisies vs. the South Bend Blue Sox at the Elex Party Sunday, June 3, will be honored for any father wishing to return at 8:15 p.m. for the evening game, Elex President Thelma Stone said today.

The courtesy is extended fathers as a special compliment of the Elex Club. Fathers wishing to return for the evening game should save their original tiekets and turn them in to the box office Sunday night.

G-E Owls Wallop Eckrich 24-0; Morrie Moffitt Allows Two Hits

by Bill Geist

With Morrie Moffitt going the route allowing only two hits, the Owls handily beat Eckrich, 24-0.

Tiny (Explosive) Baker led off with a homer. Before the third out was made, G-E had 11 runs and eight hits. In the fourth inning, Bud Hower's homer sent two men in ahead of himself. Bill Butler, following Bud, hit a four-bagger with no one aboard.

Chris Brenner got five for five, four singles and a double. He also seored five times. Earl Tipsord hit two for two but retired early due to a sore ankle.

Manager Bob Crosley is hoping this power at the plate will continue against the stronger teams in the league. It is very encouraging as G-E men have gone down on a third strike only three times to date.

Come out to McMillen Park on Wednesday mornings and see your G-E Owls in action.

Bill Geist, Marie Fox Take Editor Positions on Works News Columns

Bill Geist . . .

Holidays are wonderful, no matter when they come, but it's been so long since we had a day off. This one was especially appreciated. I hope you had a perfect day. . . . We neglected to welcome to the Quarter Century Club our newest member, Bill Roberts. Congratulations, Bill, and many more anniversaries with G-E. . . . Paul Schlie has been trying to construct a fireplace in his home for some time. He tried once and had to do it over. Then what happens? His wife says it's about four inches off center so-o-o he's back at the job again. Hope the third time's a charm, Paul. . . . You've heard of people's having bats in their belfries. Don Baker didn't have them in the belfry, but he did have one in his house. Can't you just see him tearing madly through the house, half awake, swatting wildly at the zooming bat. Of course, Don finally won. . . . We had a letter from Jim Schwartz. He says "hi" to the gang and we know he will be looking forward to mail from us. His address is: Pvt. James Schwartz, US55170439 Co. "C" 14 R.C.T. Camp Carson, Colo. Let's get those pencils going. . . . RETRACTION: Carl Swaim says his son, David, was not pulling the lawn mower. In fact, Carl now has a motor to make the mower go—no thanks to Jerry Holdgreve. . . . "Butch," alias "Beany" Konow sure loves his beans. He has had them for lunch nearly every noon last week. He'd sure make a good soldier. . . . WANTED: Payment on one dry cleaning bill for Howard Brooks. He was standing too close to the vase of flowers when the wind upset it. Result—one wet suit. . . . Everyone seems to be enjoying his new lunch period. A few complaints perhaps, since not rushing back to play euchre, they stay in the cafeteria longer and eat more. Betty Raucci's main gripe is that she's half as big as the rest of us but it costs twice as much to feed her. . . . We are hoping they soon turn the stop light on at the Fairfield Gate at 4:30 since we almost lost Lois (Bugs Bunny) Jackson there last week. . . . Speaking of vehicles, and who was, we understand Ginny Harris was about to relax on the end of the wheelbarrow. It wasn't exactly solid comfort unless you're speaking of the floor in Bldg. 17-4 as that's where she finished up.

17-4 Man Reports Owl Softball Happenings

Two hundred and fifty pounds of sports reporter has been added to the WORKS NEWS staff in the person of Bill Geist, Bldg. 17-4. Bill will report the news of the Owl Softball League.

At his former home in Malinta, O., Bill played basketball and baseball in high school. He moved to Fort Wayne and joined the General Electric Company in 1940. After working in test sections in FHP Motor Div. 14 and in Bldgs. 4-4 and 5-4, Bill was assigned to Developmental Test in 1944. He is still employed tbere.

A graduate of Indiana Technical College in electrical engineering, Bill has four good reasons to keep up his interest in sports—his four sons, ages 13, 12, 8 and 4. In the past he has umpired for amateur circuits and bowled in the Owl League. His interest in his new sparetime assignment is shown by the fact that he drives five miles to every ball game in order to report scores and summaries.

Bill and his family live at 1619 Spring St.

Note to Maxine Baker: It is just eight weeks until vacation. . . . Several of the girls have received letters from Dick Gleim. He says to tell everyone "hello." Dick has now finished basic training. . . . I was told that the boys in the States do not have free postage. Send them some stamps when you write them. Every little bit helps. . . . Jerry Snyder found out that a penny isn't enough to ride the bus. You need nine cents more. . . . Hazel Lockwood doesn't like the new conveyor system at the cafeteria. The spoons fly up and hit her. . . . Birthday greetings to Doris Lontz, Chester Hill, Harold Kiel and Harold Bowker. . . . The connectors in Group 532 had a potluck for Chester's birthday and Faye Stockberger's wedding anniversary. . . . Betty Collier spent a few days in Virginia last week. . . . Beverly Krieger attended the Tulip Festival at Holland, Mich. . . . Luella Masson went to Youngstown, O., last week-end in her new Packard. . . . Elma Keiser thought she might have been in old Mexico, especially when she was chased by a bull. Her husband came to the rescue. . . . Orville Kaufman is the proud possessor of a new Pontiac. . . . Audrey Bright and Jack Dennis visited us last week. Both are former co-workers. . . . We're glad to see Mary Wright and Lyle Bireley back in the groove. . . . Mary Murphy was going to spend a quiet Sunday at home, but she had 14 for dinner. Among her guests was her sister, Mabel Luther. . . . Doris Ryan has a small puppy and it is learning to talk. It can say "Ralph," already.

Marie Fox . . .

Hermetic Owls

DePew and Barbara Nine are improving from their illnesses. We miss you, girls. . . . Marletta Beckman has a right to be proud. Did you see that picture of her husband on the front page of the Journal-Gazette? Carl was the last ex-serviceman in the state to send his papers in for his bonus. Carl made the grade and that's all that's necessary. It was a very good picture of him. . . . Friends of Hoppy's aunt and uncle visited her from Detroit. Hoppy reported a very enjoyable time. . . . If Lillian Murphy doesn't have a way, she'll find one or hitch hike. . . .

Double Birthday Gals

This is a picture of Mary Rucoi's children. They both celebrated their birthdays May 17. Marilyn Jo is four years' old and Norma Ann is two. They received a yard swing for their birthday. Many more happy birthdays, girls. . . . So long, I'll be back next week.

. . . Edith Paxson had decided she wouldn't make a good acrobat. She has a case of the "black and blues" after a fall. . . . Minnie McCague made a flower garden. She planted full grown plants to save energy. Then she planted radishes in between to save space. We will be glad to help her save energy by eating the radishes for her. . . . We wish happiness to Ethel Keller's son and his bride of last Saturday. . . . We're sorry to have Ferbie Maggard on our sick list.

Mrs. Fox Revives Old Column in Bldg. 4-2

The WORKS NEWS column "High Spots in Bldg. 4-2," will be revived this week by Marie Fox, after several months' absence from the paper. Mamie Allen formerly edited the column before being transferred to Bldg. 17-1.

Marie has recently returned to the General Electric Company from a full-time housewife's job. She first worked in Bldg. 17-2 from 1935 to 1940. After more than two years away from G-E after she married, Marie came back during the war years and worked at Winter St., Taylor St. and Broadway Plants.

Her main interests center around her two children, Sandra, age nine, and five-year-old Stephan. She has been an enthusiastic Elexer during her G-E years and, when she left the Company, she originated the idea of a Partizan Chapter for women like herself, who had turned to home-making but were still interested in G-E and Elex.

Marie has also been active in the Y-Wives, in Girl Scout Work, and in various forms of adult education.

What was Sarah Moore purchasing at a counter in the Grand Leader the other night? You didn't tell us Sarah. We sure like your home-made candy. . . . There is a new rabbit in Repair and Return Section. Betty Easterday wiggles her nose like a bunny. . . . Congratulations to Willie Jackson, who is the proud father of a new baby girl. . . . There is a new bulletin posted in Packing Section which reads, "Open hunting season on Bosses and Production Men on Fridays from 9:00 a.m. to 11:45 p.m. Legal to use anything." . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Betty Pion, who has been ill. Hurry back, Betty, we miss you. . . . Dorothy Weiler is entertaining her daughter, Ruth LaMonica, from Stockton, Calif. They are planning on spending the week-end at Grand Rapids, Mich. . . . We think Alice George got lost before she started to Detroit. We haven't seen her since Wednesday. . . . Bob Johnson must think he is going to catch lots of fish this summer. He bought his wife a new 15-foot deep-freeze. . . . It will cost Bill Brown more to go to the square dance now since he has to drive to Tri-Lakes. . . . Marvin Fields is going on vacation next week. . . . We hear Charley Engle is getting too strong since he retired. He pulled the end out of his boat. Better watch Herman Watters this week-end, Charley. He is pretty strong, too. . . . We welcome Barbara Gates, Jean Stein, Alice Schieman and Angcline Meyers in Kindergarten. . . . We wonder where Rosa Johnson learned to tie those fancy knots she put in Ruth Peek's shoes. . . . Mary Hopkins was presented a beautiful bedspread from her co-workers. . . . We are wondering if George Ryan cut his thumb on purpose so he could get a free ride in the Jimmy Wagon. . . . We think the photo of Clara Gidley and her mother which was taken at the mother and daughter banquet was very good.

We welcome Joan Huffman, Rose Aven and Rowena Beard to the Lead Section. . . . Donald Boitet is leaving us to go to college. The section presented him with a new billfold. . . . Mary Stewart and her husband have a new automobile. Mary says she now will get her driver's license. . . . Betty Rygowski had a birthday; therefore, her bird also had one. . . . The girls want Eva Weaver to put a map in her drawer. When she sends them to get something from her drawer, they will then have the directions to find it. . . . Agnes Neideffer reports that her bantam rooster, MacArthur, passed away. . . . Betty Good is a new inspector for us. . . . "Ducky" Drake says he spent his vacation taking it easy in a chair in the back yard. . . . We heard Erma Fredriks had a little thing like a mouse chasing her. . . . Helen Wolfe is back to work after being ill. . . . Mae Boyce attended the tulip festival at Holland, Mich., and had a lovely time. . . . Happy birthday to Carl Sorensen, John McKee and Faye Christie. . . . We are wondering about Lela Siebert's blue jeans. Is she going to wear them to work, at the lake or when she paints? We also wonder why she didn't want to work on Saturday. . . . Olga Hayes celebrated another birthday and was given a beautiful cake. It was very good, Olga. . . . Why was Flo Cochran so happy and said it was nice to have a man around the house?

Suggestion System Pays $4,335 For 283 New Ideas During May

Two hundred and eighty-three employes' ideas paid off in handsome dividends amounting to $4,335 during May, A. C. Hartman, Suggestion System chairman, announced today. The list included 29 people from the Fort Wayne Works' four branch plants.

"More and more of our employes are using the Suggestion System to submit ideas to improve our product and to reduce our scrap and losses," Mr. Hartman stated.

"In these days of material shortages," he continued, "it is suggestions that often times keeps our factories operating on a full schedule. We are particularly anxious to receive every suggestion that will make for better material utilization and which will reduce scrap and rework."

E. R. Lewis Earns $320

Eldon R. Lewis, FHP Div. 17, came up with the top award of the month, $320. Mr. Lewis devised a change in the assembly of unit bearing motors to eliminate repair work caused by oil leaks.

The next highest award went to Floyd W. Smith of the Danville Plant, who received $200. He designed a holder for painting transformer cases. Thomas Cowan, FHP Motor Div. 13, received $175 for a suggestion to place repair benches along the assembly line. George Baumgardner, Tiffin, received $125 for designing an adjustable guide for punch presses.

Arthur Schinnerer, Decatur Plant, was paid $80 for suggesting a change to reduce drill breakage in drill fixtures. Herbert D. Heddon, FHP Div. 13, received $77.50 for designing a device to salvage

U. S. Employment Prospects Grow With War Work

Five hundred and thirty-nine employes were hired by the Fort Wayne General Electric plants during May, W. E. Beer, supervisor of employment, reported this week. The May number is slightly higher than the average for the first few months of 1951, Mr. Beer explained. Employment for the first week of June, however, has levelled off to the average of a little less than 100 people per month, he said.

Nationally, the upward trend in employment, which reached new highs in February and March, tapered off during April and May. Recent Department of Commerce bulletins estimate that total civilian employment, as of the third week of April, stood at an even

MBA Purchases Paid-up Life Insurance for Pensioners

Delivery of a check to The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company Monday morning marked the final step in arrangements for payment of paid-up life insurance policies for more than 550 retired employes of the Fort Wayne Works and Winter St. Plant.

Pensioners who retired before Dec. 1, 1950, with at least TEN YEARS of MBA membership, will receive a $200 life insurance certificate in accordance with the fall Plan for Dissolution of MBA Employe Coverage. Coverage under these certificates became effective June 1. Certificates were purchased from Lincoln Life by the Mutual Benefit Association following approval of MBA officers and directors.

A. J. McAndless, president of the firm, declared that his company's assumption of that phase of the insurance program was "part of our 'good neighbor policy' to solve local insurance problems which arise."

NEED VACATION CASH? Scores of people throughout G-E have been paying their vacation expenses in a painless way for years. Their ideas to conserve materials, save time, increase efficiency or add to safety have meant extra money for their vacation funds. Are you taking advantage of this easy way to add to your vacation savings? There's still time for you to write your ideas and send them to the Suggestion Committee. The money you earn from accepted ideas will come in mighty handy on your summer holiday.

A Helping Hand

Nearly everyone, at one time or another during the course of a lifetime, has sought help in fulfilling a fond desire or practical dream.

A youngster wanting that first bicycle or air rifle turned naturally to his father for help or suggestions as to the best method to raise the necessary funds.

Later in life, his burning ambition might be to attend the state university or some other school of his choice. But funds might be a little hard to obtain. Father's purse might not be that full.

However, ambition is a hard thing to deny. It always seems to find its way through adversity. And many times it is given a helping hand.

Since 1923, General Electric has been extending a helping hand to employes and employes' sons and daughters who have that burning ambition to attend college but lack adequate funds to see them through the years at school.

Last week the company announced recipients of loans and scholarships for the 1951-52 school year. Fifty-nine employes and sons and daughters of employes, selected on a competitive basis from 123 applicants, were granted loans or awarded scholarships amounting to $15,875. Since 1924, the company has extended loans and scholarships totaling $238,113 to 948 young people.

Winners of this year's awards will study such subjects as engineering, education, music, nursing and agriculture, at 27 colleges and universities.

Began Fund in 1923

In 1923, General Electric set aside a fund for fellowships to help college graduates continue with their studies and research work. The program was established in honor of Charles A. Coffin, founder and first president of G-E.

The plan was so successful that the company decided to prepare a program which would give financial assistance to employes and their children for undergraduate work. Over the years, various types of assistance were made available and, in 1945, the company established the General Electric Educational Fund, with assets of a million dollars, in honor of two of its former presidents, Charles A. Coffin and Gerard Swope. This fund has made it possible for many high school graduates to continue their education in accredited colleges or universities and obtain their degrees, and, in some cases, to continue with their research work for graduate degrees.

The awards announced last week included 13 scholarships totaling $3,225 and 24 loans amounting to $5,950 from the G-E Employes' Education Foundation; eight Charles P. Steinmetz Memorial scholarships totaling $3,200 for study at Union College in Schenectady, and 14 loans from the Gerard Swope loan fund totaling $3,500. The Swope loans come from a $25,000 fund established in 1924 by the former G-E president. The Steinmetz scholarships were established by G-E in 1923 in memory of the famed scientist.

Although thoughts of school have now been set aside for the summer vacation months, 59 employes and sons and daughters of employes know that when school resumes in the fall, they will be able to begin college or continue their college training with the helping hand of General Electric's educational assistance program.

Market Always Changing

(Reprinted from "The Houghton Line")

If anyone thinks we have a static market in the United States, he should consider the following facts:

During the past 10 years 13 million old consumers have died.

More than 17 million marriages have taken place.

Over 30 million babies have been born.

Today, 63 per cent of the people do not remember World War I.

Twenty-five per cent of the people do not remember a Republican administration in the White House.

Industry should remember it is selling to a parade, not a standing audience.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Words by Walt

This poem is dedicated to the memory of M. G. Norris, my boss for thirty years, and one of the finest men, I've ever known.

MY STAR

'Twas thirty years ago, but still I feel
It could have happened just last night.
Among a million other stars, I found
One star that had a most appealing light.

It was a kindly star I found—his star.
Not brilliant, but with such a soft and friendly glow,
It seemed to be a star that I could trust
To light my steps along the path I chose to go.

At times, I must confess that other stars,
Much brighter, seemed to make his star grow dim;
But always, through their brilliance, I could see,
And trust its constant, kindly light—so typical of him.

But now this star I picked will shine no more;
Along my path, I'll see its light no longer glow.
Time in its march must alter many things,
And so it seems his star, like others, had to go.

But still, up there in all that boundless space,
I feel, somehow, somewhere, his star must shine.
I cannot see; I'm not so sure, just where it is;
I only know, where e'er it is—it still is mine.

PFC James R. Laymon, son of John Laymon, Bldg. 26-1, has been assigned to the Fifth Army Band at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

PFC Laymon graduated from South Side High School in 1949. While in school, he played the trumpet in the Hoagland School Band, South Side High School Band and the American Legion Post No. 72 Band. He also played the French Horn in the South Side orchestra. He attended the Fort Wayne College of Music and was employed at G-E before entering the Army.

He enlisted in the Army in February and took his basic training at Fort MacArthur, Calif. His assignment, prior to reporting to the Fifth Army Band at Fort Sheridan, was with the 380th Engineer Boat Maintenance Battalion at Fort MacArthur. PFC Laymon plays the trumpet in the Fort Sheridan band.

Miles R. Cameron Carl W. Reiter

M. R. Cameron, C. W. Reiter Assume New FHP Cost Section Positions

Miles R. Cameron and Carl W. Reiter have assumed new positions in the Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions, Cost Section, according to an organization announcement by C. Duncan, supervisor of Costs. Mr. Cameron has been named assistant supervisor of Costs and Mr. Reiter will serve as assistant to the supervisor of Costs.

A lifelong resident of Allen County, Mr. Cameron joined the General Electric Company in 1936 as an assembler in Bldg. 4-2. He entered cost work in Bldg. 4-5 in 1938, and was subsequently employed in Bldgs. 4-6, 2-3, and 6-4.

He became a supervisor of cost for FHP Motor Div. 14 in 1947 and was working in Bldg. 4-6 until his recent appointment.

Mr. Cameron is a member of the Supervisors' Club. He is married and has two daughters. The Camerons live at 1316 Morton St.

Began in 1943

Mr. Reiter joined the internal audit staff in 1943. Four years later he transferred to FHP Motor Div. 19, Bldg. 17-1, as cost supervisor. In 1949, he was named cost supervisor for FHP Motor Div. 14 at Taylor St. Shortly thereafter, he was assigned to the FHP Motor Central Cost organization where he has been employed until his present appointment.

Mr. Reiter is also a member of the Supervisors' Club. The Reiters and their three children reside at 1318 Park Ave.

Foremen's Supervisors' Picnic To Be Held Tomorrow at Voigt's

The Foremen's Association and the Supervisors' Club will hold their joint picnic at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Voigt's Retreat, General Chairman Ewald Stinsmuehlen reminded members of both G-E organizations today. No tickets are needed to enjoy a day of baseball, horseshoes, cards and refreshments, he said.

Assisting Mr. Stinsmuehlen on the general committee are Louis Shattuck and R. A. Wefel. Others completing arrangements are Carl Furge and Henry Carnall, food committee; P. J. O'Neill and E. J. O'Neill, refreshments; Mike Brayer, publicity; W. L. Paulson, Ed Robin, Henry Gollmer, Hilbert Nahrwold, Jack Bendure, Harry Adams and Jim Gargett, entertainment; A. Landis and F. Kilcoin, tables and chairs, and William Rohe, Harold Kroeger, M. Sordelet and Gordon Smith, hospitality.

Mrs. James Capps To Head Women's Div. of Squares

Mrs. James Capps was elected president of the Women's Division of the G-E Squares at their recent election of 1950-51 officers.

Other newly-elected officers include Mrs. Donald Reek, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Suhr, secretary; Mrs. Frank D. Olney, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Thomas and Mrs. Charles Johnson, members-at-large.

Bermuda Vacationers Get Special Train Rates To New York

Elex members and others who are making the Bermuda trip during vacation shutdown may leave for New York with the Elex New York tour group Monday, July 30, at 6:27 p.m., Central Daylight Time, on the Trail Blazer. The special fare of $39.95 round trip will be in effect for this date only.

Dick Arnold has been getting his share of the leavings. He smashed his car last week. He then had a ticket to the Indianapolis races, so Tony Kazelis said he would meet Dick at the pagoda and bring him home. Dick waited and waited, but no Tony. It's rumored that Tony became so interested in a fire engine and two brunets that he forgot Dick. Everyone calls Tony "No Pagoda Tony" now. As if that wasn't enough, Hank Lantz was supposed to pick Dick up and bring him to work Monday. Poor Dick was stranded again, this time in Leo. It's a good thing Dick has a good right thumb. . . . Welcome, Pat Breinfalk, to Transformer Drafting. Pat is taking my old job. I'm sure she will like her job as much as I did.

To All Division Heads and Superintendents:

Effective Monday, June 4, 1951, the bus operating between the Broadway and Taylor St. Plants will also run through the noon hour on the same 20-minute schedule on which it is now operating.

J. B. Greer, Supt.
General Service Division

NEW SCAFFOLD SPEEDS MAINTENANCE—The new aluminum scaffold shown here makes repair on high places an easy task according to Bob Hatfield, Works Service maintenance foreman. The easy-to-build framework was first used last week to repair the 10-ton receiving dock crane on the east side of Bldg. 10. Pictured on the crane job are bottom (left) W. O. Luebke, general foreman; (right) Mr. Hatfield; Robert Gable, climbing the ladder, and on the top platform (left) Al Lesh and (right) Ray Meeks.

oil on the Cleveland automatic machines. Ernest Clark, Specialty Transformer Div. 94, earned $75 for his idea of an improved method of marking coils used on transformers. An award of $75 was made to Franklin Bly, FHP Div. 16, who made a change to the take-off on punch presses in order to reduce costly repairs.

Two Receive $60

Two employees were awarded $60 checks for their ideas. Harry W. Snoke, STAB Div. 94, earned his award for advising a better method of stacking transformer coils. The other $60 award went to George Luker, General Tool Division, who standardized die parts. Richard Bogner, Decatur, designed a fixture to repair centering rings and was awarded $50. STAB Div. 91 employe, Robert M. Bultemeier, also earned $50. His suggestion pertained to a plan to salvage muriatic acid.

Lester Schultz, Danville Plant, found a method to palletize transformers for shipment. He received $45 for his idea. Another award of $45 went to Eugene Mommer, Wire and Insulation Div., who suggested putting a belt tightener on certain machines to reduce replacements.

Win $25

Awards amounting to $25 were made to the following people: Betty Thompson, FHP Div. 1; Fred K. Vietmeyer, FHP Div. 13; John R. Miles, FHP Div. 14; Frank Brohman, FHP Div. 16; Fred K. 60 million, much the same level as March, but one and a half million more than in April of last year.

Observers of industry believe fewer people are looking for jobs and speculate that many persons are waiting for defense plants to open. Such a situation does not appear to apply to local plants, Mr. Beer said. He stated that while fewer men are applying for work, there is no scarcity of women employes.

On the basis of defense contracts already let, nationwide, and a proposed $61 million to be spent on defense needs during the fiscal year beginning July 1, it has been estimated that defense plants will need five million more employes within the year. Some three million already hold defense jobs and the peak needs are placed at from eight to eight and one-half million.

G-E Affiliates

and The Trumbull Electric Manufacturing Co., Plainville, Conn.

In a letter to the company's more than 250,000 stockholders, Mr. Cordiner pointed out that the six affiliates will become G-E departments as "a part of the natural evolution of the company's organization through the years."

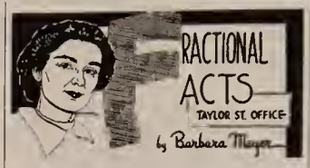
"These six subsidiaries enjoy a strong acceptance of their products and trade names in their respective industries. As departments of the General Electric Company, they will continue to operate under their present management and their products will continue to be marketed under their existing trade names," the G-E president said.

Carboloy Co., Inc., produces cemented carbides, as well as magnetic alloys, and other materials, under the trademark "Carboloy." G-E X-Ray Corp. produces industrial and medical X-ray machines, electromedical apparatus, and related accessories and supplies. Locke, Inc., manufactures ceramic products for electrical apparatus and for chemical and mechanical applications, and produces such metal products as pole-line hardware, suspension hardware and fittings and special hardware.

Telechron, Inc., produces electric clocks for household, commercial and advertising uses; radio timers, range timers, industrial timing devices and synchronous timing motors. Monowatt, Inc., manufactures wiring devices, cord wire and cable, industrial devices, cord sets, and other items.

The Trumbull Electric Manufacturing Co. produces a variety of products in the electrical control field, ranging from open knife switches to panelboards and switchboards, circuit breakers, distribution systems, theatre control panelboards, and others.

Did you ever know the way to be happy is to make other people happy? . . . Grace Ober saw the races at Indianapolis. She even had a State Police escort. Her cousin was one of the judges and she rode with him. . . . Best wishes and good luck to Lena Bauer, who is retiring. We will miss her and hope to see her some time. . . . Art John retires June 8. He, too, is an old-timer. He intends to spend his time at his home at Pleasant Lake. . . . John Piper is another who retired the eighth. His wife, Bertha, retired several years ago and now they are going to spend the rest of the summer and part of the fall at their cottage on Star Lake in Michigan. We hope that you all enjoy your retirement and be sure and come and see us onee in a while. . . . Gerna Cook is a patient at the St. Joe Hospital. Hope you get well real soon. . . . Ed DeWeese is back after a serious operation. . . . Ray Gard was stung by a bee on his upper lip; and he doesn't look natural. . . . Mary Stiko won a gallon of ice cream at the Daisy ball game. . . . Marguerite Smith reports her father had a wonderful time at the Elex Father and Daughter party. The Daisies won both games and lots of peanuts were eaten. . . . Jake Kuglar is eating soup these days. . . . Our friend, Lillie Benz, who lives in California, visited us one day last week. California agrees with you, Lillie. . . . Several people are on their vacations this week. Elihu Lee is supposed to be staying at home. Herb Bauer is spending his vacation at the lake. . . . Paul Hendrick's son, who is stationed at Camp Breckenridge, was home on furlough last week. . . . I've never seen glasses on hinges, but Sam Taylor is wearing some! . . . Ask Butch Claymiller how big a fish has to be before it knocks you out. The carp got away, but Butch got hit in the head with a pole and almost got knocked out! . . . The new girl in the office is Nancy Duryee. To all the new people in Division 1, we welcome you and hope your stay is a long one. . . . Alverda Fogle is quitting this week. We all wish her the best of luck. . . . Bill Schultz would like some help to pick his strawberries which are too heavy for one person to lift. . . . Ida May Ernst turned the fire on under the coffee pot, then put her dress on the stove and burned the back out of it. Just think, there wasn't any coffee in the pot either! . . . Modene Smith spent the week-end in St. Louis. . . . Dale Lauer is taking Frank Brindle's place on days for several weeks. Frank wants to get some sunshine as he is going to work in a strawberry patch. . . . "Courtesy doesn't always pay," says Helen Boedeker, who offered an old lady her seat on the bus. The driver started up before they could change places and the old lady had to ride piggy-back for a block! . . . We all hope Malinda Behrman gets back to work soon and feels well again. . . . I suppose, since Merl Kecsler and Max Herzog have crew cuts, all the rest of the fellows will follow suit. . . . Marjorie Goings had better get that alarm clock fixed. We'd like to see her smiling face a little earlier. . . . Tom Fleckenstein got a good sunburn but no fish on his recent fishing trip. . . . Viola Martin lost the diamond out of her ring last Friday and found it Monday on the floor by her work place. . . . Ruth Kilgore has a birthday June 28. We also wish the following people happy birthdays: Freda Copeland, Leah Coolman, Flo Stricat, Ida May Ernst, LaDocia Clinger and Ellen Bauer. . . . Billy Gawthrop became a proud aunt last week. . . . Mary Parent is back to work and feels pretty good except for a stiff neck and back.



The F. H. Robertson Co., Inc., trade journal, published the following poem by a J. W. Thompson—which may answer your question—

WORK

How true it is when I am sad,
A little work can make me glad.
When frowning cares come to my door,
I work a little and fret no more.
I leave my couch harrassed with pain.
I work, and soon I am well again.
When sorrow comes and vain regrets,
I go to work, and soon forget.
Work soothes the soul when joys depart,
And often mends a broken heart.
The idle mind soon fills with murk
So that's why God invented work.

SYMPATHY: We extend our sincere sympathy to Robert Wylie in the death of his brother, William Wylie. . . . ILL: Mildred Whitmer, Bldg. 18-1, was ill the first of the week. . . . PAY-OFF: Dorothy Baumgartner and Estell Monroe, Bldg. 18-1, had a wager. Estell was to lose five pounds in three weeks. Memorial Day was the final hour and Estell proved to Dorothy that she had accomplished her fete. Dorothy carried out her end of the bargain and presented her with a box of hand-earved vegetables, and of all things, a box of Mrs. Steven's candy. Estell could regain the five pounds and start all over again. . . . FATHER-DAUGHTER PARTY: The fathers cut a caper with their daughters at the annual affair last Sunday. Approximately 200 attended to enjoy the Daisy game, to say nothing of the popcorn, crackerjack and coke. They were given a fancy key chain. . . . GRADUATE: Jacqueline Curie, daughter of Lucille Curie, Bldg. 18-2, is a member of the Central High School graduating class. At the annual Recognition Day ceremonies, Jackie received a scholarship to Earlham College, was selected for participation in the National Scholastic Art Contest and was presented with Writer's Cup. We know, Lucille, that you are proud of your daughter. . . . The Hawaiian hula number at the Apprentice Alumni dance last Friday night at Goeglein's Barn was lovely. Don House, Bldg. 18-2, one of the chorus "girls", helped to make it so. . . . Doris Lehman and Francis Richards, Bldg. 18-2, were two howling spectators. . . . Elmer DeBolt of Labor Relations is making plans to build a new home. Elmer says his wife wants a new ranch type. Now we will see who is boss in the family. Will it be a ranch-type house? . . . The very glad hand of welcome was extended to our former WORKS NEWS Editor Don Campbell. He was calling on friends here Monday. . . . Edna Welch enjoyed several days' vacation last week at Sylvan Lake. She says it did her a world of good as she can ring in much easier now. . . . Happy birthday to Florence Badger, Bldg. 18-4. The people on the floor reported that the candy was delicious. . . . Phil Heidbrink of Reproduction left last week to enter Miami University. His fellow-workers gave him a leather traveling kit as a going-away gift. . . . Anitra Nelson says she is going to order weather tailor made. It seems she likes to go to the lake every week-end, but the weather has been inclement for such vacationing. . . . Dick Kent and Perry Esterline went fishing last week, but to date we have heard nothing from them.

Repeat Performances: We presume that Harold J. Federspiel, Purchasing, will be 39 again on his June 14 birthday. . . . Birthday greetings to Charlene Heinzelmann, who celebrated June 2. . . . The Production office thanks E. C. Thronsden, R. F. Shoaff, and Jo Barr for all that wonderful birthday candy. Many more happy returns to 'yuh all. . . . A lot of Production office girls came back to work from their Memorial Day vacation with sunburns and suntans. . . . It seems that the girls in Payroll all spent a rather quiet Decoration Day. However, Marilyn Franke returned to work with a very red nose—results of sunning herself while listening to the races and the baseball games. . . . BIG TOWN VISITOR: Cosmopolitan Bluffton, Ind., was honored with the presence of Harriet Heaney on vacation day. . . . Congratulations to Geneva Schrock on her recent engagement. . . . "Since when does the cafeteria serve swiss steak on Mondays?" Luther Meyer was overheard asking on the Thursday after Memorial Day. . . . We're all hoping that Betty Stutz recovers and will be back with us soon, after her recent automobile accident. . . . Al Volz returned Monday from his two weeks' Naval Reserve training cruise at Great Lakes, Ill. . . . BELATED BIRTHDAY GREETINGS are extended to Frances Jailor. . . . Berniece Boyle, of Accounting, and her husband have just returned from spending a week-end in McKeesport, Pa. She was matron of honor for her sister's wedding. A wonderful time and a lovely wedding were revealed in the snapshots which Berniece showed around. . . . WHAT A GAL! Joan McBride just sent $16 worth of records to her boyfriend in Korea. Lots of other servicemen would sure love to have girl friends like that! . . . "Calling all motorists, calling all motorists! Be on the lookout for two drivers, Nannette Haley and Joan McBride who have just received their driving licenses!" Nan says her backing technique isn't too well perfected as yet but then claims that she's a more forward driver than a backward one. . . . A new Sunburn Club member is the Accounting's Carolyn Kohrmans and her right arm. It was as red as fire. Carolyn will have to travel in another direction next week. . . . What is Barb Haley doing on her two weeks' vacation? More about this later. . . . Lou Gossman has been transferred to Joe Horn's office in Bldg. 4-6. Don't forget us, Lou! . . . Welcome back to work, Gil Ormson, and congratulations again. . . . We're all very thankful that when Roger Fuller's car was wrecked on the Huntington Road that no one was injured. . . . BELATED WELCOME to Mr. Wilson's office, Bill Duster. Glad to have you with us. . . . Many thanks to Phyllis Ann Westbrook and Spike Speicher, who wrote last week's wonderful column. Thanks again, kids.

Where are the fish stories, boys? . . . WRITER: Trudy Wolf is preparing an article for the Parents Magazine on the care of nieces and nephews, the result of four days' baby sitting.

"WHAT WAS YOUR AMBITION WHEN YOU WERE A CHILD?"

DOTTIE BRUBAKER

Bldg. 4-6

"My ambition when a child was to be a career girl. Although my school life was not completely planned with this in mind, it seems I have partially achieved this ambition while working at the General Electric Company."

RALPH REED

Bldg. 19-5

"My ambition was to be a test pilot. I always liked planes. First, I built models. Then when I was 11 years old, I started working on real aircraft."

LYNN A. WILSON

Regular, Volunteer Fire-eaters Demonstrate the "Right Methods"

Plant Protection personnel from various large Indiana industrial concerns, city and county firemen and volunteer firemen attended a two-hour fire-fighting demonstration Wednesday, May 23, at the Taylor St. Plant.

Demonstrations included techniques of fighting gas, oil, thinners, magnesium, acid, rubbish and other fires. Various types of extinguishers and combinations of extinguishers were used to emphasize the difficulties of extinguishing indoor fires.

G-E Shows How

Participating in the 17 individual demonstrations were the Fort Wayne Fire Department and fire departments from the International Harvester Company, Tokheim Oil Tank and Pump Company, and the General Electric Company.

Sponsored by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Chamber of Commerce's Safety Council, the industrial fire protection exhibition was arranged by E. M. Hanauer, G-E fire chief; Don Weis, International Harvester Co.; Cy Uebelhoer, Fort Wayne Fire Chief, and Clarence Degitz, Tokheim Co. All are members of the education committee.

SHOTGUN CHARLEY owns a rat terrier dog, but every time this curbstone sitter sees a rat or a mouse, he starts running for all get out. When Charley Brubaker sees this happen he gets out his double-barreled shotgun and goes after the mouse or rat so they won't catch the dog and have a feast of hot dogs. We suggest, Charley, that the dog's brand name be changed to terrified rat terrier. By the way, Charley, if you use a twin shooter on rats, what do you use for big game? A cannon, maybe? . . . IF IT SEEMED just a little like something was missing last week, it was Bill Rohe, who was on vacation. At least that's what he thought until he saw his desk Monday morning. "For 'himmel' sake such a mess, everything piled full with dead letters and magazine advertisements." . . . OUR DEEPEST SYMPATHY to Loretta Puff whose mother died last week. May God grant her eternal rest and happiness. . . . ON FURLOUGH: Charles Sheets has finished boot training at Great Lakes and is home on furlough. Charles is the son of foreman, Vaughn Sheets, better known to his co-workers as the Mayor of Waynedale. . . . HAD A BIRTHDAY: Bob Baals, who is in the Armed Service, had a birthday May 29. We wish you many more, Bob. By the way, Bob, your wife did not forget your old pals (and we do mean old) in the die room. She sent over cupcakes, and we understand that they were out of this world. Of course, ye old editor cannot testify to that. Those hungry wolves had them all eaten up before we found out. Thanks a lot, Mrs. Baals, we think that was swell of you to remember Bob's birthday in that way. . . . OVERHEARD: lover-boy Warren Harding asking Charlie Adams (the barber) where he got his hair cut. Charley replied, "Did it myself." Warren replied, "It looks like you got caught in a revolving door." . . . ORVILLE DOHERTY doesn't have big white cakes baked for his birthday like Jake Arnold does, but Orville did break down and pass out cigars. . . . LAKE SEASON is now in full swing and Bud Morris wants all his friends to know that he will give them a cottage for free if they will only work for him all the time they are up there. Harry Perl and Fred Ramsier were roped in on this deal last year and they tell us they always thought slave labor was a thing of the past. But not so when working for Bud. . . . It was Ralph Pettit's better-half who was ill instead of Lou's. . . . Some 30 friends bade a fond farewell to Edna Sheehan last week with a dinner. She went home with one of her fondest dreams—a pop-up toaster. Edna had been with us only eight months, and she was deeply touched with the fan-fare. . . . To Ialeen Huguenard and her family, we extend heartfelt sympathy in the death of her husband, Robert. . . . Bill Brase has reasons to be proud. It's a girl. . . . Crystal Waterman became a grandmother once more this week. . . . Willie Mertens' big little boy, Steve, will be in a cast during the summer. How about some comic books to brighten his vacation (or anything else that would lighten the weight of that cast)? . . . Almost everybody was talking about the local murder. Elmor Hurt was contributing his comments to Ada Bultemeyer though she was preoccupied with her work. When Elmor stopped talking, Ada looked up and commented, "I knew a woman was murdered, but I didn't know she died." . . . We saw Ed Glusenkamp passing a buck to Mildred Carpenter. But Mildred's ill-gotten gains didn't pay off. She got hooked herself for $2.50 for two very ordinary goldfish. . . . Charlie Curtis, we would like to know about your pink ticket collection. . . . Janet Crain would like her friends to know it is proper for a girl to visit a boyfriend these days, especially if it's at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. . . . Marie Thornhill became a grandmother for the second time recently but it's still the most important news of the day to her. . . . This editor would like to end with a note of thanks to Ab Martin for his informative classes Monday afternoons for Elex members. We really have been learning things in the classes.

dies in retirement

Ray Renfrew Rites Held Last Wednesday

Services were held Wednesday in the Klaehn Funeral Home for Ray Renfrew, 64, who died at 5:20 a.m. Sunday in the Lutheran Hospital. Mr. Renfrew had been ill for three months.

He retired from the General Electric Company May 1 after 49 years of service. He first worked under Henry Aumann, then was transferred in 1902 as an apprentice in the tool room. Mr. Renfrew worked as a toolmaker in Bldgs. 19-3 and 26-5 and, since 1924, had been a foreman in the tool room, first in Bldg. 26-5 and later in Bldg. 19-5.

Mr. Renfrew was a member of Trinity English Lutheran Church, Wayne Lodge, F. & A. M., the Scottish Rite, the BPO Elks, the G-E Foremen's Association and the G-E Quarter Century Club.

His only close survivors are an uncle, John Wilkins, and an aunt, Mrs. Emma Griffith, both of Fort Wayne.

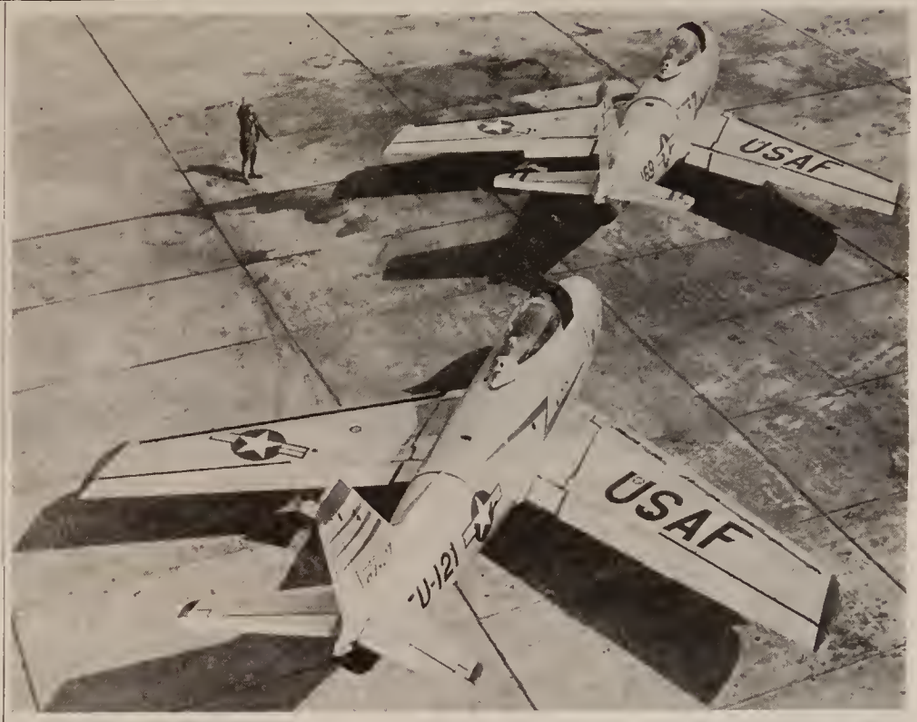
Dr. Paul H. Kraus, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran Church, officiated at the services. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

William Dalman Dies In Retirement at 83

William Edwin Dalman, 83, died at 7:50 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, at his home, 1143 West Main St.

He had been employed at the General Electric Company before 1903 as a punch press operator in the Lamp Department. Mr. Dalman was working in Bldg. 19-B when he retired in 1930.

Surviving are his widow, Amelia; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Seaney, Kendallville; two grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.



Services were held Saturday in the Klaehn Funeral Home with the Rev. Petzenik officiating. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

The average American, the figures show, is eating 11 per cent more food (and better food, too!) today than before World War II.

The Planning Section welcomes Howard Demsey. . . . Glenn Hoon has found a quick way of giving his clothing a color change. Just pour a quart of white paint down the front of your trousers. . . . DIE PLANT: Marion Williams came in wearing an "I've been out in the sun look" last week. He was driving a tractor Memorial Day. . . . Archie Wright purchased a riding horse for his children. From what we hear it is Archie who is acquiring the riding habit. . . . Carl Zion doesn't see enough of his buddies while at work. He is spending his week-ends helping to paint their houses. . . . Congratulations to Eldon Wilson, who became a grandpa for the third time recently. . . . When Earl Leichty goes fishing he takes Bob Mosshammer along to row the boat. Who cleans the fish? . . . Bob Palmer was opposed to a certain make automatic washer until he bought one. Now he is bragging about its good points. . . . Dale Romy thinks that the Safety Committee should be concerned about the concentrated load in certain parts of the fifth floor. Attention should first be given to the seating of Chet Burgette, Vic Barcus, Don Hoffman and Howard Demsey in such a small area. We'll have it investigated, Dale. . . . With the garden planted, Bill Stetzer enjoys watching it grow. Just now he is having rabbit trouble. They like to eat his produce and hunting season doesn't open until next November. . . . Since joining the week-end cement workers, Bob Birkenbuel and Everett Schmidt find that their hands won't fit the drafting tables. Too many blisters from shovels and hoes. . . . Gene Denny is still living off that pot of soup his wife cooked for him before going to Germany for a visit. . . . Glenn Hoon still thinks Paul Brinkroger is a good golfer even though every time they get to the second hole Paul wants to sell or give his clubs away. . . . Henry Sandkuhler doesn't light cigars with a 10 dollar bill, but he was seen throwing a handful of one dollar bills in the garbage can. . . . Mrs. Alcott got tired of waiting on the Walsh and Ramsey picnic to come off so she and Don packed the picnic basket and ate supper in one of the parks. . . . Walter Greiner is buying up maps of Noble County in preparation for his two-week vacation on Big Lake. . . . Paul Yentes laid down a $10 bill for a 85 cent meal over at the cafeteria. He picked up 15 cents change and walked on. His buddy, Dick Wagner, ran after him waving the nine dollars. . . . Jim Ehresman is arriving on time for work every morning. One of his friends gave young Jim a whistle and he stands in bed promptly every morning at five o'clock and blasts away. . . . Newest farmer in the tool room is Joe Mettler, who bought a place out by Zanesville. Several fellows drove by the Mettler ranch last Sunday and saw his two boys working their heads off. They couldn't see Joe who was no doubt under a shade tree sleeping. . . . The Lathe Section was glad to see Del Stickler looking so good after his recent operation. We hope you are back with us soon, Del. . . . With the coming of hot weather Gus Berhoff returned to his younger days by going barefooted. He claims his shoes hurt. . . . Carl Baermann, who now is grandpa to a set of twins—a boy and a girl, really has something to be happy about.

JET GETS A "HOT START"

G-E ENGINEER REPORTS . . .

"Artificial Respiration" Used To Start Jet Fighting Planes

LYNN, Mass.—Starting jet engines by "artificial respiration" has been tested successfully in Korea, the General Electric Company has disclosed with Air Force permission.

The method, in which exhaust blast from one jet is used to start another directly behind it, was described by the company's Aircraft Gas Turbine Divisions as "an apparently practical means of starting jet aircraft at advance bases where external power units are unavailable, or in extremely cold weather where effectiveness of such starting sources is reduced."

Jet aircraft usually rely upon field power units for starting, rather than their own electrical systems, because of the large amount of power required.

The Korean tests were conducted with North American F-86 fighters and were reported by T. J. McIntyre, G-E service engineer assigned to the Fourth Fighter Interceptor Group. The F-86, holder of the official world's speed record and the Air Force's fastest operational fighter, is powered by a General Electric J-47 turbojet engine.

Pilots Aren't Cooked

McIntyre, in his report, said the tailpipe of the operating jet was aligned directly in front and some distance ahead of the air intake of the plane to be started. The interval was selected to protect the pilot and airframe of the aircraft from the high-temperature exhaust gases of the plane ahead. The pilot wore an oxygen mask as an added protection in the initial test.

When the engine of the lead plane was accelerated to full power, McIntyre said, the exhaust blast was sufficient to windmill the power plant of the "disabled" aircraft to more than initial firing speed and a normal start was made.

"There was no evidence of excessive heat or blast effect on the aircraft or engine of the aircraft being started," he said.

McIntyre said the tests were conducted because a number of F-86 aircraft of the group had been operating from advanced Korean bases subject to rapid alert, adding:

"In such a situation, an aircraft in which the airplane battery system was inoperative or which had landed at an emergency field where no external power units were available might have to be abandoned to the enemy unless some other means could be employed to provide initial engine rotation."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fosnaugh, proud parents of a son born Saturday, May 27. . . . Bob Enz raises prize homing pigeons. Last week he entered seven in a 200-mile flight race. He almost decided that his birds didn't win because only two of them have returned home. . . . Marge Haiflich thought she would get a complete physical at the dispensary the other night. She washed her feet in the basin before she went over to have her corns treated. . . . Roy Hosler couldn't remember what size channels he cut. . . . Dick Hoopengarner thinks that the girls in his section aren't very sociable. Dick was tasting a new ice cream sandwich with a flavor all of its own. None of the girls would share it with him. . . . Leo Vachon's picture was taken and he was congratulated on his 35 years' service. We can't understand why Dutch Norwalt was shaking hands with everyone. Maybe he wanted to help Leo. . . . Joe Troendly told his wife that he would take her shopping for herself in Huntington. When they got home, they found they had purchased one item, a new trap gun for Joe. . . . Ginny Carter and Mary Jackson left for full-time homemaking jobs. . . . After Bill Rectanus rang in the other day, we saw him carrying his clock card with him. . . . Evelyn Bleeke is all aglow these days. Bill is coming home on a 10-day pass from camp in Missouri. . . . Happy birthday, Gladys Payne. She also gained a new son-in-law. Her daughter, Nancy, was married Saturday night. . . . Second anniversary congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nelson. Mrs. Nelson is the former Gertie Wolf. . . . Agnes Reinking is watching her language. Her pet parakeet can pick up any phrases overheard. . . . Bus Groves has a new way of determining which three connectors to work Saturdays when no one wants to work. . . . Fellows, Leo Klejnot has invited you all up to Crooked Lake to see and ride his beautiful yacht that he has purchased with his overtime pay. . . . Several folks spent the holiday out of town. Harold Rhine went to Indianapolis to the races and Arthur Gallogy enjoyed his cottage on Lake George. . . . It is nice to have Eve Johnson back after her sick leave.

Another man nobody understands is the train announcer.

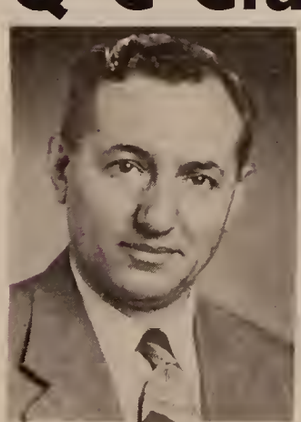
SIGN THE DOTTED LINE—Present at the signing of the insurance contract between the General Electric MBA and The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company were: standing (l-r) I. H. Freeman, supervisor of personnel; S. P. Adams and W. O. Menge, of Lincoln Life. Seated (l-r) are G. M. Bryce, Lincoln Life, Ruth Hartman, MBA secretary; A. J. McAndless, president of Lincoln Life, and Hubert Myers, MBA general chairman.

Edith Childers was really pleased and surprised to see her son's picture on the front page of the WORKS NEWS. . . . June is here and Virginia Pelz is happy. Her son, Bob, will soon be on his way home from Korea. . . . Today Fred Wyss is bidding us "goodby." He kept our machines oiled and in running condition. When the conveyor belts were out of order, there was Fred to fix them for us. We hope you have time to do all the things you want to do in your new life of ease. . . . The welcome mat is out for all our newcomers. Hope you like us. . . . Wilma Redding came in with a slightly "overdone" look after attending the Memorial Day Race at Indianapolis. . . . Birthday greetings to Edna Neal and Gladys Lutz. . . . We're glad to see Beth Heersche and Juanita Moenning back in the groove. . . . Grace Shanabarger is displaying a beautiful sparkler on the third finger, left hand. . . . Our We Wish You Happiness mat is out for Johnny Williams and his bride. They middle-aisled it last Saturday. . . . Congratulations to Frances Eckrote and her husband on their 11th wedding anniversary, and to Bob and Barbara Montgomery on their first anniversary. . . . Bill Ort waited a long time, but he finally got that new front tooth. . . . We hear that Lewis Hoffman is quite a hot dog fan. . . . Beverly Krieger was ready to shampoo her hair. She had no shampoo. She decided to go to the nearest store and get some. On the way, she met some friends and forgot what she wanted to get. . . . Bill Martin really likes for it to rain. When it rains, it makes the grass grow and he has to mow it more often. Bill lives across from where the Daisies play ball. He has an excuse to watch them by mowing the lawn. It saves money, too. . . . Jane Bauermeister has the answer to why we should have a "Be Kind to Animals Week" more than once a year. . . . Phyllis Lupton was winding when suddenly she shrieked. Could the frog jumping around on her machine have had anything to do with it? . . . Mae Jones has her own remedy to keep cool. Every noon she makes her own Koolade. . . . These hot days! Hedy Harrison knows she is working by the "sweat of her brow." . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Sarah Meagher's daughter, who is in the St. Joe Hospital with rheumatic fever. . . . Our sincere sympathy to Ray Williams in the death of his mother, and to Katherine Weigele in the death of her sister.

SHIPPING: Comes spring, and the gals all blossom out in new cottons or, as in the case of Shipping, new permanents. Ferne Runyan, Ruth Sorg and Betty Cutright are all sporting new shortie hairdos. . . . A happy, happy birthday to Eileen Fitch and Charlotte Edwards, who both celebrate next Tuesday. . . . Lucky gals are Emma Meyers and Marie Welch, who are on vacation this past week. . . . Leave it to Viola Haiber to find a new use for those handy little shop towels. Vi says they make very dainty little aprons. With all her ingenuity about shop towels, Vi seems to lack the ability to decide which days are holidays and which are not. Why she had to practically be dragged to work the Tuesday before Memorial Day. . . . We are hoping someone will invent a radar system for Betty Camphell to use in finding her way through the park, and especially to avoid the dogs. . . . MAILING: A happy birthday to Bill Fitzgerald, who will celebrate his 18th next Tuesday. . . . Johnny Pranger is vacationing in California. Nice going, Johnny, wish we could have gone along. . . . Minta Cole really isn't allergic to food. In fact, she loves it. She reports another raid on the relatives. You should hear that woman tell all she put away. She indulges in this working girl's diet all week (feels proud of herself for losing five pounds in one week), then goes out over the week-end and ruins everything.

Who got on a Pontiac bus instead of an East Washington? . . . Clark Holmes is on a week's vacation. . . . Bob Robertson and Gladys Pantazin are having a contest on who can raise the best garden. Bob is looking for a ladder so his wife can pick his tomatoes. . . . Selma Voight came in with a shiner Monday. Instead of the proverbial story of running into a door, she says she bumped heads with her nephew. . . . George Ryan is taking a week's vacation so he can brush up on his boy scout work. He has a couple of knots he wants to master and will brush up on his first aid. . . . Our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pinkerton on the death of Mrs. Pinkerton's mother. . . . Carl Reidel is going to be a busy little bee Saturday night helping hake biscuits for 1700 boys at Camp Camporec at Decatur. . . . The score is finally evened between Ralph Keller and Beverly Numbers. Ralph retaliated with a pecan pie. Beverly says she is very sorry it is all gone, and so is the reporter. The girls helped her consume it. Now they would like a larger one. . . . Laura Gerber's little nephew, Max Lieberenz, who is seven, has problems. He now has nine girls in love with him in school. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller on their 25th anniversary. . . . Alma Dailey is very busy getting ready for the big day. . . . Alberta Watts has some lovely strawberries, and the girls would love to sample them. . . . What made Gus Harrison turn that lovely pink Monday when he had a visitor. Also why did he make that trip to Michigan Sunday? Let us in on a few secrets, Gus. . . . Happy birthday to Christle Boyd. . . . Hedy Klejnot's son, Chester, visited her over the week-end from Fort Knox, Ky. . . . Buck Moore is driving a Chrysler. He took Oral Emrick's word that it is a good car. . . . We see by the paper that Bill Brown won't have to drive to Tri-Lakes to the square dance, since they are going to dance at Foster Park. . . . The boys are wondering when George Marschand is going to bring in the treat for his increase. George says they will have to wait until the pigs are large enough to sell. . . . What does Paul LeCoque use for bait when he goes fishing so that he always gets his limit? The boys say they would like to have some proof. . . . Red Yant and Paul LeCoque would like to know where Howard Householder keeps the keys to the dozen pad locks he has on his cellar.

Minute Men To Hold Annual Stag June 16



The sixth annual Decimal Minute Men's stag will be held Saturday, June 16, at Pokagon State Park, Neil Hench, chairman of the steering committee, announced today.

The all-day outing will feature a playoff of last year's tie game between Captain Mike Trott's Hooligans and Captain Perry Esterline's Yonigans.

Did you hear a whistle in the parking lot? It was Dale Brown's automobile. Someone fixed Dale's car with a whistle so he wouldn't be so lonesome going home. . . . What was the matter with Mary Tucker the other night when she fell off her chair? . . . Virginia Free spent Decoration Day at Hamilton Lake. . . . We wish June Rineman a happy birthday. . . . Mae Boyce attended the races at Fort Wayne and Warsaw. . . . Becky Fogwell bet Wilma Robinson it would snow before Memorial Day. We are glad you lost your bet, Becky. . . . Velora and Charlie Drury spent Sunday in Toledo. . . . Girls, do be careful about spilling coke on your clothing. Did you know it eats the elastic right out of your garments? For details about such an embarrassing situation, ask Lela Seibert. . . . Mary Biehl is stepping things up a bit. The other night some girls took a rest period about 6 p.m. Mary, thinking they had gone to wash for lunch, cleaned off her bench and spread out her lunch. Then to her surprise, she found she was one hour too early.

A sign on Manito St. in Indian Village reads, "Ralph Dunlap, Lettuce Farm." You no doubt are wondering why. Ralph had his lot completely covered and graded with new top soil preparatory to seeding. Before he had a chance to do this, the rains came, then some bright sunshiny days. It was not long until some strange greenery began to appear. Not knowing what it was, he was at a loss to explain its appearance until Mrs. Dunlap discovered a number of empty lettuce seed packets behind the garage. Someone had generously sown Ralph's lawn with lettuce seed. Now, said he, "I am going to cash in on this prank." There is also corn putting forth, but he will not be able to market this until some time later. . . . William Rapp has finally given up his faithful 1935 Pontiac and is now the proud possessor of a shiny new job. To date no one has been able to catch a glimpse of him driving it. Some of the boys are wondering if Bill bought it just to change the scenery in his garage. . . . According to Darcie Campbell and Pete Miller, Joe Turley is a pretty smooth article and a difficult taskmaster. Joe engaged the two aforementioned gentlemen to paint his house, a job which they completed very much to Joe's satisfaction. Darcie said that Joe is too fidgety and bossy. All that he did while they were painting and while Charlie Richardson was cutting the lawn was to sit in the shade, drink lemonade and yelp orders to them. . . . All the boys in the Plating Section are wondering why Dick Howell traded that good Ford V-8 for one of those light Nash cars. He explains his action this way, "Well, you see it is like this. When they lifted the hood of that car and I saw that twin ignition system which requires 12 spark plugs, that sold me. I like a car with a lot of spark plugs."

Oscar Schelper went to Battle Creek to see the Daisies play but encountered a cyclone while there. Did the cyclone hit Oscar or did he hit the cyclone? . . . Who did that expert imitating at the Piston games when foul balls are hit. It was Charley Winans. . . . Joe Eifrid has the tale of the week. He drove his dad's Ford to Detroit. It took him nine hours. When he got to the Six Mile Road, it took him two hours driving humper to bumper and he still got 24 miles to the gallon. He started with a full tank but coasted in home empty so his dad wouldn't hear him. . . . Welcome to Harold Huyghe and Jessie Rowe. We hope you like us a lot. . . . Anyone wishing their kitchen painted, see Bernice Gasper. She has a very slick way. . . . Elmer Jones and Marie Wilson are comparing their new cars. . . . "Digger" McKown is wanting an egg beater or washing machine or just anything in place of that darn Hudson so he can get where he wants to. Jerry, we know where there is a good kiddie car. . . . Welcome back to Connie Snyder, who has been off ill. . . . Marvin Van Skyock has a birthday Tuesday. He says 32, but heaven only knows how many more. . . . Nellie Williams went to Lima and got her car decorated. . . . Ernie Raypole and his wife were seen using a cross-cut saw on a young tree to make it branch out. I hear their boy could have snipped it off very easily. . . . Vi Minnich stayed in her new cottage over the weekend for the first time. . . . Jack Dennis found out some of those buses go to Waynedale in the mornings. Tardiness excused, Jack. . . . Hazel Cook has received word we work Fridays until further notice. . . . Congratulations to Betty Schockey on her recent engagement, and to Joan Keener and Bob Klotz, who were just married. We wish all of you the best of luck. . . . Esther Schladenhauffen has a beautiful sun tan. . . . Helen Houser came on days in the sound room. We hope you enjoy your coworkers, Helen. . . . Lucy Fiechter has a new recipe for making chicken gravy. . . . Congratulations to S. L. Wilson, who is the proud papa of a six pound eleven ounce boy born May 31. No wonder he was so happy, after 14 years, who wouldn't he. He received many nice gifts. . . . Ruby Chrystler won't run out of gas anymore. Someone sent her a spare can. . . . Happy birthday to Jacqueline Gamhrall and Geraldine Black. . . . Is Ruby Shive going to order any of those peanuts Gene Foster was passing out the other day. . . . J. B. Briney Roberts has rejoined our group. We hope that your wife likes our climate here.

It is good to see Esther Muzzillo and Helen Riblet back with us again, and must say that both are looking fine. . . . Don LeMaster was buying the cokes the other day. The occasion was because he was papa again—five little girls, all piggies. . . . Gloria Schory isn't blushing. It is a beautiful sunburn she got over the holiday. . . . Rita just couldn't wait for her coke. She put her nickel in and her coke came down on top of Millie's before Millie could even get hers out. . . . It's back to school again and the girls are still discussing and debating the solder test. . . . Jean Nebehy discovered that the best way to get something done is to turn in a suggestion on it. . . . These candy and coke machines are really taking a beating by Glen Castle. The girls wonder if he knows it is fattening to be eating and drinking all the time. . . . Freddie says Glen Archbold should be ashamed of himself—accusing everyone of picking up his soldering iron. On Freddie's suggestion to look in his locker, Glen found it. . . . Do you remember the trading Bob Pence and Walt Richardson did not long ago? Bob spent his vacation widening his garage to fit the overhead garage doors that he got from Walt. . . . Our sympathy to Luella McQueen in the death of her nephew. . . . Andy Anderson is off for a week's vacationing, along with Windy Boester and three others. They went to St. Paul to the bowling tournament and stopped off in Chicago for a ball game on the way back. . . . Paul Brandt bought a new house and moved in last Saturday. The fellows say they are waiting for an invitation to a housewarming. . . . We welcome Eva Hostetler to our group. There are many new people and transferred ones that I have missed, but it is pretty much impossible to catch everyone without being told by the people with whom they will be working. So I would appreciate your help and cooperation in coming to me with the names of any new people you have in your group; any birthdays, or any news events that you think should he in the paper. . . . Dorothy Ramsey went to the Indianapolis races, and brought back a nice sunburn. . . . Joan Baker is back with us after a week's honeymooning at the lake. Her husband has gone back to camp. . . . Betty Shanyfelt had a great disappointment Sunday. Her husband, who has been in Korea for a year, was to come home next week. He called Sunday to say he was being sent to Alaska instead.

Although they were the first policies of their type issued by the Lincoln Life, Mr. McAndless recalled the firm was founded on a similar venture when it assumed responsibility for a local assessment association. Since that time, their group insurance department has grown to include firms all over the world, including several local industrial concerns.

Forms Required

Forms for designating names and relationships of beneficiaries were mailed to all pensioners in May. MBA General Chairman H. E. Myers reports that a number of pensioners have not returned these forms. If the following retired employes have lost or mislaid the forms, they are asked to contact the MBA office by telephone or postal card:

Bulah M. Bailey, Lilly A. Benz, Elsie Brecheisen, Eleanora S. Kern, Nora M. Duncan, John Q. Adams, John Bickley, Oliver E. Bly, LeRoy Briggs, Lester E. Essig, John W. Felmlee, August Haenel, Harce F. Wage Increase

WSB within the next few days.

Meanwhile, Payroll Departments are continuing to set aside each week the amount of the proposed increase, which will be paid to eligible employes if and when Board approval is given. As requested in the applications, the increases would be retroactive to March 15 of this year.

In the case of those employes represented by a union without an escalator clause in the contract, the Company will not pay the increase until its obligation to bargain collectively with such union with respect to the increase has been fully satisfied.

six; Paul, one, and Steven, four. Herman, who works as a stamper in Bldg. 26-1, says the boys are full of tricks that are usually present in a boy's make-up. . . . We are very happy to see John Laymon and Donald Schweyer back to work after their recent illness. . . . If anyone has been wondering why Johnny Sowers is looking sort of low the past few weeks, it's probably because he hasn't received that new Plymouth. He has had it on order since Jan. 1. . . . Al Hamilton has now taken residence west of the city. There is a rumor that he plans to raise goats. . . . Group 112 extends its welcome to Russell Harden, a new employe. We all like him and hope he feels the same about us. . . . Ad Ragan believes Ruben Dewart has no business driving a Mercury if he can't operate our overhead crane without overturning stacked boxes. . . . We have two commendations to offer to the boys: to James Stauffer for his interest in the personal welfare of the people working for him, thus setting an example that is good for all of us; to Clarence Hoover for the swell job he is doing as our safety man, being an alert and conscientious worker. He is a good man for the job. . . . Glenn Kaylor, with his wife and daughter, took a three-day trip to Camp Lejeune, N. C., to see his son, Dale. They drove 850 miles. Dale was fine and they all had a swell time. . . . Wayne Brickley says he realizes that was a pretty picture of him in the NEWS, but still thinks it didn't flatter him. . . . Eddie Byers, who is a capable filling station operator, ran out of gas in the middle of the highway last Tuesday. Better check your own tank sometime, too, Ed.

John (Red) Braden, world traveler, baseball magnate, now has another title to add to his laurels. It is "Saw-breaker." Now Red being a bit on the sly side, kept out of the boys' way after he broke the first blade. At hurried intervals, he would slip over to the saw and make a few quick adjustments and get back to his bench when the boys would try to gather around. But in his haste to keep out of their way, he neglected to notice that he put the new saw-blade in backwards. Thinking everything was in the clear, he started to saw his steel. When he broke the second blade, he was given the royal initiation. . . . Cris Delagrange was to bring Noland Myers some seed corn. When Cris gave the package to Noland, he put it in his car; he didn't look at the contents. When he went to put it in his planter, he discovered he had soybeans. Now, why Cris thought he could fool and oldtimer like Noland, we can't understand.

Saw-Breaker

After a day's vacation, I know we will have an interesting column. . . . Felix Neuman and his son spent Wednesday at Big Lake and Crane Lake fishing, but no luck. Next time, Felix, you should consult Louie Davis. That same day and at the same lake, Louie reported a good catch. . . . Virginia McCormiek really enjoyed horseback riding, but oh, the after-effects were quite severe. . . . Marietta Beckman reported a good time Wednesday skating at the Roller Dome. . . . Patsy Auer received a ring from Frank Beck. Ask Frank about it. He made it out of copper wire. Anyway, it was a ring. . . . We welcome Dorothy Johnson back to our group as a new placer on Line Three. She has been on the day shift. . . . Ethel Carr has been transferred from first shift to second shift. . . . We welcome a new tyer on Line Three, Ruth Pequignot. Hope you like us. . . . Bea Lantz also tried her luck at fishing at Crane Lake. Bea said, "No luck." . . .

G-I Brother

This picture is of PFC Robert Young, who has returned to training at Kcesler Air Force Base, Miss., after a 10-day furlough at Monroe, Ind. Bob is a brother to your reporter and Harry Young, who is an employe of Decatur G-E. Harry had a recent operation, and Bob came home to be with him. . . . Congratulations to Helen Bradley, who is a grandma. A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bradley of Indianapolis. . . . The group in Bldg. 17-3 presented lovely parting gifts to Angie Fogle and Esther Verhaegen, who left us this week. Angie treated us with candy bars and Esther, with cokes. Thanks, girls. Let us hear from you often. We'll miss you.

The girls in the Finishing Section had a potluck dinner in honor of Vivian Fleckenstein's birthday. . . . Garnet Curie and her husband and Levona and Ernie Clark went fishing. They caught the limit—sunburn. . . . You all have heard of mothers and daughters having matched clothing. Bob and Mary Hirschmann are both wearing matched socks. It must be a husband and wife set. . . . Lorraine's new nickname is "Blackie." . . . Ruth Freeland has moved back to the city. . . . Nancy McCrea, why were you so pale last Thursday? . . . Anna Allman is a new grandmother. . . . George Brehm, be sure you carry insurance for people riding in your car. It seems that Martha Doehrman has a little trouble getting in your car. . . . Doris Rinehold says she caught "three whole fish." . . . Al Riemen rides to work Saturdays in a convertible. . . . Bob Thomas is now working in the stock room. . . . Max Sprowl has been having quite a lot of car trouble, so he is thinking about buying a horse and buggy. . . . The latest method of sealing boxes is to sit on them. For more information, see Nellie Wendt. . . . We still have a couple of girls who enjoy riding the merry-go-round. Madge and Dorothy had quite a time Decoration Day at Swinney Park. . . . Lonnie Rockstroh was all prepared to sleep late Decoration Day. She was doing all right until three bands began playing right under her window. Better luck next time, Lonnie. . . . We all believe Tom Hidehrand should be told that he is a big boy now and he shouldn't go looking in girls' pockets. Also, Tom, we put our clock cards in that black box at the end of the week, not on Tuesdays.

Has New Method

Gladys Williams has a trained mouse. Charlie, by name, crawls along the tape machine on her bench and proceeds to nibble on the brush that wets the tape. . . . Elsie Forschner must have been demoted! She was seen carrying a broom. . . . Evelyn Brunkhart let out with her 7 a.m. whistle the other day and scared the morning weakness out of a lot of us. . . . Tom and Rae Kirk recently redecorated their bedroom. Now the room seems so strange, they both have trouble sleeping! . . . Howard Winters, who usually appears calm and unruffled, complains he can't sleep either. Seems to me this floor would be a likely spot for a Hadaeol salesman. . . . We said good-bye to Bobbie Shaw and Ruth Cummings with a potluck. . . . Mertz wanted to know if it was someone's birthday. Bobbie explained it was not her birthday but that it was going to be someone's birthday and that's why she was quitting. . . . We'd better take up a collection and get Jerry Kurtz an alarm clock with Big Ben sound effects in order that she might get to work on time! . . . Greetings, salutations and all such stuff like that there to the new gals on Hermetics, Sharon Helbert, Joan Lewis, Delores Carpenter, Margaret Miller and Grace Brakenhoff. And also to Ann Friedman on the blanket warmer line, and a gal who goes only by the name Mickey in the winding section. . . . Our sympathy to Bob Crippen and to Maxine Bakle, who have each lost a close member of his family. . . . Tom Woodward, Gene Mettler and Harold Niemeyer have their shingle hung in the stockroom! What next? . . . Cecelia Pranger would make a good stockkeeper from the way she's been keeping that stacking line going. . . . Al Miller was overheard planning to plant a stick of dynamite under his dog for barking at three in the morning.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Place card above over-ripe tomatoes in grocery: "Pinch and Squeeze Dept." Sign on bakery truck: "What Food These Morsels Be." Newly-established delicatessen store in New York has this come-on in the window: "Special Get-Acquainted Sale—Drop in for Butter or for Wurst." Hand-lettered sign on front door of California's State Dept. of Public Health, which records births, marriages and deaths: "Hatched, Matched and Dispatched Dept." . . . We welcome the following people: Elaine Norr, Marian Smith and Erna Meyer. . . . FAMOUS FIRSTS: Life must be monotonous for Clayt (Baldy) Barricks, Bldg. 19-1; Clayt has owned 10 automobiles and never been east of Van Wert, O. However, this was changed last week-end when he accompanied Art Braun, Bill Holle and a few of the boys on a trip to Cleveland, O., to see a baseball game. On this trip, Art drove 100 miles in less than 30 minutes—timed by Bill Holle's watch. It makes two firsts: first time Clayt has been east of Van Wert and first time Art ever drove over 200 miles per hour. . . . FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "You are doing fine with the scandal sheet (WORKS NEWS); keep it up as long as you don't mention my name," says Elmer Wagner. . . . GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN: Last week Ed Foley approached us with a sob in his voice and tears in his eyes. "Please," he said, "Don't put it in the NEWS that I am 'old and need the rest' just because I am taking a vacation next week." We looked at the toddling wreck and were moved with compassion. "Ed," we replied, "We won't print a thing like that about you." . . . THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: "Words without ideas are like sails without winds."—Howard W. Newton.

My wife drives the car in an advisory capacity.

Apprentice BROADCAST

by MILDRED ELLIS

We welcome six recent high school graduates who have entered the Apprentice School. They are Richard Kummer from Waterloo, Jacob Congaware from Spencerville, Roger Elson from Van Wert, Brice Brown from Hoagland and Alvin Marquis from Peru. . . . There have been some changes made: Jim Hoppel and Merle Aughinbaugh have been farmed out to Bldg. 19-4 and Dick Gotschall returned to the school. . . . Harold Wilkerson is our new Safety Committee Chairman. . . . Tom Ahr was out of work and it was almost quitting time but Harry Ecenbarger asked him to run that order of two dog screws right away. Tom finished the two screws only to find he would have to make 22 more. It was two dozen screws instead of two dog screws. . . . Alvin Marquis made the mistake of telling Bob Calkins about the time he used his father's mikes as a pair of "C" clamps. . . . The situation reversed and Tom Ahr's cute little nurse had to spend a few days in the hospital as a patient due to a cold and throat infection. . . . Hurrah! Classes are out for the summer. . . . Needed: Instructor to teach Bill Smith how to play euchre.

OWL GOLF

by EARL STAUFFER

Bob Markey's red-hot Putters refused to have a letdown after whipping the Hot Shots last week and made hay at the expense of the cellar-dwelling Traps. Tony Wichman shot a 41 to lead the Putters in the 23-point rout. The Putters now ride in first place with a plus 36, which is 25 points better than the second place Hot Shots.

The Hot Shots were handed their second straight loss by the Spoons. Jim Sternberger and Warren Wickliffe carded 38 and 40, but they couldn't offset a 70 shot by Bob Wire, who joined the team this season. "Old Pro" Lou Barney paced the Spoons to the one-point win with a 41.

The Flags won a 3-point victory over the Brassies despite Dave Mumma's 44 which paced both teams. Hinton led the winners with 45.

Bud Hower's Bunkers dumped the Drivers into the loss column for the first time this season with a 4-point win. The Drivers were handicapped at the start by having only three players. Engelbrecht was low for both teams with a neat 43.

2nd Baseman Betty Puff Named G-E Girls' Softball Reporter

This season's G-E Club girls' softball games will be reported by Betty Puff, Bldg. 4-6, in a new column "Skirting the Bases." Betty holds down the second base position on the team in addition to her reporting duties.

A Fractional Horsepower Motor Drafting Section employe, Betty has been with G-E since 1942. During those nine years, she has taken part in Club bowling, softball and basketball activities.

While at North Side High School, Betty was active in all major and minor sports, including archery and the rifle team, and did sports reporting for the "Northerner," the high school paper. She was also a member of the state champion Bob-Inn team.

Her other main interest is art. She received several art awards while in school, studied commercial art at a special Purdue course and uses her talents daily on her G-E job.

Betty and her dog "Chappy" live at 2815 Weisser Park.

Dottie Collins led her G-E Club girls' softball team to a 16 to 7 victory over Phil's Lassus Club last Friday night at Packard Park. Gert Koldeway was on the mound for G-E and Deloris Drewett worked behind the plate. The battery for Phil's Lassus was Huhm and Minten.

G-E Owls Defeat Zollner A Team 6-1 With Total of Three Hits

by Bill Geist

In typical ball weather, with the temperatures in the high 80's, the G-E Owls and free passes turned back the Zollner A team, 6-1. The pitching duel between Bud Hower and Simpson of Zollner showed G-E with three hits and Zollner with two at the end of seven innings of suspense.

Simpson's wildness proved his downfall, as it does many a pitcher. Tiny Baker led off; a man was out, third to first. Ray Scherer and Chris Brenner walked. Ken Spiker was a strike-out victim for the second out. Hoevel and Jerry Jacobs received free passes to force Ray Scherer home for the first tally. Left fielder Ken Zurbuch sent out a screaming single, sending in two more runs. Earl Tipsord was out at first to end the inning—three runs on one hit.

G-E continued the scoring in the fourth when a hit batsman, an error and a single sent two more runs across. G-E added a run in the last inning when a walk and a single produced a run.

Earl Tipsord did a creditable job behind the plate and caught Monteith at third when he tried to steal.

Decoration Day has come and gone. Now we are waiting for the Fourth of July and then the great vacation. . . . Most everyone had a quiet day last Wednesday. Of course, Norma Bower, Doris Koenig, Barbara Hurst, and Bernice Weisz motored to Indian Lake in Norma's Chevy. They reported a very good time. Norma got a sun burn. . . . That's right, Pete Fairchild is now a bona fide resident of the state of Ohio. That's not all, he is a plow jockey. . . . Charlene Eyanson, who is employed in Cafeteria, graduated from high school. Marlene Ulman, also a part-time employe, graduated with Charlene. We wish them all the luck that we can give them and tell them that life has just begun and now they will really have to go to work. Charlene is the daughter of Mabel Eyanson. . . . June Tussing had a birthday May 29. We almost forgot it, hut we still wish her congratulations. They do tell us that she is thinking very seriously of doing that altar trek. . . . Dora Mae Fairchild also had a birthday May 22. Congrats, Dora Mae, and lots of luck. By the way, Dora and Spec Macy were at Indianapolis for the big race last Wednesday. . . . Pat Huser will wear a strapless bathing suit the next time she goes swimming so she won't have a big "X" on her back. She says, "'X' marks the spot." . . . We still have only seven more weeks until vacation. Boy, oh boy! . . . Wonder how Barb Robinson is making out on days. Hi, Barb! . . . Norma Poorman must be ill. She doesn't say a word anymore. Must be the heat! Oh come on, Norma, what do you say? . . . Helen Funk, accompanied by her friends, spent Decoration Day at the great auto races. Helen is quite a race fan. . . . "Ouch!" said Kate Steele when a pack of matches exploded in her hand leaving her with many blisters. Kate says, "No golf for a few days." . . . Mary Ann Laurent's theme song these days is "California Here I Come." . . . Dorothy Schumm believes if she lives through the montb of June she ean take most anything. I wonder why? . . . Betty Koors bought a set of golf clubs. One of these days, we're going to see a lot of Betty on tbe golf course. . . . Gee, what a beautiful tan, Mary Miller! Where did you get it? Oh, playing golf again. . . . It seems as though two of our fellow workers are plumbers. Reeently Carl Smith and Kenny Beard were installing an outside pump at Carl's farm. They had the job just about completed when they discovered they missed the measurements of the connections by six inches. Kenny was going to quit to go flying. He stopped in town, got the connection, got in his airplane, flew over Carl's farm and dropped it in the yard. . . . Esther Harmon, winder in Group 7-51, has left us to become a housewife. She is also moving to Ohio. Esther, we'll miss you, and we wish you the best of luck and all the happiness that can be had. . . . The long awaited day finally arrived. The day when Tibby Gehrig painted his boat, his own this time and not the one belonging to his neighbor. Yes, he had to paint his own boat. Grant Fry didn't return the favor and paint the Gehrig boat. . . . The unsolved erime is the mysterious disappearance of the orange. After Kate Niblick so earefully concealed the orange in a safe place (or so she thought), it was quite a shock to find it was gone when she returned. All she found was the peeling. Wonder if Francis could tell anything about it? He was around that spot for quite a while. Kate has left us to take up full-time house duties, but we'll let her know if we find out anything about the orange.

Our office enjoyed a potluck dinner recently. The food was delicious and everybody certainly ate their share. . . . Vivian Grepke is on her own now. She has taken Pat Waterman's job and is doing fine. . . . Pat will be married Saturday, June 9, to Jerry Kersh. They will make their home in Elkhart. . . . Vivian Hill is also getting married June 9 to Stanley Goff. They will make their home in Roanoke. We wish them all the luck and happiness in the world. . . . We wonder if Stella Hagadorn is getting all the gardening done that she planned. Stella left us Friday. She was surprised with a beautiful copper planter as a gift from the office. . . . Maxine Householder had a wonderful week-end. She spent it in Cincinnati at the Walther League Convention. . . . Judy Krebs and Jean Smith are back to normal again after their "lost week-ends" came to an end with the return of their boyfriends to camp in California. . . . We welcome Ruth Steir to our group. She had previously worked in Regional Warehouse 11 years before her transfer to our office. We hope you like it here, Ruth. . . . We're going to have another professional golf player in our office besides Jo Quinn. Carol Harrington is starting her lessons soon. Does anybody know of a golf course where they have holes about three feet in circumferance? . . . That's all for now. So long until next week.

HOT SUN: Did you notice all the blushing people in the DC Division day after Decoration Day? Ruth Oetting took prize No. 1. Ray Rofini took second place; Virg Cauthen, third place, with Forrie Carlson a close third. Ruth and Ray claim they got their sunburns watching the Indianapolis races. Virg and Forrie were enthusiastic golfers. . . . CONGRATS: Congratulations to our former co-worker, Maxine Lonergan, and her husband, Johnny. They are the very proud parents of a baby girl, born early last Monday morning at the St. Joe Hospital. . . . BACK AGAIN: We were surprised to see Phyllis Faulkner back at her desk last Monday just 10 days after a tonsillectomy. Can't keep a good gal down! . . . DC TO AC: Here we go again. AC reached out its gory hands again and grabbed Harold Buck back in its folds. You ean stop anytime now. Direct Current is just as important as Alternating. . . . WRONG END: We've heard of bifocals, trifocals, but did you ever hear of quadfocals, Bob Loveland? Bob tried to pour his milk into an upside-down glass at the cafeteria the other day. . . .

Our special thanks to Billie Beeth, Bldg. 17-3, for doing our math for us and telling us how many weeks until vacation. Maybe now we can make it. . . . Wouldn't you have given a nickel to have seen Larry Reed out hunting his pet parakeet in the pouring down rain? We would. Poor Larry, or poor bird or something—anyway, the bird finally appeared beneath Larry's car, all safe and sound. . . . Butch Konow tried to convince the elevator man that the tomatoes he had brought him were from his own garden. With tomatoes at 27 cents per pound, it sorta looks like Butch got fooled. . . . We wish to extend out sympathies to Bernon Huguenard on the death of his brother. . . . The "new" flashing smile you see in the Cost Section belongs to E. G. Stock. Can you whistle? . . . Mary Burkholder presented a beautiful picture at a restaurant in downtown Fort Wayne with a "butter-slide." . . . Leona Zwick, "Emmie" Stock and Larry Rickert all celebrated wedding anniversaries in May. Congratulations, folks, from the gang and our best wishes for your happiness. . . . We have a talented lass in our midst. Virginia Harris is capable of digging sewers. Her price is two dollars an hour. . . . Folks, let's all be especially careful when we start out this week-end and every week-end. It's been said many times, but it still holds deep meaning, "The life you save may be your own." . . . We have been wondering whether or not John Howard's lamhs have had any sheep lately.

THANKS: Thanks for those delicious cupcakes to help us celebrate your birthday, H. P. Love. . . . A YEAR OLDER: Coming up next week will be happy birthday greetings to Forrie Carlson, Wednesday, June 13. . . . GOOD ADVICE: When you go away for a week or even a week-end, it's an excellent idea to turn off the water to your home. Ask Ray Jones, he had to learn the hard way. He went through everything a flooded man experiences, all but the mud. "Just call me 'Noah'," sez Ray. . . . BYE BYE: As of last Monday, Lew Gossman left the AC Division to join the Commercial Division. Lots of luck, Lew. . . . WELCOME BACK: Again we welcome back Bob Kirby. He was in stitches. . . . JUGGLER: Jack Kirlin will put on a juggling exhibition as soon as Kenny French says he's ready for the stage. These half-hour noons don't give the boys much time to practice. Incidentally, anyone interested in beat-up oranges, see Kirlin or French. . . . OPEN THE WINDOW: Betty and Frank Ross were in their car, coming to work, and as Frank started to back the car out of the drive, he decided to look out the window, but forgot the window wasn't open. (Maybe he was still asleep.) . . . DISAPPEARED: Where, oh where, has my coffee gone? is what Joe Rowen was asking the other morning when his coffee disappeared from his desk.

HONORED AT RETIREMENT—Clarence Schooley (right), FHP Div. 13, was the guest of honor at a retirement party Friday evening, June 1, in the Taylor St. Cafeteria. Mr. Schooley is shown examining an electric drill gift. Watching are (l-r) Joe Wyss, Jim Goins and Charles Myers. An employee since 1929, Mr. Schooley first worked in Bldg. 8-1, then Bldgs. 4-3, 4-4 and 17-2. When he retired, he was a drill press operator at the Taylor St. Plant.

Batter Up!!— First Baseman Ronald Macy, 12-year-old son of Sam Macy, Bldg. 26-4, gets set to lay the old apple out of the ball park as catcher Larry Konow, 10, son of Arnold Konow, Bldg. 26-2, works behind the plate during a G-E Little League practice session. Umpire Charles McAfee, Bldg. 31-1, is the gent calling the balls and strikes. (see sports page 11)

Who Gets What?

"The rich get richer and the poor get poorer."

Where have you heard this before, and how many times? Chances are you've heard it recently and repeatedly.

If at one time in the past that philisophy was true, it doesn't hold now.

Quietly and practically unnoticed, a change has been taking place in the distribution of national income. Over the past 20 years, through a major depression and a world war, this change has made the rich man poorer and the poor man richer.

The National Bureau of Economic Research released a highly interesting report recently concerning income distribution among Americans.

In 1929 the highest paid five per cent received 34 per cent of all personal income. By 1946 their share had dropped to 18 per cent. The highest paid one per cent received 19.1 per cent, and only 7.7 per cent in 1946. In dollar terms, the average per capita income of the highest paid one per cent dropped from $13,168 to $8,994 in the 17-year period. The average per capita income rose from $690 a year, after Federal taxes, to $1,666 a year, also after taxes. The Bureau's research director, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, points out that there have been no significant changes in the relationships since 1946. National production has doubled since 1929. Population has increased 25 per cent, while the physical volume of personal consumption has increased nearly 75 per cent.

Reduction of income inequalities in the future, Dr. Burns emphasizes, must be achieved "by raising the productivity of those at the bottom of the income scale rather than by transferring income from the rich to the poor."

This significant change seems to lead to the conclusion that, in terms of both the present period and for the long run, a mere satisfactory share of the ever-increasing national standard of living must come from more production. Although innovation and improved technology should receive credit for a large part of the yearly increase in productivity, individual effort and incentive may also be considered as important elements.

The change in distribution of income revealed by the National Bureau of Economic Research reflects acceptance of the social philosophy which softens the harshness of a completely competitive society.

But the foundation for a sound economy hasn't changed. That foundation is the necessity for earning a share in the national income.

OUT OUR WAY

HALF-HOUR LUNCH

How do you like the half-hour lunch
And the four-thirty time, we quit?
That three-quarter hour, you gain each day,
Just what do you do with it?

Do you hang around home, or go to the lake?
Are those little odd jobs getting done?
Do you work in the garden, or sit on the porch?
Do you find life is any more fun?

Does you wife seem to love you, a little bit more?
Because you get home a mite sooner?
Does she see any more, of the man she adores
Just because of this shortened-up nooner?

Do you eat at the restaurant, or carry your lunch?
Has your stomach begun to rebel?
Do you find 30 minutes is all that you need?
Does a snack do the trick just as well?

Have you felt anytime, that you'd like to go home
At noon, for a little home cooking?
Do you think that a lunch, in a sack or a box,
Can ever be just as good looking?

At noon in the park, in the shade of a tree,
On a bench, it could be so relaxing.
When I think of those days, with the old-fashioned ways
I feel we have done some relapsing.

I know my opinion, at least for the time,
Is opposed to majority choice.
I don't like the plan, but if ever I can,
I'll admit it and also rejoice.

All the plan means to me, is rushing my lunch,
To get home and wait longer for supper.
But I'll have to agree, it could easily be,
I'm an obstinate old giver-upper.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital, and returned to work:

Sick List

Gloria Boling, Martin Kimble, Henry Lowe, Robert Huff, Harold Canfield, Mildred Schoeff, Mildred Sitcler, Kenneth Wilkenson, Donald Arney, Raymond Mock, Mary Ream, Betty Pion, Gerald Mowery, Paul Monroe, Wren Herbst, Maud R. McFall, James Onstott, Arton Cobb, Ocie Jackson, George Seabold, Charles Shirey, Irene Shoemaker, Alfred Snowder, Donald Lauer, Clifford Saylor, Rex Purk, Minnie Kendericks, Irvin Junk, Gerna Cook, Layton High, James Hippenhamer, Roscoe Hamilton, Leonard Deal, Eileen Curtis, Mary Casanova, Wanda Brayton, Louis Bloomfield, Betty Harkenrider, Anthony Holacker, Herbert Bauer, Arthur Druce, June Martin, Ferbie Maggard, Oscar C. Winifer, Mary McKinney, Sylvester Steele, Clarence Lahmon, Stanley Sexton, Loren Sparks, Marjorie Smith, Clara Nickelson, Louis Scherer and Franklin McCague.

Dismissed From Hospital

Andrew Braun, John Kyle, Hazel Buse, Anita Fitch, Irvin Junk, Mildred Sitcler, Janet Redding, Oscar Winifer, June Martin and Agnes Vaughn.

Returned to Work

Norbert Hans, Phyllis Faulkner, Jerome E. Frye, Clarence Horstman, Mary Dowty, John Knuth, Leon Bond, Juanita Moenning, Dona Meyer, Donald Schweyer, Fredrick Meyer, Howard Overmeyer, Mary Land, Boyce Sade, Edward Saxton, Harry Rinker, Helen Riblet, Delvia Stickler, Nettie Sellers and Enid Morrow.

Getters generally don't get happiness; givers get it. You simply give to others a bit of yourself—a thoughtful act, a helpful idea, a word of appreciation, a lift over a rough spot, a sense of understanding, a timely suggestion.—Charles H. Burr.

"Yep, that was some rain we had last Friday." Some of our gang needed boats to get home. Probably no one got any more good out of their umbrella than Russ Noll. During the worst of the downpour, Russ had his "Bumper Shooter" up and taped to the machine on which he was working. There was a hole in the roof, and Russ was trying to keep dry. Now "Butch" Konow didn't have an umbrella and he just missed getting drenched by moving like lightning (something new for him). All in all we had a very wet day. . . . Larry Rickert discovered he can't lean over to work under his desk without meeting trouble. He looked pretty good to Bill Hurtt. At any rate Larry got a ruler measured on him. In other words, he got walloped. . . . Edna Ward and Alice Pflueger attended conventions in the state over the week-end. Both gals had a swell time. . . . Charlie Schild stopped by to see us, looking his usual chipper self. . . . We never knew just doing what you wanted to do could give folks that contented look. Our pensioners sure have that look. . . . We finally got the gang started answering your letter, Jim. Probably by the time everybody gets done saying hello, you will be out of the army—we hope. . . . It's been said that no news is good news so everyone in Test should be happy cause we sure got "no news." While on the other hand, one might say we are getting old. If that doesn't hring results, nothing will.

Don't forget the G-E Veterans' picnic Saturday, July 21! I've got the tickets, honey, if you've got the money! . . . We have some more new employes and some who have transferred to top floor. They include Carolyn Scholer, Betty Venable, Retta Biddle, Helen Meehan, Clara Micheline, Betty Smith, Lois Major, Cecelia Shoulders, Irma Bradtmiller, Glenn Camp, Woodrow Trastel, Bob Huffman and Betty Neunswander. . . . Don Beghtel expressed his appreciation for the wedding gift. . . . Charles Pearson passed out the cigars the other day after returning from his wedding trip. . . . The gals on the stacking bench bought Pat Geschwell some lingerie as a birthday gift. I guess it was lingerie—it beats me, I've never seen anything like it in my time. Pat modeled it (for the girls, of course). . . . Bea Marsh has joined the reporting staff. . . . Al Miller brought in some flowers for the office girls, so he said. But we know they were for Louie Sordelet. . . . Mark Bartrom was asleep when he and his riders pulled into the parking lot the other morning. Mark's friends quietly went into work, leaving Mark asleep. He was still there at noon when they went looking for him. To top it all, Mark still thought it wasn't seven o'clock yet! . . . Loretta Miller felt rather strange and couldn't understand it, until she found out her shoulder pads were in backwards. . . . Jim Miller has a new name now. Just call him "flashbulb!" . . . The Indian must be coming out in Mertz. He was sending up smoke signals. . . . Dick (Now Listen Here, Henry) Hurst has the knobs on his car door reversed. You don't push the door open you roll it open! . . . Paul Dressler has left Blue Lake and moved into town. In this weather, it seems it should be reversed. . . . Mildred Schoeff is off work with an eye infection. . . . Archie Scott has been given a new name by the girls. He's now known as "NEWSIE." . . . Gus Goodman had half his shirt torn off his back. After the gals had a good laugh at his expense, Dorothy Myers gave Gus her smock to wear. It made a nice sport shirt for Gus. Down right classy. . . . Most Horrible Song Rendition of the Week: Bill Mills singing "On Top of Old Smokey." He must have thought he was on top of Old Smokey when he missed that eight inch putt on the golf course recently!

Welcome back to Maxine Luker after her long illness. . . . We were very sorry to hear Leonard Beckman lost a part of one of his fingers over the week-end, but hope he has a speedy recovery. . . . John Hunnicut must think he is in the hills. He goes around in his stocking feet at his machine. Really, John, it can't be that hot that you can't stand shoes, or can it? . . . Maggie Moore went to the lakes; Nellie Williams to Payne, O.; Ruby Stucky went to Celina and St. Mary's, O., over the week-end. All enjoyed themselves a lot. . . . Anna Harding attended a wedding in Columbus over the week-end. . . . We extend our deepest sympatby to Pauline Ober in the recent death of her father at Garrett. . . . Joan (Keener) Klotz topped everything, especially when she got homesick the fourth day of her honeymoon and had to come back home. . . . Glen Buckmaster bought a new power garden tractor. He isn't going to show his wife how to start it so she can push it and save gas. . . . Pat Sweeney's safety shoes don't look as big as Robert Boone's. Bob says the black ones just look larger. . . . We extend our sympathy to Ewing Moore in the death of his mother in Alabama. . . . Robert Hosier thinks there should be lights controlling traffic in the main aisles to avoid running head-on into trucks, especially when a girl goes the opposite way Bob does. . . . Welcome back to Clara Nicholson, who had been ill. . . . Virginia Reed sure is happy. Her son is home on a furlough. . . . Marg Bischoff's face was sure red in first aid Monday. . . . Geraldine Black received a nice blouse for her birthday June 14. . . . Helen Kritzman was putting the car in the garage the other night and she was thinking—what if she saw someone? She did, so she fainted. It was only your husband, Helen. . . . Someone gave Ruby Chrystler strawberries, but we don't think she appreciated them or she wouldn't have stepped in them with her bare feet. . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Mary Casanova. . . . Bernadine Warner spent the week-end in Detroit attending her cousin's wedding. . . . Irma (Scheuman) Knapp is kind and generous but absent-minded. For instance, last week she generously offered to drive some kids to the bowling alley after work. This was to help out another driver who wasn't going to be able to get out of the plant until quite a bit later. Everyone was all set and happy. At 3:10, Irma reached into her purse for her car keys. They weren't in there. In fact, she didn't even drive to work that morning.

Elex Plans Operetta July 9 In Theater Under the Stars

All Fort Wayne G-E people will have an opportunity to enjoy an evening of music under the stars and at the same time contribute toward packages for employes in the armed forces Monday, July 9, the Elex Club promised this week. According to Elex President Thelma Stone, the club has contracted the entire News-Sentinel Outdoor Theater in Franke Park for the July 9th performance of "The Vagabond King."

There will be no reservations for the theater's 2,100 seats. Tickets will sell for $1.20 each and, if the entire 2,100 tickets are sold, over 200 boxes can be mailed to former G-E employes, Miss Stone said.

Each ticket purchased represents a contribution of 40 cents toward a remembrance box for some G-E man or woman in the service. Ten tickets will pay for one box.

Historical Romance

"The Vagabond King" is an American operetta by composer Rudolf Friml. The two-act musical's story is based on an historical romance, "If I Were King," with the scene set in France during the middle of the 15th Century.

According to the story, Francois Villon, a vagabond poet and prince of thieves, has rallied his ragged followers to aid the French king, Louis XI, in the king's struggle against the rival kingdom of Burgundy.

One night, Villon boasts that a strong king could end the war. King Louis overhears and commands the poet-thief to assume the throne for 24 hours. At the end of that time, the vagabond is to be hanged if he cannot win the heart of the haughty Lady Katherine.

Familiar music from the operetta includes the stirring "Song of the Vagabonds," "Only A Rose," "Nocturne," and "Waltz Hugette."

The operetta will be staged by the Fort Wayne Light Opera Company under the direction of Albert K. Germanson. Three professionals have been cast in the leading roles. Bob Cockerille, tenor, will play the part of Villon, Mildred Germanson, lyric soprano, is cast as Lady Katherine, and Clyde Frailey will take the role of King Louis. All other members of the cast are local people. The production will include a 60-voice chorus, the largest ever attempted by a Fort Wayne opera company.

Tickets will be available from Elex contact girls Monday.

Occasionally, an opportunity presents itself where we, as individuals, can enjoy a very pleasant experience and at the same time contribute to a very deserving project.

The pleasant experience offered is an under the stars performance of the light opera, "The Vagabond King," at Franke Park News-Sentinel Outdoor Theater, July 9.

The deserving project is designed to assist the Elex Club finance their program of mailing a remembrance box of foodstuffs, etc., to every man and woman who has or will leave Fort Wayne Works for the Armed Services.

I heartily endorse this project and also suggest the idea of taking our families and friends out to Franke Park for a picnic supper as an entertainment prelude.

Two FHP Assignments Announced By Lynn, Mass., Local Sources

Paul M. Deal has been appointed assistant Works accountant, Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions. The appointment was announced this week by C. P. Moss, of the Small Apparatus Divisions in Lynn, Mass., with the approval of FHP Motor Divisions Manager M. E. Lord. Mr. Lord has named Clifton Duncan as administrative assistant to succeed Mr. Deal.

Mr. Deal graduated from Indiana University in 1938 with a B.S. degree in finance. In October that year, he became associated with the General Electric Company in the Business Training Course at Bridgeport.

In May, 1939, Mr. Deal came to the Fort Wayne Accounting Section. He later served as cost analyst in the Specialty Transformer Division; as supervisor of cost and payroll in Decatur and Kokomo, and as plant accountant in Tiffin. In July, 1949, Mr. Deal was named assistant to the FHP Motor Divisions accountant. He was named supervisor of costs in October, 1939, where he served until March, 1950, when he was appointed administrative assistant.

Mr. Deal is a member of the National Association of Cost Accountants. He is married and has one daughter. The Deals reside at 2525 Westhrook Drive.

Colgate Graduate

A native of Caldwell, N. J., Mr. Duncan graduated from Colgate University with a B. A. degree in economics in 1937. After completing the Business Training Course at Schenectady, he served as traveling auditor from 1942 to 1945. During those four years, he covered most General Electric plants and several district offices.

In January, 1946, he became plant accountant at DeKalb. His first assignment in Fort Wayne was in April, 1950, as supervisor of costs in FHP Motor Divisions.

Mr. Duncan is a member of the NACA. The Duncans and their three children live at 3813 Hazelhurst Drive.

World War Vets to Hold Picnic July 21st at Voigt's Retreat

The G-E World War Veterans' Association has slated an annual picnic for Saturday, July 21, from 12 noon to 10 p.m. at Voigt's Retreat. Plans were revealed this week by George Ellison, project chairman.

Free refreshments and food will be served. Tickets are available to both members and non-members for $1.50 each from contact men.

Further arrangements will be announced in the WORKS NEWS at a later date, according to Publicity Chairman Earl M. Cheever.

Partizans Slate Potluck Dinner

The Partizan Chapter of Elex will hold a potluck and outing for members and their children Thursday, June 21, at McCormick Park, according to Publicity Chairman Myrtle Lauer. Members will meet at the Park at 10:30 a.m.

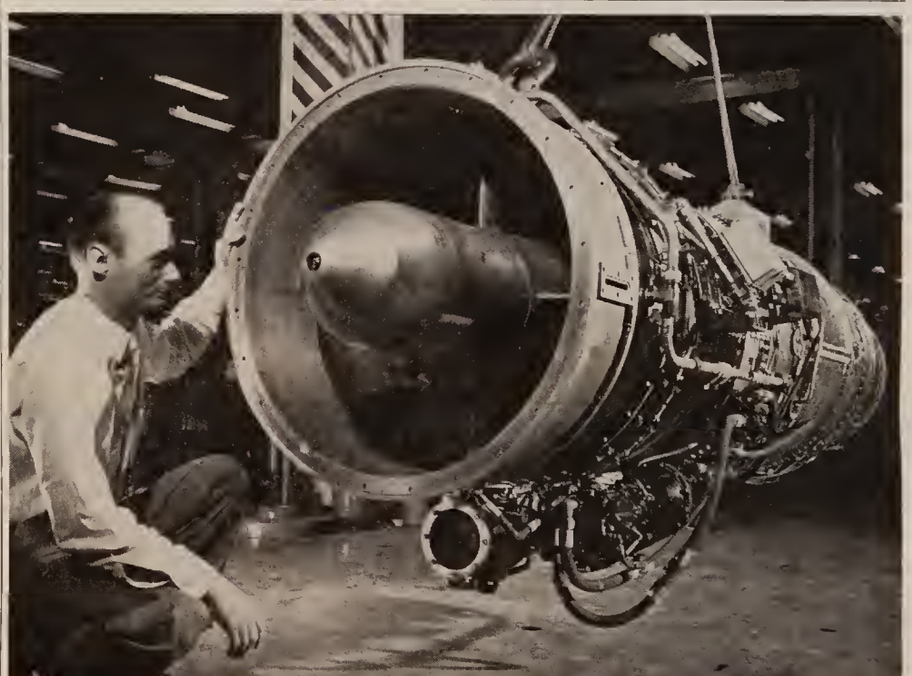
There is a playground for the children and Partizan members will hold a white elephant sale.

Helen Miller, Velma Steele, Hilda Rodenbeck, and Martha Wedler are in charge of arrangements.

"The New Iron Horse" To Be Shown Locally

A General Electric motion picture, "The New Iron Horse," will be shown at the Paramount Theater from Thursday, June 21, through Wednesday, June 27, according to an advance notice from the G-E Advertising and Publicity Department.

The film is a 10-minute short in super-cinecolor, distributed through the G-E Motion Pictures Distributors.



Aeolian Choir Ends Season With Banquet

The Decatur Plant Aeolian Choir ended their musical season Friday evening with a dinner at the Bluffton Country Club.

Arthur Bieberich, choir president, served as toastmaster and introduced Choir Director David C. Embler and Plant Manager J. F. Welch. Mr. Welch, on behalf of the General Electric Company, presented the choir with a scroll for its participation in community functions.

Emma Goldner and Harriet Pollock were in charge of decorations. Following dinner, a tape recording of the choir's last concert was played. Dancing was held from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight.

LOTS OF HORSES—Shown is G-E's latest turbojet engine, the same size as the company's present battle-tested jets but far more powerful. Designated the J-47-GE-21, and first of the Advanced J-47 series, it is designed for advanced military aircraft. Although its power could not be revealed, it puts out far more thrust than current J-47 engines, rated in excess of 5,200 pounds. R. O. Miller, project engineer, examines the nose section. Some accessories, housed in the nose in present engines, have been placed underneath to provide a greater air inlet area to the compressor. G-E engineers said the compressor combines high air flows, high pressure ratios and high efficiency with a minimum number of stages.

Henry Muller wants to sell his new tractor because he fell off it the other day. He didn't even tell the boys why he was wearing the bandages on his hands. . . . Next winter will be easier for Fletcher Cumbey. He has discovered that these new Nashs, with the refrigerated motors, have to be defrosted. . . . Edna Bailey is the one to take with you on a fishing trip if you expect trouble with the motor on the boat. She will jump into the water and hold the boat until the motor is started. We hear she had to row to shore last weekend. . . . The Southwest Conservation Club has a really loyal member in Joe Troendley. He was out there last week trying out his new trap gun. . . . If Violet Gerber could get her interior decorating on an hourly basis, she could reap a harvest. She has been painting in one room for about three weeks. . . . RESULTS OF THE LATEST GALLUP POLL: The question was "Who likes Ray Horstman's whistling?" We won't mention the entire results, but the self-appointed reporter states that Ray is the only one who likes it. . . . Don Coolman has done quite well by the insurance company he works for. He now claims two new clients. . . . I am convinced that the days of chivalry are gone. Bob Montes tossed his girl friend into the lake, and Andy Bauman left his girl at the skating rink to find her own way home. . . . Rosie Peters and Lucy Keller are fans of the Churubusco free movies. . . . Pete Heniser and Dan Imbody celebrated birthdays this week and each received a gift certificate. . . . We bet after Eddie Murchland's wife discovers the ink on his white shirt, he will remember to replace the cap of the pen before putting it in his pocket. . . . The girls in the Bushing Section are sorry to see Eileen Motz and Dorothy Fletcher leave. . . . It's nice to have Bertha Mollert back after her recent illness. . . . Pat Rooker and her mother left for California to attend the University of Southern California's graduation exercise. . . . The druggest can't make a profit from customers like Mike Dunscombe. An extra sundae was made by mistake. Goodhearted Mike offered to "take it off their hands for only half-price." . . . Eve Johnson thanks everyone for the gifts, cards and flowers she received during her illness. . . . Otto Braun says he is a plumber since he is winding water-cooled transformers. . . . Velma Johnston fell off the ladder while painting the house and spilled the paint over the evergreens. . . . Leo Klejnot's Plymouth broke down at Waterloo while the family was returning from the lake. He had to hire someone to bring them home and have his car towed. . . . Opal Weisel brought a quart of strawberries to work and ate them all herself. . . . Benny Keller wants a big log chain to chain his new Buick to a tree. He is afraid his son will make a hot rod out of it.

Hilda Walda was mistakenly labeled a "city farmer." It was Helen Walda, who is watching her garden grow. . . . We now have a reporter for Sam Buckley's section. Jess Stoiler would like to warn his fellow workers not to do anything rash without their bosses' knowledge, consent or presence. Sam is peeved about his nice, shiney desk disappearing. A desk beyond description was left in its place. . . . We would like to introduce a few more newcomers to our floor. Eva Creigh is a tester from Taylor St. Young Tom Zolman, unmarried, is better known as wire boy for Group 50. George Dewitt is a stockkeeper and newly wed. Last but not least, Andrew Dunbar, from Indianapolis, is young and single. He has the responsibility of keeping the section shining.

Solved Problem

. . . Lelia Byall finally found a cure for her old white rooster that has been plaguing her. She fried him. Lelia had a nice time celebrating her 24th wedding anniversary the other day. . . . To John Breeze, who is recovering from an operation, "The fellows are snowed under. They are hoping you will get back soon and help dig them out." . . . NOTE OF THANKS: "I wish to express my thanks to all for your kindness after the death of my husband. No words can convey the appreciation I have for you." Ialeen Huguenard.

WANTED TO KNOW HOW: Last Friday when the weatherman let it drizzle a little harder than usual, it was also one of those rare occasions when Ray Kierspe (alias Kippe, Kierste, Curly, Cotton Top and others) let his wife have the car. She was driving around town when she suddenly began to wonder how she was going to get home since all the underpasses were filled with water. She wheeled the car around and around and finally landed at the Wire Mill at Taylor St. and called for hubby dear, who immediately went out to the car to see how many fenders were folded up. Since everything seemed to be ok, he got into the car. We waited and waited. We could not see what was going on because the windows were all steamed up, and we were curious. When Ray returned, we asked him if there was anything wrong. He replied, "Oh no! my wife just wanted my advice on how to get back home." . . . SMACK DAB: Al Swift had a birthday last week and he was smack dab on the day with a box of candy. Last year he waited until the day before Christmas. . . . IN WISCONSIN last week Harry Perl spent his vacation fishing. He caught so many big fish that he completely forgot everything he ever knew about working. The fact is he forgot the combination on his lock and he fiddled and faddled for quite some time before the old brain began to get back in working order again. . . . Wimpy Lemper was also on vacation for a couple of days last week but he could not keep from making a telephone call to Barbara Cross asking her to get Wilhelm Karl Rohe on the phone. Berlin was calling. . . . HI POP, you're one swell guy and we wish you a very happy Father's Day. . . . A WORD TO ALL BOYS AND GIRLS who have daddies fighting those old nasty commies. If you have not already done so, why not write dad a nice letter for Father's Day and tell him how much you love him, and that beginning today and everyday from now on before you go to bed and when you get up in the morning you are going to say a little prayer for him. Something like this: "Dear Jesus, I love my daddy so please guide, protect and watch over him every day and night. I love you, Dear Jesus, with my whole heart. Please bring peace to the world and bring my daddy safely home to me real soon."

Eldon's Marine Son

The handsome Marine is none other than Bobby Mee, son of Eldon Mee. Bobby was wounded in the arm and again in his leg in the short space of five days in Korea. We wish him an early recovery. . . . Chick Abbott's "Music Makers" journeyed to Decatur last Sunday to have a jam session at the Bill Mowery house. Mrs. Mowery and her brother Francis were really swinging out on the guitar and violin. . . . "Digger O'Doell" (Kenny Docll) is sure getting a lot of business, since the paper made a misprint and said he was chairman in charge of funeral arrangements for the Mt. Calvary Church picnic. . . . Charlie Shipman, our good natured drill press man, has decided to take up boxing to go along with baseball since a spectator at Muncie went beserk and grounded him. . . . Norman Jackemeyer isn't a farmer but he is an expert grower of strawberries. Since he raises berries one and one-half inches in diameter, we acclaim him champion of the Tool Division. . . . Erwin (Sad Sam) Beilsmith got robbed of a tidy sum the other night. Now Sam is really sad. Sad Sam is one of our first shift bore operators. . . . Clyde Spangler says it's just as dangerous at home as it is at work. He received a banged ear and a bruised nose in his work around home and only a four-stitch cut on his chin at work. . . . Doris Poe, who hasn't been mentioned in the WORKS NEWS for a long while, claims the "Beast of Busco" turtle must be a true tale. Everyone around Churubusco believes the story, including "Tinker" Barcus. . . . Woody Hursh, playing in his first softball game last week, clouted two home runs. . . . DIE PLANT: Bob Bryan, who claims that the new blue paint job gives his car more power and zip, would make a good paint salesman. . . . Paul Wuttke, who recently joined the ranks of the happy married men, has an important decision to make. Should he buy that house car or not? . . . We extend our sympathy to Carl Baermann in the deaths of his two infant grandchildren. . . . The big rain caused Everett Schmidt to be hissed, honked and pushed. He now calls his non-amphibious Plymouth a fair-weather friend. . . . Dick Reinking was a welcome visitor last week. Dick will soon start training in the Advanced Medics. . . . Our hats are off to Frank Woenker and his little leaguers who won their first game. . . . The draftsmen welcome Jack Farris in their section. . . . We welcome Del Stickler back with his big fish stories. . . . After catching a 15-pound turtle, Ralph Reed claims it tasted like army goat meat. . . . Bob Birkenbeul was late last Monday morning because: his wife was on vacation and while getting his own breakfast everything fell on him but the kitchen sink; he missed his regular bus and had to walk through a muddy field (taking a short cut) to catch another; upon arriving at work the elevator was out of service. . . . The puffed-up draftsman is Ray Stienacker. Ray just got delivery on his new Pontiac.

We are presenting another picture this week. It is of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Golliver, who reside in Grover Hill, O. Michael Lee is one year old and Susan Jo is five. We think as you do, Russell, you have a real American family. . . . Ed Parker, Margie

All-American Family

Boner and Doyle Miller, all members of a square dancing club and close friends of another member Mildred Sadler, were very disappointed recently. Mildred put a dance on recently and did not give them an invitation. I am sure it would have been appreciated by all. . . . Gerald Grum celebrated another birthday last week. He doesn't show his age, except on the top. But we do thank him for the candy treat. . . . Windred (Wimpy) Guldice is here after going to be more careful of his choice of lady friends. He will make sure they have good tires on their cars. Last Thursday, one took Wimpy for a ride and he wound up walking some distance to a garage for help. The trunk was locked and the key was at home, so the tools were unobtainable. By coincidence he met Ed Byers, who fixed the tire for them. Ed says he hopes Wimpy keeps the friend he has as he (Ed) loves those easy nickels. . . . Time has proven that we were wrong. William (Snowball) Yeiter has the only natural pretty and curly hair in his group. Bill works part time at the Prom Terrace and his judgment of beauty and movement is a gift.

How a man plays the game, shows something of his character; how he loses it shows all of it.

By winning four and losing but one point last week the Decatur G-E Club golf team advanced to second place in the Decatur City Golf League. K. Gaunt and J. Baumann shot the low scores for the week, each having 40 for the nine-hole layout. Kenny Gaunt also leads the league in individual averages with an average of 41.6. The averages of other G-E Club golfers are as follows: John Baumann, 42; Bob Lord, 44.8; Dwight Girod, 47; Tom Haubold, 58.5, and Paul Hancher, 60. . . . DOGS DON'T LIKE COFFEE! Herman Lengerich recently went over to a neighbor's farm to assist in some farm chores. Herman took his lunch with him in a basket and parked his lunch where he thought it was safe. When it came lunch time, the neighbor's dog had licked the basket clean, except the coffee. . . . Kenny Ross, wire man for the KC Line, is sporting some beautiful scars on his face. He has a likely story but—playing ball and a poor defenseless shrubbery, which can't defend itself. . . . Grace Fisher returned to work after a week of illness. . . . Esther Harmon became the bride of Glen Hoffan Saturday, June 2, in Van Wert. Best wishes, Esther, and congrats to the Mr. . . . Birthday greetings to Nyla Morningstar. . . . Alma Fruchte is grandmother of a baby girl. She has been named Theresa Lee. . . . Effie McGill enjoyed one week of her vacation just around home. . . . Now I have seen everything. Helen Funk was seen washing dishes in the Town Pump. . . . Here is one for the books. Frank Liechty and Ray Bleeke were motoring in Michigan and they got lost. The first house they came to Frank jumped out and ran up to the house for information. Yes, he rapped on the door, and before he could say or do anything a woman screamed. She was standing on the threshold in a Lady Godiva costume. When Frank returned to the car, Ray wanted to know what all the trouble was, and all Frank could say for a while was "Drive On." . . . Watch out, fellows! Ira Huber has a brand new greenbrier Ford with overdrive and all the trimmings. . . . Talked with Joan Workinger the other day and she seems to be doing OK. Joan, if you remember, was a night shifter for many years until she got married. . . . Ernie Foreman is now building another home, This time it is on Road 224 back in the woods. The house is a lodge so to speak, or should I say a ranch house? . . . Pete Fairchild is now nicely located in his new country home in Ohio. . . . Ed Warren has been a popular visitor these last few days in Plant 2. Hi, Ed! . . . They tell us that Al Windmiller is doing OK in Plant 2. Good going, Al! . . . Treva Weaver recently underwent surgery, and the latest reports are that she is improving and will be back with us soon. . . . AT LAST: Now the opportunity has come for all you fun-loving golfers to get even with a guy. This guy has ridiculed you and me for years for wasting our precious time playing golf. It finally happened to him also; yep the bug has bit him too. Who is he? It's none other than "Julius John Jay Jay B." . . . It sure is good to see Clyde Beery back at his old stand in the tool room after several weeks of convalescing. . . . Happy birthday to Nellie White and Ada Owens. . . . Bonnie Foor made the gang very happy by bringing plenty of strawberries to help create some delicious strawberry sundaes. . . . Vera Hammond has left the Flange Line and is now winding coils for Henry Krueckeberg. . . . "Oh, how I wish that I had my boat here and entered in the races," so said Harold Baughn while attending the boat races in Fort Wayne recently. Say why not a raee between Harold and Ezra? We would like to see these boats in action after hearing so much about their speed. . . . Among the proud and happy parents at the Ball State commencement exercises were Dallas and Emma Goldner. Their daughter, Janet, was one of the graduates. . . . Greetings to Carol Sutton from Mendon, O., who is now working for Ed Hesher. Hope you like it with us, Carol. . . . Wonder where the Fountain of Youth is that Mike Kimble discovered? We noticed Mike devouring a lollipop recently. . . . Was Oren Schultz's face red when he discovered that he didn't have the dance partner that he thought he started with. . . . Helen Wellman returned to work after a long absence due to illness. She is now working in the Spring Section. . . . Now, Tibby, that isn't fair to check every day on Annabelle's lunch. . . . Only 24 hours in a day doesn't give Clyde Gould quite enough time for all the work that he would like to get done. . . . It's a blue-bootied tax exemption at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gage. Our congratulations to the proud and happy parents. . . . Is anyone spending his vacation this summer in Italy? Eddie Noonan wonders if the person would pick up his cover-alls he left there some years back.

Mildred Fettinger has had a terrible shock. Last week her moral support let her down. Barb Mertz, an ex-friend, lowered her chair. When Mildred sat down, she thought for sure she was falling into an endless pit. Mildred has lost all confidence in everyone and everything. . . . We seem to be having chair phobia around here this week. Jim Hilfiker and Bob Wigent rated new easy chairs. Some of the fellows have been teasing Jim and Bob and telling them that the overstuffed chairs suit their personalities just fine. . . . Dora Aughenbaugh is still trying to get a new chair for Pat Breinfalk. The one Pat has now squeaks so that it nearly drives everyone mad. Lots of luck, Dora. . . . Irene Kocis came to work last Friday to find our office completely rearranged and her chair vanished. If anyone should see a stray chair wandering around, would he please return it to Transformer Drafting Bldg. 26-2. . . . We could have seen seven chairs with men sitting on them had we been at Tony Kazelis and Jim Hilfiker's apartment last Friday night. The boys threw a stag party featuring among other things a card game. W. A. Miller came home with the loot. Even if Paul Ohnesorge didn't share Miller's luck, he was presented a bunch of roses. . . . Maurice Cox has been going out with the girls. Don't get the wrong idea. He went out to get a drink at just the instant the bell rang for the girls to go to luneh. It's a good thing he's quick on his feet. Hank Lantz was telling the boys if they wanted a thrill they ought to go out to the Speedway and see the stock cars race. Andy Anderson broke in that his wife preferred midgets. Six-foot Ed Ellenburg looked down at Andy and said, "I can see she does." . . . Fuzz Houser is going to catch fish with "glass;" a new glass rod, that is.

To be sitting on top of the world isn't such a hot ambition. Consider the Eskimo.

And the rains came. We never knew there were so many substitutes for umbrellas. I even saw a WORKS NEWS hat. Some girls decided to really have wet feet. They were seen carrying their shoes. . . . Herschel Case could have used an umbrella over his desk to catch the drips. . . . We wonder what Joe Jensen was doing Friday with that "cave man" style club. . . . Harold Kiel thinks that the court house pigeons have the brilliant idea that they are cement mixers. . . . Now it can be told. Laverne Ferguson has been Mrs. Lee Stilwell sinee last February. We wish you lots of happiness. . . . Congratulations on the little farmerette at the Francis and Delores Wonderly Jacobs home. Her mama is a former co-worker. . . . We are wondering if little Carol Ann Schiffli will be a third generation of G-E workers. She is shown with her grandmother, Katherine Weigele.

Present and Future G-E'ers

Her mama used to be a winder on our floor. . . . Fred Wyss was very pleased with the pipe the girls gave him. He also enjoyed the farewell potluck. Fred thanks everyone. . . . After the potluck, Herschel Case was seen carrying quite a large number of pieces of chocolate cake. I guess he doesn't like cake. . . . Maggie Kelley is the proud owner of a new DeSoto. . . . Faye Stockberger went to see her son stationed in Alabama. . . . The Bill Martins spent the week-end in Peru, Ill. . . . Ada Mae Gatlin spent the week-end in Cleveland. . . . Lorena Buuck is really disappointed. The car salesman told her that only cars came in that shade of blue. As soon as she bought one, Bob Griffin came to work with pants the same color. . . . Ted Goll came in to work slightly bruised from an auto accident. . . . Sometimes Mabel Schaaf doesn't appreciate the bus driver going beyond her corner. She has to walk back. . . . If you have a blue shortie coat, will you look and see if you have the right one. Lucille Chapman has lost hers and thinks someone got the wrong coat. . . . Bill Martin says that the Grace Lutheran Church is having a picnic at McMillen Park Sunday. Everyone is invited. Bring Dad out and have a good time.

Inquiring Reporter:

"SOME PEOPLE ARE SAYING THAT THE UNITED NATIONS IS A FAILURE, WHILE OTHERS TAKE THE OPPOSITE VIEW AND SAY THE UN IS OUR ONLY HOPE OF WORLD PEACE. WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?"

MARY GILLIOM

Bldg. 6-2

"I do not believe the United Nations has failed, nor do I believe it has attained success. The aims of the United Nations are high and only education, willingness to work together, and time itself will prove whether the peoples of the earth will unite in common cause."

JIM MILLER

Bldg. 26-5

"I think it is our only hope, although it doesn't look like they have done much. Considering the world has been fighting since the beginning of time, they haven't done so bad in the few short years they have been at it."

RAMONA CLINE

Taylor St.

"I believe that the UN is a failure. The UN Charter is so drawn up that it's almost impossible for its members to make any vital decisions. Thus, it is very difficult for them to come to any terms with warring nations."

FLOYD TRUELOVE

Bldg. 4-4

"At the present, I think the UN is pretty much of a failure because too many of the member nations, either through fear of each other or through fear of losing trade agreements with aggressors, fail to take any definite stand."

HARRY E. KESSEL

Bldg. 27

"The UN hasn't accomplished its purpose. Most of the nations are trying, but the few that aren't are succeeding in blocking every forward step. World peace may come, but only if the few can be made to see the danger of the trail they are following."

Idea Sellers Hold Final Speech Event

G-E'ERS SOUND OFF—Finalists in the Effective Presentation class competition were (l-r) John Margerum and M. E. Hamilton, both of Taylor St.; F. H. Fleischer, Bldg. 4-6; J. C. Hamilton, Bldg. 26-2; K. W. Michael, Bldg. 18-2; R. C. Triplett, Bldg. 26-2; E. C. Throndsen, Taylor St., and R. J. Keyser, Bldg. 26-2. Shown in the inset at right is first place winner Bob Triplett in action.

R. C. Triplett Wins First Place In Effective Presentation Class

Over 5,500 hours of class work and preparation for members of the Spring Effective Presentation Class were climaxed Thursday evening, June 7, with a final dinner and speech contest at the Squares' Hall.

R. C. Triplett, Bldg. 26-2, placed first in the speech event with his talk on "How to Get Away From Yourself." Second, third, and fourth place winners, respectively, were R. J. Keyser, Bldg. 26-2; Frank Fleischer, Bldg. 4-6, and J. C. Hamilton, Bldg. 26-2.

Forty-nine employes were enrolled in the spring class, which was divided into four groups. Each group had one evening of classwork weekly for 17 weeks. Two representatives from each of the four classes competed in the contest. Judges for the competition were Ab Martin, G. T. Graham and B. R. McClure. F. L. Gale, Taylor St., introduced the speakers.

The course, designed to teach the effective presentation of business ideas, was taught by instructors, J. P. Coughlin, A. E. Rowe, Frank Ondrovik, J. T. Howerton, all of Bldg. 26-2, and C. J. Monroe, Taylor St.

R. F. Bellows served as program chairman for the evening and J. G. Behm was chairman of arrangements. R. D. Kirk was entertainment chairman.

SUN GETS IN YOUR EYES: An epidemic of sun-glassitis which recently struck the DC Division, Bldg. 4-6 (roof garden), was brought about by the lack of venetian blinds at the windows during the redecorating program now in process. Drafting personnel along the windows found it extremely difficult to work under the severe glare and Bill "Zaney" Manecke and Wilbur Boltz appeared at their desks last Wednesday with big straw hats and sun glasses. All they needed was a fishing pole and a bucket to fish in to make the picture complete. . . . Denver Druesedow, Alfreda Sutton and Carl Leitch were wearing their sun glasses. The blinds are up now and the situation is well in hand. . . . REVENGE: Bert Girardot shot a buck deer 14 years ago. Of course, he had the head mounted as a brave hunter's pride. Last week, Bert was repairing the stuffed head (he didn't have a cold) on the garage floor. He tripped on one antler and fell on the other. Now that's what we call patience. That mad deer waited 14 long years for revenge. . . . WEDDING BELLS: Wedding bells will be ringing for Keith Fish, our test engineer, June 16 at Princeton, Ind. We wish you all the happiness in the world. Keith won a suggestion award recently. Every little bit helps, eh, Keith? Then they always say, "Two can live cheaper than one." . . . NEW ADDITION: The Ray Jones family have a new member in their house. Her name is "Wolf," an 8-week old German Shepherd puppy for son, David. . . . ADVICE TO ALL FRACTIONAL ENGINEERS: This being the week-end for your annual lake outing, let your hair down and have a good time (anyone having a good story to relate please contact your reporter for this floor). As a rule there are certain engineers we know who receive unexpected dunkings in the lake. Don't disappoint them! . . . OUR DEEPEST SYMPATHY: Sympathy is extended to Lilian Dougherty on the death of her mother in Burlington, Iowa. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY: To L. W. Wightman June 11, 1951.

Fred Seip was seen coming into work with his trousers soaked from the rain last Friday. . . . Coy Capesius, Marian Gresley and almost everyone else were late to work because of the downpour. . . . Jessie Wass was wishing for rain so she could get her car washed. She didn't think it needed to rain quite so hard, making her late for work. . . . Yours truly was stranded downtown two hours. . . . Ed Donaghy was coming to work and his foot got a little heavy, so the police gave him a ticket for speeding. . . . Anyone wishing to find Mae Boyce on a Saturday evening can run a good chance finding her at Trier's Park. . . . Mable Shinn motored to Ohio last week-end. Her daughter is returning home from college for the summer. . . . What's this about Charlie Drury going to Lafayette without Velora? . . . Happy birthday to Fred Seip. We really enjoyed the candy. . . . Why has Bob Born taken such a liking to our shop towels? . . . What's this we hear about Art Hubbart losing his false teeth? . . . We extend our sympathy to Hugh Theurer in the death of his grandmother. . . . One way to be late getting home is to make two trips, isn't it Dale? Dale Brown found out he was locked out of his car, so he had to go home for another set of car keys. . . . It seems as though Bob Born and Wayne Chapman know all about Chryslers, but not about the foreign made cars.

Dedicated to Mrs. Ralph Dennison in memory of her late husband and our friend Ralph C. Dennison.

OUR FRIEND

Gone but not forgotten,
Is our friend of yesterday.
We mourn with you and yours
For your loss too is ours today.

We loved Mr. Dennison sincerely
And he we liked to meet.
He always had a friendly smile
And a friendly little greet.

He took his work sincerely
And was faithful to the end.
When things went wrong, he tried to please
And mistakes he tried to mend.

He never forgot to thank us and send a word of cheer
For work well done to everyone
Several times a year.

Now he's gone to Glory
His toils of life are o'er
But the memory of his kind friendly smile
Will greet us ever more.

The group presented Frank Beck a lovely portable radio as a farewell gift. Frank is leaving us to return to service. Best wishes, Frank, and we hope you shall return to us soon. . . . We welcome Otho Hudson to our group as wire boy to replace Frank Beck. Otho hails from Austin, Texas. He is taking civil engineering at Indiana Tech. Hope you enjoy your work with us, Otho. . . . Arlene Welches Underhill is our new tyer on Line Four. She was married last Saturday to Jack Underhill. Congratulations and many years of happiness together. . . . Ask Bea Lantz how to manipulate the top on the can of Redi-Whip. Bea didn't know, but she soon found out. Bea sprayed her mother with the whipped cream. . . . The children are Mike, 3, and Pat, 2. Their parents are Virginia and Darold McCormick. Virginia is a winder and just came to Fort Wayne six weeks ago from Cincinnati. Oh yes, Mike is holding a pet possum. . . . We all looked like drowned rats last Friday after the flash flood. Several of us were stranded, not knowing which route to take in order to reach our destinations. . . . You should see Virginia Merriman's new hair-do. It really looks nice. . . . Kay Dolan and Barbara Nine are still ill. Hope you can soon return, girls. . . . Bye now, and until next week, keep the news coming in so we can keep our column tops. Thanks, gang.

Pick Ups

by Levona Clark

As Helen Wagner is leaving us soon, I'm to be editor of Pick Ups. I hope that among all of us we can keep up with the news in Bldg. 26-3. . . . First we wish Helen luck on her new job. The gang had a potluck and gave her a going-away gift, for which Helen wants to thank each and everyone. . . . Evelyn Jennings, when you're on a diet, don't let a potluck throw you like this one did. . . . Mona Hedges wears two aprons at once. . . . Billie Tucker has trouble keeping her cake. . . . Dorothy Paxson has been working first and second shift lately. . . . Mary Williamson can still whistle. She says I should be honored as I'm the first one to have the pleasure. Thanks, Mary. She also had her portrait made and I think they went to extremes a tiny bit. . . . Bill Edmunds was very thoughtful and brought Mary some soup for the potluck. . . . Lorraine Von Behren got locked in the scrap cage, and Bob Kick came to her rescue with a wrench. Getting used to the doghouse already, Lorraine? . . . We're glad to see Leon Bond back again. . . . Welcome to Finals, Roy Reichman. Welcome to Eileen Anderson on days, Helen Yeaster, Mary Meschberger, Mary Staples, Peggy Myers, Dorothy Guiff and Carlton Creager on second shift. . . . Happy birthday to Helen Walker. Helen is sporting a new diamond. Best wishes, Helen. . . . Happy birthday to Jane Eiler. What's this we wear about you falling in the bus and losing a shoe, Jane? . . . TV Engineer Lieberence, or the dial happy kid, after six hours, finally quit, stating, "I at least got snow on the darn thing." . . . Harold Settlemeyer is the proud father of a baby boy born May 27. . . . Congratulations to Howard Christley, who was married recently. . . . We're sorry to hear that Lyle Call isn't doing so well after his toenail operation. Hurry and get well, Lyle. . . . John Collins was sporting quite a sunburn from painting his new home. . . . Happy Anniversary to Max Kimball and his wife. Max received a very unique gift from Marilyn. . . . Dorothy's comment of the drawing on her apron was, "I can draw better than that. I can draw flies." . . . Due to an unaccustomed noise in the street, Louella Lahmeyer nearly jumped on Lenore Luttman's shoulders.

A Tired Old Tug Gets New Power

NIAGARA RIVER TUG, the William D. Kropp, was completely converted from steam to 200 hp, G-E diesel-electric drive recently.

NIAGARA RIVER ICE-CRUNCHING TUG RECEIVES FORT WAYNE-MADE POWER

Big motors and generators don't come rolling off the assembly line one-a-minute—they're long-range propositions. So, while most of us are enjoying balmy breezes, bait-happy fish and sprouting tomato plants, Large Motor and Generator Divisions folks are working on jobs for use in all seasons in many lands.

A recent rejuvenation job on a 60-foot ice-breaking tug, the William D. Kropp, is a good example of how Large M-G Divisions prepare for a richer tomorrow.

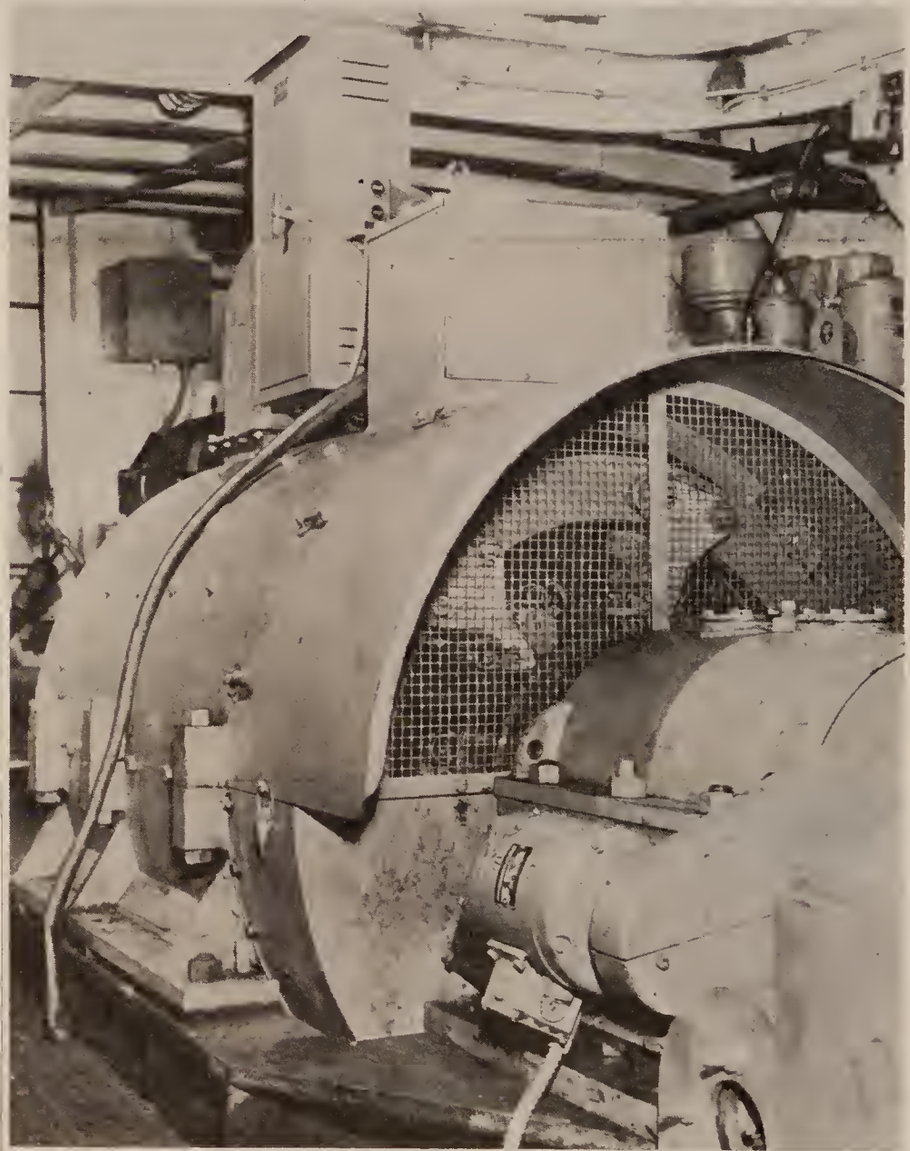
Niagara Falls' industries had plenty of power last winter because an old tug equipped with a new G-E diesel-electric drive was at work breaking up the ice on the Niagara River. With its Fort Wayne manufactured 13,000-pound propulsion motor and two G-E propulsion generators, the Kropp performed like the most modern craft.

The ancient ice-breaker had become a familiar part of the Niagara Falls community. She wasn't a particularly beautiful thing, for the strain of harbor duty before the war and then the ice-breaking job was beginning to show. Her engines and her boiler had labored long.

Some months ago, she was stripped down to the hull and her aged equipment was removed. In its place were installed high-powered diesel engines and G-E generators and motor.

Driven Electrically

Two main 200-hp diesels and two auxiliary diesels of 20-hp each now drive G-E generators, which in turn furnish electric power for a G-E slow-speed propulsion motor connected to the shaft. So, while the tug has diesel engines aboard, it is actually driven by electricity from its big G-E motor.



Auxiliary diesels provide power to light the boat, operate its bilge and water pumps and other work not including propulsion power. Because of the duplication of power units, it would be possible for half the big motor and one diesel to break down without disabling the craft and stranding its crew in the river.

Owned by the Niagara Falls Power Company, the tug is under the command of veteran river captain, Joseph Ball. The boat's engineer, John Newmann, has been with the Kropp for over ten years.

The new life given to the Kropp and the resulting industrial power for the Niagara Falls Area is one of the many ways Fort Wayne employes of Large Motor and Generator divisions are helping provide a higher standard of living all over the world.

RIVER CAPTAIN, Joseph Ball, is pictured at the helm of the Kropp. The photograph shows the pilot house panel, port and starboard speed control pedestals and propulsion control equipment.

MAIN G-E PROPULSION MOTOR on the William D. Kropp is rated 200 hp, 200 rpm, 500 volts. Shown above is the thrust bearing, tachometer generator and commutator end of the generator. The two main propulsion generators are each rated 85 kw, 205 volts, 1500 rpm.

Don Mason now answers to the name of Dagwood. From the sandwiches he makes, there is no shortage of meat at the Mason home. He is making them from ham and not from beef! . . . Willard Smith is now buying Buss Romary the cokes. . . . Just call Jerry Kraft "Romeo." That was the kind of house slipper he wore to work the other day. He just forgot to change shoes before he left home. . . . Helen Struver finally got some returns from her strawberry patch. Pappy was on his vacation last week and the first day of picking he picked 97 berries and three for the birds! . . . Herb Bauer wasn't on his vacation last week. It was a week of recuperation. He had a sore arm. . . . Betty Hilgeman left us last week. She is going to stay home and look after her children now that school is out! . . . Betty Kummer is recuperating, but is still in the Methodist Hospital. . . . "Merry Christmas." Helen Struver rushed the season and wore one red shoe and one green shoe the other day. . . . Gertie Bender is starting a new fad by wearing paper tied to her apron strings. . . . Ralph Waikel hopes he gets a good enough golf score to stay in the league. . . . We know who is the boss at Al Rebber's house. When his wife says, "We're going to the lake," they drop everything and go! . . . Bob Wirges got half-cooked on Decoration Day and on the week-end got well-done. In fact, he missed a day's work because of the sunburn. . . . Jay Michiels cut the grass at Hilltop house at Jimmerson Lake. . . . Ruth Hines sure must have long legs. She said she was bitten by a dog on the leg, but we noticed how she sat on her chair for several days! . . . Grace Ober went to Virginia to see her brother-in-law who isn't well. . . . Last Friday evening quite a while after the big rain, Don Mason was observed trying to talk a truck driver into giving his car a push. Right at that moment he seemed to be getting a lot more mileage out of his chewing gum than his Plymouth! . . . Lola Roew surprised us the other day and wore a dress to work. . . . The girls still want to see those strawberries of Bill Schultzs! . . . We had a wonderful potluck dinner in honor of Lena Bauer and Alberta Fogle. It was the largest dinner ever held in Groups 1x55 and 1x79. Everyone had too much to eat. Lena received quite a few gifts including a beautiful orchid. Bea Davis ate so much she couldn't even bend over and touch the floor. . . . Mary Gerard is on the sick list. We all hope to see her back to work soon and just as good as new. . . . The rain really dampened our co-workers last Friday. Almost everyone had to walk home. . . . Welcome to 1x55 and 1x79 to Barbara Godfrey, Mary Alice Williams, Joan Reed and Grace Taylor. . . . Margaret Smith spent an evening last week visiting Dorothy Mollet and was stiff the next day. She claimed it was from playing softball. Congratulations to Dorothy, who celebrated her birthday this week. . . . Julia Hohnhaus was still getting water out of her basement at 8 o'clock. . . . We are very sorry to hear that Beverly Bade's husband was seriously wounded in Korea. We hope that he gets home real soon.

What's the "thing" in the entrance hall? Curly Mannan wants to know. Examine the tag on the article on the floor under the windows and you will find some joker labeled it "wash trough." Margaret Norman wanted to take it home for a window box and plant petunias in it. It was supposed to go to E. Swank, Bldg. 31-2. "The Thing" is lost. Name it and you can have it. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frede became Ma and Pa recently on the arrival of a baby girl. The baby's name is Barbara Jane. Congratulations are in order. . . . John Felmee, retired supervisor of drafting, returned from California to visit in Fort Wayne. He will be in this territory until Labor Day. With that Western tan and a new streamlined figure, it looks like John is enjoying the "life of Riley." . . . Carl Nagel, now in Army life, stopped in the other day for a visit with his fellow draftsmen. . . . As this 24th week draws to a close, we've found missing Ken McDougal, Max Richter, Les Shroyer, Curly Mannan, Dick Rigel and Bill Purman who are away on vacation. Dick and Ken are on trips out Colorado way. Speaking of trips Joe Shelly will be leaving this week-end to drive his family to California. Joe's from Bishop, Calif., and says he hasn't been there for 15 years. Maurice Emling says the sheriff died; Joe can go back now. . . . Others knocking off for a little vacation are Elgy Ginder, Maurice Emling, Marguerite O'Connel and Marv Baker.

Little Nancy Lageman, the beautiful daughter of Robert (Hot Rod Happy) Lageman, celebrated her sixth birthday May 26. Her father is a winder in the Stator Section. . . . We have a wedding coming up in Bldg. 19-2 for Thelma Creech and the clerk from Bldg. 19-3. The wedding date is indefinite. They're the most sensible young couple you have ever met. They are having a home built. When it's built and completely furnished, then they will get the preacher to tie the knot. Congratulations. . . . It's a shame how Walter Hart envies Evans and Snyder since they got hydraulic thing-a-ma-jigs put on the gismos of their winding machines. Their work is all play now. . . . Edna Lesh has changed Maxwell House for Lipton these warm nights. I just hope her tea is as good as the coffee she made in the winter. I haven't had a chance to get in on the "tea deal" yet. . . . Frank McCalip went to the "500" race at Indianapolis Decoration Day. That's about all he can say, because there were about 300,000 people who beat him there, and about 299,000 a head taller than he. If he gets on "pool" between now and next year, he swears he'll buy a seat in the grandstand and see the races in spite of all the tall people there. . . . To see a young man strolling leisurely up the street at 11 in the morning, resembling Lemoyne Hinshaw, all dressed up in maybe a natty sport coat, tie, and $25 trousers; or a girl in a cool, white $132 dress, just going to breakfast, one would hardly think they are working people. I wouldn't be surprised if they didn't work second trick at G-E. . . . Charles Sessler says there is no Buick that can keep in pace with his '41 Special since he has it newly "souped." . . . I wish to thank Frank McCalip for his kind assistance in "news" from second trick. . . . Art Herbst is leaving soon for the Army. Best of luck, Art. . . . Jerry Taylor and Bill Clevenger are wondering if two pay checks affect Joe Lichty so badly he can't show up for work the following day. . . . Lee Bryant spent the week-end in Detroit. While there he saw the Yanks and Tigers play. . . . Our vacationers are Carl Dicke, Luella Boyce, Ollie Fox, Joseph Lichty and Bernadine Mailand. Bernadine is helping to care for her new grandniece. . . . We extend our sincere sympathy to Luella Boyce in the death of her father.

CLUBBY FAMILY—This is Jerry Taylor, Bldg. 19-2, and his nine brothers. Jerry is the second from the right. Besides having more than enough brothers for two foursomes, Jerry also has two sisters (see Echoes in 19-2 at right).

SHIPPING: Ruth Sorg came to work Monday morning with a quart of home grown strawberries, and they were already cleaned. I mean right out of the box, mostly by Eileen Fitch. . . . Helen Eggeman is the lucky person this week that is enjoying vacation. . . . RECEIVING: Anyone who has an extra traffic manual on the operation of signal lights, please forward same to Joe Rygowski. Joe passed a policeman in the "left turn" lane at Lewis and Anthony. Joe's feelings were hurt because the officer intimated that Joe's education about traffic regulations had been slightly neglected. . . . Several people saw Tom Dent "fishing" off the Fairfield elevation last Friday afternoon. . . . Dewayne Freshwater will make boat anchors for everyone who will furnish him with a 100 lb. chunk of scrap iron. In case you don't have a boat, just send the iron and it will be returned with a boat already attached. . . . Bob Younghouse was having a little trouble in the process of pro-rating a freight bill. As soon as he found out that 2x2 equals two is incorrect, he got the right answer. . . . TELEGRAPH: Have you noticed the door opening and closing so often? They're putting out the welcome mat. They wish to welcome Lucille Werling and Joyce Hoffert. Hope you like it here, girls. They also wish farewell to Luella Mannix and Beverly, two recent brides who are leaving to join their husbands. Luella is establishing residence in Hartford City, and Beverly, in Argos, Ind. . . . Kitty Cooper returned to work all rested up from a week's vacation at Lake James, but cloudy weather cheated her out of a sun tan. . . . MAILING: Farewell is in order for Juanita Baker, who is going to Alaska. We wish you the best of luck, Juanita. . . . Loren Hill has left us and is now working in Bldg. 26. The best of luck to you also, Loren. . . . It seems Jerry Gardner and Bob Heyn really go in for midnight swims. . . . We are not sure who was trying to out-do whom last week wearing loud sport shirts. The competition was pretty strong between Gene Dockter and Clarence Saylor.

Most of us have our homes to keep up, such as painting, papering, cleaning, etc., and some are very proud of their accomplishments. Many are happy in these tasks. Justin Heaston likes to sing while he works. But Jess has to don a little hat with a feather and think he is a Swiss yodeler and bother all his neighbors. Now the costume is really becoming to him, but the singing, they could do without. . . . Then there is Chuck Boyce. He takes his work seriously. He leaves a place in the floor where he can step through the ceiling. When he cuts a piece of plaster board off three times; it's still too short. He just takes a hammer, pounds the board all to pieces and takes off for a fishing trip at the lake. . . . Galen Gillenwater reports there is more truth than poetry to the old saying that "the hand is quicker than the eye."

Heart Attack Fatal To John Q. Adams, 66

Services were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the C. M. Sloan & Sons Funeral Home for John Q. Adams, 66. Mr. Adams died at 2:45 p.m. Sunday following a heart attack at his home, 1234 Barthold St. Death was attributed to a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Adams came to work for the General Electric Company in June, 1912, as a box maker. He retired in July 1949.

Survivors include his widow, Alice; four daughters, Mrs. Stella Vergon, Mrs. Lucille Goble, Miss Dorothy Adams, all of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Donna Jane Springer, of Waynedale; one brother, Frank Adams of Yoder, and three grandchildren.

The Rev. Orland Golden officiated at the service. Burial was in Prairie Grove Cemetery.

Rites Held Saturday For William J. Welch

William J. Welch, Jr., 66, died at his home at 3 p.m. Wednesday, June 6.

Mr. Welch came to Fort Wayne 40 years ago and worked for the General Electric Company from 1927 to 1930 as a machinist in Bldg. 26-5. He then left the Company and returned in 1940 as a machinist in Bldg. 20-1, where he was employed until his retirement in May, 1950.

Surviving are his widow, Anna; one daughter, LaVila, Fort Wayne; two brothers, Robert R. Van Wert, O., and Benjamin F., Owosso, Mich.; four sisters, Julia, and Mrs. John Jones, Van Wert; Mrs. Henry Hines, Owosso, and Mrs. Lawrence Mullen, Fort Wayne.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Mungovan & Sons Mortuary with the Very Rev. Msgr. John Madolny officiating. Burial was in the Woodlawn Cemetery, Van Wert, O.

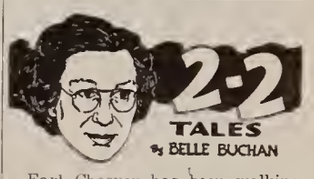
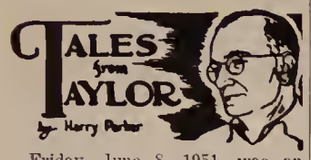
Hello, Dorothy Roucci. We hope you'll like us over here. You too, Gary Bertram. You set 'em up and we'll tear 'em down. . . . Have you got your alarm clock ready, Mary Alice. You'll wish you were back on nights with the old gang and look at all that good sleep you're gonna miss. . . . Frank Brindle and Dale Lauer have traded places for a while, with Frank assuming the night duties. . . . Our most sincere sympathies in the recent death of your father, Vera. . . . Mary Stopher wound up in Washington, D. C., with her better half for a short vacation. How's Harry? . . . Reggie hasn't heard from her mysterious whosit for the last few days. . . . Who is that gal with the darling print dress, Eveline? That's a mirror and that's you you're staring at. . . . Hazel Maxson unknowingly loaned her coat to one of the day girls. . . . Martha Bullit is taking air-wick for that chest cold. Someone should tell her about Hadacol. . . . Don't ask Pearl Michael how her strawberries tasted the other night. The girls didn't leave enough for her to sample. . . . Joyce Druce has left us. Best wishes and we hope the blouse fits. . . . Donna Lindley is home ill, and we miss that constant chatter around here. Let's don't stay too long, Donna. . . . Who talked who into trimming whose moustache? . . . Nora Ridley is having her lunch delivered via the husband route these days. . . . We're all glad to see Nelda Brenizer back to work after her recent illness. . . . We are still waiting to get a look at Dolores Johnston's horse. . . . Vida Craft is still on the sick list but we're still hoping for the best. . . . Mary Reynolds will also be watching the sun come up over the morning paper since going on days. . . . Donna Lindley says her weight's going down, pound by pound, due to missing those potucks.—By Jo Lee Zimmerman, guest editor.



CELEBRATES 35TH ANNIVERSARY—Rollan Fawcett (third from right) Bldg. 26-4, celebrated his 35th G-E anniversary Wednesday, June 6, when several of his STAB friends gathered to extend their congratulations. Left to right are H. P. Koogle, Gerald Moore, Mr. Fawcett, Lawrence Klaren and E. J. Schurenburg.

Anyone wanting to learn how to crochet in her spare time see Evelyn Kissinger. . . . Jim Wiegman is leaving us for Tiffin, O. We will miss seeing you around, Jim, but lots of luck to you. . . . We welcome Suzanne Voorhees on the Collins line. We are also glad to see Doris Briner back this summer. . . . Gene Werling is on the other side of the fence. Instead of having a stop watch in his hands, he will be heckled by the rate setters. Gene will be a familiar figure as he is the new planner on the 10-frame line. . . . My Friend Irma and Rita must be elosely related. Yes, Rita, they have railroad tracks in Washington, but you still can't BRING a train to Fort Wayne. . . . I think Millie has those last minute jitters. Tomorrow is the big day. . . . Walt Richardson has the new look and is seeing the world through rose-colored glasses. Mighty handsome he does look, too. . . . Have you seen Paul Brandt's new hair cut? Maybe it is to go with his new house. . . . Vivette Johnson was up in the clouds with her boy-friend. He took her up in his plane. . . . Dick Marquart must have a girl friend with a good sense of humor. Shame on you Dick for playing such a joke on her. . . . A box was passed for Don LeMaster's five little girls. We hope he can use the collection he received. . . . Have you noticed Wava Lee Miller's bandaged hand. She discovered that glass does cut. . . . Henrietta Jimison is wondering what happened to her ruhber foam cushion.



In America people are not aware that they have liberty; in Great Britain the people are not aware that they have lost it.—Cecil Palmer, British author.

Earl Cheever has been walking his baby, not back home but around and around in the house. Since this baby is an infant, he must carry it, so that accounts for the "all in" look Earl has these days. . . . And speaking of babies, Fred Grunst is popping buttons all over the plaee because of his new son whose name is Tommy. . . . Pres Slack is on vacation this week. He says that all he is going to do is sit under his weeping willow and weep in his eoke. . . . And speaking of vacations, Fred Fenner came back chilled to the bone, hitten by mosquitoes and telling of how his party was lost one dark night on a very large lake. They had a lot of fun and also got a few fish. . . . I don't know who likes this weather, but I don't like picking strawberries in my fur coat. Besides, our fuel oil tank is about dry. Oh well, maybe it will be warm by the time you read this.

Friday, June 8, 1951, was an eventful day for Willard Hull. It was his day of retirement. He was treated to a dinner in the cafeteria and received several gifts from his co-workers and well wishers. After the dinner and the presentation of gifts, Bill was handed a beautifully appointed diploma made by Bob Parker, former WORKS NEWS editor, as his special gift. The presentation was made by his foreman, Loyal Liddy. Bill has been with us for many years, and we truly regret his leaving. He will be greatly missed by those of us who have had close association with him. As the days go by, I am sure Bill will miss us and long to be back with the old gang at Taylor St. Willard, in closing, we are in accord on wishing you a long and happy retirement. We are not going to say "goodby" because we will be looking forward to many visits from you. So for the time being, we will say adios and happy landings. . . . After successfully dumping all of his bantam chickens on Jim Gambrell, Lindsey Eastes is now going into the pig raising business. To date, his mama pigs have presented him with 33 piglets. This makes him very happy. As he puts it, there will be no shortage of pork chops for his table this coming winter. We are wondering if he might be generous enough to present us with a few nice center cuts of ham. . . . When Ward Grim opened his lunch kit one day last week, he found it empty so he had to go to the cafeteria for his cookies and coffee. In hurrying to leave home for work, he picked up his son's empty kit. Ward had left the well-filled one reposing on the kitchen cabinet.

"Just Like His Dad"

"Well, what are you going to be, my boy,
When you have reached manhood's years:
A doctor, a lawyer, or actor great,
Moving throngs to laughter and tears?"

But he shook his head, as he gave reply
In a serious way that he had:
"I don't think I'd care to be any of them;
I want to be like my Dad."

He wants to be like his Dad, you men,
Did you ever think, as you pause,
That the boy who watches your every move
Is building a set of laws?

He's moulding a life you're the model for,
And whether it's good or bad
Depends on the kind of example set
To the boy who'd be like his dad.

Would you have him go everywhere you go?
Have him do just the things you do?
And see everything your eyes behold,
And woo all the gods that you woo?

When you see the worship that shines in the eyes
Of your lovable little lad,
Could you rest content if he gets his wish
And grows to be like his Dad?

It's a job that none but yourself can fill;
It's a charge you must answer for;
It's a duty to show him the road to tread
Ere he reaches his manhood's door.

It's a debt you owe for the greatest joy
On this old earth to be had;
The pleasure of having a boy to raise
Who wants to be like his Dad.

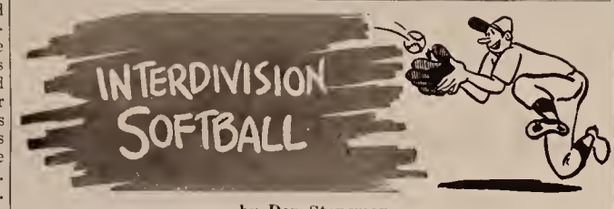
Ruth Cavender spent the week-end in Muncie at the G.A.R. convention. . . . Ollie Ragan attended the funeral of her nephew at Bryan, O., last Tuesday. . . . Velores Shull will never forget the first big wedding she attended. She arrived early and found the right church but was in the wrong pew. She says after her cousin's wedding she was exhausted. No big wedding for her. . . . We heard Ralph Keller was building a new house but we didn't know he was hauling it around on a trailer. . . . Pearl Everly and Linda Wahrer are looking forward to a Pizza Pie dinner at Laura Gerbers. Linda says the sample was wonderful. . . . Pauline Settle has been going down to Geneva quite often. Now she has Linda Wahrer all curious what the attraction is down there. . . . We are happy to have Edna Wolf back with us. . . . We welcome Norma Hine in the Winding Section. . . . Mabel Kaufman reports that her little girl is getting along fine after her recent tonsillectomy. . . . Amelia Dickover says she enjoyed seeing the peonies at Van Wert Sunday. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Moore spent the week-end in Benton Harbor. Hilliard says he spent two hours standing on the pier watching people fish. He wishes he could catch fish like they were.

the unknown hero of the Truck Rodeo. Just before starting time, Jay Greer discovered that he didn't have a stop watch so he sent Wee Will to the plant to get it. Of course, when he got there, there wasn't a watch in sight. Our hero, not to be foiled, called Mrs. Greer and sure enough there was the watch at home. He made it back out to the rodeo just at starting time. . . . We don't think Frank Mann will stick to playing dentist very long. His last "patient," a pig, almost bit off the end of his finger. . . . Hello to Joan Evers, who is working in Somers' section. She will replace Lou Holmes, who is leaving today. Lou will be married and will move to Bloomington. Loads of luck to both of you, Lou.

Joyce Greisser, Audrey Bradfield and Judy Krebs were also enjoying the cool breezes of the lakes over the week-end. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sembroski, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schlund, Faye Alexander, Karl Swihart, Marilyn Spice and Violet Schneiders attended the wedding of Pat Waterman last Saturday. Faye said Pat was a lovely bride.

The G-E girls' softball team was defeated by Gompf's, 8-3, at Packard Park Thursday, June 7. Koldeway pitched and Drewett caught for G-E, while Gren and Laker formed the battery for the opposition.



D. Phillips of Gompf's had the long hit of the evening, a homer. June Getty hit a three-bagger for G-E and came in on Drewett's single. The other two runs were made in the third and fourth innings by Ramer and Miller.

Betty Eisenacher, Bldg. 18-4, coaches the Gompf's team.

The Firemen came from behind to nose out the Squares, 6-5, Wednesday. The Squares scored four runs in the third inning, featured by Gil Carl's home run with two men on base. The Firemen tied the score in the sixth inning and won it in the seventh as Chick Morkoetter drove Jimmy Linn home. Paul Vance had three hits in four trips for the Firemen.

Taylor St. defeated Winter St., 7-3, in a well-played game. R. Butler homered with one man on in the first inning for Taylor St.

Small Motor beat the Test Engineers, 9-6, coming from behind with four runs in the sixth inning on Zimmerlee's grand slam homer. Zimmerlee also doubled and scored a run in the third inning. Zuniga homered in the second inning for Test Engineers.

The Apprentice Alumni handed Fractional a bad mauling, 22-2. No score book was turned in on this game, so no details are known.

Motor-Generator forfeited to the Works Lab.

G-E Little Leaguers Drop Inca 16-3

Owl Softballers Down Zollner B

by Bill Geist

G-E jumped onto Tyler, the Zollner B team pitcher, in the first inning for seven hits, coupled with two errors, and scored six runs. The final outcome of the game was G-E, 11, Zollner, 0.

Grimes hit two singles and a double and got a walk. He also held the opposition to two hits in the five-inning game. Tiny Bake wielded the heavy stick when he cleared the base paths with his long homer to left field.

Having only eight other men present at playing time, Manager Bob Crosley helped the team with a sizzling single that scored two men.

G-E executed a nice double play when Halleck of Zollner flied to Hoevel in short center. The throw to Tipsord to Scherer caught Chevillot off third.

The Spoons jumped from fifth to second place in Owl golf standings, trouncing the Bunkers by 15 points. "Old Lucky," they call me, Stauffer carded a 40 which aided in the Spoon victory. Bud Hower led the Bunkers with a 46. (He called me lucky; you should have seen him can two 30-foot putts).

Gus Ormsby's Brassics caught a coasting Putter team and beat them by two tallies. The Putters, thinking they were so far out in front of the pack that they could take it easy, found Gussie's boys primed for the upset. Paul Billman and Tony Wichman fired 46 each for the league leaders while Gus led the two woods with a 47.

The four-time champion Hot Shots were pushed into fourth place despite a five-point win over the Drivers. Warren Wickliffe shot a pretty two over par 38 for the day's low in the league. Lloyd Grider was right behind his teammate with a 40. Fred Uhrick paced Kuzeff's lads with a 42. (Watch those Drivers. They are loaded and can finish in the chips.)

With Hinton and Cavanough shooting 43, the Flags whipped the hapless Traps by 10 points. The win moved the Flags into the league's third spot. Fryback, as usual, led the Traps, this time with a 49.

First Baseman Kem Gets 3 Runs; Allen Dairy Takes Opener, 11-1

G-E's Little League nine dropped Inca last Friday 16-3 with Jim Lewis going the first five innings and Dick Snyder coming on in the fifth. Larry Kem, first baseman, wielded the big stick for G-E, getting three for three. Left-fielder Dave Schenker took high scoring honors, crossing home plate four times with one hit, two walks and an error. Tommy Martin worked behind the plate.

The G-E kids came out on the short end of their opener against Allen Dairy, 11-1. Eddy Middaugh and Larry Kem shared the pitching chores and Larry Konow caught. G-E earned its only run.

The recharged junior-grade Voltmen meet Patterson-Fletcher June 19 and 21, at 6 p.m., at Hamilton Park.

MATCH OF MAY 28

This match will be picked up on July 23, which is the Monday following the end of our regular season. Any other postponements will be handled the same way.

NEW STARTING TIME

The results last Monday were fine, even with an overcast. So let's continue to be ready to start right after the earlier league gets off.

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Just six more weeks until vacation begins. Have you decided where you'll be going? There's still time to decide, but some employes in the Accounting Section have already taken their vacations—The most recent vacationer is Barb Haley. Lucky Ralph Shoaff of the Production Office has been vacationing this week on his "extra" week. . . . Lost his way, or it was a long, long trail. Either could be used to describe Richard Baumbauer, Purchasing, who resides at Webster Lake. It seems as though Diek had promised H. E. Egger, who makes Dewart Lake his domicile, a visit. The distance is only five miles between the two lakes. After having gotten stuck in the sand, being lost in the wilds, and 34 miles later, struggling Mr. Baumbauer finally reached his goal only to find the Egger house deep in sleep. . . . Purchasing's Gladys Knauer is happy to have her son, Karl, home from Purdue for the summer. Karl, formerly of Bldg. 6-2, will be a senior this fall. . . . BELATED welcomes are extended to Imogene Walters of Billing; Gladys Sorenson, a transfer from Regional Warehouse to the Production office; Verna Perry in E. C. Thronsden's section; Wendell Schultz and Marcelene Malcuit both in the Accounting Section, and to Central Planning's Joe Juettner. Welcome, one and all. . . . Another year's greetings have been received by A. J. Rose, Yvonne Rosendahl, Mary Kibiloski and Luther Meyer on their recent birthdays. . . . The "21-er's Club" welcomes Twi Miller, Sales Accounting office, as the newest member. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Abrahamson on the recent arrival of little Richard Henry. . . . The Accounting Section's best wishes go to Betty Harrison, who leaves today. . . . TRAGEDY: Herman Norr has been suffering from a throat infection and laryngitis. Can you imagine Herman not being able to talk! We were glad to see him back to work on Monday. . . . Mighty proud: Margaret Snyder's sister, Shirley Smelser, is one of South Side's delegates on the Pilgrimage for Youth, sponsored by the IWOF. She will attend sessions of the U.N. . . . GRADUATE is Phyl Ann Westbrook, who was just graduated from the driving range to the golf course. . . . Bill Duster, extension 2491, still needs an unfurnished apartment or house. . . .

An Epic in Everyday Life or, Wha-cha Want, Bub? . . .

Stars:

Wendell Hughes—Garage Man.

Bop Triplett—Hupmobile Owner.

Scene 1:

Owner: Say you! Ever since you fixed my car it hasn't run as it should. I keep hearing noises in the back. Are you sure you fixed the right thing?

Garage Man: Maybe you need a new muffler.

Owner: What would you suggest I do?

Garage Man: Well, you might get a new muffler, or ride around with the windows down—then I wouldn't have any more complaints. That's why I quit fixing radios, every time I changed a tube, I got blamed for everything that went wrong with it from there on in.

Owner: Course, there's another thing I thought might be making that noise—the motor missing.

Garage Man: Well! You'd better report it.

Owner: Pretty sharp today, aren't you?

With the coming of the hot weather, of course, the air conditioning went on the blink and off came those suit coats without which these men seem to feel undressed. Each and everyone sported a white shirt. Why can't Eddie Schorr establish a precedent and wear his new "Bing Crosby" sport shirt to work. It would certainly make life interesting, and think of the fun you'd have comparing scenic views. . . . Since being elected president of the Squares' Club, Frank Ondrovik refuses to answer to anything but the name "Prez." Careful Frank! Someone might ask you why you fired MacArthur. . . . It's a girl—nope, it's a boy—nope, it's Ted Lamm wearing Avenel Stanton's raincoat. . . . We're wondering if Joe Coughlin's main reason for his trip to New York was that he wanted to hit some of the big bargain sales at Macy's and Gimbles'? . . . Everyone wants to get into the act: Stan Emery is trying desperately to tell Lou Goehring a good joke for future use in another Squares' show. . . . Have you noticed Bob Triplett's new baby blue lunch box which he totes to work these days?

WITH G-E 35 YEARS—Howard Taylor (second from right) Bldg. 4-3, is showing his daughter, Eunice, a letter from M. E. Lord congratulating Mr. Taylor on his 35-year service record. Mr. Taylor completed his 35th year with G-E Tuesday, June 5. Looking on are (l-r) Robert Blee, William Schultz and Lloyd Jacobs.

This week's column is in honor of Frank Martin, who retired June 1. Frank came to work for the Fort Wayne Electric Works in 1905 at the age of 15. His first job was insulating a brass clamp with varnish cambric which was used in the K-5 meter in Bldg. 3-3 for A. F. Strube. He then worked on a bench in the Bldg. 3-1 tin shop. He and William Raidy worked on the arc lamp. Frank soldered a brass rim in the shade that held the globe. Then Frank went to work for Kackey Wright where he separated punchings which were annealed, using a raw hide mallet. From this job, he went to work for George Platts in the plating and polishing room. On this job, Frank ground castings which were made in Bldg. 20. At that time, this was a foundry and castings were hauled across the street in a three-wheeled cart. He ground the K-5 meter cases which paid one cent each, and he put out 265 cases a day, which was good money in those days.

In 1917, he left the Company and joined the city police force. He returned to G-E Sept. 22, 1922, and was made a member of the company's guard force. He worked for E. A. Barnes as a special investigator for three years. On May 2, 1947, he left the guards and went to work for the Tool Supply Section under L. D. Platt. He held this position in the Bldg. 4-4 tool crib until his retirement.

During his fireman days, he was head man on the hose cart and held the record in the 100-yard dash at 10½ seconds.

Frank says, "I have enjoyed the many years that I have spent with the company. I have had good health and a good bunch of fellows. I will spend most of my time at Silver Lake, west on 20 out of Angola in the summer and at 3216 Vesey Ave. in the winter."

Thought for the Week: "Nothing prompts the payment of an old dentist bill like a new toothache." Kenneth Kritchbaum

We welcome Elaine Lopshire to Motor Generator. . . . We announce the engagement of Helen David to LeRoy Dickey of Muncie. Best wishes, Helen. . . . OVERHEARD: A visiting girl's remark about Hobson, "He's sort of cute for an old man." . . . ISN'T IT: You have often heard of the fish that got away. When P. E. Bohn, R. A. Woehr and M. R. Bailey go fishing, the fish do not get away. The boys made a week-end trip into Michigan and were richly rewarded for their efforts. Just before time for the return trip, Paul dressed the fish and wrapped them for transportation. A little later, Mr. Bailey came into the cottage and, noting a package wrapped in newspaper, asked Bob what he wanted to do with it. Bob thinking it was garbage suggested throwing it in the fire, which Marion did: So we must amend this story. The fish that didn't get away got away. Confusing, it's it? . . . FANCY Joe Neal, our most eligible bachelor, and a lady of his choice were seen tiptoeing through the rose gardens at Lakeside. Well, you know what they say about spring and a young man's fancy. . . . ON AGAIN, OFF AGAIN: James McLain, Bldg. 19-1, went riding Sunday. All went well until the horse decided to misbehave. James and the horse parted company. The horse went ahead; Mr. McLain remained behind. James suffered a few scratches and bruises. The horse was uninjured but was a nervous wreck from the language our hero used.

STATISTICS: We have read that an unemployed statistician has come up with the gruelling fact that for transportation and equipment, the American sportsmen spend about $60 a pound for their fish and game. It is well that some of the things the "Little Wife" does are not so expensive. . . . GRADUATES: Bldg. 18 was well represented in the various graduating classes this year. Deloris Pequignot, daughter of Helen Dafforn, and Joan Michael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Michael, and Vivian Pedan, a new employee in the Accounting Section, were all members of the graduating class at Central Catholic. Joan was awarded a scholarship to St. Francis College. . . . Doris Lehman, Bldg. 18-2, lost a battle on Monday—now, the battle was with the tooth and not the dentist. . . . It was nice to see Flossie Greek Monday. She has been off due to illness and was able to have lunch with the girls in Bldg. 18-2. We are happy that she is again able to take up her duties as matron on the second floor. . . . SYMPATHY: Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Michael on the death of Mrs. Michael's father. . . . Virginia Wilson was an attendant at her mother's wedding on Saturday. . . . Doris Conroy has returned to her work in the Accounting Section. She has been absent due to the illness of her mother. . . . The rain certainly arrived in quantities last Friday. It wasn't funny, either. The question, "Did you have water in your basement?" usually received an affirmative answer. Bldg. 18 had a just share! . . . Loren Hill, Bldg. 18 messenger, has been transferred to Bldg. 26-3. . . . Janet Horn, Bldg. 18-1, insists that we should do something about the weather. She planned for a warm weather wedding reception last Thursday night, and it was cold and rainy. Any suggestions? . . .

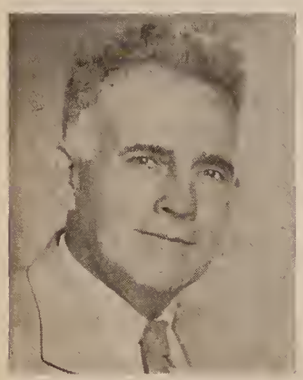
Insurance Certificate Distribution For All Members Slated Next Friday

Fort Wayne Works Payroll Sections have completed the preparation of General Electric Insurance Plan certificates and will distribute them to all members of the Plan next Friday, June 29, I. H. Freeman, supervisor of Personnel, disclosed today.



Foremen will distribute the certificates to hourly-rated employes and salaried employes will receive their certificates with their pay envelopes, Payroll sources announced.

Each certificate shows the name of the employe covered, extent and effective date of coverage, serial number and name of beneficiary. It is a valuable document and should be

Four New Key Appointments Made in FHP Engineering

R. D. Jones

J. H. Behm

I. E. Ross

L. R. Beard

Four new key appointments in the Fractional Horsepower Motor Engineering Divisions were announced today by J. J. Clarkson, division manager.

J. Herbert Behm has been named assistant to the manager of Engineering on Special Assignments; Lee R. Beard will serve as division engineer in the AC Motor Division; Ray D. Jones as division engineer in Development Engineering Division, and I. E. Ross as division engineer in DC and Specialty Motor Engineering Division.

All four engineers will assume their new duties Monday.

Came Here in 1931

A former resident of Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. Behm attended Syracuse University and received an E. E. Degree in 1929. He entered the Test Course in Schenectady and came to Fort Wayne in 1931, assigned to the FHP Motor Engineering Division.

He has served as assistant division engineer in Aircraft and in AC Motor Division.

Death Punches No Time Clock

Industry is winning the battle against work accidents. Year after year, our nation turns in record-new lows in work accident rates.

But we are making no such spectacular progress in eliminating accidents to workers when they are off the job.

On the job we are influenced for safety in many ways. Posters hammer safety messages. Foremen talk safe working procedures. Company rules require careful work practices. Safety devices and safety equipment protect the workers.

But it is a serious, and often fatal, mistake for us to relax once we've punched out our timecard and put our work clothes in the locker.

Safer Inside Factory

We are, it is true, out from under supervision and beyond the jurisdiction of company safety rules. But the hazard is still there. It is, in fact, increased. For every worker killed on the job, there are two workers killed by accidents while off the job.

Our country is mobilizing more and more forces to fight the off-the-job accident problem. Better highways, more intelligent traffic regulation, tighter control of public buildings and public recreation—these all help. And such organizations as The Advertising Council and the National Safety Council, through their "Stop Accidents" campaign, are doing their best to awaken our people to the dangers they face in their homes, on the streets and in other places.

Individuals Prevent Accidents

In the long run, progress can be made only by people like us—people who work at jobs. Off the job, we have no foremen to check up, and few rules to observe. If, when we put up the screens at home, we use a rickety ladder that our plant would have scrapped, we have no one to tell us we can't. If we behave stupidly as pedestrians, there aren't enough police officers to stop us. If we drive badly, we can escape a traffic ticket if there is no policeman near.

But common sense gives the best possible reason for playing safe away from work. Off the job accidents kill 33,500 American workers a year. They cripple another 2,600,000. They knock out 60,000,000 man-days of wage-earning, productive time—time you can't afford to lose in a period of rising prices, and time the nation can't afford to lose in such an emergency as we face today.

So the next time you punch out your timecard and head for home, please remember,

Death punches no time clock! He works a 24 hour day!

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Words by Walt

SOLILOQUIZING

Do you still retain that habit
You acquired when just a kid?
And if so, do you endeavor,
Like most folks, to keep it hid?

When you're caught, do you deny it?
That's what other people do.
You may wonder how I know it;
Well, I have the habit, too.

My father used to do it,
If he felt no one was near,
And I'm told that grandpa did it,
When he thought no one could hear.

Mr. Hamlet had the habit,
And the fact that Shakespeare knew
How to write that famed soliloquy.
Is proof he had it, too.

Guess I'd better stop and tell you,
What this habit's all about.
Really should have done it sooner,
So you wouldn't be in doubt.

After all, it's not a secret,
So let's take it off the shelf.
It's that habit, one has talking
When alone, to just himself.

I've had heated conversations
With some people miles away.
When alone, I've told my bosses
What I really wished to say.

I have often been a big shot,
Telling others what I knew.
Many times I've told this Company
What I thought it ought to do.

It's amazing how this habit
Makes a guy so doggone brave.
It's surprising how a fellow,
When alone, can rant and rave.

But the things we say in private
To ourselves, though just a bluff,
Are the seeds that make reality
If spoken long enough.

And it's well I think to tell you,
Since we have it off the shelf,
You can never be mis-quoted.
When you're talking to yourself.

HERE and THERE in BUILDING 17-4

by Maxine Baker

Have you heard the new noise the girls in the office are making? It denotes an over-fed feeling which is exactly what they were after the screamingly funny evening they spent having a wiener roast at Mae Lacey's home. In spite of the fact that Virginia Harris fell (or was pushed) out of the hammock and that all the girls proved to have left feet during the jitterbug lessons given by Betty Raucci, they were all present and accounted for Friday morning. . . . Mr. Mettler is quite solicitous of the "window washers" working on Bldg. 4 from a safety standpoint. He's afraid they'll get dizzy from turning around and waving to a certain redhead in Bldg. 17-4. . . . Carl Chadwick had the prize fish story of the week, claiming he caught 117 fish. . . . Bill Smith, vacationing from Indiana University, stopped in to say hello. From his reports, college is the life! . . . Cy Seymour has a bad case of bunions due to excessive walking. . . . Butch Konow had a wonderful time at the Barbershop Quartet Convention, alias the Engineers' Outing last week-end. It seems that some of the men didn't appreciate "In the Good Old Summer Time" in the wee hours of the morning and took revenge by tossing Butch in the lake. We can't figure out if Butch caught cold by being dunked in the lake or if he strained his vocal cords, but his voice hasn't been the same since. . . . Ezra Garringer began a novel (?) fashion last Monday. Tired of the same routine every Monday, he decided to be different by wearing his shirt backwards.

SICK LIST

The following employes have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Pick Ups FROM BLDG. 26-3

by Levona Clark

If Helen Wagner and Nellie Wendt don't quit dreaming about their trip to Bermuda, the trip will be old before they get there. Helen dreamed that she got lost in the hotel and someone was following her (it turned out to be her shadow). . . . What was Carl Noland crying about the other day? . . . Congratulations to Lucille Stover and Arthur Rinehart, who were married June 3. . . . Dorothy McGowen, you should notify your neighbors when you leave town for the week-end. . . . Madge is raising birds in her apartment. . . . We wonder what Gladys, Helen Aylene and Violet are going to do with their "piggy bank" when it's

Lavonna Clark Succeeds Editor Helen Wagner

The newest member of the WORKS NEWS' staff is Lavonna Clark, Bldg. 26-3, who is replacing Helen Wagner as editor of "Pick-Ups." Gladys was recently transferred and has given up her "columnizing."

Lavonna has been a G-E employe for 14 years. At present, she is chief time clerk in STAB Div. 94.

Lavona's husband, Ernest, also works in Bldg. 26-3. They have a ten-year-old daughter, Sharon Sue Porter.

Lavonna's favorite sport is deep sea fishing. Each vacation shutdown, the Clark's visit relatives in Miami, Florida, so Lavonna can enjoy her hobby. Her prize catch was a 20-pound barracuda.

The Clarks live at 3108 Thompson Ave.

OUT OUR WAY

BREAK OUT Q-C OUTING FLAG—J. V. Johnson, president of the Quarter Century Club (left), and Ford Zimmer, Q-C publicity chairman, take a look at the G-E Monogram flag, flown annually at the Club's outing. According to Mr. Johnson, the Club's officers are busy planning to make the 37th Annual Outing the most enjoyable ever held. The affair will be held Sept. 8 at Camp Limberlost on Oliver Lake.

Vacation Pay Plans Outlined

When and how G-E employes will receive their pay during vacation shutdown were explained this week by paymasters in the various divisions at the Fort Wayne Works.

Vacation pay for the shutdown will be made automatically by Payroll Sections for the actual number of days for which employes are eligible as of Aug. 12, 1951, to a maximum of two weeks. This pay will be included with hourly checks distributed Wednesday, July 25, and salary checks distributed Friday, July 27. Withholding tax and Pension Plan deductions will be calculated on the same basis as though each week of vacation pay was made separately.

As it is impossible to calculate and pay any supplemental vacation allowances, based on overtime work exceeding 42 hours, all advance payments will be based on a 40-hour week. Payment of any additional vacation pay due will be made after shutdown.

With pay drafts distributed at the end of the calendar month this coming August and each subsequent calendar month through December, Payroll Sections will make vacation payments for the number of days up to two weeks for which employes become eligible during each calendar month. There will be no time off, since that will have been taken during shutdown.

Identification Needed

Hourly-rated checks for wages earned in weeks 29 and 30 will be available for distribution only on Wednesday, Aug. 1, and Wednesday, Aug. 8, at the Broadway West Gate House from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Employes should have positive means of identification as checks will be given to them only.

Employes scheduled to work will receive their checks when payable in the usual manner.

Salary overtime, normally payable Friday, Aug. 3, and Friday, Aug. 10, will be included with checks distributed Aug. 24.

Vacation pay to incentive workers will be based on average earnings during the eight week period ending with No. 24 (June 11-17).

GeCode Club Offers 7-day Tour To Decatur, Fort Wayne Women

Decatur Plant's GeCode Club is offering a seven-day tour of the Kentucky Blue Grass Country, the Smoky Mountains, Nashville and a guided tour of Mammoth Cave for all women of the Decatur and Fort Wayne Plants.

Complete price of the tour is $60 for members of women's organizations and $62 for others.

The group will leave Decatur Sunday, July 29, for the fabulous Calumet Farms, tobacco barns, historical spots and the University of Kentucky.

On succeeding days, the tour will visit Norris Dam; cross the Smokies with world-famous Wiley Oakley as a part-time guide, and will see the Indian Pageant, "Unto These Hills," at Lloyd's Court.

Other stops will he made at Lookout Mountain, in Chattanooga, and an overnight stay at Mammoth Cave Hotel.

Before arriving home Saturday, Aug. 4, the group will see Fort Knox and Churchill Downs.

Reservations with a down payment of $25 must be made by Monday, July 2. For information, G-E women should contact Harriet Pollock or Ethel Schlickman at Decatur. Elex members may make reservations with any contact girl or at the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St.

Hold June Party

GeCode Club girls held their June dinner meeting last Saturday evening at the Zion Lutheran Church. Dinner was served at 5:30 p.m. to both first and second shift girls. Gloria Trissel presented the dinner hour music.

Decorations of red, white and blue carried out the "Flag Day" theme. A large bouquet of cut flowers centered the guest table and was later given away as the door prize. Other tables were decorated

Squares, Test Engineers Plan Family Picnic

The G-E Squares and Test Engineers will hold a family picnic Saturday, July 7, in McCormick Park, Publicity Chairman Glenn Seabold disclosed today. The outing will begin at 2 p.m., with a potluck supper scheduled in the evening.

A softball game will be played during the afternoon between selected teams. There will also be a variety of contests for both children and adults.

Each family is requested to bring their own sandwiches and table service plus a covered dish. Ice cream, coffee and soft drinks will be furnished by the Squares.

Reservations should be made with C. J. Herman, Bldg. 4-6.

STORE TO CLOSE

The Employes' Stores at Broadway and Taylor St. will be closed for inventory Wednesday, June 27-Friday, June 29, R. L. Fischbach, store supervisor, announced today. Business as usual will be resumed Monday, July 2, Mr. Fischbach explained.

Kinding orders are now being accepted at both stores.

N. Y. Tourists Urged to Book Reservations Now

Reservations for the Elex-sponsored trip to New York City during vacation shutdown will be accepted immediately, according to Irene Meyers, supervisor of Women's Activities. Deadline for reservations has been set for Wednesday, July 18, but those planning to make the trip are urged to notify the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St. as soon as possible to facilitate arrangements, Miss Meyers said.

Members of the Bermuda tour must also make New York reservations, if they plan to take advantage of the special round-trip offer. Members and others going to Bermuda, and planning to stay over in New York for a few days on their return, should notify the Women's Activities Office of their plans so hotel accommodations and return trip reservations on a later train may be scheduled.

The price for New York vacationers is $69.55. Fare is based on four people to a room in the hotel and includes all expenses except meals in New York City. Double rooms are also available for married couples at a slightly higher rate.

W. R. Hall, Passenger Representative for the Pennsylvania Railroad, will personally conduct the New York trip. Every seat is reserved.

G. A. Mittermaier

Dick Hemrick

Mittermaier, Hemrick Appointed To General Tool Division Posts

Gustave A. Mittermaier has been named Methods and Equipment specialist, and Dick Hemrick has been appointed foreman of machines on the second shift, according to announcements by C. A. Brenner, superintendent of the General Tool Section.

Mr. Mittermaier entered the Apprentice School in 1926 and graduated three years later as a machinist-toolmaker. He worked in the Apprentice School for a short period, then transferred to the Winter St. Tool Room.

In 1935, Mr. Mittermaier returned to the General Tool Room in Bldg. 26-5. From 1943 until his present appointment, he has been employed in Methods Planning for the General Tool Section.

He is a member of the Apprentice Alumni Association and formerly served as treasurer and financial secretary for that organization.

He is married and has two daughters. The Mittermaiers live at 3205 Bowser Ave.

Began as Apprentice

A lifelong resident of Fort Wayne, Mr. Hemrick joined the General Electric Company June 20, 1940, as an apprentice. Upon graduation from the Apprentice School as a machinist-toolmaker, he was assigned to the Tool room in Bldg. 26-5.

Mr. Hemrick has served continuously in the Tool Room with the exception of two years in the Navy as a radio technician.

He is married and has three children. The Hemricks live on a farm near Spencerville Road.

G-E DEATHS

F. A. Deininger Rites Held in Decatur Tues.

Funeral services for Frederick A. Deininger, 63, a retired employe of the Decatur Plant, were held at St. Mary's Catholic Church Tuesday, June 19.

Mr. Deininger retired Jan. 1, 1951, after 22 years of service. He had recently moved to his cottage at Rome City, where he was stricken. He died in the Kendallville Hospital Saturday, June 16.

He is survived by one son, Joseph, and several brothers and sisters.

Hampton J. Otis, 82, Dies At Walcott, Ind.

Hampton J. Otis, 82, died suddenly Thursday, June 14, at his home in Walcott.

Mr. Otis worked for the General Electric Company from November, 1922, until December, 1931, as an elevator operator. He was assigned at various times to Bldgs. 19-B, 15-A, 20-1, and Bldg. 6.

Insurance Certificate

kept in a safe place, especially since it covers the participant's life insurance, Mr. Freeman explained.

The Company's Employe Benefit Plans Department pointed out that if an employe has changed beneficiary since signing up for insurance, or plans to make a change, it can be made through forms available at local payroll units. These changes have to be recorded on the certificate itself. Increases in the amount of insurance coverage are taken care of by the schedule of insurance shown in the certificate.

Employes should give particular attention to the fly-leaf accompanying the certificate. Any old G-E certificates will be superseded by the new one, Mr. Freeman said.

Special certificates will be used for insured employes in New Jersey, California and Rhode Island and new certificates will be issued to any employes transferring to or from these states.

Employes not yet enrolled in the New Insurance Plan are urged to do so through their supervisors, Mr. Freeman said.

Information Clinic

Q. I would like more information concerning income tax and work clothes. If I were to sew a G-E marker on my work clothes, could they be classified as uniforms and deducted from my income so as to save me a little on my federal income tax?

A. The question of deduction of work clothes expense was discussed with the office of the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue. We are informed that the sewing of the G-E monogram on work clothes would not cover income tax requirements or deduction of work clothes cost. Incidentally, this idea would be in violation of the use of the G-E monogram since definite rules regarding the use of the monogram have been established by the Advertising and Publicity Department.

The tax officials inform us that there are few provisions made for the deduction of work clothes expense. We are told that, when work clothes can be worn for general use, they are not deductible. The tax authorities tell us that one example of an allowable deduction for work clothes would be nurses' uniforms.

It is suggested that any employe with questions regarding a specific case of work clothes cost deduction visit the Bureau of Internal Revenue in the Post Office Building.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Freeman, supervisor of Personnel at the Fort Wayne Works; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Welch, Decatur Plant manager; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Laurent, supervisor of Personnel at the Decatur Plant, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lankenau, former Decatur Plant manager.

Freeman Addresses Group

Guests were introduced and Mr. Freeman gave a short talk. Mr. Welch followed with a brief address to the girls on the practice of the Golden Rule in their plant.

Mrs. Amos Steury and her three sons completed the evening's program, entertaining as musicians, dancers, artists and acrobats.

Edna Callow and Norma Poorman served as chairmen for the combined party. Their committees consisted of: Velma Goelz, Virginia Holtsberry, Mary Miller, Viola Melchi, Betty Terveer, June Christen, Imogene Coffee, Virginia Drake, Margaret Fruchte, Doris Koenig and Minnie Egly.

FHP Appointments

Most recently, he has been employed in the capacity of division engineer in AC Motor Division.

A registered professional engineer, Mr. Behm is a member of the G-E Squares, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The Behms have one son and live at 3415 Kirkwood Drive.

Mr. Beard received a BSME Degree from Washington State College in 1930. He was on test with G-E from 1930 to 1933 and then came to the Winter St. Plant, where he served as an engineer from 1933 to 1941.

Mr. Beard's next assignment was as an engineer on power drive at the Winter St. Plant. In 1945, he transferred to FHP Motor Development Division as assistant section engineer, working in Bldg. 4-6. He later was named Section engineer and Division engineer.

Mr. Beard is past president of the Fort Wayne Engineers Club. Mr. and Mrs. Beard live at 4625 South Lafayette St.

A native of Fort Wayne, Mr. Jones received a BSEE degree from Purdue University in 1925. He joined the General Electric Company at Fort Wayne that same year as a test engineer. Later, he was assigned to FHP Motor Divisions and has been working on all phases of small motor engineering.

Mr. Jones is chairman of the local section of the AIEE for 1951-52 and a member of the AIEE Air Transport Committee and Aircraft Subcommittee, and the Aircraft Motor Subcommittee of the Society for Automotive Engineering. He is also a member of the Squares' Club.

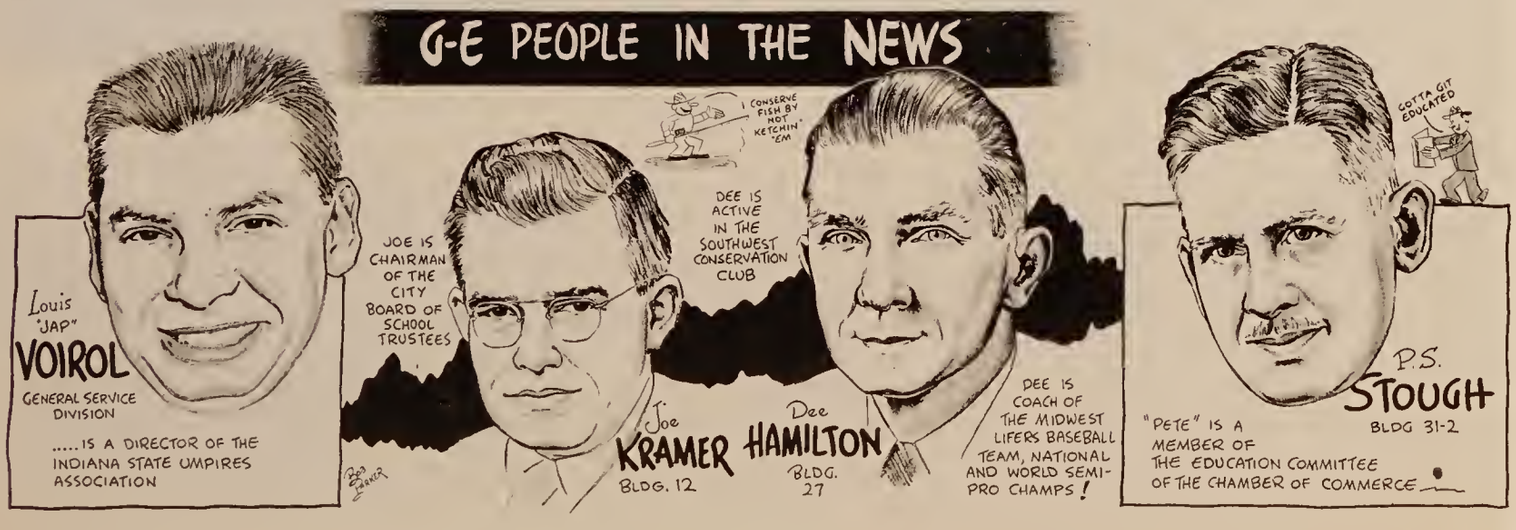
Won Coffin Award

Mr. Jones received the Coffin Award in 1946. He was also recognized by the National War Standards Association for his services during World War II. He holds three patents on small motor improvements. He presented a paper to the AIEE convention in California in 1949 on the subject of corona starting voltage as a measure of ability of insulation with reference to altitude.

The Joneses, with their daughter and son, live at 304 E. Maple Grove.

Mr. Ross was originally from Needham, Mass. He attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received a BSEE degree in 1930 and an MSEE degree in 1931.

Following graduation, he served with the Delco Products Company for 10 years. At the outbreak of the war, he returned to MIT as a staff member, in the radiation laboratory, working on radar development. He received recognition by the Office of Scientific Research and Development for his wartime work. Mr. Ross served for two years as consultant for the NDRC, working on carbon brushes for high altitude operation.



Dynamic Background

He then joined the National Electrical Machinists Association as technical advisor to the Aircraft Electrical Council. In 1946, he was assigned as chief engineer to Victor Electric Products in Cincinnati and joined the General Electric Company in Fort Wayne in May, 1948, in charge of all FHP Aircraft Engineering.

A registered professional engineer, Mr. Ross is a member of AIEE, the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, the Fort Wayne Association of General Electric Engineers, and the Squares' and Supervisors' organizations.

He holds a patent on a keeper attachment for permanent magnet generators. Last October, he presented a paper on test equipment for aircraft devices at the AIEE district meeting in Baltimore. Music is his principal hobby and he has played the piano for Squares' musicals for three years.

He is married and has three children.

Happy birthday to Theo. Olson. We wish him many more. . . . Congratulations to Dorothy Hart, who has a new grandson. . . . Jean Stearns is on the sick list. We hope you will be back soon, Jean. . . . Berniece Peck attended her brother's commencement at Chicago Wednesday. . . . Fred Seip is all smiles. His daughter is coming home from a month's vacation. . . . Ellis Wheeler was showing some pictures of his small son. He is a fine little lad. . . . We are glad to hear Agnes Stansberry is recovering nicely from her recent operation. We will be glad to see you back, Agnes. . . . Flow Achran says we should see the pajamas she bought for her husband. They have pretty pictures on them. . . . Velora Drury spent the week-end visiting relatives in Missouri. . . . Adele Wietfeldt went to the Moser cottage to fish with Mable. Adele, why don't you catch the kind of fish you can keep and eat? . . . Betty Rygowski is a fisherman. Why just catch one fish and quit, Betty; was it that big? . . . It seems as though Violet Renkenberger had bad luck with her African violets last winter. Millie Snider brought a nice big plant to Violet. . . . We wonder why Wayne Chapman has all that perfume. . . . Have you seen the sign that says, "First walk and not run and help others be safe"? Bob Bennet certainly doesn't believe in signs; he ran into it.

Cleo Baird is nursing a scraped shin bone after breaking a ladder rung. . . . Russell Kensill finds it doesn't pay to park too close to the railroad track. His newly-polished car got a hot steam bath. . . . DIE PLANT: With Ned Greulach assisting, Gus Ausderan will probably have that jet pump installed in one day's time. . . . The horse that Archie Wright purchased for the kiddies seems to be causing trouble. She is determined not to be led into the barn. . . . Bob Roy spent last Sunday at his father-in-law's in Harlan. . . . Frank Woenker invites us out to watch his unbeaten Little Leaguers play their aggressive heads-up baseball. . . . After attending his cousin's wedding, Bob Birkenbeul reports that his favorite indoor sport is helping to serve refreshments at such affairs. We hope that LaMar Brant enjoys weddings too. He is scheduled for an important part in his daughter's tomorrow. . . . Howard Demsey celebrated his birthday Monday. . . We hope Dick Suter and Ed Boedeker find the jig grinders to be compatible companions on the day shift. . . . John Snyder had an unpleasant experience. Someone stole the battery out of his car, while he was in at work. . . . Did you know that Maury "Hot Spurs" Sordelet is considering taking up horseback riding? Someone gave him an extra spur. . . . John Hensler thought the family was serving him a carton of ice cream Father's Day. It was some special tropical fish. Does anyone want to buy some nice guppies? John has a fish-housing shortage and wants to sell some reasonably. . . . John Ebert has a nice-looking car, but he can't get along without his friends. They push him several blocks to get the thing started. . . . A good friend of Glenn Ramsey brought him a sackfull of green onions. The hotter the onions, the better he likes them. . . . Bill Wedler invited Art Dicke up to his cottage at Big Long Lake. Art made the most of it by catching two five lb. bass. . . . Paul Brinkroeger is very shy about that par golf score he made last Saturday. . . . We welcome Cal Bear, Elmer Ueber, Don Martz and Jerry Widner to the bench section. . . . We extend sympathy to Frank Druhot in the death of his mother. . . . We wish Al Holthaus a happy birthday.

It won't be long before Dick Pierce starts wearing a necktie now that he has assumed his new position. Don't forget, Col. Pohler, to tell Dick about saluting the sergeants in the morning. . . . Anyone needing a good detective see Ruth Fitzgerald. . . . Faye Nichols went in the wrong door by the cafeteria the other day. . . . Tom Woodward and John Gadomski have heads like bowling balls with their new hair cuts. . . . We welcome Betty Schwind, Barbara Rheinfrank, Bernice Bollenbacker, Florence Hower, Marjorie Gerdom, Wilbur Gunkel, Jeanette Leyman, Agnes Shane, Hazel Thomas, Marilyn Uffelman, Nancy Beebe, Ellen Goble, Betty Schoeff, Bettye Smith and Sally Gordon. . . . Sally Gordon, by the way, asked a lot of questions about her job. She asked several people what a transformer was. I had to send her to Elvie Dafforn for the answer, mine wasn't explanatory enough! . . . When Roy Patton left us awhile back, we forgot to say good-bye to him in our column. . . . Occasionally I murder the King's English in order to emphasize something in this column such as saying "aint" and "Wha HOPPENED?" etc., and then Loretta Bloom, who woes the typing, laboriously corrects it! . . . What's this about Stan Sakai and Dorothy Meyers having such an interesting talk across the conveyor? . . . Garnet Borne is a proud grandma! It's a grandson. . . . We hear Lewis Diller is spending some of his spare time in Spencerville! . . . Is that right that Louie Sordelet is riding a bicycle since his wife took the car to the lake? . . . The Shadow of Doom has fallen on two of our testers. Don Edwards and Lycle Bertsch. Don is getting chained, pardon me, married July 28 and Lyle June 24. . . . Edna Hall must have a job with the Street Dept. She was seen with a big broom sweeping Fourth street after the recent downpour. . . . Congratulations to Marge Schafer who was married June 16. Her co-workers gave her a pantry shower. Those attending were Bea Marsh, Ethel Murdock, Susie Dove, Pat Geschwell, Norma Smith, Mary Blanchard, Elaine Nicodemus, Marge Lehman, Pat Huffman and Lucille Dreyer. From the reports we hear, the gals all cried. They said they cried because George Schafer was so sad. He didn't want to give Marge away, so he was the best man instead.

We welcome four new apprentices. Donald Ralstin and Robert Bowyer from Peru, Ind., and Arnold Korte and James Ankenbruck from Fort Wayne. . . . Jim Pugh was farmed out to the tool room in Bldg. 26-2 and Jack Enyeart went to Winter St. Paul Wuttke returned to the school from Bldg. 19-5. . . . Happy birthday to Mr. Wolf, June 16, and to Harold Wilkerson, who will celebrate tomorrow. . . . We received a letter from Richard Gebert last week. Dick is still in San Diego, California and being kept very busy instructing in the Electronics Training Unit at Naval Air Station. They have been enjoying nice moderate sunny weather while we either freeze or sizzle. We were glad to hear from Dick and hope to hear from him again soon. . . . We also had another letter form Pete Zook last week. Pete is still in Japan and had been at Camp Zama for a month and has just been moved to Camp Fuji which is at the base of Mt. Fujiama. He is with the mortar platoon of the heavy weapon company with the official title of light truck driver. Pete hasn't heard from Auer since they were at Camp Drake, but he thinks he is over in the front lines by now. We really appreciate the letters we receive from the fellows in service. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wuttke are the proud new owners of a little mansion on wheels. . . . Richard Gotschall will be leaving us June 28 for the Army. Lots of luck, Dick.

Thought of the week: "Americanism is keeping an eye on your five-year-old overcoat and letting inflation pick your pocket."

LEAVING US: Peggy Moyer has left to return to her home in California. We'll miss you, Peggy. Joan Meyer has left us to continue her duties as a housewife. Jim Mitchel, Bldg. 27, is leaving July 1. . . . COULD BE: Ann Bowser claims she acquired her black eye playing softball. . . . BEWARE: Eileen Hile took an hour off the other day to take her driving test. Much to her surprise—and ours—she passed it. For her reward, her boyfriend has entrusted his car to her for a week. If you see a green 1950 Plymouth coming down the street, beware. It might be Eileen. . . . LOST WEEK-END: Marvin Cristil can't remember what he did in Chicago last week-end. . . . June 18, 2:45 p.m. Mavis Kochendorfer just recalled it was her wedding anniversary. She has been married two and a half years. . . . HONEST FOLKS: Jim Jolly, on second shift, went out for lunch one evening. When he returned, he discovered his billfold with $111 had slipped through a large hole in his rear overall pocket. He quickly retraced his steps but could find no trace of the billfold.

To Maxine Bakle by Betty Sapp

Have you ever seen a pathway
Stretching far ahead of you,
That suddenly climbed a little hill
And dropped away from view?
Then think of a path that's endless
Where you dear one's living still.
It's only we who cannot see
The path beyond the hill.

Inquiring Reporter:

"DO YOU THINK OUR OBJECTIVES IN KOREA WOULD BE ACCOMPLISHED IF WE COULD NEGOTIATE A PEACE AT THE 38th PARALLEL?"

ALVINA KOOMLER

Bldg. 26-4

"No, I don't. At the end of World War I, if we would have gone in and cleaned Germany out instead of accepting a peace treaty, we wouldn't have had to fight World War II. If we would finish the job in Korea instead of pulling out, it would be our safest way of averting World War III."

ROBERT L. MEYER

Taylor St.

"Any such peace would be at the risk of future agitation and would be very unsatisfactory to both sides. I feel that the Korean War is another outbreak of the cancerous actions by the Communists and that these actions cannot be stopped until the rancid core is annihilated."

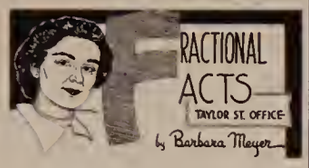
WILLIAM E. BILLUE

Bldg. 19-1

"No. Peace could only be obtained on the Reds' terms, and that is not what we have been fighting for. Complete victory over the Reds, as over the Germans and Japanese, is the only language they will understand."

GRACE JONES

Bldg. 17-3



"If honorable treaties were fulfilled and not violated, there might be a temporary peace in that area, but as long as jealousy, suspicion, hatred transgression and aggression exist, there will be no permanent peace in the world."

DALE ROMEY

Bldg. 19-4

"No! Our supposed objective is elimination of Communism, but it will never be defeated in Korea. Communism is an anti-Christ force which originates in Moscow and its Godless efforts will never cease as long as Christian principles opposing it exist. In my opinion, Korea is only the beginning of bloodshed."

—"So long, it's been good to know you," Perry Zahn, Ralph Shoaff, Mary Gemmell, Mary Rogers, Donna Bauermeister and your column's reporter chorus as they happily return to Bldg. 4-6. The gang said that it's been wonderful working at Taylor St. and that they will miss all their friends. . . . The "Traveling Group" welcomes June McNally and hopes she will like her work here as well as she did in Schenectady. . . . "Handy-man" is H. E. Eggers' description of his rider, Dick Baumbauer. Mr. Eggers always had a garage mechanic change flat tires, but not since Dick has been riding with him. . . . UNEXPECTED BANG! was Betty Stutz's reason for jumping a foot. She lit her cigarette with a match, presumably one of her own, but in reality one which belonged to Al Volz. . . . Gail Kirk and Ralph Hageman treated the Production Office with some birthday candy. Thanks, Gail and Ralph, and many happy returns. . . . WELCOME, Wilmer Kruekeberg, and Wayne Walcutt, to the Production Office. . . . Remember the other day when the building got washed with that solution? Donna Bauermeister claims those agile men told her that they were atomic-proofing the building and that they had some atomic energy in their scrub bucket. . . . The third floor says "Howdy" to the Financial Division headed by C. M. Schnieders. . . . Employed within its portals are Luther Meyers, Bob Shirey, and Gerry Didier. . . . Welcome to Libby Venable, new employe in Gil Sloan's office. Libby hails from Mount Airy, N. C., and is making her home with her sister, Mae Bain, of the Production Office. . . . Welcome, Dick Ahlersmeyer, to the Customer Billing Section. . . . Many of our every-day actions are based on habit. To prove my point, just watch Harriett Heaney and Dorothy Crist walking into the telephone room instead of Payroll's new door. . . . Wilma Jackmeyer, Sales Accounting, is proud to accept membership into the "21-ers Club." . . . Helen Smith, Sales Accounting, sighed enviously as she dreamed of a well-needed vacation and thought of vacationers Delores McDevitt and Max Harris. . . . June 20 and 21 were birthday dates celebrated by Helen Smith and Grace Merchant. . . . TRANSFERS: Paul Magnuson went from Billing to Accounts Payable and Glenn Clifton from that section to Div. 13 Cost. Hope you both like your new jobs. . . . Gene Williams, Accounting, rushes through his 30 minute lunch period in order to give the office his very exacting demonstration of relaxation. . . . The Accounting Section bids Mary Ann Fletter a hearty "fare-thee-well" as she leaves to resume her role as a full-time homemaker. . . . Walter Leifheit was transferred from the Rockford, Ill., plant to R. C. Hanna's office. Walt was here in 1947-49. . . . Schenectady Control Div. has transferred Burt Day to Mert Edgar's group. Hope you both enjoy your new duties and you stay with us. . . . The Frank Stenbergs are really enjoying their new daughter's, Christina, company. She is really taking over their home. . . . Hugh and Helen Folsom are wondering if little Mark Allen will keep them awake after he gets settled in his new home. . . . The Sales Division bids Dean Burgemeister farewell and says that they will miss him. They would like their good-luck messages taken with him as he goes into the A.C. Engr. Div. at Broadway. . . . I would like to extend my best wishes and success to the column's new editor, Phyllis Ann Westbrook with the knowledge that all my reporters will give her the same loyal support which they gave me. Thanks to Beverly Goshorn, Mary Olson, Pauline Meehan, Bertha McCague, Alice Hormann, Mary Kibiloski, Helen Smith, Geneva Schrock, Barb Haley, Ingrid Swanson, Phyllis Ann Westbrook, Pat Bruggeman, Gladys Knauer, Yvonne Rosendahl, Sue Seidel, Judy Clark and Tavia Popa for their wonderful job.

FROM G-E TO LEISURE—Arthur Johns, Bldg. 4-4 (center), turned off his machine last week to begin a life of leisure. Mr. Johns will retire soon with 31 years of service. He is shown receiving a cash gift from Ed Kortum on behalf of his FHP Div. 1 friends while William Charleston (left) watches. An employe since 1920, Mr. Johns started on a training course in Bldg. 6-2. He has been a cylindrical grinder since 1922.

The second shift girls said goodby to Ruth Palmer, who will spend the summer with her daughter. Sharron Lash wrote this little poem as a farewell to Ruth:

To me you're just Teefie
To all others, it's Ruth
I'm sorry you're leaving
And that's sure the truth.

I've delivered you homeward
Several times in the past
And as for conversations
Well—they really do last.

We've talked of many things
From one to another
You know the full story
Of my love, family and others.

But the real reason I like you
The best of many folks
Is really just because—
You always laugh at my jokes.

Helen Mueller celebrated her birthday last week. She got an oil painting which she wanted for a long time. . . . The Green Room welcomed Pat Valodine, Roselyn Yeiser, Jackie Sterner and Johnie Bauerle. . . . Irene Shroyer visited her son at Great Lakes. . . . Violet Gerber and Velma Johnson have formed a partnership. Violet will do interior decorating and Velma, the exterior. . . . We wonder what Tom Freeman has the other testers don't have. Could it be that Tom is furnishing free lunches? Emil Schurenberg is having lunch with him daily. . . . Since Joe Trondley has his new trap gun, Ralph Braden has a new routine. He finds out where Joe's going and then goes somewhere else. Last Sunday they appeared at the same place and Joe won by one round. . . . Is it true that Florence Converset likes the G-E so well that she recently turned around and came right back? . . . The people in the Hermetic Section welcome Glenn Hobbs. . . . Bob Montes won two matched races this week with his hot rod. . . . Bertha Wollert visited Frances Batzner at the Irene Byron. She said Frances is improving nicely and says hello to all her friends at G-E. We were glad to hear from you, Frances, and will be looking forward to seeing you again this fall.

G-E SAGE CELEBRATES 86th BIRTHDAY

Edison Pioneer Gets 'Burden' Of Good Wishes From Friends

"As you can see," said E. A. Barnes as he hustled from the front door to the back of the house, then to the telephone, "all my friends at the Works and around the community have burdened me with cards, letters, telegrams, phone calls and visits congratulating me on reaching this venerable age."

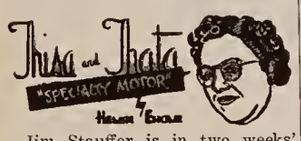
On his 86th birthday last week, Mr. Barnes, Edison pioneer and former general superintendent, was obviously enjoying his "burden" of cards, wires, gifts and letters. In a red velvet smoking jacket and wearing a birthday boutonniere, he was receiving everyone's good wishes with his own keen brand of wit, always managing to recall some anecdote about each well-wisher.

He was particularly concerned about how to thank everyone individually for remembering his birthday.

"Enough to drive a fellow mad with everything happening at once around here. It's going to be an impossible task for me to thank them all personally for their remembrances. Can't you express my gratitude and explain my predicament through the WORKS NEWS?" he asked.

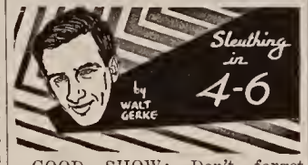
Still very active, Mr. Barnes often drives his Cord sedan, which has nearly become a collectors' item. A super-charged Cord like his set the American stock car record of 108 mph, and is the same car driven by Ab Jenkins, race driver who averaged over 100 mph for 24 hours. "There's no car on the road today that can match it," Mr. Barnes declared.

He is an avid reader and can be found almost any day surrounded by magazines and papers, or listening to news commentators and London shortwave broadcasts.

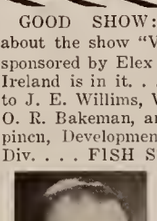


Worked With Edison

The "legendary" Mr. Barnes served as superintendent at G-E from 1889 until his retirement in 1931. A native of England, he worked with Thomas Edison in his native country and amassed invaluable electrical experience before coming to G-E. During his 42 years at the Fort Wayne Works, his interest in the "horny-handed sons of toil," as he fondly refers to G-E employes, influenced the birth of the G-E Club, the Elex Club, the Volunteer Firemen, the Veterans Association and the old band, among many other things.



Remembering all his years at G-E on his 86th birthday, Mr. Barnes remarked, "All the good things that happen at General Electric are always inspired by G-E people."



BIG BIRTHDAY—E. A. Barnes is shown reading cards and letters from his many G-E and Fort Wayne friends as he celebrated his 86th birthday anniversary last week. Mr. Barnes is enjoying his 20th year in retirement. The inset shows the former general superintendent checking the smooth workings of his super-charged automobile.

Jim Stauffer is in two weeks' training at the Great Lakes Naval Base. . . . Kenneth Badartscher left last week to become a counselor at a Boy Scout camp. . . . Fred Coudret is not picking cherries this year. He is going fishing on his vacation. He said, "The birds can have the cherries!" . . . Ruth Tutwiller has so much money that she has to carry it in two purses. She came to work carrying two of them recently. . . . Cecil Foor likes to eat his cake and have it too. He thought he was eating Bertha Click's cake and it turned out to be his own. . . . We wonder why Barbara Ternet changes her shoes so late in the evening? . . . Homer McMacken went fishing with his brother, Dale, and Bob Black. He caught all the fish. . . . Ralph Waikel fished for two days and only got 20 bluegills! Jay Michaels got two bass. . . . Mary Gebhart got a sunburn from swimming. . . . Ida May Ernst was so tired last Monday. She said she had been swimming in an innertube. . . . Louie Barrow was wearing two aprons Monday morning. He said his didn't have any strings, so he borrowed one. Then when he got his fixed, he forgot to take the other one off until someone called his attention to it! . . . John Figleg got tired of his old pin-up girl, so today he has another to add to his collection. . . . We suggest that the next time Dorothy Beerman takes a coat that she takes one to fit her! . . . The Flatfoot Nine are confident that they can beat Jake's Little Daisies in the softball game at R. L. Spitler's country estate tomorrow. Bain and Tobias are already in training by cutting their fags to one and one-half packs a day. Pepper Pot Brindle, expected to hit two homers, has been farmed out to the minors. Jake expects outstanding play from "Barbara" Bill Charleston, "Thelma" Russ Blackburn and "Annabelle" Ed Robins. . . . Martha Scherzinger, who is the Little Daisies' chaperone, said her team is made up of has-been ball players and expects the Flatfoot Nine to win in a breeze! . . . A speedy recovery for Mary Garrad, who recently underwent an appendectomy. . . . Congratulations to Max Hertzog, who became a papa to a second boy. Congratulations to Ross Hobbs, who is a new dad, too. . . . Violet Elliot spent Father's Day at Elkhart visiting her father. . . . Neva Scott went to Three Rivers, Mich., to pick strawberries. There were 120 acres of berries. No wonder she looked a little stooped Monday. . . . Mary Parent has a new black goat. She says it is the cutest one she has ever seen. . . . We extend our sympathy to Joan Romary, whose father died last Friday, and to Marcella Schwartz, whose brother was killed in an auto accident. . . . That picture of Sam Taylor and his daughter was nice, but we think that the daughter must look like her mother!

GOOD SHOW: Don't forget about the show "Vagabond King," sponsored by Elex July 9. Romona Ireland is in it. . . . WELCOME: to J. E. Willims, William Carlson, O. R. Bakeman, and Verner Kempinen, Developmental Engineering Div. . . . FISH STORY: The sly fisherman, who listens to others talk about big catches and says nothing about himeslf until he really has something to say, is Carl Lommatzsch. He caught a 4¼ lb. bass on a cane pole, string and fish hook for a small fish. . . . BREEZY GUY: Mrs. Joe Gardt will get a chance to be entertained with a cool breeze instead of that other kind of breeze that's around their house. Joe won a fan for naming the new fractional publication. . . . POTENT: Dwight Willits got rid of a little stinker. He had one of those miniature aluminum pipes, and he smoked it just long enough to make it smell strong. He discarded it in a wastebasket, but he should have buried it. . . . SAILING, SAILING: Chuck Kelso is a deck ape for the next two weeks. He's taking a cruise out of Norfolk, Va. . . . FAREWELL: To test engineers, Lowell McLaughlin and Ray Rofini. Lowell hopes to be back after another round with college life. Ray transferred to the Transformer Div. . . . WHAT A TREAT: We would like to thank Mrs. Forrest Carlson for the delicious cookies she baked for us to help celebrate Forrie's birthday, and ice cream too. What a treat! We think you're an excellent cook, Mary Ellen. . . . BIG WEEK-END: What's this we hear about people getting people out of bed at 3 a.m. at the engineers' lake party last week-end? Bob Sharrow played taps on the cornet and Ray Jones and Dick Heard assisted in the mayhem threats if they didn't get up and open the door. Bob Loveland seemed to appear in every room, or did the funsters just get lost? Ray Jones felt it safer to sleep in his car to prevent anyone getting even with him. Val Rowan found himself in a broken bed, but as long as you have the mattress, all's well. . . . DEEPEST SYMPATHY: We extend our sympathy to J. J. Clarkson on his mother's death. . . . ACROBATICS: The other day a long list of models of Joe Gardt's was blown behind a cabinet in the Engineering File Room. Joe, Don Miller and Norm Oetting were going to move the cabinets to get it, but Mary Smoak said it wouldn't be necessary. She got up on the bar, leaned way over, with Don holding on to her, and managed to get hold of it. It sure looked like it was the hard way. . . . NEW

Sly Fisherman

Birthday greetings to Paul Stemmler and Robert Shuster. . . . Congratulations to Arlene Neuman, who will marry John Berghoff June 28. . . . If anyone sees a fellow with a tin cup coming up to his door about 5:30 or 6 a.m., think nothing of it. It is none other than Dick Evans begging coffee. Dick didn't just stop at one cup, but about six or more cups of coffee. . . . We welcome Bernadette Fortman and Lois Hess to the office. . . . We are glad to see Erma Manor back with us after being on the sick list. . . . We extend our get well wishes to Paul Hapner, who broke his arm in a fall last week. . . . Our sympathy goes to Audrey Baumgardner in the death of her father.

BOSS: Most everyone in Engineering will have a new boss soon, with J. H. Behm's leaving for Lynn. Lee Beard to the A.C.; Ray Jones to Development and I. Ross to D.C. . . . WELCOME: To Marian Leiter as a new member in the D.C. Division.

The death rate from accidents in 1950 was 59.9 per 100,000 population, according to the National Safety Council. This is the lowest rate on record, bettering the previous record low rate of 61.2 in 1949.

THE PENALTY OF LEADERSHIP

In every field of human endeavor, he that is first must perpetually live in the white light of publicity. ¶ Whether the leadership be vested in a man or in a manufactured product, emulation and envy are ever at work. ¶ In art, in literature, in music, in industry, the reward and the punishment are always the same. ¶ The reward is widespread recognition; the punishment, fierce denial and detraction. ¶ When a man's work becomes a standard for the whole world, it also becomes a target for the shafts of the envious few. ¶ If his work be merely mediocre, he will be left severely alone—if he achieve a masterpiece, it will set a million tongues a-wagging. ¶ Jealousy does not protrude its forked tongue at the artist who produces a commonplace painting. ¶ Whatsoever you write, or paint, or play, or sing, or build, no one will strive to surpass or to slander you, unless your work be stamped with the seal of genius. ¶ Long, long after a great work or a good work has been done, those who are disappointed or envious continue to cry out that it cannot be done. ¶ Spiteful little voices in the domain of art were raised against our own Whistler as a mountebank, long after the big world had acclaimed him its greatest artistic genius. ¶ Multitudes flocked to Bayreuth to worship at the musical shrine of Wagner, while the little group of those whom he had dethroned and displaced argued angrily that he was no musician at all. ¶ The little world continued to protest that Fulton could never build a steamboat, while the big world flocked to the river banks to see his boat steam by. ¶ The leader is assailed because he is a leader, and the effort to equal him is merely added proof of that leadership. ¶ Failing to equal or to excel, the follower seeks to depreciate and to destroy—but only confirms once more the superiority of that which he strives to supplant. ¶ There is nothing new in this. ¶ It is as old as the world and as old as the human passions—envy, fear, greed, ambition, and the desire to surpass. ¶ And it all avails nothing. If the leader truly leads, he remains—the leader. ¶ Master-poet, master-painter, master-workman, each in his turn is assailed, and each holds his laurels through the ages. ¶ That which is good or great makes itself known, no matter how loud the clamor of denial. ¶ That which deserves to live—lives.

Who's been serving rabbit food lately? Bugs Bunny can't get ahead of our mail boys. Bill Reardon was strolling down the alley one noon about one minute before clock time when someone flashed past, turned in front of him and vanished. Glen Lantz had leaped through the first floor window and disappeared. "Where did he go?" said amazed Margueret O'Connell to Margaret Norman. Margaret said later that she was glad to see someone with so much "spizarinktum." She can't find that word in the dictionary, but says it means "crazy with the heat." The same day, before lunch, Bev Branning and Elaine Holmes were startled when they saw Dick Oelschlager jump out of the window. . . . A welcome visitor last week was Tiny March from California. He still climbs mountains to keep fit as a fiddle. He says, "There's a lot more out there to climb? . . . Have you met the new draftsman and the new engineers? There's another Van Horn in the drafting room, Richard Van Horn. He isn't related to Ross. The new engineers are Lester Wright, who has been transferred from Erie Works, and Kenneth Lind from San Jose, Calif. . . . Those on vacation next week are Gwen Rees, Claude Charles, Bill Lautzenheiser, Walt Coolman, Deward Franke, Marv Adamson and Les Schowe. . . . Apologies to Margaret Norman for printing that she was going to take "the Thing" home for a window box. She says she was going to plant the petunias here at the office.

Ed Bireley went golfing with Mosshammer and Detweiler the other night. The next morning he couldn't even bend over. . . . Norm Wolf went fishing. He was so excited when he got a bite, he pulled just a little too hard for the size fish he caught and landed in the bottom of the boat. . . . Birthday greetings to Marie Wilson and Louise Beamer. . . . We welcome Tom Peterson. . . . Hazel Gahman spent the week-end in Detroit. . . . You can tell the rose season is here again. Doris Moon has them brought to her quite regularly here lately. She also attended her friend's wedding last week-end. . . . Glen Buckmaster has a sure way of saving his rubber tires. . . . George Miller went fishing and caught one bass and we wonder who it belonged to. . . . John Holloway was saying his little piece the other day and forgot to count. . . . The weatherman finally went along with the reunion that Ruby Stucky attended over the week-end. . . . Laura Krauskopf's daughter and son-in-law finally arrived home. . . . The story of the week is Vi Minnich catching a 15-in. bass with a cane pole and manure worms. She was standing on the bank, the 15-incher was up on the hill, and her hook was caught in the tree after it happened. Her co-workers suggested taking a gum drop for her catch. . . . We approve of Wilma Swager's pretty new striped dress. . . . Okie Johnston went fishing too but isn't bragging one bit. . . . Ruby Shive didn't see her name in the paper the other week. We hope you see it this time. . . . Stella Evans granddaughter was here visiting. Stella says she sure is growing. . . . Clara Nickelson was so excited at lunch the other day she left her purse with the checker. . . . Beulah Howard spent the week-end at Big Long Lake. . . . Marjorie Ogden spent the week-end in Chicago visiting her sister.

HOLIDAY RANCHERS GIVE OUT FOR VETS—A special performance of the G-E Squares' musical, "Holiday Ranch," was given Thursday, June 14, for the Veterans' Hospital in Fort Wayne. In the top picture, Jodie Drake rides her sagging steed, Half-n-Half; second from top an Indian "mammy" singer performs during the finale; third from the top is the Mexican comedy team, Lou Goehring and Bob Triplett (with mustache). The bottom photograph shows the lavish square dance scene.

Elinor Laux attended the horse races in Chicago Saturday. Did you do any betting, Elinor? We saw you had a shirt left to wear to work. . . . Louie Kintz is still getting the rice out of his hair after attending three weddings this weekend. They were at Battle Creek, Mich.; Sturgis, Mich., and Auburn, Ind. . . . Bob Robertson was all excited the other day when he saw a ripe tomato in his tomato patch. He discovered later that his wife Eileen was playing tricks on him. . . . Our sincere sympathy to Hilda LeCoque on the death of her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Tracey. . . . Happy birthday to Herb Richter and Ed Bandt, who are our birthday twins. . . . Happy birthday to Ollie Ragan and Delores Shull. Olile was pleasantly surprised Saturday night when about 45 relatives and friends came to help her celebrate. The girls in group 17x54 surprised Delores Wednesday noon with a birthday cake and gifts, then Ollie Friday noon with a cake and gifts. . . . June seems to be the birthday month. Happy Birthday to Vadas Putt. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bainbridge on the arrival of a baby daughter, Kathleen Diana. . . . Mr. and Mrs. George Marschand attended the wedding of Robert Sible and Elsie Bacon at New Haven Sunday. George was an usher; Mrs. Marschand was matron-of-honor; Shirley Lou was flower girl, and Larry Marschand was ringbearer. . . . Bill Brown has his Buick put together again and is ready to take his wife to the square dance. . . . Bill Dunmire attended the Dodger-Cubs baseball game at Chicago Sunday with a bunch of his cronies. . . . Melvin Riley has been quite itchy. Melvin took his dog to the basement and put flea powder on it, and as Melvin didn't have a shirt on, the fleas decided he was a tasty little morsel. . . . Ruby Stoops spent Father's Day at the lake with her father.

While in Florida last winter "Whitey" Nahrwold purchased a brilliant yellow shirt. The front is emblazoned with a large sailfish. He was just a bit timid about wearing it, but finally mustered up enough courage to flash it on us. When William Mauger lamped this shirt, he became not a little envious. He sallied forth to find one that would put Whitey's in the shade and so he did. The creation Bill bought was just as brilliant as Whitey's. The front was decorated with a black panther. . . . The locked-car-with-motor-running epidemic has spread. The latest one to do this is Ralph "Stunt Driver" Ecenbarger. The other morning, in parking his car, he hooked the bumper of another car, making it necessary for him to do some extra-heavy manual labor to disengage the cars. After accomplishing this, he proceeded into the plant where someone informed him that the motor of his car was running. . . . Harold Hart received an S. O. S. from his wife who was marooned by the high water during the recent downpour. The water was within two inches of the top of the seat cushions. He immediately called the city rescue squad who did a bang-up job of rescuing Mrs. Hart and the car. We suggest that he purchase a car that will not drown out like that tin crate he possesses. Everytime a few rain drops fall, the car goes out of commission, but he still hangs onto it. . . . Here is a thought for the day that we believe it worth passing on. It is from an old spiritual:

"Slow me down, Lawd, I's a-goin' too fast.
I can't see my brother when he's walking past
I miss a lot o' good things day by day.
I don't know a blessin' when it comes my way.

"If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."—Benjamin Franklin.

Bermuda Tips

Girls who are planning to spend their vacation in Bermuda are beginning to plot and plan what they should pack in their alloted 66-pounds of luggage. According to the best Bermuda authorities, here are some items the well-dressed Bermuda tourist should remember:

Be sure to take along low-heeled shoes for walking on the sandy beaches and for other sports. If you have a formal or dinner dress, take it along to wear to dinner. If you don't have one, then just take along a "dressy" dress (not a suit) for your Bermuda evenings.

Very bare shoulders and legs aren't recommended on the British island, except on the beach. Your hotel may frown on you if you don't have a beach robe to wear from the hotel to the ocean.

As anyone who has spent any time at the ocean knows, the combination of mid-summer sun and salt air can mean bad sunburns for even the hardiest skins. Take a good sun tan oil or lotion. (Our sunburn sources tell us that baby oil is not effective enough for the ocean side.) And, of course, you'll want sun glasses.

As another hint, better pack enough film for your camera. Sometimes the size you want may be difficult to find.

Take Identification

You'll need some means of proof that you are a resident of the United States when you come back to this country after your visit. A birth certificate is the best identification, if you have one. Naturalized citizens should have their citizenship papers.

Don't worry about your flight insurance. You can buy that in a jiffy at LaGuardia Field just before you take off.

You will be allowed to make duty-free purchases up to $200 on your short limit stay. All merchandise, naturally, will be marked in Bermuda currency. The present rate of exchange is $2.82 for one Bermuda pound. A shilling is worth 14 American cents.

Girls from the Midwest will leave International Airport at LaGuardia Field Tuesday, July 31, at 10:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time. Veora Habig will be in charge of this group. Girls from the east will leave the airport the day before. Irene Meyers will supervise the eastern section.

Your trip must be paid for IN FULL by Sunday, July 1. Tickets will then be distributed by the travel chairmen. Each ticket will show your roommate and hotel to which you are assigned.

Four Hartmans Stack Up 141 G-E Years

The quartet of Hartman brothers, with total G-E service of 141 years, will be broken up July 1, when Joseph retires after 36 years with General Electric. Joe, Clarence, Al, and George are the only four-brother team at the Fort Wayne Works, who are all members of the Quarter Century Club.

Their father, a foundry employe years ago, was the original G-E man in the family. Of his nine children, five have worked for the Company. Clarence, of Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions in Bldg. 4-4, was the first brother to come to work for "The Lights," as it was then called in 1906. With 45 years of service to date, he has the possibility of becoming a 50-year man before his retirement.

Al is general chairman of the Suggestion System, Bldg. 18-3, and has logged 35 years at G-E. George, the baby of the family, joins the 25-year ranks this year.

Joe Began as Tester

Joe Hartman started working for G-E in December, 1915, as a tester. He left the Company for military service during World War I and returned in 1919 as a machinist in the Tool Room, Bldg. 26-5. Now located in Bldg. 19-5, he has been a leading operator there for several years. George is also working in the General Tool Section, Bldg. 19-5.

As one of the brothers remarked recently, "We Hartman brothers must be satisfied with G-E as a place to work, or we surely wouldn't have stayed around here for 141 years.

One evening recently, Fred Friedman's children brought home a baby chicken they had purchased at the feed store. Not wanting a chicken around the house, Fred told them they had better take the baby chick back to the store as it would die of loneliness if they kept it. The children took the chick back and returned home with two ducks. . . . We extend our sincere sympathy to Paul Hathaway in the death of his father. . . . We're happy to hear Art Druce, Bldg. 19-1, is rapidly improving from his recent operation. . . . Our vacationers are Frieda Kiene, Ada Phillips, Walter Duhn, Paul Scotton, George Ealing, Robert Lageman, Al Johnson, Glen Baker and Harry Biddle. . . . Dames Fortune (disguised as the Dinner Winner Man) telephoned Bob Lauer's home one evening recently. From the happy look on

The G-E Girls Softball Team went down to a 6-0 defeat Thursday night, June 14, in a game with Lincoln Life at Packard Park. Five G-E bobbles accounted for most Lincoln Life's tallies.

G-E girls rapped out six hits against Lincoln, but failed to score a run. Lincoln got off to a hot start with three runs in the first inning on one hit and three errors. They repeated in the fifth with three runs on one hit and two errors.

Battery for the G-E team was Miller and Drewett; for Lincoln Life, Hormann and Briggs.

Vivian Kellogg, former Daisy first baseman, coaches the Lincoln club.

Happy birthday to Mary Stetzel, Lora Summer, Ruth Lemmert, Clar Thomas, Esther Reiter and Cecil Phillips. Minnie McCague, Pauline Gnau and Verna Bullerman helped Esther celebrate her birthday. . . . Cecil almost became an aunt on her birthday. She has a new niece. . . . Bill Yeager is wearing a "I'm a big brother smile." He has a new little brother named David. . . . Clara Dixon is a proud new grandma. It's twins, a boy and a girl. Clara is a former co-worker. . . . Maybe Cliff Milnor got the scoop on the crickets at Poe, but confidentially Lorena Buuck tells us they are just overgrown ants. . . . Mildred Briggs was all ready to catch some big ones at Manistee, Mich. She had a large wash tub and lard can in which to bring them back. Of, course, a big one got away, and she lost her red straw hat in the struggle. . . . Congratulations to Herbert Bergman, who middle-aisled it last Saturday. . . . The welcome mat is out for all our newcomers. Hope you like us. . . . Hedy Harrison attended the graduation exercises of her cousin in Toledo last week-end. . . . We are sorry to hear of Sally Meier fracturing her ankle. Sally plays with the Daisies and is the niece of Tena Dondero. . . . By the time this goes to press, we hope Joe Bright's two small sons are on the improved list. . . . Our sincere sympathy to Marcille Thomas in the death of her aunt.

We welcome Martha Chambers, Mary Lee Flick and Maxine. . . . Joan Armstrong is the envy of the whole group with that chic little white hat. . . . Ann Hershberger thought some of the girls were about to lose that perfect "36" so she plugged the ice cream machine. . . . Vida Craft received a beautiful housecoat from the girls just to let her know she's been missed and they wish her a quick recovery. . . . Edna Conn claims she's "ready for Freddy," but we're not too sure just what she meant. . . . Zelda Garrison does some of her eating at the cafeteria. She said her better half brings his lunch but not hers. . . . We're all still waiting for Donna Lindley's return. . . . Thanks, Stella, for the angel pie. . . . Our apologies to Ed Cooper for not announcing his enrollment into the "Heater Club." We were informed of this by Clarence Norris, who holds the controlling interest. . . . Alice Knerr came back from her honeymoon still in the clouds. . . . Katie Putt is sporting a new Chevy. . . . We've all heard of cold turkey, but Laura Black has a new twist, cold beans. She forgot part of the process—the heat. . . . Safety shoes didn't do Ginny much good since she got the point from the bottom side up. Results: One prominent limp. . . . Dorothy Favorite returned from a visit with her sailor hubby in Seattle. She says, "It was just grand and glorious."

"CONGRATULATIONS, KEN"—Says Harry Parker on behalf of Kenneth Thompson's co-workers. Mr. Thompson (left) celebrated his 35th anniversary with G-E Thursday, June 14.

Salisbury Edges G-E Owls 6-5; Hower's Homer Nets Three Runs

by Bill Geist

G-E Owls outhit Salisbury, 7-6, but only got five men across home plate to Salisbury's six.

Morrie Moffie, on the mound for G-E, started a bit wild and gave up a walk and two doubles for two Salisbury runs in the first inning. Salisbury scored four in the third on two singles, following a free pass which loaded the bases. Catcher Harold Somers dropped a foul spinner off the bat of Parrish that set the stage for the winning runs. On the next pitch, Parrish hit to left center for a homer.

G-E had its big inning in the second when Jerry Jacobs received a free pass. Ken Zurbuch was safe on an error, and Bub Hower's long homer cleaned the bases. G-E scored twice in the sixth when singles by Jacobs and Somers and a fielder's choice by Moffit sent two men home.

In the seventh, Earl Tipsord led off with a single. Red Jamison went in to run for him. Ken Spiker hit into a double play. Jerry Jacobs got his second single of the day. Ken Zurbuch was the last out, third to first.

From the start, the "know-it-alls" said the Hot Shots had won their last Owl golf championship. The last outing made those same prognosticators pull in their horns because the champs are on the move. They followed the five-point win of last week over the Drivers with a 16 tally smasher over the Flags. Ozzie Bunch came into his own by carding a 41. Wilber Hinton shot a 44 in a losing cause.

The win boosted the Hot Shots into second place with a plus 32.

The league-leading Putters, feeling the hot breath of the champs on their heels, bounced back from last week's loss to the Brassies to take a 10-point win from the Bunkers. Paul Billman, with the aid of a very hot putter for the Putters, shot a 41. Al Horstmeyer was the only one of the Bunkers to shoot under his average and also carded his team's low, a 47.

The Spoons gave up second place, though they picked up one-point from Gus Ormsby's Brassies. This writer was low for the Spoons, with a 41. Dave Mumma and Wayne Rousseau shared the loser's low card with 46 apiece.

Herman Uhrick shot the best game of the day, a 39 on the front nine, and led the Drivers to a nine-point victory over the cellar dwelling Traps. As an oddity, the other three members of the Drivers each carded 45's. The scoring leader for the Traps was newcomer Trev Williams, with a 48. The win put the Drivers into the league's fourth slot.

Warren Wickliffe leads all of the Owl Golfers with an average of 39. Jim Sternberger is second with 41.4; Herman Uhrick is third with 41.7; Lloyd Grider fourth with 41.8, and Lou Barney rounds out the top five with 42.2

SAFETY SHOES WOULD HAVE PREVENTED THIS—Mabel Quickery, Div. 17, Taylor St., left her Safety Shoes at home on the same day a stator fell on her foot last week. According to Dispensary reports, she suffered a "complete transverse fracture through the middle of the proximal phalanx on her left large toe." In simpler terms, Mabel will be on crutches, suffering needless pain and inconvenience for a couple of weeks.

Ambidextrous — It takes big words to describe this fete! Imagine, if you can, sitting in the middle of Crooked Lake all day Sunday—baiting your hook just as fast as you can. The fish were biting entirely too well for Irene Meyers to stop long enough to eat. She called ashore and told the girls she was too busy to come in—and asked that they bring her a sandwich. Here is the catch. They were having Italian spaghetti! NOW, how do you suppose she manipulated a fork and large spoon to roll the spaghetti on and hold a fishing pole all at the same time? Ambidextrous—yes sir! . . . Best Wishes are extended to Howard Mertz, who left Reproduction last Friday to start a business adventure. We hope that you will have every success. . . . Some of the fishermen in Bldg. 18 did not like my story about the cost per pound of fish and game caught. They tell me their wives object to the idea—now that they know just how much it does cost. . . . Our best wishes are extended to Esther Robinson, who changed her name a week ago to Mrs. Stanley Campbell. . . . Congratulations—Harry D. Tharp, son of A. A. Tharp, Data Bureau, and Barbara Martin, daughter of E. A. Martin at Taylor St., were married at the Crescent Avenue Evangelical U. B. Church last Saturday. . . . Changed—Lillian Miller has been changed to the Microfilm room. We hope she likes her new work. . . . Ruth Kelley, stenographer in the suggestion office, left last Friday to take up homemaking on a serious basis. We extend a welcome to Betty Kesson, who replaces Ruth. . . . Karl Reid is very proud of his little daughter. Linda participated in the Ann Adams revue recently presented at Franke Park. . . . The M. H. Klines were happy to have their daughter, Joan, with them for a visit. . . . Strange—Did anyone notice Eloise Kartholl's new earrings last week? We wonder if she was starting a new fad. (One green one and the other white.) . . . Happy Birthday to Opal Burns, June 18. . . . A. Hen-sick really had a father's day gift—a new seat for his bicycle. . . . Troubled—Ruth Mahr spent all of her time Saturday, except just long enough for the evening meal, trying to coax her parakeet to return home. Ruth finally coaxed the bird home about 7:30 p.m. with a pan of bird seed. . . . Welcome was also extended to Keith Miller of River Works who is enjoying a three weeks' vacation in Fort Wayne. . . . Last Sunday was a happy Father's Day for "Herb" Kammeyer—all of his children and grandchildren were at the lake to help him enjoy the day.

Sam Henry is trying to run a certain industry on Fairfield Ave. out of huisness. Anyone interested in a toidy seat, made with loving care, see Sam. . . . Henry Tucker made out his time voucher with Elton Swank's name on it. We don't know if Elton did the work for him or if Henry was wishing it on Elton. . . . Arnold Landis had a dream that he was standing on a stack of pike but was only catching little fish. Hope his luck is better next week, since he is going to Wisconsin for vacation. . . . Bill Quarve wanted a motor mounted on a brushing device. While trying to explain to Bob Dresesl just exactly where he wanted it mounted, he kept indicating the bottom side of the bench. Now Dressel, being the precise machinist that he is, mounted the motor securely under the bench. Bill is still trying to figure out how it happened. . . . George Miller has a sore toe that prevents him from performing a very important duty for the last two weeks. We don't know which toe it is. Lately, he has been limping on one foot then the other.

Dreamer

SHIPPING: Happy birthday to Beverly Kieler last Saturday. . . . Betty Campbell is wearing a broad smile and the reason is her trip to Texas to be with hubby. Betty leaves today and our best wishes go with her. . . . Helen Eggeman looks fresh and rested after her week's vacation. She insists she worked like a dog. . . . Dutch (Chief) Wilson is a brand new father-in-law. He reports that everything went on schedule and was very nice. . . . Tony Koorsen is another vacationist just back and very refreshed looking. . . . "HELP, FIRE," was the word last Friday. Eloise Hoehn's waste basket went up in smoke, but brave Eloise had the fire out before our EXIT MAN (Bob Jellison) could swing into action. . . . Three cheers for Ed Blotkamp, who was guest editor last week when I was off fighting a cold. . . . RECEIVING: DeWayne Freshwater's office job didn't last very long, but while it did, his fellow workers showed extreme jealousy. By the way, when DeWayne used that old line, "Haven't we met before?" when he stopped at the drive-in, he was really serious. The girl that he thought was Dwila Parish, our typist, actually was Dwila's sister. . . . Have you heard the latest fashion note? They're making beach togs and sun dresses out of burlap. Ruth Schroeder can give you the details. . . . We have a new file clerk, Norma Durnell. She is a recent graduate of Lafayette Central High School. . . . Bob Younghouse is our vacationer this week. . . . TELEGRAPH: Welcome to Donna Duncan, another graduate from Hamilton, Ind., High School. . . . Helene and Johnny Nelson had a good time in Chicago over the week-end and took in a ball game. . . . Gladys Hadley, former employe of Telegraph, is the proud mother of a little girl. . . . Kitty Cooper reports the fish were biting at Jimmerson Lake, all shapes and types, but she wouldn't mention the quantity. . . . Congratulations to Barbara Rider on her birthday and third wedding anniversary. . . . MAILING: Welcome to Ruth Hicks. Ruth graduated this spring from Hamilton High School. . . . Bill Fitsgerald and Jack Woodcox celebrated their birthdays last week. . . . Johnny Pranger reports a good time was had in California. You must have seen some sun, Johnny, by the looks of your complexion.

Employes' Store Expands Safety Shoe Services

The Broadway and Taylor St. Employes' Stores have increased and expanded their stock of Safety Shoes, R. L. Fischbach, Store supervisor, disclosed today.

A man, trained specifically to do a better job of fitting the Safety Shoes, is also available to employe customers, Mr. Fischbach explained. Special hours for fitting shoes at the Broadway Store are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. Shoes are sold at the Taylor St. Store from 1:30 to 3:45 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

Shoes may be purchased on the Payroll Deduction Plan, Mr. Fischbach added.

Bob's face when he reported for work the next morning, we can guess Mrs. Lauer knew what to say when she answered the call. . . . Eileen Gault chaperoned her group of girl scouts to Lake James for the week-end. . . . Helen Stabler did her strawberry picking Wednesday night, but Thursday Helen wasn't at work. Oh, that aching back! . . . Birthday greetings to Catherine Walters, Ralph Weaver, Robert Tribolet, Stanley Stults, Frank McCalip, Robert Lauer, Paul Hathaway, Robert Grace, Charles Fortney, Anita Boyd, Willis Bunyan, Myron Cox, Richard Decker, Dale Evans and Edna Lesh. . . . We have on good authority, that John Felmlee, one time Peerless Leader of the M-G Drafting Division, is in these parts and has been visiting in Bldg. 31. Is he mad at Bldg. 19-2 or something? Are we not also old friends? Come and see us, too, John! . . . A welcome hand is extended to Kenneth Rapp, Clifford Smith, Ernest Hurst, Tex Woodruff, Kenneth Gross, Harry Heckathorn and Melvin Markley.

LOOKING FORWARD TO RETIREMENT—Clyde Crabill, Bldg. 17-1 (center), is pictured looking at a watch his G-E friends gave him when he retired last week with more than 32 years of service. He has worked as an automatic screw machine set-up man since 1919.

Remember the trades Bob Pence and Walt Richardson have been making. Walt innocently went over to Bob's one evening last week on Bob's invitation. Bob's load of cement had arrived that day, so Bob invited Walt to help out. Walt says, "I just can't win." . . . We extend our deepest sympathy to Judy Sparks and Joan Romary in the death of their fathers. . . . Virginia McCoy talked her husband into helping clean the house. But he used her good dust mop to scrub the floors. . . . Lillian Kidder almost spent the night trapped in her car. With only six inches to spare on each side of her garage and in about half way, something happened to her over-drive. She couldn't go either way so her small son crawled out the window and went for help. . . . Happy birthday to Daisy Ford, June 14. . . . We welcome Hildagarde Bearman, Nancy Kispert, Carolyn Shuck, Jean Jones and Margaret Spurgat. Thanks to you who brought me the information. . . . Johnny Wetzel had a gift in his closed hand, but no one would accept it. Finally, Esther Muzzillo held out her hand and Johnny dropped a baby rat in it. Esther danced a new jig and let out a few new sounds. . . . Betty Thompson has a new version of the song "Chloe." She sings, "Howie-Howie." . . . Marcie Geschwell has lost faith in the flags on the golf course since the sand-trap moved onto the green. . . . Test and Inspection wish Fred Clark's wife a speedy recovery. . . . Gang, if you want to see what our friend Delores Gladbach looked like when she was a little tot and in her teens—you should see her pictures. WOW! She was a "Pin-up Bloomer Girl." . . . Betty Shanyfelt is pretty good with the needle and thread. Did you see the cute skirt she made? . . . Don LeMaster thanks everyone for the contribution to his five daughters. He says he is sure everything will be very useful. . . . Our friend Pondo had a scare when a motor blew up in his face.

GETS SEND-OFF AT RETIREMENT—Homer Weaver, Bldg. 26-3 (center foreground), was given a big send-off by his Transformer co-workers when he retired last week. He was presented a well-filled billfold as a retirement gift. Wade Bowman is shown giving the present to Mr. Weaver while his second shift friends look on. Mr. Weaver has a continuous service record since 1942. At the time of his retirement, he was a janitor.

Happy birthday Ada Owens, Virginia Diehl, June Railing, Neva Liby and Jeanette Ehinger. The candy was very good and Jeanette's cookies really place her in top place for cookie-bakers. . . . So very deep in thought with his work was Jake Eady that he walked home from work and left his car parked in the parking lot. . . . Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roop that their son, Jim, was wounded in Korea. The family did not hear any further details concerning his injury. . . . Fred Chronister and George Roop are on the sick list. . . . When they give Ezra Brandyberry safety glasses, he wishes that they would be clear and not so cloudy as the ones he received the other day. He finally discovered that he was trying to look through cardboard. . . . Greetings to Milton Chronister, Clyde Beery, Dick Roth, Wheeler Brooks and Chalmer Hower, who have returned to work after absences due to illness. . . . Clarence (Happy) Meyer is back with us. . . . Could it be that Ed Deitsch wanted to sleep late in the mornings so he changed over to third shift? . . . Rumor has it that Frank Braun is seriously considering following in Pete Fairchild's footsteps and heading for a farm. . . . Jim Chilcote is enjoying a week of vacation but whether it is spent fishing or just loafing we do not know. Will have to get the details later. . . . The hamster in the Hesher family has finally reconciled itself to captivity. Ed reports that he can now put his hand in the cage without getting bit on the finger—sometimes. . . . We have a couple new girls on the second shift.—Janet Seitz and Waunita Weldy. Both are in Mr. Patrick's Section. Hi, gals, we hope you stay with us. . . . Mark Foreman has returned to the Shipping Section after spending a year in college. . . . Pat Huser is an aunt again. Her sister, Joan (Hitchcock) Boring, is the proud mother of a baby girl. Joan is a former G-E worker. . . . Hey, what goes? Did you or did you not notice nearly all of the old gang on second has transferred to days? . . . Mary Maloney, Earleen Steffen and Dorothy Schnepf gave a shower in honor of Dorothy Schumm, bride-elect, at Hanna-Nuttman Park recently. A picnic lunch was served and games were played during the evening. Among those present were Mrs. F. W. Schumm, Mrs. R. J. Schaffer and the office girls. Dorothy received many lovely gifts.

The guys and gals are packing up their tackle boxes and goin' fishin'. Barb Mertz caught a whale of a fish all of three inches long. . . . Melba Mertz says, "Three other suckers and I caught 52 fish in a half hour." . . . Fuzz Houser was not as lucky as the girls. He came home empty-handed, but as brown as a bear. . . . Tony Kazelis went up to Hamilton Lake to try his luck. He caught a pretty fish, or did he say "dish?" . . . Mildred Fettinger doesn't care for fish or fishing. She just can't stand to eat dead fish. . . . We have quite a shark in our midst. Mollie Hile stays up until all hours playing cards. . . . It's been rumored Clara Meyers lost the top of her toe to a large minnow, but she says she cut it off trimming her toenails. . . . Clara is also very good at instructing men on how to wax floors. . . . Dora Augenbaug and Ruth Ehrsam, like many of us, got no closer to the lakes than their washing machines last week.

High Spots

by Marie Fox

Audrey Turney wants us to meet Marjorie Johnson. . . . Mildred Carpenter doesn't like to be outdone as a reporter. She would like to introduce Calvin Lee, who has two years credit towards his doctor's degree. . . . There was a "foursome" which came from Bldg. 17-4 a few weeks back. We welcome Grace Neely, Lucille Welch, Gladys Hahn and Clara Metcalf. . . . Leonard Boudreau was able to celebrate Father's Day a little more exuberantly by getting a son just two days before. . . . Carl Winners recently married Rowena Budd. Congratulations. . . . Barbara Yingling reports a very successful office potluck, featuring stuffed olives and stuffed tummies. . . . We are sorry to hear Harold Spath, from Buckley's section, has had a tough time of it. There's nothing like a visit from an old friend to make one feel better. His address is 347 West Packard. . . . Roy Bracht has a black eye, something to do with bursted veins. The fellows know he is a good "scout," but everytime they look at him they smile and wonder. . . . Ruth Walda says her radishes are exquisite. She also states, "Just forget about labeling me with the wrong name." After tripping over it for the third time, everybody must be glad to have it settled. . . . We have hit a snag. At least one person, and perhaps more, think of these columns as nothing but gossip. I've tried to draw a line between gossip and news, but have done more sweating than anything else. You are invited to write me your opinion on what should go into this column. This is for your pleasure. I need your help. Maybe some good will come of it—My aim is to enrichen, enlighten, and enliven our fellow workers through this column. What are your suggestions?

It took Eddie Dauscher almost a year to get even with Don Huffman for hitting Ed's hand with a mallet. Today, Don has nice bandages on his right hand. The score is even. . . . Benny Beningzer is still very unhappy about not being able to get the top down on that new convertible. He knows there is a push button there somewhere to do the job, but hasn't been able to locate it. . . . Bill Conner used to work in a Chevrolet garage. Some of the boys feel if he is going to work here, he should go over to Buick for a while. . . . Henry Burkamp will, no doubt, be carrying oars or a measuring stick before stepping out of his stalled car in the water holes left by heavy rains. . . . Paul Noffze's son, John, visited us last week. He has it on his father for good looks, and he seems like a fine lad. We hope he likes his work in Bldg. 17-2. . . . I hear Ed Parker's wife is still waiting for Ed to furnish her with a dutch hoe. She feels those 15 acres are too much for her to take care of with the tools he provides for her. . . . Orlis Royer didn't read the instructions for his new Ford carefully. He left all the lights on last week and had to be pushed. . . . Charles Baker has gone to work on the second shift. The boys have been expecting this for sometime. . . . Congratulations to Johnny Hughes, who has joined the 25-year-men. Johnny is a popular member of our division and it is a pleasure to be working with him. . . . We welcome to Group 2-002 Arthur Mowery and Alvin Ellis. Good luck to both of you.

Board Chairman Urges Higher Productivity

Philip D. Reed Speaks as Retired Head Of International Chamber of Commerce

Philip D. Reed, General Electric board chairman, has made a strong plea for an intensified effort by businessmen in all countries to increase productivity as an essential step toward "sound and expanding" national economies.

He told an audience of more than 500 business leaders from 27 countries who attended the International Chamber of Commerce Congress last week in Lisbon, Portugal, of the need for responsibility for world development and called for "bold, dynamic and imaginative leadership."

"I am not naive enough," he said in making the principal speech as retiring president of the I.C.C., "to believe that, in any of our countries, we shall enjoy a continuously rising curve of demand during the rest of our natural lives. There will be periods of adjustment, periods of inventory liquidations, periods of falling prices and periods when an increasing number of workers will have to resort to unemployment insurance because of temporary shortages of jobs."

The answer to all troubles still is increased productivity, Mr. Reed asserted, adding that, "during the past 50 years, more difficulties and dislocations, both economic and social, have been caused by the failure of management to modernize or expand its production facilities than by the temporary existence of excess capacity."

Efficiency Needed

"Let it be clearly understood that I am not talking about increased output per man hour obtained by 'sweating' labor," he said. "If a man or woman is doing a reasonable day's work in terms of physical and mental effort, increased productivity must be achieved without requiring additional expenditure of energy by the worker. It is simply a matter of utilizing that energy more fully and efficiently."

Referring to the Western rearmament program, Mr. Reed said, "Higher productivity is the only hope of absorbing part of this added burden with a minimum inflationary effect and a minimum loss of civilian production."

In summing up, Mr. Reed said, "It therefore becomes of prime importance for everyone, management, labor, shareholders, consumers and the government, to encourage, support and cooperate with every effort to increase productivity. Here is a foundation stone of human progress. Here is an essential characteristic of a sound, dynamic and expanding economy."

G-E to Supply Motors for Top Secret Sub

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—The General Electric Company has announced that it will supply motors and generators for the new highly-secret defensive submarine which is designed to protect harbors and coastal installations from enemy underseas craft.

The Navy, builder of the new submarine, disclosed only that the craft will be smaller in size than conventional submarines and will be equipped with the latest underseas detection devices.

THEY'RE DEFENSE BONDS NOW!

Wage Stabilization Board Okays 9-cent Wage, Salary Increase

The approvals for the nine cent-an-hour general wage and salary increase, retroactive to March 15, for which the Company petitioned the Wage Stabilization Board some weeks ago, have now been officially received.

After a long delay in the processing of our applications, the Review and Appeals Committee of the Wage Board voted last week to recommend approval of the nine cent-an-hour general wage increase for hourly employes, and the $3.60 weekly wage increase for salaried employes under the jurisdiction of the Wage Board. At the same time, approval was obtained for a salary increase for exempt salaried employes under the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board.

This wage and salary increase, including the amount accumulated since March 15, will be paid next week to all affected salaried employes. Affected hourly-rated employes, excepting those represented by Lodge 70, IAM, will receive payment Tuesday, July 3. At press time, Company sources said affected Decatur Plant employes would receive the accumulated increase either July 3 or July 11.

> Lodge 70, IAM, filed an endorsement of the pay application with the Wage Board and the approval applies to employes represented by Lodge No. 70. However, the Company has agreed not to make the increases effective for such employes until the Company's obligation to bargain collectively with the union, with respect to pay increases, has been fully satisfied.

While the delay in the granting of the increase has been annoying to many, the reward for waiting will now result in a vacation nest-egg of $50 or more for most employes as a result of the increase which has been accumulating since the March 15 effective date.

Vi Schneider has been in a dither this past week. Her friend, Herb Heinze, is home from the service for a leave. Herb is on his way to Korea. . . . Vivian Hill Goff is back with us after a short honeymoon. Vivian has some beautiful pictures of her wedding to show everybody. . . . Jo Quinn and the rest of the cast of "Holiday Ranch" repeated their performance for the Veterans' Hospital. Jo said everything went swell. . . . Marilyn Spice and Maxine Householder are both in need of strong glasses. They were both at Pleasant Lake Sunday at the same time, on the same beach, no more than a block apart. They didn't know it until Monday morning. . . . How is Carol Harrington coming alone with her golf lessons? She hasn't said much about it. . . . Mary Caruso tells us that St. Joe's Parish is having a Mexican Festival Sunday. It sounds like fun. . . . Vivian Grepke has been awfully busy lately. She and her fiance have bought a house and are remodeling it. They plan to have it ready for sometime in September. . . . Phyllis Clifton spent an enjoyable week-end at Crooked Lake fishing and swimming. . . . Little Iodine, I mean Audrey Bradfield, never can locate her candy bars after returning from the candy lady. What seems to be the trouble, Audrey?

Pensioner Parade

Employes of Bldg. 26-4 were glad to see Wilbur Smith, who dropped in for a visit recently. He is spending the summer up north and then plans to go to Arizona for the winter. . . . Norman (Pete) Prince and Manford (Pappy) Lee are Hoosiers again after their winter vacations in Florida. They both formerly worked in Bldg. 19-2. . . . George M. Louthan is in Bldg. 25, Ward B, of the Veterans' Hospital in Marion, Ind. His home address is R. R. 1, Rome City. . . . Howard Miller is now living at 1939 East 9th St., Tucson, Ariz. In a recent letter, he said, "Tell all our friends at old G-E that the latch string is always out . . . should any come this way."

Red-hot Outfit—Shown above (l-r) in the Company's new fire jeep are Walt Seidel, Ernie Hanauer, Merle Morkoetter and G. Rodman. The "fire-engine" red vehicle, complete with sirens and flasher lights, is the latest addition to the Plant's fire-fighting equipment. It will be used for runs between Broadway and Taylor St.

Foresight Saves Eyesight—

Safety glasses saved Kermit D. Agler's eyes last week when a piece of broken wire was driven into the rim of his glasses. F. H. Lemper, foreman (right), is shown with Mr. Agler in the Wire Mill at the scene of the near accident. Inset shows wire lodged in shell rim of Agler's safety glasses. Employes should bring prescriptions to their foremen or supervisors as the first step in ordering glasses.

Let's Wave the Flag

What about all this flag waving business?

Some say it's a little overdone. Maybe they have a point—sometimes.

Not infrequently, bigoted men have used the Stars and Stripes to advance selfish and unwholesome causes . . . pitting race against race and placing so-called "economic stratas" at odds. Witness the Nisei persecution during World War II and the use of the American Flag at communist rallies. Some segments of veteran groups have used the Flag in attempts to acquire fantastic bonuses which would unjustly burden even the veterans they claim to serve.

Facts Are Twisted

Too often, sophisticated men twist the facts of history and magnify only regrettable chapters of heroic noble military campaigns. Though we wielded the "Big Stick" in the Spanish-American War, we liberated the Cubans from unspeakable excesses. It was not entirely the fault of the Americans at Bellau Woods that a Hitler was allowed to rise in a revitalized Germany.

Whatever historians may make of past wars, there were many courageous men who fought, bled and died for their convictions and the Flag. Under that red, white and blue banner, we have and are experiencing the richest life ever known on this planet.

The Founding Fathers, who pledged their lives and fortunes to endow all Americans with life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, realized the significance (and magnificence) of Old Glory. So did the Marines at Iwo Jima. So do our men in Korea. So must we.

Amidst the picnics and other recreational activities we may plan on Independence Day, let us pause a moment and be thankful for the Flag that God and Americans have preserved.

Words by Walt

INDEPENDENCE DAY

July, the Fourth, we'll celebrate
Our Independence Day.
We'll have, of course, the usual
Pyro-technical display.

We'll have a lot of accidents,
Unless I miss my guess.
And like the other holidays,
We'll have our traffic mess.

We'll have our family picnics
And we'll take a lot of trips.
There'll be fishers going fishing.
There'll be swimmers taking dips.

There'll be some attending ball games,
There'll be others at the beach.
And the parks will have their youngsters,
Who will run, and scream, and screech.

There'll be old folks on the porches,
Talking of the days gone by.
There'll be Junior with his cap-gun
Under mother's watchful eye.

There'll be patriotic speeches,
And somewhere within the throng,
There will be some long-nosed agitator,
Telling folks what's wrong.

High above it all, Old Glory
Will be waving in the breeze.
The symbol of our freedom
To do the things we please.

The symbol of a freedom
That has made our country great.
So let's not forget the meaning
Which we start to celebrate.

Let's be sure there's no replacement
For Old Glory in our skies.
Let's be sure no foreign emblem
From her flag pole ever flies.

Let's be sure she keeps on waving.
And let's hope she'll always be
The standard of our nation,
Independent, Just and Free.

The following letter was recently received from Ed Hauke's son, who is serving his country with the Fifth Infantry Regiment in Korea. Young Ed formerly worked at the Taylor St. Plant and has been in Korea about two months. His father works at Winter St.

"Greetings to you from a hill somewhere in North Korea. I don't know just where we are . . . someplace northeast of Seoul. We are a little north of the parallel. It gives me great pleasure that the Army can afford me these few moments to drop you a few lines. Once the Army gets started, they don't take long to move you from one place to another.

"Chinks" Are Sad

"We worked all day last Saturday until about 1 a.m. the next morning, then moved north; stopped off at Regimental Headquarters in the morning and moved up here Monday afternoon. Well, I got a new job. I'm a member of a machine gun squad. Sounds kind of rough—but it isn't too bad. We have to stand guard on the hill every night. Monday was all right, but Tuesday night we had a little scrap with some Chinks. Our company and Fox Company took 800 prisoners. You should see them. It's really a pity! Most of them are young kids. They don't have anything to eat and look as dirty as pigs. Rest of the week has been quiet, but wet. This afternoon is the first I have heen dry since Monday.

"This night life gets kind of old. We go up the hill to our out-post about six at night and stay 'til seven in the morning. You see, our camp is back of the line about three miles. We don't do much through the day—just clean our weapons, and once in awhile we go on afternoon patrol. So far, it hasn't been too rough; that is, if you don't consider the Chinks as being rough. They have about 3,000 prisoners in a camp about two miles back of us. They are giving up that easily. The cook found two in our chow line this morning. They try to slip in with our Korean boys. Some say it might be over soon. I sure hope so because I'm getting tired climbing these hills. They really split up our old outfit from Breckenridge this time. We all went to different outfits. Two of the boys are in my company—only different platoons.

"You can lay here in our tent and hear the artillery shooting up ahead. Must be raising heck, been going all day, I'm still doing fine and in good health. Tell everyone 'hello.' Write when you can. So far, haven't gotten any mail."

Ed Hauke, Jr.

Roger W. Collar, formerly of Bldg. 26-1, is serving with the Marine Corps in Korea. He writes:

"Being as I haven't let the gang back there know how things are for a long time, I thought I would take time now and do it.

"We are sitting on a high hill about nine miles north of the 38th parallel and about two miles east of the Hwachon Reservoir. We took this hill two days ago with only a little trouble. So far things have been pretty quiet. Last night a bomber came over and dropped a few eggs, the best part of it was that they dropped them on their lines instead of ours. Everything in general is fine with me, only I'm getting tired of these mountains. You never saw a country like this place. Mountains everywhere you go.

"I got some clippings from home of the good old G-E news and in one of them it had a letter from W. W. Shaffer and I see he is stationed in Pusan. He sure is lucky. I'm about 350 miles north of there. Well, I'll sign off for this time as it is starting to rain again. It has been for the last week. Tell the gang I said hello and being as I almost have nine months over here, I hope to be seeing them soon."

Sincerely,
Roger W. Collar

Apprentice Alumni, Test Engrs, Squares Plan for Annual Picnics

Alumni Fellows to Hold Outdoor Stag July 12 at Voigt's Retreat

The Apprentice Alumni Association will hold an outdoor stag beginning at 5 p.m. Thursday, July 12, at Voigt's Retreat.

Publicity Chairman Earl Plummer said a variety of contests have been planned. Highlighted by a softball game, events will include volleyball, horseshoes and a tug-o-war.

Tickets are $1.25 each and may be purchased from contact men. Harmon Westrick, Bldg. 19-5, and Henry Gollmer, Taylor St., are co-chairmen of the stag.

Charlie Briggs, Taylor St., assisted by Henry Witber, Bldg. 19-4, and Don House, Bldg. 18-2, is chairman of the food committee. Serving on the refreshment committee are Wilson Garman, Bldg. 19-4, chairman; Don Hoffman, Bldg. 19-5, Lyle Claphan, Taylor St., Dick Nill, and Walter Buesking, Bldg. 17-2. George Horner is chairman of sports, assisted by Leo Schlaudroff, Bldg. 19-4. (A map of Voigt's Retreat is shown on page 4)

Kenneth Redding Named Foreman, FHP Tool Cribs

Kenneth J. Redding has been appointed foreman of tool cribs and carboloy grinding for Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions, according to W. H. Connor, supervisor of General Planning.

Mr. Redding joined the Company as a messenger in January, 1922. He served as a time clerk in Bldg. 4-2 for a short time and, in 1925, was transferred to Tool Supply as a tool crib operator.

In 1937, Mr. Redding became a tool supply clerk in Bldg. 17-4. He transferred to Taylor St. in 1941, where he served until 1946, when he went to the Danville Plant for eight months. In 1947, he returned to Bldg. 20-2 on cost reduction work. In 1948, he was named assistant supervisor of Tool Supply in Bldg. 8-1.

Mr. Redding is a member of the Supervisor's Club and the Quarter Century Club. He is married and has three children. The Reddings live at 4503 Lafayette St.

Squares, Engineers to Entertain Their Families at McCormick Park

The program of events for the G-E Squares' and Test Engineers' Family picnic was made known today by Publicity Chairman Glenn Seabold. The picnic is slated for 2:30 p.m. Saturday, July 7, at McCormick Park. (See map at bottom of page)

The day's schedule is as follows:

2:30 to 3 p.m.. Softball Warm-up
3 to 4:30 p.m. ...Softball Game
4:30 to 5 p.m. Women's Contests
5 to 5:45 p.m. Children's Contests
6 to 7 p.m. .....Potluck Dinner
7 p.m. .....Group Singing, Volleyball and Horseshoes.

The Oldtimers (men over 32) will play the Juniors (men under 32) in the Softball game. Mr. Seabold said birth certificates will be required if there is any doubt about age classification.

There will be prizes for all contests and for each child. Families should bring their own sandwiches and table service plus a covered dish. Ice cream, coffee and soft drinks will be furnished by the Squares.

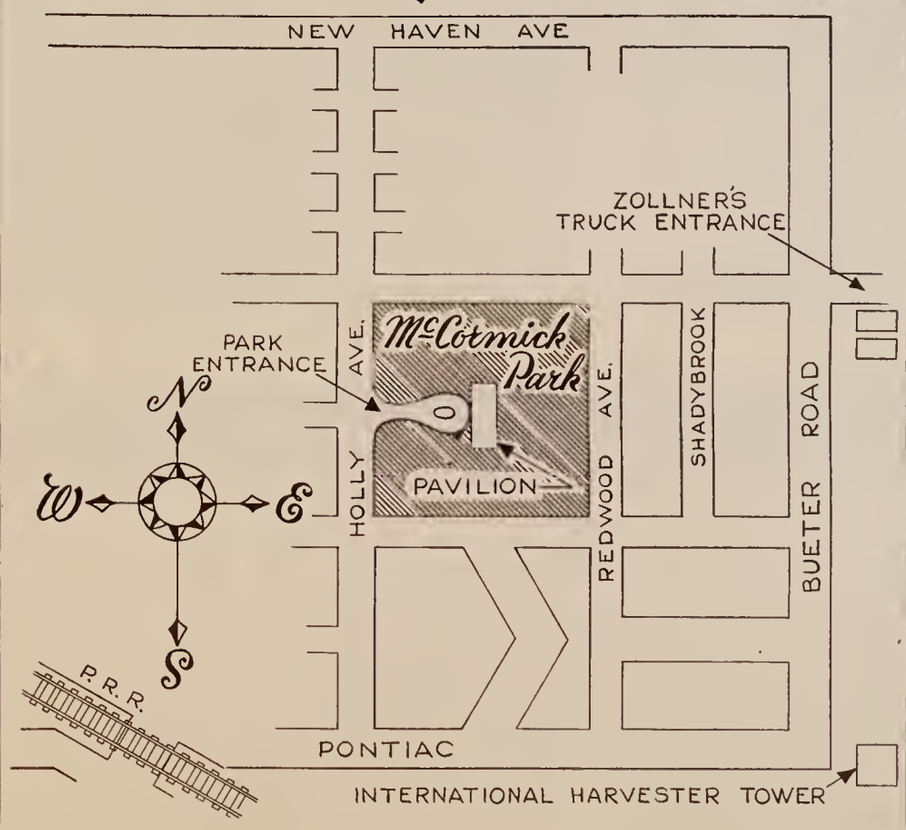
Reservations may be made with C. J. Herman, Bldg. 4-6.

Tickets for "Vagabond King" Offered by Elex Contact Girls

Tickets are available for the Elex-sponsored July 9th performance of "The Vagabond King" at the News-Sentinel Outdoor Theater at Franke Park, Elex President Thelma Stone reminded G-E folks today. Miss Stone has urged all G-E employes to take their families and friends to enjoy the music, drama and romance under the stars.

The operetta will be offered for the benefit of G-E employes in the armed services. Tickets are $1.20 each and the Elex defense fund receives 40 cents for each ticket sold. It is the Elex goal to sell all the theater's 2,100 seats, Miss Stone said.

"The Vagabond King" is a play set in France during a 15th century war between two rival kingdoms. Beautiful and familiar music is mingled with the plot of a thief who is made king for a day.



Staged Locally

The operetta is being staged by the Fort Wayne Light Opera Company. Professional actors and singers will play the leading roles and local talent will play all supporting roles.

Tickets may be purchased from contact girls or at the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St.

G-E employes Mary Raney, Winter St.; Ramona Ireland, Bldg. 4-6; Forrest Mulvane, Bldg. 17-3, Bob Wildermuth, Taylor St., and Wanda Brudi, Bldg. 8-2, are taking part in the production.

SCENE OF SQUARES' PICNIC

LIKES HIS WORK — Carl (Snuffy) Junk likes his work so well that he wants to be laid out beside it. He has a head stone attached to A-16 machine with his name and the date of passing out already engraved on it. The only thing we cannot figure out is that the date of his passing out reads June 13, 1951. If our eyes have not been deceiving us, we believe we still see Snuffy walking around. . . . Baby Fire Unit Added to Plant Protection Here

A flaming red Jeep fire truck was added to the G-E fire-fighting equipment this week, according to E. M. Hanauer, G-E fire chief.

The jeep is equipped with a 300-pound dry chemical unit, which has dual hase connections to two 100-foot lengths of hose. Two 20-pound hand units are mounted on the hood. The mohile unit, equipped with a siren and flasher red lights, will make all runs to Taylor St.

The fire jeep is small enough to he carried on elevators and into the major buildings. It can reach all hazards such as the large dip room in Bldg. 19-2, the treating room in Bldg. 26-1, the naphtha wash room in Bldg. 17-3, the oil house in Bldg. 11, the Taylor St. propane storage, oil house and enamel storage, Chief Hanauer explained.

If elevators should be out of service for any reason, making it impossible to get a large dry chemical unit to a fire, ropes could he dropped out of the windows at Broadway and the 200 feet of hose from the truck could he pulled up to any location in the Plant, Hanauer added.

What's burning? Oh, that's just Mary Burkholder, who came in Monday morning with an awful sunburn. . . . Keeping in style with the short hair-do, Rueben Tschaekofske is now sporting a crew cut. Employes' Store Equipped To Repair G-E Appliances

Have you got toaster trouble? Is your mixer in a mess or your clock not ticking?

The Employes' Store is now prepared to handle repairs on G-E roasters, toasters, irons, clocks, vacuum cleaners, mixers and radios, R. L. Fischbach, store supervisor, announced today. Bill Disque, recently added to the Store's staff, will take care of all nonfunctioning gadgets with a minimum of delay and inconvenience to customers, Mr. Fischbach explained.

The repair work, now handled at the store, was formerly sent to other authorized maintenance centers. Specially qualified personnel are also available to fit Safety Shoes sold on the Payroll Deduction Plan or on a cash basis, Mr. Fischbach said.

MISTER "FIX-IT"—Bill Disque is shown working on a G-E radio in the Employes' Store's newly-installed repair shop.

Thought for the Week — "Socialism gives the English free false teeth, but no meat to chew on."—Governor Dan Thornton

HANDYMAN: If you need any repair work done, see Marvin Cristil. He has been practicing on G-E fans. . . . POPULAR—Bill Shanebeck's charming personality is in so much demand, the girls have to take turns eating with him in the cafeteria. . . . The reason Leona Mitchel sits at Dick Hobson's desk is she wants people to say she is pretty good looking for an old woman. . . . Dick Hobson is on his second week of vacation. We hope that he will come back completely rested. . . . ATTENTION ALL BEAUTY OPERATORS—The latest style of haircuts is on display in the Paper-Materialistic Section, Bldg. 31-1. . . . JUST A DREAMER—When Homer Campbell came to work Thursday morning, he had a frown. He sat down, glared at Jim Kocher for a while and finally came over to our desk. "Say," he remarked, "I can't make up my mind what to do. Last night I had a dream. I dreamed I drove up to my garage and just then Jim Kocher jumped out of my cherry tree and ran around the corner of our house. This morning I noticed one of the limbs was broken in the tree. Now I am trying to decide if it was a dream or not, and whether I should beat Jim over the head." P.S. Later Homer learned that a neighbor boy broke the limb. . . . WORRIED—Doris Hart is worried for it seems people are trying to make her older than she is. It all started when someone reported her birthday was last week. She was showered with greetings. Doris wishes to announce to her public, the time study men and Jim Stouder that her birthday is not until January. . . . EFFICIENCY — Roscoe Markley has again accomplished the impossible. Sometime ago, we reported how due to his drill methods, the entire family could be marched out of the house in less than 30 seconds. Now using the same methods, the family harvested his entire hay crop in less than half a day. . . . WELCOME—Bob Kite announces that one and all are invited to his lake cottage. However, you must be willing to do a little work and bring your own tools. Contractors, carpenters and bulldozer operators, especially welcomed. Mr. Kite reports he will ask his neighbor Olin Keller to provide a fish dinner, if Mr. Keller catches the fish.

We finally found out why John Haggenjo's ears would perk up everytime the telephone would ring. Monday John was late and brought in the candy and cigars. Congratulations, Mrs. Haggenjos, on the fine little girl. . . . If last week you saw Peg Ballinger walking down the aisle kinda stiff like, it's because he was practicing for his daughter's wedding. . . . Woody Winters is building a new home in Roanoke. He had the gang (including Bob Boone's horse) out last Saturday to give him a hand. In return, he gave them their noon lunch. Woody, however, wishes Bob would take the bus out from now on as hay and oats are kinda expensive. . . . Denver Coolman had an emergency operation Saturday. We wish him a speedy recovery.

First off, I thank Jo Lee Zimmerman for so willingly writing the column while I was off. And a very good job you did, too, Jo. Also, thanks to the gang for their lovely gift. I really appreciated it. . . . We wish Eda Conn would tell us where she got her candy bar the other day. After all, when there are free candy bars, we would all like to be in on it. . . . I saw an old friend the other day, Nora Duncan. Nora is retired, and it was nice to see her. Come up and visit with us sometime, Nora. . . . Dorothy Sherry will be a little careful where she runs to, especially where there are post holes. . . . Helen Thieme has a mystery. She came down from a size 18 to a 16 without losing any weight. She can't figure out where the two inches went. When you find out, Helen, let us know too. . . . Pearl Michaels has been going around like Charlie McCarthy. But now Pearl says she is going to get her a new boyfriend, such as Mortimer. Why is Ann Rohlfing going around with a halo over her head? . . . Mary Stopher is leaving to be with her hubby who is in the Army. . . . Betty Madden was so embarrassed. She thought she was talking to her hushand on the phone but it was her father-in-law. Next time, Betty, find out who you're talking to before you commit yourself. . . . Why is Doris Garr bothered when the wastepaper can scrapes along the floor? . . . Martha Scott would like to know what she was drinking in bottle "J" and "K." Anyway, Martha says it was very good even if she did only drink three bottles. So, if anyone has any information to offer, see Martha.

Did anyone know that Gene Le Favour, on his 16th birthday, won the national outdoor archery championship at Allegan, Mich.? That same fall, he became the national indoor champ. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Le Favour, are also great archery enthusiasts. In 1944, Gene received his first archery set and became a member of Fort Wayne Archery Club. He practiced many hours at Franke Park. When he was attending Texas Western of El Paso, Texas, he became college champ. Recently, he set a new record of 1185 at Franke Park. Gene does a little hunting now and then, just small game—rabbits, wild fowls, etc. He once "tried" for a deer but missed! . . . Carol Harrington celebrated her third wedding anniversary June 20. Congratulations to a long and happy marriage. . . . Husband of Vivian Hill, our most recent bride, is in the hospital with pneumonia. . . . Marilyn Spice has a very new and unique way of getting the car out of the garage! Instead of using the door, she uses the side wall.

Wire Ravelings

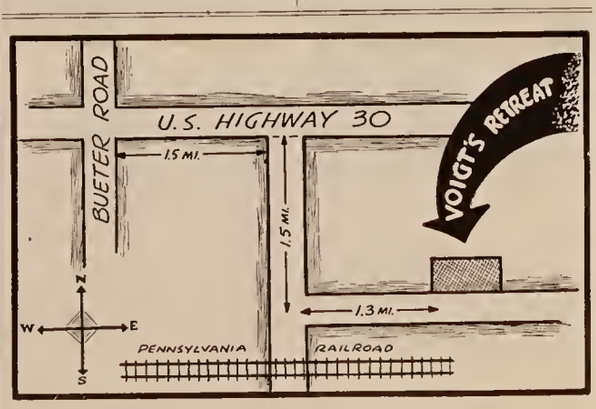
Rudasky goes fishing he claims he loses all his fish through a hole in his canvas bag. He has announced he's in the market for a cast iron bag. Fritz also bought a pair of hip boots which he now wants to sell. He bought them to go walking in the lake, but found out that the lake is deeper than his hips. . . . HAD BIRTHDAYS — Hubert Logan had a birthday last week and he outdid both Jake Arnold and Orville Doherty by bringing in cigars and cake. Bill Rohe had a birthday Saturday and Wimpy Lemper, Sunday. The latter two were to celebrate them together last Saturday night at Limberlost. It seems that it was only Bill who got lost. At seven, he was given a ring and Bill promised to be right out. At nine nothing happened, so, he was called again. At midnight, Bill called Wimpy and said, "I'll be right over." Up to this writing Bill still has not arrived, probably still on his way. Of course, if you want the actual facts, please contact your old editor. P.S. A small charge is always made for confidential information. . . . WELCOME—A hearty welcome is extended to Harold B. Ellicot, test engineer, who is on assignment with the Wire & Insulation Engineering Division. Ben was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1950 with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. His previous assignments with the G-E have been at Lockland, Ohio, and Burlington, Vt. His hobbies are sports of all kinds and automobiles, "hot rods" in particular. We hope you'll enjoy your stay here, Ben.



Where's Bill

Samuel Rhoades has made an unusual hobby of raising the owls shown here. These owls are 22 inches high and still growing. If you're interested in wild life, Sam will be very glad to tell you about his hobby. . . . Donald Huffman spent his vacation on the farm last week. Don will probably try to set all his jobs up with a pitchfork when he returns. . . . Congratulations to Clair Wiebke on his completion of 25 years with the company. . . . Group 112 has a very nice redhead doing the set-up work. At the last report Orval Lepper liked his new job a lot. . . . Henry Mason and William McClendon had a hair pulling argument over the speed of a 1939 Plymouth and a 1950 Pontiac. It has never been settled because McClendon backed out on a show-down. . . . Joe Ort has another black eye.

Three Employees Receive Patents

Three General Electric employes of the Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions have been granted patents by the United States Patent Office.

Roy H. Dierstein, a tool and die specialist, received a patent for his invention of an improved type of magnetic core, used in fluorescent lamp ballasts, with control gaps in the core center leg. This is Mr. Diertsein's second patent. The Diersteins reside at 1026 Kinsmoor Ave.

Charles W. Kronmiller, assistant manager of engineering, was granted a patent on his invention of a high reactance type of Tulamp ballast for fluorescent lamps. Mr. Kronmiller, who holds four other patents, graduated from Purdue University with a BSEE degree. He is married and lives at 1119 Nuttman Ave.

Cyrus Stonehill's patent was for a novel electric terminal for making cable lead connections to a transformer, ballast or other electrical devices. Mr. Stonehill is manager of the Ballast Sales Division and has been granted two other patents. A graduate of DePauw University, Mr. Stonehill and his family reside at 4811 South Wayne. Ave.

Will of your own is more likely to help you succeed than the will of a rich relative.—Indianapolis Times.

JOINS WIFE ON PENSION—John Piper, Bldg. 4-4, is proudly showing the cameraman a radio his FHP Div. 1 co-workers gave him. Mr. Piper left Friday, June 8, to retire after 28 years of service. An employe since 1923, he has been a tester most of that time. He worked in Bldgs. 4-2, 4-3, 4-4, 6-1, 19-4, 19-5 and at the Winter St. Plant. Mrs. Piper (left) retired in 1948 with more than 25 years' employment.

Our best wishes to Helen Starry, who was married Friday, June 22. . . . Welcome: Barbara Godfrey, Shirley Lake, Mildred Powers and any others I might have missed. . . . Have you seen the new wrist watch Bea Stolte is sporting? . . . To Don Wilson, we wish all the luck in the world, and the hope that he will be back with us soon. Don is leaving us today, due to a call from Uncle Sam. . . . Did you see "Grandma" sitting in Hazel Leonard's chair while Hazel went to the dispensary? . . . Jean Jones was quite put out when she dropped the contents of her purse, in a most unusual place. . . . "Miss Ford" of the week was Mildred Carpenter, who bought a new Ford. She has been taking driving lessons. . . . Ask Dorothy Reber who the woman was with the fur hat on. . . . Gloria Sarasien leaves us today. She will become a full-time housewife. We will miss seeing you around, Gloria. . . . Pondo didn't seem to be quite satisfied with the snapshot we had of him a few weeks ago. He had some new ones taken to be sold to anyone above or below the Mason-Dixon line. . . . Thelma Purdue's son and his family are here for a visit while on leave from the Navy. . . . Betty Thompson is getting pretty good with the paint brush, even with all the accidents that happened while painting their house. I heard she had some expert help, though. . . . Zara has a good start of a zoo, what with a cat, dog, and bird. . . . Jackie left her lunch in the car one morning but was rewarded by a nice box made up by her husband and sent over to her. . . . Ask Pondo what size hat he wore in the "Remember When" days when he wore a sailor suit. . . . Ellen Bauer left her chair in a hurry the other day when she discovered a mouse under her table. . . . That intoxicating aroma was Limburger cheese around the placers last week. . . . We won't tell you how we know, but Betty Thompson can spot D. S. when he is a block away. . . . In case you wondered who the fellow was running around in his pajama tops, it was Ralph Lee. . . . Pondo deserves a medal for bravery. Every time a motor goes up in smoke, it's Pondo to the rescue. . . . We noticed Andy borrowing some face powder the other day.

FISH FUNERAL: While fishing recently, Gurney Lindley saw a large bass floating toward his boat. Gurney gently lifted it in the boat and examined it to see the cause of the beautiful fish's death. After making his deductions, he rowed ashore and showed the bass to several people at the landing. Gurney then borrowed a shovel, dug a grave and buried it. Some other friends came by and Gurney exhumed it and again put it on display before a final burial. . . . Paul Boedeker took his two sons, Paul, Jr., and Bobby fishing at Cedar Shores. When they were ready to go home, Bobby started for the car with his catch in a milk bottle. Dad said, "Put your fish back in the lake." There was quite a job of persuasion between father and son as to why it was necessary to put them back. Junior piped up with, "They are as big as the ones you bring home." . . . John Diamond was on days while Walter Schuler was on vacation. . . . Jerry Knight, Dave Bartle, Norm Bender, and Gurney Lindley are on vacation. . . . Boy, are we moving! Even the conference room took wheels and rolled to another location. It's having its face lifted too. . . . We are glad to welcome Eldon Vosburg to our office. Mr. Vosburg is an assistant to Mr. Boles, our superintendent. . . . Vern Castle almost got a free cigar from Herb Koch. You noticed, no doubt, that I said, "almost." Anytime you get something free from Herb, brother, you're good. . . . We are glad to learn that Lucile Werling is able to return to work. She is now working in the telegraph room in Bldg. 6-2. . . . Richard Smith, a former foreman in our division, was a welcome visitor this week. Dick brought along his very pretty daughter. . . . It's a mystery. It's a nice mystery, but just keep watching the WORKS NEWS for the G-E GI Gal.

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC NEWS

Bright Outlook . . . Employees at Hanford Works are predicting o good seoson of softball, a feeling obviously shared by little Bobby as he awaited with wide-eyed pleasure the annual jamboree heralding the 1951 softboll season at Richland, Wash. He's the infant san of GE photographer R. R. Gaadwin af Hanford Works.

Double Feature . . . Well over a century of service with GE is represented here as two members of the San Francisco Service Shop, Joe Troy (left) ond George Crosthwaite (right) receive 40-year certificotes from the manager of the San Francisco Office, Kurt Steindorff, who has 37 years of service with GE. Both 40-year men are native San Franciscons.

How General

This meeting, held recently in the Turbine Division of Schenectody, is typical of meetings held at many plants of which employees ore given reports an Compony policies, plons, ond prospects for the periad ahead.

ONE of the many ways in which General Electric keeps trying to make jobs better is by constantly giving employees the information they want about their jobs, and about ather matters which affect them as GE emplayees.

In their daily contacts with employees, supervisors are continually passing such infarmation along to their people, and in return getting employees' camments on Compony policies, plans, and operations. Plant employee newspapers are published regularly at many locatians to make sure that all employees and their families receive such infarmation quickly while it is still of interest. Meetings are held whenever needed to explain changes in business conditions, benefit plans, and matters af majar concern ta emplayees. In these, and many other ways, General Electric's managers and supervisors are always striving ta make GE jabs mare fully satisfying to all of us who make up General Electric.

Pictured on these pages are a few of the many ways in which information, and understanding, flow constantly throughout the General Electric organization, each plant and office using the methods suited to its own circumstances

At mony locotions, supervisors ond employees meet periodically ta discuss the work of the group, ond other matters braught up by the emplayees.

Infarmotive meetings are held at same lacotians at which the plant monoger discusses subjects offecting the aperotion af the plant ond employees hove the oppartunity ta osk questions of their own

Recently, on individuol report wos sent ta every employee, giving his or her complete record of porticipotion in Generol Electric's pension, insurance ond savings plons up through the clase of 1950.

The Employee Relations News Letter, circuloted regularly omong GE supervisors, gives them much bockgraund informotion useful in discussions with their peaple.

At mony plonts, letters ore moiled to employees' homes ta get informotion to them ond their fomilies. Eoch location uses the methods best suited ta its awn situation.

lectric Keeps Its Employees Well Informed

At forty-four locations, the GE News is issued regularly to insure that all employees and their families are given information on Company plans, policies and operations quickly, while it is still of interest.

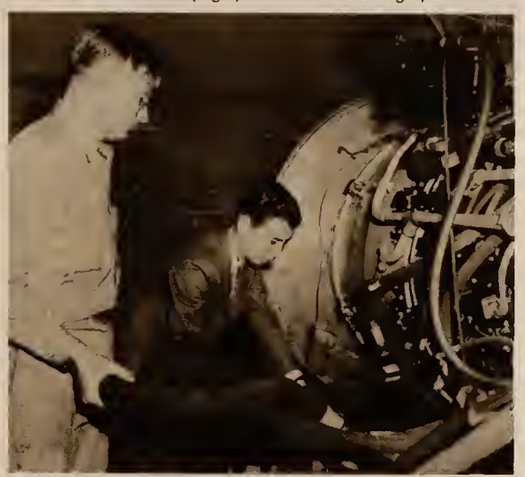
It is common practice at many plants for supervisors to get together regularly to discuss matters which will help them answer employees' questions fully.

Brochures and booklets on many subjects are distributed to provide employees and their families with a better understanding of Company benefit plans and other matters of interest to them as Company people.

Each year, the Company's Annual Report is made available to all General Electric employees so that they may be well-informed on the Company's financial statement, and its record of operations during the year.

Each supervisor, in his daily contacts with his people, seeks constantly to maintain the two-way flow of information and understanding. Through adequate supervisory training, foremen and supervisors are equipped to act as advisers to their people, and to answer the many questions which employees ask of them.

Picture Supplement



Willing Hands . . . Warld War II vet Henry Garrett finds his popularity as easy to take as that $1100 suggestion check he's dangling over the gals eager to share the eligible bachelor's newly-acquired riches. An emplayee at the Waterford, N. Y., plant, Hank recently got the highest single award in the Chemical Department for his method of salvaging silicone oil. The outstretched hands belong to Florence Burns, Delia Kardash, Patricia Furlong, Kathleen Hynes and Philomena Wixted. (Right) A kiss from his best girl, his mother.

Icebox Cookies . . . These young ladies, Dot Bailey, seated, and Jo-Ann Blake, Dianne Wilkinson, and Alice Sirgiovanni from Cantrol Engineering, Schenectady, found a way to beat the heat but only temporarily, far this GE refrigeratar was given away as a gate prize at the recent GEAA Field Day at Schenectady Works.

Teen-Age Jet "Expert" . . . Amazing engineers with his technical knawledge, 13-year-old Ronald Wheeler of Ilion, N. Y., was invited to visit the General Electric jet center at Lockland, Ohio, ta see first hand how jet engines are made. His recently proposed theory for increasing jet engine power, while not new, showed remarkable thinking for a youngster. Technician Howard Wells assists Ronnie, about to fulfill his ambition to operate a jet engine as he turns on the fuel for a test run in the cell.

Star Visitor . . . Test line assembler Manley Walker gets autograph from Jinx Falkenburg during her tour of the Receiver Building at Electronics Park. The television star was guest at third birthday celebration of the Electronettes, GE woman's club at Syracuse. In background is June Maroney, a member of the Club.

Time is flying for Alma Raymer. She woke up Friday and thought it was Saturday. . . . Mary Gordon attended her niece's wedding Saturday. . . . Loyal Hilsmier and three friends went fishing Saturday. The three friends caught five bass each while Loyal finished with one bluegill. . . . Velora Drury had a wonderful time in Missouri and a nice trip. She brought Harley Springer back a big cigar. . . . Since when does Lelia Siebert and Jessie Wass work on the 13-frame line? . . . We wonder what caused Virgil Bowers to fall into the garbage can head first. . . . Geneva Harter and her husband spent the week-end in Evansville with her parents. . . . A little bird told us Charlie Prine fished all week-end and got only one fish and it was undersize. . . . Clara Koomer was stung by a bee. It must have been after honey. . . . Mary Rose and her husband celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary last week. . . . Zeta Worthman claimed the reason she had the shop towel around her arm was because she had strawberry rash. . . . Rennie Phelps and Ruth Raidy attended a wedding Saturday. . . . Irma Beard, Helen Moring, Marian and Joan Gresley and Hazel and Judy Davis spent Sunday with Elex at Cedar Point, Ohio. Everyone had a wonderful time. . . . Helen Moring likes to get to where she is going in a hurry. She went from Sandusky to Cedar Point in a speedboat.

ATTENTION, RAY HORSTMAN: We girls in the office want you to know that we do miss your whistling. We think the poll was mis-quoted. . . . Johnnie Mueller should find some other reason for scolding the children. For a while he told them they were not allowed to keep guns in the house. After he shot the living room lights out Sunday night, he won't have much to say to the children. . . . It's good to see Jeanette Koch and Talitha Stickler back. . . . We bet that Fred Bender knows now his car will run a lot better if he remembers to shut off the motor. . . . Since Bob Enz keeps his son's water pistol at work, what does the boy do for entertainment? . . . Arthur Brown played Santa Claus a bit early this year. He was giving ice cream samples. . . . It's good that Harry Lehman isn't any heavier. If he were, he could not have crawled over the fence when he was locked in the cage by the Packing Section. . . . Joe Troendly had kept us well informed about Gun Lake after catching his limit there. He hasn't had much to say recently. . . . We saw Bonnie Ayres having her car pushed out at McMillen Park. . . . Bill Ramsey was disappointed June 21 because no one took his picture. He completed one year at G-E. . . . Oric (Sherlock Holmes) Cagnet spent one night in the Ford garage in Monroeville after a report of a planned break-in. We believe the new twins forced him out of his place to sleep. . . . The windshield wiper on Mel France's old Buick wouldn't work. He ran all over town trying to get it fixed. After several hours, he discovered the trouble was vacuum and not electric. All it needed was to have a hose attached to the connection. . . . Congratulations to Leonteen and Jack Fletter, who are parents of a baby boy born June 23. . . . Whose favorite expression is, "Watch it, Eddard." . . . Benny Keller says his wife is going to buy a car for herself with her egg money. He was upset to return home and find her practicing her driving in the barnyard—with HIS new Buick. . . . A speedy recovery to Sharron Lash, who underwent a tonsillectomy this week.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kloepper on their 43rd wedding anniversary. . . . Jack Schemehorn bought a new ear last week and forbids his daughter to drive it since she is just learning to drive. Now Joan has the last laugh. The very next day, Jack smashed in the whole right side. . . . Ralph Foust and Reiny Lepper caught 12 bass on Twin Lakes last Saturday. Bernie "Bucketful" Byanski, who was following the experts around the same lake, couldn't catch anything but gar fish and his limit on grass pike. . . . Our party planners are arranging a party for Joe Hartman on the occasion of his retirement. Mart Walsh and Glenn Ramsey, Picnic and Party Company, insist they are not in on this one. . . . Paul Brinkroeger doesn't believe in wet paint signs, but does believe the evidence on his fingers. . . . George Houser's mechanical fish skinner was taxed to the limit last week when his son, Danny, caught a 27-inch pike. . . . Frank "Richards" Woenker is excused for his team losing that Little League game since they beat the same team two days later. . . . Minus his teeth, Archie Gwaltney is well qualified to tell us how he picks slivers out of his gums and the proper method of consuming a doughnut. . . . DIE PLANT: We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roy on the arrival of a new baby boy. . . . Harold Ritter gets our congratulations on the arrival of a baby girl. . . . Walter Greiner and Art Thieme were fishing at Big Lake with the aid of Hayden Rice's fishing map. Wherever a good spot was located Hayden had marked on the map an "X" plus the size of the fish to be caught. Hayden really called his shot. The boys arrived at a spot marked "X" and immediately Art snagged a big one. His only complaint was that the fish only weighed three pounds and Hayden had the map marked for a six pound fish at that spot. . . . Welcome to Keith Jamison in returning after his operation. . . . Maury Sordelet has a swell tan and lots of fish to show for his week's vacation. . . . Al Nebur planned a big picnic and told everyone to bring chicken and one covered dish. When the table was spread a fine meal was in sight. Besides lots of chicken, everyone had brought baked beans. . . . Our deepest sympathy to the family of Lewis Daler, who lost his life in a motorcycle accident last Saturday night. . . . Don Smith has a new way of filling his die layout bottle. Don pours it on his hands and arms, and lets it run off of his elbows into the bottle. . . . Herb Ort spent his vacation by visiting his son down in Camp Le Jeune, N. C.

Corrupted freemen are the worst slaves.—David Garrick.

Clarence Stove is a smooth operator when it comes to picking out the choice spots to work when helping someone or having someone help him. When doing the inside finishing on his new home at Turkey lake, he had his 84-year-old father helping. The weather was still quite cold, so Clarence picked a spot near the heater, leaving the old gentleman no other choice but work in the cold areas. Now he is helping his father paint his house. Clarence picked out the shady spots while his dad works in the sun. . . . George Cowan is now painting his home on Howell St. We understand that he has not had much experience in the art of slapping paint on the outside of a house. We are just a bit skeptical about the appearance of the finished job. At present, the house looks as though he used striped paint or put the first coat on with a push broom. . . . Harold Hart, in preparing to lay asphalt tile in his kitchen and bathroom floors, busied himself getting all the various tools together. Cutters, cement, measuring instruments and the like cluttered up the house. With everything in readiness and eager to get the job finished, he started only to discover that he had failed to purchase the tile. . . . Phil (Tiny) Schoppman was not satisfied with cigars of ordinary shape and size. He has obtained ones of various shapes and sizes, but without satisfaction. This week, he stumbled onto one which he said just suits his taste and fancy. When we first observed him with this gigantic cigar in his mouth, we thought it was a 75 millimeter shell.

If you think you are seeing double, your eyes aren't deceiving you. You've probably just talked to Bernadette Fortman and her twin. Welcome to Bldg. 4-5 office, Bernie. . . . We hear Delores Swager had quite an exciting week-end. She and a friend got stuck in the mud while on a trip to Illinois. . . . Our sea-going friends had quite a time last week-end. Gladys Clelland thought it was "Be Cruel to Animals Week" and almost drowned a cat. . . . Helen Papenbrock sure looks good with a red face caused by Old Sol's rays. . . . Eileen Younger went to the lake, but didn't go swimming. She was afraid to get her new bathing suit wet. . . . Mary Pepe also enjoyed the week-end at a lake. . . . I'll have to check with Eloise Caylor, Fred Hagadorn and Arlene Neuman about a "fascination" the dentist had for them. . . . We are sorry to hear that Leo Persing's father is ill. . . . Clash! Crash! It is none other than George Langenber going down the aisle wearing a blue and white polka-dot shirt. . . . At long last, another truly deserving recognition is going to be made. Gilbert P. Auth has been named the Assembler of the Year. There were even those who went so far as to call him the World's Best Assembler. Even Gilbert modestly admits he isn't quite that good. . . . Thomas Blackwell left us to go on job training under the G. I. schooling. We wish you the best of luck in your new field, Tom.

"HOW DO YOU PLAN TO SPEND YOUR VACATION?"

MARTHA BUNCH

Taylor St.

"We plan to spend a few days in Chicago at Wrigley Field watching those swell Cubs play ball and then a week in Florida."

WAYNE YOUNG

Bldg. 19-2

"I may take a trip the first week. The second week I am going to Palmer Lake at Colon, Mich., to fish with a friend at his cottage.'

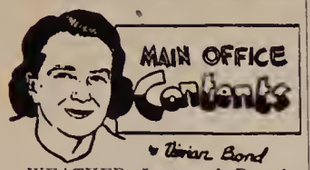
DONALD JACKSON

Bldg. 6-4

"First I am going to Lima, O., to visit my wife's folks for a week. Then we are going to drive to Georgia and down into Florida."

EDNA WATERSON

Bldg. 26-3



"I am not planning a long trip. I will stay at home and rest so I can go back and work for another year."

DOROTHY LONG

Bldg. 18-4

"My husband and I plan to visit friends and do some sightseeing in Michigan for a few days. We will spend the remainder of the time getting settled in our new home."

WEATHER: Last week Dorothy Leininger was very excited about the tornado that dipped down on Akron, Ind., her home. The debris was alarming before they reached their home. She was relieved to note that the only casualty was their brand new lawn. The grass had practically been braided. . . . Now the girls that went to Cedar Point by bus Sunday didn't have rain to contend with. It rained June bugs, not just a few but thousands of them. The beautiful day, nice swimming and a lovely moonlight drive home completely overshadowed the June bugs! . . . One day last week, Ruth Hartman (less than five feet tall) and Lois Miller (a little more than five feet) collided in the hallway on Bldg. 18-3. The casualty was Lois! Ruth deposited a perfect lipstick mark on Lois' shoulder, even bit her and stepped on her foot—all at the same time. . . . Dick Goetz, Bldg. 18-4, is taking his vacation this week in New York City. He had tickets for "Stop the Music" and Arthur Godfrey's shows. That is a lot of territory to cover in one week, and we only wish that we were along. . . . Annabelle Redding, Bldg. 18-4, is going around with sparkles from the boy friend, Gene Van Curen. All the best luck, Annabelle. . . . The Data Bureau welcomes Paul Vance, Jr., test engineer. . . . Everybody gave Olive Smith a birthday wish Friday. They all enjoyed the candy, and she enjoyed the musical box which played "Happy Birthday," etc. . . . Another vacationer is Ray White. He plans to do a lot of painting on his cottage at Webster Lake, but he says he will not neglect the fishing pole. . . . REMEMBER: Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July. It is nice to have a holiday, but let's keep it safe. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wylie have been enjoying a visit from their son, Robert, and his family of Barberton, O. . . . Bonnie Stucky is leaving Microfilm Section, Bldg. 18-5, to become a full-time housewife. She is being replaced by Normalee Baney. We wish Bonnie every happiness and hope Normalee will be happy with us.

Happy birthday to Mary Rucoi. The Tyers gave Mary some beautiful hankies, and she treated the gang with decorated cup cakes. . . . The group presented Kenny Stanger with a lovely identification braecelet as a farewell gift. Best wishes, Kenny, as you leave for the Navy. . . . We welcome Marcellus Junk, assistant foreman. Marc has really been initiated by working overtime, but we do hope you like us here in Bldg. 17-3. . . . Ask Lillian Murphy why she keeps saying she wishes she were 10 years younger and 100 pounds lighter. . . . We welcome Lorena Lynch, Marilyn Holocker and Betty Good. We hope you like us, girls. . . . We'd like to say hello to Ruby DePew, Kay Dolan, Wilma Cross and Barbara Nine, who are all absent due to ilness. . . . We wonder why Pat Perry decided she had better take the bus home after working overtime. . . . Mary Rucoi has a new nickname of "Lumpy." Tying is really giving Mary strong muscles. Soon we shall call her "Superman." . . . Marietta Beckman and Lillian Murphy enjoyed lunch together uptown with a girl friend. Mabel expected to go too, but since she teases so much, the girls didn't wait for her. Mabel said she enjoyed her lunch alone. . . . Mary Noll may squirt ink on you, but don't get excited. It soon disappears. . . . Come on, gang, turn in your bit of news and see our column come up.

High Spots

by Marie Fox

Marge Appleman was wrongly labeled "Johnson" last week. Sorry. . . . Harold Corson drilled a hole in a board, then stuck his finger in it and couldn't get it out. . . . Allen Bunner takes over where Richard Smith left off. Richard took off, bag and baggage, for California. . . . Our sympathy to Paul Kennerk in his mother's death. . . . Ruth Cutters' son went into the service and is stationed at Fort Leonard, Mo. . . . Sam Buckley is plenty perturbed about the desk somebody swapped him. . . . We have a vitamin kid—Bessie Potts. . . . Leonard Luther is known to have carried his lunch in a big potato sack. He is enjoying his dinner bucket again now that he has found it. . . . Does everybody know what "Willie" Dominique means when she calls to Joe Tricker everyday during lunch: "Jack-pot Joe?" It's the Journal-Gazette funnies. . . . Ira Shaffer says not only movie stars put their foot prints in cement. At Ira's Cedar Lake cottage are his foot prints, his daughter's and their dog, all done in cement. . . . Virgil Allmandinger is sporting a crew hair cut while Fred Bailey is sporting a white bandage on his head. . . . Don Carrier is nursing a sprained ankle resulting from playing ball with the Boy Scouts. . . . Harry Murphy has a lusty crop of measles. . . . Let's grow up, boys. . . . WELCOME BACK: Marge Johnson is back again. We missed her and she missed us. Now everybody is happy. . . . Bill Shuler spent a very delightful week painting his fence. Latest reports have it he didn't get the job finished. . . . Miriam Valentine spent her week relaxing in Claypool. . . . Erna Mann attended the 25th anniversary convention of the Kappa Sigma Tau sorority held at Gary, Ind., over the week-end. She is a charter member of this group. . . . TOLEDO TRIP: Betty Sue Edington and husband, Wayne, spent the week-end with relatives. Due to sleeping room shortage, they spent the night in their car. . . . Erna is contacting the Nash agent to sell them a real car. . . . The big news: Watch your WORKS NEWS for some exciting developments this summer. . . . The gang remembered Harold Anspachs' birthday with a little gift and a great big cake.

Our "we wish you happiness mat" is out for newlywed Margaret Kneller. . . . Congratulations to Art Behning, who middle-aisled it last week. . . . Congratulations to Harold Bowker on reaching the quarter century mark at G-E. . . . Verda Deal is getting the ol' rocking chair oiled. I'll bet she is going to spoil her new grandson Stevie. . . . Little James Frederick is at the home of Leo and Helen Weigele Schiffli. Katherine Weigele is the proud grandma. . . . Marge Ponsot is a proud auntie. It's a boy. . . . The addition at the Jess Hahn home is called "the cement mixer." . . . Edmee Dowden has joined the "I left my keys in my car and am locked out" club. . . . Leone Hesley Patterson visited us last week. . . . Johnny Magley thinks cows don't give milk anymore. What he drank from a milk carton tasted and looked like water. . . . Happy birthday to Marie Dunfee, Ruth Stout and Marcille Thomas. . . . Boh Walt was on the beam Friday morning when the eight o'clock whistle blew. He raced down the hall to find a fire that wasn't there. . . . Luella Masson says she doesn't like to fish, but her hubby bought her a license. It looks like she might fish anyway. . . . Jenny Zimmerman has an "overdone" look from going fishing. . . . Marie Dunfee has had company from Florida. . . . Arlene Winebrenner has a new Plymouth. . . . So long to Lila Wease. Her husband is returning from Korea and they will live in California.

Locked Out

Last week-end Peg and Bob Turschman attended the Navy Club and Auxiliary convention in Davenport, Iowa. Peg has been national chaplain of the organization for the past year and was elected for the coming year to the office of national paymaster. . . . Frank Peternell was on vacation this week. He and the family spent the week at the cottage on Lake Gage. Before going, Frank said he expected to spend his time fishing, working in the garden and just plain loafing. . . . Portia Schaaf's husband has been called back into the Navy and is stationed at Great Lakes. He has been able to get home the last couple of week-ends, and Portia has really been knocking herself out cooking all the good things he likes to eat. . . . Welcome back to Dorothy Vetter, who returned after a year's leave of absence. . . . Our fishing information bureau is now open. Francis Thomas has been receiving mail since early last spring from various resorts in Minnesota noted for good fishing. He now has the list compiled telling all about the different resorts. Anyone interested should see Tommy for further information. That is—he can tell you everything except how many fish you will catch. . . . Welcome to Marcella Peppler, who recently joined the Production Section. . . . Have fun on the Fourth, but remember to be careful. We want everyone back on the job in good condition on Thursday morning.

Welcome to our new apprentice, Wayne Colby. . . . The latest accessory added to Don Batchelder's convertible was a pretty pink ticket. . . . Good Deeders This Week: Merle Aughinbaugh, Bill Smith and Norm Patton gave blood donations. . . . We were glad to have Dick Reinking in for a visit. Dick is with the medics and is stationed in Texas. . . . When grade cards were passed out, a few chins dropped about two inches. . . . We received another letter from Bob Doelling. Bob was at a rest area about 15 miles south of Chorwon. He had been on the front lines for the two previous weeks. He reports that he is now receiving his WORKS NEWS regularly. At the present rate of rotation, Bob is hoping he may be able to pay us a visit this fall. . . . Apprentice G.I.'s: Please send me a picture of yourself in uniform. . . . Bill Smith returned from his trip to the Toledo Zoo. . . . After putting a razor sharp edge on a punch, Paul Mischo thought he would do the boys a favor and stone the burr and the sharp edge.

. . . Our sick list includes Dorothy Lee, Henry Lowe and Ray Williams. Speedy recovery. . . . Delbert Thomas was glad to see Herschel Case back. Herschel has been having molar trouble. . . . Rosella Farrell broke a toe. . . . Sincerest sympathy to Anne Kensill and Gertrude Wheat in their nephew's death.

The four cornerstones of character on which the structure of this nation was built are: Initiative, Imagination, Individuality, and Independence.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

DON'T FORGET THE G-E CLUB FAMILY PICNIC SATURDAY, JULY 21, AT SUNSET PARK. EVERY EMPLOYE AND HIS FAMILY ARE INVITED. START MAKING PLANS TODAY TO ATTEND. THERE WILL BE PLENTY OF FOOD AND FUN FOR ALL. WATCH THE BULLETIN BOARDS FOR DETAILS. . . . They tell us that Mickey McDougal will stage a great bear hunt vacation time. Perhaps Mick's name will go down in history the same as Daniel Boone's. . . . We understand that Jay Moser is a very good casting instructor when it comes to the piscatorial equines of the deep. Someone saw him giving lessons last week. . . . The medal of the week goes to Orville Scott and Jenny Owens for the gallant way in which they avoided a serious fire. On their way home the other night, they saw a smouldering fire. They promptly proceeded to carry water and, poof, no more fire. . . . June Tussing must be trying to get in trim for some of the fancy trick auto upsets. She was trying for a loop and only made it half way when she turned her car over. Luckily, no one was injured. . . . Welcome to Dorothy Kukelhan on the second shift. She is winding for Mr. McDougal. . . . Ella Scherry reports word from her son who is with the Marines in Korea. . . . We extend our sympathy to Erna Weiland and Henry Krueckeberg upon the death of their sister-in-law. . . . Happy birthday to Alvean Lindemann, Marcile Trisel, Elsie Peters and Betty Medaugh. . . . Justine Heimann underwent minor surgery at Van Wert Hospital recently. . . . Congratulations to Ercie McConnell on her 32nd wedding anniversary. May you have many, many more, Ercie. . . . Our sincerest sympathy to Boband Kenneth Nyffeler upon the death of their brother, Earl, who was a former employe. . . . Ed Hesher is on vacation this week. W. Patrick is taking his place on the day shift. . . . Now we hear that Lawrence Franklin is deeply concerned about starting a goat dairy. Is anyone able to give him any information about how to go about getting started? . . . Virginia Holtsberry has been on the sick list. Hurry back, Virginia. . . . Dale Cowan finally got discouraged trying to sell the girls some insurance so he decided to drive his own car to work for at least one day. . . . It's a blue bootied exemption at the home of Max and Virginia Drake. Congratulations, folks. This makes three boys and two girls to call Louie Drake "grandpa." . . . Joe Adams just can't understand why it happens that every time he has time to try and get a little suntan, the sun has to hide behind the clouds. . . . Tibby Gehrig has joined the ranks of the collectors. His latest item happens to be baskets and they can be had in various sizes and materials, including paper. . . . FIRST HALF WINNERS: With Johnny Baumann shooting a remarkable 38, and the rest of the team holding their own, the G-E Cluh golfers won first-half honors in the Decatur Golf League. Johnny's 38 enabled him to edge past his teammate, Kenny Gaunt, for first place in individual averages. The present individual averages for G-E golfers in the Decatur Golf League are: J. Baumann, 40.8; K. Gaunt, 41.4; Bob Lord, 44.2; D. Girod, 46; Willie Morgan, 46; Tom Hauhold, 57.8, and P. Hancher, 60. . . . BACKFIRE: I am one of those baseball fans, who mentally follows all foul balls hit back over the grandstand, and then yield that devilish laugh when the ball lands "ker plunk" on someone's car or windshield. I don't like to tell this on myself but I got my just dues the other evening at a game in Fort Wayne. I found I had laughed at my own windshield being shattered.

They say Roger Williams had to do the washing last week. . . . Louie Bitton got an urgent call from home when the pigs got out. . . . Homer McMaken didn't catch all the fish; his brother Dale and Bob Black each caught one apiece after he showed them how! . . . Castor's "Flatfoot Nine" showed Jake's "Little Daisies" that they meant business when they licked them 20 to 4! The game was played at R. L. Spitler's country estate. Les Franke and Mardo Tobias were the outstanding hitters, getting four for four and five for five, respectively. Carl Metker made a sensational catch in the outfield for the winners. Jake was the outstanding player for the losers. Frank Brindle, a pinch-hitter for the Flatfoot Nine, came through for a single down third base line but was then caught off base. . . . Anyone pulling in an undershirt along Cedar Creek will be rewarded by Ed Glenwith. . . . Jake says he had a "Sound Off" ball club. The ball always went through 1-2-3-4 past the Daisies. Lloyd Jacobs learned a lesson from last year. He hurt his back. This year he was coach. John Figley said that if he only had Sam "Roundy" Taylor's eyebrows he could probably keep his cap on. Roundy wore it and stretched it for him. . . . Jake Kugler did some fishing in Rome City last week while he was on vacation. . . . Fred Couture said the fishing in Lake James was very good. He got some real big bluegills. . . . Carol Klinger caught her first fish recently. It wasn't her first time fishing though. She practically got the limit, too! . . . Not everyone can drive with his head under the dashboard, like Gene Haifley. . . . Mary Garard is recuperating at her home now and thanks everyone for the many cards and gifts she received. . . . Ellen Bauer had a pleasant surprise on her birthday. Violet Elliott took her out for supper. When they returned, quite a few of her coworkers, her mother and daughter had arranged a party for her. . . . Christine Cormier, Modene Smith, Kathy Traughber, Jessie Hamilton, Kay Webb and Peg Tschanen were on the sick list last week. . . . We're glad to see Mattie Fancher back at work. . . . Kathryn Hepker and Lorinda Byerlein are thinking of raising chickens after a visit to Berniece Johnson's home. It is just for their own eating, of course. . . . Pat Gardner expects her two daughters home from a visit in Virginia. . . . Lorena Hahn forgot her keys two days in a row. . . . Bill Widdifield is a proud new grandpa, or should we say grandma? It is a granddaughter. . . . Maude Erhardt is on her way to Texas to attend her niece's wedding. . . . We were glad to see Hazel Herron last week. Retirement sure seems to agree with her! . . . Gus Rutz spent three nickles in the coke machine. He thought slot machines were back—no returns! . . . Joe Eifret says that Buss Romary should have his eyes checked. Buss stepped on Joe's toes, sat down next to his wife at Swinney Park and didn't even see Joe. . . . Willard Smith has a new idea for the girls on painting their finger nails. He uses a different color for each nail! . . . Floyd Steinhacher is going to put red lights on his Plymouth so he can drive down the street and everyone will get out of his way. Someone stopped and he didn't! . . . John Figley worries so about his twin, Avery Spade, getting so old and feeble. Then if he is Avery's twin, Joe has a right to worry. We understand that most twins are the same age.

Robert Lageman is spending the first part of his vacation with his family at their lake cottage. . . . We'll be glad when Gene Egts gets back from his vacation, and at the same time we'll hate to lose Bob Weise. . . . Did you ever hear of a guy giving his gal a load of gravel for a birthday gift? "That is a practical and wonderful gift," says William (Curley) Erickson. Mrs. Erickson, that's a hint for Curley's next birthday gift, but I'd make sure that the gravel company has a "spreading" clause in the contract. . . . Chuck Seslar says "You'd better watch how you drive your jalopy from now on, on the St. Louis - Fort Wayne Road." George Mallery just got through overhauling and re-tireing Stanford's car. When ol' George gets through with a car, ain't nothin' the driver can do but hold onto the steering wheel and maybe cross his fingers and hope he runs out of gas. . . . After bucking head winds and complications, Frank McCalip and Betty Hurst of Hornsby, Tenn., were married June 16 at the Simpson Methodist Church. Congratulations, Frank and Betty. Joe Dunham says, "Frank's the last person I'll ever take to the airport to meet a bride to be." The plane was 52 minutes late. Joe thought he was going to miss a wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunham, Harry Rhodes and Mabel Nelson attended the wedding. . . . Rhodes, Linkey and "Agnes" are talking some mighty good golf these nights. . . . John King is purchasing himself a new speedboat. Let's hope he doesn't forget a life jacket. John's a mighty big boy for a 14-footer. . . . Welcome to Ed Jordan and Betty Singleton. . . . Happy birthday to Harry Biddle, Luella Eisberg, Charles Erickson, Pearl Forshea and John Leroy. . . . Since Homer Hibler has his teeth removed and his daily diet consists mainly of canned baby food, he seems to have attained additional energy from some other source. He was seen riding a bicycle in Franke Park with his son, Steve.

by Levona Clark

We hope you have a nice vacation, Frenchy. . . . The little corner is now known as the "Garden of Eden." . . . Garland Farrell, we think you should tell your company you go to bed early so you won't have to wear slippers to work the next morning. . . . Welcome, William Leider. . . . Happy birthday, Ilean Young. . . . Rosie is slipping again. She put no stamps on her father's day and Tommy's cards. Poor Earl pays and pays. . . . What do you mean, Millie? Don't ring out? How could Jane ring out without a time card. . . . Tony has nicknames for all of us. But for him, it's only "Tony." . . . Harold is feeding Hadacol to fish worms and selling them for hot dogs. . . . Ginny Baker went to a belling on her brother. She served so many refreshments that she came to work with a sore arm and shoulder. . . . It looks as though Jim McGill is trying to get even with the Planning Section. He had the wrong lunch which happened to be Ed Bangert's. . . . Doris Rinehold must have a cruel streak that dosen't show. To think she used a hammer to kill a poor little water dog. . . . The girls in the Winding Section took Lorraine Van Behren out to dinner. They gave her a pair of lamps. . . . Billie Tucker went to Chicago to the ball game and couldn't make it to work Monday.

Congratulations to Pedro and Gonzalus, who recently performed along with the rest of the Squares' cast for the Veterans' hospital. . . . WELCOME: Kenneth Meerdink, who hails from Washington State College with a degree in electrical engineering. . . . BYE BYE: Kent Tiller, who is leaving us for greener pastures. Best of luck, Kent. . . . Ginny Winegart's mouse is still occupying her office even amid vain attempts to dispose of him. Here's a tip, Ginny. Try putting some food in the traps and mayhe you'll get results. . . . Avenel Stanton's hats are the talk of the office but you should see the latest creation. It's definitely Avenel's hat since Salona Hunter and Ruth Bullerman both say that it looks like something out of the Gay Nineties Review while Frank Ondrovik states he must have one just like it. . . . If Ruth Bullerman looked a little lopsided the other day, it was just because she wore only one earring all day and didn't discover it until she got home. . . . HAM OF THE WEEK: Maury Robertson (our radio enthusiast) participated in the nation-wide amateur field day last Sunday. This is in connection with the Civil Defense of Fort Wayne and Allen County. Maury has his car equipped to send and receive messages and has quite an elaborate display of amateur radio equipment at home.

"GRADUATES" FROM G-E—Willard Hull, FHP Div. 13 (right), left G-E Friday, June 8, to enter the "Graduate School of Retirement." Loyal Liddy presented Mr. Hull with a diploma from his Taylor St. fellow employes at a retirement party. Mr. Hull began working for G-E in 1922 as a shear operator in Bldg. 26-1. Since that time, he has worked in Bldgs. 4-3, 19-4 and at Taylor St.

G-E DEATHS

Lewis R. Daler Dies In Motorcycle Crash

Lewis R. Daler, 35, of 1837 Ida St., died Sunday as a result of injuries received in a motorcycle accident north of Garrett. Mr. Daler died almost instantly when he lost control of the motorcycle.

He had been employed as a horizontal mill operator in Bldg. 19-5 since January of this year. Mr. Daler was a veteran of five years service in the armed forces during World War II.

Survivors include his widow, Germaine; a son, Robert; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Daler; a brother, Herman L., Jr., all of Fort Wayne, and two sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Botteron, of South Bend, and Mrs. Clement Elder, of San Gabriel, Calif.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Chalfant-Perry Funeral Home with the Rev. Dale Stackhouse officiating.

Rites Held Monday For Everett T. Cox

Everett T. Cox, 3415 South Clinton St., died Thursday, June 21, at the Lutheran Hospital after collapsing at home.

Mr. Cox had been a General Electric employe since April, 1926, when he began as a machine hand in Bldg. 17-2. At various times he worked in Bldgs. 4-3, 4-2, 4-1 and 4-4. He had been employed at Taylor St. since 1947.

Surviving are his widow, Allien; three brothers, Glen, Fort Wayne, and Elbert and Herschel, Memphis, Tenn.; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Stahl, Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Norma Marbach, Chicago, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mr. Cox was a member of American Legion Post 47 and the Wayne St. Methodist Church.

Services were held Monday at 1:30 p.m. in the D. O. McComb & Sons Funeral Home with Dr. Gerald H. Jones officiating. Burial was in Grecnlawn Memorial Park.

SHEEP SHEARED: Norm Oetting got his annual clip. He looks like a Chippewa Indian without much scalp. . . . BACK TO WORK: Benny's back from his vacation. He looks like he was an outdoorsman. . . . WELCOME BACK: Hank Gerdom is with us again. This time he has a degree in education from Purdue. . . . INSTRUCTIONS REQUIRED: Denny Drusedow should learn to read the WORKS NEWS correctly. He thought the name of our FHP Publication was "Potent" which happened to be the title of the following news bulletin. . . . WELCOME: Two new test engineers are in the DC Div. One is Floyd C. Smith, graduate of Rose Poly. His home town is Stanton, Indiana. There is a Mrs. Smith. Also, Joseph Baclawski is a graduate of Brown University, Providence, R. I., which is his home town. He also is married. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY: To Arlein Yates, June 29. . . . CONGRATS: To Harry W. Balz, who has been here 25 years. We think Harry was the most distinguished looking "character" of the 10 pictured in last week's WORKS NEWS. Don't you think so, too? . . . NOT WIRED! Katie Gardt learned what it was to tangle with a 110 volt line last week. She received quite a shock, but is recovering nicely. . . . A WEEK OFF: Margaret Taylor and her husband spent a week's vacation at Pretty Lake painting and cleaning the cottage, fishing, and hunting for a stove. They were determined to get rid of the old stove and so tore it down. The weather turned cool toward the week-end and they had to scour around for a new stove to heat the place. . . . GUESS WHO? Last week about 100 people received silhouette cutouts of themselves through the mail from an anonymous artist. They were very clever and good likenesses. Whoever the artist is—thanks a million. How did you manage to do so many? . . . FLASH: Coincidentally, last Monday morning two brilliant DC Engineers were called home because of washing machine trouble. Repair work required changing the fuse in both instances. You'd think wives of electrical engineers could change a small fuse, now wouldn't you, Max and Bob? . . . BACK AGAIN: From Taylor Street are Perry Zahn, Ralph Shoaff, Mary Gemmill, Mary Rogers, Donna Bauermeister, Barbara Meyer and June McNally.

Orville Langhor sent his daughter Barbara to Washington for a vacation. Orville says she's checking on Harry. She must be doing a little lobbying because she sent home for more money! . . . What's this about the neighbor kids calling Benny Cahn, "Mrs. Minnie?" . . . Hereafter, anyone I get mad at, I'm going to loan them my paint sprayer and get even. Ask Mills about it. . . . Anyone having the words to "I apologize", please give them to Ruth Fitzgerald. She is driving Ruby Brandt crazy with her one line rendition. . . . Those fellows working on the saws are tough customers. Tom Cowan left an arbor in a strip of coils and sawed it in half! . . . Why does Grace Bolyard collect nickels from Orville L. at the candy wagon? Hush money, huh? . . . I'll bet Louie Sordelet gets tired chasing after Wayne Weimer just to get an okay for a pair of gloves. Can't they trust you, Louie? . . . Helen Meehan has joined our reporting staff. . . . I wish I could think up something about Jeri Bevan. I can't, so we won't say anything. . . . A nice bouquet to Doris Summers, who so graciously has been supplying me with names of new employes. . . . Overheard: "There isn't anything I wouldn't do for him, and there isn't anything he wouldn't do for me. So we're going to spend our lives doing nothing for each other!" . . . We welcome David Felt, Richard Brown, Robert J. Ort, Marilyn Langull, Janis Gustin, Donna Roberts, Jean Deker, Virginia Evanoff, Sonia Evanhoff, Bob Hannar, Mary Mullins, Vivian Freshour, Paul Coryle, Verdona Fork, Betty Rex, Francis E. Coomes, Robert Bell, Perina Apruzzese, Margaret Molls, Nancy Beebe, Martha Goble, Albert R. Oechsle and Grace Hunt. . . . I once asked Loretta Bloom to bring in a truck load of radishes from her garden. Sure enough she did, a dump truck full! Have you seen the latest from the Vapor Lamp Section? It's a hot rod push cart made by the Weaver brothers. . . . Ernie Salzbruger almost upset the apple cart the other night. His truck nearly turned over. Jewel Wickliffe came to the rescue and helped Ernie get right side up.

The G-E Girls' Softball Team went down to a 10 to three defeat to the Binger Walther League Team Thursday, June 21, at Packard Park.

Battery for G-E was Koldeway, Miller and Drewett; for Binger, Ostermeyer and Oetting.

The switch girls have given themselves a new name. They are known as the Blind Section now. With all their new equipment, they wear colored glasses. Cozy Walper still looks undressed as she hasn't donned the colored glasses yet and they call her the old-fashioned girl. . . . Clarence Morris and wife will leave Saturday for Los Angeles to visit his brother whom he hasn't seen for 27 years. His sister from Washington will also be there to visit. . . . We welcome Frank Smith from second shift in Test. . . . Leonard Deal has returned to work after several weeks of illness. . . . Frieda Flaugh has returned from a two weeks' vacation to California. . . . Ruth Cavender is spending a week's vacation. . . . Welcome to Vesta Trout to Winding from the Lead Section. . . . Irwin Rinard has been transferred to Bldg. 6-2. We wish him a lot of luck in his new work. . . . Ollie Ragan attended a school reunion near South Whitley Sunday. . . . Beverly Numbers spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shively, when a family reunion was held. L. I. Griffin and family were there in the afternoon. . . . Happy birthday to Alberta Watt. . . . Louise Sinn spent the week-end in Central, Ill. . . . The girls in kindergarten want to know where Roy Weigman spends his week-ends. He always comes in with his nose sun-burned. . . . Ruth Peck gave blood for the bank. The ordeal sort of overcame Ruth and she passed out. . . . All G-E employes who have been leaving their cars at home can now drive to work free from worry. Doyle Sheets traded his little red wagon (Jeep to you) for a 1941 Dodge which will only go 57 miles per hour wide open. . . . Melvin Riley and family spent Sunday at the Toledo Zoo. Melvin said he sure felt sorry for the poor little monkeys hanging there scratching. He knew just how they felt after his experience with fleas. . . . Sydonna Fox motored to Lake McClure Sunday to take her daughter Arlene to camp for two weeks.

Capehart Leads "Y" Golf League

Capehart led the Fort Wayne YMCA Industrial Golf League at press time Wednesday by virtue of their win over G-E last week. League standings were: Capehart, plus 25; Zollner, plus nine; G-E, minus one; IR & W, minus five; City Utilities, minus nine, and Wayne Pump, minus 11.

G-E Club averages were W. Adams, 40.4; H. Braden, 40.0; R. Hills, 40.1; W. Kayser, 39.1; R. Morris, 42.0; G. Schimmele, 41.6, and A. Rowe, 40.0.

Matches scheduled yesterday at the Elks Country Club were IR&W vs. G-E; City Utilities vs. Zollner, and Capehart vs Wayne Pump.

FLASH! Sara Jane Makey changed her name over the week-end. Sara Jane pulled a quickie on most of us last week-end when she left the office as Miss Makey and returned this Monday as Mrs. Dean Butler. Best wishes to our new bride. . . . Those who are taking a week or two away from "the old grind" include Mabel Liggett, Max Richter, Eric Gawehn, Blair Bushong, John Remmers, George Lewis, Bob Stout, Ralph Obringer, Bob Hickman, Ed Weaver, William Gill and Mert Baird. Goodness, sounds like the drafting room will be short handed. . . . UNCLE JOE (ERIC) SAYS: Who knows the Mystery Melody as whistled by Bob Hickman? It sounds like a jumble of variable tones which repeat for hours. While we're on the subject of whistling; if you hear a noise, a chirp, or a squeak like a rusty church hinge, it's Willis Noll imitating a canary. Some of the boys bring their lunch. Ralph Perry is such a big boy that his wife must get up at 4:30 a.m. to be able to get it ready and packed.

"TO FRED FROM THE GANG"—said the card on Fred Wyss' retirement gift. Mr. Wyss (center) is showing a valuable picture of savings bonds to Harold Holman (left) and Verne Castle. Mr. Wyss has been an oiler since he began employment in 1916. He was working in Bldg. 17-2 when he left Friday, June 8.

G-E Kids Defeat Allen Dairy 5 to 4

A sensational catch by Dave Schenher, nine-year-old G-E left fielder, put the last man out and cinched Monday night's game with Allen Dairy at Hamilton Park. G-E rode to a five to four victory on outstanding pitching by Larry Kem. Kem went all the way for G-E and easily hurled his best game of the season, allowing only five hits.

Manager Pres Slack said Monday's game was the season's best in every respect. All the boys showed marked improvement both at bat and in the field.

Team managers are in the process of selecting an All-Star team from the Northwest League for tournament play. All-Star playcrs will be announced next week.

Rain Cancels Owl Games; Tipsord's .572 Leads Team

by Bill Geist

Rain prevented the Owl's scheduled softball games Wednesday and Friday. I shall take advantage of the opportunity to show you what the boys are doing with the stick. You can see by the figures below that the Owls can swing those bats.

Earl Tipsord is leading with an average of .572 with eight hits in 14 times at bat. He has been up twice as many time as Cliff Grimes and Chris Brenner.

Bud Hower leads in homers with three; Tiny Baker, two, and Cliff Brimes, one. Ken Spiker has the most triples with one. Morrie Moffitt leads in doubles with three, followed by Spiker with two.

G-E is now in third place with four wins and one loss.

Arn Greider held the Apprentice Alumni to three hits as the Works Lab won its third game, 13-2. The Lab collected 14 hits and scored in every inning except the first. Greider struck out 15 and issued three walks. Rasor got two of the AAA's three hits.

Jerry Webber was in his usual form as he held Test Engineers to two singles and struck out six—as the Firemen won 6-1. The Firemen collected seven hits off Don Cochran. One hit was a homc run by Meyer in the fourth.

Small Motor won its second game by trouncing Motor-Generator 16-6. Wickliffe homered in the second inning with two men on base. Numerous errors by Motor-Generator led to about half of the Small Motor runs.

Fractional forfeited to Winter St.

Due to a misunderstanding in the schedule, the Taylor St.-Squares game, slated for last week, will be played next week.

The up and coming Drivers, led by Herman Uhrick, fired a 169 total to sink the Spoons in a 12-point defeat and also forged into third place in the league standings. Herm only had 13 putts over the front nine in carding a neat 39. Three weeks ago, the Drivers were in the fifth spot and are now really on the move. Lou Barney shot a 40 to lead the Spoons.

The Hot Shots showed why they were four-time champs, by beating the Brassies by a three-point margin. The Brassies were primed for an upset and played nine strokes under their team average with a 189 total. The champs were equal to the challenge. They fired a 161 for their season's low, which is six under the team average. Bob Craig, with 38, and Warren Wickliffe, with 39, led the winners. Trev Williams paced the losers with a 44.

Bob Markey led the league-leading Putters to a 12-win over the Flags. He shot a 41 on the front nine. He was most pleased when he had a par five for the very tough No. 7 hole. Cavanough, with a 48, was lowest for the Flags. The 12-point win gives the Putters a plus 56 which is 21 points ahead of the Hot Shots—in second place.

The Bunkers picked up a 10-point forfeit win over the Traps when only two team members showed up to play.

W. L. Leifheit Receives Special Sales Position

Walter L. Leifheit has been appointed to serve on special sales assignments, according to an announcement last week by R. C. Hanna, manager of sales for the Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions. Mr. Leifheit will report directly to Mr. Hanna.

Mr. Leifheit has just returned from the Rockford, Ill., Office where he has been a fractional horsepower motor specialty salesman for approximately two and one-half years. Previous to that time he worked in Schenectady and Fort Wayne in test, engineering and sales positions.

After graduating from Purdue University in 1943 with a BSEE degree, Mr. Leifheit served as a First Lieutenant in the Field Artillery until May, 1946, when he joined G-E.

Mr. and Mrs. Leifheit and their young daughter expect to establish their residence in Fort Wayne in the near future.

CAPITALIST!

Johnny used to be a laborer. Brother Tim still is.

Both cut lawns. Both used to use customers' hand mowers. Each could do one big lawn a day, and got $2 for it.

Tim spent his $2 on movies and candy. Johnny saved some money, borrowed some more, and bought a power mower. Now he can cut 5 lawns a day, and so makes $10.

He puts aside $2 a day to pay back his loan, and $1 toward another mower when this one wears out.

He still has seven dollars where he used to have two, and is helping more people get their lawns cut when they want them. Yet some enemies of business would say that that shows Johnny is too big; he should be limited in the number of people he can serve.

These same strange enemies would prevent Johnny from setting aside $1 a day out of his own earnings, to buy a new mower when this one wears out. (Of course, that means Johnny would go back to hand labor at $2 a day, and fewer people would be served—but these strange people don't care about that.)

And some people say Johnny should be forced to share his $7 with Tim so Tim can keep on spending his $2 for movies and candy.

Sound ridiculous? Yes, but every one of these charges and demands is leveled at American business today.

George says that's okay. He's happy Bill guessed right. . . . We aren't saying the guys in test are close fisted exactly. But Louis Devoe puts a little box out every now and then to get money for the luxury he says the men like. Now in five days he acquired nine cents. Seven cents of that came from the second trick. . . . Edna Ward was so sure winter was over, she put her mittens away and wasn't prepared for our recent cool mornings. However, not to be chilled by our summer(?) weather, Edna put a warm hard boiled egg in her lunch and then held the sack tight in her hands to keep them warm. . . . How Fast Is Fast?

The cornerstone of speed control on the highway is the phrase "speed too fast for conditions."

In the eyes of the law, any speed is too fast if it is not reasonable and prudent for existing conditions, according to the National Safety Council.

As far back as 1678 an accident to a child in a street of Newport, R. I., resulted in the Colonial Assembly enacting the following statute:

Whereas there was very lately in the towne of Newport on Rhode Island very great hurte done a small childe by reason of exceeding fast and hard riding of horses in said towne, this Assembly takeing the matter into their serious consideration and being desirous for the future to prevent the like mischief, doe ordain . . . that from and after the publication hereof, if any person or persons shall presume to ride on either horse, mare or gelding a gallup or to run speed—in the streets of Newport—said person shall for his offense pay into the Treasurer of said towne five shillings in money on demand; two shillings of which shall be paid to any person or persons that shall give information thereof and the other three shillings to remain for the use of said towne.

Theory Still Basic

That speed law, earliest recorded in the United States, set forth the theory of "reasonable and prudent" speed that still is basic 273 years later.

In every state that theory is implicit in the laws governing speed, the Council pointed out. Arrests can be made for driving slower than a posted speed limit—if unfavorable conditions make that speed too fast to be reasonable and prudent.

The conditions which may require the careful driver to slow down are the weather, the condition of the car, the physical fitness of the driver, the density of traffic, the degree of dusk or darkness and the condition and kind of road surface.

Information Clinic

VACATION PAY

Q. I would like more information concerning vacation pay. If, for example, I take one week vacation during the July 4th weekend, will vacation pay include extra pay for the paid holiday; in other words six days' pay instead of five? Will one have to take an extra day off following the vacation week or is this optional?

A. When the vacation period includes one of the paid holidays, an additional day of vacation will be granted with pay if the holiday occurs during the scheduled work week of the employe. The extra day must be taken immediately before or after as an extension of the vacation. In other words, it is not possible to receive pay in lieu of taking vacation or paid holiday time off.

PENSION DATES?

Q. Under the new pension plan, does your service date from time of employment or from 1946 when the plan was amended? In other words, my service started in 1936. Will I have vested pension rights in 1956 or 1966? The same would apply to disability pension after 15-years service.

A. Service dates from time of employment, in this case 1936, provided the usual conditions on continuity of service are met, such as no interruption of service through leaving the Company for other employment, etc. This employe, therefore, would have vested rights in 1956, provided he had 20 years of credited service at that time. The same idea would apply to disability pension after 15 years of credited service.

Words by Walt

YOU CAN THINK WHAT YOU PLEASE

What are you doing today that counts?
Is it really a thing worth-while?
When the sun goes down,
Will you wear a frown,
Or finish the day with a smile?

What did you say, when you had the chance
To be nice to a troubled friend?
Will you feel tonight,
What you said was right,
Or be sorry for words that offend?

What did you think, that you didn't say,
When you saw, what you knew was wrong?
Did you compromise,
Or close your eyes,
Just in order to get along?

What have you thought or said or done
Today, that you're sorry for?
Do you feel you'd make,
The same mistake,
If given the chance once more?

What, have you thought, or said or done
That, tonight when your day is through,
Will be most unkind,
To your peace of mind
And the conscience that swells in you?

Tomorrow, you'll have it all over again,
Except, in a modified way.
You'll find quite a few
Of the things you do
Much the same as you found them today.

But tomorrow, experience will help you to see
What to think, what to do, what to say.
And if you've been awake,
You won't have to make
The errors you're making today.

Of course, when tomorrow, becomes your today,
You will also find many things new.
But experience will guide
And help you decide
What to think, what to say, what to do.

Life never is static; it moves right along
Your todays come and go in a hurry.
It's folly to borrow
The ills of tomorrow
And the past isn't changed when you worry.

It's easy to think, what to say and to do.
But to say and to do, all you think
Is something to watch
For you can make a botch
Of the whole thing, and land in the clink.

So, say what is proper and do what is right
For that's what the world hears and sees.
Your action and diction
May need some restriction
But your thinking can be what you please.

Fractional scribe

Phil Ann Westbrook New Division Editor Of 'Fractional Facts'

The newest division editor on the WORKS NEWS staff is Phyllis Ann Westbrook. She will write "Fractional Facts," replacing Barbara Meyer, who has transferred to Bldg. 4-6.

Phil Ann, or "P. A.," as she is called, worked for G-E from the summer of 1948 until the spring of 1949, and returned to G-E last December to work in the FHP Motor Sales Division File Room at Taylor St.

In between times, she has been attending Indiana and Miami universities studying elementary education. She worked on the Miami campus radio station and on campus publications at both schools.

P. A.'s hobbies include all water sports—such as water skiing, swimming and boating—besides tennis and golf.

She lives at 1824 North Anthony Blvd.

This must have been a fishing week for a lot of people in Bldg. 4-5. Paul Stemmler caught a five-pound bass, and Dale Frederick landed a 27-inch pike. Mary Junk caught her first bass. . . . The main attraction for Monday morning was Dan Tetlow sporting a nice bow tie. It was blue with a little touch of red. . . . WARNING: Just stay away from Gordon Parmalee when getting off the bus. It is dangerous for women with full skirts. He steps on the hemlines. . . . Welcome to Aircraft Assembly, Delbert Weigand and Edward Haines. . . . Art Bashelier is now giving instructions on "How To Enter the G-E Parking Lot." For a right turn, you take the left-turn-only lane and turn sharply to the right. "Those in the right lane will always stop in order to wait for a crash," says Art.

We understand Mervin Ruhl is now conducting personal tours in Bldg. 26-1 to acquaint a new office employe with our work. It's nice work, Mervin, and is a nice way to spend your lunch time. . . . Max Kinsey has sure been feeling low this week since his best girl friend moved to Kentucky. . . . A gentleman here on the floor was asking for Mary Kieler's address. I am sorry she left us with no forwarding address, but we will try to help. . . . Don Huffman had the place turned upside down one day by moving boxes and removing all the tools from the diet wagon. Then someone found his missing scale in Don's pocket. Yes, his face was red. . . . Some of us would like some information about that book George Horner has been reading. . . . Glenn Kaylor celebrated his birthday June 26 by huying his wife an ice cream cone. . . . Uncle John Coon can prove that the Police Department writes a very nice letter. After getting a parking ticket, he received a letter saying, "Come on, boy, we're waiting for you." He went. . . . Sole (Moose) Booker has a trip to Alabama planned for his vacation. He says he made his plans too early and now has a month to worry if his 1939 Buick will stand the trip. . . . The brake job in Group 2-002 has gained a lot of prestige. Last week, they had to tie Joe Krider and Wimpy Guldice down to keep them both from wanting the job at the same time.

Four STAB Men Receive New Positions

Elex to Hold Social in Park Tues., July 17

The Elex Club will sponsor its annual Ice Cream Social in McCulloch Park, Tuesday, July 17, Publicity Chairman Bess Brown said today. All proceeds will be used for the Elex Defense Program.

Booths, arranged along the walks leading to the bandstand, will sell ice cream, hot dogs, cotton candy, home-made cakes, soft drinks, crackerjack and popcorn. There will be pony rides and prizes for children. All stands will open at 1:30 p.m. and will remain open throughout the evening.

Contact girls will have tickets for sale at 10 cents each.

Club Balloting Two Weeks Away

Ballots for the election of G-E Club officers and directors will be distributed by payroll sections Tuesday and Wednesday, July 16 and 17, Jerry Duryee, chairman of the nominating committee, reminded employes today.

Ballots should be deposited in boxes used for completed clock cards.

Results of the election will be announced in the WORKS NEWS July 27. Newly-elected officers will assume office Sept. 1.

Apprentice Alumni's Stag Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Apprentice Alumni's Outdoor Stag, slated Thursday, July 12, at Voigt's Retreat, are still available from contact men, Publicity Chairman Earl Plummer said today.

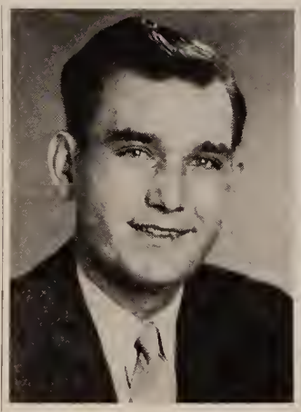
The stag will begin at 5 p.m. Scheduled activities include a softball game, volleyball, horseshoes and tug-o-war. Supper and refreshments will be served.

G-E's Carl Wagoner Seeks 'Roadeo' Honors

Carl K. Wagoner, G-E driver, leaves today for Indianapolis to take part in the State Truck Roadeo tomorrow and Sunday.

Winner of the straight truck division at the Allen County Truck event held at Smith Field in May, Mr. Wagoner will compete in the same division at Indianapolis. Winners of state roadeos are eligible to enter the national finals, Jay Greer, chairman of the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce Fleet Safety Committee explained.

The state contest is open to all members of the Indiana Motor Truck Association.



Mr. Greer will accompany Mr. Wagoner on the trip.

Macy to Head Application Planning, Wage Rates; Others Get Div. 97 Posts

Four Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions' employes have received new appointments, according to W. H. Crouse, superintendent. Samuel A. Macy has been named supervisor of Application Planning and Wage Rates; Bret R. Young has been appointed staff assistant, and Harold L. Hoffman and G. Richard Goller will serve as foremen in STAB Div. 97.

Mr. Macy attended Ohio Northern University and joined the General Electric Company in 1942 in the Specialist Training School. He worked for eight months in the Tool Room, Bldg. 26-5, and, in 1943, was transferred to wage rate work at Taylor St.

He went to Danville on a wage rate assignment in 1946, returning to Fort Wayne in 1948 as supervisor of Wage Rate in STAB Div. 91. Mr. Macy has been serving as assistant supervisor in STAB Divs. 91 and 94 until his present appointment.

He is a member of the Squares, the Supervisors' Club and the Decimal Minute Men. Mr. Macy is married and has two sons. One son is a member of G-E's Little League team. The Macys live at 709 Greenlawn Ave.

Apprentice Graduate

Bret R. Young graduated from the Apprentice School in 1929 as an electrical draftsman. He worked in the STAB Drafting Section for a short time before joining a planning group.

In 1933, he was assigned to the Winter St. Plant on wage rate work. He returned to STAB Divisions in 1946 as assistant supervisor of Wage Rate. Since 1948, Mr. Young has been wage rate supervisor.

He is a member of the Squares.

His hobbies are color photography and traveling. Mr. Young resides on Reckeweg Road.

Harold L. Hoffman, newly appointed foreman of Gas Filled Ignition Transformers in STAB Div. 97, joined G-E in 1947 as a test engineer. A graduate of the University of Illinois with a BSME, his test assignments included the Pittsfield, Lynn, and Fort Wayne Works.

From 1948 to 1949, Mr. Hoffman served on a series of manufacturing assignments as part of the Manufacturing Course. In 1949, he went to STAB Central Planning Division, working on special assignments until October, 1950, when he was named staff assistant to the supervisor of planning.

Mr. Hoffman is a member of Phi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering honorary and the Supervisors' Club. He is married and has one son. The Hoffmans live at 811 East Lewis St.

Began in 1940

Mr. Goller will serve as foreman of Type M and D Transformers. He came to the General Electric Company in 1940 as a coil winder in Bldg. 26-1. He became a leading operator in 1942 and, the following year, was made a foreman in Bldg. 26-1 and 26-4.

In 1949, Mr. Goller was assigned to quality control work for a short time. From March of last year until his present appointment, he has been a line dispatcher in Bldg. 26-3.

Mr. Goller is married and has two sons. He is a member of the Foremen's Association and lives at 1115 Dodge St.

Bus Discontinued

The Clinton & Penn to Ridgewood & Foresthill portion of the North Clinton line bus service will be discontinued, Fort Wayne Transit officials have announced.

Q-C PICNIC PLANNERS—Harry Underwood (center) is shown above ordering Publicity Chairman Ford Zimmer to break last year's Quarter Century Club Outing attendance record of 857. This year's goal is 1,100. The 1951 committee (l-r) includes Alma Witte, attendance prizes; Ralph Hemminger, entertainment; Wally Beer, public address system; Frank Quinn, badges and identification; Harry Underwood, traffic; Herschel L. Smith, programs and invitations; Mr. Zimmer; Elmer Wagner, competitive events, and Art Brockmeyer, traffic. Not shown are George Waldschmidt, transportation, and W. P. Altekruse, public address system.

WHERE IS IT: After Glen Willits assured Betty Stahl that Fort Wayne was in Allen County, she came to the conclusion that Huntington must be in Wabash County. . . . MOVE OVER: First it's dust storms, next floods and now tornados. It's no wonder Ruth Burris and other Kansans leave. . . . DEEPEST SYMPATHY: We offer our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. George Schroeder on the death of Mr. Schroeder's grandmother at Wayne, Mich. . . . CONGRATS: Happy birthday to Phyllis Faulkner today, July 6; Ned Hackney, tomorrow, July 7; Adolf Strasser, Tuesday, July 10, and Wes Goss, next Wednesday, July 11. We like birthdays, don't we? . . . WELCOME: To Sue Walton, drafting trainee in the D. C. Division. . . . WHAT IS IT? Jim Capps, known for his adherence to technical exactness, should be criticized for calling what he does on the golf course "golf." . . . SHORT TRIP: Bill Rutledge took a short (seven day) trip to Curtis Wright. How was the "Peep Show," Bill, and "Guys and Dolls?" . . . NERVOUS TYPE: D. Hershberger has been very nervous this week. He is to be a papa in the near future. . . . WELCOME: To Lincoln Young and Gerald Probst in the Sales Division. . . . Everyone hopes Walt Gerke has a good time on his Florida vacation.

What Is It?

Fort Eustis, Virginia

Dear Sirs:

I received the Fort Wayne WORKS NEWS for the last two months three days ago.

I can't begin to tell you how much I enjoyed them. I am in a 33-bed ward and everybody reads the WORKS NEWS even if they weren't connected with General Electric. Even our nurse is from Fort Wayne, so the papers were well appreciated.

Respectfully yours,
Robert E. Hill.

Harold D. VanVoorst, a former Taylor St. employe, writes to thank G-E for the WORKS NEWS:

"Now I am serving out here along the coast of Korea. The O'Brien (the ship Harold is on) is now under the command of C. W. Nimitz, Jr., and is playing a small part in this war. The ship is operating with Task Force 77, composed of carriers, cruisers, and other ships. This tour of duty is quite interesting, but of course we would rather be home with our loved ones. . . .

"There are several other fellows on the ship that have worked with G-E products and we often talk of the work that we did and compare the same.

"I am looking forward to coming back to G-E when I am discharged from the Navy. I am doing office work and am furthering my education through the United States Armed Forces Institute."

S/Sgt. James J. Strickler is now located in Fort Sheridan, Ill., with the 982nd Engineer Construction Battalion. . . . George Forehand and Donald Offord are both former employes and both of their mothers work in Bldg. 17-3. George is stationed at Great Lakes and Donald is at Camp Rucker, Ala.

NEW SAFETY SADDLE SHOES—Donna Holle, Bldg. 21, buys the first pair of newly stocked safety saddle shoes at the Employes' Store from clerk Jack Chamherlain. The shoes sell for $7.95.

Meet the President

HIGHLIGHTS: Work on the new Ernie Foreman home out east is progressing very rapidly. Outside of getting a well drilled, he is doing OK. . . . Julia Sprunger says that she is now a qualified "Old Maid." Yes, she says she is now at the ripe old age of 25. . . . We now have a new enterprise among us. The corporation is known as "The Reach High Paint Company." Don Wait is business manager, and Tom Eichhorn, associate vice-president. Of course, right now they are practically confined to some smaller jobs due to the fact that one of them has contacted painter's colic. . . . Karl Schnepp is still trying to be first up to the clock, but I think that Louie Drake will beat him. Bob Kenworthy is also "a first upper." . . . It's only a few days now until vacation time and what are you going to do with all that time? . . . G-E CLUB FAMILY PICNIC—Just a reminder, folks! Don't forget Saturday, July 21, the day of the G-E Club Family Picnic. There will be plenty of food and contests that everyone will enjoy. See the display of the prizes in the Employes Store showcase. . . . Petc Fairchild assures us that he will have a bumper crop down on the old farm this year. . . . Pretty lucky, Pete, and we wish you the best of luck. . . . It's another blue-bootied tax exemption at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lengerich. Congrats, folks! . . . The wedding anniversary of Annabelle and Tibby Gehrig was celebrated very quietly. Many friends reminded them of their 30 ycars of wedded bliss. . . . Birthday greetings to Joan Workinger, Hilda Staley and Margaret Waltke. . . . Forest Owens and Ed Borne are among those unable to work because of illness. . . . Ralph Stanley is at last going about his work without a patch over his eye. After two weeks of having the patch, he welcomed its departure. . . . Ralph Roop is enjoying a week of vacation. No details are available at this time, but we will expect some fish stories later. . . . Pennies from heaven? No, it was nickels for Betty Reichert. It isn't everyone who can find money so mysteriously in the berries they have picked. . . . From all reports, the vacation of Grant Fry was a very busy and successful one. He said he spent much time at his neighbor's cottage doing chores. It was a very nice gesture when we know that this work had alrcady been taken care of. Why didn't you paint Tibby's boat again? . . . This is the sad story of the demise of Patsy. Patsy (the hamster) accompanied the Hesther family on their recent trip to Texas for a visit with their son. Whether it was the unaccustomed heat or the excitement of the trip, we do not know. Patsy passed away and the interment took place deep in the heart of Texas. . . . Now, Marcia, what did you do with your thermos bottle this time? I understand you left it at home filled with coffee. . . . TECHNIQUE! Recently a group of GeCode Club members put on a short skit for a local lodge. After the show, the girls were given an opportunity to win prizes. Ina Noack won third prize, but she had her eyes on another gift. When it was all over, Ina had induced the first place winner to trade with her. What technique do you use, Ina? . . . TRAGEDY—Decatur Plant employes were deeply grieved by the fatal traffic accident which occurred near Decatur recently and claimed the lives of relatives of Decatur Plant employes. Mrs. Harry Fritzinger, mother of Cathryn Steele of Bldg. 1, died from injuries received. Margaret Conter, sister of Mrs. Fritzinger, also succumbed to internal injuries. Rose Conter, another sister, and Harry Fritzinger, driver of one of the ill-fated cars, are hospitalized with serious injuries. . . . Peter Bailey, brother of Andrew Bailey of Bldg. 1, one of five occupants of the pickup truck which collided with the Fritzinger car, also died from injuries shortly after being taken to the hospital. We extend our deepest sympathy to the grieved relatives and friends.

Louie Watt and Dewey Erne, the two boys from Missouri, had to be shown. In their little friendly wager with Red Braden, it was the other way around. At the showdown, they couldn't produce the evidence, so Red won the bet. . . . Herbert Sherlock and Fred McAfee were so interested in their work they couldn't stop for lunch. Fred Boehm went after them when they failed to show up in time to get the euchre game started. . . . Bill Johnson needed an extra long bolt for a job. He decided he would weld a piece between the threads and cap to get the required length. He had quite a bit of trouble with his first set-up but finally came through with a good straight bolt on the second one. . . . Ozzie Nahrwold came limping in one morning about 10 a.m. When questioned as to what happened, he said he had played some baseball and then a game of volleyball. The next morning he decided "it was later than you think." . . . Norm Bender has acquired a nickname of "Nickel Grabber" after several attempts to pick up a certain nickel in the aisle. . . . Birthday greetings this week go to Bob Hendrickson. . . . Arnold Engle helped with the supervision in the group while Norm Bender was vacationing.

Learning there will be pulling contests for men as well as horses at this year's Allen County Fair, Ira Augspurger believes he is as strong as he ever was despite his advanced years. Ira has decided to enter the contests and has begun preliminary training in preparation for these coming events. The other day, while practicing some plain and fancy pulling, he slipped. In so doing, he knocked a lot of the bark off his beezer. Ira, we do not think that you are capable of making much of a showing in these events. . . . George Cowan has worn out one push broom in trying to paint his house. He has given up in disgust and has retired to his cottage at Lake Gilead to recuperate and plan another onslaught upon the paint job. He says he will wear out at least six push brooms before finishing the job. Being a firm believer in getting things done in a hurry, the push broom idea appealed to him. From all appearances, we wonder. . . . Lawrence Ankenbruck was seen recently carrying a large hoop arrangement with a handle. When asked what it was, he explained that it was for a landing net. He plans on catching a lot of fish while on vacation. We learned from other sources that it is not going to be such an instrument at all. It really is going to be a butterfly net as he has taken this up as a hobby and plans to snare many a beautiful moth this season. We would like to see Lawrence prancing through a field of daisies snapping up butterflies. . . . Ward Grim is spending the week at his cottage at Lake Papakeechie. He intends to snare of lot of the finny tribe, especially those he calls Wabash River trout (carp, that is). He promised Buck Adams that he would bring him a big mess.

The men in the Commutator Section are having a stag party at Ralph Mennewisch's home on the Engle Road. . . . Al Rolland got up in a terrible hurry Wednesday morning. He discovered he had two different shoes. . . . Vickey Hyre spent a few days in Michigan fishing. She tells of the big ones that got away. . . . We extend our sympathy to Serena Slater on the death of her mother. . . . Bill Widdifield's daughter, Ileen, who has been a patient at the Irene Byron for the past year, spent the last week-end at home. We hope the news continues to be good, Bill. . . . Doris Doehla was so excited when she got in Fort Wayne from Cedar Point that she forgot her silverware on the bus. . . . Vera Fetro fared quite well. Someone bought an ice cream bar for a friend. The friend didn't want it so he looked around and gave it to Vera. . . . Leonard Floyd has gone to the northern tip of Lake Superior to fish for lake trout. It wouldn't surprise us if he used night-crawlers to catch those 17-pound trout! . . . Bob Black and the McMacken brothers were glad the bass were 10½ inches long when the game warden checked them last week. . . . Jake Kuglar is through eating soup. He says they fit swell. In fact, he has a difficult time getting them out. . . . Don Mason was late to work the other day. He told the boss he overslept, and Jake says he even has difficulty in sleeping. . . . If anyone has any pictures of pin-up girls, John Figley is making a collection of them. . . . Geneva Worden has been on her vacation this past week. Next week Joe Eifret is going to Detroit. Russell Rose is going fishing in Michigan. Harry Hindeman and Mac MacDonald will be found around the house, being men of leisure. . . . Last Friday was Gloria Sarasien's last day. She is going to be a full-time housewife. Today Pat Weis is leaving to be with her husband who is in the army. . . . The weather is clearing up. In fact, the sun shines once in awhile. If that keeps up, Buss Romary is going to get the rest of his garage roof on. . . . John Willett found out that farm work isn't all play. His muscles got so sore from helping his dad load baled hay that he lost some time from work. . . . Art McNamara says the fish are jumping right out of Rome City. He sat in a rocking chair on the bank and caught 25 fish. . . . Neva Scott, Unis Taylor and Mary Haney are leaving for Bldg. 6-4. The girls in group 1x79 had a farewell potluck dinner for them. . . . Billy Gawthrop will be leaving soon for Texas to see her brother who is going overseas with the army. . . . Irene Williams will never make me an egg-nog. She uses liniment instead of vanilla.

The Key to Peace

CLARENCE MANION
Dean of the College of Law
University of Notre Dame

We are at war. We have been engaged in this war for many years and we shall be involved in it for years to come. But this particular war is not with Russia nor with any actual or potential combination of foreign nations.

The war which is sapping our resources and threatening our existence as a free and prosperous people is a deadly conflict of ideas. It is a war for the subjugation and capture of the American mind and particularly for the minds of those young people of America to whom the future of our country belongs.

We are losing this war precisely because we have been deliberately confused concerning its actual issues and the precise location of its important battlefields. We are alarmed and excited about actual and potential military aggression throughout the world. These "alarms" are the genuine "red herrings."

The War of Ideas . . . is the Real War

It is not these physical and forceful frontal attacks that threaten our national life It is not aggressions but professions that have penetrated our defense lines and enervated our effective resistance to the enemy. While we fight the fires of Communist aggression abroad, we have made the mistake of fanning the flames of Socialistic profession at home. It is the growing strength of the profession of Statism here in the United States that will defeat us—if and when (God save the mark) we are defeated.

This is only secondarily a military struggle Primarily, we are in a war of ideas, a war between the vitality of Constitutionally protected freedom and the power of materialistic Statism Followers of the all powerful State including, of course, the Communists, understand their cause perfectly They are out to reduce all humanity to the complete control of a godless government. There is no confusion in their councils To them, their diabolical end justifies any treachery, any promise or pretense, any means or measure however criminal or scandalous, as long as it is calculated to achieve that end.

Take a Look at History . . .

The wolves of despotism never advertise themselves as such. They hide in the sheep's clothing of "democratic," "progressive," "liberal," "humanitarian," or "fraternal." Remember, they took Czechoslovakia with Czechs—Roumania with Roumanians—Hungary with Hungarians—and China with Chinese. They have not yet given up hope of taking Italy with Italians and France with Frenchmen. We have given them good reason to believe that they may eventually get America as the free gift of our misdirected and sentimental 'intellectuals." Advocates of Statism, including the Communists, have no stomach for a military conflict with the United States. They observe that all of our potential strength is military and that all of our national consciousness is bound up with physical and geographical defense.

They likewise sense the new open secret that our great American ideals and principles have lost appeal for the majority of our people and particularly for our youth. As a nation and as individuals our instincts seem now for "survival" merely, for "security," for holding what we have, with no general understanding of how we obtained these blessings, or how they may yet be multiplied a thousand fold in future years. While we are in this unfortunate and defeatist state of mind we can never hope to win the war we are now waging with our enemies here and abroad.

Need to Re-declare Our God-given Freedom

To win quickly, decisively and permanently we must stimulate a renewed understanding of basic American principle and a revival of faith in the ability of that principle to conquer the mind of all mankind. Our key to victory and peace is to be found in the words spoken eloquently and officially with the first breath of the new life of the American Republic—The Declaration of Independence.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

In this spirit of faith in God and in the God-given freedom of every human creature of God, we won our first great victory and in that same spirit we have won an endless series of triumphs in peace and war throughout the past 175 years. This is the imperishable principle that exalts man while it strictly limits government to the service and protection of man's freedom. This is the principle of our Constitutional System which is the express restriction of government's power and which directs its purpose, permanently and precisely to the ends described; namely, the freedom of the individual.

Government is the Servant . . . Not the Master

In 1776 we gambled everything on the theory that a society of free and independent men would be the happiest and most productive society ever seen in the world. The historic bet paid off at the tremendous odds of a million to one—not once merely but through every generation of our history right up to our very own time. We demonstrated that the self-government of each free man under the Ten Commandments of God was a better guarantor of peace and prosperity than all the benign, benevolent or diabolical dictatorships put together.

The seed of our success was in our American Faith—Faith in God—Faith in the capacity of our people to govern themselves under God—and Faith in Constitutional limitations upon government. James Madison, The Father of the Constitution, stated that here in America we staked "the whole future of our political institutions upon the capacity of mankind for self-government."

Our governmental structure was not designed to rule us around the clock from the cradle to the grave. It was not constructed as a source of welfare and cannot function successfully in any such capacity. In the American dispensation the people are responsible for the government but the government was never intended to be responsible for the people. Where the government is made responsible for the people, the people become slaves and the most complete system of human slavery is always to be found where the authority and scope of power of government is supreme.

Our Future Depends on Moral Self-Government . . .

Unless these fundamentals are as comprehensible now as they were in 1776 America is doomed. If our generation is unable to accept the basic morality and basic Americanism set forth in the Declaration of Independence then we have already lost the war with Statism. I happen to believe, however, that those truths will be as acceptable now as they were in 1776. We now have abundant evidence to substantiate what the Founding Fathers, out of their great faith, held to be self-evident truth.

Practically all of the material progress of all time is crowded into the one hundred and seventy-five years of history that has elapsed since our Declaration of Independence was written and practically all of this progress has occurred here in the country for which and by which that famous declaration was made. By these fruits the seed of God-given human freedom has been tested and is justified.

Misguided education has lately led our people to believe that progress and happiness are somehow bound up with an expansion and centralization of governmental power. It is precisely this poisonous doctrine that has exposed us to subjugation by our enemies. This belief can and must be reversed. In this critical battle for the minds of men we have all the weapons on our side if we only dare to use them with the courage, faith and force of those who forged them for us in that critical hour when the United States was born.

The destructive flames of socialization have been eating into the solid Constitutional structure of American liberty for more than a quarter of a century. Meanwhile, the advocates of personal independence and private enterprise have been frantically pouring water on those segments of the fire that seem to scorch their own selfish interest. The time has come to recognize the fact that the protective citadel of our freedom cannot be saved by those tactics.

How Must We Be Saved?

Nothing can stop the fire now except a change in the direction of the wind. The main trends of current American thought must be quickly and fundamentally reversed. We must stop the stampede toward government for the relief of all the illness that occurs in our social and economic system. We must revive respect for American self-government and the self-restaint prescribed in the Ten Commandments.

We must have the courage to get to all the people with the truth; with the short and simple story of the American Declaration of Independence; with the reminder that man is an indestructible creature of God and that the government isn't responsible for him—he is responsible for the government.

The key to peace is the simplification and restatement—the re-understanding by the people of this country—of the principle of man's individual and God-given freedom which was stated to be self-evident in 1776.

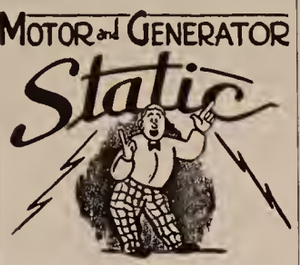
GENERAL ELECTRIC



'Twas Friday forenoon and Luther was packed.
He rammed through his desk—so nothing he lacked.
He locked it all up with particular care
In hope all the papers would really be there.

When out in the hall there arose such a clatter
We sprang from our desks to see what was the matter.
When to our wondering eyes did appear,
Two little movers and a big moving gear.

They whisked up the desk and left the space bare
And Luther went following pushing his chair.
He got to the door then slightly turned back
To look at the faces and the "little ole gap."

"Bye, Flo, Norm, Paul, Mary.
So long, Helen, you've been so contrary."
And we in the office knew he graduated.
'Cause he's a fellow that really rated.
And deep inside we had to say,
"Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

The poem was composed by Joan Springer, Wilma Jackmeyer and Helen Smith in tribute to a member of Sales Accounting who recently transferred to FHP Motor Budget office. Best of luck, Luther. . . . Connie Monroe, Sales, at an informative meeting the other day, asked his listeners to name some appliances in their home equipped with G-E motors. One person said, "refrigerator"; another said, "sweeper", etc. Barbara Haley, not to be outsmarted by her fellow listeners, called out "Electric Toaster." . . . George Bradley, Dick Harlow and George Brown are now located in Sales. We are glad to have these fellows with us. . . . Frank Stenberg, of Sales, will soon be leaving for Minneapolis. We will miss him, but wish him and his family lots of happiness and success. . . . The Ruths have it this week. Ruth Hite, Sales, broke her finger. The car door won! Ruth Lenahan had a bout with her sweeper. That's why she's limping. Ruth Raypole, Accounting, is suffering with a red nose from a cold, I guess. . . . Burt Day is having his troubles. We hope brighter days are ahead for you and your family Burt, including Ginger. . . . Put on your shoes, Gloria Geesman, and it won't be embarrassing when you walk out of your office. . . . Best wishes to Mrs. Pete Buckmaster. We hear the wedding was beautiful, Geneva. . . . Sales welcomes back Walt Leifheit, who was with us from 1947 to 1949. Since then he has been in Rockford, Ill. . . . Taylor St. Sales welcomes Ken Parks. We are happy to have Ken with us. . . . Birthday greetings to Nannette Haley, who was 19 June 23. Her sister, Barbara, was telling some of the girls that Freddie was going to get her a gift. Lee Stein popped up and said, "Who's Freddie—her boy friend?" Barb said, "No, her dog." . . . Has anyone seen Wayne Gilberg riding the buses lately? If so, tell him he had better check the parking lots first. . . . MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT: Martha Zuber should eat more food containing vitamins so she can hold her tray in the cafeteria. Last Thursday, she dropped her whole tray. . . . TOO MANY MISTAKES: Ruth English is certainly hard on electric erasers. She wore two of them out in a day's time.

Elsie Ferguson is our new column reporter from the Purchasing Section. . . . Elaine Norr had a good looking fellow oiling her squeaky chair the other day. We think he was paying more attention to Elaine than he was to oiling the chair. . . . The Renewal Parts Section has moved into a room at the east end of Bldg. 19-1. Those in that section are: Elaine Norr, Doris Hart, Ann Ellendorph, Bill Shanebeck, Gillie Plummer, Bill Starke and H. J. Bobay. . . . Ann Ellendorph will keep us posted on all of the happenings in the Renewal Parts Section. . . . TAKEN: Our most eligible bachelor, Joe Neal, is no longer eligible. The lucky girl is Dorothy Young of Roanoke. . . . QUESTION: Why doesn't Doris Hart wear her pearls where most people do? . . . STUFFED: It was heard that Joe Neal entertained a party at the Berghoff Gardens. Then it was learned that a group of our friends from the Paper Materialistic Section went out for lobster. Those enjoying the feast were Joe Neal, his fiancee, Dorothy Young; Doris Olinger, Ruthie Shafenacker, Esther Dalman, Pat Angel and Les Gordon. . . . TALENTED: In case you have heard music in Bldg. 31-1 and wondered where it came from, you can blame Elaine Lopshire and Ann Bowser in the Service Bureau. . . . If you get sick, and want some entertainment, let Dick Hobson know. He has been put on the Sick Committee of the Barber Shop Quartet Association and his quartet would be happy to sing for you. . . . JUST A GRIPER: Osmer Eix, Bldg. 27-A, took the little woman and children fishing. The boat used was equipped with a motor and Mr. Eix, being unfamiliar with its operation, rowed to the fishing spot. After a period of unsuccessful fishing, they decided to return to shore and Osmer attempted to start the motor. The motor took off on the first pull. The tiller flipped to one side jerking the boat. Mr. Eix went head on into the lake. He came to the surface clutching a fish pole in one hand, an oar in the other and spouting the water. After scrambling into the boat and checking himself, he began griping. He was not griping because he fell into the lake, got wet and had the day ruined, but because there wasn't a fish in his pocket when he crawled out of the water.

No Fish

The first sun-tan preparations were developed in World War I to protect the wing fabrics of fighter planes from the ultra-violet rays of the sun.

Happy birthday to Betty Casebere, Bob Zoller, Layton High and Estel Easterday. Layton High is out of the hospital and is resting at home. . . . We are glad to see Wayne Crow back. Wayne had been out West for his health since the first of the year. . . . Did you ever eat a sandwich soaked in ginger ale? Ralph Storm brought in ginger ale for his lunch. We won't say his Dodge rides bumpy, but the top came off his thermos, soaking everything in his lunch box. He drank what was left out of a thimble. . . . Bill Schible should tell Bob Hatfield to leave all refuse behind when taking a trip. . . . It's rumored that Bob Hatfield will have a tough time during the shutdown period. Defend yourself, Bob. . . . Art Smethers is quite a softball pitcher besides being a good bowler. He stopped the Zollner team cold in a recent Ham League game. . . . Wonder if P.D.Q. has caused Bill Quarve to do the family washing lately. . . . From the looks of Merle Morkoetters' head, he should have worn a cap when he drove the new fire jeep from Wisconsin. His head and the jeep are practically the same shade. . . . Mary Jane Howe had a beautiful sunburn. Just ask any of the girls. . . . Wonder if Somers' section is getting lazy or streamlined with their new buzzer system. . . . What was the big attraction that caused Dick Gallmeier to spill the toothpicks in the cafeteria?

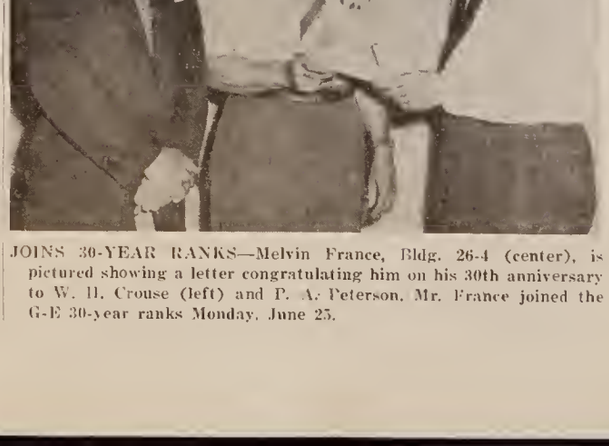
There are a couple of characters by the names of Sally and Barbara, who are going to be awarded the purple heart (posthumously) if they don't refrain from stuffing a certain person's pipe with candy, paper, etc. . . . We hear Bert Gruber was out stomping the planks at the Foster Park square dance recently. Bert got lost getting out of the park. They say she crossed the same bridge three times and played nine holes of golf before she finally found her way. . . . Howard Shipman is sporting a new car—capitalist! . . . Halice Grabner is also a new car owner, an Olds 98! . . . We welcome Bernice Hughes back to work. . . . Say, Bea Marsh, are those things really horses you're talking about? . . . Dorothy Kaylor is a proud grandma. . . . There's a big joke about the wrong use of a nickel circulating on the blanket warmer line. Howard Winters wouldn't talk, and we couldn't get anything out of Jane or Becky. . . . It's almost finished, that basement bar being built by Harold Josse and Lea for Lea's recreation room! It's made from glass blocks, and it's a honey. . . . Here's one for the record! Louie Sordelet called Bill Bender over to the second preliminary test and pointed out the testers, Paul Gruber and Les Baker, who were working too hard. They had the oven conveyors jammed with transformers. The real story is that the oven wasn't running! . . . We welcome Mary Sayen, Lura Kogin, Ella Callana, Shirley Maudy, Rollyn P. Fisher, Helen Wolf, Melba Copp, Phyllis Gruelick, Mary Epperson, James Bowser and Robert Karch.

Liberty has restraints but no frontiers.

Mosshammer's boys would like to know what happened to Charlie Brigg's team's golf playing last week. They went from first to fourth place. . . . Ray Folger is working overtime for a little change. Who gets the money now, Ray? . . . Norm Wolf says he just can't understand two of his buddies (Ernie and Vern), especially when they dream they are eating fishworms. . . . Everyone should watch their lunch huckets, especially when Mel Lyttle is around. . . . Congratulations to Iris Summers on her recent marriage. . . . Ask Elsie Fabian to smile at you now. They are very nice, Elsie. . . . Glen Buckmaster really does want to get ahead in this world. He was seen buying Marvin Hamilton a set of dishes the other night. . . . Helen Doty wants the Doty Road sprayed for poison ivy. . . . We are wondering how Otto Helmrich did cut that finger off. . . . Happy birthday to Lucy Fiechter. . . . We hope Arveda Neal enjoyed her week's vacation. What all did you do, Arveda? . . . Paul Detweiler can't find a better place to sit other than the garbage can at the desk. . . . Arlie and Rollie Helberg went on a week's fishing spree last week. They had a lovely cottage and yet they spent the evening and all night pioneering on a wild, rugged island. You think that's silly? They were fishing. A storm came up and they hurriedly sped to the nearest hunk of land to wait for the wind to settle. Mother Nature had other ideas and kept her cheeks full and blowing. They spent the evening and night (until five o'clock the next morning) on that island. They had no food, flashlight or dry clothes. They did have rain, caterpillars, mosquitoes and enough pine trees to start a fire. With raincoats to serve as windbreakers, they came through all right. In his youth Rollie was a boy scout. It helped a lot didn't it, Arlene. . . . So far Hulda Steffen hasn't been able to get that seven cents up from the floor. She did her best with heel, toe and finger nails. A helping fellow-worker gave her a chisel and hammer, but as yet she hasn't gone to work with those tools.

Seven o'clock is awfully early Monday mornings, isn't it, Florence Weber? . . . Some say Betty Thompson has turned grey over night. I'o not he alarmed. It is only that a grey paint brush slapped her on the head. . . . If Moe would put a dime in the ice cream machine, he might get more than just the stick. . . . Congratulations to Ed Maulin, who was married Saturday, July 30. They will honeymoon in Wisconsin. . . . Anyone wanting furniture moved see Elmer Smeltzer. . . . Irma Haney's new friend, the candy man, is a profitable one—she gets a free candy bar every day. . . . It's Ralph "LOVER BOY" now—he must be quite the Don Juan. While on a legion picnic, Ralph won the prize for making love to his wife. His wife said after that long kiss, if they didn't win she was going to take everything back. . . . Ralph Lee is tired of making all the points in euchre games at noon. He is going to put a man on each side of his partner, Moe; Pondo on one side, Paul Brandt on the other, to see if all three would make him one good partner. . . . Pondo is having trouble with his Chevy again. He said it looks as if he is going to have to buy a new car. Why not try a Packard? . . . Folks, if you have tire trouble, we have just the man in the Test Section. Moe can get you on your way in a hurry, one way or another. . . . The other guy was taken to the hospital. Mardo has limped around here all week. He and Elmer Robbins collided during that famous ball game at the foremen's party. . . . Ruth Pressler has been on pins and needles this week. She has heard from her husband, who is back in the U. S. after being in Korea for six months and wounded in action. . . . Don Wilson was presented with a very nice watch Friday by the gang on the floor. Lots of luck, Don. . . . Welcome: Doris Moser and Donna Evans. Hope you like it with us. . . . Delores Schinbeckler was ducked in a pool while swimming one night last week. . . . If you have an orange to peel, see Martha Jesse. She can pull the peeling off with a flip of the wrist.



Do you have a ring around the date, July 9? You should. That's G-E's night to see "The Vagahond King." Come on and help the girls make money to buy boxes for the G-E G-I guys and gals. They really appreciate the boxes. . . . Congratulations to Bertha Witham on reaching the quarter century mark of work. . . . Happy birthday to Mary Jane Redding and Zelma Wood. Zelma was surprised with a potluck dinner. . . . The welcome mat is out for all newcomers. One of these days, we will have to get a wall stretcher to make room for them. . . . Did you recognize Ivah Grandstaff with her new "specks?" . . . Bertha Witham had new glasses and wore them a week before her co-workers discovered it. Gertie and Kate must have really been busy. . . . We always thought a prospective bride had the jitters, but we have a prospective father-in-law who is jittery. Harold Kiel's son is coming home from Fort Riley, Kan., to be married. Harold is more jittery than a bride-to-he. . . . Velma Seibt is wondering what to do with all of the flowers people have given her to plant. You might try planting them double deck. . . . Eunice Zehr spent last week-end in Michigan City. . . . We are glad to see Naomi Robinson back after a bout with the flu. . . . Mildred Huntine's daughter has shown some improvement. . . . Luella Masson has left the early bird shift for second. We'll miss you. . . . Genevieve Cleland, who has been ill, is at the home of her daughter. Let's drop her a card. The address is: 2100 University St., Lima, O.

Irma Beard is our top notch Elex saleslady. She asks the bachelors to buy a 17-cent box of jello and then wants them to buy a four-dollar cook book so they can learn how to prepare the jello. . . . John McKee, we thought you looked very chic in Margaret Rollins' new fishing hat. . . . Mable Moser spent the week-end at Green Lake, Wisc. . . . Coy Capesius motored to Muncie last Sunday. . . . What's this about Marie Schmidt? We hear she doesn't know the difference between cabbage plants and rhubarb. . . . Adele Wietfeldt caught a 12½-inch bass at Atwood the other week-end. . . . Al Telschow, Olen Shank and Carl Kuseff had a big launching of the boat in a Michigan lake last week-end. . . . Bud Wheeler is the happy owner of a new Ford. He must be getting ready for that vacation. . . . Elsie Jones and Lelia Seibert look mighty pretty with their new permanents. . . . The fellow with the smile is Wayne Howard Best, son of Charles Best. Wayne is five and a half months old. . . . Rennie Phelps spent the week-end in Chicago visiting a sister. . . . Wayne Chapman has a new perfume. Wayne, the girls like the old kind better.

His Best Smile

Fort Wayne to Have Little League Tourney

Good luck to Helen Gresham, who is now in her new home. . . . We hope Delores Stapleton enjoyed her vacation. . . . A speedy recovery to Winefred Coates' grandson, who was hit by an automobile. . . . Good luck to Ireta Gillie on her new job in Bldg. 26-5. . . . Anyone wishing to know where and how to take pictures, see Stella Wells and Mona Hedges. . . . When Billie Tucker brings something to eat, it disappears. . . . We have some good pie bakers in the Finishing Section. Results: One pie eaten and two broken forks. By the way, Martha Doehrman, Alta wants her beans. . . . Ruth Freeland got in the wrong house at Silver Beach. We don't know if she is sunburned or her face is just red. . . . Peele Pequignot has trouble with the flies on his bald spot. . . .

Lots of Happiness

Rosie modeled a lamp shade hat at a dinner for Lorraine Von Behren, who became Mrs. Papp June 30. Congratulations Lorraine. She was so excited she left one winding out of a strip of coil. . . . Erma Wilken's Studebaker must fly. It got her to work on time. . . . Congratulations to Marilyn Noble, who became a Mrs. June 30. A shower was given for her at Betty Adams' home. Ruth Pfeifer can plan good potlucks. Let's do it more often. . . . Helen Boyer likes the hot rod races. . . . Kate Batzner was seen washing Marlene Lerch's feet in the sink. By request or was it Saturday? . . . We see Earl Bartling has joined us in the forbidden area. . . . Jim McGill is kind to dumb animals. He lets mice eat his lunch. . . . Dee Baker is spending the week in Schenectady, N. Y. . . . From now on Murray Sherman is known as the "Aba-daba Kid." . . . For singing lessons, see Moe Felger. . . . Lillian Mallo got ready for work Saturday morning and thought it was Friday. . . . Happy birthday, Bernie Ternet. . . . Congratulations, Al Rieman, on your new son-in-law. . . . George Brehm wishes Elvira Romary luck on her vacation. . . . Jasper Rainey has the new two-tone look. . . . Why does Gordon Stinison eat two helpings of potatoes every noon?

Apprentice BROADCAST

by MILDRED ELLIS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Frye on the arrival of Larry Rea. . . . Welcome to Wayne Colby and Paul Berghorn. . . . We were glad to have Bob Smith stop in for a visit. . . . Tom Ahr has been farmed out to Bldg. 17-4. . . . They even forgot the bowl when they cut Bill Smith's hair. . . . Norm Patton is now using a compound solution for his beauty bath. . . . Oh, what great big blue eyes Don Beitz had—until he washed. . . . Mr. Wolf had to make a special trip home because he believes in the law of gravity. . . . The school seems to have a gremlin with a grease gun. . . . Think you have troubles? Don Batchelder was out on a date (in his new convertible) when his car stalled—just as a storm was coming up. It started to pour. They couldn't get the windows closed or the top up until someone came along to give them a push to start the car.

BULLETIN

Candy wagons will be discontinued at the close of the second shift today in Bldgs. 2, 8, 10, 12 and 17. Effective Monday morning, July 9, vending machines will be available in Bldgs. 8-1, 12-1, 17-2, 17-3 and 17-4.

High Spots

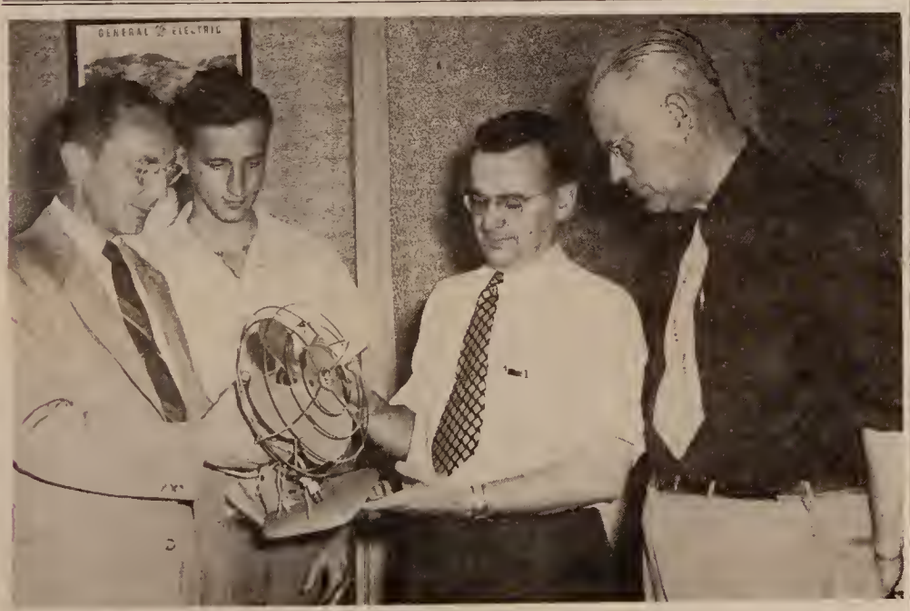
by Marie Fox

This week we bid adieu to Charlene Bly and Janet Crain, and a hearty welcome to Kathleen Emkow. . . . Gloria Cuellar and John Boyers are in line to be welcomed. John agrees that he came to work to support his car. . . . George Seabold is recuperating at his home, 1150 Nuttman Ave., following a serious operation. . . . Clara Outlaw visited her mother last weekend in Southern Indiana. . . . Velma Hetrick has a new granddaughter. . . . Group 15x42 hopes True Sheets is enjoying his vacation. They say, "We are having a good time." . . . Irma Miller got a shock one day this week. She glanced towards her feet and there was a different shade of socks on each foot. . . . Ralph Pettit is enjoying a week's vacation going from one lake to another trying to find the "big ones." . . . While doing a little excavating work in his back yard, Roy Blessing had an exciting experience when challenged by some ferocious and terrifying reptiles, commonly called night crawlers. He says he intends to capture some of the monsters for display, but may need help and protection for the ordeal. . . . Bob Brown spent last week-end in Detroit. He was a guest of the Kiwanis Club, who sponsored a boxing contest. Sixteen Fort Wayne boys matched 16 Detroiters. Bob won his fight. Congratulations. . . . There is at least one man in Washington, D. C. who believes the values of life the Pilgrims had are fuzzy to most people today. Life Magazine featured Senator Fulbright's findings. The senator says that morality has become identical with legality. The big problem in Washington today is on "ethical standards." Senator Fulbright also stated that under guise of friendship, many of our representatives accept favors which offend the law, but are very careful not to violate its letters. I'm wondering if Senator Fulbright expressed the views of many of us.

Pres Slack Appointed Assistant Tournament Director for Event

The Little League District Tournament will be held at Zollner Stadium August 1 and 4, Bob Young, tournament director, disclosed this week. All-Star teams from the four city leagues and the Maumee Valley Section will vie for the district crown, he explained.

Following the district meet, Fort Wayne will play host to the "State Tournament" Aug. 10 and 11 at Zollner's. Teams eligible for the meet will be winners from the Fort Wayne District, the State of Michigan, the Washington, Jeffersonville, Lafayette and West Lafayette Tournament and the Hobart, Whiting, Kokomo and Lebanon match. Mr. Young said there was a possibility that Fort Wayne will also be the scene of the Regional Tournament. The winner will go to Williamsport, Pa., for the Little League World Series Aug. 21 to Aug. 25.



Pres Slack, Bldg. 2-2, has been named assistant tournament director and will also serve as manager of the Northwest League All-Star Team. The All-Star tournaments will be played independently of league games.

Candidates Named

Candidates for the Northwest League All-Star team are: Kem, Snyder, Martin, Konow and Hippenhamer from G-E; Meister, Ausdran, Hetzman, Ware, Dewitte and More, of Allen Dairy; LaPoint, Carpenter, Schoppel, Schenkel and Englehart of Patterson-Fletcher, and Sylvester, Harris, Rieman and Jordan from Inca. Manager Slack said 14 boys will be picked from this list to play in the District Tournament.

G-E was overpowered by Allen Dairy's pitching star, Bob Meister.

Three of our people in the Shipping Section are enjoying vacation this week. They are Herman Ebel, Dorothy Johnson and yours truly. . . . We also have Betty Cartwright, who is going to spend a week in West Virginia. . . . MAILING: We welcome Don Hensler. He graduated this month. We hope you like it here. . . . We bid farewell to Bill Fitzgerald, who went to the factory. Hope you like it there, Bill. . . . We extend our sympathy to Minta Cole in the recent death of her mother-in-law. . . . We had a visitor this week, a former employe, Ed Trabel. Ed is in the army and is spending a 10-day furlough at home. . . . RECEIVING: We're fairly sure that Harry Price is closely related to Dagwood Bumstead. The physical qualification shows no resemblance, but their sandwich building ability is definitely a tie-in. . . . DeWayne Freshwater is an amateur at the art, but he is now raising his own onions, which he uses as the main fill in. Maybe it won't be long and he can compete with Harry. . . . Dorothy McCoy is on vacation this week. She went up in the wilds of Wisconsin on a fishing trip.

July Fourth is safely passed. Now all eyes are focused on July 27. . . . 25TH ANNIVERSARY—Mary Cooper, Bldg. 18-2, celebrated her 25th anniversary with the company last week. Her co-workers presented her with a lovely decorated cake. . . . Susan and Greg, the young ones in the K. W. Michael home, had quite a picnic with the spray attachment on the bath tub one night last week. As a result, Ken Michael has vowed never to attempt to bathe his young son and daughter again—at least not without first donning his bathing suit and somehow protecting the bathroom walls and floor. . . . Marilyn Mattes, Bldg. 18-2, treated the office group with cake last week when she celebrated her 21st birthday, which fell on June 23. . . . DIAMOND—Ruth Beverforden, Bldg. 18-3, startled the office last Tuesday by flashing her diamond from Jack Barth. . . . VACATION—Dudley Snyder and Trudy Wolfe, both of Bldg. 18-5, are enjoying a vacation from their duties. . . . WELCOME is extended to Normalee Bancy, Ellen Murphy, Ernestine Ferguson and James Johnson in the Reproduction group. . . . Erma Lucas, Bldg. 18-5, returned following a nice restful two week' vacation. . . . To Delores Carter, we say, "We are always happy to hear about your experiences in sewing. There are times when this art is absolutely necessary!" . . . GUESTS — Venus Fann and Ruth Maher, Bldg. 18-4, were guests of our Volunteer Fire Department at the safety award dinner held at the Chamber of Commerce last week. . . . BELATED BIRTHDAY to Donna Walters, Bldg. 18-5.

G-E Owls Get Two Wins, One Loss

The G-E Girls' Softball team broke its long losing streak by defeating Auburn, 11-2, last week.

Gallaway opened the scoring for G-E in the second inning. She hit a home run with two on, bringing in the first three runs. Five runs were scored in the third with doubles by Puff and Koldeway. The three remaining runs were scored in the fourth by Nicodemus, Drewett, Getty and Ramer, who hit singles.

Auburn scored two runs in the third on two walks, a single by Stewart and one error.

Koldeway and Drewett formed the battery for G-E, and Auburn's battery consisted of Hinsey and Stewart.

CHAMPEEN' YANNIGANS—Umpire Neil "Pop" Hench (far right) congratulates Capt. Perry Esterline, pilot of the Yannigan softballers, following the 3-2 Yannigan victory over Capt. Mike Trott's Hooligans at the Sixth Annual Decimal Minute Men's Stag held recently at Pokagon Park. Stellar play by Yannigan outfielder Carrol Arnold and "faultless" officiating by Umpire Hench highlighted the furious contest. Following their defeat, the Hooligans challenged the winners to a return game next year. Shown (l-r) are Carrol Arnold, Hugh Neely, Lew Clouse, Howdy Reinking, George Lamhroff, Sam Macy, Ted Hicks, Capt. Esterline and Pop Hench.

The first round of the Owl Golf League is history and the Putters are clinging tenaciously to the lead. They have a plus 56. Hot on their tails with plus 51 are those four-time champion Hot Shots. The Drivers hold third place with plus 25 and the Spoons round out the first division with plus 15.

The highlight of last week's outing was between the leading Putters and the third-place Drivers. Both clubs shot stellar golf, but all was to no avail, since the match ended in a tie. For the Drivers, it was Herman Uhrick and Jim Kuzeff, who led the way with 39 and 40, respectively. Paul Billman chipped in with a 40 for the Putters. That match added more fuel to the fire started by the Drivers.

The Hot Shots pulled up to within five points of the leaders, whipping the seventh-place Bunkers by 16 points. The champs were up to their old tricks in firing a 164 total or 41 average per man. "Wick" led the parade with a 38. Al Horstmeyer and Jim Treese shared low ball for the losers with 48's.

The Spoons held on to fourth place with a seven-point win over the Flags. John Stark led his team with a 40, while Cavanaugh carded 44 to lead the Flags.

A forfeit marred the day's play when the Traps once again failed to show. The Brassies picked up the 10 points.

Cliff Grimes Strikes Out Five When Hower's Shoulder Weakens

by Bill Geist

Harvester, with only eight men, was no match for G-E. The Owls, winning 9-2, used 14 players in the seven-inning contest.

In the first inning, with the aid of five walks and two errors, G-E crossed home plate five times. G-E finished their scoring in the fifth when five hits brought in four runs. Two men were forced at the plate on a fielder's choice.

Harvester scored in the seventh when they bunched three hits, good for two runs.

After their picture was taken June 27, the Owls went on to play their poorest game this season against the strong Indiana Rod and Wire team. Our boys lost, 10-2.

The team was out-hit and outplayed throughout the game. Tiny Baker turned in the feature play of the game when his throw from center field picked Gaddy off at home plate on Feasby's hit.

Inca Splits Double Header

Inca, coming into the league late, played a double header June 28, beating Zollner "A," 6-0, and then losing to G-E, 3-0. G-E, although out-hit by Inca four to two, took advantage of free passes and errors by Inca. The Owls scored single runs in the first, second and third innings.

Bud Hower pitched the first inning. A sore shoulder bothered him, and Cliff Grimes took over the pitching chores in the second. He got tougher as the game progressed and struck out five of the first six men to face him.

Hower's triple in the second, scoring Earl Tipsord, who had walked, was the biggest blow of the game.

Bob threw a one-hitter to blank G-E, 10-0, Friday, June 29.

The game was evenly matched until the fifth inning when Allen Dairy left G-E in the dust with eight runs.

G-E used three pitchers to Allen Dairy's one. Manager Pres Slack said the boys played good ball, but just couldn't catch fire.

'Vagabond King' Elex Club Ducats Still Available

Tickets for Monday night's performance of "The Vagabond King" will be sold at the gate of the News-Sentinel Outdoor Theatre in Franke Park, Elex President Thelma Stone announced today.

Proceeds from Monday's show will be used to send boxes to G-E employes in the armed services.

The performance starts at 8:30 p.m. Miss Stone emphasized that all tickets are $1.20 and that no seats will be reserved.

Contact girls will sell tickets through Monday.

Special buses will leave Main and Calhoun Sts. at 7:30 and 8 p.m. for Franke Park. Buses will also be at the park after the performance for the return trip.

PLEEZA, NO SQUEEZA THE TOOTSIES—A two-ton weight on his foot doesn't bother Boyce Sade now that he's wearing safety shoes. It was a different story a few weeks ago, however, when Boyce suffered a fractured toe when the same load landed on his foot in regular shoes. Robert Kuntz is the unconcerned truck driver.

PAINFUL LESSON . . .

Mashed Foot Encourages Safety Shoe Sales

Truck dock employes in Bldg. 6 are buying safety shoes like hot cakes. The shoe boom is all due to an accident to fellow-employe Boyce Sade, plus some extra push from A. E. Leider, manager of the Production Service Division, and Foreman Ed David.

Most everyone agreed that Boyce was not unusually careless recently when his toes were fractured by two-tons of truck and load. He just wasn't wearing safety shoes and two-tons can do a lot of mashing.

Give Second Show

While Boyce was recuperating, Safety Engineer Herschel Smith re-staged the whole accident with one change in costume—the victim was wearing safety shoes. Boyce, in his regular shoes, had been rushed to the dispensary, but the safety-shod employe went right on working.

All this should have been enough to convince anyone to rush over to the Employes' Store for some foot insurance, but it wasn't.

"Hap" Leider and Ed David decided that the men needed a little personal urging. Hap wrote a letter to each dock employe, reminding them of Boyce's accident and explaining that safety shoes could be bought through payroll deductions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Meanwhile, Ed bought himself a pair of safety shoes and began talking up the good deal at the Employes' Store. He personally delivered Hap's letter to each employe.

Now, more than 50 per cent of the men, doing work like "sadder but wiser" Boyce Sade, are wearing safety shoes.

G-E Begins Negotiations With IUE-CIO

Negotiations between General Electric and IUE-CIO were opened last Friday when Company and union representatives held their initial meeting.

The union repeated its previously published demands and discussed some of them in detail.

Company representatives did not make any counter proposals, but assured the union that its wishes would be weighed carefully and that the Company's position would be developed as the facts of the situation become more clear during the summer.

The next meeting between G-E and IUE-CIO is scheduled for Tuesday, July 17.

It has been quite a long time since our gang has had an item, so here goes some for now. . . . Did anyone see that cloud of dust over the skies last Tuesday evening? It could have been Alvina Doehrman and Ruth Gongaware running to heat the man with the badge from giving them a ticket. Too bad it was after that big feed, as it would have been much eaiser before all of those hot dogs and cake. Those attending the picnic were Gladys Stahley, Edith Venrick, Mildred Hoover, Ruth Gongaware, Margaret McCaffery, Alvina Doehrman and Nena Foster. . . . Herb Jehl is back with us. . . . Margaret McCaffery and Ruth Gongaware left for Bldg. 6-2. . . . Ruth Barnes is busy helping with that new baby at her house. . . . Recent Pay Hikes May Up Benefits

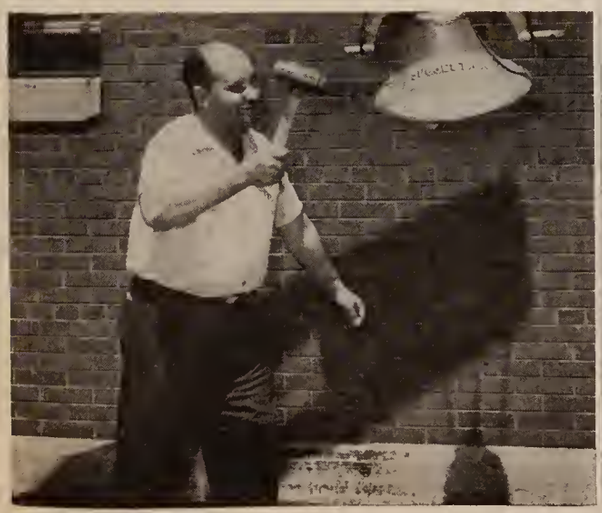
The recent wage and salary adjustments, retroactive to March 15, may mean increased insurance benefits for those who have filed claims since that date, according to an instructions memorandum prepared by the Employe Benefit Plans Department.



The memorandum said that since pay increases were effective March 15, suitable adjustments in claim payments will have to be made for both life insurance and weekly sickness and accident benefits.

Payroll units, the instructions said, will have to review all sickness and accident claim payments for disability commencing after March 15 to determine if the employe's pay adjustment puts him in a higher annual earnings class for insurance benefits. On life insurance, a similar review of claims paid on deaths, which occurred since March 15, will have to be made to determine if additional life insurance benefits should be paid.

The retroactive wage and salary adjustment also may effect the amount of life insurance of pensioners who have retired since March 15.

'Fraid of Friday—Comely Pat Hoover, 20, of Bldg. 18-5, was literally "sprinkled" with hard luck this morning when she passed under a ladder and received a bucketful of cold water on her pretty blonde locks. The lucky feline (lower left) is unidentified. (see dateline at top of page)

Ding, Dong, Dough—Eldon R. Lewis, FHP Motor Div. 17, rang the bell for top suggestion award money the last two months in a row. He earned $415 during June for a suggested change to the pressing-in shafts process. He previously received $410 for the same idea.

$6,345 Paid Employes For Ideas Last Month

June was a banner month for the Fort Wayne Works' Suggestion System. Awards amounting to $6,345 went to 365 employes, the largest number ever to be made here, A. C. Hartman, Suggestion secretary and chairman, reported today.

Eldon R. Lewis, FHP Div. 17, topped the list for the second consecutive month with the largest award. He received an additional $415 for suggesting a change in the method of pressing-in shafts. Mr. Lewis previously received awards amounting to $410 for his suggestion. A total of $1,845 has been paid in awards to Mr. Lewis, who has had 61 ideas adopted out of 178 submitted.

A joint award of $310 was paid to Raymond Huhn and Henry Racks, both of FHP Motor Div. 17. They changed the manner of making shells on unit bearing motors. Their new way eliminated the punching operation.

Olen I. Lehman, Specialty Transformer Div. 94, suggested a new system of stacking transformer coils. He was awarded $290. An award of $220 was given Richard P. Braun, FHP Div. 13, who advised a change in the auto-welder in order to reduce maintenance costs.

An unique idea concerning a new lighting system used in examining and repairing dies brought Jack Schemehorn, Bldg. 19-5, a $155 award. Charles Zolman, Bldg. 17-2, received $140 for an idea involving changes on the stator core insulating machine. His change reduced set-up time. Glenn O. Hoon, General Tool Division, earned $110 for designing a new way of making die bushings.

Waldrop Scores Twice

One hundred dollars were paid to Don E. Waldrop, STAB Div. 94, who suggested a different method of assembling bushings used in transformers. Mr. Waldrop also received $50 for a suggestion pertaining to the hi-pot test. Eugene A. Scherer, STAB Div. 94, was paid $75 for an idea about placing caps in units.

Two people received $70 awards. Hubert Garrison, Danville plant, suggested a way to reduce coil scrap. A General Tool Division employe, Harry L. Mitchell, designed a fixture for spacers. Francis F. Fann, FHP Motor Div. 15, was awarded $60 for a testing idea.

Core Changes Bring $$

Laverne V. Amstutz, FHP Motor Div. 14, earned $50 for a suggestion for turning cores. Fifty dollars also went to Thomas J. Black,

All the World's a Family

"Do you think your brother Pete would like to move here and work at the plant?" Mike asked Nancy as they sat down to supper.

"He's got a swell, steady job of his own," she replied. "But why do you ask?"

"We're going to need about ten more good men for a stepped-up production schedule."

"Fine," said Nancy. "But where will you get the extra steel you'll need? I thought . . ."

"Out of the jungles of Venezuela. It's taken 15 years to get it here, but we finally have it."

"Fifteen years is a long time to wait for some steel," Nancy smiled.

"Not steel, the iron ore to make the steel," Mike remarked. "It took 15 years to bring out the first 26,000 tons of ore, but from now on it'll be easy."

"It must have cost someone a couple of tons of dollars, didn't it?" Nancy wanted to know.

"You bet," answered Mike. "One of the engineers at the plant was telling me all about it. He was there for a while. I asked him to repeat the story to John Stooge, who likes to go around saying that this country has reached the limit of production and all that sort of thing."

"I'd like to hear about it myself," said Nancy.

"Well, as near as I can remember, a prospector found a mountain of iron in the Venezuela jungle, more than 250 miles from a seaport. An American steel company offered to develop it and the Venezuela government said O.K. So all the American company has done so far is to build three towns with modern homes, and free modern hospitals and schools; and paved streets and sewers for about 1,500 Venezuela natives now working for the American company."

"That is taking quite a financial risk to do all that," Nancy commented.

"That is only part of it," Mike went on. "The company also had to build a railroad 35 miles long from the mine to a town on a riverside. Then the company built docks and loading machinery and big barges to take the ore to another port from which bigger ships brings the ore to the United States."

"No wonder it took 15 years to bring out the first load," said Nancy.

"It would only have taken about five, the engineer said, except for a delay because of the war. He also said that the towns the company built are really modern, with plumbing and all—something very few people down there had before the American dollars went to work for them."

"It certainly sounds wonderful," said Nancy. "And it proves that the pioneering spirit is not dead in Americans or in American businessmen. Here a jungle has created industrial jobs for thousands of people, some in plants more than 2,000 miles away."

"And don't forget the farm jobs, too," added Mike.

"What farm jobs?"

"Why, the Venezuelan farmers who moved onto the thousands of acres the company cleared and are growing stuff to sell to the people in the new towns where the iron workers live!"

"Sort of an endless chain, isn't it?"

"Yep, and we've got to keep it endless," said Mike.

Words by Walt

WHY

There are four little words in our language,
We use every day, quite a lot.
When a thing isn't clear
To the eye or the ear,
We question, who, when, where or what.

If anything happens, we want to know what,
And then comes, the how, when and where.
Just interrogation
To get information,
After which, we may not even care.

It's what are you doing, or what did you say?
It's where in the world have you been?
And one of these days,
You may get a raise.
But you'll want to know, how much and when.

It's what or it's how; it's when or it's where;
On these words we have to rely,
To get information
And some explanation,
But, they never tell anyone, why.

What it is,—how it happened and when it occurred,
Or where,—it's important to know.
But we're missing a lot
If we still haven't got
The reason,—or why it is so.

Now the war in Korea; we know what it is.
We are sure when it started and where.
We know how it goes,
But nobody knows
Just why, we must fight over there.

It is claimed that aggression and selfish intent
Are the reasons that millions must die.
That explains quite a lot,
If, we want to know what,
But the question we're asking is, why?

It's why this aggression and selfish intent?
It's why do we act like we do?
The pages of history
Are filled with this mystery,
So war isn't anything new.

We live in a world with spiritual laws,
Given man from the very beginning.
Since the dawn of creation,
There has been violation;
In other words, man has been sinning.

If we'd live as intended and do what is right,
And we could, if we only would try,
There would be no confusion,
Or selfish conclusion,
And no one would have to ask why?

This isn't a theory, founded by facts,
But an axiom, simple and true;
A workable tool,
God's own Golden Rule
So, why do we act like we do?

—W. L. Whonsetler

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Dismissed from Hospital

Louis Palusrak, Annette Thomas, Trulie Nelson, Mathew Jackson, Glenn Billman and Gloria Boling.

Returned to Work

Agnes Vaughn, June Richardson, Martin Mundt, June Martin, Beatrice Misener, Donald Lauer, Mathilda McClain, Harriett Palmer, Irene Shoemaker, Mildred Schoeff, Katherine Siler, Claribell Sapp, Doris Wisniewski, Kathleen Webb, Cletus Ternet, Louis Paluszak, Sharon Lash, Ramon Leffel, Nina Rieder, Frona Witsche, Leonard Beckman, Richard Bierbaum, Ann Gebhart, Waneta Koehlinger, Edna Goff, Bernice Hughes, Leonard Deal, Evangeline Gephart, Alfred Johnson, Wilma Cross, Eileen Curtis, Paul Hapner, Samuel Dailey, Charles Holtsclaw and Opal Ewers.

DID YOU KNOW that H. B. Leach, Bldg. 18-1, enjoyed last week on vacation? I suppose the fish had a hard time of it. . . . Two former Wage Rate girls have presented the world with an addition. Helen Rider Meyer had a daughter and Loraine Wiley, a second son. . . . Lois Miller is enjoying a vacation this week. . . . Robert Houser, formerly assistant superintendent at Decatur Plant and now in California, called on friends in Fort Wayne Plants last Friday. It would seem that the California sunshine has lived up to the claims for it. . . . Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Freeman are planning a vacation at Lake Louise, Glacier National Park and other points of interest in the Canadian Rockies. . . . Herschel Smith, Bldg. 18-3, is looking for some new method or material that will absorb water spilled on chairs. It seems that it could be that the roof leaks over in the Transportation Office. . . Julia Ray, Bldg. 18-1, has a new member in her family. 'Tis a cute little black kitten, still unnamed. . . . Herbert Kammeyer, Bldg. 18-1, has us confused. He was supposed to be on vacation this week, but he has been here most of the time. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wylie are entertaining their granddaughter of Cleveland this week, or it could be the reverse? . . . Delores Carter and her husband were in Chicago for the week-end and attended a performance of "South Pacific" at the Schubert. . . . The girls who are getting ready for the Bermuda trip are so busy getting their wardrobes in order—Thelma Stone however, has had to add a few trips to the dentist to complete her preparation. . . . Ralph Clark has so many trips planned for vacation he just cannot decide which one to choose. We have suggested flipping a coin.

We thought the lead bench was on fire, but it turned out to be Janice Shuff in her fire-engine-red jeans. Real sirenish, they are. . . . Helen Thieme gets a little mixed up on her directions. She knows north and south, but is a little doubtful about east and west. . . . Here is a good fish story. Dale Stalter drove 622 miles after the real big ones. On his return, he reported one lonely little fish. At least, Dale didn't make a big story about the one that got away. . . . Mildred Clevenger was birthday gifted and got so excited she almost drowned in her lemonade. . . . Everyone, save all your candy and peanut wrapper coupons for Barbara Ray. Saving for a bike, Barbara? . . . We hope to see Ann Hershberger back soon. . . . Marjorie Girardot didn't look natural the other day. She came in with a little extra roll at the torso. . . . Was her face red! Vera Neate made a comment concerning anatomy. Little did she know who was standing on the other side of the door. His face was red too, Vera. . . . Congratulations to Doris Stearns, who is wearing a sparkler on the third finger. . . . Zelda Garrison made a slight mistake. She reached in Helen Duff's lunch and was eating it instead of her own. . . . Delores Johnston added another happy year. Happy birthday, Delores. . . . Gary Bertram has found a way to wake up all the assemblers. He simply spills a tote box of cores. It's effective, Gary, but hard on the nerves. . . . Correction: Helen Theime came down to 14 instead of 16. . . . Mystery: What happened to the can of old meat? Evaline says she will know what happened to it if someone is absent. That meat was about six years old.

George Ellison Named Chairman Vet's Picnic

George Ellison, Bldg. 4-4, has been chosen by the G-E World War Veterans' Association to serve as general chairman of the annual family picnic scheduled Saturday, July 21, at Voigt's Retreat. (see map on page 7)

Other committee members are Pat Cristle, refreshments; Clayton Shultz, games, and Bob Bangert and Dick Hurst, food. The picnic is slated to begin at 12 noon and to continue until 10 p.m.

There will be horseshoes and softball, as well as other games.

Entertainment will be furnished by Bill Timme, accordionist. Free refreshments and food will be served, Mr. Cristle said.

Tickets are available for both members and non-members for $1.50 each from contact men.

"Adventures Ahead" Visits U.N. Building In July-Aug. Issue

"Adventures Ahead" visits the United Nations in the July-August issue, which was mailed to subscribers this week. The teen-ager magazine takes the Dixey family of the Trumbull Electric Manufacturing Company, through the world-famous sky-scraper in Manhattan.

The current issue also contains many other articles on hobbies and vacation ideas, such as bicycle trips and camping, advance sources reveal.

"Adventures Ahead" is published bi-monthly on free subscription basis for teen-age boys and girls whose parents are employes of General Electric. Those interested should contact Marguerite Fenner, ext. 2365, for subscription information.

H. M. Stephenson

W. M. Rowan

H. M. Stephenson, W. M. Rowan Receive Patent

Hugh M. Stephenson and Wyval M. Rowan, design engineers in Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions, have been granted a patent on an improved roller clutch, Company sources have disclosed.

Reduced friction, due to use of a magnetic roller, is one of the principle advantages of the invention. The U. S. Patent Office has granted two claims of originality for the patent. The award was Mr. Stephenson's 30th and Mr. Rowan's first patent.

Mr. Stephenson is a graduate of Ohio Northern University and has 30 years of service in FHP Motor Engineering Divisions. He is now a group leader in the Development Division.

Mr. Stephenson is married and has one child. They live at 1002 Northwood Blvd.

Purdue Grad

Mr. Rowan graduated from Purdue University with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering in 1942. After being on the Test Course at Fort Wayne, Schenectady, Erie and Pittsfield, he joined the AC Motor Engineering Division in 1946. He was transferred to his present assignment June 19, 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowan have two sons and live in Waynedale.

Fort Wayne Scouts to Swap FHP Motors at Jamboree

General Electric fractional horsepower motors, manufactured here, will be part of the "swapping" swag four Explorer Scouts will have with them when they leave today for the International Scout Jamboree at Bad Ischl, Austria. H. B. Carter, assistant manager of engineering, presented the boys last week with 5,000 rpm, 115 volt, 60 cycle universal motors to exchange for souvenirs with Scouts from 26 nations.

The four scouts are Louis Mangels, 16, Charles Ray, 15, Richard Lehman, 15, and Gerhard Salinger, 16. "Swapping" is part of the emphasis placed on learning customs and practices of foreign Scouts, with the hope that permanent friendships will be made at the jamboree camp, the boys explained.

Each nation represented at the seventh world meeting of the International Boy Scout Association will present a show depicting its development. The United States group will portray Indian customs and lore and the growth of the U. S. from early pioneer days. Also in line with the theme, a typical "American" breakfast will be served. The menu will include such items as pancakes, sausages and doughnuts.

The Scouts will travel as an independent unit, with clergy, doctors and commissary personnel. Food will be bought in Europe.

The four boys will sail from Hoboken, N. J., today aboard the S. S. Argentina. After a stop-over in Algiers, they will dock at Naples before visiting Rome, Florence and Venice. They will attend the jamboree from Aug. 3 to Aug. 13.

Following the jamboree, the 650 American Scouts will travel to Munich, Strasbourg and Paris, arriving in Cherbourg Aug. 19 in time to return home aboard the S. S. Homeland.

G-E Apprentice Grads Will Mark 50th Year of Training Program

One of the biggest events of the year on the General Electric calendar will be a three-day celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Schenectady Works Apprentice Training program. October 5, 6 and 7 have been set aside for the big affair in Schenectady.

Each of the more than 3,000 graduates of the Course who can be contacted will be invited to attend. These graduates are now located all over the country, many of them here in the Fort Wayne Works.

A half-century is a long time, and plans are under way to make this celebration one of the biggest ever. The three-day affair will open with the registration of alumni, followed by entertainment and music by Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra at the Schenectady, New York State Armory. Also on the docket is a giant outing to take

A. F. Vinson to Manage Employe Relations For Small Apparatus

The appointment of Arthur Vinson as manager of Employe and Community Relations of the Small Apparatus Divisions has been disclosed by Nicholas M. DuChemin, general manager of the Divisions. Mr. Vinson will make his headquarters at the River Works in Lynn, Mass.

Mr. Vinson joined the General Electric Company on the Test Course here at Fort Wayne. He later served here as process engineer, DC Motor section head, and inventory control supervisor.

From 1939 until 1945, he held the position of assistant production manager. Mr. Vinson was then transferred to Schenectady as assistant production manager of

BUILDING SURGEONS HERE . . .

Out-of-town Boys Lift G-E's Face

SCAFFOLD ENGINEERS—The water-proofing experts patching the rough edges of the Fort Wayne Works are (l-r) Foreman Andy Gentile, Joe Mahuo, Tony Catner, Ralph Colone, Phil DiMaggio and Babe Gentile. Now working on Bldg. 4, the boys plan to spend "many months" giving the plant here a good retread job. (see story at right)

Those occasional snatches of operatic arias drifting down from the scaffolds on Bldg. 4 come from the throats of six water-proofing engineers, who are busy giving a face-lifting to G-E buildings here.

After time and the weather have taken their toll in brick cornices and cement chips, Foreman Andy Gentile, his brother, "Babe," Ralph Colone, Tony Catner, Joe Mahuo and Phil DiMaggo go to work. Under the supervision of R. L. Whitaker, Bldg. 20-2, they clean broken parts and make the cement ragged. Then by a chemical process, they wash it off and re-cement the patches.

Experienced Team

Their job of patching cement and "pointing up" bricks takes years of experience. Working sometimes as high as 40 to 60 stories in the air, their jobs are hazardous as well as skilled.

The firm handling the work is the A. C. Horn Corporation of Long Island, N. Y., and is the only business of its kind in the country. The six man team working on Bldg. 4 has repaired buildings all over the country, including many G-E Works, such as Schenectady, Erie and Decatur.

Andrew, Babe, Joe and Phil are from New Jersey. The former two learned their professicn from their dad. Rocky Colone and Tony Catner are both from Detroit.

The boys expect to be patching up the Fort Wayne Works for many months.

It seems the "Aba-Da-Ba Honeymoon" is quite the fad in the Switch Section. Gladys Pantazin is having hers this week in the Windy City. . . . Maurice Roe is spending a week's vacation fishing in Michigan. . . . Several have been wondering how Clark Holmes and Bob Henry manage to find their pipes in the morning. They are strong enough to walk away. . . . Cozy Walper is anxiously awaiting the dog stork. . . . Carl Riedel has been entertaining his aunt from New York. . . . Does anyone have a good Model T? Noel Bolinger would probably swap his Buick even. . . . Ollie Ragan entertained company from Covington, Ky. . . . We thought Beverly Numbers was blushing when she came to work Monday. She had been to Lake James and had a nice sunburn. . . . Our sympathy to Louie Watt on the death of his brother. . . . Ruth Peek spent the week-end in Chicago and attended the show "South Pacific." . . . Mabel Kaufman spent the week-end in Toledo with her husband who is on vacation. . . . Will someone tell Harold Fletter where everyone goes at 3:18. . . . Anyone wanting trucking done, local or long distance, call Ed Bandt. He has a new truck service known as "The Little Red Wagon Express." . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Guethler on the birth of a son. . . . Sydonna Fox, her son and parents motored to Rochester Sunday. They brought her daughter, Arlene, home after two weeks in camp. . . . Notice—Anyone wanting lake information contact Ed "Finney" Brockhall. You can get the latest dope on where they are biting and also on fishing equipment. Please place your orders early for fresh fish. . . . Elinor Laux and Sydonna Fox are very good bidders at an auction sale. It really pays to have them around. Did the auctioneer give you a bonus, girls?

DMM'S, Elex Partizans to Hold Outing at Pokagon State Park

G. C. Arnold, secretary of the Decimal Minute Men, has announced plans for the organization's annual Family Picnic Sunday at Pokagon State Park.

Mr. Arnold said the park has good picnic facilities, a fine beach for swimming and sun-bathing, as well as beautiful scenery for camera enthusiasts. Games and prizes for both children and adults will be provided.

Each family is requested to bring their own sandwiches, one covered dish, and one of the extras such as potato chips, pickles, olives, or celery for the pot-luck dinner. The club will furnish ice cream and soft drinks.

The group will meet at 12 noon near the Park Shelter House.

Elex Promises Many Treats At Park Social

Cotton candy will be one of the unusual features of the Elex Club's Old-Fashinoned Ice Cream Social Tuesday in McCulloch Park, Elex President Thelma Stone said today.

The social, under the sponsorship of the Elex Defense Committee, will open at 2:30 p.m. and will remain open throughout the evening. Stands will be set up along park walks to sell hot dogs, cotton candy, popcorn, sloppy joes, homemade cake, ice cream, crackerjack, coffee and soft drinks.

The committee has asked members for cake donations to be used in the ice cream booth. Elex girls from Taylor St. should leave their cakes with Evelyn Blakely in the Women's Activities Office there. Broadway members may leave cakes at either the Lindley Ave. or Broadway gatehouses, or at the Women's Activities Office, Bldg. 18-3. Winter St. members should leave cakes in the Winter St. Reception Room.

All tickets are 10 cents each and are available from contact girls. Tickets will be good at all concessions. Elex members who bring their children will be given special tickets the day of the social. Members must accompany each child and must have membership cards with them.

Heading the various committees are Mary Zirkle, Bldg. 4-3; Avenel Stanton, Bldg. 26-2, and June Allgeier, Bldg. 4-4.

The Partizan Chapter of Elex will hold an outing for members and their children at Pokagon State Park Tuesday, July 17.

Transportation will be provided for everyone. Members will meet at 8:30 a.m. in front of Miller's Tavern at Spy Run and East State Blvd.

The picnic will be potluck and each member is asked to bring a covered dish.

Serving on the committee are Pauline Gilbert, Edna Tarmer, Phyllis Wagoner, and Lillian Wolfe.

Employes Warned Not to Dispose Of Explosives

Employes were requested today by Safety Engineer Herschel L. Smith not to dispose of inflammable objects in waste baskets. A near-accident occurred this month when an explosive article was carelessly thrown away, Mr. Smith said.

Rubbish at both Broadway and Taylor St. is burned in large incinerators and inflammable or explosive articles create a considerable hazard, Mr. Smith explained. Cans or bottles of paint, lacquer and thinner, or empty bottles of nail polish remover are all items which may explode when exposed to heat.

G-E House of Wonders Show to be Presented By Sports Club at Oliver Lake, July 20

The General Electric House of Wonders Show, sponsored by the Oliver Lake Fish and Game Club, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday, July 20, at Limberlost Camp.

The show will be open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

The House of Wonders Show, produced by the Works Laboratory under the direction of Claude Summers, features various scientific place at the Altamont Fair Grounds near Schenectady on October 6, with more music, entertainment and a mountain of refreshments. A nationally-known speaker has been invited to attend. The closing day will find the alumni back at the Armory for a banquet and another renowned speaker.

The approximately 200 young men now undergoing training in the Apprentice Course in Schenectady will also be invited, as well as representatives from Apprentice Courses in other G-E plants.

First Grad to Attend

Earliest graduate of the Course expected to attend the reunion is Frank A. Lange, who was a member of the first graduating class in 1903. Mr. Lange, who graduated as a machinist, lives in Scotia, N. Y.

The work of contacting the more than 3,000 graduates is now going on. In some cases, the Reunion Committee has had only a ten or twenty-year-old address to start with and has had to trace back through three or four addresses before locating the alumnus. Any Schenectady apprentice graduates who want further information on the reunion can contact D. W. King in Building 41, Schenectady Works.

The post-war year of 1946 has been the only year since shortly after the turn of the century that the Apprentice Course didn't have a graduating class. Today, many apprentice graduates hold responsible positions in the Company. Foremen, supervisors, draftsmen and machinists all have many alumni in their ranks. In addition, others now hold responsible positions in other companies or are heading their own businesses.

Albert L. Rohrer, an assistant to the works manager back in 1901, is credited with having suggested the establishment of the Apprentice Course. In contrast to today's program, the earliest apprentice trainees worked without vacation for 52 weeks a year at rates ranging from 7½ to 10 cents an hour.

Today's apprentices may take courses for draftsmen, machinists, wood and metal patternmakers and molders. Their course includes 7,500 hours of combined classroom and shop work and lasts for about 3½ years. To be eligible, young men must be between 18 and 25, in good health and high school graduates.

Welch to Head Rotary

John Welch, Decatur Plant manager, was installed as president of the Decatur Rotary Club at last week's regular meeting. The installation of new officers was conducted by the retiring president, Wilbur Petrie.

Kids Made News This Week

Real Big, Daddy!—Works Manager Ab Martin blows up a great big balloon for two of the little Martins at the G-E Squares Family picnic. With Mr. Martin (l-r) are Ada Deitz; Judy, age 8, and Richard, age 4. The Squares' and Test Engineers' outing was held in McCormick Park last Saturday for all members and their families. Other G-E picnics on the July schedule are the World War Veterans', Saturday, July 21; the Decimal Minute Men's, this Sunday, and the Elex Partizan Chapter's, Tuesday, July 17.

Baseball Beaux—Autographs from two of her favorite G-E Little Leaguers are a thrill for Norma Hattendorf, nine-year-old daughter of Bill Hattendorf, Bldg. 12-3. The first taste of fame makes it a big moment, too, for Eddie Evans (center) and Jack Hoppe. G-E won last Friday night's game from Patterson-Fletcher, 8 to 5, when ace hurler Bobby Snyder pitched and won his first game.

Scouting For Swaps—Four Explorer Scouts, bound for the International Scout Jamboree in Austria, received universal small motors from G-E as "swap" items this week. Shown (l-r) are: Richard Lehman, H. B. Carter, assistant manager of FHP Motor Engineering, Gerhard Salinger, Louis Mangels, and Charles Ray. All the scouts are South Side High School students. (story on page 3)

End of a Perfect Day—At the close of the G-E Squares' and Test Engineers' Picnic, these tired but happy kids (below) were full of ice cream, hot dogs and pop. The looks on the children's faces convinced the committee that the affair was a success.

G-E DEATHS

pensioner dies

Last Rites Held Mon. For Alva Gard, 63

Funeral services were held Monday at the Klaehn Funeral Home for Alva Gard, 63, who died Friday night in his home at 636 Second St.

Mr. Gard was first employed by the General Electric Company in 1917 as a coil varnisher in Bldg. 19-2. With the exception of a few months at Winter St., he worked as a coil winder in Bldg. 19-2 until his retirement in 1948.

Surviving are his widow, Katherine; a son, Cedric, of Kendallville; a sister, Mrs. Mattie Butler, of LaOtto, and four brothers, Melvin, of Angola; John of Ligonier; Howard, of Wawaka, and Walter, of Huntington.

The Rev. Edward Ouellette officiated at the services.

Heart Attack Fatal To David Lewis, 57

A heart attack was fatal to David Lewis, 47, 625 Lillian St., Sunday at his cottage at Brown's Point, Lake George.

Mr. Lewis had lived in Fort Wayne for 29 years and had been a grinder in the Tool Room since 1922.

Survivors include his widow, Annie; two sons, Douglas D. Lewis, who is in the armed forces, and Bernard Lewis, of Fort Wayne; two daughters, Miss Olive Lewis, and Mrs. Henry Robert Hunsche; one sister, Mrs. Douglas Chapman, all of Fort Wayne, and four grandchildren.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Trinity Episcopal Church with the Rev. George DeGraff officiating. Burial was in Greenlawn Memorial Park.

Art Rowe returned from his vacation with a golfers tan. We assume that Art had a fine time while vacationing. . . . Attention Popeicle eaters: Ginny Winegart (also an ardent popcicle eater) is saving the wrappers for some of the prizes. 'Tis rumored that she's after a "Lone Ranger Compass" to help her find her way around her new house. . . . Salone Hunter starts her vacation next week. She and Scott are planning two weeks in Minnesota. . . . Lou Behm won the rolling pin throwing contest at the recent Squares Picnic. Now we know where Joe got all those black and blue marks. . . . Wendell Hughes has more than one reason to complain of "being in the red" when it comes to golf scores. . . . After only three weeks on test, Ken Meerdink was called to the service. . . . We welcome a new test engineer who is on his first assignment. Vance E. Miller, who graduated from South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, hails from Groton, S. D. Vance states that he is free, white, 21 and eligible for the draft. . . . Probably the biggest news event of the week was the fact that Wendell Hughes finally cleaned out his desk. There is no doubt that those lost prints, requisitions and other data which Wendell "had never seen" finally turned up.

Vacationing

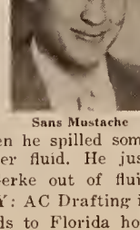
Happy birthday to Georgie Mechling, H. R. Berkey and Paul Klage. . . . Vi Haiber seems to be having mouse trouble. The trap was set, and the mouse was caught. The mouse was smart enough to carry himself and the trap back to the complete files. Finding a hole in the floor, he proceeded to make a get-away. Tony Korsen came to Vi's rescue and immediately was down on his hands and knees reaching at arm's length. We are sorry to report that it got away. . . . We received a card from Phyllis Crace saying she participated in a Fourth of July parade in San Francisco. . . . Robert Gebert, now serving in Uncle Sam's Army, spent the week-end in Fort Wayne. . . . RECEIVING: Anyone interested in big game hunting, contact Sam King. Sam is organizing an expedition to go bear hunting. Bob Kurtz and his toothless hound, Wheezer, will be on hand. Wheezer will "tree" the bears, and Bob will be a decoy. Carl Zieh is small enough to crawl in the brush and scare the bears out. Wherever Wheezer can't squeeze through, Kurtz will aet as a decoy. Paul Thomas will serve as an extra decoy in case Kurtz meets up with a hungry bear. Joe Rygowski will be a guide, and will also earry the bears baek to camp. . . . Most everyone takes vitamins these days, but Dr. DeWayne Freshwater is giving the fish at Blue Lake a speeial tonic. He is either trying to build up their appetites for fish bait, or feed them for their old age. . . . TELEGRAPH: We welcome Arlene Diller. . . . Helene Nelson is sporting a new permanent. It looks like there may have been a little cut off. . . . It so happens Telegraph has an aecumulation of material ready to install. When brave Lloyd Stevens was unpacking it, we noticed him a couple feet off the floor, and making a loud noise. Some mice had made a nest, and Lloyd was right in there pitching with both hands. . . . MAILING: Welcome to Bill Fackler. . . . For Rent—One black and yellow halloween eostume, worn once, consisting of pants and shirt to match. See Gene Dockter. . . . Jaek Joseph has returned from his vacation, fishing in Wiseonsin and he reports having had a wonderful time.

Russell Hart Dies After Short Illness

Russel Hart, 48, 714 Barr St., died at 7 a.m. Thursday, July 5, in the Methodist Hospital after a one-week illness.

He began work at the General Electric Company March 26 in Bldg. 4-3.

Surviving is a brother, Elmer C. Hart, of Fort Wayne.

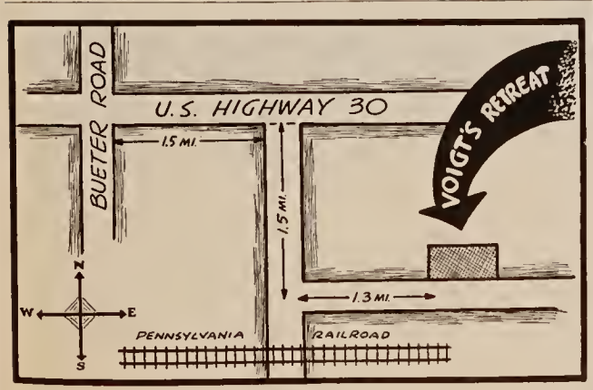


Services were held Saturday at the D. O. McComb & Sons Funeral Home. Burial was in the IOOF Cemetery, Montpelier, Ind.

DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY—Two Large Motor and Generator employes, Floyd Mutton (second from right) and A. A. Fox (second from left), completed serviee reeords at G-E June 25. Mr. Mutton observed his 30th anniversary, while Mr. Fox eompleted 35 years. Several of their friends joined in congratulating the two men. Left to right are Lee Anderson, Mr. Fox, R. M. Hartigan, Mr. Mutton and Charles MeCormick.

GOODBYE AND HELLO: We bid goodbye to K. B. Parks, who joined the Sales group at Taylor St., and roll out the welcome earpet for John Harris. We wish luck to you both. . . . DIVIDED: Gert Koldewey doubts if it pays to be too helpful. She went boat riding with a group of girls who used two boats. In order to balance the load, Gert would transfer from one boat to the other since they were rowing side by side. One time when Gert had one foot in each boat, they parted. When Gert did the splits to the limit of her ability she gave a desperate try for one of the boats. Moral of this story is: Put all of yourself in one boat. . . . NICE GOING: We were proud to see Romana Ireland in "Vagabond King." You did a good job, kid. . . . WELCOME: To Roy L. Balke to our Dev. Div. We hope you will like us. . . . HIGH WATER: Jim Brown ran into some pretty fluid highway traffic Sunday night. In fact, several ears were flooded and Jim didn't get back home until very late. . . . WELCOME: Hello to Neil Hall and Myron Egtvedt, new test engineers in the DC Division. Girls, they are both single. Neil hails from University of Kentucky, and Myron from University of Washington. . . . FAREWELL to Harlan Echtenkamp, who joined the forces at Winter Street for his next assignment. . . . WHO'S FIRST? There is an exciting race going on between the Ray Solgas and Fred Chrusczs. The stork doesn't know which place to stop first. Next week we hope to tell you who won. . . . THIEF! Have you heard that Ray Jones took his line with him? (Telephone line, that is) Need more be said? . . . QUIET PLEASE: Just eall Adolf Strasser the "Tie-man." He received a box of discarded and noisy ties for his birthday from his fellow workers. . . . GET WELL QUICK: We are sorry Helen Conrad is on the sick list and hope she will be back by the time we read this in print. . . . CONGRATULATIONS to the Walter Brakes, who recently acquired a daughter-in-law. . . . JERRY COLONNA? The mustache walking around in the DC Division is hiding no one else but Don Reek. We still know you, Don. . . . DRY CLEANED: Ralph Kaeck got a cheap dry cleaning job when he spilled some of Gerke's lighter fluid. He just about cleaned Gerke out of fluid too. . . . OH, JOY: AC Drafting is keeping the roads to Florida hot. Elmer Sherbondy just got back and Gerke just left. . . . RASSLER: What's this we hear about Jaek Kirlin greasing himself with a pan of melted butter at the wrestling matches? Maybe he was featured as the "Greased Lightning." . . . LAND HO! Chick Kelso is happy to be back to work after two weeks duty on an aircraft carrier. There still is no new fangled way to chip paint and barnacles. . . . GET WELL QUICK: We're looking forward to seeing Jake Sherbondy back at the wheel of his desk. Jake probably will want to work standing up. . . . NAME, PLEASE: Do you see any similarity between the words Kruekeberg and Cook-A-berg? Jean Riedel does.

Sans Mustache



URGENT: Please look in your basements, attics and garages for a pair of crutches to loan to Hank Lantz. He caught a whale of a fish on his vacation last week and it knocked him elean overboard. Now poor Hank has two very bruised legs. . . . Tony Kazelis had a little trouble with his thermos. Last Monday the cap and eork flew off twice on his way to work. . . . HISTORY: History was made just 20 years ago by Maury Cox. He was caught raeing his Model "T" seven times one summer by the same cop. Maury is still having car trouble. He rode the bus last Monday because somebody stole a tire off his car. . . . Congratulations to Helen Brock, who was married. . . . A very welcome hand is extended to Roger Geisman. . . . Jim Hilfiker must have had a big week-end. Friday he came to work with a new Toni. . . . People do all sorts of silly things when they get up late. Last Friday Barb Mertz was in such a hurry she wore a pair of unmatehing hose. . . . George Owens would like to know how many houses there are in a house eoat. . . . We will leave you with two little mysteries. Who was the nice young man seen last Sunday afternoon taking cheesecake pictures of his girl with a new camera? . . . Who put the mouse in Dora Aughenbaugh's drawer?

ONE WEEK FROM TOMORROW IS THE BIG DAY! Are you still planning on attending? Remember if the weather is hot or cold or if it's raining or shining, the big G-E Club picnic will go on. See the display of prizes that will be given away in the Employes' Store showcase. . . . FISH STORY? Waldo Eckrote is reputed to be a good fisherman, but we hear he also takes credit for the catches which his wife and mother-in-law make. Is this a "fish" story, Waldo? . . . ORCHIDS TO ANDY!! It isn't exactly "Emily Post" practice to give orchids to men, but this is my way to give proper praise to Andy Bailey. Andy recently found a wallet with considerable cash in it and immediately returned it to the owner. . . . MARATHON EUCHRE MATCHES! To the casual observer, the noon euchre games in the club room may appear to be only common affairs. But Henry-Herman and Delmas-Walt have played almost daily for about seven years. Another foursome who have been competing for about the same length of time is Sol-Pat and Jack-Hazen. . . . Joe Weber, Bob Bolinger, Norb Hess and George Laurent are among those planning to attend the Yankee-Tiger doubleheader in Detroit Sunday, July 15. . . . GOOD LUCK, TOM: Tom Lister has left us, signing up for four years as an Air Force cadet. . . . We hear that Ray Schott spends his leisure time making cement blocks to build a new home. . . . A change of scenery is enjoyed by Charles Omlor and Eddie Hammond. Charlie is now working nights, while Eddie works days. . . . The Fourth of July was a very full day for Howard Gehrig. He claims they only had five chickens for two couples. . . . After being blinded by the reflection of the sun shining on Ezra's highly polished car, we remarked about how well he kept his car. Ezra replied, "You should see the finish on it when I have it polished. You can't see anything through the thick layer of dust on it now." . . . HOT DOGS! Hot dogs, you can buy them by the pound, by the yard or just the individual dog. But anyone wishing to know how many dogs to a pound, ask Leonard Meyer. He found a pound to be one dog short. . . . As yet we have no clues as to where Helen Britzenhoffe is spending her vacation this year. . . . Betty Reichert has a very interesting hobby which she shares with the rest of us. She raises very pretty flowers. . . . The Bill Holtsberry family, together with the Joe Railing family, are looking forward to a pleasant vacation at a lake resort in Michigan. . . . Ezra Brandyberry is looking forward to another vacation at the same scenic fisherman's haven that he visited last year. . . . Yes, that was Bill Kohls wearing the dark glasses the day following his daughter's wedding. The reason for so doing remains a mystery. . . . A seven pound, 11 ounce, boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Bauman. Mom and Pop are both doing fine. Congratulations. . . . "DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY." "Only 178 shopping days until Christmas," says Tibby Gehrig—"So don't do as I do and wait until the last day." Now, Tibby, are you sure that you have them counted right? . . . Birthday greetings to Margaret Waltke, Hilda Staley, and Rita Wellman. . . . SIDELITES: Norma Bower has a new boy friend. Yeah and he is a sailor. Norma Poorman is still reducing. Yeah, Rosemary is still single. . . . Pat Huser and Joe Booth are taking the week off. . . . In a pretty ceremony at Bryant, Rita Wellman, of Group 7-51, became the bride of Eugene Heimann, Saturday, July 7. A reception was held in the afternoon at the Geel's Music Ranch. Rita's twin brother was married June 30. She claims she was one year older than he when she was married. They must have had a birthday during the week. Best wishes, Rita, and congrats to Mr. Heimann. . . . Margaret Waltke thanks everyone for the lovely gifts and cards she received on her birthday.

Some of the Chrysler men in Group 15 believe the flamingo on Tom Linn's Chevrolet hood is really a carrier pigeon he uses when in need of help. . . . Bob Lovelitte's deep dive story isn't acceptable to some of the fellows. They feel there are too many other ways a man can skin his nose. . . . According to the grapevine, Russell Akers is still playing second fiddle to Benny Beningzer. . . . Since Jack Danks became a press operator, he is giving his poor footsie-wootsies a rest. . . . We were sorry that Ellen Marchenko entered the hospital and will not be with us for a while. . . . We welcome Sonia Kuehn. She will be here in Ellen's absence. . . . Why is it that those who can't swim always play in the deepest water and those who can least spare their hair must pull hair? . . . Ed Haas is a man who is quite fond of the inspector's job. He is very pleased to know they haven't found a broom yet he can handle.

We're hoping all your vacation plans are complete and that there are no last minute slip-ups. . . . Mary Burkholder and Mae Lacey finally joined the "cropped tops" (short hair cuts to you). . . . Howard Brooks has joined the bandaged ankle club. Both he and Blanche Allen are charter members of the club, and all you must do to join is sprain an ankle. . . . Clarence Nussel has been chief cook and bottle washer at his house for the past few days and discovered that the cooking part isn't so easy. In fact, he couldn't even make toast without burning it. He didn't say what he did with the dirty dishes. . . . Our new vending machines are doing a brisk business, but the guys are trying to decide where they can keep a cow up here. They miss their milk. . . . Betty Raucci is the flighty type, or so we're told by the eashier in Bldg. 16-1. After giving Betty change for $10, she walked away with both the change and the double fin. . . . The welcome mat is out to two new TE's. Both are from the great State of Texas. Calvin Pigman is from Odessa and has been with G-E one year. He came to us from Fitchburg, Mass. By the way girls, he's single. . . . Then we have Milton Kluck, who hails from Marlin. He is enjoying his third week in Fort Wayne and also his third week with G-E. . . . We also welcome three new apprentices: Thomas Ahr, Norman Patton and Robert Silk. . . . Our prize boner of the week was pulled by our editor. She called Mr. Stock on the telephone and said "Hello, this is Emmy—may I speak to Maxine?" . . . If anyone has an appropriate name for a trailer court, please contact Virginia Harris. . . . Art Blume returned from his third week vacation. Most of his time was spent in being a baby sitter for six youngsters, taking them to Detroit to a ball game and playing nursemaid for his youngest son, who cut his hand on a mower.

Frenchy LeGras went cherry picking during his third week of vacation. He climbed the tree like a veteran forest ranger and the large, luscious cherries began filling his basket. Then the lady who owned the tree appeared on the scene armed with a broom. A hasty dismount from the tree and a strategic withdrawal to parts unknown kept a few broom straws out of Frenchy's rear guard. . . . Happy birthday to Barney Heaston. . . . If anybody has any questions about gardening, see Johnny Anspach. Last week he brought in three yellow podded wax beans. Could that be all he had to bring in to display? . . . We extend get-well wishes to Edwin Rodenbeck's wife, who is in the hospital. . . . Dale Fredericks has a new formula for mixing paint. The bail came off the paint can and the paint dropped on the sidewalk. Freddy sat down and held the can so the paint couldn't run out. When he lifted the can up, the paint went all over. Then he dipped the paint back in the can with a spoon. We suggest you get a patent on mixing paint, Freddy.

Inquiring Reporter:

"IF THE 'CEASE-FIRE' IS EFFECTIVE IN KOREA, DO YOU THINK THERE SHOULD BE A LET-UP ON OUR DEFENSE MOBILIZATION?"

VIOLET SCHNEIDERS
Taylor St.

"A lot will depend on the resultant agreements which follow the 'cease-fire.' The United Nations must build up an adequate defense against subsequent aggression. Our taxes are at as high a level as our economy will permit. If defense spending must continue, it should be offset by reducing other government spending."

GLENN ROBINETT
Bldg. 26-2

"If the cease-fire in Korea is effective, trouble will probably break out in Iran or some European country. I say keep up the draft and mobilization program. With good management by government and industry, there shouldn't be any need to raise taxes."

ED WAHL
Bldg. 19-3

"No!—Our freedoms are at stake. 'Cease-fire' would be only a lull in the slightly-changed pattern designed by Soviet leaders. Prudent economy and less political corruption might stop a tax increase. When the die is cast, whether in three or 30 months, the draft will prove its worth."

HAROLD A. PROUGH
Bldg. 17-2

"Definitely not. Any let-up in our defense mobilization would be a drastic mistake. I think the draft is a particularly vital part of our defense which must be continued. I feel defense spending could continue at its present level, or even higher, without any great increase in taxes."

CONNIE KEARNS
Bldg. 21

"To enable us to successfully deal with a situation similar to Korea in any one of the other danger spots in the world, defense mobilization should be continued at a high level. Taxes should be sufficient to support the defense effort on a pay-as-you-go basis."

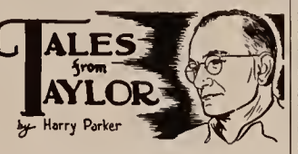
THANK YOU NOTE

MEMBERS OF THE ELEX CLUB—Wish to express their thanks to all G-E organizations and friends who supported the Elex-sponsored performance of "The Vagabond King" Monday night.



We wish a very speedy recovery to Ernie Raypole's wife, who underwent surgery over the week-end. . . . Vera Fletcher says they are finally back to living again, now that the children are back home. . . . Kenny Will went to Michigan fishing over the week-end and was quite glad to get back home after the storm we heard all about. . . . Nellie Williams visited Cement City, Mich., over the week-end. . . . Florence Weimer was pleasantly surprised to see her daughter and husband over the week-end. . . . Maxine Herbst tried to find a lake over the week-end, but only ended up in town. . . . Kenny Martin doesn't think he wants a vacation this year after seeing all those wrecks on his way home from Milwaukee. . . . A very speedy recovery to Kathleen Clark. . . . Olka Johnston got caught in the rain on the lake Saturday and had to be towed in. . . . Ruby Chrystler was surprised when she opened her birthday present. We also wish her son a speedy recovery. . . . John Holloway is so interested in his first-aid class which is held on Monday and Thursday that he also goes on Wednesday. . . Beulah Howard was transferred to 6-2 this week. We will miss you, Beulah, but wish you a lot of luck. . . . Fern Smith is going on nights. We'll also miss you too, Fern. . . . A speedy recovery to Clara Nicholson. . . . Virginia Reed came into work late Monday. She says she turned her alarm off and went back to sleep. To top it all off, she put her clock card in the box that night. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCague, who are the proud parents of a baby girl.

It wasn't enough that Vi Elliott asked Cathy Traughber to bring her some milk from the candy lady. She wanted Cathy's milk too. . . . Barbara Tschannen spent last week-end at Fort Custer visiting her fiance. Barbara also had a birthday this week. . . . Opal Bratton had a wonderful surprise party celebrating her birthday. Her husband, Larry, planned it and certainly was a perfect host. . . . A surprise birthday party for Unis Taylor was held last week. The girls in 1x79 had a potluck lunch in her honor. . . . We welcome back Mary Gerard, who has been ill for about a month. . . . We welcome Opal Ewers back to 1x29 after an illness. . . . Modene Smith is quite a painter these days. Get a little more in your hair, Modene, and you'll look like George Washington. . . . When Chrissie Commier returned home the other night, she discovered that someone had broken into her apartment and she saw that water was leaking from somewhere. Imagine her astonishment to discover that the break had been caused by the Fire Department! . . . Since Jake Kugler got his new teeth, he has been wearing them at home in a glass more than in his mouth! . . . Don Mason caught two live mice here at work the other day and he took them home to use for fish bait. He went out to the gravel pit at Waynedale, but he caught nothing with the mice. One of them drowned and the other got off the hook. . . . Leonard Floyd came back from Northern Michigan, but he didn't bring any trout with him. . . . Bob Black always takes Dale McMacken along with him to row the boat. . . . Ivan Parrish almost did a strip at the stag at Ralph Mennewisch's. Accidents happen to the best of us, Ivan! . . . We like Flora Crawford's new device. Her steel was always falling off the table. Now she has a string attached and she just pulls it right back on her table. . . . Ruth Tutwiller was all set to eat a good piece of pie. She gave Amanda Longwell the money to bring her a piece when she came back from lunch. Amanda forgot and Ruth settled for an ice cream bar!

Our "We wish you happiness" mat is out for Lester Keister and Grace Shanabarger, who said "I do" last Saturday. . . . The sparkle in Mary Lou Regan's eyes is caused by the diamond—third finger, left hand. . . . Happy birthday: Augusta Boehm, Leona Scott, Connie Harris, Bertha Bertsch, Mary McMonigal, Mildred Briggs and Evelyn Chapman. Evelyn's co-workers had a potluck for her. She also celebrated her fifth wedding anniversary. . . . Third week vacationers last week were Kate Weigele, Pete Heckler and Paul Nelson. . . . Jane Bauermeister was happy last week. Her sailor husband called from the West Coast upon arriving from Japan. . . . Frances Eckrote entertained company from Florida. . . . So long to Forrest Mulvane, who has left for the navy. . . . Doyle Roe has a crop of shining curls. He says, "It's a Toni." . . . Lora Summers tried to plaster her dogs. She began to mix plaster and water instead of dog food. . . . Mary Secrist needs a few more hands. She tried to carry an ice cream cone and wedges and hold up her apron at the same time. . . . Hilda Smith spent last week-end in LaCrosse, Wis. . . . Beverly Krieger attended the White Sox game in Chicago. . . . Dorothy Blume's youngest son lost part of a finger in the power mower. . . . Anne Kensill is getting ready for her trip to Miami, Fla. . . . If you thought Ellen Schaper was very quiet, she has had molar trouble. . . . Something new has been added — vending machines. Ivah Grandstaff has figured why they have mirrors on the candy machines. You can look at yourself before getting candy. If you are putting on weight, you can walk away. . . . Eunice Zehr sat down to relax. The next thing she knew she had fallen off the bench. . . . Mary Wright had Friday the 13th a week early. She spilled the milk; the coffee upset, and she lost her lunch. . . . Congratulations to Harold Kiel on being with G-E 25 years. We can't understand why he had to make two trips to get his picture taken. . . . Florence Lea had a toy horn and was playing "Cruising Down the River on a Sunday Afternoon." Edith Bohde helped with her vocal cords. . . . Virginia Pelz and Lucy Alexander have been having alarm clock trouble. . . . We hope by the time this goes to press, Bertha Bertsch's daughter will be improved. . . . There an Indian fakir in Bldg. 17-3. Billie Beeth thinks it's no trick at all to walk on razor blades all morning.

That old crate that Don Arnold drives has been causing him considerable anxiety. One thing after another goes wrong with it. Last week he tried to enter it in the ancient car display held in conjunction with a picture which was then running at the Clyde Theatre which used a lot of these old timers in the story. Don's car, being a late 1936 model, was ruled out. If it had been an early 1936 job, he could have entered it. Disappointed by this setback, he has decided to enter it in the junker races being held at a local speedway. . . . Ward Grim has just returned from a week's vacation. Most of it was spent at his cottage at Lake Papakeechie. He drove to Michigan City for the sole purpose of looking over Lake Michigan. He had never seen this body of water. Hearing that it was twice as big as Lake Wawasee, he was anxious to take a look at it. Ward was somewhat surprised as to its size and opined that Wawasee was a mere mill pond in comparison. . . . Last Sunday was Mable Miller's birthday. A big picnic was planned by her relatives and friends and was staged at Pokagon State Park. A tremendous amount of good food was on hand. Everyone enjoyed it, especially Mable, who received a special gift from Frank Phillips and his wife. The gift was a peck of fried chicken necks. Being a chicken neck fan of long standing, she really gave up on this one and came forth with the statement that she never wants to see the neck of any fowl.

by Marie Fox

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer DeVaux are the proud parents of a nine pound baby boy. Mother and son are doing fine. Father is expected to recover. . . . Mary Mowery moved from this fair city to a new suburban home. . . . Willis Mertens says thanks, everyone, for the gifts and cards his son, Steve, has gotten. . . . We would never have recognized the picture of Mark Brindle the other day if he hadn't told us who posed. . . . For one person to eat six and one-half dozen bananas in one hour sounds a little fantastic, but Leonard Luther is looking for a challenger. If he loses, Leonard will pay for the bananas and a dollar to boot. . . . Roman Niebel is enjoying a week's vacation at his cottage at Lake Wawasee. . . . It was a happy birthday for Ruth Walda, who enjoyed a shower of cards. . . . Ralph Calvert also enjoyed many good wishes on his birthday. . . . At a banquet of the YWCA Co-Ed Camera Club held at the YWCA, Mariam Valentine was awarded a gold engraved cup given for high points in the contact class (small prints).

Beverly Willig swung a wicked hatchet and cut her shoe. . . . Willard Lenz practically left his razor run all night. He had to come to work early. . . . Ray Scheibel was almost late for work the other morning. Ray was looking for his glasses only to be informed by his wife that he was wearing them. Since that we hear Ray has had his glasses changed. . . . Carmella (Muscles) Raucci can beat anyone but her new file. . . . A little memo for the office: Don't forget the picnic Sunday, July 15, at Pokagon State Park. Be there from 7 a.m. until noon. . . . Chris Starke isn't much of a TV fan, but we'd like to inform him that Tagtmeyer isn't a TV star. . . . Anyone wanting a good recipe for coffee—ask Mabel Moore. . . . We wonder who Gertie was so anxious to meet Friday that she was all ready for lunch at 10:30. . . . Congratulations to Mary Thomas, who became a bride June 30. . . . Charlie Adams seems to have trouble keeping track of Mae. . . . Bob Thomas said he was so warm the red lead melted in his pencil. . . . Some of the folks are worried about the last of July for Bob. . . . Anne Wible, if you call the right number you may get the right party. . . . We hear that Tony does have a nickname. It's dreamboy. . . . Art Pequignot got so cold at the Fourth of July celebration that he put potato chip boxes around himself.

We have suddenly discovered a cute little baseball player, Barbara Schuckel. She has played first base for St. Johns of New Haven eight years. In addition to being a sports fan, she also does charity work with the State Sunshine Society. . .

Active Barbara

Vi Schneiders, Marilyn Spice and Maxine Householder enjoyed the wonderful hospitality of Joyce Greiser at her cottage at Lake James over the week-end. . . . Judy Krebs enjoys Hamilton Lake breezes nearly every week. However, Audrey Bradefield prefers Loon Lake. . . . A belated happy birthday to Georgie Laurent on her 19th birthday. . . . I'll bet Helen Risser is enjoying her vacation. She gets three weeks. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schlund visited relatives in Elkhart and practically had to swim home. . . . Eileen Ziegler's small son, Harvey, recently discovered how to use a public drinking fountain. Now that seems to be his hobby. Every time he sees a fountain, he must have a drink. . . . Mr. Kruse finally got around to painting the garage. . . . The suggestion awards are really worthy. Norm Wichman received a nice check today for a suggestion concerning a more efficient method of handling the mail. . . . It seems we have a new and novel nickname for Jim Stoiche; "Charlie," because he is so conservative with raw material. Catch?

City, G-E Firemen Learn Side by Side At Annual Fire School Offered Here

Two hundred G-E firemen have completed the first round of training in the annual Fire School, G-E Fire Chief Ernie Hanauer disclosed today. The first training sessions consisted of classroom work and use of various extinguishers, fog applicators, ovens and automatic and hand-controlled sprinklers.

By learning to extinguish large fires in school demonstrations, volunteer firemen gain valuable experience for handling small fires that might occur in the factory, Chief Hanauer explained.

City firemen from Stations 3, 5, 7 and 8 participated in the classes. Chief Hanauer said city firemen were invited to attend so they could become familiar with G-E equipment and its use. The City Fire Department handles G-E calls on the third shift and Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. Combined classes also gave the city firefighters an opportunity to meet and work with G-E firemen, Hanauer said.

Demonstrations were staged in the east yards of Taylor St. Additional sessions of the school will be held the latter part of August and the first of September, Hanauer revealed.

Gene Williams can count the days he has left before retiring on his fingers. He's so excited, as he and his wife expect to take several trips this year. After that, his wife retires from housework. Gene says from then on he is going to do all the housework, cooking, etc. (Then he will really find out what work is!) . . . EARLY BIRDS such as M. E. Edgar, W. R. Boggess, Dee McDevitt and Tevi Miller are either still on or finished with their vacations. Mert Edgar is touring the West with his family. Dee spent a week at Tri-Lakes., while Tevi was keeping the morale up for the sailors on the West coast. . . . WANTED: Anyone knowing where a 1,000 gallon tank can be obtained cheaply, please see Ralph McVay. He claims that since he has installed the "gas saver" on his new Powerglide Chevy, he has to drive off the excess gas every day! . . . Anyone seeing the "Vagabond King" will recognize Bob Wildermuth as the executioner. . . . A WARNING TO Mac McDougal. He had better stay off of his diet of candy or else he will gain the four pounds he claims to have lost. . . . Joan McBride is leaving for Norfolk, Va., next week. Joan has encountered several difficulties making reservations, but let's all hope she makes it and has a wonderful time. . . SO LONG to Charlene Ceh, who will join her husband in Chicago. Sorry to see you go. . . . Donna Hayes visited Paducah, Ky., over the week-end to find out how she would like her future home. Donna likes it very much. It reminds her of dear ol' Indiana, only warmer. . . . Max Harris and Paul Grimmer could have used a boat the other day when the papers blew out onto the roof. I think they just wanted an excuse to go wading. . . . We welcome back Pauline Badman and Ann Jacobson, who have both been on a leave of absence. . . . George Knight just returned from northern Wisconsin with a wonderful tan and three bass. Norm Singleton spent a peaceful (?) week at home with his four children. The dunes welcomed Wilma Jackmeyer and Florence Miller recently. Wilma also spent some time in Chicago, and Grace Merchant recently spent the week-end in the vicinity of Hamilton, O. . . . SHORT BOB FOR HEDGES, Joan Springer went wild with the hedge clippers and the result was a crew cut. . . . These people were a year older just recently: Lois Wilson, July 9; Gert Kasimier, July 10, and a much belated one, July 3, for Evelyn Mast.

By Don Clark

Max Shaw is back on the job after an operation and is feeling fit as a fiddle. . . . Dick Wagner got that nice red nose from fishing on the Fawn River in Michigan last Sunday. . . . Joe Hartman's retirement party produced a couple of good mudders. Joe Mettler and Elmer Sauerwein both stepped between two cars and sank up to their knees in mud. . . . In a few weeks, Ross Cohagen will be on his way to California. . . . We extend our sympathy to the family in the death of Dave Lewis. Always friendly and cheerful, Dave will be missed very much by his friends and co-workers. . . . We also express sympathy to James McFeely in the death of his mother. . . . DIE PLANT! Johnny Schuchhardt has had so much car trouble that he has given up hope. He is now dickering to buy Archie Wright's horse. . . . Ned Greulach and Gus Ansduan must have had good luck installing that pump. They now want to go into the business. . . . Coming back from a cruise in his Cris-Craft, Maury Sordelet bent the propeller when he hit a stump in the channel. Having this fixed, Maury started to search for the stump. He unexpectedly found it, breaking another propeller. This made Maury very unhappy. He doesn't mind fixing propellers, hut now he can't find the stump. . . . Stepping out of his car during a lull in a recent rain storm, George Houser set a new speed record for getting back inside. A big bolt of lightning struck the ground nearby. . . . We welcome Louis Hartman back into the second shift Grinding Section. . . . Have you seen Harold Blauvelt's 10 dollar crop of whiskers? If he shaves before Old Settlers' Day in Monroeville, it will cost him the 10 dollar fine. . . . Julius "Red" Doster has a new method of catching turtles. He first catches a mess of bluegills and places them in a sack under water. When the turtle comes up to eat the fish, he then snags the turtle. . . . When Walter Esterline stumbled carrying five ice cream cones, he only lost one. However, in falling down, he tore his trousers and lacerated his knee. He's no doubt a hero to the kids for saving those cones. . . . In helping his uncle bale hay, Don Alcott dropped one bale in a hurry. A blue racer snake was caught in it. . . . John Neukam now carries an umbrella with him on fishing trips. It keeps off the rain and also works as a landing net. . . . We welcome Louis Palauzak back. He has recovered from a leg infection. . . . John Hensler is enjoying the company of his son who is home from the service this week.

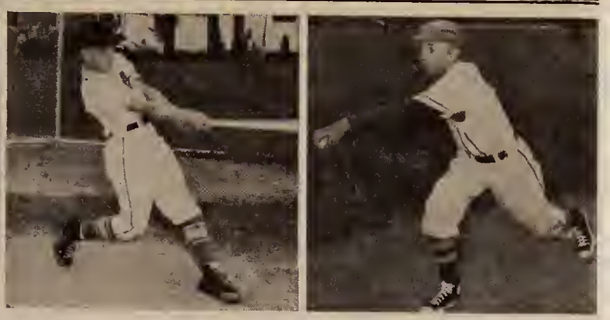
You just never know what you'll run into as you whip around these precarious corners of Bldg. 21-2. I suggest stop lights be put in or everyone yell, "Fore," as they 'round the corners. The other day around the corner came a "thing." The thing was a very long roll of something or other. Along came Art Ordas about five minutes later bringing up the rear. Art had a fairly large print. There was just one section of that print he wanted blown up five times. However, there was a little misunderstanding because the whole print was blown up five times which made it about 12 feet by 20 feet. If you see some rolls of white paper on Art's desk, you will have guessed his solution—He cut it up. . . . There is only one word which adequately describes Margaret Schneider the past few days. That is "beaming." She has a new granddaughter, Margaret Leilani Apostol. Margaret's daughter, Pat, who used to work in Bldg. 31-1, is visiting Fort Wayne from her home in Honolulu. Grandmother, mother and the little "heavenly flower" are all coming along fine. We extend our heartiest congratulations, hoping Leilani may come to G-E sometime and make it a three generation affair. . . . We welcome the Production group. It includes Paul Bohn, Joe Neal, Charlie Townsend, Thomas Costello and Florence Knight, who formerly was employed at the Employes' Store. . . . We don't know exactly what will happen to Jim O'Brien, who used to occupy the office where the new group is located. We will miss him and hope that he doesn't go so far, but that he can return to Bldg. 31-2 often. . . . We have all enjoyed becoming acquainted with Anitra Nelson, who has been taking Devonna Britton's place during her vacation. . . . Charlie Brown will motor to Mackinac Island for rest and relaxation in spite of his three lively children who will probably see to it that he doesn't get it. . . . Ray Atkinson will participate in a pistol match in Denver, Colo., after which he will enjoy the surrounding country. . . . Les Showe tells us that he hasn't planned much, which sounds like a good vacation. . . . New England seems to be luring the Reardons. . . . Glenice Blume is planning to make Pennsylvania her destination. . . . Ginny Mollet, will spend her vacation at Lake George with friends. . . . Dean Shaffer will be visiting Canada, returning by way of Niagara Falls. . . . Mr. Ginder is taking a one-week bus trip to San Antonio, Texas, returning by way of Pensacola, Fla.



What is more exciting than when Garnet Zollinger called the Fire Department? Garnet was in a hurry to leave home and had a taxi waiting for her when the door blew shut and locked. She had to get in for her purse, so she called the Fire Department to get into the house for her. . . . How can poor Maggie Laughlin, Lead Section, stay awake until three o'clock in the morning just to hear the birdies chirp? . . . The Lead Section has a new set-up man, Larry Moore. . . . Anyone wanting information on care of goats, see Don Grepke. . . . Fred Seip is driving a new Chevrolet. . . . Margaret Kenyon attended a reunion Sunday in Ohio. . . . Frances and Carl Kuzeff spent the Fourth at Buck Lake Ranch. . . . Betty Raygowski was fishing with two hooks on her line and caught fish on both hooks. . . . Clara Koomer celebrated her birthday and was presented with a cake and lots of useful gifts. . . . What was all the fun about when Jessie Ohneck bought a rear view mirror? . . . Bob Huhn is busy painting his cottage at Little Long Lake. . . . Margaret Harrison, we work after the Fourth, you know. . . . Geneva Harter and her husband spent Sunday at the Winchester races. . . . Coy Capesius was in Brown County the Fourth. She says everything is beautiful. . . . Mable Shinn spent the evening of the Fourth eating grilled hamburgers at her neighbors. . . . Becky Fogwell attended a golden wedding celebration. . . . Dollie Fodge is a patient at the Methodist Hospital. Dollie, we wish you a speedy recovery. . . . The Charles Drury's spent last week-end in Detroit and Canada. . . . Jessie Wass believes in getting things done on time. She was seen digging a cedar tree for Christmas. . . . Happy birthday to Ruth LePradd and Millie Rietdorf.

Test and Inspection can boast of a drummer boy, Carl Brenner. They say he is very good. . . . Our friend Betty T. isn't driving to work anymore. She is afraid someone will scratch her car. . . . Elmer Hershman is quite a baker. You should have tasted his cherry cake the other day. . . . Arnold Wendel just cannot win. He is always paying for the ice cream and cokes. . . . Barbara Miller went to the lake on a picnic the fourth. While in swimming, she looked up to see a cow chewing on her skirt. She and the cow had a battle over it, but Barbara won and rescued her skirt. . . . Herb Tilbury caught his first bass Sunday. . . . Have you seen the BABY GALLERY in the Test Dept.? . . . Ask Maxine Root why they never have Hershey bars in the candy machine? . . . Helen Riblet left us last Friday for California. We're sorry to learn that her husband is ill, but hope he will recover in that California climate. They are driving through in a new Kaiser and have a beautiful home waiting for them. Lots of luck to you, Helen, and let us hear from you. . . . Ross Rose was on vacation last week. He spent it fishing in Michigan. . . . Who gets more traffic tickets than Pondo? When you take in a movie Saturday night, why don't you just put it in a lot, Pondo? . . . Jim Slater is leaving us for the night trick, and Charles Fulmer is going to Bldg. 4-3. Good luck, fellows. . . . Ruth Baker is the proud owner of a new Riviera, and Virginia McCoy has a new Hudson. . . . Alma Marwin was invited to the potluck given for Don Wilson. Everyone on the line had to attend a meeting, leaving Alma to set the table for lunch. . . . Helen Feiertag's son participated in the rescue of the two men in the plane crash on Oliver Lake. . . . When Martha Jesse opened the door to let their dog in the other night, a stray dog strolled in and stayed for supper. . . . Have you seen Bea Stolte's sunburn? . . . Is it a suit of armor Betty T. is wearing?

Every employe having one or more years of continuous service is eligible to participate in the G-E Pension Plan.

ALL-STAR TWIRLERS—Bob Snyder's (left) and Larry Kem's (right) mound abilities assure them positions on the Little League All-Star team's pitching staff. Charlie Shipman, G-E Club, and Gene Engelbrecht will help coach the All-Stars.

Fred McIntyre, Fred Friedman, Pat Aberilla, John Winstel and son Joe recently attended a Chicago-Brooklyn ball game at Chicago. The boys reported a fine day and a good game. . . . Welcome to Vaughn Hiser after a three months illness. . . . The songs and smiles given out by Eileen Gault are due to that new front tooth. . . . Arno Taylor and her husband are on a two weeks' fishing and camping trip at Yellowstone Park. . . . Shirley Cunningham is spending a week of her vacation at Lake George. . . . New Chevy owners are Pauline Hugenall and Mae Null. Mae will enjoy her car more after she takes a few driving lessons. . . . Paul and Maxine Hathaway have a small addition in the family. His name is "Blitz." Breed: Dachshund. Wanting to make the little fellow welcome, Paul bought him an ice cream cone. Result: A veterinarian. . . . Al and Oscar Johnson recently returned from a fishing trip to Ottertail Lake, Minn. Regardless of storms, the fish were biting good. The boys had such a good fish story when they returned that Don August and his wife decided to spend their two weeks at Ottertail. . . . The Kelsey boys, Monte and Lowell, are trying their luck at raising okra. So far, it looks like a bumper crop. . . . When Kenny Rinker returns from his vacation, he will be able to tell all about that new porch he built. . . . A portion of Ada Phillips' vacation was used in seeing the White Sox play in Chicago. . . . Harry Skevington expects to busy himself around home for the next two weeks. . . . Buck Buchan and Henry Muehlenbruch were the first ones at the safety meeting last Thursday. After waiting a short time and no one showed up, the boys remembered the meeting was the next day. . . . Edna Etzler and yours truly visited Florence Wiemer. We found her looking good and very cheerful. Florence would be happy to see some of her former co-workers.

Today's column is a bit different because I'm going to talk mostly about the children of the group. . . . We have had a number of accidents to these children. Ray Bowers, Jr., 13 years old, suffered a compound fracture of the right arm and is now getting along okay. Then before that, Steve Maggart, three-year-old son of Bob, suffered a fractured right leg. He is recovering nicely at this time. . . . Then there was Phyllis Jean Nahrwold, daughter of Hilbert Nahrwold, who fractured her right arm and is now recovered from this mishap. . . . These along with the recent epidemic of chickenpox have kept the children laid up for a while. Chickenpox victims are Michael, Linda and Deanna Jane, children of Lyle Claphan, and Paul, Jr., and Bobby, sons of Paul Boedeker. . . . Our sympathy is extended to Louis Watt in the death of his brother.

Behind one-hit pitching by Gertie Koldewey, G-E girls trounced the Hayloft Dancers by a score of 11 to 1 Monday, July 2, at Packard Park.

G-E was off to a hot start in the first inning, scoring three runs with a double by Miller and a triple by Getty with one on. Two more runs were added in the fifth when Miller drove one over the fence with one on.

In the sixth inning, Ramer walked, and Saxton sacrificed her to second. Ramer then stole third and came home on a passed ball. The other five runs came in the last inning with another double by Miller and singles by Getty and Gallaway, with two on.

Ramer snatched a hot grounder in the second inning and trapped a runner going to second. She thew the ball to Gett at first to complete the double play.

Hayloft's only run was scored in the last inning, when Witte was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to third of infield flies, and came home on an error.

Drewett and Gallaway caught for G-E. The battery for Hayloft was Bucher and Ehlerding.

The girls have completed the first half of their league play by winning three and losing four. The team played ragged ball at the start of the season, but have begun picking up in their last three games.

League games are played Mondays at 6:45 p.m. in Packard Park.

Well, they did it. The Hot Shots romped into first place in the Owl Golf League by means of a 15-point slugging at the expense of the last place Traps. The Champs were slow in coming, but you can bet that it will be one tough task to push them out of the spot they seem to fit so well. Jim Sternberger, in his usual smooth style, carded a 40 to lead the rout. Tom Gouty, a new-comer to the Traps, fired a 41 to lead the losers.

The displaced leaders, the Putters, were held to an 8-point win by the Spoons. Paul Billman, putter throwing and all, shot a terrible 39. (Boy would I like to be that terrible) Tony Wichman chipped in a 42 to aid the winners. Another first-timer, George Schlenker, led the spoons with a cute 40. Pappy Garland won a half with a 44.

The Drivers, with the Uhrick brothers, Fred and Herman, carding 41's, posted a 11-point win over the Flags. Cavanaugh shot a 44 for the losers.

A tie resulted when the Brassies and Bunkers counted up the score. Dave Mumma shot his best of the year, a 43, on the front nine for the Brassies while Jim Treese was low for the Bunkers with a 47.

Transformer folks will have to beware of the new lodge, the Mystic Knights of the Sea. Charter members are Kingfish Norwalt, Lightnin' Rian, Brother Andy Topp, Amos Vachon and Brother Crawford Braden. . . . Speaking of Rian, Topp and Norwalt, we wish someone would teach them to fish. It gets tiresome keeping them supplied with fish. . . . Lawrence Klaren must have quite a few bottles by now. If he continues to pick them up on the parking lot every night, he certainly will have before too long. . . . If you doubt Roy Hosler's ability to play shuffleboard, ask Don Zumbrum. . . . I suppose George Harmeyer took the new job in the Stock Room after he discovered Fletcher Cumbey has two cars. . . . The second shift welcomes Fern Schweiger, Annabelle Carpenter, Ruth Gerig, Gracic Ragan, Mary Surfus, Lois Lehman, Delores Lee, Anne Young, Marilyn McKeeman and Susan McNabb. . . . So long to Carolyn Bonnet, who is going on full-time housekeeping. . . . Our heartiest congratulations to Beverly Gustin and "Alabama Jim" who were married last Saturday. . . . It's going to seem very strange around this old Green Room after Ed Englert leaves. . . . Grace Poorman and her husband are spending their vacation at the lake. . . . Gladys Newcomer's red shoes really attracted our attention. . . . Irene Shroyer's son, Norman, is now home on leave after completing boot training at Great Lakes. . . . Second Shift inspection welcomes Jack Baumgartner, Rollyn Fisher and Dick Swagger. . . . Happy birthday to Pat Tucker. . . . Leo Klejnot caught a five-pound fish over the Fourth. He has searched from fish calendar to library trying to find out what kind it is. . . . Have you ever seen anyone leave a room as quickly as Dorothy Brown did the day she walked in carrying her lighted cigarette? . . . What happened to Otto Braun's theme song, "Sipping Cider." We haven't heard it for a long time.

The Interdivision Softball League resumes play this week with a full schedule of games as follows:

Fractional vs. Firemen
Small Motor vs. Apprentice Alumni
Winter St. vs. Works Lab
Test Engineers vs. Squares
Taylor St. vs. Motor Generator

Undefeated Firemen are leading the league. Winter St., Works Lab and Taylor St. are tied for second place, each with one defeat.

The only game played last week was a make-up game between Taylor St. and the Squares. Taylor St. pounded out a 10-4 victory.

Owls Sharpen Batting Eyes For Second Half

by Bill Geist

The G-E Owls won by forfeit when F.O.P. failed to show up. Manager Bob Crosley took advantage of the situation and had a lengthy batting drill. He is hoping to move up in the standings in the second half.

The tie for first place between Indiana Rod and Wire and Salisbury is a thriller. Several weeks ago, they played a 3-3 tie in eight innings, going the early morning game time of one hour and a quarter limit. Inca, a late arrival in the league, is improving.

David C. Prince Retires As Company Vice President

David C. Prince, a vice president of General Electric since 1941, has retired after more than 32 years of service, according to Ralph J. Cordiner, G-E president. His retirement, under optional provisions of the Pension Plan, was effective June 30.

In January of this year, Mr. Prince was appointed to the president's staff, with special duties as assigned.

A native of Springfield, Ill., Mr. Prince was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1912 with a B.S.E.E. degree. He joined the G-E Test Course the following year after earning an M.S. degree.

Mr. Prince was named head of the General Engineering Laboratory in 1945 when it was broadened to cover the entire Company.

He has been responsible for many important design developments not only in such fields as switchgear, but also electric locomotives, ship control, electronic tubes, and many others. He is active in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and was its president for the 1941-42 term. He received the A.I.E.E. Lamme medal in 1946. He is a member of several other leading professional societies, including the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Mr. Prince is one of the pioneers in planning for peace and is actively connected with both national and local groups in that field.

STAB Div. 91, whose suggestion pertained to bottom plates. Harold J. Hoffman, General Tool Division, was paid $50 for a die cast mold idea. Awards amounting to $65 were made to two General Tool Division men, Daniel G. Knepper and James F. Stevens.

A $45 check went to Frank Bly, FHP Motor Div. 16, who suggested rotor die improvements. James R. Ehresman, General Tool Division, was awarded $45 for an idea on broach lift pin holes. An additional award of $40 was paid to Arthur L. Bear, FHP Motor Div. 14, who advised an improvement to the multiple blank press. Orvel W. Puryear, STAB Div. 94, also received $40. His suggestion concerned lead insulators.

An idea involving the assembly of spring clips earned $30 for Elmore R. Hurt, FHP Motor Div. 15. E. James Battrick, also of FHP Div. 15, was paid $35 for a stator salvage suggestion. Thirty dollars were paid to John H. Allendorph, FHP Motor Div. 13, whose idea pertained to lead lengths. George C. Hartman, General Tool Division received $30 for a stacker suggestion.

Awards of various denominations, from $5 to $25, were paid to 339 other employes, including 39 from the branch plants.

Thought for the Week: "Not many girls who are outdated are out, dated."
—Ray Cvikota

WELCOME: Elaine Lopshire, Joan Hartwig, Joy Sheets, Edna Plescher, Eugene Smith and Richard Moellering. . . . Doris Hart is leaving to return to her home in Boston, Mass. Dorothy Anderson is taking her place. . . . Ann Bowser spent an enjoyable week-end at Forest Beach near Michigan City, Ind. . . . Would you like to have a Family Day picnic? Let Ed Foley know it if you would so one can be planned. . . . Dick Hobson left last Friday. We wish Dick lots of success in his new job. . . . Floyd Wygant is trying to keep his son's car in A-1 condition while Junior is in the Air Force. Saturday, something happened to the motor, and he had to make a trip to the garage. Monday morning before coming to work, a woman in front of him went backwards instead of frontwards. Now there is a fender to be fixed. . . . O. Kellar won't tell us what happened during his vacation. . . . PLEASE CO-OPERATE: Roscoe Markley, has in the past, displayed remarkable ability in meeting every situation as it arose. However, Mother Nature took a hand in things last week-end and created a situation that even the remarkable Mr. Markley could not overcome. Roscoe placed his fence posts a little too close to the creek banks. The rising waters washed out a considerable amount of fencing and all of his hogs escaped. Our hero is replacing the posts, rounding up his hogs and trying to figure out a way of persuading nature to live according to his plan. . . . CAGEY: Big John, Ed Foley's American Greek pal, is getting coy. Our Editor recently tried an interview with John and received only one statement: "No flipa da lip."

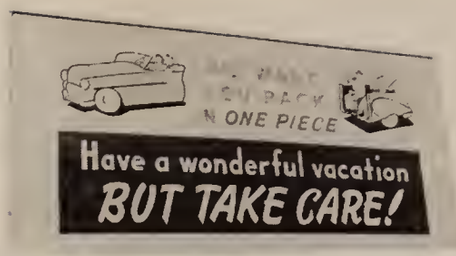
Vinson to Manage the Apparatus Department. In 1947, he was named chairman of the committee in charge of Welding Equipment Divisions and, a year later, became manager of the Welding Divisions with headquarters at Fitchburg, Mass.

Mr. Vinson is a native of Plainfield, Ill. He graduated from Michigan State College in 1929.

CASH IN ON IDEAS—Richard Braun, FHP Motor Div. 13 (second from left, top picture), received $220 for suggesting changes on the automatic welders. Left to right watching him receive his check are George App, Mr. Braun, Mark Gotsch, Ralph Dunlap and H. C. Koehlinger. The bottom picture shows Charles Zolman, Bldg. 17-2 (center), receiving a $140 suggestion award. He advised changes to insulating machines used in FHP Div. 16. In the photograph with Mr. Zolman are H. E. Boles (left) and Harold Hohman.



Harold Jesse is getting as bad as Al Miller with his garden exploits. To hear Harold talk, you would expect to climb a ladder in order to get at his tomato plants! . . . Irma Bradtmiller has received a letter from her husband, Ralph, who will soon be on his way home from Korea. . . . Garnet Marshall was seen walking down Calhoun St. last Thursday with a ferocious looking dog on a leash. . . . Most horrible song rendition of the week escaped from Les Baker, "Pretty Eyed Baby". . . . Fred Dew was observed spending the Fourth exercising on a bicycle. It was one of those traffic menaces we hear about. . . . Barbara Shipman is sporting a black and blue wrist as a result of over-doing it on the golf course. . . . Sally Gordon, the gal that eats three breakfasts, managed to get into work by eight the other morning. . . . Anyone wanting to smell like a wild rose, ask Barbara Rheinfrank. She's got the answer. . . . Wonder why all the "wolf calls" when Sharon Helbert and Juanita Heut go out for lunch? Ceal Pranger says she wishes she were young again. . . . Anyone interested in saving a dime every day, see Bob Hanna. Maybe he won't let you in on the secret, but it has something to do with a blonde! . . . Have you ever noticed some of the comfortable positions Jean Decker assumes while she is working? . . . We welcome Robert Wyss, Ross Hoover, Helen Harter and Ireta Gillie. . . . The gals in the Lead Section wonder if Hazel Bennett has found a new love. She's been looking so fresh mornings. . . . We hear Ray Feller has plowed up a few acres for his vegetable garden at the lake. Ray got in a supply of bug killer, etc., and is now taking orders. . . . Carl Hanson is the proud owner of a Packard. Carl claims he can't be arrested for speeding as his car hasn't any speedometer. . . . Mary Blanchard was fishing recently, but had little success. She told her friend to go back to the cottage for a gun. If she couldn't get fish with a pole, she was going to shoot them! . . . No, Dick Shull didn't have the mumps. He just had four deviled eggs in his mouth at once. . . . If you've been wondering why Helen Meeks holds her head in order to look down, it's because of her flaming new glasses. She has to look through the bottom.

Credit Phone A-7356

Lee Cupp, secretary-treasurer of the G-E Credit Union, reminded employes again today to use the telephone number, A-7356, when calling the Credit Union from outside the Plant.

Why Doesn't Labor Like Their Pal, C. E. Wilson?

by L. Robert Driver

A disheartening phenomenon in present-day America is the treatment which Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is receiving from leaders of organized labor. Before labor members of the Defense Mobilization Board walked off the job, Mr. Wilson was the victim of a campaign, some features of which were calculated rudeness, the silent treatment and personal abuse of a type, conventionally ascribed to barrooms. He is still the target of a barrage of hostile propaganda by labor publications, although deliberations of the board seem less turbulent than they were in the early stages. Nevertheless, it seems clear that labor's leaders would be glad to see Mr. Wilson go.

As a man, Charles E. Wilson would appear to be the workingman's dream. He was a poor boy, born in New York's Hell's Kitchen, who left school for an office boy's job at the New York office of the General Electric Company and stayed on with the Company until he became president. His career might be expected to be an inspiring fulfillment of America's promise to faithful and enterprising people in every walk of life. But Mr. Wilson gets the calculated and contemptuous brush-off from the very group which might be expected to profit from the example of his career.

Why all this acrimony toward a successful American whose only present ambition is to serve his country? The answer probably hasn't much to do with Mr. Wilson himself. He is a robust and short-spoken man eager to get on with the job. His offense isn't personal; it is only that he is the (former) head of a great corporation, and union doctrine on great corporations is that they reap enormous profits, pay low wages to their employes and charge exorbitant prices for their products. The origins of this propaganda are many, but those who spread it seldom trouble to look up the facts. If they did, they would discover that Charles E. Wilson's (former) corporation, the General Electric Company, has decreased its profit margin and increased its payroll far more than is true of a composite of all American corporations. This means that the prices of the products of General Electric would have been far less in the war years and the four succeeding years than they were during the period 1936-39 if it had not been for the greatly increased taxes, payrolls and costs of materials.

Figures Give the Score

Thus, during the four war years, 1942-45, General Electric's sales were 291.1 per cent higher than for the four years 1936-39; but General Electric's profits were only 15 per cent higher, while the company's payroll was 249 per cent higher.

For the four postwar years ending December 31, 1949, the figures are even more striking. Compared with the four years 1936-39, General Electric's sales were 305 per cent higher; profits 115 per cent higher and payroll 297 per cent higher. The payroll figure would be even higher if it included pensions, Social Security taxes, sickness insurance, and so on, which add up to 10 per cent of General Electric's payroll.

Since a similar record can be shown by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, General Motors, du Pont and other large companies, it is reasonable to conclude that, if labor unions are justified in being mad at anybody, it isn't the great corporations or Mr. Charles E. Wilson.

Not only is this true of payrolls, but General Electric's margin of profit on sales over the four years 1942-45 was less than three-tenths of that reached during the four years 1936-39. During the four years 1946-49 inclusive, the profit margin was nine sixteenths of that for the years 1936-39. Even in 1950, a year of high, inflated profits, the margin of profit on sales was only two-thirds of the annual average for the 1936-39 period. This obviously means that the benefits of new methods of production and more efficient distribution have been passed on to the customers as much as the vagaries of currency inflation permit. Competition and progressive policies have resulted in a continuous decline in the amount taken from the consumer's dollar by way of profits.

Conceivably, if these facts were more widely understood, corporate executives like Mr. Wilson would be able to perform a national service in time of emergency without being greeted with barrages of dead cats and hoots of derision. Indeed, such men might actually begin to receive the recognition they are entitled to for helping raise the standard of living for everybody.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

There's a rabbit in my garden,
And he's really quite a bunny.
I love to watch him eating,
For he chews his food so funny.

That's because, you see, a rabbit
Has but very little chin;
So he's forced to move it faster,
When those lettuce leaves go in.

It's amusing just to watch him,
When I'm sitting in my chair;
As he wrinkles up his stubby nose
And sniffs the evening air.

He is always very cautious;
Quite alert and wide awake;
When he eats, he's always watching,
Every single move I make.

If I whistle, he stops eating
And starts sniffing with his nose.
If I jump at him, he hesitates
A moment, then he goes.

But it doesn't seem to scare him;
I believe he thinks it's fun.
It seems he wants to show me
How a rabbit likes to run.

It's funny when he looks at me,
I like the way he blinks.
I wonder, when he's sitting there,
Just what he really thinks.

I'm sure, of course, he doesn't know
Just what it really means
To me, when he starts lunching
On my tender Lima beans.

He seems to think my garden
Is the only place to feed.
I suppose I ought to shoot him,
But he leaves me all I need.

For a rabbit, Bugs and Peter
Were the only names I knew;
So I called him Peter Rabbit—
Seemed the proper thing to do.

But I found last night while sitting
In my backyard easy chair,
Something I had not suspicioned,
But of which I'm now aware.

I discovered he's the mother
Of four adolescent fiends,
And the little imp was teaching them
To eat my Lima beans.

So you see, when naming rabbits,
It's an easy thing to fail:
What we think is Peter Rabbit
May be Molly Cottontail.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Sick List

Elizabeth Cleaves, Arthur Brown, Wayne J. Boester, Robert V. Benz, Iris M. Allen, Lawrence M. Chesterman, Gordon Gilbert, Everett Ehle, Oliver M. Miller, Evelyn Affolder, Patsy Auer, Jane Botts, Beulah Briner, Cleola Bryie, Helen Conrad, Richard K. Elward, Cyrus Imbody, Wilford J. Fett, Vernon A. Keesler, Julia Goff, Marian J. Wenzel, Virginia E. Reckeweg, Lois Woods, Patricia Miller, Charles P. Thompson, Marjorie Wall, Joan Taderoff, Ruth Sullivan, Arthur E. Shull, Wayne A. Shull, Harold C. Sherbondy, George Selby, Marvina Schenkel, Eleanor Sarnecki, Robert Reardon, Jr., Charles Morris, Virginia Moore, Ellen Marchenko, Juanita Lowe, Talitha Stickler, Earl Walmer, Marie Brandyberry, Fred Baker, Lewis Watt and Betty Gnagy.

Dismissed from Hospital

Harold Sherbondy, Peggy Moyer, Virginia Moore, Russell Stockert, George Selby, Juanita Lowe, Clarence Hewes, Harley Johnson, Betty Kummer, Erwin Korte, Elizabeth Cleaves, Katherine Clark, Dolly Fodge, Cyrus Imbody, Iris Allen and Marian Wenzel.

Returned to Work

Verl Pribble, Oscar Lagerstrom, Max Shaw, Richard Raber, Janet Redding, Pearl Mackey, Mabel Quickery, Margaret Parisot, Ruth Sitton, Frank Widner, Albert Christman, Alice Justus, Clyde Joshorn, Ardell Hambrock, Donald Doering, Thurman Lusk, Herbert Crummitt, Mary E. Garrard, Minnie Kendricks, Robert Allen, Robert Huff, Betty Burford and Edna Hauser.

This week we would like to tell you about Richard "Chicken" Koop. Besides hanging on his compass point at G-E, Mr. Koop is the sole owner of a half-acre ranch at New Haven, which his wife manages. New Haven, you know, is that thriving metropolis just east of here, where both the Pony Express and the stage coach have relay stations. For those of you who are looking for a nice town in which to live, Mr. Koop suggests that you move to New Haven. He assures me that the settlers are making out very well against the Indians. As soon as the Army establishes a fort there, they will have no trouble at all. The stock on Mr. Koop's spacious ranch consists of a cat who likes his neighbor's driveway and a dog which resembles Mr. Koop in almost every respect. He is also the proud owner of a new high-powered tractor. With this marvelous piece of machinery, Mr. Koop says he is able to cultivate his entire half acre in only 30 days. Not long ago, the Koops purchased a deep freeze in which to store their abundant crop. With the summer only half gone, they already have a bunch of radishes, three green onions and a stalk of celery stored up for the long, cold winter which lies ahead. Mr. Koop also owns a Plymouth which he claims will do 55 miles an hour wide open. He hastens to add that he is a very careful driver and doesn't drive at those high speeds very often.

A happy birthday to Dee Hahn, whose birthday was July 16. . . . Helen Risser has returned from her vacation in the northern part of our good old U. S. I sure hope everyone has a wondrous vacation such as Helen enjoyed. . . . We have an ambitious farm lassie from Avilla, Ind., who surely likes to model "amateur-ish", not professionally. Her name is Maxine Householder. Her other ambition, she told me is to be married and have a home. . . . Norm Wichman makes it to work on time even though his mom and dad are in New York on vacation. You know why? Everyone takes turns and calls him by telephone about every 15 minutes. . . . Judy Krebs, Jean Smith and Joyce Grieser went shopping Saturday for their New York trip. Instead of New York showing them the latest in fashions, they will be presenting New York with the latest styles.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. WILLIAMS

Vacation Plans Include 1,879

Plans for vacation shutdown, announced this week by the general superintendent's office, reveal that with the exception of Large Motor and Generator Divisions, only a skeleton force of employes will be working during the two-week vacation period.

A total of 1,879 employes, including all personnel in the Large M-G Divisions, are scheduled to work the first week of the shutdown. One thousand eight hundred and twenty-four employes will work the second week.

The gate schedule during the shutdown will be as follows:

Broadway

Lindley Avenue Gate—Open 24 hours per day—7 days per week.

West Gate—Open 24 hours per day—7 days per week.

College St. Gate—Open 6 a.m. to 12:10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

East Gate—Open 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Fairfield Ave. Gate—Open 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. Saturday morning.

Taylor St.

East Gate—Closed 7 p.m. Friday, July 27, to 6:30 a.m. Aug. 13.

West Gate—Open 24 hours a day—7 days a week.

There will be dispensary service in Bldg. 21 to cover both the first and second shifts. Insurance benefits will be mailed without interruption during the vacation period to employes who are ill. New claims will also be processed in Bldg. 21.

The G-E Club, Employes' Store and cafeterias will be closed.

Services such as power, mail and telegraph, telephone, and leased wire will be available.

Elex Vacation Tour Group Books New Yorker Hotel

The entire Elex New York Tour group will stay at the New Yorker Hotel during its six-day holiday in the country's largest city. The change in hotels was revealed by the Women's Activities Office today. According to Irene Meyers, supervisor of Women's Activities, the group has become so large that the hotels originally reserved are unable to furnish accommodations.

Because of the change in plans, the reservation deadline has been extended to Wednesday, July 25. All reservations and payments must be completed by Wednesday afternoon.

Accommodations at the New Yorker Hotel will be on a single, double, or three-to-a-room basis. There will be no facilities for four persons to a room.

The New York tour will leave Fort Wayne Monday, July 30, returning to Fort Wayne Saturday, August 4.

War Vet Party Stag Only

The G-E World War Vets Outing, scheduled for tomorrow at Voigt's Retreat, will be stag, and not for families as reported last week, George Ellison, entertainment committee chairman, explained today.

Mr. Ellison said the affair will be open to all G-E veterans, members and non-members alike. It will be held from 12 noon to 10 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 each.

Special Schedule Replaces Routine Transit Timetable

All regularly scheduled special buses on routes to and from G-E will be cancelled during the vacation shutdown, July 30 to Aug. 10, according to the Fort Wayne Transit, Inc.

A special trip will be operated at 6:40 and 7:40 a.m. from Calhoun and Creighton Ave. to the Broadway Plant. Special service will also be provided from Broadway at 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. east on Creighton to Calhoun as needed.

Coaches will leave the end of each line, connecting with the special at Calhoun and Creighton, as follows:

Lv. S. Wayne & Sherwood—6:31 a.m., 7:28 a.m.

Lv. Pontiac-Harvester — 6:25 a.m., 7:24 a.m.

Lv. E. Creighton & Anthony—6:25 a.m., 7:24 a.m.

Lv. Oxford & Anthony—6:19 a.m., 7:19 a.m.

Lv. S. Calhoun & Sherwood—6:27 a.m., 7:31 a.m.

The Broadway coach will leave Main and Calhoun at 6:34 a.m., 6:48 a.m. for 7 a.m. shift, and 7:38 a.m. and 7:48 a.m. for the 8 a.m. shift.

Scheduled times that coaches leave the end of lines connected with the Broadway coaches to the General Electric Co from Main and Calhoun are as follows:

Lv. Third & Runnion—6:14 to 6:42 a.m., 7:22 to 7:31 a.m.

Lv. Lewis-Harvester—6:20 a.m., 7:21 a.m.

Lv. E. State Loop—6:24 a.m., 7:26 a.m.

Lv. Lakeside Loop—6:10 to 6:30 a.m., 7:31 a.m.

Lv. West Main Loop—6:32 a.m., 7:33 a.m.

Lv. W. State & Tyler—6:30 a.m., 7:17 a.m.

Employes who are working during vacation are advised to clip this schedule and keep it for reference during the shutdown.

Decatur G-E Club Family Picnic Begins at 11:30 a.m. Tomorrow

Plans have been completed for the Decatur G-E Club's Family Picnic at Sunset Park tomorrow. Registration will start at 10 a.m. and the picnic dinner will be served at 11:30 a.m. regardless of the weather.

Jason Moser, general chairman of the event, announced today that attendance award drawings will start at 12 noon with the entertainment starting at 1 p.m. Mary Fennig, Clisty Fruchte, and Imogene Coffee will have charge of the children's department, and Verena

Q. I would like more information about light bulbs. Does G-E make a light bulb of 100-watt size and conventional shape that will not crack when water is splashed against it? I am in need of such a bulb in my trouble cord lamp for I often use it in rain or on plumbing jobs where water squirts from leaks. It should also withstand the hard knocks and rough service.

A. G-E makes a 100-watt rough service (R.S.) lamp which is a vacuum lamp. These are built to withstand hard usage and, while there is no guarantee

New G-E VP Assumes Industrial Products, Lamp Responsibilities

NEW YORK—Hardage L. Andrews, an executive vice president of the General Electric Company, who during his career has been prominent in both the transportation and home appliance industries, has retired from the company after 41 years of service, Ralph J. Cordiner, G-E president, has announced.

He will be succeeded by Robert Paxton, G-E vice president in charge of manufacturing policy, who has been elected an executive vice president by the Board of Directors, Mr. Cordiner said.

As executive vice president, Mr. Paxton will assume Mr. Andrews' responsibilities for the company's Industrial Products and Lamp Group, consisting of the Chemical, Construction Materials, Lamp, Small Apparatus, Carboloy, Monowatt, and Trumbull Divisions.

Mr. Paxton also will continue in his manufacturing policy capacity for a temporary period, Mr. Cordiner said.

Mr. Andrews' "twin" career in General Electric saw him rise first to head of all transportation activities and, second, to head of appliance activities.

A native of Boonville, Ky., and an electrical engineering graduate of the University of Missouri, he began his G-E career in 1910 as a student engineer on the company's Test Course in Schenectady, N. Y.

Transportation Pioneer

Interested in the field of transportation, he progressed through various railway motor and railway engineering assignments, rising by 1929 to the position of engineer in charge of the company's Transportation Engineering Department with headquarters at Erie, Pa.

Mr. Andrews, in 1934, was elected a vice president in charge of steam railroad electrification, and one year later became directly responsible to G-E President Gerard Swope for all company transportation activities.

The G-E official at this time was one of the youngest major executives in the transportation industry and became closely identified with every important development in electric transit for 25 years.

This included the extensive electrification of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad, and development of the diesel-electric locomotives, streamlined high-speed street cars, diesel-electric buses, and trackless rubber-tired trolley coaches.

In July, 1939, Mr. Andrews began an entirely new career, when he was placed in charge of the Appliance and Merchandise Department, one of the company's main operating departments, with headquarters in Bridgeport, Conn.

He was responsible for the company's activities in all types of electric appliances, including refrigerators, home freezers, ranges, water heaters, home laundry equipment, dishwashers, disposalls, irons, toasters, mixers, electric clocks, automatic blankets, vacuum cleaners and others.

Early in 1951, Mr. Andrews was elected an executive vice president and assigned to his most recent position.

Began in 1923

Mr. Paxton, a veteran in the field of electrical apparatus, joined the General Electric Company as a student engineer on the Test Course in 1923 shortly after grad-

New Plant Construction To Begin at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The General Electric Company will start construction of the first buildings in its proposed Appliance Park as soon as it takes title to a 700-acre tract in nearby Buechel, Clarence H. Linder, general manager of the Major Appliance Department, has announced.

Contract for the construction of the park has been awarded to the Turner Construction Co., of New York, and Struck Construction Co., of Louisville, on a joint basis, Mr. Linder said. Albert Kahn Associated Architects and Engineers, of Detroit, are the architects.

The General Electric Realty Corporation will represent the G-E Major Appliance Department in supervising design and construction of the park.

Mr. Linder said the Company plans to start taking title to the various plots in the Buechel tract in the next few days. The contractors are expected to start breaking ground for the first factory building, in which the Company will produce component parts for jet engines, within several weeks. "We hope the building will be completed and in operation early next year," he said.

Ultimately, the multi-million-dollar park will be the manufacturing, engineering, marketing and administrative headquarters for all General Electric's major appliance operations.

Unions, G-E Groups, Management Cooperate to Aid Blood Drive

In an effort to integrate G-E organizations, local union and management assistance into the Fort Wayne Regional Blood Center's program, representatives of the three groups held a meeting in Bldg. 18 last week.

The group began plans for setting up a G-E recruiting program to help the Blood Center meet its weekly quota.

According to K. W. Michael, assistant to the works manager in charge of community relations, it was agreed to send all employes letters signed by representatives of management, unions and presidents of G-E organizations, asking them to sign blood donor pledge cards.

Attending the meeting were Glenn Reynolds, former Red Cross executive director; Ab Martin, works manager, W. R. Blomker, president of the Supervisors Club; Thelma Stone, president of the Elex Club; Tom Hayden, representing IUE; Orville Haver, president of the Volunteer Firemen; Ed Klomp, president of the Foremen's Club; R. L. Mace, chairman of the Fort Wayne-Allen County Blood Program; Mr. Michael; Wilson Garman, president of the Apprentice Alumni; H. B. Carter, G-E

Diplomas Given For Voluntary First Aid Work

Eighty-nine G-E employes received Red Cross First Aid Certificates this month after completing 18 voluntary hours of classroom work apiece.

Classes were held in Bldg. 16-1. Instructors were Ethel Shroyer, Bldg. 26-4; Ed Cade, Bldg. 4-6; Gene Lordier, guard, and Ota Peeling, of the Red Cross.

The standard Red Cross course included general first-aid directions, control of severe bleeding, wounds and infections, burns, shock, fractures and splinting, common home emergencies, transportation for the injured, and artificial respiration.

The Following G-E employes received First-Aid diplomas.

Donald Clark, Margaret Hilgeman, Viola Krominaker, Melvin Rose, Francis Howell, Ross Domer, Henry Grepke, James Battrick, Donald Jackson, David Miller, Billy Gawthrop and Jesus Vega.

G. B. Porsch, Jr., Fred T. Bailey, William M. Roberts, Eugene E. Scott, Elizabeth M. Love, Ruby McBride, Alberta Hensch, Frieda E. Kiene, Esther Fagan, Arthur Holtman, Florence E. Weber, Loretta Bloom, Emmet Bobay, Charles W. Wrisk, Raymond

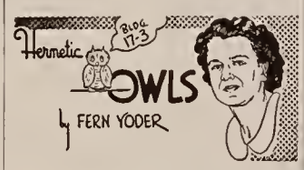
TO AID BLOOD PROGRAM—Representatives of G-E organizations, local unions and management are shown discussing plans to integrate G-E efforts to help the local blood program. Front row (l-r) are: Glenn Reynolds, executive director of the local Red Cross chapter; Thelma Stone, Elex president; Ed Klomp, Foremen's Association president; Tom Hayden, of IUE; Orville Haver, Volunteer Firemen president; Ed Martin, G-E World War Veterans' president. Standing (l-r) are: Ab Martin, works manager; W. R. Blomker, Supervisors' Club president; Virgil Brown, president of IUE-CIO 901; James P. McFeeley, Jr., president of Lodge 70, IAM; R. L. Mace, Fort Wayne-Allen County Blood Program chairman; K. W. Michael, assistant to Works manager; Wilson Garman, Apprentice Alumni president; H. B. Carter, Squares organization, and Grover Rhodes, president of the Decimal Minute Men. (see story above, right)

A luncheon was held last week at the cafeteria for Eloise Caylor and Julia Dillard, who left the division. Eloise was transferred to Bldg. 6-2, and Julia is retiring from a working woman's world. . . . As vacation nears, we see maps floating about the office. Leo Persing is shipping to California and Fred Hagadorn is driving to Maine. Argend Denney jumped the gun and took a week's vacation lying around home. Now that the Youngers are a two-car family, Red's driving to Canada for her vacation. . . . Arlene Newman is still riding on her pink cloud. But, in one week, that will burst. That girl is having more bridal showers. . . . Gerrie Coyne has a brand new Plymouth. Now all she has to do is learn how to drive. . . . Some people are satisified with just one vase of flowers, but Julia Dillard has to have three. What's the significance of those "sweetpeas" anyway? . . . Wayne Woodsworth had an unlucky day last week. He thought he had boiled an egg for his lunch, but when ready to eat, it was raw.

Who is the mysterious "Jesse" James" that attends the dances at Tri-Lakes and is very interested in our Betty Bertch? . . . Norm Wolf has trouble with the high water out at the Brookwood course, especially trying to jump across the creek. . . . We wish a very speedy recovery to Iris Allen and her husband, who are in a Muncie Hospital as the result of an auto accident. . . . We wish Ina Smith luck on her new job. . . . Helen Wolf must of had one of her husband's lost week-ends and really did get lost. We heard Norm's side, now what's yours, Helen? . . . Glen Buckmaster just couldn't let Elsie Fabian get all the attention. He has a new bright jockey cap too. . . . Happy birthday to Maxine Herbst. We hear she has an admirer here who dedicates songs to her. . . . Helen Doty brought enough lunch the other day for the whole line to have a picnic. . . . Neva Lutz had better get a new purse, so it won't take so much time gathering all the junk up in her old one. . . . Ruby Stucky and her husband went to Chicago over the week-end. They took in the White Sox ball game. She says they had a wonderful time. . . . Lela Line celebrated her 22nd anniversary Friday the 13th. . . . Frank Beatty and a gang of guys went up to Lake Erie fishing. They had a heck of a good time and caught 40 pickerel. . . . Elsie Fabian says there are much better pictures to print than she has seen recently. So Elsie you bring them in and we'll try and print them. . . . We are happy to see Dorothy Heinzelmann back in the office again after an illness.



Clarabelle Whiteman is walking on air after her telephone call from her husband. He will be home on a 15-day leave during her vacation. . . . Gladys Pantazin says she had a wonderful time on her vacation in Chicago. She says she came back broke but happy. . . . Clarence Morris is back from his trip to California and reports a fine trip and also a wonderful time. . . . Kenny Brown might consider buying a set of encyclopedias, if the salesmen would stay on the driveway with their cars, instead of driving across the lawn and mowing down the shade trees. . . . Happy birthday to Vera Adams, Zella Witte and Selma Voight. . . . Ollie Ragan attended Eagle day at the White Sox ball game in Chicago Saturday. . . . Laura Gerber is on vacation this week and is spending it with her sister-in-law who is ill. . . . Virginia Buesching is the proud aunt of two new nephews, born three hours apart July 14. One is in St. Louis and one in Fort Wayne. . . . Bill Brown wanted to go fishing Saturday. He went to Tri-Lakes but not fishing. We hear he went square dancing. . . . We think Bob Johnson isn't supposed to have a vacation. Last year he was in the hospital, and this year he just wrecked his car. Tough luck, Bob. . . . The Birthday Club very pleasantly surprised Selma Voight and Lona Cook at a potluck supper and square dance Saturday night at Bluffton in the new building at the home of Marguerite and Harry Stahl. Those attending from the club were Sydonna Fox, Ruby Stoops, Ruth Cavender, Gladys Pantazin, Francis Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Strodel, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Helms and also many more guests and friends. A good time was had by all.

We are happy to say Ellen Marchenko has returned home from the hospital where she underwent surgery. We hope to see her back with us real soon. . . . Joe Collis tried to pull another one of Don Huffman's gags. He accused George Horner and Al Bierman of misplacing his micrometers. After a quick check in Joe's pockets, the lost was recovered. So here, we find another guy with a red face. . . . Henry Munderich, our elevator operator and friend, deserves a write-up concerning a little personal incident that happened to him. I intend to be very loyal to my friend and let him tell you about it himself. Just ask him. . . . Willard Whittle has been just a little disturbed how Sam Rhoades can pick up $20 bills from his sweepings. Willard says, "Sam is sure one lucky man." . . . The fox squirrel that wandered in here last Monday stopped on Jim Stauffer's feet just enough to see if it was all right to see Ruben Dewart. Ruben also showed surprise as it started toward him.

We have undergone quite a change when it comes to persons. Let's see who's who this week. . . . We say goodbye to Charlie Irwin and Charlene Bonnett. Charlie has transferred to days, while Charlene will devote her time to housekeeping. Charlene was presented a lovely farewell gift from the gang. . . . Eileen Foor really showed her strength and tried a new method of keeping Kay Dolan at the table all the time. . . . The picture is Bobby, two and a half year old son of Lillian Murphy. Bobby makes quite frequent calls to see Grandma. That is, he runs off and goes, but Grandma enjoys him. . . .

Visiting Bobby

WE WONDER WHAT: Marily Holocher had in her pocket that evening. Mary Noll kept walking the floor about. We ever would do without Bea Lantz or Eileen Foor. We don't appreciate them until we can't find them. Mary Rucoi would have done if she saw a real bug instead of an imitation one. Dick Gidley would do if he couldn't tease someone. . . . The tyers on Line three have been enjoying the fresh doughnuts Lewis Davis gave them. . . . Mary Ann Gunsenhouser has been off due to illness. We've been missing Barbara Nine and Marjory Goings, who have been absent for some time. . . . Charlie Irwin came in all smiles the other evening. He is the proud daddy of an eight-pound girl. Congratulations, Charlie. . . . Dick Gidley made a trip to Detroit Saturday for a check-up on his eyes. Dick is getting along fine. He spent Sunday at the lake. . . . Doris Stevenson underwent surgery at the Lagrange Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery. . . . Paul Robinson presented Harry Chism a large sucker as a peace offering. . . . Kay Dolan treated the group to home-made fudge.

"WHAT DO YOU ENJOY MOST ABOUT THE QUARTER CENTURY CLUB OUTINGS?"

ADELE WIETFELDT
Taylor St.

"I enjoy just about everything about it. I like to see all my friends and, of course, the food and entertainment are wonderful!"

EDWARD JONES
Bldg. 24

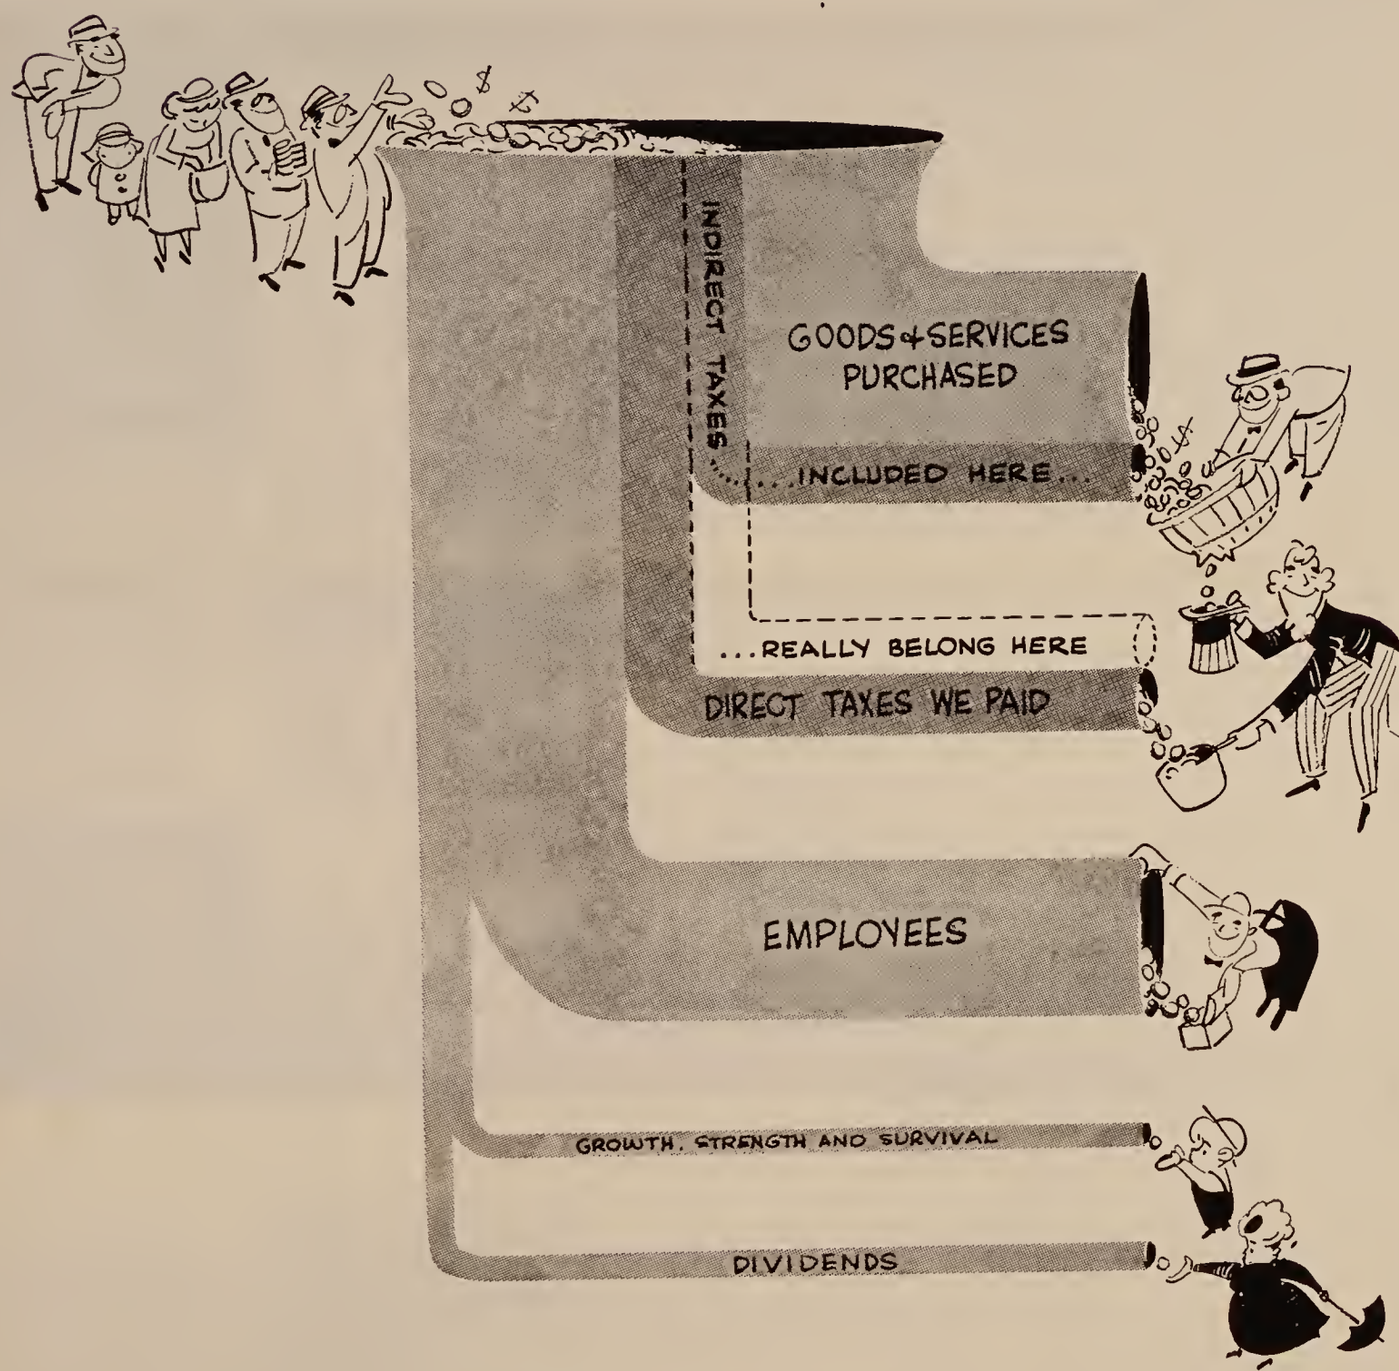
"I like everything about them — meeting people I haven't seen for years and the top-notch entertainment."

PAUL MOORE
Bldg. 28-1

"It's a great chance to meet friends I used to know and to spend a day of fun with them."

MAMIE ALLEN
Bldg. 17-1

"I enjoy most the mutual pleasure of meeting other members of the club, especially those whom I have the opportunity of seeing at no other time. The pleasant surroundings at Wainwright Camp and the enjoyable entertainment add a great deal in making the outing a success."



SAM BAUMGARTNER
Bldg. 27

"I like the chance for renewing acquaintances with people I haven't seen for some time. And, the dinner is always fine."

BIGGER OUTPUT—MORE JOBS—HIGHER PAY

STEEPER TAXES—LESS EARNINGS

In the first six months of 1951, General Electric customers paid us $1,184,735,000 for our goods and services. This was fairly close to what the Company received in the first nine months of 1950.

We paid $539,858,000 to our suppliers. While this was apparently for goods and services alone, actually our suppliers' prices also included invisible, indirect taxes, and so did the prices they paid to their suppliers.

General Electric's direct, visible corporate taxes were $154,088,000, or 13 per cent of the amount paid to us for our goods and services. Add to this the invisible, indirect taxes we were required to pay because of taxes included by others in the prices of goods and services we bought—as indicated roughly in the illustration shown at left—and you get some idea of the staggering size of the total bill for direct and indirect taxes imposed on General Electric and everybody who buys our products.

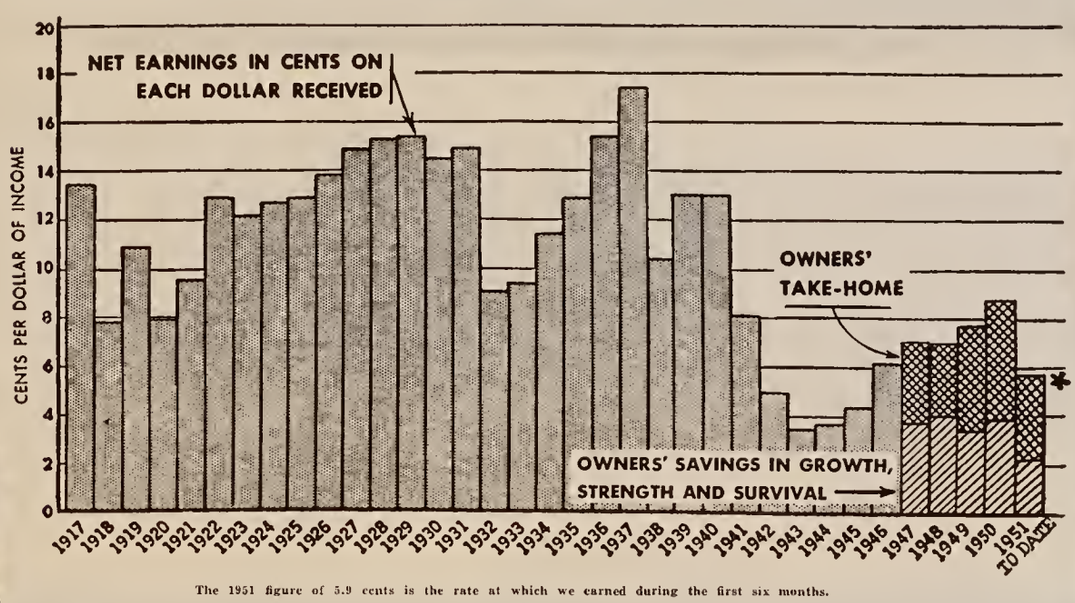
Provision for payments to and for employes cost $420,463,000. There are more employes—earning higher pay—than ever before.

We reinvested $27,363,000 in future growth, strength and survival. For instance, we were able to provide over 30,000 more people with jobs on June 30th this year than a year ago.

Our stockholders got $42,963,000 in the six months. This is only 3.6 cents of the sales dollar, compared to 3.9 cents for the same period last year. It must also be remembered that the combination of taxes and prices paid by the average stockholder has now reached the point where, as a real return, the total reward for the risk and use of his savings is down.

It is sometimes hard to remember that people's savings work here at General Electric, too—just as brains and muscles do—and that people must be paid for this service to us or they will not let us have the use of their savings for our growth, strength and survival.

But the most interesting thing about all the above is the rapid growth in the size of our total tax bill and the increasing clarity as to who has to pay it.



Anyone who imagines that all of such a tax bill can be charged against the owners is a little careless about addition and subtraction. In fact, if we should take all the money set aside for the future and add to that all the money paid the owners of General Electric for the work their savings do, and if we should hand over all these earnings to the government as taxes, all this would still only amount to 46 per cent of our present direct tax bill.

Today, the total of direct income taxes on all corporations throughout the country is greater than the total of all their net earnings. In fact, all these earnings actually would pay for only about one third of the total of all governmental expenditures planned for the next 12 months.

As for a typical family unit which earns from $3000 to $4000 a year—it pays about $250 a year in visible, direct income taxes, but about $700 a year in the indirect taxes which are collected in today's inflated prices.

For these high prices, some people tend wrongly to blame the businessmen who must collect indirectly—in their price—certain taxes of Federal, State and local governments.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

The 1951 figure of 5.9 cents is the rate at which we earned during the first six months.

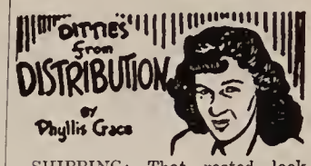
Apprentice BROADCAST

by MILDRED ELLIS

The fellows who eat their lunch in the park were having a hard time trying to keep their lunches away from the small boys until Bill Smith convinced them he was a human mouse trap. . . . We received a letter from Myron Auer last week. He was about 10 miles north of Wonju in X Corps Reserve. Myron still finds time for a little athletics and is the pitcher on the company's softball team which has won six of seven games. Due to climbing all those mountains, "Chubs" is now clear out of the "200 Club." Myron had received his first WORKS NEWS a few days previous and reports all the fellows enjoyed reading it. . . . The fellows at Taylor St. let Jim Duff sit in on a noon card game as an apprentice. He sure got a white washing. . . . We were glad to hear from Bob Doelling again. Bob is still in Korea and was very pleased to have received a box from the Elex Club and is still receiving and enjoying his WORKS NEWS. At the present rate of rotation, Bob is hoping to see us within a few months. . . . Carl McCartney brought in the following poem which was written by a poet soldier before enemy bullets had silenced his voice and pen:

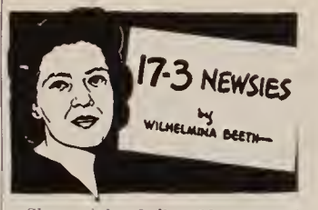
Look, God, I've never spoken to You,
But now I want to say, "How do You do."
You see, God, they told me You didn't exist,
And I, like a fool, believed all this.

Last night from a shell hole I saw Your sky,
I figured right then they had told me a lie;
Had I taken time to see the things You'd made,
I'd have known they weren't calling a spade a spade.



I wonder, God, if You'd shake my hand,
Somehow I feel that You'll understand;
It's funny I had to come to this hellish place,
Before I had time to see Your face.

Well, I guess there isn't much more to say,
But I'm sure glad, God, I met You today;
I guess the "Zero" hour will soon be here,
But I'm not afraid, since I know You're near.



The Signal: Well, God, I'll have to go,
I like You lots, this I want You to know;
Look now, this will be a horrible fight.
Who knows, I may come to Your house tonight.

Though I wasn't friendly to You before,
I wonder, God, if You'd wait at Your door!
Look, I'm crying, Me, shedding tears . . .
I wish I had known You these many years.

I have to go now, God; good-bye;
Strange, since I met You, I'm not afraid to die . . .

SHIPPING: That rested look after two weeks' vacation (driving like mad to get some place, having a quick look and then driving like mad to get back) is appearing on the faces of Phyllis Crace and Dottie Johnson. Phyl took a nice drive through the Injun Country and out to the broad Pacific. Dottie took in Chicago in her travels, up and down the Midwest. . . . Best wishes to Paul Klage today on his (?) birthday. . . . Orchids to Zercia Sinish next Thursday when her birthday will roll around. . . . Betty (Millhouse) Campbell reports from Texas that it's mighty hot down thar, but she likes it fine. Course being with hubby probably helps considerably. . . . The jelly beans flowed like water last week, and the reason was the arrival of a bouncing baby nephew for Eileen Fitch. The jelly beans were because it was a boy. Had it been a girl, we would have all floundered on those delicious chocolates. . . . She did it again. Ruth Sorg just can't seem to keep those nasty sun rays from making a lobster out of her. . . . MAILING: Welcome to Jim Stahl to the messenger ranks. . . . A sensible vacationcer was Keith Mast, who returned to work Monday from two weeks at home. . . . RECEIVING: People are becoming more cautious every day. Chris Reiz has made the statement that even he (the brave soul that he is) will not venture into Bldg. 6-1 Receiving Office. . . . Dorothy Ehernman is back to work after a leave of absence due to the illness of her mother. . . . Clyde Kreight was observed sprinkling his newly-sodded lawn. This is all right except it was raining at the time.

She weighs 8 lbs. 12 ozs. and is 21 inches tall. Her name is Anna Edith and lives at the Charles Irwin home. Congratulations to the new parents. . . . Third week vacationers last week included Beulah Huff and Harold Kiel. . . . Maude Goodrich will start her vacation next week. . . . Taking a glance at the vacation schedule, we find that Virgie Mayer will go to Maine. She must have been saving for it too. She opened her purse and a moth flew out. . . . Hedy Harrison and Ann Robinson will go to Bermuda. . . . Mary Stetzel and Mildred Melvin will take the Elex New York trip. . . . Rose Fuhrman will also go to New York. . . . Leona Scott is going to Arizona. . . . Virginia Pelz and Mary Shumm will go to California. . . . The Louie Hoffmans will do a little serious fishing in Michigan. . . . Walter Kryder is going to look for a nice shade tree and will put it to good use. . . . Ethel Thompson is looking forward to the visit of her mother from Nashville, Tenn. . . . Clara Dixon is visiting in Nebraska. . . . Last week when we were having all the rain, Lucila Masson was asked about what the weather was like. She said, "Fuzzy." . . . Mae Jones has passed her driving test. Watch out, everybody. . . . After this Augusta Boehm will be careful with flying solder when welding.

SEE YOU TOMORROW AT SUNSET. COME EARLY AND STAY LATE. THE COMMITTEE PROMISES A FULL DAY FOR EVERYONE. . . . Harold Baughn is trying to get organized for his trip West. Most of his difficulties are getting a folding table and chair set to co-operate with him. . . . We haven't heard what Mike Kimble was doing on his vacation, but hope he is enjoying it to the fullest extent. . . . Vacation time and the main subject for conversation seems to be about various lakes and fishing paraphernalia. Of course, some folks don't care for fishing so they will travel. . . . Indian Lake was the main attraction for Fannie Amstutz last week. . . . Larry Franklin is planning another fishing trip to Canada this year. He will go into the section where the wild animals roam. . . . WHAT A PREDICAMENT! A new car and no driver's license. For Joe Adams, this was quite a problem. Of course, his friends offered various solutions to the problem, but most of them were the wrong answers to his problem. . . . TAKEN FOR A RIDE: No, we don't mean a ride such as the gangster gives to his enemy, which is usually just a one way ride. We mean the leisurely jaunt over the highways and city streets. For information concerning one of the shortest rides on record, contact Eloise Noll. . . . Eddie Hesher told his son that he could have another hamster. But—not until after vacation. A couple of weeks passed and he reconsidered. So Frostie arrived to make his home with the Hesher family. . . . Congratulations to Agnes Andrews on her 19th wedding anniversary. . . . Peter Koenig is enjoying his third week of vacation fishing and taking it easy at home. . . . Arnold Martin and Warren Harding will spend their vacation touring the East to Washington, D. C., New York and Boston. . . . SECRET AMBITION!! Leonard Meyer's secret ambition is to become a champion at square dancing. Leonard still has another step to go as he came out second in a recent contest. . . . Clyde Gould and his family will tour the West to Yellowstone Park, Colorado Springs and Pikes Peak. . . . Alta Lautzenheiser will spend her vacation at Jackson, Mich., enjoying the beautiful Cascades. . . . Evelyn and Wilford Plasterer are planning a trip to sunny California. . . . Zula Holloway underwent surgery at the St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Wayne. We wish you a speedy recovery, Zula. . . . "AND DO UNTO OTHERS LIKEWISE:" Grant Fry trimmed Tibby Gehrig's cottage lawn the other day as repayment for the early spring painting that Tibby so thoughtfully gave Grant's boat. He would have repaid sooner except up to now he couldn't borrow a power lawnmower. . . .

It really isn't funny, but there is just something laughable about a chair falling apart. Paul Dannecker is a good scout and he just laughed, too, when it happened to him. . . . We are happy to see Joan Toderoff back after having a bad jaw. We're also glad to see that Harold Braden isn't limping any more. . . . Marty Cox has left us to take up a full time job of housekeeping. We're going to miss you, Marty. . . . Herb Koch makes a swell looking time clerk even if he does appear deaf and, at times, a little dumb. It's only an act, and we're on to you, Herb. . . . If all of us ladies in this office take on some added weight, it will be because one of those candy machines is right outside of our door. We may be long on weight, but, one thing sure, we will be short on nickels. . . . We extend our sympathies to Audrey Hickernell on the deaths of her brother-in-law and her husband's aunt. . . . A short time ago, I complained about picking strawberries in my fur coat. Now I am picking raspberries in my bathing suit. If you think that isn't tricky, try it sometime.

M-G MAN HERE 35 YEARS—Walter Gerdom, Bldg. 19-1 (center), day, July 11. Extending their best wishes are William David (left) received congratulations on his 35th anniversary with G-E Wednesand Robert Woehr.

Maury Robertson returned from his two weeks vacation sporting a new mustache. It is reported to have received many comments. Regardless of the consequences, Maury continues to hold his ground. . . . Harold Fish is moving his family here from Pittsfield. Harold, after many difficulties, finally found a house. . . . Time means nothing to Vance Miller, who almost sat through his lunch hour the other day. . . . Len Kendzierskie is a man who thinks you should dress to suit your mood. Len says if you are in a good mood, you should wear something bright and in a sad mood something dim. Len's wardrobe consists of yellow, pink, lavendar and blue shirts (with socks to match). From here on in, you can just look at Len and see what mood he's in. . . . Walt Riedinger finds that receiving our recent wage increase brought calls from others who wanted to "share the wealth." . . . Tom Black is a firm believer in tradition. Recently Tom developed a toothache, but he wasn't puzzled about the dentist's office being closed or what to do about the situation. He simply went to the basement,

Time Marches On

put up the ironing board, tied three bricks on one end of a string and his tooth to the other end, leaned over the ironing board and let the bricks fall. Out came the tooth. Tom says it wasn't that he was afraid of the dentist or even the high cost of dentist bills. It's just an old southern custom.

We see Bonnie Eme is back from her second honeymoon at Niagara Falls. . . . It worried all of us after seeing Faye and Anne having such a time eating green apples the other day. . . . Eddie Murchland needs a reminder on Thursdays about his eggs, or else they will be gone one of these days when he gets ready to go home. . . . We see that Phyllis Heathman is riding in a Ford these days instead of an Oldsmobile. . . . We are sorry to have Ben Hoffman leave us to take up new duties on the first floor. Lots of good luck. . . . Second Shift's little stockhelper, Jackie Rhoades, has received his Navy uniforms from the Reserves. . . . It will be good to see Edna Harth again after her recent illness. . . . Lots more happy birthdays to Zellie Disler. Thanks for the treats. . . . Baby congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Don Coolman, who have a daughter, Bonita, and to Mr. and Mrs. Louie Miller, who have a son. . . . Helen Mueller will have to take her television less seriously. Just as the action was at its height, Helen became enthused and spilled her refreshments all over her. . . . This much publicized fish that Leo Klejnot couldn't find a name for has been entered in the Main Auto Fishing contest as a smallmouth bass. The fellows still think it is a dog fish. . . . Harold Rhine needs a new alarm clock. He is often an hour late for work. . . . In addition to his duties as foreman, Mel France has a part-time job as director of traffic. He was seen waving his arms all around instructing Mrs. France how to park the Buick on Clinton St. . . . My recent request to have someone teach Dutch Norwalt how to fish has gone unfulfilled. It is being told that he is still doing his "fishing" at the A&P. . . . Of all the new summer styles and fads, we still like the most recent one worn by Harold Knoblaugh. One pants leg is worn as usual, while the other is rolled up above the knee.

Who owns the loudest sport shirt in the engineering divisions? Erv Aumann started something when he wore his green and yellow scenic shirt of Hawaii. The contest was on. Charlie Brown and Marv Adamson wouldn't be outdone, so Charlie wore pineapples and Marv, big yellow flowers. The rest of the Motor Section were scheduled to blossom forth, but they let the boys down. So far Marv is in the lead for having the shirt which makes the most "noise." Erv must have forgotten his camera when he left for his vacation out West. His latest shirt is scenic views of California in brown and white. . . . "It's a girl," says the cigar band for Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeCrappeo. Congratulations on the birth of your new daughter, Patricia. . . . Welcome to Charlie McClain, Ernest Close, Wilbur Smith, Paul Cox and Lee Preston. . . . Ray Atkinson, who is now vacationing out West, doesn't have to worry about running out of gasoline. —he lives right. Arriving in Bristol, Ind., with his team for a pistol match recently, Ray was aware that he was low on gasoline. He thought he'd get it on the return trip. Since it was getting late when they started home, they discovered filling stations along the way were closed. It rained "cats and dogs" as they were driving along. The small towns were dark and all stations closed. When they got to Middlebury, the rain came so hard it flooded the streets. The men pulled in under the shelter of a filling station. Suddenly lightening flashed and crashed. A church was going up in flames. The commotion brought out all the townspeople including the gas station attendant. Result; Ray got gasoline. There's nothing like having Heaven start a fire so one can buy gas to get home.

VACATION MEMORIES

Perfect weather, sunny skies
Bring lots of fish and many lies
Of idle days and sunburn lotion;
Of the rowboat's lulling motion.

Campfire cooking, burnt a little—
Boiling taters, blackened "kittle,"
Steak a broiling on the fire,
If the prices go no higher.

Of course, there was the leaky tent,
And you wondered why you went.
How it rained from now 'till Dooms Day.
The fish you caught—does it pay?

The fish you caught and the boat upset—
Lost a wager, got all wet.
Again vacation time is here—
Oh yes, where are we going, dear?

—Mary Ellen Owen

We wonder what time Bob Palmer gets up. He came in Monday morning wearing his house-slippers. . . . Guy Wagoner was so interested in talking to Jack Hurless that he walked three blocks beyond his own car in the parking lot. . . . That new baby girl and picking a bushel of beans from one hill has excited Archie Gwaltney. Archie used his landing net for a fish sack. All got away but four. . . . We found out why Russell Jones was able to take in all the events at the county fair. He had a free pass to everything on the grounds. . . . In testing his newly acquired boat and motor, Jack Stetler was really surprised. As he approached the center of the lake, the motor conked out and Jack had no oars. . . . Wilbur Lane desires to know who that secret admirer is that keeps calling him on the phone. . . . The Grinding Section welcomes George Morningstar. . . . Though slightly upset by rough weather on his trip East, Gus Mittermaier is completely sold on air transportation. . . . When coming to work, the water hose came loose on George Luker's car. It didn't stop him though. He hailed a nearby farmer, borrowed a piece of wire, fixed the hose in place and drove away. . . . DIE PLANT: We welcome William Davis and Charles Powers. . . . Here's hoping that Bob Sowards has a safe and enjoyable trip to California. . . . A big moment will occur in Chet Rennecker's life when his family moves into their new home tomorrow. . . . Hungry for spaghetti and cheese, Mike Rauner donned his chef's hat and went to work. It looked good but the family wouldn't touch it. Mike had used limburger cheese. . . . Jack Ecker has a humane mouse trap. He hangs a piece of cheese on a string about six inches above a "Burn-it-all" carton full of water. The hungry mouse walks a small plank and jumps up and eats the cheese. When the cheese is gone, he falls into the water and drowns. Since the mouse gets a full meal before his end, Jack thinks he is being kind to the little fellows. . . . Did you know that Maury Sordelet had to hitch a ride from the center of Lake James to his cottage? It seems he ran out of gas. . . . The river that flows through Al DeVaux's barnyard is out of its banks again. Al says he will either move the river or his barn. . . . Walter Greiner is complaining about how slow those trains in Canada were. Our chief train dispatcher, Carl Einsiedel, thinks that Walter probably rode on an early morning milk train. . . . Charley Shipman, who can really pitch the old baseball, didn't do so good in the donkey game. We hear that he spent most of his time chasing the donkeys. . . . Jim Kavanaugh really loves his golf. Last week he was seen standing ankle deep in water with his raincoat and golf clubs. . . . Cleo Baird wants to buy a used "duck," the car that will run on land or in water.

Juanita I. Harris, Bldg. 4-3, Succumbs

Juanita I. Harris, 29, of 2721 Gay St., died at 6:50 a.m. Wednesday, July 11, in her home.

Mrs. Harris had been employed in Bldg. 4-3 since September, 1945.

Surviving are a brother, Robert Pearson; a sister, Mrs. Stanley Dungey, both of Fort Wayne, and an aunt, Mrs. Lillian Klingel, with whom she made her home.

uation from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

After an assignment in the Switchboard Department in Schenectady, N. Y., he was transferred in 1927 to the company's Philadelphia Works, where he rose through several positions to that of manager in 1941.

In 1945, he became manager of the Pittsfield, Mass., Apparatus Works and, in 1948, was named manager of the Transformer and Allied Products Divisions with headquarters in Pittsfield. In this capacity, he was in charge of one of the company's largest divisions, with plants at Pittsfield and Holyoke, Mass., Fort Edward, N. Y., and Oakland, Calif.

In August, 1950, Mr. Paxton was appointed manager of manufacturing policy and a month later was elected a vice president in charge of manufacturing policy, which position he has held up to now.

against breakage, the vacuum feature causes the bulb to collapse rather than explode.

Another type of bulb which might answer the purpose is the 100-watt R.S. bulb which has the outside coated with clear lacquer. In case of breakage, the lacquer holds the pieces of glass together and eliminates the hazard of flying glass.

While these types of bulbs are not carried in stock at the Employes' Store, they will be glad to order them.

Don Seslar ran into a little trouble when he walked into the Standardizing Section at Taylor St. Don was very proud of a few hairs he had under his nose that he called a mustache. When he came out, he had received an expert shave from Herman Bertche, Virgil Huguenard, Dick Doster and Forest Carr. There was just one thing wrong with it, they only did half a job. Who was the kind soul that gave him a razor to shave the rest of it? . . . Sam Ratcliff must have been thinking of vacation when he was repairing a grinder. He tore it down three times before it would work. . . . The collection of ties in Standardizing is getting larger and brighter. Sport shirts are quite the fad at Taylor St. . . . Monroeville is having its Centennial soon, and Charlie Hartman would rather look like a goat than pay $3 to be able to shave. Even his coon dog won't have anything to do with him. . . . As a farmer, Kenny Wyatt makes a better electrician. He was seen recently trying to plow but he had the plow put together backwards. It's a good thing it didn't have a motor on it or he might have lost a leg. . . . Did you see the picture of Merle and Ernie in last week's WORKS NEWS? They were on top wearing the shoes. . . . Bob Dressel found out who his true friends are. After faking a story about needing $100 to use as bail, he only got a promise of almost $20. What happened to friend Schoenfeld, Bob? Didn't he have his bank book with him?

Ida Patterson caught the limit of bluegills. R. H. Cristman also reported good fishing at his lake. . . . All the smoke on the floor recently wasn't a job for the fire department. Vilas (Whitey) Bender passed "It's a Boy Cigars." Congratulations. . . . Carl Winter is spending two weeks at camp with the National Guard. . . . Ask Carl Plattner's boss what's Carl's official capacity? He will likely say, "leading operator." If you ask Carl, he will say, "One Case." . . . Best wishes to Harry Sebold. Now that he has retired, we hope he will find the necessary time to grow beautiful flowers just the way he'd like to. . . . Welcome to Ruth Stauffer, new time clerk in the office. . . . Anyone wishing to visit David Dulin, whose leg was amputated—his address is 426 Arcadia Court. . . . Most people cool off a little when they are favored with a fan, but not Ed Glusenkamp. When he gets a fan, Ed begins to sweat. . . . Special thanks to Clara Outlaw, who is typing this column. . . . If anybody has a news item, don't hesitate to see your group reporter.

Decatur Picnic

Meyer will direct the chow line operation. Bob Bolinger will have charge of the major part of the adult program, and Leo Hoffman is chairman of the Horseshoe contest. The skating rink will be open from 1 to 4 p.m.

A special invitation has been extended to all the pensioners to attend the picnic and enjoy the ham and the picnic trimmings. The fun will start with a fish pond and will end with pie and melon-eating contests. Prizes range from play balls to croquet sets and a complete camping tent.

Registration will be under the direction of Club President "Chuck" Cook. The setting up and tearing down is being managed by Charlie Cloud and Frances Eady. Publicity is by Bill Coffee. Parking, lost kiddies and all other incidentals will be handled by Ray Shackley.

Mr. Moser said a record attendance is expected.

Does anyone have a solution to Evelyn Campbell's early morning dilema? The other day she was eating her lunch and reached into her sack for an orange, but pulled out a lemon and started peeling it. It's almost like the time she picked up the sack with her hubby's shoes, instead of her lunch. . . . Wish we could find out what Ginny Price and Elmer Haugh are kidding Louise Gaudy about. It sounds very interesting. . . . Anyone wishing to have their hair cut, just go to Nan Haley—note Dottie Savoie—Nan did that job of haircutting; that is if you can see it when Dot isn't wearing a bandana. . . . Any old razor blades? Marcy Malcuit is saving them. Seems she can use them on her typing job, in more ways than one. . . . The girls of Sales had a picnic after work a week ago at McMillen park. Everyone had a good time, including Margaret Snyder and Pat Brueggeman, who both got red tickets for parking where they didn't belong. . . . Once more we bid goodbye to an old friend and greet a new one. Donna Hayes is leaving to get married Aug. 4. She will be living in Paducah, Ky. Let us hear from you, Donna. Our new friend is Carolyn Mullett, who recently came from Miami, Fla., with her husband who is studying radio engineering at Indiana Tech. She is working in Customer Billing Section. . . . Our sympathy to Naomi Davidson, whose mother died last week. . . . Norm Singleton's son, David, is in the hospital due to an accident which happened while playing. His foot is in a cast. Hope Dave is soon okay, Norm. . . . Harry Mintch spent an unexpectedly quiet week-end at the lake. He drove to the lake in shorts. When he started to dress for the dance, he found he had brought plenty of shirts, jackets, etc., but had forgotten just one thing, trousers. . . . The sales office bids goodbye to Harry Geller today. He is going to the Bridgeport office. It has been wonderful having you with us, Harry, and write us once in awhile. Please try to remember, Harry, that when you go on a picnic out there, that you do need a bottle opener. . . . Best wishes to Charlotte Scott, who received a ring from Jim Jellison. Both are in the Sales Section. . . . We hope Judy Clark gets plenty of rest during her month leave of absence. After this, Judy, don't work so hard. . . . Paul Grimmer is now at Reserve School in Indianapolis, and Eve Meyer is now vacationing at Hamilton Lake. . . . Mrs. Gerald Buckmaster, formerly Geneva Schrock, is back from honeymooning for the past two weeks.

Adele Wietfeldt is waiting for nice weather so she can get the house painted. . . . Martha Arnel has had a week's vacation. She spent some time in Independence, Mo., and St. Louis. . . . We have a report that "Ducky" Drake recently celebrated a birthday. . . . We will excuse Margaret Harrison for taking a few days off. Margaret's sister was visiting in her home. . . . What's the matter with Al Telschow's drawer. Al cleans it everyday and still it is always dirty. . . . When you see Olga Hayes, notice the halo. Olga says, "At least, it's different." . . . Charles Best presented himself with a new garden tractor. We know what Charlie will be doing during vacation—playing with the tractor. . . . Clara Sowards is taking a vacation in California. She left last week and will be gone six weeks. . . . We wish Franees and Carl Kuzeff a happy birthday. . . . Coy Copesius is spending part of her spare time hanging paper. . . . Mary Jane Bakle says not everyone can have a haircut like the one she had—you have to be pretty. All jokes aside, Mary Jane, the new permanent looks nice. . . . Harley Springer is putting a new floor in his basement and is having quite a time keeping the water out so he can work.

Silence isn't always golden—sometimes it's just plain yellow.

We were all deeply shocked at the untimely death of our co-worker, Juanita Harris. She had just spent a wonderful week-end at Nashville, Tenn., and seemed to be in good health. Her family and loved ones have our sincere sympathy. . . . Louie Stalf left last Tuesday on pension. He plans to do a lot of fishing. The radio he got will sure come in handy, too. He also got a new deck of cards. He wanted to break them in before he left, so they used them at noon. Louie's one desire was to skunk the other guys before he left. This is something he will never live down—he got skunked on the second game! . . . Charlene Bandor had quite an experience Friday when she discovered a dead mouse on her work table. . . . We wish Irmgard Gehle a speedy recovery. . . . Best wishes to Nancy Duryee, who became Mrs. Robert Locke last Sunday. . . . It must have been the panther oil that Ben Farrington used in his 1941 Ford to be able to get 102 miles on four gallons of cut-rate gas! . . . Jim Stauffer spent the week-end at Middleton, O. Something of a little auto wreck delayed his arrival home until Sunday! . . . Since the fishing season in Michigan has opened, Emily Nierman has been spending the week-ends at Colon. She is doing casting for the first time, so don't be surprised if she comes in with a big fish story. . . . The new girl in the office is Ruth Abels. . . . If you should see Don Nagel with his head in the clouds, it is only because that loveable little man Dan Cupid shot an arrow through his heart. He gave his girl a beautiful ring last week. . . . Hank Shirley makes everyone hungry when he eats those Wimpy sandwiches. . . . Grace Ober spent the week-end in New Martinsville, W. Va. . . . Modene Smith's brother, who is a jet pilot, is on his way to Japan. . . . Barbara Tschannen celebrated her 21st birthday at the Berghoff Gardens. . . . About 25 people got stuck on the elevator last week. Mary Garrard was at the controls pushing a lot of buttons. We all climbed up about four feet to get to the first floor. Too bad no one thought of using the stool for a stepping stone. . . . Not only the chicken got burned up at Eddie Prangers but Ed got a slight burn when he had to take the family out for dinner. You will read while the chicken burns! . . . Merle Keesler and Martha Scherzinger were both off last week. Martha had a sprained ankle. . . . Best wishes to Grace Taylor, who will wed Loren Hill, Bldg. 26-3, on July 28 at the Trinity Gospel Church at 2 o'clock. Her sister Unis will be an attendant. . . . Neva Scott will visit practically all points west on her vacation. . . . Glad Edna Hauser is back after a long illness. . . . A very speedy recovery to Buelah Briner, who is a patient at Mayo Brothers' Clinic. . . . Ida May Ernst, Marilyn Norton and Helen White are going to New York on the Elex trip. . . . Clarice Fyock and her mother are going to Bermuda. . . . Toni Whetmore had to take her shoes off at the dance before she could do a fast jitter-bug! . . . Amanda Longwell was a lucky dinner-winner last week. . . . Only one week's vacation, but what a tan Eileen Lantz has! . . . If you are in need of first aid, call on Dave Miller. He got the highest grade in his class. . . . George Allen caught some big pike and crappies while in Wisconsin. When he got back home he caught something he didn't want, a strong dose of poison ivy. . . . George Worley's hogs are getting so big he had to buy a new Ford truck to haul them in. . . . Art MacNamara has one for the books. While fishing in Rome City, he caught a three-pound bass on a bluegill hook but this one was caught by the tail! He has a picture to prove it. . . . Gerna Cook thanks everyone for all her lovely gifts and cards she has been getting since she has been sick. . . . That old man stork has been a very busy bird. He left a boy, Charles Edward, at the home of Jack Smith, July 9. Geneva Culler got a girl and Faye Folk Wilson, a son. Congratulations all the way around.

Jess T. Fredendall visited the Fort Wayne Works reeently for the first time since he retired June 1, 1946. Mr. Fredendall is now living at 284 Holden Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., and is enjoying his retirement very much. He and his wife have made several motor trips to Niagara Falls and other Canadian resorts. While in Fort Wayne, he visited Bldgs. 18, 31-1, 26-2, 6 and nearly all the offices at Taylor St. . . . E. J. Graham was another recent visitor here. . . . John W. Felmlee, who retired in 1945 with 37 years of G-E service, visited here from Los Angeles two weeks ago. He recalled many exciting moments around G-E, especially when the ETC team he was managing beat the Apprentices in a hotly-contested football game. He does a great deal of driving around California — 40,000 miles since he moved there. After all the cordiality extended to him on his visit here, Mr. Felmlee said that if he had it to do all over, he would start his career again at G-E.

Hearken unto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings.—Isaiah 51:7.

HE'S GONE: Ralph Kaeck is different. He headed North on his vacation. Others have gone South. . . . CONGRATULATIONS: To Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schimmel on arrival of a new Fred William. Good luck to all of you. . . . OR DID I? Ralph Richards walked into the east Fairfield parking lot and surveyed the lake of cars. Only then did he remember he parked on the west side of Fairfield. . . . WELCOME: To Bill Barnett. He will be with us for a few months. His assignment is in Paul Schaffer's section. . . . PORE CRITTER: Charlie Koomjohn is about to retire his old Chevy. Rumors have it that he will enlarge his garage to give it its deserved retirement. . . . MR. BIG: Where fishing is concerned, Dent Manecke could be a jinx. The first event of a series was when Dent and Lowell Ray decided to catch nothing but 12" bass. Dent ended up hoping to catch a two-inch bluegill. Later, Dent and Leonard Roebel teamed up to compete with Lowell Ray and Harold Carter in a fishing duel. Lowell was the only man to catch any fish. Len Roebel said that was the first time he ever went fishing and caught nothing. It was probably the first time he ever fished with Dent. . . . CONDITION? Marvin Schmidt couldn't find his car in the parking lot. Then it struck him. He didn't drive. . . . SPECIAL SERVICE: What's this we hear about Tom Doell having his lunch delivered by a garage wrecker? . . . WELCOME: To John Oldenkamp back to the Development Engineering Div. He was delayed a few weeks due to an automobile accident. . . . Welcome to our new draftsman, Clifford Denney, and to the new engineer, Stanley Newhall, Jr. . . . TIME SAVER: Al Ulmer tried to kill two birds with one stone. He tried washing his face and glasses at the same time. . . . CLUE: Watch the "Fractional Forum" for the complete story on how to determine the date of a photograph by merely looking at it—by none other than Al Ulmer. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAYS: To Marylis Redding July 21 and to "Skeets" Lahrman July 24. . . . WELCOME: We welcome two new members to the D. C. Div. They are Paul Waldon, test engineer working with Mr. Stanbery's group. His home town is Minneapolis and he holds a degree in electrical engineering. Also we would like you to meet William (Bill) Somers. He is on the Creative Engineering Program and comes from Schenectady. He is married and has a wee son. He reports to Sam Moore. . . . BUNDLE: The stork finally arrived at the Ray Solga residence, depositing young James Vincent in the arms of Mrs. Solga at the St. Joe Hospital July 10. Both are doing fine. Congratulations to the new poppa and momma! . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY: To Garland Roby July 19 and Ed Whipple July 21. . . . ULCERS: We hear Bill Ruthledge is "batching" it while his young son and Mrs. Rutledge are visiting Mrs. Rutledge's parents in the East. Can you stand your own cooking, or don't you? . . . GET WELL: Helen Conrad has been confined to Room 377 at the St. Joe Hospital. We hope that she will be up and around and back with us soon. . . . SYMPATHY: To Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pringle on the death of Mrs. Pringle's father in Illinois.

STARTS 31ST YEAR—William F. Rapp, FHP Motor Div. 13 (right), is pictured ringing in his clock card to start his 31st year with G-E. Sam Allmandinger is watching the event.

The G-E girls won their third consecutive game against the Binger Walther League, 9-8, Monday, July 16, at Packard Park. It was a hotly contested five-inning game with G-E leading all innings by a very small margin.

Binger started the game with two on by way of walks. Oehler hit into a doufle play, Puff to Getty. The one run came when D. Bultemeier scored on a single by G. Scheumann. The side was retired with a grounder to the pitcher.

Two runs were scored by Binger in the second and none in the third. The Leaguers got four runs in the fourth on four walks, a single and a double by R. Bultemeier. The last run came in the fifth on a walk and two singles.

G-E scored two runs in the first with hits by Goeglein, Koldewey and Getty. The girls scored four more runs in the second with the bases loaded on a walk and two singles. Koldewey hit a three-bagger to score three runs. She scored on a pass ball. The remaining three runs were scored in the third with singles by Getty, Gallaway, Saxton and Miller. Both Getty and Gallaway stole second to third. Goeglein finished the inning by hitting a double, knocking in the ninth run.

Miller and Koldewey pitched for G-E and Drewett caught. Binger's battery included Ostermeier; P. Scheumann and Oetting.

The first mention of pensions in G-E's history was recorded in the minutes of the Board of Directors meeting in December, 1909.

Our heartiest welcome to Pat Aberilla, who recently came on second as an inspector from Bldg. 17-2. . . . When we hear the patter of bare feet, we only have to guess between two persons. Two people who have forgotten they are not still in Kentucky or Southern Indiana are A. C. Trent and Arnett Clouse. At least, Trent is a little self-conscious and keeps his trouser legs rolled down, but not Arnett. He goes around with his overall legs rolled up like a real mountaineer, and gives such excuses as it looks rainy or in-grown toe nails. McCalip has been away from Tennessee only six months and he has already learned to keep his shoes on; says he will soon even be able to tie them. . . . All one has to do to get an eight-hour lecture on baseball from Ulice "Pete" Windom is just say two little words, "Preacher Roe." Radio has its advantages, doesn't it? . . . Ask George Maloney how he likes $70 beefsteaks and Cadillacs. . . . Everybody's going "hot-rod" happy on second shift. Vernon Hockmeyer, Jack Nunemaker and Joe Dunham are the most recent purchasers of Hollywood mufflers. Jack also has rigged a soup job for the races, a '37 Ford "hot-rod."

Dick Zink, Red Braden Lead Losers, 78 & 79

by Earl D. Stauffer

A band of 24 golfers, the cream of the G-E Club leagues, sallied forth to the Notre Dame links in South Bend last Sunday afternoon to play their annual match with Studebaker AC.

The Club lads came out on the short of a 48-24 score. The matches are played under the Nassau system where one point is awarded for each nine-hole winner and one point for the 18-hole victor, making three points in all.

The Notre Dame layout was not especially tough in the fairways, but the greens were big and tricky. Many of the greens were well trapped, however.

Dick Zink and Harold "Red" Braden led the local contingent with scores of 78 and 79, respectively, but it was Nick Garbacy of Studebaker who turned in the score of the day, a 71.

Denton Manecke, golf commissioner for the Club, was in charge of the local group.

Bauer Sisters Slated

One of the featured golf attractions for July will be the appearance of the Bauer sisters, the youngest and the prettiest professionals in the world, at the Orchard Ridge Country Club, Sunday, July 29th.

The sisters, Alice and Marlene, will play an exhibition match against two male opponents in an 18-hole best-ball match.

Preceding the exhibition tilt, the girls will put on a golf clinic, demonstrating various clubs which will enable the fans to get a preview of their unique style of golfing.

Their father, Dave Bauer, also a golf professional, started the girls swinging golf clubs when they were hardly as tall as their drivers.

Marlene, now 17, qualified for the South Dakota championship when she was only seven. Alice, now 23, won it the next year when she was only 14.

Since their auspicious start, the girls have appeared in the majority of the women's professional tournaments throughout the country.

Owls Blank Eckrich In 5 Innings, 14-0; Grimes Gives Up 1 Hit

by Bill Geist

The G-E Owls, scoring in every frame but the fourth, had it easy downing Eckrich, 14-0, in a five-inning game.

G-E looked good on a double play in the first. After Snyder walked, Dinnis hit to the shortstop —Tiny Baker. The play went from Baker to Bebe Blauvelt at second, to Ken Zurbuch at first. Cliff Grimes limited Eckrich to one hit that came in the fourth.

Last week, after the scorer went home, Harvester found their opponents were absent. G-E and Harvester then played G-E's vacation game. G-E won 8-3 on eight hits to Harvester's three.

Earl Tipsord continues to lead the batting percentage with an amazing .523, followed by Don Hower with .423, and Morrie Moffitt, .357.

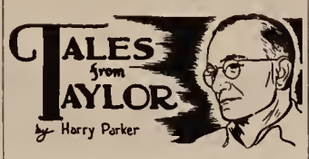
YOU'RE OUT!!—G-E Little League catcher Tommy Martin almost makes it to third base during a recent game with Allen Dairy. Starting the season as a utility player, Martin is currently a candidate for the Little League's All-Star Nine.

Lorraine Papp and the egg she was frying had a little trouble. . . . What was Chloa Weitzman doing with the ruler? . . . Ernie Clark seems to have trouble finding his car since he polished it. . . . John Collins has quite a time getting his grass to grow. He doesn't have to sprinkle as he has little streams of water in it. . . . George Brehm is a grandfather again and is mighty proud. . . . Vera Hoover not only catches the fish but has to clean them for Edna DeLeury. . . . Some folks are going up north for their vacations. Will you have to do much packing, Art? For Tri Lakes, that is. . . . Mary Williamson bought such a big suitcase. You would think she had a six month vacation but it's only two weeks. . . . Nelson Clippinger must need his glasses changed as he couldn't tell what numbers were on the bottom of the schedule—only to be informed that they are blank spaces. . . . Wonder where Gary Pequinot got his new name. . . . Levi Carpenter is now driving a new Pontiac. . . . Welcome back, Annabelle Blair. . . . Carolyn White spilled coffee on her dress and dried it with a heat lamp. . . . Nellie Wendt sure wishes vacation was here. She forgets what model number she's packing. . . . Phil Robertson, do you need some lessons on how to string fish? The old saying is the big one always gets away. . . . Allen Gillum, be more careful when you sit down. . . . Bernie Ternet, we think you should drink pop so you could turn your car switch off. . . . When you are out driving, you might stop at little Bill Edmund, Jr.'s popcorn stand. . . . We can sure tell that Dee Baker is back to work. It's so noisy. . . . We've asked Ed Bangert for some rubber trays. They sure would help. . . . Ann Wibel can certainly sharpen pencils.

Thought for the Week: It's a wise man who never repeats his mistakes—to others. —Howard Newton.

OUR ONE ACT PLAY: Scene: Midway at county fair. Olin Keller stops in front of a show. Barker starts spiel, "Come closer, men, see Fatima do her dance, 50 cents, a half a dolla." Olin reaches in pocket for money, a hand grasps his arm. "Come, dear," Mrs. Keller says. Mr. Keller sees only the prize stock. . . . FOUND: We were getting ready to enlist some help to find a G-E picture button lost at McMillen Park during the July Fourth fireworks display. It was very gratifying to find out that Herman Zuber hadn't lost the button at all. It was on the shirt he wore that day. . . . CONFUSED: Gene Smith, the new expediter in Bldg. 31-1, is having a hard time getting back to his desk when he gets up. Maybe he prefers George Moses' to his own. . . . ENGAGED: Paul Schladenhauffen, has given a ring to Mildred Swartz of Berne, Ind. . . . WELCOME to Dave Montgomery and Bill Caress. . . . HAD A GOOD TIME: Even though he had a hard time getting to the operetta last week, Bill Shanebeck reports he had a good time with his blind date. . . . Everybody puts up a fuss when they put a nickel in the candy machine and nothing comes out. But if five or six candy bars come out, not a word is said. . . . WHY? It is a sad day when your boss doesn't trust you anymore. We can't understand why Monroe Brosius won't tell us what he did last week-end. Somebody said he went swimming. . . . CHAIRMAN: Bud Weaver has accepted the chairmanship of the Motor and Generator office family picnic. He will be needing some help, so don't forget how to cooperate. . . . FISHERMAN: Pat Ness is becoming quite a fisherman. Besides catching lots of fish, she also acquired a sunburn.



Congratulations to Chuck Whitman and his wife. The new addition is a little girl, Donnita Lynne, 7 lbs. 11 oz. . . . If you hear the birdies singing around you, it is just Betty T. and her new toy. . . . Pondo is in the market for an oil field. He said his Chevy is using so much oil that he believes he is driving a diesel. . . . Ralph Lee and Moe have lost their touch as far as euchre is concerned. They have won one game in the last 12. . . . If anyone has seen the movie "The Bull Fighter and the Lady," please talk to Delores Gladbach. There were parts in the picture she didn't understand. . . . Did everyone enjoy the fair or were you too busy battling the mud to look around. Don LeMaster made out fine, even carrying his youngest son. But on the way out, he slipped and fell flat in a big puddle of mud. . . . Millie and Herman look like an old married couple already. Every morning on the way to work, you'll see Millie sitting way over on her side reading the comics. . . . Marcie G. can be quite the hep cat, if given the opportunity, even after a round of golf. . . . Ask Marty and Bernice how they liked the fair. Chet Kowalski came around beating the drums. He can put on quite a show himself. . . . Pondo can't even go out of the state without getting a traffic ticket. Pondo, can't you read signs in Akron, O., either. . . . Joan Baker and Betty Shanyfelt are going on nights. We will miss you, gals. . . . Is Elmer Harshman complaining? He took his car in for a 10,000-mile check-up, getting it ready for vacation. The bill was $45, including a 20-cent charge to run the car up on the ramp. . . . Last Friday noon, a group of girls were stuck in the elevator. About three feet below first floor, we stopped, after dropping slowly from about third floor, and had to be rescued. . . . Mildred Carpenter was grinding away on her new car. It wouldn't start until a kind neighbor told her to turn the key. . . . Ask Lem Clouse about the king-size tomatoes and cucumbers. . . . Casey with the bat, that's Delores Gladbach. She was chasing a bug around her room with a paper and hit the light bulb, making it explode. . . . Anyone having trouble with their glasses, see Mardo Tobias. How does that oil work, Mardo?

People who think too much of themselves do not think enough.

Our man of "Turtle Fame," Gale Harris, was in the spotlight again recently. Following a long distance call, Gail appeared on Lowell Thomas's television program. The subject, of course, was turtles. . . . Anyone having any excess handkerchiefs, bring them in for Fred Dey and Wimpy Blalock. How about it, men? . . . Several gals have managed to nail some unsuspecting fellers. Betty Baker, Faye Nichols and Mary Ely are sporting diamonds, and Donna Miller was married in June. Donna was given a potluck and a present from the gang. . . . The night shift wishes a nice vacation to Darrell Herschfelder. . . . Hey, Nancy, have you run into any more cranes or fell into any waste baskets lately? . . . What was it you did with your lipstick, Joan Graham? . . . We all wish a speedy recovery to Trulie Nelson and Wyonetta Gerdom, who are still on our sick list. . . . Ruth Wyss, Phyllis Shepard, Mary Epperson and Virginia Guenther are some new faces on our floor. Mary Mondey and Phyllis Greulick come to us from third floor. . . . Sharon Dasher, Tony Konger and Christina Helms have joined the first trick gang. . . . A couple of guys named Archie and Ernie were sent over to the Gas Transformer Section to do some cleaning. Archie exclaimed, "I was afraid to touch anything in case it would blow up!". . . . Bea Marsh forgot to ring in Friday morning. When Louie told her she could go home at noon, she got so excited she forgot to ring out! . . . When Gervaise Herman got to snooping around, he came across a couple of unmentionable items! Were they the right size, Herman? . . . Joyce Krider, Jean Turner and Agnes Jump are now doing the reporting for the second trick and are doing a swell job. . . . Elli Calland and Helen Wolf sure got disturbed over a poor little mouse. . . . Short Story: John Jones looked up the elevator shaft to see if the elevator was coming. It was. Age, 49. . . . Stanley Sakai and Jim Price are ambassadors of goodwill as far as the ladies are concerned. . . . Did you ever find your peach, Junior? . . . Who was the set-up man who was trying to match a shop order with coil specifications. . . . Notice: Due to revolting developments, the beauty contest will not be held. . . . Arietta Denney and her co-workers looked high and wide for the cork from her thermos. No luck! Sabotage!

Two years ago, we told our readers of Newton Poland's venture into growing raspberries. Planting a goodly sized plot of ground with plants, he succeeded in reaping quite a harvest the first year. Now his ranch presents a sorry picture. The majority of the bushes have died off, cutting this year's yield to less than one fourth of the previous year's production. Newt blames the severe winter for this disaster, but we firmly believe that he shouldn't have disposed of that big boxer which he let run in the raspberry patch. He kept the earth around the bushes continually loosened. However, he is giving up the raspberries and is going to plow up the tract of land and sow it with pumpkin seed. . . . On the Fourth of July, Everett McKee did some fishing. He spent the day at one of our Northern Indiana lakes and endeavoured to snare a good mess of bluegills. Having gained his objective, he hoisted anchor and was just about ready to head for shore when a three-foot dog fish jumped into his boat. It bit him on the hand, jumped back into the lake and swam off. . . . Kenny Thompson, one of the star performers of the famous quartet "The Sentimental Four," reported a very rough time during the fireworks display at McMillen Park. What with the eternal threat of rain on that day, high winds and the temperature in the 50's, it proved most uncomfortable. The four of them had to don fur bunnies at the same time wearing their straw hats. However, they did very well and are to be congratulated on their performance even though they did look rather comical. . . . George Cowan is much perturbed over the fact that his wife will not permit him to enter the house through the front portal. With the dog, it is different. The minute the pooch barks, Mrs. Cowan hurries to the front door and lets Sir Doggie in, while George has to always enter by the rear door.

Only five more days until vacation. We are almost as anxious for vacation as most kids are for Christmas. Oh well, after 50 weeks of work, we will really appreciate the rest. . . . Ralph Thomas has had an increase in his family. His cat had kittens. How many, we don't know. . . . Also, there is an addition at Lois Jackson's house—a parakeet. It certainly won't take Lois long to get him to talk. . . . Ernie Fruechtenicht got paid Wednesday and proceeded to throw his time card in the box just like Friday. Guess we'll have to change his pay day. . . . Little people sure do eat a lot to keep going. For instance, Betty had a 92-cent lunch last week. Maybe that's how she keeps that trim figure—carrying a lot of food around. . . . Alice Hahn is now Alice Stator according to her time slip. . . . Alice Pflueger was describing her husband's pajamas as having green pipe all around the window. So far we haven't been able to figure out just what kind of pajamas he has. They certainly must be original. . . . Jean Forst is the proud mama of Karen Lynn Forst, born July 15. Our very best wishes to Karen and her family. . . . Mary Burkholder spent most of Monday floating around on a little pink cloud as a result of the beautiful diamond she received over the week-end. To Mary and Roger from all of us, our congratulations and lots of happiness. . . . Things are really getting tough around town. A person really hates to go to sleep. While Earl Stauffer was in the arms of Morpheus the other night, someone filched two of his nicest evergreen trees.

There's a lot of good in a lot of people—because it never has come out.

"No Tears, Honey—It's only for two weeks," Tom Zieg, Bldg. 17-1, tells his pretty wife, Audrey, as he departs for a Grayling, Mich., training site with the 293rd Regiment of the Indiana National Guard's 38th "Cyclone" Division. Tom is one of many G-E'ers who will spend his vacation toughening the muscles of Uncle Sam's new army.

Blood Donors Sign Aug. 29

Operating under the idea that good example is worth more than many long winded orations, the presidents of 11 Fort Wayne Works organizations will set the pace for their fellow employes when they roll up their sleeves as a group at the Regional Blood Center here Tuesday, August 21.

Following a second meeting of the organizational heads in Bldg. 18-2 last Tuesday, K. W. Michael, assistant to the manager — in charge of community relations, announced that contact members of the 11 G-E groups will solicit blood donors August 29-31. Donor cards will be distributed to all foremen by the various payroll divisions prior to their circulation by the contact workers, Mr. Michael explained.

The plant-wide effort is part of a concerted drive among all Allen County industrial concerns to supply blood to the recently opened Regional Blood Center here, R. L. Mace, chairman of the Fort Wayne-Allen County Blood Program, informed the convening presi-

Kent and Roop Elected G-E Club Presidents

Dick Kent, Bldg. 18-5, was re-elected president of the G-E Club in an election having the largest vote cast in local history, Jerry Duryee, chairman of the nominating committee, disclosed this week. In the Decatur Plant election, George Roop, a cylindrical grinder operator in Bldg. 1, was elected Decatur Club president to succeed Charles Cook.

Other newly-elected officers for 1951-52 at Fort Wayne are Pres Slack, Bldg. 2-2, first vice president; Betty Puff, Bldg. 4-6, second vice president; Charlie Winans, Taylor St., secretary, and Carl Reynolds, Taylor St., director.

Officers, who will serve with Mr. Roop at Decatur are: Joe Weber, vice president; Joan Lichtenstiger, secretary; Irene Holthouse, treasurer, and Charles Cook, Betty Moran, Max Odle, William Kohls, and John F. Welch, directors.

The new officers will assume their duties Sept. 1, 1951.

Gets FHP Post—C. M. Schnieders assumed new duties this week as assistant to the Department Accountant in Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions. (story on page 3)

What's Happened To Honor?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Philip D. Reed, board chairman of General Electric, is the author of the following article. It appeared in the July 1 issue of THIS WEEK magazine. It is timely and well written in direct, easily comprehended sentences for all levels of understanding.)

"Whatever happened to honor?" someone asked me the other day, just the way you might ask whatever had become of a neighbor, or a childhood friend. It's a good question for Americans to ask.

Perhaps this seems a strange kind of subject for a businessman to be discussing. I don't mean that business is a stranger to the homely virtues, like honor. But generally, our first concern is with such hard-boiled facts as plants, tools, profits and customers.

My own company, for example, makes turbines, locomotives and refrigerators. My principal outside interest is the International Chamber of Commerce, which is primarily concerned with encouraging and expanding the flow of goods—more turbines, locomotives and refrigerators—throughout the world. What does honor, a Sunday-school word, have to do with all of this?

Back to the Jungle

To that I can give you a hard-boiled businessman's answer. If honor disappears, then our whole way of life disappears. When people stop trusting each other, when they can no longer rely on each other's promises, then we have stopped being civilized and have gone back to the jungle. That concerns me directly, because the jungle is a very poor market for turbines, locomotives and refrigerators.

But of course, there is a great deal more to the story than that. Honor touches every part of our daily living. Marriages are successful only when husbands and wives trust each other. Happy homes are built on a similar relationship between parents and children. Good employe relations, healthy community relations and good relations between a business and the public all depend on people living up to their contracts and keeping their promises to each other.

There have been a lot of definitions of civilization, but personally I think the subject is best covered when we say that civilization means the substitution of honor for brute force. This didn't happen all at once. Like universal brotherhood, it has been a goal towards which we inch our way, day after day, and we are satisfied if we can only see that some progress has been made in our neighborhood, in our time.

Through the years, we have had the development of international law, the outlawing of certain kinds of weapons and warfare—such as dumdum bullets and poison gas—the international agreements to treat prisoners of war humanely. These are milestones along the way. Even when the attempt is notably not successful, as in a League of Nations or a Kellogg-Briand Pact, the very fact that we at least tried to pull ourselves up out of the jungle proves that we are making progress. Now we're trying again in the United Nations.

There has always been opposition, of course, but now I think there is something more serious and more tragic happening. We seem to be witnessing a halt in the steady expansion of this "area of honor." In our time, the area has begun to shrink. It may have begun back in 1914 with the infamous "scrap of paper," when Germany tore up its treaty of neutrality with Belgium and marched through that country. That was the first step: the open flaunting of solemn contracts and agreements.

The Technique of Lying

But now we are faced with a new and more dangerous development—the technique of the Big Lie.

Tell a big lie to millions of people, tell it over and over without bothering about facts or logic, without regard to how preposterous or ridiculous or vicious it sounds at first and pretty soon it acquires the status of fact with those unhappy people who are not in position to check the facts. Pretty soon even the injured and slandered parties, who know better, are panicked into fighting the Big Lie or negotiating over it, just as if it were the truth. Actually, this is the old concept that the end justifies the means, no matter how immoral the means may be.

If Hitler didn't invent the Big Lie, he at least made very effective use of it. But he was a rank amateur compared with the communist leaders of today, who made a mockery of simple truths, force us to put quotation marks around their use of such words as "peace" and "democracy," and assiduously pursue the Lenin dictum: "destroy morality."

The dangerous and insidious thing is that we, ourselves, run the risk of being corrupted by our opponents' lack of morality, and by their use of the Big Lie. In a world where some people have abandoned honor and disregarded their promises and their respect for truth, it becomes a little easier for the rest of us to justify breaking our promises, too.

Warning Signals

A failing morality is a corrupting and corroding thing, and if it goes on, it can undermine the framework of Western Civilization. We have seen the warning signals in the recent newspaper headlines about crime investigations and racket exposures in many of our cities.

There are many ways in which we may be called upon to fight for our lives and for our way of life—as soldiers, as scientists, as businessmen, and as teachers. Not the least of the battles is the one to restore honor and integrity as standards of decent human behavior to all the peoples of the world.

Mere words, of course, will not do the trick, even if they have conviction and determination behind them. Words need to be fortified with specific acts.

All Our Acts

Those acts apply to every phase of our daily life. They start in the family and the home with such simple acts as keeping a promise to take Junior to the zoo. They include the whole range of everyday relationships in the community and on the job.

They spread out to include organizations like the International Chamber of Commerce whose work, above all, is dedicated to making people in many countries understand and trust each other.

Honor is a chain with many links. It leads from the simplest transactions—like leaving our pennies on the counter of the blind newsdealer—on up to international treaties involving the lives of millions.

If we want to stay civilized, then each of us has the job of keeping that chain unbroken. For staying civilized, in the last analysis, depends on making promises—and keeping them.

As vacation starts tomorrow, let's all be careful and obey all traffic rules. We want to see you all back safe. . . . We wonder why Jerry Miller now smokes a pipe. . . . Jim Wrisk didn't talk to anyone Thursday. . . . Levi looked all over for a meter. Willard Lenz soon found it in Levi's cupboard. . . . Helen, Gladys, Aylene and Violet should lock up their bank. The pennies seem to be disappearng. . . . . Tony is going to camp out for vacation. Have a good time, Tony, in the garage, that is. . . . The Bldg. 26-3 office group thanks Jackie Trier for her time and effort on the office picnic. . . . Slugger Cook had the best batting average. . . . Lovely 16-year-old Miss Bangert won the bathing beauty contest. . . . E. Bangert was just tired when he got home. . . . Mr. Crouse won the stone hiding game. . . . Al Coxon won a pair of new shoes. . . . Bill Slater and Dick Rump, why aren't you sporting new shoes like Al. . . . O. Fultz, when ahead in a card game, signals his wife, who pinches the baby and it cries. . . . Committee members, Prairie, Redding and Coxon, did a fine job. . . . H. Keller led the community singing and was assisted by Ray Scheibel. . . . D. Rump's and his wife's lunch was enjoyed by Jack and his boy friend who ate a whole cake. . . . Farold Schuman won the one mile race and Willard Lenz was second. . . . Ruth Freeland has no trouble removing fish from a hook. She trains them to jump off into the live box.

On a picnic, we will go. Have you got the mustard, pickles? Yes, at noon Sunday, Large Motor and Generator Engineering Divisions will have a family picnic at Ken McDougal's cottage at Dewart Lake near Wawasee. The committee in charge include Peg Fletcher and Charlie Brown as expeditor and publicity chairmen; Marv Adamson as sports chairman; Jean Schuerman, food, and Doug Johnson, transportation. The afternoon's activities will include softball, volleyball, horseshoes, croquet and swimming. Thanks to Mac for his hospitality. . . . It's a small world. Warren Brighty and Charlie Brown headed to different parts of Michigan for their vacations. On the return trip, Warren stopped off in Chicago to see the Brookfield Zoo. As they were being seated in the zoo's restaurant, who did they see but the Browns at a nearby table. . . . With the vacation shutdown at hand, we wonder how many G-E people will be crossing paths. Those missing from Bldg. 31-2 include Bev Branning, Earl Elwonger, Ray Hamilton, Vinc Busian, Charlie Thompson, Harry Rife, Harold Garrett, Stanley Tisovic, D. Kaiser and H. Kern.

VACATION

Have a wonderful vacation
And enjoy a lot of fun,
But be sure to spend it carefully
And come back all in one.

If you take a trip, remember
You will need a lot of jack.
When you're driving, don't take chances,
For we wont to have you back.

Don't forget, if you go fishing,
That you're not to rock the boat.
And remember when you're swimming
That it's best to keep afloat.

If you plan to visit Washington,
Be careful, while you're there.
Don't ask about MacArthur,
Or you'll get in Harry's hair.

If you tour the Smoky Mountains,
Don't forget they're rather high.
Driving sixty miles per hour
Is a speed, I wouldn't try.

If you're down in old Kentucky,
Don't start snooping 'round their hills.
You might get a load of buckshot
From those boys who have the stills.

If you plan to take a voyage
On the Great Lakes, here's a tip.
Never pick the side that's windy
If you're sea-sick on the ship.

There, of course, are many people
Who just don't prefer to roam.
If, you're one of them, most likely
You will spend two weeks at home.

This eliminates the chances
Of a nasty auto wreck,
But remember, there are many ways
At home to break your neck.

That dilapidated ladder,
You are guessing still might hold,
Could be just the thing that's needed
To keep you from growing old.

And defective basement wiring
Plus a floor that's always wet
Can give you a shocked impression
That you'll never quite forget.

There are many kinds of accidents
You're never hod in mind,
But with just a little carelessness
They aren't hord to find.

It's so natural when vacation comes
For friends to tell us, "don't."
And, of course, it's just as natural
To assure them all, we won't.

But it shouldn't be so difficult,
For all we're asking you
Is to have a nice vacation,
But, be careful what you do.

G-E Mobilizes Services in 10 States To Restore Facilities in Flood Areas

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—The General Electric Company has announced that it is mobilizing its service facilities in a 10-state zone to help restore electric public services and industrial production in the Kansas City flood area.

H. F. McCullough, manager of the company's national group of service shops, stated that repair facilities have been geared in Kansas City, Houston, Dallas, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Minneapolis to help handle emergency flood repairs.

McCullough, who flew to the scene last week, added that additional service help has been dispatched to shops in the flood-strickened area. He said a G-E representative has been sent to Washington to help get priorities for copper wire and other materials needed in this phase of the rehabilitation program.

K. W. Michael, assistant to the manager—in charge of community relations, was appointed co-chairman of the executive committee of the Fort Wayne-Allen County Red Cross Flood Relief earlier this week.

G-E field engineers are currently on the scene, estimating damage to the overall industrial area, and are making plans to handle the emergency repairs.

Emergency facilities, which will virtually double the service shop facilities which normally serve that area, are being set up by service engineering people on the spot, so that they can return damaged equipment to operation quickly. Other key electric equipment, such as motors and controls, vital to the functioning of public utilities, has also been flooded by the four swollen rivers adjacent to Kansas City, and will require special servicing.

A tentative calculation of industrial damage includes virtually all types of industries which have been inundated by the swollen waters of the Kaw, Missouri, Marias des Cygne and Neosho Rivers.

Last week, three transformers, scheduled for delivery to Nashville, Tennessee, from the G-E Pittsfield, Mass., apparatus plant, were shipped to Topeka, Kansas, where similar electric equipment was flooded. This was done with the cooperation of the Nashville, Tenn., Power Board.

300 G-E Employes Leave Monday For Bermuda, New York Trips

When the call for passengers on Pan American Airlines' special Flight 132 is announced at LaGuardia Field's International Airport in New York Monday and Tuesday, 151 G-E women will board the Bermuda Clippers for a four-day holiday.

Women from the Schenectady and Bloomfield Works will depart in two sections Monday at 10:30 and 11:15 a.m. Eastern Daylight Savings Time. The group will be under the supervision of Irene Meyers, supervisor of Women's Activities.

W. V. Merrihue, manager of Employe and Community Relations for the Large Apparatus Department, will be on hand at the airport to see the G-E tour off.

Fort Wayne girls, along with girls from Danville, DeKalb and Pittsfield, will leave at the same times Tuesday morning. Veora Habig will serve as tour leader for the second group.

The Elex New York Tour now numbers 150 persons. Barbara Hyman will be in charge of the New York trip which will leave the Pennsylvania Station here Monday night.

Schnieders to Be Assistant to FHP Accountant

(picture page 1)

Clement M. Schnieders has been appointed assistant to the Department Accountant, Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions, according to L. I. Asher, department accountant. Mr. Schnieders' responsibilities include budgets, profit and loss statements by lines, and special analyses of operating results.

Mr. Schnieders joined the Fort Wayne Works in 1909 in the factory accounting office of Bldg. 2. He then transferred to the General Accounting Department and, in 1920, was named assistant paymaster of the Fort Wayne Works. He later served as paymaster and, in 1923, was appointed assistant to the Works accountant.

In 1935, Mr. Schnieders was named supervisor of costs. He served as supervisor of budgets in 1937. With decentralization in 1948, Mr. Schnieders became supervisor of Budgets and Order Sales Accounting for FHP Motor Divisions.

Mr. Schnieders is married and has nine children and ten grandchildren. The Schnieders live at 228 South Seminole Circle.

S. A. Amstutz Awarded Diploma in New York

Stanley A. Amstutz, section supervisor, Inventory Control, Large Motor and Generator Divisions, was one of the 21 members of the Advanced Production Program, Group XI, to receive diplomas at the exercises held in Schenectady, recently.

Diplomas were presented at an all-day meeting in Schenectady.

CREDIT UNION OPEN

The Credit Union will be open during the vacation shutdown, Lee Cupp, treasurer, said today. Office hours are 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mr. Cupp has asked employes to use the phone number A-7356 when calling the Credit Union from outside the plant.

All G-E Plants to Give Tough AEP Exam Aug. 21

Next month, on August 21, a four-hour examination will be given simultaneously at all General Electric plants and district offices, W. E. Holmes, Bldg. 18-4, revealed today. The examination is a pretty steep one, covering thoroughly the fundamentals of engineering, and will help select young men for this year's Advanced Engineering Program, Mr. Holmes said.

There is always a place in industry for the men with top engineering skill, and the Advanced Engineering Program, having seen that need increase, is planning to take more trainees to teach them thorough mathematical analysis to develop practical judgment. More such men are needed now, and all who are eligible should apply right away, company officials have stressed.

Applications are being handled through the test supervisor's office, or the AEP office and are being accepted until August 1. During the week of October 8, new members of the program will go to their first class.

Any Test Engineer or permanent engineer may take the examination. Applicants, other than Test Engineers, must have the approval of the manager of engineering in their division.

Since vacation time is here at last, everyone is vacation-minded. . . . Evelyn Turner is spending part of her time in Richmond visiting relatives. . . . Blanche Mulligan and Pauline Tracey have a week and-a-half start on most of us. They are already enjoying the West. . . . Irma Beard and Jessie Wass will motor to Beauford, N. C., to visit Jessie's son and family and see the wonderful Atlantic Ocean. . . . Helen Fraser and Helen Moring will go to Chicago and then on to a tour of Quebec. . . . Agnes Neidiffer will go fishing at Sylvan Lake for one week and will visit her mother the second week. . . Garnet Zollinger will be merrily on her way to California to be with her family. . . . Violet Renkenberger will be in Toledo wth relatives. . . . Charles and Velora Drury will start on one of those trips and go for a whirl to Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, and Kentucky. . . . Harley Springer will be found on his front porch watching the dogs from his lawn. . . . Among the fishermen will be Carl Sorenson and John McKee. . . . Bill Hayden and Clyde Hobbs are going fishing in Michigan. . . . Willard Minnick and Bob Huhn will be fishing in Wisconsin. . . . John Roose will go traveling in Ohio. . . . Shorty Loudenback is planning to work on his bathroom. . . . Eli Musser, with three weeks vacation, will go traveling. . . . We wish Margaret Kenyon a happy birthday and the girls report the candy was very good. . . . Eva Webber brings in the eats, but, Eva, where is the coffee? . . . Mary Biehl visited a sister who is ill last weekend. . . . Clara Koomler and Agnes Neidiffer have been looking at the moon together. What are you looking for, girls? . . . What is the unique way Bob Born has of telling his age? . . . Cay Capesius says she's been helping everyone else every weekend, so last weekend she spent at home. . . . Mary Tucker is the balloon girl, but she can't keep them. . . . Bob Born was presented with a big can of popcorn—ready to eat. We can truly say he had plenty of help eating it.

VETS AID DEFENSE DRIVE—Ed Martin, president of the G-E World War Veterans Association, puts the postage on an Elex box for a G-E employe in the armed services. Mr. Martin presented Elex President Thelma Stone with the Vets' first contribution toward the Elex Defense Drive Monday. The veterans' organization will open a concentrated drive after vacation to assist the Elex Club in its project of sending boxes to servicemen.

DISPELS MYTHS . . .

India Making Great Progress Young Test Engineer Here Says

If you should run into Gorur Ranganath around Fort Wayne, please don't ask him to read your palm or perform a rope trick. Bill, as he is called around the Works Laboratory, says palmistry and rope tricks seem to be the first thought of many Americans when they meet an Indian.

Twenty-five years old, Bill is interested in electrical manufacturing, especially motors. He leaves the rope tricks to cartoonists.

A Test Engineer, he received his B. E. degree from an engineering college in Banalore, India, his home-town, and his Master's degree from the India Institute of Scienee. After finishing his master's work on motors, he contacted International General Electric and came to this country for the first time in October, 1950. Bill's original assignment was in Schenectady. Next, he went to Pittsfield before coming to the Fort Wayne Works Laboratory in Bldg. 28.

Shooting for Ph.D.

While visiting in this country, he hopes to get his Ph. D. at the California Institute of Technology. "Although I have never been to California," he explained, "I believe the elimate there will be more like India."

Bill also has found that the majority of Americans are not aware of the progress being made in modern-day India. "I've found," he said, "that Americans have very strange ideas about India. I would say that most people's ideas of India are about 50 years behind the time. India has made great strides in the past three years since becoming an independent nation."

Test Man Ranganath in Lab

The Indian visitor has some fine impressions of Fort Wayne. He declares that people here are unusually friendly and warmly take outsiders into their groups. Above all, he explained, "There doesn't seem to be such a 'raee after six-penny pieces'."

"Look, it's a monster." "No, it's the Beast of Buseo." These were common expressions heard in the vicinity of 414 Perry Ave., recently, but all were only false rumors. It was only Paul Boedeker experimenting with his new bath tub. Someone told Paul that the easiest way to get a bath tub upstairs was to turn it over, get under it and crawl up the stairway. Paul tried it several times in the yard, then called on several of his friends to help him carry it up. . . . When Lee Cupp of the Credit Union gets real hungry, he visits the Taylor St. cafeteria and usually comes out with a free feed. Of course, it couldn't be that Lee has a two-headed coin. . . . Best birthday wishes to Bob Maggart, Bob Shaefer and Walter Schelper. . . . AND TO ALL, A HAPPY, SAFE VACATION.

John Birchmeyer and his wife seem to be taking the ideal vacation. They will sail from New York July 31 for Lucerne, Switzerland. The main purpose of their trip is to visit John's parents. It will be the fifth trip for John since he came to this country in the early '20's, the last time being in 1938. . . . Fish in the North seem to be calling to Al Schairbaum, Ed Trabel, Elton Swank, Bob Zoller and Johnnie Repine. . . . Hobby Hobson bought a dog and is going to Canada to give Sgt. Preston a little help. . . . Bill Quarve and his wife are taking P. D. Q. to Johnstown, Colo., near Denver, to visit his grandparents. . . . Wonder if Oscar Rodenbeck will have a boat on top of his car when he leaves for St. Louis. . . . Mary Taylor will spend a few days in Chieago. . . . Jack Voorhees and Louis Lothamer will journey to Michigan. Maybe they will meet Guy Carnes who is driving to Michigan, the Straits, the Dells and Iowa. . . . The South, also, will be honored by General Electric people. Velma Lehman will go to Florida; Ray Karr to Chattanooga; Harold Gebhart to Memphis, and Harold Smith to New Orleans. . . . Virgil Huguenard and his wife will visit Niagara Falls. . . . Did you know that Charlie Hartman will fly to Tulsa to inspect his oil interests? . . . Sam Henry will just be sitting around waiting this vacation. Nerve raeking even for the grandfather, isn't it, Sam? . . . John Logan and Forrest Carr will probably have the "Walking and Whistling Blues" when we see them again. John has a new son and Forrest a daughter. . . . Where is Bob Hatfield when the invitations for free meals are passed out? . . . Hello to Steve Wilson, new test engineer in Bldg. 20-2. . . . Porky Schoenfeld had a ten-dollar bill last Monday when he went to the candy wagon. Guess his wife must read the WORKS NEWS. . . . If everyone heeds the sign in front of Bldg. 19, we will all have a wonderful vacation. See you August 13.

Tulsa Bound

VACATION PLANS: Carol Harrington and her husband will be enjoying the Smokies and Washington, D. C., on their vacation. . . . Grace Taylor will try to finish the remodeling of her home. . . . Of course, Vi Schneiders will be in Bermuda having a wonderful time. . . . Nancy Woodhull will be visiting relatives in Minnesota; so will Jo Quinn. . . . Betty Bartley won't be going to Florida after all. She and Jo Franklin were going together, and Jo has "foot trouble." . . . Ineidentally, Jim Stoiche became a proud papa again. It's a 7 lb., 1 oz. boy. . . . From Aug. 12 to Aug. 27, Gene LaFevour, our expert marksman, will go on a Navy training cruise at Great Lakes. . . . Maxine Householder will be in Chicago, and Bernadette Collis will be in Michigan just relaxing. . . . Just look at this picture and you will know where Jean Smith will be after she returns from New York. . . . Happy birthday to Carol and Ruth. . . . Everyone have a fine vacation.

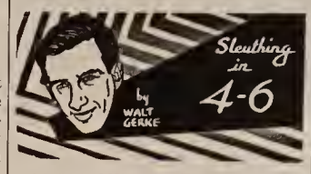
Relaxing

Ice Cream Socialites—Crowds of employes and friends turned out for the Elex Club's Ice Cream Social last week in McCulloch Park. Little Ernie Gunther (shown at left) was wide-eyed at all the good things to eat. His mother, Betty, works in Bldg. 26-3 and his dad, Carl, works in Bldg. 19-3. Marian Leiter, Bldg. 4-6, and Rachel Fisher, Bldg. 17-3, (center) learned to be expert corn poppers in their one day of business. At the right, Stanley Michalik, Bldg. 4-2, enjoys a quick lunch. All proceeds are to be used for the defense project.

We wonder if Eddy Schorr just might be exaggerating a bit when it comes to the size of the fish in Minnesota. . . . We never thought we'd find anything that Avenel was afraid of. The other day when a mouse scooted across the floor, Avenel screamed the loudest and longest of anyone. . . . Pete Staehle returned from a New York trip with the "latest N. Y. fad," a heart shaped beauty mark on his face. . . . We are all glad to hear that Bob Triplett's little boy, Jimmy, is coming along fine after his collision with an automobile.

Mr. Transformer, 1951

. . . We nominate Paul Vance for Mr. Transformer, 1951. This picture was taken before Paul joined Transformer. We are happy to say that he now owns two barrels, one for everyday use and one for Sunday wear. . . . Maury Robertson (our radio ham operator) participated in the rescue work connected with the recent train wreck in New Haven.



We hear the block wardens held a reunion at the lake recently. . . . There has been a number of men (including me) who have recently expressed their wish to go back to school. It's because of Marilyn Uffelman, who is studying to be a school teacher. . . . Was Louie using a little strategy in bringing Marilyn down to the big tank? . . . Jim Jackson gets the award for the suggestion of the year. He suggested the windows be washed and he got paid for it! . . . Mertz pulled a good one. He locked his car with the keys in the ignition. . . . Did you notice Barbara Rheinfrank's picture on the society page of one of our newspapers several weeks ago? . . . Doc Nicodemus, in the west end, claims she can cure all your aches, pains, etc. . . . Ask Dick Shull what "The Thing" is. He has the answer. . . . Why was Smitty running around with tape patches on his pants? . . . Joan Graham, who was making like a hillbilly by walking around in the backyard without shoes, stepped on a nail. Joan had to have four stitches taken. . . . Alberta Malcolm received a wax shampoo the other night when her hair got caught in her machine. The nurse in the dispensary had a job getting it out. . . . Doris Dowden has joined the Lead Section on first trick. . . . "On top of old Smoky all covered with snow," is the place from which Darrell Herschfelder returned. . . . We are sorry to hear John Kintz' daughter is in the hospital. . . . Edna Lobart was presented with a birthday cake on her birthday. . . . The Vapor Lamp Section held a potluck for Harold Josse, who transferred to Bldg. 26-4. . . . Irma Bradtmiller received two hand-painted pictures from her husband who was in Korea. The pictures were made from two small snapshots and were painted in Japan. The work is very lifelike.

Bryan and Oliver Lambert thought they would get out close to nature last Sunday as they went to Pokagon State Park. They not only got close to nature, but also ran into Gus Ausderan and Ralph Baysinger. . . . Carl Zion's extra time is filled trying to finish that long picket fence. . . . If you like that mustache Harold Hoffman is wearing, give the credit to his children. They talked him into it. . . . We hope that John Hensler's illness will be short and his recovery soon. . . . Glenn Hoon and Carl Mosser plan to take their wives on a camping trip during vacation. Glenn tested the tent out during last Saturday's rainstorm so he's sure it will be lots of fun. . . . The doctor decided that Louis Palauzak should start on a diet this week, but Louis talked him into postponing it until after vacation. . . . We extend best wishes to Adahlene Carnes, who will be the center of attention in a wedding ceremony tomorrow. . . . The Design Section welcomes Glenn Camp, Marion Williams and Woodrow Trostel. . . . Max Baron is planning to spend his vacation helping his stomach make up for lost time. Max has just received his new store teeth. . . . Bernie Byanski claims credit for training Tom Skole before the St. Louis Browns signed him. Tom was raised next door to Bernie. Maybe St. Louis should sign Bernie as a scout. . . . Lloyd Welbaum intends to visit New York City on his vacation. . . . Ross Cohagen left last Friday night for California to visit his daughter in Los Angeles. . . . We extend our deepest sympathies to Walter Greiner in the death of his brother-in-law. . . . Max Shaw did a good job of entertaining with his accordion at the West Lakes Conservation Club. . . . Congratulations to James McFeely on the marriage of his daughter last Saturday. . . . The Jack Brinker American Legion Post 409 fish fry last Friday night just had to be a success. Woody Hursh fried all the fish. . . . Paul Auman received a citation from the Red Cross for baby sitting, eating cold meals, and doing the house work while his wife was busy with volunteer Red Cross work. . . . Reinhold Lepper, besides being the Tool Division's champion fisherman, also placed second in the state casting contest. . . . Kurt Martin raised a bumper crop of lettuce this year and gave a bushel basket full to Glenn Ramsey. Glenn says lettuce is his favorite dish next to onions. . . . Chuck and Mrs. Abbott got ten bass at Lake James during one week spent up there. . . . So long, and take it easy, folks.

BYE NOW: The Production Office bids farewell to Mary Gemmill, who leaves today. . . . HE'S IN THE NAVY NOW: Describes ex-mail boy Jim Roggensee, who left to join Uncle Sam's forces Wednesday. . . . WELCOME: To Gwen Griffith to the Ediphone Room. . . . GOLFERS: Don't forget your tickets for the Open Golf Tournament at the Elks Country Club. Denton Manecke is the man to see. He has the tickets. The event is August 22 to 26. . . . CONGRATS: To Fred Chruscz and his wife on the birth of Shelley Ann, 7 lb. 5½ oz., born at the Lutheran Hospital July 12. . . . L'KOUT BELOW: Ralph Shoaff will have to keep an eye to the sky while keeping his nose to the grinder since that glass from the skylight fell on him. . . . CHOW CHISELERS: One day a line of hungry chow-hounds were patiently shuffling toward the food line in the cafeteria. Everyone was so hungry they could hardly wait for that first bite. The real blow came when Marge Walker, Joan Cormany, Lydia Wilkening and Mary Ann Royse cut in ahead of everyone else. Boos and cheers didn't faze them. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY: To Charlie Koomjohn today. . . . LITTLE STUFF: Dent Manecke got his car stuck in a chuck hole while on a recent fishing trip. A farmer couldn't pull him out with his tractor, so he did what any smart farmer would do. He put the tractor away and got out his trusty old Ford. That did the trick. Of course, it was a Model A. . . . THE GOLFER: Willie (Lump-Lump) Rutledge is convinced that people are just perverse. He has been playing golf every evening for six weeks and has been greeted daily with. "What did you shoot last night, Bill?" Reluctantly he admits a 76 or 80. But the one time he was really on the ball and came home with a low 45, did anyone ask him that time? . . . HELLO AND GOODBY: The Developmental Division bids a fond farewell to Jim Stokke, who leaves us for Winter St., and to Jim Cockran, who leaves for Syracuse. We are glad to greet two new test engineers. Buster Price and John Neal. . . . And a welcome to Lee Beard, who returned this week from the West Coast. He was a little lost at first, being unable to locate his desk after the change in division engineers. Temporarily, in his absence, he had been moved in with Mr. Pringle. . . .

Consistent

CONSISTENT: Joe Rowan is our consistent fellow. He lives in Columbia City, commutes daily, and yet he has his hair cut in Fort Wayne. . . . TOUGH TIME: Gil Hilt received an army insurance check and had planned how he was going to spend it. He was going to buy new shoes for himself. While shopping Saturday with his wife and son, he forgot about his shoes. He rushed downtown Monday after work and was going to buy his shoes, but he failed again as W&D was closed. . . . FAREWELL: Frank Olney is leaving the Company Friday. Lots of luck, Frank. . . . WELCOME: We welcome back Louis Staak. He is back here from Lynn.

Inquiring Reporter:

"WHICH TEAM DO YOU THINK WILL WIN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT?"

ED KAMMEYER

Bldg. 19-4

"It will be a tough race to predict. This week will have an important bearing on the eventual outcome. The four top teams are playing one another in the east, giving a slight edge to New York and Boston. The final standing might be: New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago."

MARILYN MITCHELL

Bldg. 26-3

"With that never-say-die spirit shown by the White Sox, it seems to me they have a very good chance of winning the pennant. They've been a constant threat to the number-one spot all season. However, my chief interest at the ball park is the refreshments."

GLENN A. BAKER

Bldg. 19-2

"I'll pick the Yanks. They have what it takes when the chips are down—fellows like Rizzuto, Berra, Coleman and Reynolds."

BEVERLY KRIEGER

Bldg. 17-3

"I think the White Sox will win the pennant. If they get in there and play ball, I think they can do it. I've chosen the Yankees for second place."

JIM DUFF

Taylor St.

"I believe the Boston Red Sox will win the American League pennant because they have superior hitting and pitching power. Before the season opened, my money was on the Yanks, but since then, I believe Boston has really shown them how to play ball."

Just Like the Real Thing!

CREATIVE FIRST AID INSTRUCTOR ED CADE TEACHES BODY REPAIR, TOUGHENS TUMMIES

'WITH A RAG OF BONE'—Red Cross Instructor Ed Cade, Bldg. 20-1, fakes an accident to test one of his First Aid classes. To add realism to the course, Ed makes dummy wounds with mortician's wax, talcum powder, cake coloring, old pork chop bones and a dash of lipstick.

FISH HOOK TEST—Al Fritz, Bldg. 20-2, with assistance from Elizabeth Bertsch (right) removes a fish hook from Gladys Dunbar's hand, as a practical problem in caring for emergencies. Both Elizabeth and Gladys are Taylor St. employes.

Just like the real thing! That's the approach First-Aid Instructor Ed Cade likes to use in his classes. Instead of standard tests at examination time, with papers, pencils and questions on the blackboard, Ed's bandage-happy students are faced with practical problems.

Ed doesn't go out and break legs or drive fish hooks into his students' hands, but he has developed a technique that is realistic enough to startle his classes, keep them interested and prepare them to care for injuries that might be very real indeed.

Shocks His Students

With mortician's wax, talcum powder, red cake coloring, a few used pork chop bones and just a dash of lipstick, Ed can create a compound fracture that will make his class gasp with horror. Then he examines his students by having them meet the situation. Ed finds it's a wonderful way to test the mettle of his more weak-stomached first-aiders. If they turn pale, it's good conditioning for an actual emergency, Ed claims.

The imaginative Mr. Cade has been teaching first-aid for several years. He received his training as a Civilian Defense auxiliary policeman. He has been teaching Fractional Horsepower Motor Divisions testers artificial respiration and also conducts classes for Boy Scouts.

"My method gives classes a good idea of what a real accident looks like, Ed admits. "I believe we learn a lot more by seeing something than by reading or hearing someone tell about it."

WARNING: COLLECT TODAY! All those who have loaned money to Val and Miller. They are leaving this week-end for Las Vagas. . . . The women proved again they are no longer the weaker sex. For details, see Doloris "Muscles" Leffel or R. "Chicken" Koop. . . . Congratulations to Barb Mertz. Barb isn't very lucky hooking fish, but when it comes to hooking a man, she lands a pretty nce catch and a sailor at that. Loads of luck, kids. . . . Tony Kazelis has a recipe for Barb called "Honeymoon Salad." . . . Tony's friend, Jim Hilfiker, isn't quite up to par in the culinary arts. He burns up an awful dish of Charred Chicken. Jim says, "To get it just right, leave it cooking on the front burner, and then run down to the drug store for an hour." . . . Russ Armstrong recently decided he needed a little faucet repair in his bathroom. Much to his wife's disapproval, Russ gathered up his tools and set to work. Discovering the threads on a nut were worn, he scurried to the basement to find another. Some time elapsed and he became quite annoyed with a constant drip. All at once it dawned upon him something was wrong. He ran up the stairs. In the kitchen, he found the bowl of his overhead light nearly filled with water. Continuing to the bathroom, he discovered water running down the hall. If anyone has been unable to get to the lake this summer, for a small fee you can swim all over the Armstrong house. . . . Jim Henry came to work last Monday with a nasty lump. He blames it on a stone, but I understand his girl has a powerful left.

ALL BROKEN UP—If an iron bar had fallen on victim Bob Crick's leg, a compound fracture like the Cade-manufactured one above might have resulted. Three skillful first aiders go to work to repair the damage. Pictured are (l-r) Elizabeth Bertsch, Gladys Dunbar, both of Taylor St., Al Fritz, Bldg. 20-2, and Ed Cade. A close-up of Ed's handiwork is shown at left.

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC NEWS

Picture Supplement

VOLUME 16 JULY 27, 1951 No. 7

Chiefs Chat . . . Indian Chief of the Toppenish tribe and G. R. Prout, manager of the Nucleonics Department at Richland, Washington, exchange greetings at "Defenders of Freedom" day when Richland was honored as the first city in the nation to achieve 100 per cent payroll savings participation among city merchants.

A Whiz On Wheels . . . Petite Grace De Acereto, Philadelphia Switchgear Divisions' roller skating miss who won first place in a waltzing contest in her first competition, now skates in the Free Style Fours, novice class, and with her partner and another couple recently won state and regional finals. They plan to compete in the national championship tournament.

Flying High and Low . . . These General Electric gals can claim plenty of excitement with their racy pastimes. Mary Ellen Owen (above), Fort Wayne Works, has her share of thrills and spills driving stock cars, a sport she's been pursuing ever since she came in secand in her first race two years ago. (Below) Less than a year after she took her first plane ride, Stella Snyder, shown with her Piper Cub, recently received her private pilot's license. The Tiffin, Ohio, plant employee now has fifty hours of flying time to her credit.

Chalking Up 141 Years . . . The Hartmans, (from left) brothers Clarence, Al, George, and Joe, hold the record at Fort Wayne Works for total years of service. The quartet will be broken up shortly when Joe retires after 36 years of service. Clarence has 45 years of service to date; Al, 35 years; while George joins the Quarter Century Club this year.

GE Organizes for Preliminary organizing begins with a plan on paper. Plant protection personnel at River Works, above, meets with the Lynn, Mass. Civil Defense representatives to discuss plant defense for all three shifts.

Selection of shelter areas have been made ta which emplayees can be quickly directed in an emergency. Here Pittsfield office employees are directed to the basement as the safe area in their building.

At Pittsfield, a safe, centrally-lacated spot in the plant area was selected for the control center. Here, key personnel con direct the plant's organization, use two-way radio to contact mobile units, guard towers, and locol CD officials. Fully-charged batteries and crystal-operated radios are ready if power is cut off.

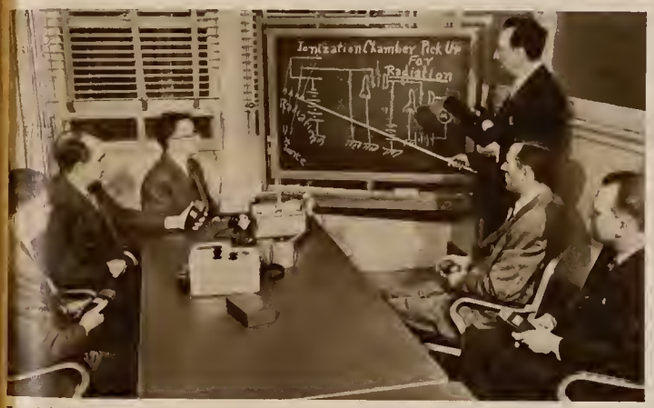
Two-way radio provides communication between mobile units, guard towers and the control center. Plant defense personnel demonstrote the equipment in a mobile unit at River Works.

Equipment for fire prevention and fighting is checked at regular intervals to keep the Pittsfield Works ready for emergencies. A four-hour drill, including the blindfold test shown above, is held the first Saturdoy of each month.

Emergency exits for multi-story buildings, shown in this picture at River Works, pravide a quick means for the evacuation of employees in cose of fire or disaster.

Plant Defense Against Bombing Attacks

AT MANY GE locations, advanced planning is in progress for the organization and operation af a plant defense to protect employees, plant facilities and Company records in the event of an emergency.



Many of these defense measures were followed during World War II. But with the added risks of atomic warfare today, a more wide-spread program is necessary to be sure that production facilities, bath personnel and equipment, are adequately prepared.

General Electric's defense program starts with the supervisars of plant protection working in cooperation with their local Civil Defense officials. Beginning with top management, the arganization of plant defense continues down the line to each group assigned for all shifts to take care of communcations, first aid, fire fighting, radiolagical protection, evacuation, and other plant defense operations. An overall plant survey of plant hazards was taken, the safest areas in plont buildings were evaluated and designated for use as shelters, and auxiliary groups formed and trained for first aid and fire fighting work.

Pictured an these pages are a few typical steps being taken in the organizing of General Electric's plant defense at both the Pittsfield and River Works plants by supervisors of plant protectian working with local Civil Defense officials.

First Aid training for auxiliary groups given by Red Cross instructors is a part of the defense organization at the Pittsfield Works, where one hundred employees have already been trained.

To minimize the new risks of atomic warfare, radialogical groups like this one at River Works have been organized and trained for all three shifts in the detection of any radiation hazards. Here the group discusses the instruments they will use.

A member of the rodiological group demonstrates haw the instrument is used to detect rodiation in event of a bombing attack, as a protection for River Works employees.

"Prohibited Area" signs around the River Works power plant keep out all but authorized persons. This added precaution protects the plant's power facilities from sabotage during emergency periods.

Micro-filming of Company records, drawings and engineering designs are in progress at many plants, like this operatian at the Pittsfield Works. Films provide compact, permanent records for safe-keeping.

Ta provide avoilable information on protection from the atomic bomb, the River Works plant is assembling a state-prepared Civil Defense booklet, together with a letter from management, for mailing to oll emplayees.

A Bird in Hand . . . Raising and racing haming pigeans is the engrassing hobby of Louis Sitko, Cleveland Works. Last year one of his birds won a 100-mile flight with an average time of 977 yards per minute. He holds one af his pigeans, which wan the gald racing traphy shown on bird bath.

Streamlined . . . Depicting twa eras of flying with its display of a jet engine at one end of a float and old Kitty Hawk at the other, the Lockland Plant took top honors at recent Reading Centennial parade. Hazel Donaldson and Cynthia Wrocklage are the modern design duplicates of the famous F-86 fighter (in rear) powered by Lackland built J-47 jet engines.

On Inactive Duty . . . In 1888, when latest in steam pumpers had failed, this 1830 hand pumper saved the factary buildings located on present Schenectady Works site. Jacob Weller, GE pensioner who was injured in that fire, stands beside the old firefighter, which is still set for action. Chief Wayand of Scatia, N. Y. Fire Department sits in modern pumper, rated at 1000 gallons per minute to the 1830's 90 gallons per minute.

Viewing Job Package . . . 8ridgeport Works Manager M. W. Reid (left) and L. R. 8aulware, vice president in charge of Employee, Community and Union Relations, look over display which autlines 9-point job satisfaction program developed by Employee Relations Palicy Division. It was part of the recent Construction Materials Fair at Bridgepart.

Getting a Workout . . . "8etsy" tests the strength of a new glue-like chemical developed by GE chemists as she lifts a tubful of rocks weighing 300 pounds. With this chemical, metal pieces hold tenaciously to a piece of silicone rubber (center) and are able to form a bond stronger than the tough rubber itself. 8onds between silicone rubber and almast any surface including glass, ceramics, aluminum, tin, and copper are possible with new chemical.

DECATURITES

by GEORGE LAURENT

Here it is, folks, and I don't mean maybe—"THE VACATION," of course. Bob Kenworthy, Frank Rawley, Karl Schnepp, Bill Huston, Ansel Hackman, Ernie Foreman and Louis Drake are listed among the first to punch out. . . . Ed Warren and Pauline Butler recently applied for a marriage license. The big event will take place some time during vacation. We want to congratulate the bridegroom. They tell me meat cutting is among Ed's accomplishments. For more particulars, watch this paper after vacation. Until then, we wish the happy couple lots of luck and happiness. . . . This week's medal goes to Arlene Dersch for being the champion bubble-gum blower. . . . WHERE IS EVERYONE GOING? Chet McIntosh will stay home and put a roof on his home. Ernie Foreman will probably finish building his hacienda. Helen Byer and her girl friend, Bonnie, are traveling to the big wide state of Texas. Boy, will they be talking in a drawl when they get back! Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Coffee and Mr. and Mrs. William Coffee and son will spend a week of their vacation at Hamilton lake. A tour to Montreal and Quebec, Canada, and points east is being planned by Agnes Nesswald. Mart Reinking and his sons will motor to northern Michigan and through Minneapolis. Olive Lose will spend one week in Michigan and the other in Memphis, Tenn. Ruth Koos will spend some time in Michigan. . . . Virginia Dichl is a proud grandmother. Congrats! . . . THE PENALTY: Mac McClure failed to heed the advice of his wife regarding an old tradition. Consequently, he came to work with a sty in his eye. . . . THAT BUG AGAIN: The latest "I wouldn't play that silly game" guy to fall before the bite of the golf bug is none other than Kate's husband. I predict that Richard Steele will soon revolutionize the game by an invention of a modern scooter to transport golfers around the course. . . . SHADES OF PHIL FINN AND HOULIHAN: Dick Steele challenged and played a championship golf match with Jay Baker! . . . Now, folks, watch your step and don't forget those safety rules while you are away, and watch that driving. . . . George Heare has planned a strenuous vacation in Michigan. He not only is going to fish, but expects to teach his family to swim. . . . Forest Owens spent his birthday in the St. Joseph Hospital where he is recuperating from a recent operation on his leg. . . . Zula Holloway is also in Fort Wayne recuperating from an operation. She is staying with her sister. . . . Elmer Chase plans to take a trip through Canada. . . . Florence Brandyberry and Helen Wellman will motor through Wisconsin. . . . Vida Lammert will visit relatives in East Liverpool, O. . . . We become attached to many things and we don't like to part with them. Literally speaking, Mary Fennig was really attached to her stapler. Mary, how did you get your thumb in there? . . . Merle Lovellette thanks her coworkers for their many acts of kindness during her son's recent operation. . . . Birthday greetings to Leona Krick, who surprised the gang by treating on Friday and her birthday wasn't until Sunday. . . . A fungus growth was discovered in the yard by Bill Kohls. The big question was to eat or not to eat them. He couldn't decide whether they were mushrooms or just plain toadstools. Why not invest in a few guinea pigs and start experimenting? . . . On July 16, exactly 13 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Kleinknight were wed. . . . Francis and Clara Ellen Noack celebrated their wedding anniversary July 21. . . . George and Anna Womack will celebrate their anniversary July 29. Congratulations! . . . A GRAND TIME: Approximately 2,500 employes, pensioners and their families attended the Decatur Plant G-E Club picnic held at Sunset Park, Saturday, July 21. The program began wth a free picnic dinner, served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. From 1 to 5, a variety of entertainment and contests were provided for the adults as well as the children. Attendance awards were won by Helen Gaskill, William Clark, Bob Lord and June Railing. A large number of pensioners took advantage of the occasion to renew old acquaintances. Charlie Cook was in charge of the picnic, with the help of his officers and their various committees.

It's Windy Here

by JOAN AUBREY

Division 17 salary co-workers had a family picnic recently at Foster Park. After a wonderful meal, the annual softball game between the males and females was started. Either Umpire John Holloway couldn't see well or he had been paid in advance by the girls, but he had a hard time calling the plays right when the girls were up to bat. The star of the female team was Osear (Daisy) Schelper, who was right in his own class when playing with the girls. Pitchers Bob Turschman and Mrs. Ed Brink did a swell job. We never did find out who was keeping score or what the score was when the game ended. The only casualty of the evening was when the ball was hit into the spectators and Charlie Briggs and Dick Pinkham both went for it. Pinkham fell flat on his face and Briggs landed on top of him in full force. Both claim the other one tripped him. After everyone caught his breath from the ball game, Charlie Briggs and Henry Gollmer got the music started. Their feet started keeping time and the square danee was on. This was participated in by the more energetic ones of the group. The rest of us just watched. There were several children's games with prizes for all and plenty of pop and ice cream. The Committee thanks all the wives who helped make the party a success by really outdoing themselves with all the grand dishes of food they prepared. See you all again next year. . . . Congratulations to Betty Foulks, a former co-worker, on the birth of her baby girl, Holly Beth, June 27. . . . Welcome to Ed Brink and Anthony Doyle, who both joined the Wage Rate Section recently. Anthony became a proud father of a baby girl recently. Mother and daughter are in Chicago and both doing nieely. . . . We are sorry to see Marcella Peppler leave us to become a full-time housewife after working with us such a short time. . . . The Gordon Smiths are among the more fortunate people now with both sides of a two-car garage full. They have recently acquired a new Ford with all the latest gadgets. We were wondering if the book of instructions came with the car, so Mary (Gordon, too) would know what all the extra buttons were for. . . . At last, the long awaited two weeks are here. Everyone is looking forward to two weeks of relaxation. Have a swell time, everyone, and be careful.

2-2 TALES

by BELLE BUCHAN

Red (Harold) Braden believes in delivering the goods (namely ice cream), even if it is a little worse for wear. . . . Earl Cheever tells us that he will be absent from the office after vacation. He will be doing his bit for Uncle Sam. . . . New in the Time Clerk Section is Bonnie Gerber. Welcome, Bonnie. . . . The Birthday Club was entertained by Joan Murphy at the Victory Club. The girls having birthdays were Evelyn Scheuman, Florence Polk and Marilyn Richard. Those present were Clara Theisman, Joan Murphy, Dorothy Askren, Marilyn Richard, Addie Masbaum, Florence Polk, Evelyn Scheuman, Dorothy Crawford and Ann Tyler. . . . Now that we are about to take our annual vaeation, some of us will be going on long trips. We have one man that is even going to Germany. He has just as good a chanee of getting back to work safe as we who stay right at home if we are careless and do not practice safety. A good pieture to carry in our minds while we are away is the one on the poster in front of Bldg. 19. Heed that warning and have a nice vacation.

"I'm just laying some bricks, that's all," replied one of the men.

But the fellow working alongside him said, with pride: "I'm helping build a cathedral."

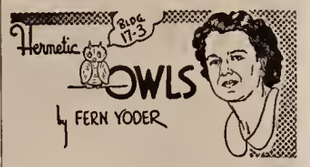
OBSERVES 40 ANNIVERSARY—Roy H. Dierstein, Bldg. 26-2 (seeond from right), has been with G-E 40 years. He eelebrated his anniversary Monday, July 9. Several of his STAB friends gathered to congratulate him on his service record. Left to right are E. F. Paul, F. N. Banks, Mr. Dierstein and W. C. Wichman.

VACATION TIME: My wish for you all is expressed in the following reprint from our River WORKS NEWS, dated July 7:

Dear Lord, let this vacation trip
Turn out to be our best.
Our most relaxful outing and
By far the happiest.

Let all our family enjoy
Each moment of each day,
And help us keep our worries and
Our worldly cares away.

Give us the cloudless skies of blue,
The peaceful wooded streams,
The golden sunlight on the hills
And stars around our dreams.



Protect us on the highways and
In unfamiliar beds.
And do not let us stumble on
The path misfortune treads.

Dear Lord, be always at our side
Wherever we may roam,
And, when at last we turn around,
Please see us safely home.

Wherever you may have chosen for the trip, or rest, or both, it is my earnest wish that you will have every desire fulfilled and come back to work with a new determination to meet the everyday problems that may come to you. . . . It seems that "California, Here I Come" is the favorite theme song for a number of Bldg. 18 people. The Gerald Michaels left last Sunday for the sunny state of California, with Oregon, Washington, Utah and a few others thrown in for good measure. . . . Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kammeyer took the train for California to visit his brother who is ill, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyers also left last week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Miller will leave tomorrow. If they all get together, they will enjoy a G-E reunion. . . . The Robert Wylies are going to spend the vacation period in Estes Park. . . . FAREWELL: After the vacation period, Gerald Michael will travel to Taylor St. in the FHP Motor Accounting group. . . . Last Monday Ralph Clark changed his headquarters to Bldg. 20-1. Next week we will try to arrange a square dance in the vacant room. . . . ORIGINAL: Donald House, Bldg. 18-2, has been claiming that he uses two tag wires as "divining rods" to locate underground sewers at his new home west of New Haven. This is different than the old forked stick technique used by some old-timers in the West. . . . DARK WORLD: Last week Francis Richards visited his home in Indianapolis and lost his glasses. So he wore dark driving glasses to work, which made the world a little hazy for Francis. . . . My very special vacation wishes go to the girls who are going to Bermuda. Have a wonderful time, and I know you will carry Elex enthusiasm to the islanders. Maybe you can establish a chapter there to help sell this and that! . . . SILVER STAR: Ed Hagadorn, Bldg. 18-5, is very proud of his son, Edward, Jr., who was recently awarded the Silver Star. Young Ed will soon be home to stay. Congratulations, Ed, on your progeny. . . . MARRIED: Mary Ann VanRyn and John Tescula were married last Saturday. We wish Mary Ann all the happiness in the world. John is in service. . . . PICNIC: The Photographic and Reproduction Section enjoyed a family picnic at Pokagon Park last Saturday. They reported a good time. Marie Taylor carried back some pretty black and blue marks for souvenirs.

To let you know where some of your co-workers are going on their vacation, we did some asking and here are the results: The New England States are calling Stella Mailand, Esther Pape, Ruth Sroufe, Hazel Stauffer, Mary and Connie Standish, Carolyn Becker and Mae Heit. Rosemary Golliver will be on a ranch near Cheyenne, Wyo. Dorothy Clark will visit the Northwest. Josie Chevarria is visiting a sister at Torreon, Mexico. Sam Taylor is going to Pennsylvania and New York City. Jack Pricker is going to Arizona. Claude Hoover is going to Missouri, and Jay Walker to Tennessee. Several are going to Florida. They are Ruth Tutwiller, Barbara Ternet, George Crickmore and Delois Clements. Henry Shirley is going fishing in Minnesota. I hope the fish are biting for all the ones who are going to Northern Michigan—Everett Lindeman, Cecil Foor, Paul Ginder (he is going to stop and see our friend Louie Clark), John Ormiston, Ed Glenwith, John Figley, Gus and Marvin Rutz, Richard Crickmore, Emily Neirman, Henry Grepke and Mary Warren. Minnesota is calling Lester May, too. Hazel and Elbert Niswonger are going to Ashtabula, Ohio. Lorena Hahn is going to Missouri. California here they come—Ed Mosher, Neva Scott, Harry Bennett and Helen Engle. Elihu Lee is going to Bismarck, N. D.; Louella Hockemeyer, Paducah, Ky.; Vickie Hyre, Wisconsin; Dan Bice, Binghamton, N. Y.; Charles Griffith, Seattle, Wash.; Lillian Kable, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Kentucky; Glen Carney, Elgin, Ill.; Ruth Hine and Harold Blust, Chicago; Gracc Ober, Cherry Point, N. C., and Opal Brayton, Michigan, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Emmett Rasor is going to try and see the President. He is going to Washington, D. C. Martha Scherzinger is going to Denver, Colo. June Grape is going to Kentucky; Joan Reed, to Chicago; Genieve Moody and Irene Williams, to New York and Ray Soest, South Carolina. New York is calling Marilyn Norton, Ida May Ernst, Helen White, Pat Gardner, and Ida Witte. Julia Hohnhaus is going to Bermuda. Joan Reed is going to Chicago. Edith Juillerat can't make up her mind if she wants to go to South Dakota or the New England States. Grace Taylor is spending her honeymoon in Pennsylvania. Lorinda Byerlein and Katherine Kepker are going to Pennsylvania. Margaret Charters is going to Illinois and Lake Webster. Modene Smith is going to Canada. Lola Rowe is going to Cleveland. Christine Cormier is going to Indian Lake. Mary Garrard is going to South Dakota. Chicago is calling Freida Copeland. Vera Fetro is going to Columbus, Ohio. Clarice Fryock has already left for Stratford, Conn., and from there to Bermuda. . . . Mary Parent got a lovely gift from her co-workers for her birthday. . . . Speaking of birthdays, several people will have them while we are gone. They are Gertrude Bender, Aug. 3; Pauline Elick, July 30; Cecil Foor, July 21; Amanda Longwell, Aug. 7; Audrey Brindle, Aug. 10; Maxine DeGregory, July 31, and Fern Hollowell, Aug. 19. Next time you go to start your truck in the garage, Ed Taylor, make sure it isn't in gear. . . . Merle Keesler and Gene Haifley got a nice piece of candy. Next time, boys, make sure it isn't rubber. . . . Louise Bell grows raspberries that don't have seeds. We will have to see it to believe it! . . . Catherine Traugher made that cheese sandwich stretch a long way. It was rubber too! . . . We hope Mary Warren keeps on the road to recovery. . . . Eunice Stienbarger came home one night to find honey bees had taken over the kitchen! . . . Bonnie Marks is very happy. She is going to move into her new home very soon.

Fern Yoder, our reporter, is spending a few days with her family in Kentucky. . . . Lillian Balinger treated her friends to a birthday treat. It was quite a novel treat—a bag filled with bubble gum, candy, balloons and many other surprises. . . . Doris Stevenson underwent surgery at the LaGrange County Hospital in LaGrange, Ind. Her room number is 155. We all wish her a speedy recovery. . . . Luella Mason has been working nights, but Walter is making a change. We'll miss her when she returns to days. . . . Catherine Meyers tells us she, her husband and her family are planning a vacation in southern Indiana. They plan to eat a lot of hot dogs along the way. . . . All vacationists are urged to heed this advice when they leave this evening, "Have a wonderful vacation, but take care."

People, in general, approach the vacation season with a certain amount of anticipation, usually the joyful variety. Last year, Bill Shuler, making like a second story man, sustained a fracture of his left heel. This year he isn't placing any bets, but he is confident that he can weather the following two weeks and come out unscathed. The other members of Bdg. 4-2 office aren't as confident as he seems to be. They don't feel that they can go through another broken bone session. So be extra careful, Bill. . . . A pleasant addition to 15x48 is Bill Voekell, single, and who just received his B.A. degree. When asked to comment on factory life, Bill says, "I found out this conveyor line is worse than 'a grapevine'." . . . We extend a hand of welcome to Otto Knight, a tester in Glusenkamp's section. Otto is another representative from Columbia City. . . . Anybody interested in seeing the 1951 Pin-Up-Boy, see Carl Plattner. . . . Some of us have been wondering how many miles Paul Monroe travels on one stick of gum in one day? Mabel Booher narrowly missed the flood when she visited her son Gerald at Fort Sill, Okla. Her son is fine, the weather was too hot or too wet, but she had a nice trip. . . . Some of the boys in 15x48 are wondering what they can do to get Conrad Smith to work more often and on time. . . . Joe Michalik enjoyed a double header at Detroit along with a bus load of other baseball enthusiasts. . . . Since your editor is being transferred along with Gloria Cuellar to Bldg. 6-2, I'd like to say thank you to all whose co-operation made this column possible. You have indicated that you want this column. May I suggest that our reporters continue to collect the news and turn it in at the office. I feel sure somebody will step forward to put it together.

We bid farewell to Octavia Popa and Bonnie Swain as they depart for San Diego, Calif. Good luck to both of you in your new adventures in more ways than one. . . . The girls on first floor are going to quit planning picnics on Wednesday nights. In honor of Octavia Popa and Bonnie Swain, the girls had a hamburger fry at the summer home of Ruth English at Round Lake. They just got the burgers started, and lo, it started to rain—and did it rain! . . . Charlene Heinzelman was honored with a dinner party at the Victory Club, and was presented with a lovely gift. She will become Mrs. Richard E. Hewitt July 28. . . . We welcome Sales Accounting's new employe, John Heske, and Lois Harlow in Sales Division. Lois will pinch hit for Joan Crowell, who plans to spend a few months with her husband who is in the service. . . . We are sorry to bid farewell to Len Speicher of Sales, who is transferring to the L. A. office. Remember to write, Spike, and come back to see us. Sales also bade farewell to Ruth Lenahan last week. Ruth resigned to remain at home to keep her hubby in a good mood, and to cook some delicious meals for him. . . . The girls in Tabulating and Production had a party for Mary Gemmill. Barb Meyer, Mary Rogers and Donna Bauermeister planned it, and the Broadway cafeteria fixed the food. It was a picnic at Foster Park. It was Mary's farewell party—we will all miss you. . . . Birthday greetings to Gloria Geesman, who was one year older last Saturday. . . . In Sales Accounting Section, Tom Lauer is spending his vacation at Camp Grayling, Mich. Joan Springer spent the week-end in Chicago, while Helen Smith had her hair cut. It's very becoming, Helen. . . . Herman Norr and Ralph Hemminger are having a private feud with Gale Kirk over the venetian blind. Herman and Ralph want it up, while Gale wants it down. After lunch the other day, Gale put on a pair of sun glasses when the blind went up. I wonder who finally won. . . . Once again, it is time for vacation, and I want to wish you all a wonderful and safe time. Here's hoping we also have some nice weather.

Thoughts for the Week: "The dime isn't entirely worthless. It makes a fairly good screwdriver."—T. Harry Thompson.

Men are like tacks. You have to point them in the right direction, drive them hard and they'll go as far as their heads will let them.

WELCOME—to Brian Bonham, the new test engineer in the Surplus Section. Brian hails from Los Angeles. . . . PICNIC—Bud Weaver, chairman of our family day picnic, has appointed Everett Smith vice-president to head all operations. Incidentally, Bud wants us to retract our statement about him "accepting" the chairmanship for this little affair, or he will sue immediately. We retract but he can file suit if he wants to. . . . HERE COMES THE BRIDE—Saturday night will be the big night for Helen David and LeRoy Dickey. They will be married Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the West Creighton Ave. Christian Church. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY—Harry Brown celebrated his birthday July 19 by passing out candy. . . . NEW MOON—We saw several of our fellow employes at the operetta last week-end. Bill Shanebeck and Elaine Norr looked like they were enjoying the production. WE WONDER! As Olin Keller and Bob Kite are taking their vacations at the same time, it looks like the "Rover Boys" of Bldg. 19-1 are off on another adventure. The boys own adjoining lots at Turkey Lake. Mr. Kite is experiencing building troubles. Bob made a slight miscalculation in building his foundation, and the cottage, when completed, should follow the general lines of the Tower of Pisa. If Mr. Keller can be persuaded to give up fishing for a while, perhaps he can figure out a way of remedying the situation. A few extra lifts on one shoe of each of the Kites might help them to walk upright on the tilted floor.

Retirement is a word of many meanings,
But we hope that it will mean just this to you,
"Time to arrange your daily schedule
To include the things you really want to do."

You quite probably will be busy
In a pleasant, easy-going sort of way.
That's the wish of your 17-3 co-workers
On this, your retirement day.
by Frances Eckrote

Today, we start on our vacation for two weeks, but Augusta Boehm is beginning a permanent one. We wish you luck and good health. The girls held a farewell potluck for her yesterday. . . . Congratulations to Tom and Oliva Shively Toor on their new son. Both are former co-workers. . . . Also congratulations to Robert and Ida Walling Wilson on their son. Donald and Marie Bowers Chandler had a baby girl. Both mamas are former Bldg. 17-3'ers. . . . Ada Romanowski is wearing a big new grandma smile because of two grandsons. . . . Congratulations to Mary Wright for being with the company 25 years. . . . Happy birthday to Betty Blackburn and Mary Zirkle. . . . Happy birthday also to Pauline Kirchner, Mildred Schoenlein, Ocie Allen and Charlie Rice, who will celebrate during vacation. . . . Joe Meehan was a third-week vacationer. . . . Our sincere sympathy to Raehel Jackson and Hazel Lockwood in the deaths of their daughter and brother, respectively. . . . Edith Minnich would like a little help on turtle raising. . . . We wonder if Joe Bright whistles the "wolf call" on Sundays, too. . . . Bill Martin is going to Florida, providing he can get a little help on painting the house. He is taking his new movie camera along. . . . Lucille Ross is Montana-bound. . . . Phyllis Lupton is going to New York. . . . Velma Seibt will be in Cincinnati. . . . Joe Jensen is all set to catch the big ones. He knows where to get the crickets, and his outboard motor does a fine job of creeping along. . . . Ivah Grandstaff went fishing. All she caught was her straw hat that blew into the lake. . . . We welcome Ina Smith from Taylor St. . . . Violet Brower has a pretty new hair-do just in time for vacation. . . . Orville Kaufmann is wondering if he should investigate the merits of Hadacol. . . . Bill Ort has joined the Order of Specs.

Louie Kintz buys limburger cheese at the A&P store so he can get through the line as nobody can stand near him. He was purchasing it to celebrate his thirty-first wedding anniversary. . . . Mary Shreve won a golden horse. Before the day was over, she had quite an accumulation. . . . Clarabelle Whiteman spent the week-end in Michigan and went through Grand Rapids twice coming home. . . . Betty Socci, who has been with her husband at camp since February, surprised the girls with a visit Monday. She reports her husband has been sent to Kansas to assist in the flood district. . . . Ollie Ragan is the champion flower grower so far this year. . . . We wish the best of luck to Virginia Ruch, who is entering the hospital Tuesday for an operation. . . . Dick Goyer, former employe who lives at Bicknell, visited his old friends Monday. . . . Our best wishes to Iva Powell who has been ill. . . . Louise Sinn found out last week that she was a year younger than she thought. The girls had a hard time controlling her in her happiness. . . . Ruth Peek has a hard time keeping track of her husband since so many widows have found out what a handy man he is. . . . We are certain that spring has sprung since Ruby Stoops, Selma Voight and Sydonna Fox were seen playing marbles with little green apples. Ruby is known as "Apple Mary" now. . . . The boys in Group 17x70 hope that George Marchand's wife can help him make up his mind this week where they will spend their vacation. . . . Red Yant's and Howard Householder's wives allowed them to attend the Veterans' stag picnic when they found out that Bob Johnson was going to be absent.

We congratulate Delbert Logan on a 7-lb. baby boy named Danny Delbert. . . . Marvin VanSkyock must have been asleep when he dressed the other morning. His tee shirt had a pocket in the back. . . . We hear that Bill Jones played dog catcher over the week-end. . . . Vera Fletcher went to Toledo to go on a picnic and then ended up back in Fort Wayne going swimming. . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Evelyn Markley, who has entered the hospital for observation and treatment. . . . The sound room is all going to enjoy their vacation. Ruth, Vi and Joye are going fishing out of the state. Olka is going to Florida. Wilma is going to watch TV, and Esther has a major project. . . . Glen Buckmaster's famous saying is, "George made me what I am." No wonder George is so busy. . . . Betty Birch is on vacation this week. . . . Emma Vaughn and Rachel Mounsey are all thrilled waiting for their trip to Bermuda. Emma is way ahead as she has had her luggage partly packed for some time. . . . Ruby Stucky is ready to head for New England and Nova Scotia. This will make all 48, including Mexico and Canada, she has visited. . . . Mildred Brown plans on doing her favorite hobby, mountain climbing. . . . Chet Carey and his party spent Saturday night up at the dance at 'Busco where Jerry McKown plays. . . . Anyone wanting any painting done, see Tommy Williams. We hear she is quite good.

LIGHTS UP FOR A LONG RETIREMENT—Harry Sebold, Bldg. 4-2 (center fore-ground), is taking a puff on a pipe his co-workers gave him. His foreman, Vic Hall, is shown giving him a light while several of his friends look on. Mr. Sebold retires this month with 28 years of service. He has been a machinist the entire time, working in Bldgs. 20-1 and 4-B.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Evelyn Partee, July 27, and Ruth Reed, July 17. . . . Doris Briner is at home; keeping house for five men. We wish her mother a speedy recovery. . . . Ruth Mutton left us Wednesday to become a full-time housewife. We will miss you Ruth, so drop back and see us. . . . Maxine R. takes in all the square dances, but says she gets in the darndest sets. . . . Our best wishes for a speedy recovery to Andy Anderson's wife. . . . Why is Betty so quiet these days? Incidentally, I hear her new nickname is "Brown Eyes." . . . Glen Archbold takes a hammer and screw driver along when he gets an ice cream bar out of the machine. . . . Van and Marlene Laurent are going to perform, reform, or something to get their name in the paper. . . . Test and Inspection wish Elmer Koehlinger, who is in the hospital, a quick recovery and hopes to see him back soon. . . . Test and Inspection has a new student engineer, Jack Petrik. Nice having you with us, Jack. He hails from Omaha, Neb. . . . Del has been just dying to get in the column, so a little birdie told me that Del won a mixer. How lucky can you get? . . . Why was Tillie H. walking around so stiff and cautiously the other day? . . . Andy and Moe had one of those lost weekends. Do you do your fishing in the "Old Mill Stream," boys? The comments on Andy's eye—some say Moe stuck his knuckle in it on that lost week-end; some say he ran into a door knob, but Andy says he didn't suffer a bit. . . . Delores G. was chasing the conveyor in the cafeteria one noon. She was trying to run down her meal ticket. . . . What time did you get home from work last Thursday, Windy? . . . Elmer Harshman is going out to Yellow Stone National Park on Vacation. He says if he runs into any floods, he will just turn his car upside down and paddle. . . . Elva Hostetler's apron looked like one big ruffle on George Luedeman. . . . Mildred Carpenter thinks there should be an "Old Maid Day," since they have every other kind of a day. . . . Ask Virginia McCoy about her latest song. . . . Jewel Claunch is on the sick list. Hope to see you back soon. . . . There was a big discussion as to whether Viola K. had a bird's nest or flower pot perched on top her head. . . . Freddie Sarasien is back in the groove again. How about that shirt last Wednesday? Guess if we can't get to Florida, Freddie wll bring Florida to us. . . . I wonder if the short noon cat-naps Pondo takes are worth all the manuevers he goes through to get settled. . . . Ruth Reed gave Mardo a Milky Way with a little artificial worm in it on her birthday. The gag backfired when Mardo stood in front of Ruth very nonchalantly eating a Milky Way he had bought himself. . . . Guess Don L. was in a state of unconsciousness when he blew on the needle he had in one hand to put out the match flame that he had in his other hand.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital and returned to work:

Sick List

William Woods, Esther Griner, Manford F. Robbins, Helen Smeltzer, Ruby Griner, Betty Voirol, Robert George, Helen M. Yeater, Joselyn Franklin, Luenna Evans, Harriett Palmer, Elmer Koehlinger, Elmer Hatfield, Max Holycross, Ferdinand Reaser, Dolores Sheckart, Stanley Newhall, Russel Tageman, Ruby Wickliffe, Doris Stevenson, Lloyd Somers, Gloria A. Boester, Betty Gnagy, Mathew Jackson, Henry Deitschel, Arton Cobb, Charles Morris, Jim Lester, Arthur Shull, Virginia Reckeweg, Joan Toderoff, Barbara Toles, Ina Smith, Virginia Roemer, Charles Thompson, and Clara Nickelson.

If you want to know what that bright flash is going down the aisle, it is Jim Lindley's chartruese socks. Jim says, "They keep me awake." . . . Doris Garr can really let out the war whoops. We thought the Indans were coming. . . . We miss you, Maxine, and hope you like days. . . . Jo Lee Zimmerman's long face is the result of her daughter going on a six-weeks vacation to New York. Jo Lee says, "Long time, no see." . . . We had a potluck for Ann Rohlfing, who is leaving to take up full-time housekeeping. Ann was so surprised that she was speechless. She says thanks for the lovely gift. We will miss you, Ann, and hope to see you visiting us sometime. . . . We're glad to hear Ann Hershberger is feeling better. We hope to see you back after vacation, Ann. . . . Jim Lindley is raising his garage. He claims he hit it with his head and raised it a foot. At least he didn't hurt the garage. . . . Everyone has such nice plans for vacation, we hope the weather man cooperates and everyone enjoys his vacation to the fullest. Have a happy and a SAFE vacation, everyone.

Blood Donors

dents Tuesday. Glenn Reynolds, executive Red Cross director in this area, told the presidents that donors may not be called into the Blood Center until several months after signing a pledge card. Ab Martin, works manager, also attended the meeting and urged vigorous support of the campaign.

Organizations supporting the huge blood donating endeavor here include: The Foremen's Association, Squares, Elex, IAM, Lodge No. 70, IUE-CIO, 901, Apprentice Alumni Association, Supervisors' Club, G-E World War Veterans, Quarter Century Club, Decimal Minute Men and Volunteer Firemen's Association.

By Don Stoneman

Gil Carl gave up six hits, three walks, and struck out three as the Squares defeated the Test Engineers 4 to 2 in a close, well-played game. DeJean was the big gun in the Squares attack, getting three of their seven hits, scoring one run and driving in two.

Small Motor scored five runs in the first inning and three in the fourth as they defeated AAA 9 to 4. Cliff Smead had three hits in three times at bat and drove in six runs. Stricot had a home run for Small Motor and Rodenbeck hit one for AAA. Zimmerlee had two singles and a double and scored three runs for Small Motor.

The Winter St. vs. Works Lab and Taylor St. vs. Motor-Generator games were rained out.

Fractional forfeited to the Firemen and have been dropped from the League.

Little League Tourney Opens Tonight

Northeast-Northwest Stars Clash at Memorial Park

The Northwest and Northeast All-Stars will play the first game in the Little League Tournament at 7:30 tonight in Memorial Park, Little League Commissioner Bob Young, announced this week.

The winner of the game advances to the Aug. 1 District Meet. In the opening contest that night, the Northeast-Northwest winner will play the Southwest nine, with the Maumee Valley All-stars meeting in the second game.

Then, the two winners will battle Saturday, Aug. 4, to decide the champion from this area, who will subsequently compete in the Lower Michigan-Indiana State Tournament here Aug. 10-11. All tournament games will be played at Zollner Stadium.

Orley K. Blauvelt, president of the Indiana Umpires' Association, will serve as chairman of the umpiring and rules committee. The position of official scorer went to Bob Parker, an officer of the Fort Wayne Civic Baseball Association, and a former WORKS NEWS editor.

In a practice game Monday night, the G-E team lost to the Antwerp Little League, 8 to 1. A grand slam home run by one of the Antwerp players helped defeat G-E.

Despite top pitching by Bob Snyder Tuesday night, Patterson Fletcher defeated the G-E team 4 to 2 in a scheduled game.

The G-E Girls' Softball Team won two and lost one of their last three games.

In a game played with Lassus Bros. Monday, G-E outslugged Lassus 22 to 9. Lassus played under a handicap with only eight players showing for the game.

Nicodemus, the pitcher, started for G-E by hitting a home run with one on. Ramer also was in her stride, getting five for five.

Battery for G-E was Nicodemus and Gallaway; for Lassus, Juricak and Monnier.

In a very close game all the way, Thursday, July 19, G-E defeated Auburn 7 to 6.

Both teams scored five runs in the first inning. G-E made the two winning runs in the second. Goeglein paced the team with two home runs.

Getty and Nicodemus pitched for G-E with Gallaway and Drewett working behind the plate. Swartz and Butz formed the battery for Auburn.

One of the most interesting sporting events in which G-E Club members participate in is the annual golf match with the Studebaker AC of South Bend.

To whom the credit for the original contact goes is not known. In order to obtain names, dates etc., we have to tear pages out of Walter H. Sunier's golf diary.

The Studebaker matches started in 1932. No one is better qualified to furnish data for this yarn than "In the Rough" Sunier himself, because he has played in every match to date.

Looking back to 1932 and the old Coquillard links in South Bend, (the name has since been changed to Morris Park in honor of the gent who prevented the club from going on the financial rocks), we find 14 G-E Club golfers present. Among those who played and won over the Studebaker team were; R. C. Hanna, who shot the low metal score of 76; C. W. Kronmiller, and Ray White. Of course, "In the Rough" was on hand too.

One event, not on the program for that opening match, was put on by M. L. "Joe" Hartman. He swung so hard at the ball on the first tee that both of his feet left the ground and he landed on his hack forty. (They say that he had a pretty fair drive).

Home Ground Luckiest

According to the records, Studebaker didn't break into the win column until 1937 when the matches were held at the Erskine course in South Bend. They also copped the next two years. In 1940 at Brookwood, the Club lads came back to win. Since that time the two teams have been winning at home and losing away. Whenever the matches were held in Fort Wayne, they were played at either Orchard Ridge or Brookwood.

In South Bend, the boys played at Coquillard, Erskine, Chain-O-Lakes and Notre Dame. The present standings give the local team an eight to seven lead over Studebaker.

An outgrowth of these yearly matches has been the traditional match between C. A. Holmes, of Studebaker, and "In the Rough" Sunier, himself. The rivalry began in 1938 at Orchard Ridge when both of the men were golf chairmen for their respective clubs. Sunier won the first match with an 83 to Holmes' 90. Until the war interrupted the series in 1943, "In the Rough" had won three of the five encounters and, in each case, he fired an 83. Since the matches were resumed, however, Holmes has really been tough. He has won every match. The 1949 outing was washed out by rain. The talley sheet at present reads three for Sunier and seven for Holmes.

There are other tales about how the G-E Club tried to buy the Brookwood Golf Club; how the golf leagues sold 266 memberships for $6 a year at the same course, and when they sold 1,254 balls and saved $212.26. These and many other stories are in the keen memory of that fine golf enthusiast, Walter.

Owl Recap

The lowly Traps, who have been the footstool of the Owl Golf League throughout the season, racked up their first win at the expense of the Spoons by eight points. Tom Gouty followed his initial Owl effort of a 41 the last outing, with a 42 to lead in the win. Each of the Traps shot under their averages to aid in turning the trick. Lou Barney and John Stark carded 42's for the Spoons. Stark wrecked a possible 40 buster with a seven on the last hole.

The Hot Shots and the Drivers carded identical team scores, 162, to down the Putters and the Brassies by 13 and 18, respectively. The

Owl Softballers Down Zollner A By 6-1 Score

By Bill Geist

G-E downed Zollner A, 6 to 1, with the G-E boys running well on the bases.

Zollner A was able to solve our pitching for only three hits. Hurling was ably handled by Don Hower and Ray Wiese who struck out eight men between them.

Manager Crosley's search for a second baseman has come to an end. Bebe Blauvelt has taken over after a rest for torn leg ligaments. He handled the second bag job flawlessly and hit a long homer and a single in three times at bat. Bebe's homer came in the first, scoring Cliff Grimes, who had singled ahead of him.

G-E scoring continued in the fourth when three runs crossed home plate on a single and three errors. G-E ended their scoring in the fifth with two singles and a stolen base good for one run.

The Owls won 8 to 2 from an outclassed Inca team in a short game, when one of their players was called home.

With Morrie Moffitt pitching two-hit ball and striking out eight, G-E fell apart in the sixth and Salishury took advantage to cross

MANY IRONS IN THE FIRE . . .

Herb Siebold, First Apprentice Enrollee, Completes 40 Years

H. G. Siebold, superintendent of FHP Motor Div. 15 and Div. 20, celebrated 40 years at General Electric July 17. As a student, teacher, supervisor, toolmaker, church worker, photographer, baseball fan, pianist and proud grandfather, Mr. Siebold has an outstanding record of service to the General Electric Company and to his community.

This versatile superintendent has the distinction of being the first man enrolled in the first class of the Apprentice School. He enrolled two years after joining the Arc Lamp Department in 1911. Of the first ten graduates in 1917, Mr. Siebold; Robert Bangert, Taylor St.; Frank Glenn, Bldg. 19-5, Wilbur Stocks, Bldg. 4-4, and Lloyd Welbaum, Bldg. 19-4, are still working at the Fort Wayne Works.

After graduating from the Apprentice School as a machinist-toolmaker, Mr. Siebold was assigned to the Tool Room in Bldg. 26-5. He followed his profession there for six years. In 1923, he became a supervisor in the Apprentice School, specializing as a factory instructor in shop practice. He worked with apprentices until 1933, when he was named a foreman in the Bldg. 17-4 model shop.

From 1934 to 1937, Mr. Siebold served as planning supervisor of the General Tool Division and then was made superintendent of that division. Then, for one year, he served as superintendent of divisions manufacturing 40-frame motors before being named to his present position.

Heads BC Motor Group

Mr. Siebold's present division is commonly known as the BC motor group, manufacturing DC motors, amplidyne, aircraft and starter generator motors. It includes Bldgs. -1, 4-2, 4-5, 6-2, 17-1, 2-1, 2-2, parts of Bldgs. 4-4, 4-B and 6-B.

Throughout his career, Mr. Siebold has been a perennial student, attending some study group or night school. His latest effort along this line is with the Forum Club, a public speaking group.

As an active member of the St. John's Evangelical Reformed Church, he has held many church offices and is a past president of the congregation. At present, he is chairman of the building committee and a teacher of one of the men's groups.

Musician Siebold plays the piano for his own amusement and formerly was an accompanist of the Old Summit City Barbershop Quartet.

Baseball is another of his interests. Currently, his enthusiasm for the great American game centers on Little League play. His two grandsons, ages three and three months, have been the cause of his most recent hobby, photography. His son-in-law, Calvin Schultz, works in Bldg. 6-4.

At a party held for him at Howard Johnson's restaurant last week, both foremen and supervisors of his division, along with their wives, got together to honor him. Their principal gift was a large picnic table for his yard. Then, knowing his custom of buying cigars for everyone at company parties, they presented him with a box of cigars to pass out to the guests—plus the bill for them. According to Mr. Siebold, the surprise party with most of his former and present associates there, was a wonderful climax to four decades at G-E.

G-E got two hits, a single by Cliff Grimes in the second, and a line drive to center field, by Hower in the seventh. Bob Crosley and Earl Tipsord flied out to end the game.

win over the Brassies by the Drivers vaulted them into second place ahead of the slipping Putters. Wickliffe and Craig shot 40's for the champs. Herman Uhrick, Driver Ace, continued burning up the course by carding a one over par 37 for the day's low. The Drivers have a battle cry, "We're coming, Hot Shots." The fur is sure to fly when the Champs and the Drivers meet in the payoff game in two weeks.

Bud Hower led his Bunkers to a 10 point win over the Flags. They say that Bud was not playing against the Flags but against Dave Mumma! The win also moved the Bunkers up from seventh to fifth in the league standings. Cavanaugh was low for the Flags.

Quite a battle shapes up for the fifth place in the playoffs. At the present three teams have a chance. The next two or possibly three weeks will tell the story.

There will be no league play during vacation shut-down.

SHIPPING: HERE IT IS AT LAST — VACATION — HURRAH! The gang seems to be headed to all corners of the country, according to first reports. Of course, there's the skeletons (pardon me, skeleton crew) who will be here during the regular shutdown. . . . We'll try to be away out front in our congratulations to Bob Jellison and Tony Koorsen on their birthdays which fall on Aug. 4 and 7. . . . Ruth (red as a beet) Sorg and Eddie (dirty sleeves) Blotkamp seem to have a bit of trouble over the way in which Ruth dusts the file tops. Ed is continually getting his sleeves dirty reaching over the top of the files to hand Ruth mail. His patience finally came to an end. Seeing that Ruth intended to do nothing about it, Ed grabbed a damp cloth, charged over to the shipping files and proceeded to wipe off the dust. Everything has been fairly smooth for the past few days, but how long can that one dusting last? . . . Jane Wise is a very unique fisherman. She likes to catch them. Then because it's so much fun, she throws them back in and starts all over again. She also added that she doesn't like to eat fish, so why keep them. . . . TELEGRAPH: Here's hoping Delores Widner has a good time in Bermuda and New York on her vacation. She is sure looking forward to it. . . . Farewell and best wishes to Barbara Rider, who will devote her time to household duties. . . . Eleanore Blake is planning a big vacation at home behind the hammer. Eleanore and her hubby are going to build a garage. . . . FLASH: Helene Nelson is gaining in her struggle to master her crew cut. . . . MAILING: Jerry Gardener is waiting for the day when we won't have telephone poles. He doesn't just shave them; he bumps smack dab into them. He has the crumples to prove it. . . . Rita Hicks spent a grand week-end at home in Hamilton, Ind., and decided to return again on her vacation. . . . Minta Cole relaxed and enjoyed a family reunion at Muncie last week-end. She seems to be in favor of holding these feasts a couple times a year.

new superintendent

F. Arnold Named Superintendent Of Wire Division

The appointment of F. A. Arnold as superintendent and engineer of the Wire and Insulation Section was disclosed today by Works Manager Ab Martin. Mr. Arnold succeeds H. E. Hire who is retiring September 1.

Mr. Arnold joined the General Electric Company in 1925 in the Building and Maintenance Department. He was later employed in the Tool Division and, in 1941, transferred to Taylor St. as supervisor of mechanical operations.

In 1945, Mr. Arnold was named assistant superintendent of the Wire Mill. He became division engineer of the Wire Mill in 1948.

Mr. Arnold is a native of Fort Wayne and received a B. S. degree in M. E. from Indiana University. He is a Registered Professional Engineer and a member of the Supervisors' Club.

The Arnolds have two children and live at 4805 Tacoma Ave.

BLOOD!

Each of us can save a life.

Our opportunity to give—literally from our hearts—will be offered to us Wednesday thru Friday, August 29-31, when contact members of 11 G-E groups will solicit blood donors at the Fort Wayne Works.

The plant-wide blood campaign is part of a concerted drive among all Allen County industrial concerns to secure the requirements of the recently opened Regional Blood Center here.

Who needs blood?

The local Center alone has a weekly civilian quota of 625 pints of blood besides an Armed Forces monthly quota of 500 pints. A glimpse into one of the five county hospitals might show:

An auto accident victim receiving a transfusion to counteract shock and bleeding—

A new mother receiving blood to replace that lost by hemorrhage—

An anemic baby being given a new blood supply to halt a possibly fatal battle in his veins caused by Rh antibodies—

An elderly man getting one of a series of transfusions to give him strength for a dangerous operation—

A youngster with rheumatic fever receiving injections, made from blood, to spare him from a serious case of measles—

Or—imagining ourselves on a barren, mortar blasted Korean hill, we watch a medic administering plasma to a burned youth to replace blood components lost thru skin seepage. Later, the wounded lad will receive a series of whole blood transfusions to fight anemia caused by toxins.

Who needs blood?

Almost everybody sometime or another during his lifetime — maybe you or one of your loved ones may need it before you are called upon to fulfill your pledge.

Let each of us resolve now to give just a little of our blood to humanity's great Red River of Life.

Schorr Promoted To Sales Mgr. Of STAB Dept.

Edmund C. Schorr has been appointed manager of sales for the Specialty Transformer and Ballast Department, W. C. Wichman, department manager, has announced. Mr. Schorr will assume his new responsibilities September 1, replacing Clarence E. Burke who has been named manager of sales for the Switchgear Dept. in Philadelphia.

Mr. Schorr is a native of St. Paul, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1936 with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering. Until 1940, when he joined G-E in Schenectady on the Test Course for student engineers, he worked as a construction superintendent for an independent electrical contractor.

At G-E, Mr. Schorr was given successive assignments on specialty transformers, ballasts, power and distribution transformers and other

OVER THE LUNCHBOX:

You've Gotta Be Good!

"THAT'S not so bad!" Joe put aside the sports page on which he had been scribbling, and opened his lunchbox.

"What's not so bad?" asked Larry.

"Six-fifty for a three-hour day."

"We do much better than that here," began Larry. "What's so . . ."

"Six HUNDRED and fifty DOLLARS a day is what I'm talking about," interrupted his co-worker. "The other day the Yanks and Boston played a game in one hour flat. That meant that both Ted Williams and Joe Di Maggio, who get $100,000 a year each, got $650 for that day's work—a couple of hours of practice and an hour to play the game, and through for the day. What a life!"

"Yes," agreed Larry, "but next year it may be one-tenth that much or nothing at all. And that hundred grand will be closer to $25,000—after income taxes are taken out."

"That isn't bad either, for a Summer's work," insisted Joe.

"No one says it is, but you can bet it is earned."

"For just playing a game?"

"Yes, or for singing a few songs or telling a few jokes on the radio, or playing a part in a movie—or running a business successfully. It is all the same thing."

"How do you figure that?"

"In baseball, or radio or the movies you have to satisfy the fans as well as the managers and directors, and the owners. And in business you have to satisfy the customers and the shareholders and the bondholders and the employees. If you don't, out you go.

"Besides," continued Larry, "how many guys in baseball get as much as Di Maggio or Williams, or Stan Musial?"

"Not many, that's for sure," Joe agreed. "I guess there must be thousands who never even make the big leagues, for every one who does."

"That is absolutely right," went on Larry. "Every American has the right to go as high as he can in his chosen work or profession. You and I can be the heads of our own company if we have what it takes. Any school athlete can become a Di Magg, if he has the stuff."

"That's the truth," said Joe. "As soon as a guy came along who could beat Joe Louis, Ol' Joe stopped being the champ. And I guess if another company came along and could beat our company in price and quality and service, our company would soon take a back seat too."

"Now you've got the idea," smiled Larry. "Everything in this country is competitive. Nobody can hold you back if you've got what it takes."

Reunion

Words by Walt

TWO WEEKS VACATION

Back from vacation, gosh it was fun!
Two weeks when nothing had to be done.
Two weeks completely out of the groove;
Nothing to settle, nothing to prove.

Two weeks of freedom, no one to fight,
Nothing to figure, nothing to write.
Nothing important I had to do,
Nobody asking when I'd be through.

No Monday morning weekly reports,
Nobody calling all out of sorts,
No information I must obtain,
No drafting practice I must explain.

No one demanding things in a hurry,
No one excited, all in a flurry,
No special meetings I must attend,
No Company policy I must defend.

No alarm setting, no need to ring,
Clocks on vacation don't mean a thing.
No early breakfast, no half-hour lunch,
No dried-out sandwich I had to munch.

No crowded busses I had to ride,
No special problems I must decide,
Two weeks vacation with nothing to do,
Except painting the fence and the chicken-coop, too.

And cleaning the basement, and opening a drain,
And fixing a window, that leaked in the rain,
And hoeing the garden, and pulling the weeds,
And inspecting the furnace to see what it needs.

And doing some wiring, and mixing cement,
And checking some plumbing to find where it went,
And dusting the cabbage, and picking the beans,
And trying to fix the garage where it leans.

And putting some boards in a worn-out floor,
And replacing a lock in the grade entrance door,
And taking apart my wife's kitchen mixer,
Then hunting around for somebody to fix'er.

After mending some chairs and repairing a swing,
I found I'd forgotten just one little thing:
I'd forgotten vacation, hut then that I knew
It was really too late—my two weeks were through.

Oldtimers' Game Slated Monday

All veteran oldtimers and any new players who want to take part in the Oldtimers' Benefit Baseball game at Dwenger Park Monday night should report to the park to play by 7 p.m. Elmer Wagner, ext. 2108, is busy lining up his team and will give information to any player who is interested.

The Oldtimers' game is played eaeh year between G-E and the City team for the benefit of players injured during the season in the two Federation Leagues. It is sponsored by the Fort Wayne Baseball Federation.

Admission will be 50 eents. Tickets may be obtained from any Federation League manager or at the G-E Club.

Best wishes to Elaine Holmes, who will return to work Monday with the name Mrs. Leonard Harlan. . . . Visitors during the shutdown were Lawrence Painter, former draftsman, from the G-E X-Ray Corp. in Milwaukee, and Ira Kellogg, retired engineer, from Florida. Minnie Ferguson informed Kell that the new rule was for her to kiss all visitors. To her surprise, Kell obliged. . . . Bill Reardon was filled with curiosity as he opened the little bag with a letter attaehed from Vinee Busian, vacationing in Minnesota. In the bag was a small eorked bottle eontaining a small amount of sweet smelling liquid. The letter said the eontents were more health promoting than a combination of Hadaeol, Serutan, Carters Pills and Absorbine, Jr. "This bottle contains enough fresh, pure Minnesota air to give the whole office force a shot in the arm—Also, a few drops of Minnesota dew to insure freshness. Please see that it is evenly distributed." We all took a whiff. . . . It may be that they are "erazy with the heat or perhaps just trying to oblige the eamera-man, Ed Cwiklo, but here is Hodge Vineyard serving Art Ordas a juiey, green eaterpillar at the office picnie at Maes. . . . Ed Weaver, Deward Franke and William Gill have gone to military eneampment in Wisconsin under the eommand of Captain Clue Ferguson. . . . Warren Brighty's new shirt eovered with eannibals was quite an attraction. Wonder if he got it for his birthday?

Cordiner's Message Cites New High for Production

A record number of General Electric stockholders have received the Company's 217th stock dividend check, accompanied by President Ralph J. Cordiner's regular message which tells of a new high production record.

General Electric has more stockholders now—253,319—than at any time in the Company's 60-year history, putting it fourth among American industrial concerns in number of stockholders.

"In the first six months of 1951," President Cordiner's message began, "General Electric again set a new high record of production. An increase in sales was shown over the first half of a year ago in every operating unit.

"While total billings in the second quarter of this year were higher than in the first quarter, there were decreases in some lines of consumer products due to credit restrictions, reduced demand and the general effect of the mobilization program. Although consumer goods production may be cut back somewhat more sharply in the second half, these decreases should be substantially offset by increased production of durable goods and equipment for national defense," G-E's president wrote.

Government Guides Policy

"Any attempt to forecast the immediate outlook must take into account that today we are subject to more government controls than ever before in peacetime. Not only are there more controls, but nearly every day decisions must be made without knowing what the final impact of Government regulations will be.

"Throughout most of the second quarter, for example, we were awaiting approval from Washington of wage and salary increases retroactive to March 15 for the two-thirds of our employes who had not already received an increase automatically under escalator clauses. This approval was not received until June 16. The total wage and salary increases amounted to approximately 40 million dollars a year. At the same time, the Company was confronted with the tremendous problem of computing and filing prices of some 200,000 products under OPS regulations."

In closing, President Cordiner noted: "at the time of writing this message, decisions affecting product prices, new and higher taxes, and the controlled use of materials were all in the immediate offing. These government decisions will, of course, have an important bearing upon all phases of the Company's operations."

Raymond P. Wiese Appointed Foreman in Large M-G Division

Raymond P. Wiese has been appointed second shift foreman of the Sheet Metal, Detail, Commutator, Core and Shaft Sections, Large Motor and Generator Divisions. Mr. Wiese's appointment was announced by R. M. Hartigan, manager of Manufacturing.

Mr. Wiese came to G-E in 1941 as an apprentice machinist-toolmaker. In 1943, he was inducted into the Air Force and was discharged as a second lieutenant. He returned to G-E late in 1945 and finished his apprentice training.

In December, 1946, he became a bench machinist in the General Tool Division. He transferred to Large Motor and Generator Divisions in 1948 as a methods planner. He has been serving in this capacity until his recent appointment.

The Wieses and their two children reside at 2101 Sunnymeade Drive.

H. C. Roemke Receives Patent For DC Speed Control System

Henry C. Roemke, of the Fractional Horsepower Motor Developmental Division, has been granted a patent for a speed control system for direct current motors using alternating current. This is Mr. Roemke's second patent.

granted patent

Mr. Roemke has been working in Bldg. 17-4 as a tester for ten years. He received a B. S. degree in E. E. from Valparaiso University before joining the General Electric Company.

Married, Mr. Roemke has three children and lives at 2712 Woodward Ave.

Elex Partizans Plan Children's Picnic

The Elex Partizan Chapter will hold a picnic for their children Tuesday in Franke Park.

Games and entertainment are being planned and refreshments will be provided by hostesses, Alma Geary, Nora Kern and Frieda Ramma.

Each member is asked to bring her own table service. The group will meet at 10:30 a.m. at the corner of State Blvd. and Sherman St.

In Russia a man is counted. In America he counts.

"Did you have a nice vacation?" was the greeting last Monday. From the replies, it seems everyone enjoyed some bad along with the good. . . . George Houser and Shella Juillerat spent their vacations at the lake. . . . Andy Anderson has been delayed in Boston. We are sorry to hear his wife is in the hospital there. We hope they will be able to return soon. . . . Pete Eberhardt had a wonderful two weeks only to return to a burning basement light. Cheer up, Pete, it could have been a running kitchen faucet. . . . Following the advice of Horace Greeley, Val and Miller decided to go West to seek their fortunes. Many could have told you boys that Las Vegas was not the fortune-seeking place. Wendell did win $11. Val told us that they went sightseeing and not souvenir collecting, but they did buy a genuine alligator purse in Mexico for only $10. Wendell and his wife traveled to the bottom of Grand Canyon on mules. It was a very exciting trip. A man right in front of Miller fell off a cliff but was not hurt. Another man was kicked by a mule and had an artery broken. Upon returning to the top, Miller told Val he was sore but satisfied. . . . Vacation is over for most of us and we're already dreaming and planning for next year.

GEAR FOR THE NAVY—Putting the stamp of approval on some transformers for armed services' use are a group of Navy inspectors assigned to the Fort Wayne Works. Left to right are J. W. Nevling, C. G. Kollman, Roy Patton, H. R. Bentley, Martha Thoma, Beatrice Winstel and C. L. Tulley. The inspectors make their plant headquarters in Bldg. 16-3.

Schible Named To New Post In Gen'l Service

William P. Schible has been appointed assistant general foreman of the General Service Division's first shift, Superintendent J. B. Greer has disclosed. His duties will consist of supervising and coordinating projects as assigned.

Mr. Schible joined the General Electric Company in 1928 as an apprentice. After graduation from the Apprentice School in 1934, he was assigned to the machine shop in Bldg. 20.

In 1942, he became a foreman on the third shift in Bldg. 20. At the time of his appointment, he was a foreman on the first trick.

Mr. Schible is a past president of the Foremen's Association and a member of the G-E Squares' organization and the Apprentice Alumni Association. He has been active in inter-division sports at the G-E Club and is managing the Ham Softball team this year.

Mr. Schible is married and has three daughters. They live at 4125 Tacoma Ave.

By Don Clark

We thought everyone was acquainted with our city's jay-walking laws but Carl Ahlersmeyer proved us wrong. He was seen giving an attentive ear to a friendly policeman's lecture downtown. . . . Paul Weaver thinks he would make a good surgeon, since he cut an imbedded fish hook out of his uncle's thumb. . . . Kenny McCague should give up trying to ride his boy's motorcycle. On his last attempt Kenny made a new path through a cluster of lilac bushes. Later he was hurrying to a call for the volunteer fire department. In backing out of the drive, he ran over his pet dog, breaking its leg. . . . That skinned shin Earl Brandon is complaining about came from people building their steps higher now than they did 20 years ago. Do they just seem higher, Earl? . . . We wish Sam Lahrman the best of luck in his new position and also thank him for the many news items he contributed to our column. . . . The check room welcomes Howard Markey on the second shift. . . . We extend welcome greetings to Martin Kimble after a leave of absence. . . . We wish John Hensler a speedy recovery. . . . Maurice Sordelet really has something to talk about, having speared a 20-pound garfish. . . . Carl Einsiedel, Ralph Hock, Henry Sandkuhler, Louis Palauzak and Max Baron spent their vacations developing muscles in their wrists. Of course, they had a paint brush in their hands while they were doing it. . . . Elmer Aumann did some painting but also took a trip East, venturing as far as Hicksville. Otto Meyer anticipated a swell time out West but banged up his car due to getting a little sleepy near St. Louis. Since his wife didn't like going West in a banged up car, Otto came back home. . . . Lowell Welker played the perfect host. He invited the fellows to his cottage for the second week when he would not be there. . . . George Hartman is a prodigy of Izaak Walton. He feeds the fish around his pier on Lake George so that Frank Hoffman and the other pensioners at the lake can catch them. . . . George Spittler had a pleasant trip to the Atlantic Coast. . . . Reiney Lepper caught all the fish in the State of Michigan. That is, all that he could catch. . . . Kurt Martin was really excited the other morning. He accused his wife and daughter of losing the keys to the car and his tool box. When arriving at work, however, he found the keys hanging in his tool box with everything wide open. Kurt immediately got on the phone and apologized to everyone, including his dog, King. . . . Charlie Ueber claims the reason they call his lake Pretty is because it's pretty hard to catch anything there. . . . Glenn Ramsey and Mart Walsh made Glenn's son stay on shore while they went out in a boat fishing. Before they could get shoved off, the boy had caught a 12-inch bass, the only fish caught that evening. . . . Art Dicke claims championship for most fish caught on vacation. He and Bill Wedler must have really made a haul on Big Long Lake. . . . Lloyd Welbaum and Hank Wittler spent their vacations in New York City. They told Gene Denig they would help him welcome his wife from Germany on the Queen Mary. Lloyd got lost in Chinatown and Hank was too busy with a big business deal concerning the Brooklyn Bridge. . . . The long standing term "battle ax" is now forbidden by request of a member of the Die Section. Among the fellows, no harm was meant and it was nothing more than an expression meaning "wife." By mutual agreement, the boys now say "battle wagon."

power transmission equipment. Last September, after serving in the Chicago Office for seven years, he was named assistant manager of specialty transformer and ballast sales.

Mr. Schorr is an active member of the Illuminating Engineering Society. He is married and has one son. They live at 3649 Algonquin Pass.

Mr. Burke's appointment in the Switchgear Divisions was disclosed by R. F. Tinnerholm, manager. Mr. Burke is a 1926 graduate of the Georgia School of Technology with a B. S. degree in E. E. He joined General Electric on test in August, 1926, and the following year was assigned to the Switchgear Divisions in Philadelphia. In May, 1929, he transferred to the Central Station Divisions in Schenectady, where he worked for six months. He then went to the Cleveland Sales Divisions until 1935.

Mr. Burke worked as a transformer specialist in Cleveland until 1942, when he became associated with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics in Cleveland.

In 1945, he was named manager of Distribution Transformer Sales at Pittsfield. He has served as manager of STAB Sales since 1950.

who might have been missed during the distribution of invitations last week should contact the secretary immediately, J. V. Johnson, president, said this week.

Dinner tickets and identification badges will be issued at the picnic grounds. Transportation will be provided for those desiring it.

Over 500 of the attendance cards, signifying acceptance, have already been returned, Mr. Smith said.

C. E. Strecker To Give Paper At IES Meeting

C. E. Strecker, design engineer in Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions, will leave next week for Washington, D. C., to present a paper on fluorescent lamp ballasts before the Illuminating Engineering Society's National Technical Conference slated August 27-30.

The paper, entitled "Fluorescent Lamp Performance on Sequence-Start Ballasts," explains a simplified method of quickly determining the lamp starting ability of these ballasts without extensive tests. Mr. Strecker was a co-author of the paper along with D. D. Hinman and R. L. Keiffer of the Lamp Department, Cleveland, O. Mr. Keiffer will assist in the presentation.

VACATIONS: The anticipated is now a thing of the past. Travel worn, sunburned and happy G-E employes are now back on the job, still enjoying the memories of a wonderful vacation time. The reports from here and there are all favorable. The Martins enjoyed a restful vacation. . . . The Freemans are back from Glacier National Park and Lake Louise. . . . The Wylics enjoyed their stay at Estes Park. . . . The Carl Olsons drove to Texas. . . . Mildred Whitmer enjoyed California. . . . The Waldschmidts were at Gifford Lake in Michigan for one week. . . . The Swagers were in Minnesota. . . . The Paul Gellerts and Harold Lehmans were also trying their luck at fishing in Minnesota. . . . Florence Badger spent a few days in Columbus, Ohio, visiting two former G-E girls, Edna Gilpin and Nicky Hill. . . . Mary Cooper and her son spent the vacation time at Pretty Lake. . . . The Payroll girls are on vacation this week, that accounts for the quietness in Bldg. 18-1. . . .

Did you notice all those smiling faces the first day after vacation? . . . Some of the news might be a little stale after two weeks, but here goes. . . . Norma Smith was calling her hogs to be fed. A neighbor thought it was a call for help and came running to the rescue. The neighbor pointed out to Norma never to enter a hog calling contest! . . . Verda Hill is taking up a business course—some business, especially the horses. . . . Just before vacation, potlucks were held for Betty Baker, at which time she received her wedding gift, and also for Ruth Bentley and Don Edwards, who were married recently. . . . Doris Jones' husband has landed in the States from Korea. . . . Why does Louie Diller spend so much time in Bldg. 26-1? . . . What's it going to be, Nancy, painting the pig pen for 50 cents per hour or picking pickles for 65 cents per hour? . . . Ask Jim Allison what his wife found in his pocket. . . . We express our sympathy to Halice Grabner in the recent death of her father. . . . Under the threat of a libel suit, we have to make a retraction. We spelled Joyce Kryder's name with an "i" instead of "y", the first time it appeared here. Joyce, by the way, does a little rifle shooting occasionally. Although right handed, she shoots left handed because she can only wink one eye to squint down the barrel. . . . Dorothea Winburn spent her vacation at Big Lake. . . . Howard Winters went to Florida. . . . Orville Langhor and his family went to Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills. . . . Carl Hanson journeyed to Maryland. . . . Barbara Shipman hibernated to Miami. . . . Ethel Henschell took a dog team up to the Straits of Michigan. . . . Hazel Bennett took off her shoes and went to the Smoky Mountains. . . . Loretta Miller went to Tennessee to see her daughter. . . . Leona Lethwaite went to Canada. . . . Mertz, Shipman and Lea conducted a tour of Minnesota to sample the various kinds of beverages. . . . Stanley Gongaware made a trip to Wisconsin for a little fishing.

Everybody had a good time at Arlene Berghoff's wedding reception. She is back again, safe and sound. Here's to your future, Arlene. . . . Everyone really cut loose during vacation time. Some came back blistered, tan, noses peeled, etc. But all had a swell time. . . . Gladys Cleland went to the Blue Hole in Sandusky. . . . Lillie Pion says she just came back to work to catch up on her rest. . . . We hear that Risher Hall is a great fisherman. He tried to catch the Churubusco turtle. He had no luck so he turned farmer for the rest of his vacation. . . . Bob Shuster got a nice looking tan at the lake. . . . Chicago airport held a great fascination for Ed Sonday. . . . Charlie Lauer and Bob Kessens painted. . . . Ilo Motter went to Chicago and Detroit to see the baseball games. . . . Leo Nyboer went all the way to Detroit to watch TV. . . . Gilbert Brookhart said the fish didn't bite but he enjoyed being with his family. . . . Can't you just see Carl Barker with his Boy Scouts at Irish Lake? . . . Helen Bell worked at her cottage at Little Barbee Lake. . . . Did you see Beverly Hack's beautiful suntan? Her formula for it is this: Two weeks at her desk. . . . While attending an exclusive restaurant in Norfolk, Va., Henry Riedenback had to tread water to eat his dinner. There's nothing like having a cloudburst and high tide at the same time. . . . As the girls are pounding the typewriters and running the duplicators, I can't help but think of what Lillie Pion said, "Only 50 more weeks until vacation." . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Anspach, who are the proud parents of a baby boy named Edward Warren. John is in the Aircraft Inspection Section. . . . We send our deepest sympathy to the Cleo Bunner family in his death. . . . Congratulations to Richard Hewitt and Wayne Woodworth for whom wedding bells rang. . . . Ralph McCain and Ray Saul spent their vacation in Bermuda. Ralph bought a new suit to wear there. Before vacation he got it dirty, but he took it along and sent it to the cleaners in Bermuda. He didn't get to wear the suit there. It didn't return from the cleaners until an hour before leaving. While in Washington, he thought our President had moved the capitol. Mac, you couldn't have been lost, could you? . . . Of course, we had several good fish stories from Henry Vance, Paul Stemmler, Bud Beamen and Pat O'Brien.

All are here and accounted for. . . . We have some newcomers—Carol Kissinger, Bonnie Johnson and Delores Bornie. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Kruse are still enjoying the wonders of California. . . . Dee Hahn, our smiling little lass who enjoys dancing, playing second base in softball and playing the piano, returned from her vacation at Colorado Springs. . . . Jo Quinn visited her mother in Minnesota. Carol Harrington toured the Smokies and Washington. . . . Judy Krebs, Jean Smith and Joyce Greisser enjoyed New York, but added that they never would wish to live there. Of course, they only got lost once. But they were compensated by seeing "South Pacific." . . . Phyliss Clifton and her husband visited the City of Brotherly Love,. Philadelphia. They also saw Bert Lahr in "Two on the Aisle," in New York. . . . Farewell to Naomi Snyder, who left us Friday. We presented her with a pretty gift for the future Mr. Snyder. I'm sure Naomi will enjoy being home and resting. . . . Ruth Stier and Bernadette Collis enjoyed the cool breezes of Michigan. . . . Betty Bartley and her girl friends relaxed and had a good time at Lake Wawasee and Tri-Lakes dancing to the music of Cugat. . . . Grace Taylor visited friends at Penn Park, Lake Hamilton. . . . Mr. Wheeler is now enjoying his vacation, and Mr. Grueb has just returned. He enjoyed seeing the Cubs and Pirates play. . . . Vi Schneider would rather stay in Bermuda than come home. The climate was ideal and those handsome sailors stationed there made everything complete. Vi says she plans to go to Europe in about two years.

Now that vacation is over and everyone is rested up, we should have lots of news. . . . Dick Gidley enjoyed his vacation at the lake fishing and resting. He also worked a half hour. I hope he wasn't overworked. . . . Johnny Hart spent his vacation fishing and visiting Chicago. . . . The group presented Betty Askren a lovely farewell gift. Betty is leaving us to devote her time to housekeeping. We shall miss you, Betty. We enjoyed the candy. Thanks. . . . Doris Stevenson, who underwent surgery, is recovering nicely. Doris says thanks to the group for the lovely gift. . . . Marc Junk, our assistant foreman on Line Three, is leaving us to take up further study in another division. . . . The group presented Marc a farewell gift. He said, "Tell the gang thanks, I sure appreciated it." . . . Donna Sipe has moved from Fort Wayne back to New Castle. We're sorry to see you go, Donna, let's hear from you again. . . . Ida Nell Lowe has a new method of washing her feet. . . . We wish to extend our sympathy to Russell May, whose brother-in-law died recently. . . . Our group has changed considerably. We miss lots of faces, but do hope it isn't long until they are all back. . . . The inspectors on Line Three really enjoyed the apple pie Betty Good brought. . . . Felix Neuman and his son enjoyed their vacation fishing in Canada. . . . Lewis Davis took a vacation trip to Sioux Ste. Marie. . . . Betty Good was delighted to hear her husband, Lt John Good of the Navy, when he called from Korea for their third wedding anniversary. We hope he can soon be home, Betty. . . . Dick Gidley reports he raises turnips from first floor to third. Anyway, we enjoyed them, Dick. . . . Did you hear about Pat Perry's new nickname, "Baldy"? Could it be because of the new hair cut? . . .

The Four Beckmans

These cute youngsters are children of Marietta Beckman, who works on Line Three. Her family includes, Judith Galeen, 11 years; Karen Jane, 8 years; Sandra Lee, 6 years, and Carl, 21 months. . . . Ask Dick Gidley where the tape went.

Inquiring Reporter:

"WHICH TEAM DO YOU THINK WILL WIN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT?"

KEITH E. SPIKER

Bldg. 26-4

"I'll take the Brooklyn Dodgers to coast in as the winner, followed not to closely by the Cardinals, Giants and Phillies, in that order. Brooklyn has too much power in its lineup for the rest of the league and will go on to win the world series."

DENVER CARPENTER

Taylor St.

"I think Brooklyn will be the National League representative in the world series. They would have to get in a bad slump to miss. They have too much power at the plate and great pitching. First division finishers should be Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cincinnati and New York."

ERNA C. MANN

Bldg. 4-2

"I think Brooklyn will probably win, but ball games are never over 'till the last man's out. With two more months to play, the Giants may get their hitting clothes on and give Brooklyn a battle, like I've seen the Washington Senators beat the White Sox."

DONALD MITCHELL

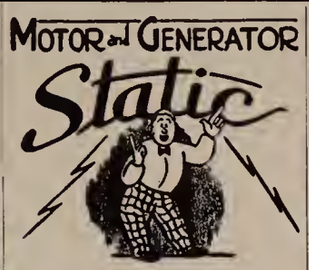
Bldg. 19-1

"It's a much safer job to pick the National League than the American. You don't have to go out too far on a limb to pick Brooklyn as the pennant team. The rest of the first division might include the Giants, Cardinals and Phillies—in that order. Still, anything can happen in baseball."

ROSE MARY SEIFERT

Bldg. 16-3

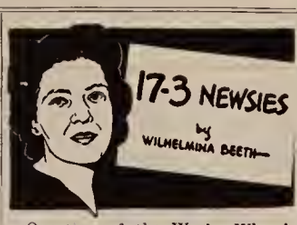
"Brooklyn will most likely win the pennant—for the obvious reason that they are 12½ games ahead of New York. (Or so I am told by my baseball advisor) The details like hitting power, strike-out pitching, relief pitching, etc., I don't pretend to understand. A 12½ game lead sounds good to me."



BIG TRIP: Donna Bauermeister vacationed in Bermuda with other members of Elex. . . . TOO MUCH FOOD: What's this we hear about Marge Walker popping a button off her slacks. That's what eating too much does to a person. . . . CONGRATS: Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lommatzsch on the birth of a baby girl, Sharron, weighing 7 lb. 11 oz. . . . BACK AGAIN: Everyone was glad to see Harold Sherbondy back to work again. He has been off for the last six weeks. . . . FINALLY: At last, here is the news we have been waiting for. Doran Hershberger is a proud father of David Lee, weight 6 lb. 13 oz., born Aug. 10, 1951. . . . CONGRATS: To Bud Bakeman, who was married Saturday. Best of luck, Bud. . . . ONE MORE: Happy birthday to Paul Motter, Aug. 9, and Wade Reed, Aug. 20. . . . VACATION: The DC Division glows with health and vitality after vacation. The most frequently heard story is, "I came back to rest up." Some of the unusual stories on vacation trips are: Ozzie Lacerte's reply to whether he had an enjoyable vacation was, "Whether or not I enjoyed myself, we had plenty of weather—whether or not it was vacation." He ran into several deluges in Colorado, among which was having to park his car in a garage with eight inches of water, saw a cyclone in Kansas, and plenty of heat. . . . Deloris Giltz rode a mule down into Grand Canyon and ate a fanciful Mexican dinner served in grand style but with plenty of flies to keep her busy. . . . Bill Rutledge can tell you about his adventures as a guest on a commercial fishing boat off the East Coast. (Bill said they caught no fish that night. Better stay off the boat so the poor fishermen don't lose money next time you are in the East, Bill). People with extra red faces can tell you a good fish story. . . . BACK AGAIN: We are happy to have Helen Conrad back with us after several weeks of illness. . . . HOT SHOT: If you didn't see any Fort Wayne papers during vacation, you missed the article about "One-Shot Stapleton" entitled "Big Troublemaker." It was about the owl he shot in front of his home with a wing spread of four feet. He did it with a BB gun, too. . . . CONGRATULATIONS: To J. F. Jamison, who is the proud father of Charles Arthur, weighing 8 lb. 4 oz., born July 26.

Big Trip

Cozy Walper is happily settled in her new home. . . . Sarah Moore had an enjoyable vacation in Canada. . . . Gladys Pantazin says she has callouses from playing cards so much. . . . Why was Melvin Riley walking a bicycle down Fox Ave.? Won't the Nash run any more, Mel? . . . Ross Strodel spent most of his vacation in bed. That is a poor time to be ill, Ross, but we hope you will be feeling on top of the world real soon. . . . Bob Robertson acquired a new Mercury during vacation. . . . Iva Powell and Catherine Chilcote have returned to work after their recent illnesses, . . . Laura Gerber had an enjoyable motor trip to Colorado Springs and Rocky Mountains National Park. . . . Linda Wahrer had a fine trip to Erie, Pa. Her one disappointment was that Laura didn't bring her the dude cowboy she promised. Laura says she decided to keep him for herself. . . . Ruth Peek and her husband spent their two weeks touring the eastern states. Ruth says she especially enjoyed seeing New York. . . . Mable Kaufman's daughters have the measles. . . . We don't think Connecticut will be the same since Elinor Laux and Sydonna Fox were there. Glad you had a swell time, girls, and thanks so much for the cards and gifts. . . . Hilda LeCoque says she wants no more river fishing. . . . Bill Brown and his wife were at the Wisconsin Dells. His wife caught a large carp that broke the pole and she found out she was fishing in the fish hatchery. They went to the show and returned at 10 o'clock to discover they had pitched their tent over a saucer. The downpour of rain had filled it with water so they had to move before retiring. . . . It is reported that George Marschand spent his vacation in Wisconsin this year, but it is thought he won't be there next year. . . . We think we know someone who will trade cars with Noel Bolinger. Just see Gus Harrison about a trade, Noel.



Thought for the Week: "I have 100 good reasons for speaking to you today. Ninety-nine of them are monetary."—Ogden Nash.

Four-Leaf Clovers: Charles Buchanan, (Buck), Bldg. 6-2, says that he has a patch of clover on the terrace in his backyard that are almost all four-leaf clovers. He further states that some are five-leaf and others are six-leaf, and has promised yours truly a start of this clover. . . . Thank You: "I thank you all very much for my wonderful retirement gift. My association with you has been most pleasant. Thank you very much."—Florence Case. . . . We welcome: Delutha J. Moser, William V. O'Connell, Jr., R. A. Van Horn, Charles E. Waggoner and Patricia Pettyjohn. . . . Air Force Bound: Gene Smith left Friday, July 27, in favor of the Air Force. Chuck Waggoner will be the new expediter. . . . Love at First Sight: We really haven't heard all of the story, but we do know that Dick Saunders met a nice girl on his vacation, and there will be wedding bells for them in October. . . . How Accidents Happen: Pull out your desk drawer and then fall over it. For further details, see George Moses. . . . Wrong Girl: At a wedding reception a few weeks ago, Charlie MacAfee went up to the bride's father and told him that he wanted to congratulate the bride. The proud father led Charlie to the girl. It was the wrong girl. Charlie had started out to go to Helen and LeRoy Dickey's reception, and for some reason arrived at the wrong place. . . . Bargain: Monroe Brosius passed out cigars Friday. He got them for a bargain price, 33 for a dollar. . . . Leaving Us: Pat Ness and Ann Allendorph are leaving the employ of the Company today. Both of their husbands are entering Purdue. . . . New Reporter: Elaine Norr will be the new reporter for the Renewal Parts Section. . . . Pretty Soft: Olin Keller seems to have taken over the "news" spotlight. We used to read a lot about Roscoe Markley, Pappy Archbold, or Dick Hobson, but their glory seems to have faded. Olin is just arriving at the pinnacle of his success. According to Ed Foley, Olin received a call from a well-known journalist seeking information regarding his proficiency as a fisherman. Mr. Keller, playing coy, pretended to be very offended and the journalist not understanding the act, printed nothing of Olin's fishing ability. But that's not our story. Rather, we write of Olin's endeavor to keep from working on his lake property. Olin has reached the point where ravages of time are taking their toll and work becomes a chore rather than a pleasure. He had a well drilled and the drill struck water at 40 feet. At this point, a twinge of rheumatism jabbed our hero and he exclaimed, "Drill deeper, boys." So the boys drilled deeper and hit a flowing vein of water at 113 feet. Now Olin does not have to pump water, but this writer, not being wealthy, feels that at $2.25 per foot for drilling, he could grunt and groan quite a few times for $164.25. . . . Our Apologies: When Olin Keller told us he got lost going to the Lake of the Woods, we thought he was referring to the one in Canada, but he wasn't. There seems to be a Lake of the Woods near Helmer, Ind., and that is the one he couldn't find. . . . What Do You Know? Byron Embick (The Town Crier) happens to be gracing our fair city because of a special assignment which brings him here from the Philadelphia Works. Lucky for us, the assignment will keep him here at the Fort Wayne Works until the end of October, so he'll be present for all productions. He has studied with Royal McClelland and is a member of the Philadelphia Choral Society and the Rice Club Male Chorus.

Ask a schoolboy what is America's greatest river and he'll tell you it's the Mississippi. But there's another river that's pretty important, too, and that's the Missouri. The Missouri Valley takes in ten states which contain nearly a quarter of our country's farm land.

Boss Lends a Hand—Works Manager Ab Martin helps Donna Bauermeister, Taylor St., juggle her luggage as she boards the train for New York City. Mr. Martin was on hand at the Fort Wayne station to see over 150 G-E women set out on vacations in New York and Bermuda.

Question of the Week: Why is the Monday morning after vacation the most difficult morning of the year to get up? . . . Danny Cupid wasn't on a vacation. Our "we wish you happiness" mat is out for Henry Durnell and Minnie McCague, Edwin Proegler and Delores Minick, and Charles Ping and Phyllis Doswell. Phyllis Lupton was a bridesmaid for Phyllis Doswell, who is a former co-worker. . . . Little Michael is issuing his calling cards from the Vilas and Dorothy Bender home. The mamma is a former co-worker. . . . Congratulations to Thelma Oswald, who formerly worked with us, for being with the Company 25 years. . . . The gleam in Marge McDonald's eye is the reflection of the beautiful diamond, third finger, left hand. . . . Minnie Barr has reason to be proud of her son, Jack. He recently received the silver and bronze stars in Korea. . . . Those still on vacation this week include Lela Doehrman, Rose Dowling, Ann Kensill, Ida Sinn, Helen Biddle and Louie Hoffman. . . . France Eckrote vacationed in Minnesota. . . . Violet Brower went to California. . . . Art and Gertie Maske caught the big ones in Wisconsin. . . . Louise Chinn was in Louisiana. . . . Delbert and Marcille Thomas were at the Straits of Michigan. . . . Mae Jones went to Oklahoma City. . . . Ivah Grandstaff traveled to Missouri. She said "to be with the mules." . . . The other day Luella Masson saw herself in the mirror and wondered who that tired looking woman was. She then recognized her own dress. She spent her vacation at home resting.

Variety Spiced Elex Vacations

Bag and Baggage—Above a group of Fort Wayne girls arrive at La Guardia Airport from Penn Station, ready to join the other girls for the Bermuda trip.

First Flight—A group of Fort Wayne girls happily wave goodbye just before take-off for their Bermuda holiday. One-hundred and fifty-five Elex girls from various G-E plants made the four-day jaunt.

On the Avenue—Three Fort Wayne Works girls are shown outside the Hotel New Yorker shortly after their arrival in the Big City during the Elex Club's five-day New York trip.

Reading Matter—was a must for these three girls just before flight time. Left to right are Donnabelle Wagner, Martha Hollinger and Lucille Keller.

Hurry—get in the chow line

Moms were good egg handlers

So full—and so tired

Everyone seems to be nice and happy since vacation. Dorothy Hart spent her vacation at Redondo Beach, Calif., visiting her son and family. . . . Don Grepke also took a trip to the West Coast. . . . Ellis Wheeler journeyed through the southern states. . . . Fred Seip visited friends in West Virginia; then went fishing in Wisconsin. . . . Flora Sizemore went to Kentucky to get her daughter who had been vacationing with her grandparents. . . . Hazel Dilworth spent part of her vacation in Chicago. . . . Lou Heckman spent her vacation in Indianapolis. . . . Marylyn Leutherman went to Minneapolis, Minn. . . . "Ducky" Drake spent his leisure time fishing in Wisconsin. . . . We are sorry to lose Ann Purdy to first trick. We will miss her. . . . Nina Wise, Virginia Studebaker and Betty Easterday have left us. . . . What's this we hear about Wilma Robinson losing her shoes? The story is that Wilma's toe was sore, so off came her shoes and one disappeared. Anyway, she kept at her place, and the shoe came back in time for her to go home. . . . Marciel Harris is leaving us for awhile and was given a beautiful blanket and other gifts by the girls in her section. . . . Did you see what Agnes Neidiffer received from someone on her birthday? I think it was something pink. Happy birthday, Agnes. . . . Marian Gresley celebrated a birthday Aug. 1, so she was surprised with a beautiful cake and some gifts. . . . The cost of fish worms doesn't bother Charlie Prine. If there is any left after a fishing trip, he is going to feed them Hadacol and sell them for hot dogs. . . . Remember the song "A Bicycle Built for Two?" The dogs thought it was for four. Hazel Davis and her daughter were riding a bike and the two dogs wanted to go along; resulting in a bad tumble for Hazel. Gee, it hurt to even look at those gravel burns. . . . When you entertain a large group of friends or relatives, don't be surprised if Fred Seip joins your party. He certainly enjoys the food, and shall we say "beverage?"

Now that the vacation period is over, everyone seems to have had a good time and is ready to settle down to the usual tasks. . . . One of the highlights was Paul Armstrong's trip to Washington, D. C., brushing up on the national political situation. . . . Ozzie Nahrwold and Ralph Solt were at the same lake in Michigan. . . . Lyle Claphan has fully recuperated from his pre-vacation bartending job. . . . Herman Lepper, machinist from Div. 14, had his car undercoated. This plugged the drainhole in the spare tire well which filled with water. When Herman drained out the water, he discovered a nice sized snapping turtle hiding under the tire. . . . Louie Watt is now a patient at a Cincinnati clinic. We all wish him a speedy recovery. . . . Jack Pollock came to work Monday just an hour late. Jack thought when vacations were over, it was time to set the clocks back to Central Standard Time.

First of all, we want to give Willetta Palmer our deepest sympathy in the recent death of her father. . . . Welcome to the new girl stacking iron. It's none other than Mel Kestner. . . . Marvin VanSkyock came in sporting a new cap after his vacation. . . . Vera Fletcher had all kinds of trouble and excitement on her trip. She needs a vacation now to rest up. . . . Congratulations to Elsie Fabian, who became Mrs. Ivan Logue on her second week of vacation. We wish the best of luck to you, Elsie and Ivan. . . . Pinky Pinkerton went to Wisconsin and Canada, had a very good time and saw some pretty Indian girls. . . . Wayne Heemsoth is still in Wisconsin on Air Force training. . . . George Miller and Glen Buckmaster went fishing. They caught their limit, and George tried to upset the boat. . . . Joy Boyd caught a 22-inch pike at Lake Pleasant. . . . We wish Becky Francis' son, Donald, a speedy recovery from a mild case of polio he suffered the past two weeks. . . . There is nothing to report from Gardt's section concerning vacations. Maybe a little later we can pick up some interesting details. The only thing we know for sure is those who took trips had fun and those who couldn't afford a vacation are promising that things will be different next year. Your reporter spent a week baby sitting, and that's out for next year, too! . . . Flash! As near as we've been able to find out, there were no fish in Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota or Wisconsin during vacation. . . . We had several absentees Monday morning. Could it be because of too much vacation or not enough?

That alarm clock ringing was the call back to work after our two weeks of loafing and relaxation. Some of us hit the road, some fished, some did their housecleaning and work around the house, some just rested. . . . Bessie F. went to Florida, covering 3,000 miles with no trouble until she got home. She went downtown, where she ran into a glass door, had to be taken to the hospital, and ended up with a bad knee and cut eye. . . . Alice F. flew to California. . . . Jeanne Parrish went to Nebraska and Alma M. to Iowa and the hills of Kentucky. . . . Best wishes to Shirley Robison, who was married during vacation. . . . Rita S. and Gloria S. and their husbands spent a week at Hamilton Lake. . . . Esther F. visited Washington, D. C., Virginia and Smoky Mountains. . . . Judy S. went to Niagara Falls and into Canada. . . . Jean N. went to Michigan. . . . Millie had a wonderful time in Wisconsin cooking, washing dishes and freezing to death. . . . Henrietta H. took in Chicago. . . . A few who went to Minnesota for those fish were: Barbara M., Moe S. and Ruth R. What fish they caught! . . . Ruth T. went to Wisconsin for her fish. . . . The Smoky Mountains called Pete E. and Dick H., who also went to Washington, D. C. . . . Ruth W. went to Pennsylvania to see her mother. . . . Marguerite D. visited the eastern states and Canada. . . . A lot of us spent some time at the lake. Bud Harwook, E. Zollinger were at Crooked lake; Monna Lee F. at Webster and Mardo T. did nothing but fish while at Wall lake. . . . Ralph Lee didn't do anything but sprout a mustache. . . . Pondo went to Mackinac Island and Wisconsin Dells. . . . Fred Clark visited Chicago and Milwaukee and took the Clipper to Muskegon. He didn't enjoy his cruise as it was a bit rough and Fred got a bit green. . . . Margaret E. went to New York and Niagara Falls where she saw the man go over in his barrel. . . . Esther M. and Maxine R. took New York by storm. . . . Catherine H. went to Bermuda. . . . Ray Snyder hit the southern states along the Gulf coast. He traveled 3,028 miles and got 24.2 miles to the gallon. . . . Lillian K. saw Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia. . . . Florence W. covered 2,495 miles and saw many sights. Among them were the Black Hills and Bad Lands of South Dakota. . . . Jewell C. went to Alabama. . . . Nancy Kispert didn't have a vacation, but next Wednesday is her last day with us. She will be a full-time house wife.

G-E DEATHS

dead at 47

Cleo G. Bunner

Cleo G. Bunner, 47, of 1005 Heustis Ave., died at 1 a.m. Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital shortly after admittance. He had been in ill health for the past year.

Born in Adams County, he had lived here 27 years and had been a General Electric employe for 26 years. He joined the Company in 1925 as a bench worker in Bldg. 4-5. Mr. Bunner worked in Bldgs. 17-2, 17-3, 4-2 and 4-5 at various times. When he left G-E for illness last year, he was working as a machinist in Bldg. 4-5.

His survivors include his widow, Zola M.; one son, Earl Bunner, now stationed at Warren Air Base, Wyo., with the Air Force; five sisters, Mrs. Gladys Rauth, of Wren, O., and Mrs. James Bebout, Mrs. Lester Brunner, Mrs. Theodore Bentz and Mrs. Vilas Elzey, all of Decatur; three brothers, Forest Bunner, of Fort Wayne, and Gifford and William Bunner, of Decatur, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Frederick W. Cooper

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug 7, for Frederick W. Cooper, 59, who died at 6:12 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 4, in the Elmhurst Hospital in Angola.

Mr. Cooper began with the General Electric Company in 1913. He was employed in Bldg. 19 until 1947, when he transferred to Bldg. 4-6 as supervisor of the Service Section.

Mr. Cooper was a member of the Plymouth Congregational Church, the Leo Masonic Lodge, the Royal Arch Masons, Council 4, R. & S. M., and Commandery 4, Knights Templar. He lived at 726 Oakdale Drive.

Surviving are his widow, Clara; two daughters, Mrs. Jed Richardson, Idaho Falls, Ida., and Kathryn Cooper, at home; three grandchildren; a brother, Perry, Detroit, and a sister, Mabel, at home.

Services were conducted in the Klaehn Funeral Home with the Rev. E. E. Voelkel officiating. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

Ann A. McCarthy

After a two-month illness, Miss Ann A. McCarthy, 2112 South Clinton St. died at her home Wednesday, Aug. 1.

Miss McCarthy was employed in Bldg. 18 from May 16, 1910, until her retirement in 1946. She was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, the Blessed Virgin Sodality and the Sacred Heart League.

Two sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Cecilia, both at home, survive.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. D. L. Monahan officiated at services Saturday, Aug. 4, in the Getz & Cahill Funeral Home and in the church. Burial was in Catholic Cemetery.

Joseph Stark

Funeral services were held Monday for Joseph F. Stark, 70, who died at 1:15 a.m. last Friday in St. Joseph's Hospital after a six-week illness. He worked in Bldg. 4-B from 1943 until 1946, when he retired.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Alice Clarr, of Sherwood, Mich.; two sons, Frederick and Charles, both of Huntertown; one brother, Edward, of Edgerton, O.; four sisters, Mrs. Verona Viers, of Edgerton, O., Mrs. Isadora Lciert, of Bryan, O., Mrs. John Kertz, of Blakeslee, O., and Mrs. Clark Rosenfelter, of Toledo, O., and four grandchildren.

Services were held at 8:30 a.m. in Precious Blood Catholic Church with the Rev. Sebastian Kremer officiating. Burial was in Catholic Cemetery.

John B. Ryan

John B. Ryan, 82, died at 4:45 a.m., July 30, at St. Joseph's Hospital. He had been in the hospital for the last five years and had been seriously ill for three months.

A lifelong resident of Fort Wayne, Mr. Ryan worked at the General Electric Company from 1916 until 1930 as an armature worker in Bldgs. 17 and 19. He was a Spanish-American War Veteran.

Services were held at 8:30 a.m. in the Getz Cahill Funeral Home Thursday, Aug. 2, and at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. D. L. Monahan officiating. Burial was in Catholic Cemetery.

Surviving are a niece, Miss Laura Ryan, Indianapolis; two nephews, Gerald Leeper, Chicago, and David Ryan, Chester, Pa.; a grand-niece, Isabelle Barrett, Cleveland, and a grand-nephew, Robert Ryan, Fort Wayne.

James A. Geistwhite

James A. Geistwhite, 57, of 320½ Brandriff St., died Wednesday, Aug. 1, while vacationing in Chetek, Wis.

The Rev. Vern Noll conducted services Saturday in the Swank Funeral Home in Ashley. Burial was in Cedar Chapel Cemetery.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Knepper, of Fort Wayne; two sons, Robert, in the Army, and Vincent, at home; a sister, Mrs. Marian Rhodes, Harrisburg, Pa., and a brother, John, of Philadelphia.

Russell L. Palmer

Russell L. Palmer, 63, of Warsaw, suffered a fatal heart attack while fishing at Ridinger Lake, Saturday, Aug. 4

Mr. Palmer had been a power house employe at Taylor St. and Winter St. since 1943.

He is survived by a son, Argend Palmer, Huntington; a daughter, Miss Willetta Palmer, at home; a grandson; a brother, William Palmer, Danville, Ill., and two sisters, Mrs. Rose Bair and Mrs. Carice L. Feighner, both of Huntington.

Mr. Palmer was a member of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Masonic Lodge at Huntington.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6, in the Bailey Mortuary with the Revs. A. H. Sholty and C. Y. Gilmer officiating. Burial was in Pilgrims Rest Cemetery, Huntington.

FHP Bowlers to Meet Tuesday at G-E Club

Team captains for the Small Motor Bowling League will meet Tuesday, Aug. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the G-E Club Lounge. Joe Kramer, secretary of the league, will preside over the meeting.

LOGS 35 YEARS—Harley Beery, Bldg. 4-3 (third from left), is shown being congratulated on his 35th anniversary with the Company. Left to right are Ray Baker, Jacob Parks, Mr. Beery, Fred Crickmore, Bruce Rohn and W. H. Franke.

TO A LOVELY LADY

I have no car; I have no wealth.
I'm eighty-three; I have poor health.
As a companion, I'd be fine.
What is yours would be mine.
I'd share your car and your money.
In return I'd call you "honey."

LONESOME

A gentleman from 19-2,
Tall and lean as a billiard cue,
Would like to meet Miss 33.
He says, "She sounds good to me."
I have no teeth; I lost my hair.
My old Model T is beyond repair.
I'd like to meet her very soon.
You see, I'm going to retire next June."

Bill Orr and Homer Hibler have been on a soup and baby food diet for some time. Bill showed up with a set of new grinders. He said, "If I can't wear them, Homer gets 'em." . . . The vacation shut-down and repairing Bldg. 19 were like crossword puzzles for Elmer Yordy and Flossie Shoopman when they tried finding an entrance to the dispensary. . . . Eileen Gault has been all smiles for two weeks. Her eight-months old twin niece, nephew and their mother and dad visited her from St. Louis, Mo. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wheeler on that new addition to the family. She will answer to Mary Ruth. . . . Helen Stabler and her family recently returned from touring Northern Michigan and Canada. . . . Catherine Walters and her family visited Grand Canyon, Yellowstone Park and other points in the West. . . . Wayne Hinman and Irene Bush become partners for life at Angola, Aug. 4. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Young are touring the northwestern part of the United States. . . . Luella Boyce and her family spent the week-end at Indian Lake. . . . Butch Matthias and Myron Cox's young sons, who are in the Little League, made the All Star team from the Southeast League. . . . Luella Eisberg and her husband are attending a wedding at Graton, Wis., Aug. 4.

Here we are, back from a wonderful vacation and rarin' to go. Everyone reports a wonderful time, either lounging around home or traveling. . . . Martha Scott spent part of her time canning hot peppers, while Dale Stalter spent both weeks fishing at the lake for the big ones. . . . If anyone has any idea as to how to get rid of bats, Jim Lindley would appreciate it. He has a bat problem. . . . Jo Lee Zimmerman has a new excuse for buying a new wardrobe. Try it on your husbands, girls. Jo Lee claims she can't iron. While her mother is away, Jo has to wear seersucker dresses. . . . We extend our congratulations to Delores Schmidt and Jack Daugherty, who were married Aug. 4. We wish you a lifetime of happiness. . . . Welcome, Doris Doehla, to the night trick. . . . Ann Hershberger received a box of candy from the gang while she was off. Her hands were so sore she couldn't open it. There the candy sat for two hours before anyone came to open it for her. . . . Dorothy Groves is sporting a new convertible.

TUESDAY BOWLERS

The Tuesday afternoon bowling league will start Tuesday, Sept. 11. Anyone desiring to bowl, whether coming into the League by complete team or individuals, please contact Tommy Williams, secy., on 2632 or Loretta Day, vice pres., on phone 2526, Div. No. 17 Taylor St., immediately.

PRIZES GALORE!—Pat Jackson, comely secretary at The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, shows some of the trophies valued at more than $400 that are to be awarded at the sixth annual Mid-West Industrial Golf Championship matches, scheduled to be played at The Notre Dame Country Club, South Bend, Ind., this Saturday and Sunday. G-E Owls Down Zollner B "Giant Killers" by 3-2

by Bill Geist

In a tight ball game, G-E Owls downed the Zollner B team, 3-1. To refresh your memory, the giant killer, Zollner B, is the only team that has beaten Salisbury Axle to date.

G-E out-hit its rival eight to six. Two of Zollner's hits were off Ray Wiese, who started for G-E. In the second inning, Zollner loaded the bases on singles by Blackie and Simpson and a base on balls. At this point, Manager Crosley rushed Morrie Moffitt to the hill. Morrie struck out the first man, Hutson. Hallcck and Tyler flied to end the running without a run. Zollner got its only run in the fifth when Hutson led off with a hit and a two-hase crror, letting him get to third. A single by Scherer scored him.

G-E scored all its runs in the fourth on two singles and two doubles with three men crossing home safely. Eight G-E men came to bat in that inning.

Earl Tipsord, after being behind Don Hower by one percentage point for a week, regained his batting lead by getting two hits while Don went hitless. Earl's average is a lusty .448 to Don's even .400.

Indiana Rod and Wire still leads the league with Salisbury second; G-E, third; Zollner A, fourth, and Zollner B, fifth. The first five teams at the end of the regular season will participate in the playoffs.

Lou Barney, 39; Pappy Garland, 40; Harry Rhodes, 47, and George Schlenker, 40—that all adds up to 166, the best effort of the Spoons this year. At the same time, the Hot Shots (Bob Craig, 40; Jim Sternberger, 42; Ozzie Bunch, 38, and Lloyd Grider 39) totaled 159 for the league's best team effort of the year.

The above data doesn't change the high cost of living but it does mean a three-point win for the Spoons over their five-year rival. The difference was a 10-point spot that the Champs gave away. Old Pappy shot the works with his 40 which is seven-and-one-half strokes under his average.

Those Drivers kept up the pace with a five-point win over the Bunkers. Herman Uhrick is really playing stellar golf for the Drivers. His card showed a 38 for this week, and Jimmy Kuzeff had a nice 41 to help. For the Bunkers, who had to play with three men, it was Al Horstmeyer who led the way with a 44.

If the Putters figured on making hay at the expense of the last place Traps, they were mistaken. They barely squeaked out a three-point win. Tony Wichman, who was putting for birdies all morning, carded a 40 to lead the third place Putters. Tom Gouty, as usual, led the Traps with 43.

The Flags must have had their minds on vacation because they failed to show up, thus giving Ormsby's Brassies 10 points, moving them into fifth place and a possible playoff spot.

Adams, Szink, Kayser, Wickliffe To Compete for General Electric At Midwest Industrial Matches

A four-man varsity golf team from G-E will journey to South Bend Saturday and Sunday to participate in the Sixth Annual Midwest Industrial Golf Championship to be held at the Notre Dame Country Club.

The G-E team, as announced by Denton Manecke, golf chairman, consists of Willie Adams, Bldg. 27; Richard Szink, Winter St.; William Kayser, Bldg. 31-1, and Warren Wickliffe, Bldg. 19-1.

The tournament, one of the largest inter-company activities in the nation, has attracted a record entry of more than 50 teams comprised of players employed by sponsoring concerns.

Trophies will be awarded to the five low medalists in both team and individual competition, U. S. G. A. rules governing play over the 6,500 yard Notre Dame layout. Par for the course is 36-35-71, the outgoing nine covering 3,357 yards, the incoming nine 3,143 yards.

A low medal of 607, posted by the number one team of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company of Akron, O., won the 1950 championship. Low medalist was Don Capatosta of Goodrich, who scored rounds of 75 and 66 for a record total of 141.

Taylor St. won a double header by defeating Apprentice Alumni, 13-12, and Motor-Generator, 14-9, in Interdivision Softball League games.

In the first game, Taylor St. scored 12 runs in the sixth inning after Apprentice had taken a 12 to one lead. Apprentice out-hit Taylor St., 17 to 12, but Taylor St. bunched most of its runs in the big sixth.

In the second game, Taylor St. out-fought an improving Motor-Generator team, 14-9. Taylor St. scored in every inning but the second. Diem and Gilbert each got three hits for Taylor St., with Diem connecting for a home run in the first inning. McCune got three hits for Motor-Generator.

The Firemen remained undefeated by whipping Small Motor, 5-0. Jerry Weber was in his usual form as he gave up only two hits and struck out 12. Jimmy Linn hit a home run in the first inning, and Wehrle got one in the fourth. Kiester pitched good ball for Small Motor, but the Firemen bunched their seven hits to score in the first, fourth and sixth innings.

Works Lab scored five runs in both the fifth and sixth innings to defeat Test Engineers, 12-5. Hanna hit two home runs for Works Lab while Norm Greiner hit one. Thompson also got three hits.

Because of a mix-up in the schedule of rained-out games, Winter St. and Squares did not play.

YOU—AND THE "COST-OF-LIVING" SINCE KOREA

UNCLE SAM'S Bureau of Labor Statistics last week released the "Cost-of-Living" Index for June 15. It had changed too slightly since May 15 to show it as anything but the same in the above chart.

Thus, the pleasant and encouraging fact for the moment is that there has been another extension of the levelling off which set in after the sharp earlier rise in the cost-of-living. And it's the most urgent duty of every citizen to keep doing his or her part in a realistic and country-wide program to prevent inflation from getting a fresh start upward.

Meanwhile, there is no question about prices already being high. Some of them seem awfully high. It is hard to realize they aren't all high. But actually, as shown on the chart above, the government's BLS "Cost-of-Living" Index has gone up less than 9% since Korea, despite the feeling sometimes that it must have risen much more than that.

It's also interesting to note that General Electric pay and benefit increases—as shown above—have been double the rise in the cost-of-living. Hourly pay rates alone are up about 13%. But, an extra holiday, plus the cost of additional pension and insurance benefits—over and above the splendid pension and insurance and other extra benefits in effect before Korea—bring the total up to roughly 18%. In addition, there's more take-home from overtime than before Korea.

We will, of course, in the immediate and long-run future, continue to be guided by all the information we can get from helpful sources as to what we should do—and as to what we are permitted by law to do—in the continued best interests of all our employees.

310 Reap July Suggestion Awards

Idea Bears $500—John Jones, Bldg. 27 (second from right), was awarded $500 to head the parade of suggestors for July. Mr. Jones' idea pertained to a better way of babbitting bearings. Presenting his award check is Sam Baumgardner while Dick McNiece and J. F. Eckel, Large Motor and Generator Divisions manager, look on.

Suggestion awards amounting to $5,092.50 were paid to 310 employes during the month of July, A. C. Hartman, Suggestion System chairman, revealed today. This included 45 award earners from three branch plants.

John W. Jones, Bldg. 27, received the highest award. He was awarded $500 for suggesting a new method of babbitting bearings which conserves one of the strategic materials.

An award of $200 went to Waldo A. Greider, Specialty Transformer Div. 91, who suggested a change in the fabrication of ignition cases. Arnold Bienz, FHP Motor Div. 13, was paid $165 for an idea which eliminated drilling lead holes on flange wheels in jet pump motors. A capacitor assembly suggestion brought Clarence Watterson, FHP Motor Div. 13, $165.

Everett Sink, General Service Division, got $130 for an idea to better utilize power lines. Another General Service man, William E. Piercy, received $115 for a suggestion to change to gear ration on L and N instruments. One hundred and five dollars were paid to Howard C. Taylor, FHP Motor Div. 1, for a suggestion concerning Carboloy scrap cutters.

A suggestion about pots for internal stator grinders was worth $90 to William Berg of the DeKalb plant. Harold W. Mosshammer, FHP Motor Div. 17, earned $85 for suggesting an improved method of dressing wheels. J. W. Shobe, Tiffin

Elex Club Opens Drive For Members Monday

All G-E Women To Be Contacted In 2-Week Drive

The Elex Club's annual membership drive will open Monday, Thelma Stone, president announced today. No goal has been set, Miss Stone said, but contact girls will get in touch with every potential member at the Broadway, Taylor St. and Winter St. Plants.

The drive will close September 7 and final membership will be officially closed September 21, as called for in the constitution. The Elex constitution states: "The membership drive will be conducted for two weeks. Girls would be able to join for the following two weeks before the membership is closed. New employes can join within four weeks after they receive their first pay check."

Any woman employe who is absent because of illness and unable to join during membership week may still become a member after her return to work and within four weeks after receiving her first pay check.

A kick-off breakfast will mark the beginning of the first shift campaign for members. Contact girls will meet at 8:30 a.m. Monday in the dining room at the Taylor St. cafeteria.

Second shift contact girls will meet at 2 p.m. Monday for a snack session in the Taylor St. cafeteria.

Final instructions and campaign material will be furnished at these meetings.

The Elex Club was organized in 1916 to promote educational and social activities and foster the spirit of friendly service among all women employes of the Fort Wayne General Electric Company.

Members to Hear Boys' Town Choir In November

Father Flanagan's Boys' Town Choir will present a special performance for Elex members Sunday afternoon, November 11, at the G-E Club.

The concert will open the Elex Club's 1951-52 season. Any G-E woman who joins the club during the membership drive will be eligible to attend. Admission is included in the annual dues of $2.50.

The Boys' Town Choir will be on a Mid-western and Eastern concert tour. They have appeared at the Municipal auditorium in St. Paul, Minn., at Symphony Hall in Boston, Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C., and Carnegie Hall in New York City.

Don's Ducky Tomato—Don Waldrop's attractive wife, Frances, is shown with the big, red tomato she and her husband grew in their home garden at Elmhurst. Shaped like a duck, the freak of nature is rapidly becoming overly ripe. Don works in Bldg. 26-4.

Valued at One Billion

No crystal ball or Ouija board or combination of both will ever lift the veil that hangs over the future, whether the future be as immediate as tomorrow or as distant as 1975.

But uncertain as the future may be, there are many things that can be done to smooth over the rough spots that all futures hold.

Insurance in one form or another, for example, helps take care of many unforseen and unpredictable events.

And it seems that General Electric people have no intention of leaving their futures to the crystal ball and Ouija board crowd. A recent announcement by Ralph J. Cordiner, G-E president, proved that. In a release to the press and our WORKS NEWS, Mr. Cordiner said that the lives of employes participating in the Company's insurance plan are now insured for more than one billion dollars. This makes insurance coverage for G-E people one of the largest in American industry, he added.

To be exact, the life insurance value of $1,064,380,000 represents more than one and one-half times the earnings of G-E employes for the entire year of 1950. And its benefits are not for only a select few in the Company. More than 98 per cent of the approximately 226,000 employes and pensioneers are participating.

Average Policy $5,000

Mr. Cordiner's announcement also reveals that the average policy amounts to nearly $5,000, about double the life insurance coverage for the average American. In addition to life insurance, G-E's present insurance plan offers accidental death and dismemberment benefits, weekly sickness and accident benefits, and hospital, surgical and maternity expense payments.

How has it come about that so many people can afford so much insurance? Two factors answer that: a farsighted company that put into effect its first insurance plan in 1920 and constantly improved on it throughout the years, paying about two-thirds of the cost of the present plan, and General Electric employes themselves, who want no part of star-gazing, but honest-to-goodness protection for themselves and their loved ones against the unknown factors of the future.

OPINION

Opinion is a strong belief,
We're told today in college.
It's more than just impression,
But it's less than actual knowledge.

If we haven't facts or knowledge,
But belief is rather strong,
Then we say it's our opinion,
And admit we might be wrong.

When dealing with our fellowmen,
It's well that we should know
How to choose between opinion
And a thing that's really so.

We have windy politicians,
Whose opinions bloom galore;
Editorials in the papers
Are opinions—nothing more.

When we meet a politician,
And start pressing him for facts,
All we get are his opinions,
Just some vague and hollow cracks.

Most political discussions
Are opinions quite confused.
When a couple drunks are talking
Then opinion gets abused.

Commentators on the radio
Are sponsored just to talk.
And you'll find most agitators
Have been hired just to squawk.

It's hard for me to understand
A man who wants my views,
But if they don't agree with his,
He promptly blows a fuse,

And pounds upon the table
To impress me, that I'm wrong.
And implies that I was slighted,
When the brains were passed along.

You may think that I exaggerate.
But, brother, it's the fact.
There are many table-pounders,
Who have not the slightest tact.

When we seek a man's opinion,
And he tells us what he thinks,
I believe we ought to thank him,
Even though we think it stinks.

It takes more than just opinion,
When we have a job to do.
If we hope to get it finished,
It will take some knowledge, too.

When we analyze opinion,
Proof is all it really lacks.
But when proved, it's not opinion,
Then it's knowledge based on facts.

While it's true, of course, that knowledge
Is the thing for which we thirst,
It would seem before we get it
We must have opinion first.

But, my friends, don't let opinion
Be your guiding light too long,
For if time and facts can't prove it,
Then your thinking must be wrong.

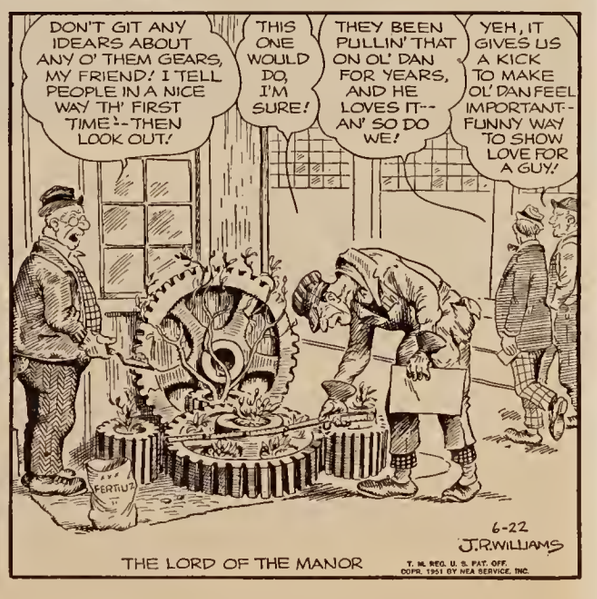
This and That

"SPECIALTY MOTOR"
HELEN ENGLE



Several changes took place while we were on our vacations. Claude Steller got married; Thelma Carrea married Larry Blue, July 28; and Peggy Tschannen married James B. Phillips at Angola. Congratulations and best wishes to all. . . . Then the stork was a busy bird. Robert Honaker has a newcomer called Rebecca Sue, and Connie Zollinger Smock, a former co-worker, has another daughter. . . . We express our sympathy to Al Rebber, whose father died; Grace Ober whose brother-in-law died, and to Dorothy Hoffman whose brother died. . . . We are glad to see Gerna Cook, Peggy Phillips and Joyce Schroeder all back at work after being off for illness. . . . Ilene Lantz moved to New Haven recently. . . . Virginia Reckeweg sure got into some "monkey business" while on her vacation in Florida. She bought a live monkey and had it sent home and she says they sure enjoy watching it. . . . The boys are wondering who is who when they look at the two pictures posted on the wall. Which one is John Figley? . . . We of 1x20 are wondering if dreaming is catching—first the boss and now John Figley. John's is of a different nature since it involves a promise of a raise for himself and Jake Kugler. . . . Tom Panley is in bad shape and needs another vacation. He forgot to take his house slippers off before coming to work. . . . Russell Rose says the place to get the bargains is on Maxwell St. in Chicago. He spent all his money! . . . Jim Bitner claims he got 34 miles to the gallon of gas on his trip to California. Ben Farrington, better take notice. Here is a contender for your title. . . . A speedy recovery to Vern Burkett, who is a patient suffering with burns at the Angola hospital. . . . Frank Voirol can't catch game fish so he has started spearing garfish. . . . Willard Smith didn't have enough vacation. He hadn't come back Monday yet. . . . Deloris Clements got homesick and had to come home early from her vacation. . . . Lester May got a good cold and had to come home, too. . . . No big fish stories from Gus Rutz, either. . . . John Figley stopped at Ludington, Mich., and saw our friend Louie Clark. Louie is doing fine and looks good. . . . Billy Gawthrop spent some time visiting at Kent, O. . . . Goodby and good luck to Dorothy Boneff and Delores Germano. . . . Esther Harkenrider, Helen White and Marie Griffin spent a day visiting Henrietta and Joe Deck at Ridinger Lake. Henrietta and Joe are feeling wonderful and say hello to all their friends at G-E. . . . Bea Davis and her daughter, Margaret, spent their vacation visiting relatives in Arizona. They also spent some time in Mexico. . . . Martha Scherzinger visited the flooded area in Kansas and Missouri. She says it really is bad. . . . Mildred Gaffer and her husband Ed had a wonderful week in Chicago. . . . Edith Juillerad spent her vacation in the New England states and points east and north. . . . Birthday greetings to Cathy Traughber. . . . Co-workers in 1x55 welcome Tom Fleckenstein. . . . Kathryn Hepker received a royal welcome when she returned from her vacation. It was an accident, of course, when water was poured on her. . . . Group 1x30 welcomes Bob Wright. . . . We all would like to know if Ed Taylor is in the junk or duck business. . . . Neva Scott was sure glad her son Gail and his wife of New York came to visit her for several weeks.

Laurel Weaver went to Florida on her vacation and acquired a brand new husband. She is now Mrs. Robert Winans. After Sept. 1, she will return to Florida to be a good Navy wife. Congratulations to the young couple. . . . Carl Reeves has left us for Taylor St. . . . Florence Polk has quit to become a fulltime housewife, and to plan her future home in Decatur, Ill., where her husband was transferred. . . . Harold Boles came back from his vacation with a short hair cut. For a minute, we thought it was one of those Mohican jobs. . . . Those vacation pictures are now showing up, and they are always a treat. Since we can't all go everywhere, it is always nice to see where everyone else was. . . . We are very sorry to report that Bob Dent's daughter is very ill. We hope that by the time you read this, she will be much better.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. WILLIAMS

Q-C Club Books Acts for Outing

Top act at the Quarter Century Club Annual Outing will be Roy Newman and his wonder dog, Lucky, according to Entertainment Chairman Ralph Hemminger, who disclosed plans this week. The outing is slated for Saturday, Sept. 8, at Camp Limberlost.

Lucky responds to 187 commands, 60 of them by sign only. Roy will also have his dog, Peppy, with the act. Peppy's acrobatic feats put him in the class of one of the world's greatest animals, Mr. Hemminger said.

Four years ago, Lucky and his former light-weight-boxer master, were featured in a four-page spread in Life Magazine. Lucky prays, jitterbugs, skips rope and according to publicity releases, is the only dog in the world to balance a glass of water on his forehead.

As a five-weeks-old puppy, Lucky stepped in front of a truck and lost the use of both hind legs. Newman saved the dog's life and nursed him back to health.

Served in K-9 Corps

During the war, both Lucky and his master enlisted in the army's K-9 corps, where they trained dogs for combat duty. After the war, the man-dog team toured the country and sold $2,000,000 worth of war bonds. As a reward for his patriotic duties, Lucky was once a guest of President Roosevelt in the White House.

At the latest report from the secretary's office, more than 1100 members had accepted invitations to the outing and replies were still being received.

Anyone eligible for membership in 1951 is invited to attend. Those who migbt have been missed during the distribution of invitations last week should contact the secretary immediately, J. V. Johnson president, said this week.

Foremen Plan Old-Time Smoker Next Wed. at Conservation Club

An old-time smoker has been planned by the Foremen's Association for Wedesday, Aug. 29, at 8 p.m. in the Southwest Conservation Club on the Bluffton Road.

Ed Klomp, Association president, announced that Ab Martin, Works Manager, will be the featured speaker. A movie, the DuPont Story, will be shown and will be followed by games. A buffet lunch will be served.

Mr. Klomp said tickets are available today from contact men.

Light Menu Is OK For Blood Donors Red Cross Says

Blood donors will not have to go hungry before giving blood, K. W. Michael, assistant to the manager—in charge of community relations, has disclosed.

According to available Red Cross information, donors may eat a regular meal up to four hours before making their donation and are also permitted to consume such things as fruits and fruit juices, crackers or dry toast with jam or honey, and black coffee or tea with sugar within four hours. Eggs and all foods containing fat should be avoided within the four-hour period.

Actual donation time takes about 45 minutes from the time the donor enters the Regional Blood Center until he leaves, Mr. Michael said.

Additional pledge cards will be available for employes' families when solicitations are made Wednesday through Friday next week.

Assembly foreman

C. L. Robinette Named Foreman In Large M-G

Chase L. Robinette has been appointed second shift foreman of the Assembly Section in the Large Motor and Generator Manufacturing Division, R. M. Hartigan, manager of manufacturing, has announced.

Mr. Robinette began with the Company in 1919 as a coil worker. He became an assembler in 1925 and has worked on this and related work until his present appointment.

The Robinettes and their son live at 2225 Thompson Ave.

We have done so much to raise our standard of living; now we must raise our standard of thinking.—John Randolph.

Classes to Begin September 24 At Purdue Center

Fall term classes to begin Sept. 24 have been announced by Dr. R. M. Bateman, director of the Fort Wayne Purdue University Center. Classes will be held in the morning, afternoon and evening to meet the need of employed students.

Freshman and sophomore courses offered are:

English composition and literature, Speech, Mathematics, Algebra, Trigonometry, Geometry, Calculus, Chemistry, Physics, Bacteriology, Biology, History, Economics, Government, Engineering Drawing, Surveying, Agriculture, Forestry, Psychology, Sociology, Art and Food Selection.

Courses offered in the two-year Technical Institute Program include Building Construction Technology, Industrial Technology, and Drafting-Mechanical Technology. These cover such subjects as:

Technical and Machine Drawing, Die and Machine Design, Mechanics, Graphical Computations, Industrial Organization and Production, Motion and Time Study, Production Planning and Control. General courses in mathematics, English, speech and psychology are also given on the technical program.

Both College Credit and Technical Institute courses will run for a 16-weeks term. Either program can be taken on a full or part-time basis.

Those interested in enrolling in one or more classes can contact the Fort Wayne Purdue University Center, Jefferson at Barr St., Monday through Friday 9 to 5 p.m. and Monday and Wednesday evenings 6 to 8 p.m. Official registration for both programs will take place September 20, 21 and 22.

General Electric Contributes $10,000 For Red Cross Emergency Flood Fund

KANSAS CITY, MO.—The General Electric Company has contributed $10,000 to the Red Cross Emergency Flood Relief Fund here.

George Fiske, manager of the G-E Kansas City Office, said that the donation came in response to an urgent Red Cross appeal for emergency funds to aid in carrying out flood relief.

At a meeting in New York late last week, the G-E Board of Directors unanimously approved the $10,000 donation.

In presenting General Electric's check to the local Red Cross chapter, Mr. Fiske urged strong public support of the emergency fund drive, and stressed the necessity for speedy rehabilitation of the stricken area.

Phillip Weick, pensioner and formerly of the guard force, was a Monday visitor to the Taylor St. plant. Phil certainly looks fine and reports that he is enjoying his leisure time. . . . Anyone traveling East and desiring to know about detours should contact Jack Pollock. Jack says he was on all detours between here and the Canton, Akron and Cleveland, O., area last week-end. . . . Justin Heaston is back after a fine trip to the west coast. . . . John Driver is back too after three weeks vacation. When questioned as to what happened, he came up with the age-old "I ran into a door" story. Could it have been a revolving door, John? . . . Carl Monroe and Wallace Woods have been transferred to the Broadway plant, and John Diamond has changed from third to second shift. . . . The latest report on Louie Watt at this writing was that he had spent two and a half hours in surgery last Saturday at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, O., and had come through okay. His room number is 454. . . . Our best wisbes go with Red Braden and his ball club to Wichita, Kans., in defense of the national semi-pro title.

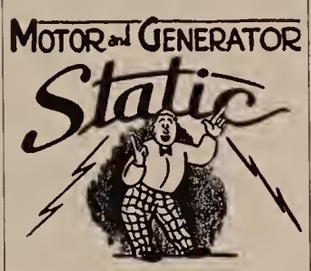
A $45 award was paid to Delos Martin, FHP Motor Div. 14, who suggested a better dressing method for grinding wheels. Robert C. Firestine of the Wire and Insulation Division received $45 on an idea pertaining to the pick up on the flange oven.

Two FHP Motor Div. 16 employes and one from FHP Motor Div. 17 received $37.50 each for suggestions. Claude L. Gill, FHP Div. 16, made a suggestion involving the brackets on punch presses and Max F. Fielitz's idea concerned arbors. John Donaghy, FHP Div. 17, devised a change to rotor mechanisms.

Hubartt Gets $55

Lester A. Hubartt, FHP Motor Div. 1, was awarded $35 for his idea to omit the grinding of brushes. Charles Druce, STAB Div. 91, received $35 for a suggestion about nozzles for the wash tank. An improved permafil operation suggestion brought Sylbert B. Heaston, FHP Motor Div. 15, $32.50. Donald Welty, Tiffin plant, advised a change in the cable mechanism. He received $32.50 for this idea.

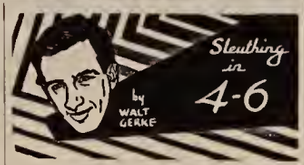


Thirty dollars went to Gladis Getts, STAB Div. 94, for a suggestion about the arbor on sealing fixtures. Another STAB Div. 94 employe, Geraldine Bevan, also earned $30 for a suggestion on leads and pads. Richard D. Kite, Wire and Insulation Div., received $30 for his idea about rebaked wire.

The following people received $25 awards: Cleon O. Oyer, FHP Div. 14; Paul G. Hitzeman, FHP Motor Div. 14; John R. Miles, FHP Motor Div. 17; Robert Reed, Tiffin Plant; Ernest A. Kern, STAB Div. 94, and George Moses, Large Motor and Generator Div.

Other awards ranging from $5 to $20 were made to 281 employes.

TUESDAY BOWLERS



The women's Tuesday afternoon bowling league will start Tuesday, Sept. 11. Anyone desiring to bowl, whether coming into the League by complete team or individuals, please contact Tommy Williams, secy., on 2632 or Loretta Day, vice pres., on phone 2526, Div. No. 17 Taylor St., immediately.

BASEBALL: Joe Burton and Herman Zuber, Bldg. 19-3, are staunch Daisy fans. They have heen trying for some time to get Elmer Wagner to see a Daisy game. Elmer has always refused saying that he is not interested. However, as the old saying goes, "Sometimes the leopard changes his spots." Very soon, the old-timers baseball games will be played at Dwenger Park. Elmer is a member of one of the teams. He has just found out that Vivian Kellogg, first sacker, is going to play on the opposition team. Elmer is now trying to get Dottie Schroeder to play on his team, and has even gone so far as to sell tickets for the game. . . . WRONG WEDDING: Charlie McAfee was heard to remark last Friday, "Well, I guess I will go to Joe Neal's wedding tomorrow." There seems to be one catch. Joe was not married until the day after that. . . . WELCOME TO 31: Joyce Baclawski, Clifford Frey and Carol Franke. . . . CONGRATULATIONS—To Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neal, who were married Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19. They will be at home after Sept. 3 in the Ayres Apartments in Roanoke. . . . MORAL SUPPORT—Joe Neal knew he would need some strong moral support, so he called upon the capable Monroe Brosius to be his best man. . . . Something new has been added—Jean Carter's cigarette holder, and Mr. Flightner's moustache. . . . PHILANTHROPIST—Due to the kind heart of Ed Foley, some of our friends are receiving much needed gifts. For Mavis Kochendorfer and Gladys Fox, he is getting hearing aids. The lucky boys in the stationary room are getting a couch. Ed also mentioned he might have to order another hearing aid for Wilma Echtenkamp. . . . ON VACATION—Two of our "young" men are taking their vacations. Mr. Foley said that the reason Don Shultz is taking one is that he is old and worn out, and needs one. The reason Ed is taking one is that he is the athletic type and is going to work in his garden. . . . POOR DOG: When asked if he was awakened by the storm last week, Marvin Cristil remarked that he didn't get to bed before the storm started, and then he had to stay up with his dog. The poor thing was frightened to death. . . . SOMETHING YOU SELDOM SEE: George Murray with his coat off.

Our best wishes to Patty Alles, who will be married tomorrow. We're sorry to see you leave, Pat, but we wish you a life time of happiness. . . . Jackie K. and Suzanne V. got their lunches mixed up the other day. . . . Poor Glen A. lost a dime under the ice cream machine. He worried so about it that everyone was looking for it, and at least three people found dimes. . . . Happy Birthday: Fred Sarasien, Aug. 16, and Carrie Edgar, Aug. 14. . . . On the days that Rosie Bartaway wears her newspaper shirt, Moe S. just can't get anything done hut reading the comics. . . . Now that they have Florence W. coming in on time, Bea and Maxine are taking up where she left off. . . . It has been discovered that Pondo is a lover of nature—loves to walk in the grass barefoot, milk cows, etc. . . . Maxine R. and Esther M. decided while in New York to buy something they couldn't buy in Fort Wayne. After their purchase, they came home to find the very same thing cheaper downtown. . . . We're glad to see Millie Sitcler back after her recent illness. . . . Moe just doesn't like to catch catfish, so he'll jiggle the line for 15 min. trying to get the fish off without touching it. . . . Speaking of the freaks of nature, one day, Herb Braun said he had a web foot. But can you imagine a guy having that all his life and forgetting which foot it is. . . . Is Pondo jealous of R. Lee's mustache? Pondo had a two-day-old mustache when he tried to trim it. The razor slipped and shaved half of it off, so he'll try again. . . . I hear Mel DeLeve has a new nickname, "BUBBLES." . . . Did everyone see Chuck's pictures of his new daughter. He really has the right to be a proud papa. . . . Several people thought Betty T. was laying down a smoke screen when she left the parking lot the other day. After she had gone five blocks, she realized she had her emergency brake on. . . . "Poor Pondo" We see on a note at the time clock that he lost his wrist watch. There is a story out that he had to pawn it to buy enough gas and oil to get home from Wisconsin. . . . Moe said that if it wasn't for his wife and little boy, he wouldn't have been able to bring any fish home from Wisconsin. . . . Merle Keesler is back with the group. We are glad to have you, Merle. . . . Millie is the typical new bride. She turned on the coffee pot Friday morning only to discover through a smoke screen later, that she had forgotten to put in the coffee and water the night before.

FORGETFUL: Mary Ellen Hulvey forgot last Wednesday that she drove her Dad's car to work. So, after work she walked over to Clems to get her ride home. After walking all the way over there she finally remembered that she had drove. There was poor Marge Murphy standing out in the Fairfield lot waiting for Mary Ellen to come. . . . BYE BYE: Farewell to Nadeen Bright, who is leaving the Company. Best of luck, Nadeen. . . . WEDDING BELLS: Milt DeJean will not be a single man after Saturday. That is the day he takes the plunge. . . . LOCKED CAR: Thora Robinson found out that when you lock a car you should take the keys with you. . . . INSIDE, TO OUTSIDE, TO INSIDE: Jerry Duryee was trying to call a certain number inside the Company hut the phone was on outside line so he dialed the G-E number and gave the extension number. It worked! . . . MODEST FISHERMAN! Jake Sherbondy caught a four pound bass at Rome City. His only complaint was a bigger one got away. . . . WELCOME BACK: Tommy Thomas was a week late in returning from vacation. I suppose his alarm clock didn't work. . . . HOP ALONG: Hop Along J. Kirlin, as he was known in the old days. Kirlin's cane may be just a gag since he was caught limping on the wrong leg. . . . NEW ADDITIONS: We just learned that the Sam Moore's have eight little ones. Dalmatian l'uppies, that is, now about five weeks old. Because they felt sorry for the Mamma, they started supplementing the feeding when the puppies were small. Now every hour on the hour the puppies call for their supplementary feeding, so much so, that Mrs. Moore is worried about the neighbors. Well, Sam, this is good advertising, don't you think? . . . WELCOME: We welcome Charles Marshall Loring to the D.C. Div. He is a test engineer, married, and hails from Sunny California. . . . BYE BYE: We bid good-bye to Keith Fish, who is leaving us for Schenectady. Good luck, Keith! . . . CONGRATS: Birthday greetings to Art Wilson, Aug. 12; Art Nickerson, Aug. 14; Bill Rutledge, Aug. 16, and Claude Voss, Aug. 17. Listen, everybody, tomorrow is Harry Balz birthday. He's the originator of all those bright names for other people's birthdays, let's give it to him. . . . WELCOME: We welcome Maxine Warner, the new messinger for the FHP Engineering File Room. She comes from Monroe, La. . . . SLICKER BALZ: Anyone matching Harry Balz for cakes or anything, better hang on to your money. He has the hahit of picking up your money and his, then buying. Isn't that right, Delores? . . . DRY-CLEANING DONE HERE: Guess Mary Smoak is a pretty good dry cleaner. At least "Doe" Potter thinks so. You really had to sweat over that job, didn't you, Mary?

Clarence Hoblit Dies After Long Illness

Funeral services were held during the past week for Clarence B. Hoblit, 69, of Willshire, O., who died in his home following an extended illness.

A lifelong resident of Willshire, Mr. Hoblit began his career with the Company in 1923. He was a punch press operator during most of his G-E service which terminated in June, 1945, when he was pensioned because of illness. He is survived by his wife, Pearl.

WE CONGRATULATE: F. A. (Jake) Arnold on his appointment as Superintendent and Engineer of the Wire and Insulation division. Our pledge to you, Mr. Arnold, is our most loyal support and co-operation. . . . TO: Harry E. Hire, who is retiring, we are very sorry you are leaving. To have been associated with a gentleman like you, who has an outstanding personality plus plenty of patience and who always had the best interest and good will of his fellowmen at heart (even at times under very trying circumstances), has been a real privilege. We hope and pray that the Good Lord will give you and Mrs. Hire an abundance of good health and a long and happy life together with your children and grandchildren in Texas, where we understand you are going to live. Good-bye and the best of everything and God bless you always. . . . HAVE YOU SEEN: The pictures of foremen and supervisors taken with Mr. Hire as a reminder of his retirement. If not, here's how we thought they looked. Bottom row (l-r) Aaron (Porky) Schoenefeld, smiling, thinks he's getting something for nothing. Frank Kileoin looks like the Thief of Bagdad with one eye closed, and squinting with the other. Herb Thompson has never been so close to getting down on his knees before. Lou (over amhitious) Maier, good old Lou, is the only guy we know of who gets heek for doing too much work. Vaughn Sheets is all dressed up and no place to go. Jack Heiniger had to brace himself with his hand on the sidewalk to keep from falling over. Second Row: Wayne Getts has his head bowed to show he still has hair. Cy Ort is wondering if he'll see the birdie. Mr. Hire is tall, dark and handsome. Flaurence (Wimpy) Lemper, the little shot next to the big shot, has his only white shirt and tie on and hair combed. Ray Kierspe (Alias-Kippe, Kierste, Cotton Top) seems relaxed and with nary a problem. Third Row: Jim Gargett has his hand in his pocket. (Just like a cost man). Bill Rohe's features haven't ehanged for years except that he's a little higger around. Harry Adams looks worried (wonders what he's going to charge the idle time to). Truman (Buck) Buekles is the only complete baldy in the gang. Joe Kramer has hair to give away. Yours truly (Al Hambrock) has his head cocked to one side like a robin listening for a worm (but in our ease it's news). Jake Arnold is smiling for all get out (who wouldn't). Bill Hattendorf tried hard to smile. Fourth Row: Earl Gebert, Al Swift, John Ruhl and Nolan Riley all seem to be taking it quite serious. This was the seeond picture taken. On the first one we understand Mr. Hire had his eyes closed for which we do not blame him one bit. After looking at a bunch of characters like these, who wouldn't shudder and close his eyes?

We give our deepest sympathy to Pinky Pinkerton on the death of his brother last week. . . . A very speedy recovery to the following people who are ill: Neva Lutz, Ruby Debolt and Louie Watt. Hope to see you all back soon. . . . Ethel Koontz became grandma again. This time it's a boy. No wonder she's all smiles. . . . Dallas Patten came in with a finger all banged up. His story is a squirrel bit him. . . . Nellie Williams has returned after her third week of vacation. She had a very nice time from what we hear. . . . Betty Schoekey is back with us again on days. We hope you stay this time, Betty. . . . Kenny Martin has returned to work after three weeks in California. . . . Ed Bireley is still having his luck at fishing, one bluegill all week-end. Why don't you give up, Ed? . . . Fred Adams had better get a better box to work with if he wants it to hold up. . . . We wonder what that blinding brilliance from 11 and 21 frame line is. Could it be the halo of everyone since George Miller has left? . . . Welcome to Rita Beau and Gladys Beaver on days. Hope you girls like us. . . . Doris Brager is a happy person. Who wouldn't be when her husband is back from Korea and getting a discharge. . . . We are sorry to lose Margie Ogden to Bldg. 26-4. . . . We want to wish Frank Beatty all the luek on his new job as dispatcher in Bldg. 4-4. We regret seeing you go very much, Frank, but we hope John Holloway will like his new joh here with us. . . . We think it's about time for the people in Gardt's section to let us in on a little news. How about it, girls? . . . Susie and Bud Yerger have two very nice pike in their refrigerator. They came from Minnesota where the Yergers spent one week of vacation. Who caught them, you ask? They were caught the week after Susie and Bud came home. Susie's folks brought them back. . . . Our boss is back after a three weeks' vacation. He looks well vacationed and rested. He and his family report a very nice vacation down around and through Florida. . . . We wonder if Gladys Dunbar knows that vacation time is over. She went to the windy city over the week-end. Was Chieago as windy and eold as usual, Gladys? . . . Dick and Clarence both came in Monday morning with their ears set out. Are you guys trying to set up a precedent for smart, neat looking haircuts?

By Don Clark

Can you imagine anyone driving 2,300 miles and then getting lost a block and a half from his destination? Ross Cohagen knows such a fellow. . . . All good plug fishermen will bow their heads in shame to think that Jack Schemehorn has stooped to fishing with worms. Jack stole away to Randall Lake last week-end with a can of manure worms for company and bait. . . . Upon returning to shore from a few hours on the lake, Jack was only one short of the limit and had to be restrained from going after that last bluegill. . . . Pete Carmoney had his name in "Lines and Angles" the other day. It seems he likes to go to fairs. . . . Ralph Steward doesn't fool around with small time stuff. He took his Olds direct to the factory for repairs. . . . That searching look on Kenny Sefton's face comes from becoming grandpa. He is looking for a suitable cane. . . . DIE PLANT: John Schuchhardt and Archie Wright are exhibiting thinner waist lines. They claim it's from taking it easy on their vacations. . . . We welcome Dale Lautzenheiser in the Die Plant. . . . That pink reflection in Jim Buchheit's eyes this week came from staring at a pink parking ticket. . . . Hayden Riee really cleared out of a woods that he thought he had permission to hunt in. He found he didn't have permission of the "bull of the woods." . . . Bernie Byanski drove 900 miles, tore the transmission out of his car twice, fished two days and caught six fish. . . . Clayton Rouquet caught so many fish on his vacation that he had extreme difficulty in giving them all away. . . . One little squirrel caused Max Baron to get skunked on his hunting trip. It was the only one he saw, and when Max shot him, the squirrel ran away and hid. . . . We congratulate the Ralph Van Osdales on their new nine pound baby boy. . . . The Quarter Century picnic is a function that patches up arguments and makes all members friends for life. At least Glenn Ramsey and Mart Walsh found it that way. Now it is rumored that Hank Frey is going to pick up Glenn Ramsey and take him to the picnic. . . . Hank Witber was listening to the Dinner Winner radio program when his phone rang. Hank answered in an excited voice, "Hamburger," but the lady on the other end only wanted to know how much apples were. She had the wrong number and was calling the Auman Grocery store. Just so there wouldn't be any hard feelings Paul Auman brought in a box of plums with a sign attached "Consolation Dinner Winner" and presented them to Hank. . . . With the squirrel season open Bill Mowery, Art Dicke and Walter Greiner got three a piece. But Woody Hursh crippled one, shot a snake and downed a crow. . . . Kurt Martin spent his first week's vacation pulling weeds out of his garden. The seeond week he was dog and baby sitter, while his wife and daughter were in Chicago. The third week he was seen walking down the street with a gallon of paint to paint his kitchen. . . . We welcome Heine Guenther, who is with us for a short stay while John Hensler is recovering.

Inquiring Reporter:

"THE RECENT WEST POINT SCANDAL HAS BROUGHT UP THE QUESTION OF THE PLACE OF ATHLETICS IN OUR SCHOOLS. DO YOU THINK ATHLETICS ARE OVER-EMPHASIZED AT OUR LARGE COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES?"

MAE LACEY

Bldg. 17-4

"Yes. When athletics become more important than scholarship and when athletes must sacrifice their honor to stay in school, sports are too important. College athletes seem to be leaving the realm of the amateur and turning professional."

MARVIN BUTLER

Taylor St.

"Yes. So much so that scholarships are given for athletic ability not for knowledge of books. There are too many cases of grades in order to star in sports."

MARVIN CRISTIL

Bldg. 31-1

"Athletics can and should be a healthy source of school spirit. Nevertheless, I do not approve of special consideration being given any student merely because he excels in athletics. Cheating by a cadet, a university athlete, or an inconspicuous student is an indication of an individual weakness."

CLETUS B. HARPER

Bldg. 26-1

"Yes. Putting the emphasis on being an athlete and forgetting the rules is becoming all too common. When this happens the quality of the game is sacrificed. Athletics are being given too much importance; honesty and the rules of the game are being left behind."

G. DIANE CAMPBELL

Bldg. 21

"No. Athletics are a great part of college life and morale. They teach a valuable lesson of good sportsmanship and fair play. It's too bad that there are a few who can't abide by these standards and that this lesson must be taught to them by harsh methods."

Softball Sadies Drive Umps Crazy

G-E GIRLS PITCH, BAT, CATCH AND SLIDE IN CITY LEAGUE

Just about everybody likes ball games this time of year. Lots of folks, especially guys, like girls anytime during any year. Ball games and girls go good with one another—people like 'em!

G-E's Girl Softball Team is easy to like. Although the girls came out on the short scoring end of the Girl's City League during the season's first half, winning three and losing four, they have rapidly improved their form and are shaping up into a first-rate ball club. The local Monogram wearers have won three and lost two so far during the second half, boasting 11 players with batting averages over the .300 mark!

Working together for the first time this season, the gals are coached by Dottie Collins, athletically curvacious, former Daisy pitcher (pitch me a curve, sister). Dot is ably assisted by that pert blonde "dynamite in a small package," Betty Puff, who also doubles in brass as shortstop. Pitchers who have seen the most action this year are Helen Miller, Gert Koldewey, June Getty and Elaine Nicodemus. Lu Galloway and Dolores Drewett have alternated behind the plate. Second basewoman LaDonna Goeglein leads her team with homers so far, having circled the bases twice in 12 contests. Puff, Galloway, Miller and Nicodemus have one grand slam apiece.

Versatile Players

Other players who perform weekly at Packard Park are Jean Ramer, first base; Colleen Rodgers, right field; Phyllis Moody, center field; Thora Robinson, left field, and Mary Jane Maloney, third base. All of the pitchers double up and play different positions when not working on the mound.

Most of the team's luck so far has all been good, despite the slow start. The only severe casualty of the year occurred last week when Goeglein was spiked by a winning runner. One of the early season players had to quit because she couldn't find a competent baby-sitter.

Catcher Lu Galloway demonstrated the team spirit of the club when, despite a painful nerve injury to her glove hand, she made a sensational ninth-inning, one-handed catch that saved a G-E win. Now trailing the league leader by only four games, the G-E girls will be tougher to beat next season.

With the bases loaded and two out (l-r), "Pidgie" Saxton, "Boots" Puff, Jean Ramer, and LaDonna Goeglein give moral support to one of their G-E gals at the plate. All league play this year has been close, but the Blue Sparks' "do or die" spirit has kept them in the first division.

Here's the G-E Lineup...

Phillip (Tiny) Schoppman is a worried man because his Ford has begun to disintegrate. Therefore, he has begun a program of rehabilitation, using the parking lot as his work shop. He uses every free moment he has during the day to advance this program. The other day, during lunch period, we watched him for a time. It looked very discouraging to us, so we retired within the plant. During these repair periods, he has tools laying around in all directions. He always manages to get the old kettle slapped back together so as to have transportation home at quitting time. . . . George (Rough-house) Cowan is the prize fisherman of the week. During the past week-end he decided to try and catch a mess of fish for his Sunday dinner. Arriving at a likely spot on the lake he dropped anchor and threw his line overboard. Every-time he get a nibble, he would give a vicious yank on the pole and line only to lose the fish. Finally after a dozen or so tries in this manner, the pole would not take it any longer. The handle came loose, depositing both it and the reel on the lake bottom. . . . Having had quite a lot of experience on drill presses, Charlie Richardson decided to build a trailer. In drilling the holes in the frame, he would stand on the outside and drill from the inside. This unorthodox method almost became his undoing. The drill caught his trouser leg, twisting it so tightly before he could get the power shut off that it removed all the hair off his leg. He gave a lusty yell for Mama who came running with the chuck key, thereby effecting his release. . . . Jitters McGurk Shoemaker is a great believer in being comfortable. He tells us that he likes loose fitting clothes as they give one more freedom of movement. Having to move rapidly around the sub-assembly where he works, one can readily understand his desire for roomy clothing. When he ambles up the aisle at a high rate of speed he surely resembles the "Flying Dutchman."

Pat O'Brien has the best idea yet on how to keep a women at home. He wore his wife's glasses to work and didn't know it until she called for them. . . . Bob Fritz must have been reading an interesting article in the paper. He fell asleep and even the whistle didn't wake him. . . . Would anyone like the inside of their bath tub painted? Arnold Landis borrowed a paint sprayer and couldn't keep it under control. He set it in the bath tub until it stopped sputtering and spent the rest of the day cleaning up the mess. . . . Why doesn't Bob Hatfield accept his many lunch invitations? . . . Butch Vegalues says he isn't going to worry about getting married. After reading about Rockefeller, he has loads of time. . . . Walt Rosselot always puts his socks on before going out of the bedroom in the morning. Last week one morning he couldn't figure out why the tile on the floor was so cold until he discovered he had put both socks on the same foot. . . . Welcome to Mary Sue Roth, who will replace Bernice Trott in Somers' section, and Margaret McCormick who is taking over for Rosie Seaman in the drafting and engineering room. . . . It sounds like a gay time was had by all at a party at Al Schairbaum's last Saturday night. It was a combined birthday party for all those in engineering who had birthdays in August. Those present were the Franks, Yopsts, Gibsons, Iversons, Greers, Lehmans and the Diehls. . . . Congratulations to Bill Folsom and Dan Ewing. Bill will be married today and Dan tomorrow. . . . It's good-bye and good luck to Bill Quarve and Bill Folsom, who are leaving General Service for other assignments. . . . We are sorry to hear that Louie Lee had an emergency operation. Hope you are better soon, Louie. . . . Art Lyser was a welcome visitor at Taylor St. last week. . . . Did anyone ever remind you of a wet rag? It seems that Virgil Kline gave that impression lately. . . . Mr. and Carl Furge entertained with a wonderful party last Saturday night in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Charlie Hartman and Harold Pranger just about knocked themselves out square dancing although they won't admit it. Wonder why Dutch Gaskill took so many short walks that night. If Carl would have known that Arnold Landis was going to come in such a bright shirt, he wouldn't have had to have his back yard lighted. . . . The gang in Bldg. 20-1 office wecomes Bill Rodocker, Harold Smith and Ralph Clark as permanent residents. . . . Verl Patterson has switched his affections to Taylor St. . . . Have you noticed the "new look" in Bldg. 20-1 office. Pearl says "The fellows are much worse than women for changing the furniture around. . . . Roger Pierson is a lucky fellow. He received Art Everett's "sanitary" welcome during vacation.

Some people are like owls—they get the reputation for being wise just by hooting at everything.—Maurice Seitter.

GETS RETIREMENT GIFT—Augusta Boehm, Bldg. 17-3 (center, foreground), was honored at a retirement dinner when she left the Company before vacation. She is shown receiving several gifts from her co-workers. V. R. Castle, general foreman, presented the gifts. Mrs. Boehm began as an assembly trainee at the Taylor St. plant in 1943. She transferred to Bldg. 17-3 in 1945 and at the time of her retirement was doing oxygen fusion, connecting and welding.

Ginny Price is leaving for Tennessee next week and is planning to spend at least a week of her vacation there. . . . Grace Merchant went to Michigan and Minnesota, while Flo Miller and her husband went to California. . . . Norm Singleton spent a quiet (?) week at home, and Helen Smith loved the rainy days while she spent her vacation in her home town of Chillicothe, O. . . . It is swell seeing Paul Grimmer and Tom Laur again. They have just returned from training at the National Guard camp. Did you have fun, fellas? . . . Someone called Helen Hall the other day asking her if the little chiseler was in. She said, "No and neither is the big one." As it turned out, the someone calling was Carl Reiter, the big chiseler. . . . We are sad to say "so-long" to three of our fellow workers. Georgia Lochner of Purchasing is quitting work to keep house, and we wish her the best of everything. Barb Coolong is leaving Customer Biling and is returning to Maine with her husband, who will enter the University of Maine this fall. Once again we say farewell for now to Len "Spike" Speicher. If you recall, he was supposedly leaving right before vacation, but he decided to let us have the honor of his presence for a few more weeks. Best of luck Spike, and let us hear from you, will ya? . . . Pat Brueggemann of Sales is now recovering from an appendectomy. She is home but, of course, just being lazy around the house. That's one way to get a long vacation. . . . You no doubt all remember Herm Priwer. He was in the group of men from Sales who moved back over to Bldg. 4-6? He too had an operation, and is coming along fine. We wish both Pat and Herm a speedy recovery. . . . Margaret Snyder, Sales, was transferred to Bldg. 4-6. She will take over Edith Blaising's job as secretary to J. J. Horan and B. R. McClure. Lots of luck in your new position, Margaret, and don't forget your friends at Taylor St. Replacing Margaret as head of the Ediphone room in Sales is Clara Jo Billue. . . . We welcome Barb Ormston, who is the new typist in Customer Billing, and Tony Doyle, who is the new test engineer in room 311. Good luck to both of you, and we hope you both will like working here. . . . So long now, and I'll see you next week.

By now, you should be in the groove for another year. . . . Hedy Harrison found that the sun in Bermuda is really hot. Did you see the sunburn she brought back? . . . Dick Madden spent a week at Boy Scout Island. . . . Can you imagine anyone spending his vacation at the lake and not having time to fish? Eddie Proegler did just that. . . . We had several who were going to tell us of their fishing trips, but we didn't hear anything. We did hear they were afraid of gambling with the truth. . . . Ray Johnson must have been confused. He was in an abstract office looking for a voice teacher. . . . Little Catherine Marie is at the Paul and Madonna Maldeney home. The mama is a former co-worker. . . . Also congratulations on the pink bootied tax deduction at the Jerry Loos home. . . . We have some proud new grandmas and one grandpa. The grandmas included Zelma Woods, Virginia Pelz and Mildred Walkenstine. Joe Bright is the new grandpa. . . . Our "We wish you happiness mat" is out for our new brides: Thelma Overton, who became Mrs. Charles Lacy, and Annie Dixie, who is now Mrs. Ben Jackson. . . . Evelyn Chapman has left us to take up small garment making. . . . We're glad to hear that Rose Hechc is on the improved list. . . . Mac Jones' sister is visiting her from Arkansas.

Inflation is like adding water to a pot of soup: The food value falls off as the quantity increases.

Pete Eberhardt is sticking his neck out hy wearing a sport shirt with giraffes on it. Some say it belongs to his daughter. . . . Jim Henry has proved his point. We now believe he's all wet. . . . Barb Mertz has left us to work in Bldg. 19. . . . It's been rumored that George Owens said, "Mertz is gone but Anderson is back, so we're no better off than before." . . . Mildred Fettinger is designing some toothpicks to hold Ellenburg's eyes open. From the sound of the rest of the article, it had better be crutches. . . . There is a draftsman named Hank Lantz, who puts in his time here in Transformer Drafting. The so-called town in which Hank resides is called Leo (unincorporated). Mr. Lantz has been with the Company for more than 25 years and is now the head detailer for Transformer Drafting. Hank, who is sometimes called "Moldy Hank, the Hot Dog King," acquired this title by selling moldy hot dogs at the ball game at Leo (unincorporated). Although the proceeds from the hot dogs go to the Lions Club, the job is not without compensation because ingenious Henry scrapes the mold off the hot dogs and makes his own penicillin. Among Hank's other hobbies are falling out of boats while fishing and getting charlie horses while playing tennis. Hank also talks a good game of golf, bowling, and ping-pong but never plays them. In the fall, Hank likes to hunt rabbits with bazookas, hand grenades or shot guns, whichever is the surest method. Words cannot express Hank's true personality but if you're ever in Leo (unincorporated) be sure to drop in and visit him.

Ex-Apprentices: We were glad to see Richard Reinking when he stopped in for a visit on Friday before vacation. Dick has been stationed in Texas but expects to be shipped out when he returns from his leave. . . . Donald Konow was in for a visit with the old gang this week. Don is stationed at Fort Hood, Tex. . . . Bill Smith and Dick Wagner both received their "Greetings" and reported to Uncle Sam during vacation. They both want to thank the gang for their fountain pens, and Dick wishes to express a special thank you to his buddies for their gift. . . . We received a letter from Bill Smith. He said he finally arrived at Fort Custer, Mich.—(their bus driver got lost and drove over a hundred miles out of the way). He was greeted by a friendly smile and hot coffee, handed out by another ex-apprentice who was on K.P.—Dick Gotschall. According to the records, Dick has now left for Fort Riley, Kan., and Wag should be running around Fort Custer someplace. . . . We were glad to receive another letter from Bob Doelling, who is still in Korea. Bob has been transferred to headquarters company of the second batallion and his new job consists namely of making tracings of maps and the movements of friendly and enemy troops. He takes reports from all companies in the second batallion. His job is fairly interesting and keeps him posted on the war situation first hand. . . . We also received a letter from Myron Auer, who is in Korea. Myron reports he is just "waisting" away and is now proud of his 33 in. waistline; so someone else will have to be president of the "200" Club. "Chubs" had just returned from the front lines and was staying in a large bunker about 20 miles north of Inse and about 60 miles from the coast. We hope to see Myron and Bob home before Christmas. . . . Jim Duff returned from a wonderful three weeks' vacation trip to the coast. . . . Congratulations to Emmett Rasor, who graduated as a Machinist-Toolmaker Aug. 17.

Vacation is over, but I guess most of my reporters have forgotten about it. They don't seem to have any news. Let's get back on the job, girls. . . . Lorraine Papp is looking for a little extra change. . . . Martha Doehrman and Chloe Weitzman are on a diet. On vacation, they went up to Doris Rienhold's cottage at Lake James for a potluck. I guess they starved six days in order to eat one good meal. . . . Welcome back, Almetta Till. . . . Good luck to Dale Stucky, who is going to be a full fledged farmer. . . . Congratulations to our new groom, Harry Hire. . . . Max Sprowl is the proud father of a baby girl. . . . Moe Felger, who said that dinner will be served at six o'clock sharp? . . . Jim Wrisk smashed up his cabin cruiser Thursday night. Jim has also joined the Navy. . . . Congratulations to Shelly and Jack Sweet, who had birthdays this week. . . . Congratulations to Bob Thomas, who was married during vacation. . . . Jerry Miller is now working in the stock room. . . . Gertie, don't forget that "Duz does everything." . . . H. Eger and K. Bailey seem to have trouble getting off the elevator at the right place. . . . Ann Wibel, five rolls at once is too many, don't you think?

We want to welcome Bob Rodgers on second shift. . . . There are so many changes being made and we know things just aren't going to be the same with Charles and Velora Drury on days. . . . Happy birthday to Dorothy Hart and Fay Fritzinger. . . . We miss Mary Rose. What Mary wants to know is who changed the rug in the hallway? . . . Gladys Biber had a fine time in New York. We wish you lots of luck on days, Gladys. Nancy Smith had a wonderful week in the Smoky Mountains. . . . Bill Easton had an exciting event. Bill went fishing and the boat upset. He lost his belongings, including a new pair of safety shoes. He fished out his billfold, trousers and other clothing. . . . Darold Emrick planned to go squirrel hunting, but car trouble prevented it. . . . Agnes Neidiffer and her husband went fishing and caught so many fish it weakened Agnes' pole. She had something on her pole so big it broke. She would like to know what the fish that got away was like. . . . Velora Drury's mother and father came home with them for a visit. They are from Missouri and were in the flood area. . . . Agnes Stansberry is back to work after an operation and is very happy to be back. . . . We hear that Bob Born has housemaid's knees on his knuckles. . . . Harley, are Chrysler tires easy to change? Harley Springer was seen doing his good deed for the day.

Top FHP Service Keeps River Boat Going

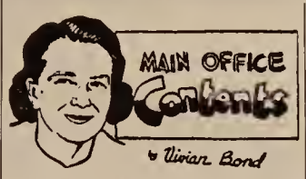
Although it's a long way as the crow flies or a Hoosier drives, Philadelphia is a great deal closer than you think. The City of Brotherly Love edged even a little closer to the G-E Fort Wayne Works during vacation shut-down.

About lunch time, Thursday, Aug. 9, when many a vacationing employe was still pounding his pillow, R. P. Cheesman, of the Service Engineering Division here, received an urgent phone call from "Pat" Higgins in the Philly Engineering Office.

According to Higgins, he desperately wanted a one-half horsepower, 115-volt motor needed to replace a burned-out similar model which powered the steering hydraulic pump on a Delaware River boat named the "Philadelphia." The steering mechanism had broken down that morning and the ship was scheduled to go back into service Friday, the following day. The skipper of the disabled craft, Capt. C. J. Tracy, "had to have that little motor, RUSH!!"

Bubbling with service, Cheesman finished talking with Higgins—picked up the phone again and dialed Bill Henninger, DC production man on duty during the shutdown. Bill quickly located the critical motor and delivered it to Shipping.

Following a quick confab between Cheesman and Herman Ebel, of the Shipping Division, Ebel sent the motor to the local Railway Express Co., which promised to put it on the east-going "Admiral" that evening so the motor would arrive in Philly Friday morning.



Cheesman personally saw the motor loaded on the train and then called the Philadelphia Office so G-E folks there could meet the train and remove the FHP gem at the city's North Station.

At 11:15, Friday, a.m., only a little over 24 hours after Cheesman had received the initial request, the motor was delivered to the ship "Philadelphia," which shoved off AHEAD OF SCHEDULE!!

Mary Ann Miles is going to be a quiet gal from now on. Her parents came over to this country from Germany. Mary Ann hasn't seen her folks for three years and she has a lot to talk about. In fact, Mary Ann is just about talked out. . . . Harold Dalman is still tired from his vacation. Harold will have to have another vacation to rest. . . . We're sorry to hear Delores Johnston is in the hospital, but hope she is feeling better real soon. The gang sent Delores a gift to let her know they miss her. . . . We're glad to see Rose Mary Diem back. Rose Mary has been off several months. . . . Florence Siebert and Joyce Franke have gone on days. We will miss you, girls. . . . Helen Duff and Mary Ann Miles were forever blowing bubbles the other night. Leona Yarbrough ended up with one all over the end of her nose. . . . Since Vernon La Fuze (who was married during vacation) took himself a bride, he unfolds a cleaning rag to kneel on instead of kneeling on the bare floor. She is breaking him in right to begin with. . . . It's a good thing Jim Ryder has a sense of humor. If he didn't, Jim would be mad all the time with all the teasing he has been the victim of here of late. . . . Congratulations to Margaret Hey, who won a $1,400 mink cape from Poinsattes. It is beautiful, and we all envy you, Margaret. . . . Helen Duff is going to have an option on the coke and ice cream machines if she loses many more nickels and dimes in them. . . . Welcome to Delores Schroeder from Bldg. 6-4 and welcome back to Mary Stopher. . . . Have a good time in Massachusetts, Angie. We will miss you. . . . Helga Wickliffe just couldn't stand the excitement of driving to the top of Pikes Peak. She got half way up and then had to come back down.

PRIZE WINNER—L. C. Swager, as President of the Indiana Personnel Association, together with the other officers, was a guest of the Indianapolis Chapter at the annual outing held at Franklin, Saturday, Aug. 10. The morning hours were spent in a board (that word is not bored) meeting of the association. A luncheon and dinner were served at the Hill View Country Club. In the afternoon a golf game was the center of attraction and his honor, the president, was a participant. My news informer told me that he was awarded a nice golf prize. Mr. Swager modestly admitted that he won a prize, but did not care to enlarge upon the fact. I will leave the subject in your hands. . . . CONGRATULATIONS—The week-end of Aug. 18 and 19 was an eventful one for A. E. Leider. Saturday he became the proud owner of a new Plymouth car and a golden retriever puppy. Then Sunday his daughter was a member of the graduating class from the St. Joseph School of Nursing. . . . NEW HOME—Phyllis Rudolph and her husband moved into their new home in Indian Village during the vacation shutdown. . . . CALIFORNIA—Janet Horne, Bldg. 18-1, and Imogene Schwartz, Bldg. 21, will leave early in September for Los Angeles where they will make their future home. I know that the shades of Horace Greeley are beckoning, so we say, "Good luck and bless you." . . . OUR HOPES—for a rapid recovery go to Mrs. P. O. Noble, who has been quite ill. . . . WORKS NEWS girls traveled in opposite directions during their vacations. Virginia Molden flew to Mexico and Marian Davies hopped a plane to Havana. They should have material for a wonderful travel story in the WORKS NEWS. . . . CONGRATULATIONS to Estella Monroe. Her daughter was married Saturday in a very pretty ceremony. During the vacation period her son and wife presented her with a lovely granddaughter. . . . A THOUGHT—quoted from Henry W. Longfellow: "Believe me, every man has his secret sorrow, which the world knows not; and oftimes we call a man cold when he is only sad."

California Bound

Belated Vacation Briefs: Ernie and Deola Foreman tended to oil well business in Oklahoma. . . . Gordon Railing meandered around the country for about 50,000 miles. . . . Buck Wilkins fished near Owasso, Mich. . . . Benny Baumgartner took the sights in in Wisconsin and Canada. . . . Helen Byer attended a rodeo in Texas. . . . Bill Hartman and Scotty chased the blues out of St. Louis. . . . Norma Bower visited Camp Atterbury and Indian Lake. . . . Charlie Debolt and family enjoyed life at Pleasant Lake. . . . And, of course, there's that "Decatur" Colony at Lake Lavine: Art Denig, Cal Magley, Chuck Cook, Motts Roop, Arline and Ardella Heare, Cy Heimann, Bob Kreischer and others. . . . Congrats: Ed and Pauline are now Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren. The Warrens were given a rousing send-off by their second shift friends who presented the newlyweds with a lovely gift of silver service. . . . Ralph Welch and Mary Smith also joined the middle-of-the-aisle club. Best wishes, Ralph and Mary. . . . A Believer: Frank Braun now knows that some "fish" stories are real. He received the real evidence from Art Denig. . . . That Finger Again: This time it's congratulations to Barbara Robinson, who is proudly displaying the sparkler. . . . Colorful Cloyd: Cloyd Dellinger has all the girls goggly-eyed by wearing that red and green "topper." . . . Boys' Week: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Massonne's new arrival is a boy. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Bill Melchi, also a boy. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Max Ogg, you guessed it, a boy. . . . Convalescents: Forest Owens is much improved from his operation. Forest wishes to thank all of those who remembered him with flowers, cigarettes, and cards. . . . John Loshe is now hobbling around on crutches after having an operation on his foot. John expects to be back soon. . . . Alice Lake is still hospitalized due to surgery. We wish Alice a speedy recovery. . . . Veda Egly is up and around following surgery and expects to be back soon. . . . Third Weekers: Luella and Anna Werst are enjoying their third week of vacation. . . . Another Milestone: Birthday greetings to Mary Miller. She won't tell us which one. . . . Helen Brintzenhofe also celebrated another birthday. Helen's co-workers presented her with a lovely gift. . . . Sympathies: Our sincerest sympathies are extended to Lawrence and Cecil Franklin upon the death of their father. . . . We also extend sympathies to Grant Fry, whose father recently died. . . . Newsy Shorts: "Kokomo" Mounsey finally got his new flying machine off the ground, by himself that is. "Kokomo" now invites his friends to enjoy a ride with him. . . . Marcie Martin came back from vacation looking very down hearted but it wasn't because of work. She had just lost her pet fish "Geraldine," who passed on to other lands. . . . Mina Lampy is sporting a new Nash, which she calls a reminder of a very enjoyable vacation. . . . Guy Lister spent the recent week-end visiting his son, Tom, who is stationed with Uncle Sam's Air Force. Tom is a former G-E Employe. . . . Ina Noack sported a new fashion last week by painting each fingernail differently.

LOGS 35 YEARS—Homer Meeker, Bldg. 26-2, (left) is shown being congratulated on his 35th anniversary with General Electric. He completed this service record Monday, Aug. 13. Left to right in the picture are Mr. Meeker, M. O. Marsh, E. J. Thomas and C. W. Kronmiller.

G-E gals lost a heartbreaker to the Hayloft Dancers, 11-10, at Packard Park Monday. The Blue Sparks led all the way to the sixth when Hayloft made its final splurge and won by one run.

Hayloft's Bucher pitched the entire six innings, walked only one batter. Goeglein, of G-E, hit a home run in the fourth with none on. Dancer's Judt and Eichler hit home runs with one on in the fifth and sixth, respectively.

Nicodemus and Koldewey pitched for G-E with Drewett catching. Lake caught for Hayloft.

John Stark of the Spoons and Lloyd Grider of the Hot Shots were the pace-setters for the Owl golfers in the first session since vacation shutdown. John, big smile and all, carded a 38, while Lloyd, "I could have done better," shot a 39.

Most of the lads are tuning up for the play-offs that will be coming up in three weeks. All in all, it has not been the most pleasant weather with the barometer dangerously close to that rain mark but the heavy dew held off long enough to complete league play.

The battle of the day was between the Champs and the strong contenders, the Drivers. The Hot Shots eked out a bare one-point victory. The usually steady Herman Uhrick had his poorest day in a long time when he shot a 43. With better luck, the outcome might have been different. On the other hand, the two Kuzeff brothers, Carl and Jim, each turned in 40's. Bob Craig and Ozzie Bunch also shot 40's for the Champs.

The Putters, who led the league during the early stages, took a 11-point pasting from the Brassies. Gus Ormsby's boys are almost sure to annex a play-off berth unless the roof caves in on them in the last few weeks of play. Gus led the Brassies in victory with a 43 while Paul (you should have seen him hit one on No. 17) Billman turned in a 40 for the Putters.

Stark led his Spoons to a 7-point win over the Bunkers. This loss and the 11-point win by the Brassies almost pushes the Bunkers out of play-off contention. Don Hower turned in a 41 for the losing cause.

A couple of Flags just couldn't wait on the rest of their team members and lost by forfeit to the last ploce Traps who have been nicknamed the "Spoilers." They now have their averages up so high that no one can beat them with the big handicap. "Wahoo" Dunten has really been improving along with Red Pettit and the rest of the Traps.

The Standings

Hot Shots	+77
Drivers	+58
Putters	+43
Spoons	+ 9
Brassies	— 6
Bunkers	—32
Flags	—59
Traps	—90

Football Games By G-E Over CBS To Be Aired

G-E's Radio Receiver Department will sponsor a three-hour radio football round-up featuring Red Barber Saturday afternoons from Sept. 29 through Nov. 17 over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Company sources have announced.

The program, slated to be aired locally over Radio Station WANE from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. (CDT), will present highlights of five major games directly from the fields of action. These on-the-spot reports will be given by special CBS correspondents in two-minute intervals when the action is at its height. Interspersed will be special telephone reports from 15 other games in all sections of the country.

The "G-E Football Round-up" will conclude with a complete rundown of final scores of all college games played that afternoon.

Commenting upon the program, W. H. Sahloff, manager of the G-E department, said he believed the planned type of coverage will be of great interest to millions of football fans throughout the country.

"It now appears, through the recent action of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, that many of the major gridiron battles this year will not be available to the television audience," he said. "Consequently, the G-E Football Round-up, with its comprehensive coverage of all outstanding games, should satisfy the interest of football fans in all parts of the country."

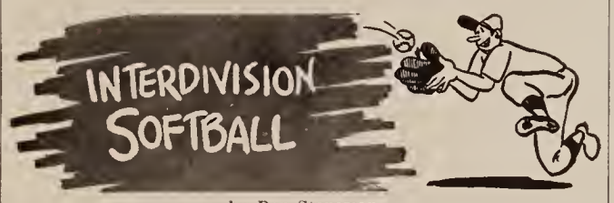
Whenever nature leaves a hole in a person's mind, she generally plasters it over with a thick coat of self-conceit.—Longfellow.

Owls Trounce IR&W 7-3; Hower Scatters 5 Hits

by Bill Geist

Coming back from vacation, the Owls handed Indiana Rod and Wire its first defeat of the season. G-E outhit its rivals 12 to five and outplayed them in the field to walk off to the tune of a 7-3 win.

G-E hit and scored in all but the sixth inning, when only three men came to bat. In the fifth, G-E scored two runs on singles by Bebe Blauvelt and Bud Hower and a double by Ken Zurbuch. The rest of the scoring was by single runs in the other frames.



Cliff Grimes' triple was the heaviest blow of the game. Ken Zurbuch lined one down the left field, foul by about ten feet that would have been a homer had it been fair.

Bud Hower pitched a credible game, keeping five hits well scattered. In only the fourth was IR&W able to get more than one hit per inning. The team gave Bud good support by playing one of its best games.

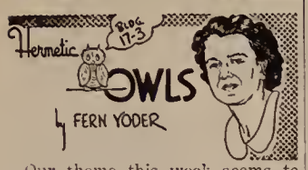
The Apprentice Alumni out-slugged Motor and Generator 17-11 with a 19 hit attack. This included home runs by Schnepp, Enyeart and Butcher. Schnepp also had a double and single. Harden had a single and triple for Motor-Generator.

The Test Engineers defeated Winter St., 11-10. Jack Fink singled in the winning run in the seventh inning.

No scorebooks were turned in on the games between Firemen and Taylor St. and Squares vs. Small Motor.



Several of the girls received cards from Mary Smith, who is on her way to California. . . . Clara Gidley entertained several of her co-workers at her cottage at Skinner Lake last Tuesday night. A wiener bake was enjoyed by Ollie Ragan, Mary Shreve, Alma Bower, Jackie Keller, Lois Burry and Beverly Numbers. . . . Goldie Waikel is reported on the sick list. . . . The girls are wondering if Linda Wahrer is thinking of getting employment in the cafeteria kitchen. They saw her heading that way one day last week. What was on your mind, Linda? . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Louie Watt, who had a recent operation at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati. . . . Hillard Moore awoke in a hurry one morning last week when he reached on the wrong wall for the light switch and found himself in the landing halfway downstairs. Buck has only lived in the same house 30 years. We bet those fractured ribs are painful. . . . The boys in group 17x70 have done some real detective work and found out why Ruby Stoops spent three weeks in California. She and her companion really enjoyed eating trout, but they didn't like the bugs. They haven't received all the facts until the other party is interviewed. . . . Jim Stauffer would like to know how Al Seifert rates a new fan? . . . Elmer Scheer did some fast thinking the other day when he happened to look out the window at his home and saw a car without a driver heading for his parked car. He took fast steps and stopped the car in the nick of time. . . . Doyle Sheets says, "We won't have a 'Holiday on Ice' because there is no ice. Besides our Labor Day holiday is too early for ice." . . . We wonder what Ruby Stoops had on her mind while she was in California that she sent her grandson's cards to the wrong address?

SHIPPING: Our sympathy to Viola Haiber and her sprained ankle. Worst of all Vi's favorite doctor isn't a bone man. . . . How about that!! G-E truck driver, Howard Eastes, forgot either his rank or the company's name. On his report he wrote, very distinctly, "General Eastes." . . . Absent-Minded: P. W. Albersmeyer, in the market for a candy bar, walked directly to the time clock and dropped his nickel in. Needless to say there were no results, except Mr. Albersmeyer's red face. . . . For the records, the very charming young lady in our complete file is Mary Ann Epperson. . . . After vacation roll call found Mary Ann Freiburger missing. Her new job consists of keeping house for her new hubby. . . . Katie Minehart has really gone western since her vacation in Colorado. She even brought back a pair of cowboy boots (miniature size) for Bob Jellison. . . . Ferne Runyan saw the Smokeys and all the points of interest that those wonders of nature have to offer. . . . Dutch Wilson reeled them in way up thar in Michigan, while Ludella Conrad is still looking up after her visit to New York City. . . . MAILING: Gene Dockter is the proud owner of a new car (1928) and what a remarkable car. It has four cylinders and is a four door. What's more he guarantees 55 MPH. . . . Jack Woodcox spent a whiz bang week-end in Detroit and Canada. . . . Welcome to Mailing, Gerald Hinsch and Frank Van Ryan, Jr.

SOME MESS—of fish, that is! The super fishermen (l-r) are Edna Mock, Broadway Cafeteria, and her husband, Clyde F., a former employe now on pension. The Mocks made the large, single evening catch, on a Maryland stream while visiting their son during vacation shut-down.

Our theme this week seems to be it has been nice to know you. Second shift seems to bring to a close our fond friendships. We want to thank all of you for your splendid co-operation and hope it won't be long until we shall all be back on second shift. . . . Kay Meyers' husband discovered the leak in the gas tank just in time. They were enjoying the scenery in Brown County when they smelled gas. They decided to investigate. Sure enough, about two gallons of gas were left out of 14. They got gas and the leak fixed without much delay. . . . Happy birthday to Dick Gidley. May you have many more happy ones. . . . Kay Dolan reports a lovely trip to Boston and New Hampshire. . . . Marietta Beckman spent a day in Chicago and said she enjoyed it lots. . . . Mabel Drummond said that those new tires really took them places, even down in the hills of Kentucky. . . . We've been enjoying the snapshots Bea Lantz took on her trip to Niagara Falls. . . . Louie Davis did real well in bringing us photos from Sault Ste. Marie. Louie reports a lovely trip in spite of the broken spring. . . . Russell May is leaving us to go to test on first shift. Lots of luck, Russell. . . . Charlie Irwin says the baby daughter is growing nicely. Charlie is being transferred. . . . Paul Stocks went home early Friday evening because of a sprained thumb. . . . Lillian Murphy asked Mabel Drummond if they had a compartment in the back of their car. Mabel said, "Sure, I got a suitcase." . . . How's this for a vacation? Arlene Underhill does the sleeping while Jack catches the fish. Arlene says, "yes, one fish."

Gone Fishin'

They really reported a good catch while up in Wisconsin. . . . Felix Neuman and his son had a successful fishing trip in Canada. . . . We wish to congratulate Patsy and Frank Beck, who were married recently. Frank is in the service and Patsy is a winder on Line One. Frank was "Tiny" our wire boy.

This would have been more appropriate last week: A vacation is a succession of 2's. It consists of 2 weeks which are 2 short. Afterwards you are 2 tired 2 return 2 work and 2 broke not 2. If there is a job 2 go back 2. . . . Bright remarks of the week come from Howie Shipman, "You think you're making money? When I worked at the Venetian Blind Co., I used to pull down three hundred a week!" Ouch! . . . Now hear this! Barbara Campbell is sporting a new Buick. . . . Someone should tell Howard Churchill and Louise Perry we work Mondays also. . . . Welcome back to Pauline White and Al Miller, who have been on the sick list. . . . Maurice Green is hanging her shingle out. Gail and Delmer want to use her chair at supper time, so she's going into the Rent-a-Chair business. . . . No mice running around in the west end! Is that what Gail and Delmer were doing during vacation? . . . Irene Slater and Rozella Momper celebrated birthdays recently with cake and everything! . . . We sure miss Bert Gruber, can't stand the quiet! . . . The gals on the stacking benches wish to thank Louie and Smitty for getting on the ball and fixing the buzzer's buzz. . . . If anyone is interested in knowing why traffic was lined up from the lot past the College St. elevation, it was because Bea Marsh just couldn't say good-bye to her husband. . . . Our sympathies to Gladys Williams and Kenny Fisher in the recent losses to their families. . . . Leona Kochel and Cecelia "Peanut" Ferguson went to New York. While in the club car a couple of young fellows tried to buy Leona a drink. But she wouldn't even give them a tumble! . . . Emma Lou Ragen went to Mexico on vacation. Emma's only comment, "They can have it!" . . . Harold Trautman, back from Korea, has returned to work. Welcome back, Harold. . . . Bill Mills, making one of those Dagwood exits from home, grabbed what he thought was a hankie on his way out. When he got to work, it turned out to be his daughter's underwear! . . . Welcome to Margaret Heide, who recently joined the Hermetics gang on second. . . . We hear Norma Smith has a good horse story, Louie. . . . While vacationing in Los Angeles, Benny Cahn entered a shoe shine parlor and discovered a friend who formerly worked at the G-E. . . . Al Tyson spent a bad night after seeing the movie, "The Thing." Al's dog kept moving around all night, and Al thought sure they were after him. . . . Open house tomorrow night, dedication of Lea's place. Everyone is welcome at 4604 Spatz Ave.

FREEDOM or FORCE?

WE HAVE made it very clear in the past that we are for whatever protects the freedom, dignity, and self-respect of our employees.

We are for the individual employee being free to choose whether or not he joins a union—and whether, once in, he stays in or gets out. We are for his having the opportunity every so often—if he wants it—to choose a new union, or to confirm his previous choice of an old one, or to decide to have none at all.

This is all a matter between the union and the employee. But, we are against his being forced to belong to a union, and pay dues, in order to hold a job with us. We don't want to have to sign any contract protecting the union against an employee's freedom of choice.

We want to provide the individual job and to offer the pay, working conditions, and other benefits that are right for that job in each case. In return, we simply ask that the individual employee apply his full skill, care and effort to that particular job—whether he deals with us directly or through a union.

* * * * * *

Discussions of these principles of ours come up pretty regularly around the calendar in our periodic negotiations with various of our half a hundred unions. Frequently the demand is renewed for "union security" in the form of the so-called "union shop."

"Union security" is the term for some provision in a contract by which the employer gives the union officers some security against employees. The so-called "union shop" is not just a place where there is a union. It really means that all employees must join a given union and pay dues to that union or lose their jobs.

To just two out of the many unions with which we deal, the union shop would force our employees to pay dues of more than $2.5 million per year. At present, dues at only a little over half of that rate are being checked off for these two unions.

* * * * * *

We think it would be wrong for the Company to agree with union leaders that all present employees must join a particular union and pay dues or lose their jobs. We think it even more wrong for management to agree that all future employees must be "frozen" by the decision of a current majority of present employees—and so lose their freedom, as individuals, to decide for or against paying dues to a given union without losing their jobs.

The union shop is most undemocratic—despite claims to the contrary. This becomes clear if we apply "union shop" ideas to local politics. We would be shocked, for example, if a state should go Republican, and all present Democrats and all future citizens of the state should have to join the Republican Party and contribute money to its support or else be compelled to lose their citizenship and jobs and leave the state.

Union security seems to be worth a great deal to union officials. To get the union shop—for their own "security"—union officials often intimate that management will be compensated through being freed from so many strikes, so many grievances, and so many intemperate demands now encountered because the employees are not bound under the discipline of the "union shop." The idea is, of course, that, without losing their jobs, the employees can't quit the union and stop paying dues—even when they think the union leaders are doing as they please instead of properly promoting the interest of the employees.

* * * * * *

Union leaders condemn employees who stay out of the union as "free riders." We agree that good union leaders should and will merit the voluntary support of the members. We believe that good unions can eventually become the "voluntary associations" they are in law supposed to be.

But—in the absence of leaders running the unions in a way that would win voluntary support—we don't think that the Company, as a third party, should discharge employees who don't pay dues.

Absolute power corrupts men and institutions because it prohibits constructive criticism, minority rights, outspoken opposition. Dictatorial power, such as the union shop gives to union officials, makes the union the master rather than the servant of the employees.

This absolute power to "tax" an employee and make him pay the tax or lose his job—is proved by history to give union officials power that is almost immediately abused. For instance, they tend not to give so much of their time to the bread-and-butter matter of wages, hours and working conditions with the particular employer, but to enter the political arena and use their union funds and organizational facilities in ways that have often been notorious despite attempts to curb such activities by law. As a consequence, the unwilling dues contributor has often found himself indirectly financing activities which may be contrary to his more firmly held beliefs.

An individual employee should be free to make the decision as to whether or not he will pay towards the national or international political activities of a union. An individual employee should be free to decide whether his funds will be used by a union as economic power against sound public finance, or against sound improvements in equipment and methods, and so hold back what could otherwise be a rise in the standard of living through workers having their day's work and pay provide more goods per person to enjoy.

* * * * * *

At this time a series of new representation elections at our plants is being sought by many unions. Some of the elections so far this year—and many of the very important ones last year—have varied in their results from a fairly wide to a very narrow majority for the particular union or non-union choice.

But, under our present platform of employee freedom, any large or small number of our employees is, in each case, still left free to belong to the union in power, or to stay out of unions entirely, or to support solely that union which they hope may be successful in gaining the representation rights at some later date.

The whole basis of our republic is that here in America we will protect the minority against unrestricted majority rule . . . and especially against any tyranny by the majority.

Scrap Happy — Business boomed in the Salvage section this week as Specialty Transformer and Ballast Divisions helped launch the Scrap Drive by contributing four annealing furnaces. The four one-ton capacity furnaces weighed a total of 23,680 pounds.

Scrap Drive Starts Tues.

A plant-wide scrap drive planned to salvage critically needed iron, copper and aluminum will be held during September and October, A. E. Leider, manager of production service and scrap drive chairman, announced this week.

According to Mr. Leider, W. P. Altekruse, of Works Service; L. A. Erickson, of the FHP Divs.; H. R. Korte, STAB Divs., and S. A. Amstutz, Large Motor and Generator Divs., will coordinate the gigantic efforts in their respective areas. Mr. Altekruse will arrange with the Salvage Section to record monthly by divisions the receipts of scrap.

Scrap Committeemen Named

Besides the four area coordinators, other committeemen who will assist the operation are G. F. Bond, in Production Service; Frank Kilcoin, Wire and Insulation Div. and Don Clark, Tool Room, all of Works Service; Wayne Weimer, Div. 94; Carl Stout, Div. 91, and Bill Boling, Div. 90, all of STAB, and C. M. Summers, Works Lab; I. H. Freeman, Personnel, and G. R. Lindemuth, Technical Service.

Although committeemen have already begun to classify various articles of dormant scrap, the Works Service groups will tour all their respective areas including the surrounding yards on Sept. 18-19 and Oct. 16, Mr. Altekruse disclosed. According to Mr. Korte, some material has already been tagged at Winter St. and in other areas by his committee. While the Large Motor & Generator Divs. do not have a formal working committee, the story of the urgent need for scrap has been carried to each foreman who is canvassing within his jurisdiction, Mr. Amstutz said.

By Department of Commerce definition, "dormant scrap" is obsolete machinery, tools, jigs, dies, fixtures and other equipment for which there is no immediate or future use except as raw materials for steel mills and foundries. It includes items that are broken, worn beyond repair, abandoned, dismantled or in need of replacement parts that no longer can be obtained.

How Much Is Plenty?

(The following is an entirely unsolicited article submitted by an hourly employe, and union member, at G-E's Electronics Park at Syracuse.)

Dictionary definitions use words like "adequate," "sufficient" and "enough."

At Thanksgiving time we feast, and we give thanks for "plenty"—and we have had enough when the meal is finished. There are left-overs from the festive meal which prove the fact that there was "plenty."

Yet, will those left-overs provide "plenty" for another meal? Many times they will. Often we eat turkey into the following week.

The difference between "left-overs" after "plenty," and just sufficient food for our main Thanksgiving meal, will make no difference at the time. So long as we feast we have plenty, and we give thanks. But the left-overs are very important if we have invested most of our ready cash into the main Thanksgiving meal. It will be the left-overs that will keep us in food until pay day. We certainly would not scrape an extra turkey drumstick into the Disposall! We realize that there is tomorrow and tomorrow.

Remember the Left-overs

So it is week by week with the pay envelope. If we have any money left after necessities, we have plenty. Yet, it will be seven days to another pay day so we are mindful of the "left-overs"—and we try to save a dollar for tomorrow.

And so it must be with a corporation. Its pay envelope is bigger, but so are its expenses. It has some left over after its bills are paid, so it has plenty. Its "pay days" are not regular, it gets paid when its products are in demand, when its goods sell. When its products are not in sharp demand, orders will be fewer or farther between, and "pay-days" will likewise spread out. When demand for its product is high it could dispose of surplus in many ways: bonuses, increased wages, longer holidays or even paid Sundays, but the answer would be the same—it would be scraping the extra drumstick into the Disposall! The corporation, too, has a tomorrow and a tomorrow.

With so many of us depending on our regular pay envelope to eat and feed our families it is good to know that the corporation who fills those envelopes is thinking of tomorrow, and next week, and next year so that it will not find the "left-overs" gone and be unable to meet the payroll. If that happened, the answer would be, could only be, closing its plants, which would do no one any good. It would be forced to say, "We do not have plenty."

IMAGINATION

If you have imagination,
But don't know just what it's for,
You should see my good friend Tommy,
He's the little boy next door.

He has seven years behind him,
Freckled face and plump and short.
Well behaved, but so fantastic,
When he gives me his report.

With his chaps and brace of pistols,
Leather boots and cow-boy hat,
It is quite an education,
When he visits me, to chat.

When he comes I always ask him,
"Well, just who are you today?"
Then his keen imagination
Carries both of us away.

All I have to do is listen
With a question now and then,
While he tells me how he captured
All those bandits in their den.

And he seems a little puzzled
When he finds I never knew
That the leader of those bandits
Is a guy called Snake LaRue.

If he comes with, Hi-Ho-Silver,
Then it's plain to me, of course,
That I'm talking to Lone Ranger,
For, Old Silver is his horse.

But sometimes he comes on "Fury"
That's the horse Steve Adams rides.
Steve is also called Straight Arrow,
But no one knows where he hides.

There's Mark Chase and Curly Bradley
And Don Reed, the rangers' cousin.
I believe I'm safe in saying
I have met at least a dozen.

But they all are real to Tommy
In his world of make believe.
Fury, Silver and Lone Ranger,
Curly, Mark, and Dan or Steve.

When he leaves, I sit and wonder
What he has that I have not,
There is something he is using
That I find I haven't got.

I'm too old to play Lone Ranger,
Or believe I'm Robin Hood,
But when Tommy comes to visit me,
I wish sometimes I could.

Virginia Molden Named WORKS NEWS Editor

Virginia Molden has been appointed WORKS NEWS editor to sueeeed Lou Rotterman, I. H. Freeman, supervisor of Personnel, has announced.

A native of Canton, O., Miss Molden has had extensive journalistie experienee and has traveled widely, both in Europe and on the North Ameriean eontinent. Following graduation from the University of Maryland, she beeame assoeiated with the National Researeh Council in Washington, D. C. where she worked for about a year before beeoming a staff member of "Public Opinion," a weekly magazine published in Canton.

Miss Molden eame to G-E at Fort Wayne in Mareh, 1950. Beginning as a WORKS NEWS staff member, she was named assistant editor in September of the same year and has worked in that capacity until her present appointment.

An avid baseball fan, Miss Molden cheers most for the Cleveland Indians. A licensed pilot, she relaxes on the week-ends by flying a rented Cessna out of Smith Field. She is also active as an English teacher for displaced persons at the Kate Bilderbach Neighborhood House here.

Miss Molden resides with her parents at 5125 South Fairfield Ave.

Mr. Rotterman will pursue a sales promotion assignment with the Frigidaire Corporation in Dayton, O.

Information Clinic

Question:

I would like more information about vibrations of heat, color and thought and how high frequency vibrations can be created and measured. Have thought vibrations been recorded to date?

Answer:

The subject of vibrations challenges our imagination to the extreme. Most of us are familiar with the vibrations of tuning forks or piano wires that can vibrate over the range of hearing from 16 vibrations to 16,000 vibrations per seeond.

The frequency of our electric power lines is also a form of vibration. When we use electricity in our homes, the electrons in the power line are oseillating back and forth 60 times per second.

The energy sent out from radio stations in the broadeast bands eovers a frequency range from 500,000 cycles (vibrations per seeond) to 1,500,000 eyeles. The television station operates in the neighborhood of 50,000,000 eycles per second.

These vibrations are only a small portion of the total range of frequency associated with scientific phenomena, where the upper limit is at present around 10,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 cycles per second.

Obviously, there must be a shorthand method of writing such numbers. The standard method is to use the number 10 with an index indicating the total number of zeros in the figure. Thus the large number above with 25 zeros would be written 10^{25}, and 50,000,000 or 50 megacycles is written $5x10^7$.

Far above the highest frequeney of radio signals are vibrations associated with heat and light. The light we are able to see oeeupies a very narrow band on the frequeney seale from $4.3x10^{14}$. to $7.3x10^{14}$. At still higher frequencies, we find ultraviolet light, x-rays, gamma and cosmie rays. The table (shown below) of scientifie phenomena and their vibration frequeneies covers our range of knowledge.

Frequeneies in the range of infrared to ultraviolet can be measured by an instrument ealled a spectrograph, a very valuable seientifie instrument. It has many uses varying from the identification of materials in the stars to revelation of impurities in aluminum used in east aluminum rotors here in Fort Wayne.

Every element, when excited by a high temperature, can be identified with the spectrograph by a characteristie frequency. A spectrogram of aluminum with the iron, silicon and copper impurities as well as the eraracteristic frequency is shown in the photograph at top of page.

Phenomenon	Vibrations per second
Sound	16 to 16,000
Common usage of electricity	60
Radio broadcast	$0.5x10^6$ to $1.5x10^6$
Short wave radio	$1.5x10^6$ to $3x10^{10}$
Heat	10^{11} to $4x10^{14}$
Red light	$4.3x10^{14}$
Yellow light	$5.1x10^{14}$
Green light	$5.5x10^{14}$
Blue light	$6.2x10^{14}$
Violet light	$7.3x10^{14}$
Ultraviolet light	10^{15}—$2x10^{16}$
X-rays	$2x10^{16}$—$2x10^{18}$
Gamma rays	$2x10^{18}$—$8x10^{20}$
Cosmic rays	$8x10^{20}$—10^{25}

Frequency in the lower ranges is measured by electrical circuits. In the intermediate range including heat, light and ultraviolet, instruments similar to the spectrograph are used.

In the higher range, frequency is measured by energy measurements. Frequency of X-rays can be determined by the magnitude of voltage used to produce the X-rays.

Very little is known about thought waves. We do not know how to detect or measure them. We are not even sure they exist. However, electric eurrents, initiated by the brain, have been measured where the frequency is only a few cycles per minute.

Being always on time, but not always buying things that way, makes for a happier life.

Elex to Hold Annual Conference At Camp Limberlost Sept. 22-23

Plans for the Elex Club's 17th Annual Conference were announced this week by Bess Brown, publicity chairman. The two-day session will be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 22-23, at Camp Limberlost, Oliver Lake.

The entire membership is urged to participate, Miss Brown said. The meeting will consist of discussion groups, a luncheon and dinner. It will close Sunday afternoon with the traditional ritual.

Fee for the entire conference will be $9. Members must furnish their own transportation. Reservations should be made in the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St. not later than Monday, Sept. 17.

Central Announces Fall Class Schedule

A schedule of fall classes for Central High's Vocational Adult Evening School have been announced by the Fort Wayne Public School Department of Vocational Education.

Classes are open to all adults, residents or non-residents of Fort Wayne, and any high school student who has secured written permission from his or her principal to take extra work. Registration is complete when the registration form is completed and the course fee has been paid.

Interested persons may enroll at the Vocational Department, Room 160-162, Central High School, or may obtain information by dialing A-2225.

Classes will begin on the following schedule:

Related Apprentice Training—starts Sept. 10-14.

Business Education—starts Sept. 17-21.

Distributive Education — starts Oct. 1-5.

General Interest Education—starts Sept. 25-26.

High School Education—starts Sept. 17-21.

Homemaking Education—starts Sept. 10-14.

Trade Extension Education — starts Sept. 17-21.

The many specific classes available under the general headings above are contained in a folder entitled "Self-improvement Through Adult Education," available at the school.

Partizans Elect

Myrtle Bennett was elected president of the Partizan Chapter of Elex at a meeting last week in Franke Park.

Other 1950-51 officers are Lillian Wolf, vice president; Hilda Martin, treasurer, and Pauline Gilbert, secretary.

Informal Dance Slated Sept. 7 For Test Men

"September Swing" will be the theme of an informal dance sponsored by the Test Engineers Club and the Test Engineers Wives Club, Friday, Sept. 7, in Bojrab Hall from 9 to 12 p.m. for all test men.

An evening of square and social dancing has been planned by the social committees of the two organizations under the direction of Steve Wilson and Mrs. Yvonne McMahon, social chairmen.

Tickets will be on sale at the door that evening. Earl G. Walker will be caller for the square dances.

Bojrab Hall is located on Lahmeyer Road, four and three-fourths miles northeast of Fort Wayne on State Highway 37.

Training Course For Engineers To Begin Oct. 8

The Engineering Training Course will be offered at the Fort Wayne Works beginning Oct. 8, Technical Education Division sources in Schenectady have reported. Members of the 1951-2 class will be selected on the basis of their performance on two preliminary homework assignments, the first of which will be available at the Test Office, Bldg. 18-4, during the week of Sept. 10.

The course will consist of 32 class sessions in which material, some presented in college engineering, will be extended and new concepts will be developed. A homework assignment which will stress the principles presented in class will be given at each session. Occasionally, the assignments will call for creative abilities, the Schenectady Division disclosed.

Purpose of the course is to present the basic principles of technical analysis as applied to industrial design and development in order to help prepare test engineers for positions in those fields. Limitations of analysis will be stressed together with similarity in allied engineering fields.

G-E to Sponsor, Promote Pillsbury Baking Contest

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—General Electric has announced that it will join with Pillsbury Mills in sponsoring and promoting for the third straight year a nationwide baking and recipe contest. Appliance bonus prizes totaling more than $50,000 in value will be awarded winners. G-E will tie in with an advertising campaign of full-page, four-color ads in six mass circulation magazines in the fall.

In order to qualify for the bonus prizes which are given in addition to the cash prizes awarded by the milling company, contestants must secure an entry blank from a G-E major appliance retailer and have it signed by him. A program of store displays and local advertising will identify dealers during the contest.

Finals Slated at N. Y.

Seventy-five senior and 25 junior contestants will be brought to New York in December to compete in the bake-off final at the Waldorf-Astoria. Each contestant will be given the G-E Stratoliner range and mixer that she uses in the contest.

First grand prize winner will receive as a bonus award a complete G-E kitchen; the second prize

Promotions for C. A. Schafianski and S. H. Amstutz in the Large Motor and Generator Manufacturing Division were reported this week by R. M. Hartigan, manager of manufacturing, and R. A. Woehr, production manager.

Mr. Schafianski has been appointed assistant general foreman for Bldgs. 27, 22 and 19-1, while Mr. Amstutz has been named section supervisor in Inventory Control. Both appointments are effective at once.

Mr. Schafianski began with the Company in 1928 as an apprentice machinist toolmaker, graduating in 1933. He worked on various factory operations before transferring to the Large Motor and Generator Division in 1940. In 1943, he was appointed foreman in the Heavy Machining Section. In 1945, he became second shift foreman of Assembly and has performed those duties until his present appointment.

The Schafianski's and their five children live at 2009 Emerson Ave.

Joined G-E in 1948

Mr. Amstutz came to G-E in 1948 as a production trainee in the Large Motor and Generator Division. In Dec., 1949, he transferred to the Advanced Production Training Program with assignments at A and OS Divisions and at the General Office, both in Schenectady, Small and Medium Motor Division at Lynn, District Sales Office in Chicago, and FHP Motor Divisions and Large Motor and Generator Sales Section in Fort Wayne. He completed the training program shortly before his present assignment.

He lives with his wife and daughter at 822 West Creighton Ave.

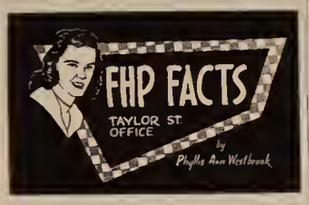
He's going to try his luck on fishing. . . . Mildred Hoover's son is in Germany. Recently he sent home about 300 negatives to be printed. Mildred tells us it will be some time before she can get them all finished. . . . Edith Venrick finally got to work, thanks to Florence Fett. By the way, Florence hasn't located her watch yet. . . . Margaret Parsot can bake good beans. Ask anyone in the Repair Section. . . . Ruth Lange doesn't believe the little neighbor boy when he tells her he has a pet. Are you from Missouri, or don't you like pets? . . . Anyone having a tooth to be pulled ask Alvena how it's done cheap.



ON THE JOB 30 YEARS—Glenn Kline, Bldg. 19-4, celebrated his 30th anniversary with General Electric Aug. 3.

IDEA PAY ADDS TO HOME—William E. Piercy, Bldg. 20-1, is shown making some improvements on his home for which his $115 suggestion award help pay. Mr. Piercy devised a change in the gear ratio on L and N instruments.

LUCKY PERSON: Evelyn Mast is enjoying her two weeks' vacation now at home. How wonderful it must be to be on a vacation. Oh well, most of us only have 49 more weeks until we have ours. . . . ONE FOR THE BOOKS: Dorothy Balens was helping to redecorate the house, standing on all such things that for safety measures one's not to do. When the job was finished, she was standing on a ladder putting a light bulb in and she fell! We're sorry to hear she sprained her back, and hope she will soon feel fine again. . . . FAREWELL: Isabel Bartholomew is transferring to Sales at Broadway. Nan Alexander will move to Philadelphia the first of Septemher. Irene Gruelack is leaving to become a full-time housewife and mother. We wish all of you success and happiness. Don't forget that your friends at Taylor St. will love hearing from you. . . . WELCOME: Delores Connin transferred from Mr. Grueb's division and will be working for F. D. Wilson of Sales. Marilyn Walls is starting to work in the Sales ediphone room. Ruth Walsh is our new co-worker in Purchasing, and Pat Dunn is the newcomer in Accounting, taking Nan Alexander's place. .. . . WRONG NUMBER: Paul Magnuson should learn which extension he is on so in the future he won't interrupt Red Raney's conversation with a "hello—hello, who is speaking please?" Did Paul's face turn red when he discovered that he and Red are on the same extension. . . . I wish to thank Helen Smith, formerly of Customer Billing and now of Accounting, for helping me with this column. She was one of my trusty little spies. Thanks a lot, Helen, I sure did appreciate your help. Here's hoping you enjoy your new job. . . . We're sorry to learn that Mae Bain left work early last week because her eight-year-old daughter was sick. We all hope it was nothing serious. . . . We welcome Al Voltz back again from another Navy cruise. You can relax now, Al, for there are no officers around here, or there were not any at my last check! . . . The Sales Division wishes to thank Eunice Westbrook, who for the past three weeks has been helping us out. Eunice teaches school here in Fort Wayne and at one time, about three years ago, was employed by Sales. She was taking Pat Brueggemann's place, who as you all know is on a leave of absence. Thank you again, Eunice, it really was appreciated. (By the way, Eunice is my sister.)

Don Grepke is leaving to return to International College. . . . Flora Sizemore really enjoys eating beans. She has them every day for lunch. . . . We were sorry to hear "Braunie" is ill and we wish her a speedy recovery. . . . Lois Yager is a grandmother of a new grandson. . . . Jessie Wass wants to know why she was the only one to get a ticket for parking in a no parking zone when other cars were there also. . . . Olga Hayes was presented with a gift from the girls. Olga is going to be a homemaker now. . . . We welcome Dollie Fodge back to work after a recent operation. . . . Charlie Best and Geneva Harter are on the first shift. We feel sorry for you two having to get up so early. . . . We hardly recognized Ruth Raidy with the new hair-do. Ruth and her husband are flying to Cleveland this week-end. . . . Mary got those blisters washing clothes for her niece and nephew who are visiting her.

Baking Contest

winner will get an all-electric laundry including an automatic washer, dryer and flatplate ironer, and the third grand prize winner will get an electric sink with automatic dishwasher and garbage disposer.

A deluxe model wringer washer will be given to each of the six best-of-class winners, while the first prize winner in the junior class will receive a G-E 11-cubic-foot food freezer.

Teenagers Asked To Renew Orders For Magazines

It's subscription renewal time for ADVENTURES AHEAD readers. With the September-October issue of the free 32-page magazine for teen-aged children of General Electric employes, pre-paid subscription renewal blanks are being enclosed.

By having all subscriptions, new subscriptions as well as those of long standing, start at the same time it is believed that better service and more efficient distribution can be given readers. Everyone will know that subscriptions expire with the September-October issue every year. To keep copies coming to your home, remind your child who receives the magazine to fill out and return his pre-paid post card.

For those employes whose children do not subscribe to the bi-monthly magazine, subscription blanks entitling them to free subscriptions may be written on the blank printed below and mailed to Marguerite Fenner, Bldg. 18-3.

G-E Takes 5th Place In Fleet Safety

The Fort Wayne Works placed fifth in the 1950-51 Fleet Safety Contest, sponsored by the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce, with an accident rate of .676, H. L. Smith, safety engineer, said today.

The average accident rate for the class in which G-E participates was 1.188 for 100,000 miles, considerably larger than the G-E rate.

Sixteen fleets of trucks were entered in the contest with a total of 282 drivers and 269 vehicles. They traveled 6,900,240 miles and had a total of 82 accidents.

Going up or going down, Bldg. 31's freight elevator always turns out to be a derrick. The big new printing machine which Davona Britton runs had to be brought in through the window by means of a derrick. The old machine was taken apart and the two pieces were also taken through the window and loaded on a huge platform truck. To lift the machines up and down from the window to the floor, it was necessary to drill a hole in the roof for a pulley to be operated from the roof top. Devona likes the new machine as it is much faster. She averages about 700 prints a day. Last Friday she got out approximately 1,000. . . . Congratulations to Joe Neal. He is no longer a bachelor. . . . You can call Al Braun "gramps." He has a granddaughter. . . . Ray Hamilton accidentally got an extended vacation. On the last day of his three weeks' vacation, he fell on the stairs at his sister's in Wisconsin. He injured his shoulder and hip. We haven't the details, but we hope he is on the mend and will soon return. . . . Our latest visitor was Art Kelker, retired. Art spends his time helping in his son's store and taking his usual walks. . . . Ed Cwiklo finally succeeded in getting the concrete poured for his garage. Ed says, "Mother Nature wouldn't cooperate." Everytime he dug out the place for the cement, it would rain and knock the dirt back in. Ty Schuerman had the same trouble while building his garage. Ty has finished his garage now and his wife, Jean, is helping him paint it. Anyone who wants a garage built just see our experts, Les Schöwe, Ed and Ty. . . . Our new drafting apprentices are Richard Fischer and Jimmie Stroble. We also have another draftswoman. She is Julie Rice, who recently came to Fort Wayne from Markle. She completed our drafting training course.

If you keep looking back, you may go that way.

We are glad to see Ralph Bradtmiller back to work. . . . Elvira Romary, how's Mortimer Snerd? . . . We wonder who Elvira spends so much time with out on the floor. . . . Harry Freeman is still dreaming about catching the big fish in Wisconsin. . . . Edna DeLeary has added a new touch to house painting. She wears shorts as an extra trim. . . . Fred Linker is now growing hair on his head. . . . A speedy recovery to Lillian Mallo, who is now home and out of the hospital. . . . Bernie Ternet is driving a different car. . . . Tom Hildebrand doesn't know the difference between horizontal and vertical. . . . Levi Carpenter has a new way of discharging capacitors on air filtering transformers. . . . We are wondering who Mr. William Slater's secretary is? . . . Dale Stuckey wishes to thank everyone for his going away gift. . . . Emma Meyers, why are you mad at Ted Keller? . . . Joe Peising is now working first shift. . . . Allen Gillum, where do you get those juicy plums? . . . Millie Haslup didn't get to see any bears on her trip to California, but some of the folks did. . . . Congratulations to Vivian Fleckenstein and Betty Warmick, who both have baby girls. . . . Good luck to Edna DeLeary on her new job. . . . We hear Nona Hedges and Garnet slept about three-fourths of the time on their trip and we're wondering if they didn't miss some of the scenery.

Happy days for Marilyn Spice, who began her vacation last Friday. She and her girl friends stayed a week at a dude ranch near Denver, Colo. The remaining time will be spent at Cliff House and Stanley Hotel at Colorado Springs. I hope you all have lots of fun in those wide open spaces in Colorado. . . . Nancy Woodhull has just returned from her wonderful vacation. . . . Mr. Wheeler will be back from his vacation Monday morning. I hear he did some fancy fishing at Tri-Lakes. . . . Audrey Bradfield makes quite a "bachelor" with her parents being away, she must cook her own meals. Hmm, burnt toast is always delicious with 25 minute eggs. . . . Barbara Harville is working in Div. 14 for a few days. She seems to enjoy her change for awhile. . . . Jean Smith and Joyce Grieser visited Judy Krebs and sure enjoyed seeing the movie pictures of their trip to New York. . . . Welcome to Dorothy Favorite, who will be replacing me in Commercial Sales, beginning Monday. . . . Barbara Schuckel will be writing this column in the future. Everyone give her the cooperation that has been given me and I'm sure she will do a fine job. . . . Jean Smith will be our new Elex contact girl and lots of luck to her. . . . Carl Swihart bought a new boat, and it sure is keen. Incidentally, Carl and Gene LaFevour have been doing some frog hunting. They brought back 60 legs, or in other words, 30 frogs. . . . We have another newcomer, Bonnie Johnson, who will be working in Telegraph.

Inquiring Reporter:

"WHO DO YOU THINK WILL GET THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR PRESIDENT IN 1952?"

IRETA GILLIE
Bldg. 26-5

"I believe General Dwight Eisenhower would be the best man, but I doubt if he has enough political influence to get the party nomination. For that reason, I believe that Senator Taft will get the nomination but will have a hard time winning because of the split labor vote."

IVAN DOSTER
Bldg. 6-2

"With very slight deliberation on the subject, I believe Robert A. Taft will be the Republican candidate with Stassen coming in a close second. Taft, by being a very renowned speaker, is able to influence a great majority of the public."

BEN KNUTH
Bldg. 27

"This is a bad question for me to answer because I am not much interested in party nominations since we have no voice or vote in the matter. However, since Dewey has been defeated before, I believe the Republicans will nominate Taft of Ohio for their presidential candidate of 1952."

MILDRED HORMAN
Bldg. 4-3

"MacArthur is my choice because I think he was a great leader in the Far East and because of the great welcome the American people presented him when he arrived in this country. I think he is a great American man."

EDNA S. GUYOT
Taylor St.

"There doesn't seem to be too many capable men from which to choose, but I believe Governor Earl Warren of California rates highest in popularity and record of service."

G-E DEATHS

Conrad Norwalt Dies At Zanesville Home

Conrad A. Norwalt, 72, died at 10:20 p.m. Saturday at his home northwest of Zanesville. Mr. Norwalt had been bedfast for the past seven months.

He joined the General Electric Company in 1918 as a grinder in Bldg. 2-1. After working for several years as an assembler in Bldg. 26-2, he transferred to Winter St. as a packer. Mr. Norwalt worked as a packer in Bldgs. 6-3, 19-5, and 26-4. At the time of his retirement in 1945, he was a leading operator in Fractional Horsepower Motor Div. 1.

Survivors include his widow, Elizabeth; two sons, Gerald R., of Fort Wayne, and Alfred R., of Waynedale; two daughters, Mrs. Arsena Nevus, of Huntington, and Mrs. Mary Clark, of Toledo; eight grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Elzey & Son Funeral Home, Ossian.

Illness Is Fatal To Goldie Roop, 48

Mrs. Goldie Roop, 48, died last Saturday in her home in Decatur following a six-month illness. An employe since November 24, 1945 Mrs. Roop was a winder.

Survivors include five daughters, two brothers, three sisters and her father.

Services were held Tuesday. Burial was in the Decatur Cemetery.

How can Sarah Moore pitch and catch at the same time? . . . Our sincere sympathy to George Marschand on the death of his mother, and to Harry Todd on the death of his sister. . . . Anyone, who is a music lover, asks Gladys Pantazin to sing "Sweet Violets." . . . We wish success to Charles Baron on his new job at Broadway. . . . Beverly Numbers spent Tuesday night with Ollie Ragan near Kendallville. . . . Rosie Johnson held up traffic one day last week while she picked up the contents of her purse from the middle of the street under the red light. . . . Is Gus Harrison thinking of getting a good car? We hear he has been receiving automobile folders through the mail. . . . We hope that Ruth Clark, Mabel Kaufman, Vera Adams, Angeline Meyers, Alma Bowers and Joyce Dodd will soon be back with us. . . . Fred Jackson is the proud owner of a Buick. We hear he might paint it fire red and put a siren on it. . . . Elinor Laux attended the wedding of Alles and Laux at Decatur Saturday. . . . Sydonna Fox attended the Ice Show Saturday night at the Zollner Stadium. . . . The boys in 17x70 and 17x41 would like to know where Ruby Stoops got all the pretty cards she sent them on her vacation. . . . We welcome Robert Smith on day shift from second shift. Hope it won't be too rough getting up mornings, Bob. . . . Congratulations to Ed Saxton on his recent marriage. . . . Clara Gidley returned to work in time to celebrate her birthday with a gift and cake from her co-workers. . . . We wish success to Joe Sweeney and Bill Dunmire, who were transferred to Broadway and Div. 17x20. . . . The group really enjoyed the fish fry that Alma Bowers gave them on her birthday last Thursday at her Blue Lake home. Those present to enjoy the treat were Clara Gidley, Mary Shreve, Lois Burry, Beverly Numbers, Jackie Keller and Ollie Ragan. The evening was spent playing croquet. Jackie had beginner's luck. Later they watched television.

TRUTH WILL OUT: It finally came out about the piscatorial ability of Jake Eady and Buford Dull, who are champions by their own admission in catching those finny mammals of the deep. The story in short is that they promised their friends a big fish fry with the fish they would catch while on vacation. They had the fish fry all right, but it was learned that the perch came from an A&P store in a nearby city. . . . ON THE SICK LIST: Esther Strickler is confined to her home trying to conquer a bad case of poison. Barbara Hurst is also confined to her home because of illness. We hope Esther and Barbara will be back soon. Clarence "Reggie" Geisler is back to work after undergoing surgery. We're glad to have you back, Reggie. . . . Zula Holloway is back with us after an extended absence due to illness and surgery. Welcome back, Zula! . . . DANCING VICTIM? — Norma Bower recently had the misfortune of injuring one of her toes. We heard she was doing a ballet when the incident occurred. Sorry, Norma. . . . SECOND SHIFTERS—Tom Eichhorn left the company for other employment. We're sorry to see you go, Tom. Betty Hough is the morale lifter in the Miscellaneous Assembly Section. Dora Mae Fairchild will now use her skill on the first shift. Grant Fry is back on the second as foreman of the Packing Section replacing Chet McIntosh, who has been assigned to the first shift. . . . Norma Poorman still keeps us in suspense about her weight. . . . THE SALESMAN: We have it from good authority that Alton Andrews is getting to be pretty good as an auctioneer. . . . PLEASANT TRIP: Ed Borne enjoyed sunny California during his vacation. . . . ABSENT-MINDED? NO FISHING-MINDED: On a recent week-end, Walt Lister hurried to the lake on Friday evening and arose early Saturday morning to be the first fisherman out that day. He was so intent upon his fishing trip that he dressed with one work shoe and sock and one dress shoe and sock. . . . LOST AND FOUND — FOUND AND LOST: He had it but then he lost it, only to return later and find it again. But here we go again—he then found that he had lost the other half. If you are interested in knowing, we are talking about Clyde Gould and his pajamas. . . . OLD SMOKY: A past vacation trip through the Smokys was enjoyed by Ada Owens and Mina Lampy. . . . DIZZY HEIGHTS: High upon the ladder, he is painting so diligently. The ladder is slipping, paint container is falling.

Irma Bradtmiller's husband, Ralph, just back from Korea, paid the floor a visit. . . . Benny Cahn had to get rid of one electric razor when he moved into his new home, cramped for space! . . . Len McGee is sure helping the bat girls out. He even brings them drinking water. . . . Les Baker has a new addition to his family. Nope, it isn't a boy or girl; it's a puppy. Les put up such a holler, that his wife finally bought one for him. . . . Clear the highways! Barb Shipman has her driver's license now. . . . "Spider" Webb, we congratulate you for sticking to your diet. The ice cream looks so good. . . . Carl Hanson and Walt Mertz have opened a new club. Contact them from 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for further details. . . . Bill Mills and Loretta Bloom had to apply first aid to Hazel Bennett as a result of an attempted spanking by Bill. Hazel couldn't move her arm after the job of bandaging. . . . Mary Edgar, Lelia White and Sylvia Kien have joined first trick. . . . Mary Wasson's husband took sick on vacation and is confined to a Coldwater, Mich., hospital. . . . Verna Powers reports her son is seriously ill. . . . We're glad to see Dorothy Campbell back after an operation. . . . Mary Lou McLaughlin is back after a long vacation. . . . We hear Delmer Grotian and Gail Harris have the same hobby. In their spare time, they do nothing! . . . School days are here again for Nancy Beebe. Next week she returns to "readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic." . . . Betty Schoeff is now in Hermetic Stacking. . . . Jane Maloney worked so hard biting her nails and pulling her hair, during the G-E-Uhlig's ball game she had to order a chicken dinner afterwards to recuperate. . . . Val Sitcler has returned to work from the fractured rib department. . . . Edna Hall does a lot of reading in her spare time. Educational stuff, too—comic books.

The result is a diseolored eye for Henry Krueckeberg. . . . DREAMER! A dream can be either pleasant or otherwise, but when they get too exciting, Joe Adams doesn't care for any. Now, Joe, if you want to experience such thrills, you should exchange your car for an airplane. . . . SEEING IS BELIEVING: During vacation, a camping trip was enjoyed by Don Sipe and several friends. Don states that this was the first time that he ever discovered that there really were such things as ghosts. Will someone give us the details? . . . SEEING RED: Al Schneider painted his house recently. Some of his friends don't care much for the color. It could be that they don't like red. . . . IT HAPPENS TO LOTS OF US: After spending every week-end and her vacation at the lake, Annabelle Gehrig came to work recently with a real sunburn. She discovered that you can really get a good sunburn while fishing. . . . VIDA WAS SCARED: Oh, oh, what a noise! After getting bold enough to investigate, Vida Lammert found a ruminating animal with long hair making itself very much at home. It was a goat which someone had put in her basement. . . . SYMPATHIES: Goldie Roop, a Decatur Plant employe, died Saturday evening Aug. 25 after an illness of approximately six months. A host of friends at Decatur Plant extend sincerest sympathies to her bereaved family.

TRAVELING DAYS AHEAD—Roy Brown, (left), Bldg. 19-1, will do a lot of traveling to make good use of the luggage his co-workers gave him as a retirement gift. Virgil Brown is shown making the presentation. Roy Brown began working for G-E in 1919 as a trucker. Since then, he has worked in Bldgs. 19-B, 19-1, 19-2, 19-3, 20-1, 16-1, 15 and Winter St.

THE HALF HOUR LUNCH

There are opinions regarding eating,
And to this we do agree;
But squawking about a half hour lunch
Sounds very silly to me.

The Army has its mess,
Sometimes it's called chow;
But, Buster, you eat it—
Just glad to get it, anyhow.

There are no fancy favors
Nor any Smorgasboard lunch;
Whatever it is you eat it,
Even a cold sandwich that you munch.

We've eaten in places
Infested with cockroaches and flies.
It happened a lot of times,
And to a lot of guys.

We've eaten on the walk.
And have eaten on the run,
One-handed too, brother,
The other on your gun.

So, when I see how squeamish
Some of the die-hards feel,
Over a half hour noon recess
And a simple noon day meal.

I think of the Army boys,
Who eat and fight on the run;
How if they had just thirty minutes
With no reminder of a gun.

Now to those who think our cafeteria,
Is not the fitting place to eat,
I'm sure a dose of Army life
Would put them on their feet.

I sometimes just wonder who
It is that does not enjoy,
This extra time we have at night
That we can so easily employ.

Of course, you always find them
In every walk of life;
But it sounds very much to me,
Like someone trying to avoid his wife.

BIG SMOKE: That downtown fire had nothing on J. McKim. He had a smudge pot fire in his waste basket. A lot of people thought it smelled like Mac's pipe. . . . NO MISTAKE: "Hop-a-long" Kirlin was accused of limping on the wrong leg when he used a cane last week. This week he is using crutches so the accusations can't be repeated. . . . WELCOME to Bonnie Leazier, who took Nadeen Bright's place. . . . We would like to welcome Norma Jane Close to the DC division. Norma reports to Bob Loveland as an engineering assistant. Her home town is Spencerville, Ind., and she is a graduate of Indiana University. . . . P. Zahn's office welcomes a recent Central graduate, Jackie Curie. . . . Welcome to LaDonna Gully, a new draftsman in the AC division. She came here from the drafting training school in Bldg. 8-2. . . . REVERSES TRADITION: Instead of Margaret Taylor paying her dentist for his services, he had to give Margaret a quarter to come back to work. She claims she left her billfold in her desk. . . . A LESSON: We hope the Ozzie Lacertes are cured when it comes to leaving Pretty Boy (their parakeet) have the run of the house. Last week Pretty Boy made a swoop over the stove and fell in (believe it or not) the hot gravy. Ozzie washed him as well as he could under the faucet, but poor Pretty Boy worked night and day getting that horrid grease out of his feathers. . . . LOTS OF LUCK: Lilian Dougherty was honored at a private dinner party by the engineering secretaries at the Yacht Club. Lilian is leaving us this week, and we wish her all the luck and good wishes in the world. We'll all miss her very much. . . . CONGRATS: A very happy birthday to Ray Devere Jones Sunday, Sept. 2. . . . BUG EATING: The other day while Lela Omspach was talking, a bug flew in her mouth. In her haste to do something, she swallowed it. Was it any good, Lela?

How GE Helps Em

After 19-year-old Gordon Allen registered at his local draft board, he was given an examinatian by his own physician. He was found to be physically fit and was classified as 1-A.

Withaut dependents, Gordon was subject to early induction, but because of his desire fo special training he decided to enlist in the U. S. Coast Guard. He speaks ta foreman L. E. Fai field, Develapmental Machine Shop, Pittsfield, far time off to take Caast Guard phy ica

At the U. S. Coast Guard recruiting office in Boston, he makes opplication for enlistment, passes the required physicol and is accepted for service.

Having taken the week's vacation he had coming to him, he stops in at the plont to say goodbye to fe low workers in the Apprentice Course, receives their well wishes, and is presented with a going-away remembrance

Gardon's supervisor, M. S. Anthony, signs his removal notice which has been made out for him, congratulates him on the interest he has shown in his wark, and urges him to return to his GE job after his military service.

Interviewed by E. W. Fox, Personnel Division, he has an opportunity to discuss his assaciatian with GE during the post year, his re-employment rights, and his benefits under the various GE Employee Benefit Plans

loyees Entering The Armed Forces

APPROXIMATELY 5,670 GE employees ore now in military service—more than enough to moke up six ormy battalions. Hundreds of these GE people hove received their "greetings" since the Korean conflict begon. Hundreds more, reservists and notionol guordsmen, hove returned to active duty, while hundreds af athers have enlisted.

In order ta moke the chongeaver fram civilion life ta military service os eosy as possible, the Company provides speciol benefits for these emplayees. The new policies and poy procedures apply to thase who have been colled since July 1, 1950 or who will be colled in the months ahead.

The Company grants emplayees a leave of absence; gives o manth's pay ta those who hove worked a yeor or more at GE, plus ony vacotion poy that eligible employees hove coming to them. Under the Insurance Plan, life insuronce may be continued for 120 days upan payment af the regular cantributions. Participonts in the Pension Plon will be given credited service of up ta four years in the ormed forces. Upan application for re-emplayment after dischorge from military service, they will be restored under specified conditions ta like positians of seniority and pay, and reinstated in the benefit plons in which they porticipoted before leaving the Company.

Pictured an these poges is o Pittsfield Warks emplayee, Gordon G. Allen, being assisted os he leaves the Company for service in the U. S. Coast Guard.

He gets his last poy check ond the Military Duty Allowance Form from Mary Broderick, payroll clerk. When he returns this form signed by his commanding officer, GE will then mail him the military allowonce of one month's pay.

Arriving at the U. S. Coast Guard station at New London, Conn., his uniforms are issued to him and he packs his "civies" to send home.

He asks his commanding officer, Lt. Commonder W. F. Adoms, to sign his Military Duty Allowance Form, and mails it to the Company.

The day Gordon leaves, he finds that soying goodbye to his mother and his two brothers, Leslie and Donald, is a lot easier with a GE job waiting upon his return, and his mother looking after his interests at home.

Here Mrs. Allen, his mother, deposits Gordon's GE military allowance check for a month's pay, to clean up current expenses he may have had and to help continue his private insurance progrom.

Returned Vets Give First-Hand Report on Korea

Today they are punching-in at the time clock in the morning and punching out at night. After work they go home to their wives and kids like a lot of other guys, have a hot meal, work around the yard, read the papers and, all-in-all, lead lives like many other American citizens.

A few short weeks ago, things were different. Meals weren't so warm or tasty, sacks weren't so comfortable and the wives and kids were just sweet memories. Things were different then—because these guys were fighting a war in Korea.

Typical of the ever-increasing number of returning vets are Ralph Bradtmiller, Bldg. 26-3, and Harold Trautman, Bldg. 26-5.

Ex-machine gunner Bradtmiller

A veteran of World War II with 39 months of service, 30 of those overseas with the 33rd Division in the Pacific, Ralph was called to Army Service from the inactive reserves in Sept., 1950. Following two weeks training in the States, he was sent to Korea as a machine gunner in the bloody but famed Seventh Division. Although his outfit "caught a lot of heck," as Ralph puts it, he was fortunately discharged from active service without a scratch a week and a half ago.

Now a transformer assembler, Ralph doesn't have much to say about his experiences. In answer to questions put forward by the WORKS NEWS, he gave the following answers:

Q.: What do you and your buddies think of the political decision to fight the North Koreans, and, later the Chinese.

A. "Personally, and I think many of the fellows over there feel the same, I believe we had to draw a line against the Communists somewhere. None of us wanted to be there but someone had to do the job."

Q. Do the fighting men feel people should be more aware of what is going on in Korea? Are the boys satisfied with the support they are getting from the home front?

A. "A lot of times the fellows feel kind of 'letdown'. Although we didn't have nearly enough equipment when I was first there, we received almost everything we asked for and needed after we were over there awhile."

Q. How was the chow?

A. "Okay. We had regular rations."

Q. What is your opinion of enemy tactics and weapons?

A. "The Chinese are good soldiers although some of them we captured didn't even know they were fighting Americans. Mostly, they used Japanese tactics. Much of their equipment was captured American stuff, although they used a lot of Russian equipment, too. Most of our casualties were caused by small arms fire. They weren't as expert with the mortars as the Japs. In fact, they didn't have much mortar or artillery fire. We didn't have to worry about supporting enemy aircraft but we camouflaged just in case!"

Q. Are the enemy casualties as high as our press and radio reports tell us?

A. "Well, yes. A lot of their casualties are estimated. They have suffered a lot killed, especially as a result of our air strikes, I've seen them piled up high. We lost a lot of people ourselves, especially in the infantry."

Q. What do you think of the South Koreans?

A. "We each had a ROK as a buddy for awhile. They are okay but they seem to fight better as a separate unit as they are doing now. We'll have to watch them. They don't want to stop at the 38th Parallel and want to keep the war going."

Q. Do you think the South Koreans had anything to do with the recent breakdown of the peace negotiations?

A. "Maybe. There is still a lot of guerilla action going on, even far down in the South."

From Fighting 38th

Our other recent returnee, Harold Trautman was also called from the inactive Army Reserve in October, 1950. A World War II vet, Harold had already logged 46 months of service in the Pacific, having served much of that time with the fighting 38th Division in New Guinea and the Philippines.

Ex-mortar man Trautman

Now a leading operator here at G-E, he arrived in Korea Jan. 15,1951, following 15 days of training in this country. According to his own modest account, Harold says he wasn't with a "forward" outfit much of the time. Actually, he was in charge of getting mortar ammunition by trucks to the front, which was seldom more than 15 miles above the depot.

Like his fellow employe, Ralph Bradtmiller, Harold says he can't kick too much for chow. Mail was also pretty regular, around every eight days, he disclosed.

According to Harold, he believes that most of the fellows fighting for the U. N. weren't too sure just why they were in Korea, although the Army made various endeavors to inform them. All in all, the fellows were enthusiastic to a greater or lesser degree according to their personalities, Harold said. Some believed in a cause—some of them didn't. Darn few wanted to be there.

Harold also substantiated Ralph's statement about the Reds using a lot of American equipment. Harold believes that while much of it was captured during our retreat, some of it was given to the Chinese up until about 1949. The Chinese didn't have so much of our ammunition, he reported. He says the Chinese are there because they have to be and are not too wholehearted about the deal.

Koreans Stole Uniforms

The South Koreans are pretty bad off, he said, but he was rather unhappy when they stole his uniforms and other equipment from him when he first arrived in that unhappy land.

Personally, he is glad to be at home with his wife and two girls, on Witchwood Drive in Waynedale.

Also married, Ralph Bradtmiller has a three-year-old boy. His wife, a G-E employe in Bldg. 26-5, kept the home fires burning in the Bradtmiller residence at 5035 South Hanna St.

WELCOME: Donna Jones, Mary Lee Flick, Carla Parker, Maurice (Zirk) Rogers, Jim Howell and Betty Huett have joined us from nights. . . . Delores Schinbeckler received a new stove from her husband on their fourth anniversary. . . . It has been revealed that Betty T. is in the wrong business. She has a hidden art talent. . . . Doris Briner leaves us for college in South Carolina. . . . Marie DeVaux is on sick leave. Hope you will be back with us soon, Marie. . . . Tillie Hautch is one of those lucky ones. She is on vacation this week. . . . Why is Freddie S. always teasing Helen? . . . Elmer Harshman traveled 6,500 miles on his trip west. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Bea Stolte, Aug. 23. What Bea received for her birthday we won't tell, but it was not exchangeable, even though Bea thought it was used. . . . Any Indian Squaws around? Pondo is looking. . . . Congratulations to Ed Allen on the birth of a new daughter Aug. 23. . . . Ask Carl where he buys his baseball tickets. . . . Esther Johnson has a different car now, a Studebaker. . . . Pondo and Ralph L. went out for those long promised hot dogs after work one day. We're not saying what happened, but it seems Lee didn't get home until 7 p.m. and since then he had had the silent treatment from you-know-who. . . . Elmer H. thought it time to step in and help his buddies out. He stopped all arguments about hot dogs and brought in a bucket of wieners and buns for lunch. Ralph was to bring onions, and Pondo, mustard, but all they brought was their appetites. . . . Paul Brandt has been giving his wife lessons on how to cut hair. Her first job was on Paul. Why did you let her use the pinking shears, Paul? . . . The fellows in Test and Inspection went bowling last week. Andy started the season in great shape when he fell flat on the first ball he threw. As for the scores, Pondo didn't win a game. . . . Les Hubartt has returned from his vacation of motoring through Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. . . . Freddie Clark is beginning to be quite a guy at euchre. If he doesn't know whether to order his partner or not, he studies for five minutes and then passes.

Jim Hilfiker and Tony Kazelis are now the proud owners of a house in New Haven. What we would like to know is when the wedding is going to be. . . . Les Hahn, who was discharged from the Army last week, was up to see us today. He looks very sharp in his uniform. The only thing missing is his paratrooper wings. Les plans to return to work in two weeks. . . . It's rumored that Wendell Miller has a new girl friend and keeps her in a glass box. . . . Hank Lantz looks kinda half shot after two hilarious days of the "Fall Festival" at Leo (unincorporated). . . . Old "P. I." Ornold is back again after recovering from a dose of poison ivy. It seems that one of Dick's sheep fell and broke its neck and they had to bury him (the sheep, not Dick) and naturally Dick had to pick the place with the most poison ivy. . . . Peter John Eberhardt finally got the new roof on his garage. It's a little lumpy in spots but I guess it will keep the rain out. . . . George Owens is on vacation this week and Paul O. has to carry the full load. Wonder if he'll make it. . . . Question of the week is "What holds Maurie's pants up when he forgets his belt?" . . . Famous last words are "Leave him alone. He knows how to rob a train."

Welcome to Geneva Harter and Charles Best to first shift. . . . Maggie Moore has trouble with her fish being short on one end. . . . Norm Wolf had his third week of vacation during the golf tournament. Now he's charging one dollar for lessons. Probably not much business, eh, Norm? . . . A very speedy recovery to Mary Satterwaite. . . . Esther Schladenhauffen drove 180 miles just for a reunion and then got all wet. She says it was worth it though. . . . The sound room had a tragedy. EMPLOYES OFFERED PAY HIKE, COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS

This week the Company announced that it had proposed for General Electric employes an adjustment in wages on September 15 based on a total of (1) one per cent increase in wages for each one per cent increase in the cost-of-living index since March 15 and of (2) another two and one-half per cent, subject to wage stabilization approval.

The Company has also proposed that wages be adjusted up or down automatically next March 15, in accordance with changes in the cost-of-living index. If such automatic adjustments are still then permissible under government regulations.

These proposals of the Company were announced last Tuesday afternoon, after having been made to the various unions representing General Electric employes and after similar assurance to non-union employes that adjustments like those discussed with the unions would be requested of the WSB for employes not represented by unions.

L. R. Boulware, G-E vice president, stated that the proposed escalator adjustments were based on the national wage policy recently announced by the Wage Stabilization Board and approved by stabilizer Johnston.

The additional two and one-half per cent adjustment—which would require Wage Board approval—is offered in this instance to match similar wage adjustments that have recently been allowed to employes of other companies. Boulware emphasized that, while this appears to be above the new stated WSB policy for general adjustments, the Company believes it is in keeping with the exceptions the WSB has been allowing for companies in like circumstances in the general area of General Electric Operations.

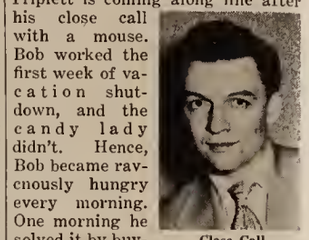
Mr. Boulware further commented that "our offer simultaneously to half a hundred unions and to our many thousands of non-union employes — following months of studying trends and of discussions in Washington—is another step in our program of voluntarily seeking for all our employes equally the fairest possible pay and benefits."

It was not so long ago that we were startled by the news of an airplane which traveled at the speed of sound (as much as 1,266 feet per second). But now American industry is turning out 14 different types of planes which can fly even faster than the speed of sound!

By Don Clark

Anyone interested in driving lessons see Paul Shive. He hsa been teaching the little woman how not to get caught going the wrong way on a one-way street, especially if there's a nice policeman standing nearby. . . . Ever hear of the midnight raid of E. Schmitt's melon patch? There hasn't been a raid yet, but we have visions of some pretty luscious melons. . . . DIE PLANT—Something we would all like to see is Johnny Schuchhardt without a toothache. . . . With a little doubt in our minds, we listened while Harold Buell and Bob Roy explained the sunburn received while working in Taylor St.'s heat treat section. . . . Mrs. Don Clark has found a way to cut her food budget down. Her phone rang and immediately she answered "meat loaf" to win a basket of groceries on a radio program. . . . Jack Schemehorn and Clayton Roquet told Walter Esterline they would be up to his cottage at Tri-Lakes early Saturday morning for breakfast and then fishing. We understand these two worm fishermen never showed up at all. Mrs. Esterline had to throw away enough cold bacon and eggs to feed an army. To top it off, Walt went down and caught his limit of eight-inch bluegills. . . . Did you get a treat from Lloyd Welbaum? He is now the proud grandfather of a baby boy. Also we congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones on the arrival of a baby boy. . . . Kurt Martin caught a bad cold at the ice show. Kurt was sitting there in his shirt sleeves puffing on a big fat cigar, while all the people around him were dressed in overcoats and wrapped in blankets. . . . Lee Schnepp is now considered the home run king of the Tool Division after the torrid batting pace he is setting with the Apprentice Alumni. . . . This Week's Tall One: Our famous outlaws, Woody Hursh and Bill Mowry, both claim they are deputy game wardens. They count their own game and fish in Chinese. That is why it comes out over the limit when they give their report. . . . Charlie Bracht took interest in an old tattered lady selling "hobo news" while he was on a chartered tour this summer. He got everyone on the bus to buy a paper from her. . . . Big, dark and handsome Harold Blauvelt claims his crop of whiskers doesn't bother him a bit since he's doing it for a worthy cause, the Monroeville Centennial. . . . Don Willeke's absence from work last Friday was excusable. He was watching his two boys win first and fourth prizes with their pigs at the 4H Fair. . . . Some Churubusco fans think that Jay Gaff should get glasses before umpiring any more softball games. . . . Mrs. John Inches had a lot of house cleaning to do after the family spent a week-end away from home. A squirrel slid down the chimney and sort of rearranged things while they were gone. . . . Dick Pohler thought he could become one year older without passing out the treats but he finally saw the light. . . . Frank Woenker and Robert Brodrick have added some prestige to our division. Each one was able to lead his Little League teams to divisional championships. . . . Ralph Baysinger was rather shy about leaving work a little early recently. Somehow he had a date with a Justice of Peace. No, he didn't get married. The wheels on his car were going around too fast to suit a certain neighboring town policeman. . . . That stranger around the Die Plant this week is Bob Sowards, who has been living in California for the past five weeks.

Mr. Whiskers



When Bobby Black goes fishing at night, he always listens for the 10 o'clock curfew to blow. . . . They say Louie Ditton was one of the best snipe hunters around Columbia City in his younger days. . . . On a recent fishing trip, Leonard Floyd and Russell Moore took their wives along for the ride. It turned out that Leonard and Russell went along for the ride as the women caught the fish! . . . Willard Smith was in the hospital for a treatment. During his stay there, another Smith was in the same room who was to have an operation. They got the wrong Smith on the cart and into the hall before they found out that it was the other man they wanted. Willard got off that cart and back in bed before the interns knew what had happened. . . . Vern Burkett is back and looking in fine shape. . . . Paul Shaffer, the great hunter, bagged an unusual squirrel while hunting. The tail, instead of being bushy, had feathers and the head had a beak. The color was a bit unusual for a squirrel; it was blue! Could this have been a blue-jay, Paul? . . . Congratulations to Betty Burnett Warnick. Betty is a former co-worker, and she has a new daughter. . . . Anyone wanting to have their cigars balanced see Ray O'Brien. He has developed a new art and is quite an expert! . . . Fern Hollowell had an increase in her family—the mammy doll she got down south! . . . Everett Lindeman got so excited when he went to have his picture taken he forgot to tend to business before he left. . . . Kathryn Gilbert is on her vacation this week and so is Ruth Tutwiller. Ruth went to see her nephew who is in the Marines down in North Carolina. . . . Roger Williams forgot to take the tops of his pajamas off the other day. They just couldn't make shirts that loud! . . . John Figley got a laugh when the barber in Michigan asked him if he used a blow-torch to shave with. . . . The boys wonder if when his tomatoes run out if he'll start bringing apples, but then maybe Jake doesn't like apples. . . . Violet Elliott let out such a scream when the five mice jumped out of the box at her that it almost caused a panic. . . . Julia Honhaus entertained with a dinner party in honor of Eunice Taylor, Joan Read and Mary Parents. Two of them left for school and the other had a birthday.

A dictatorship is a nation where men once had freedom, but didn't use it.

We are happy to say that Bob Triplett is coming along fine after his close call with a mouse. Bob worked the first week of vacation shutdown, and the candy lady didn't. Hence, Bob became ravenously hungry every morning. One morning he solved it by buying a candy bar from Ruth Bullerman (even though she had it hid in the card file on her desk). But, what Bob still doesn't know is that the candy bar, already sampled by a mouse, was in the card file to test whether or not the mouse could get in the file. It seems that both Bob and the mouse enjoyed the same candy bar (not at the same time, of course). . . . Harold Fisher looks like a different man since his crew-cut is growing out. For a few weeks, He was known as "Bobby Sox Harold. . . . Our welcome mat is out to Bernard Dwyre, who is on test and hails from Decatur, and to Robert Frentrop, who is also on test. . . . Joe Behm is on vacation this week and is planning on a few days in Pittsburgh. . . . Ruth Bullerman comes to work lately with aching muscles and sore back since she is redoing the floors in her newly purchased home.

Q-C Adds Three Acts to Outing Plans

Three top-flight entertainment acts, in addition to Roy Neuman and his Wonder Dogs, have been booked for the Annual Quarter Century Club Outing slated for Sept. 8 at Camp Limberlost, Oliver Lake.

According to Ralph Heminger, QCC entertainment chairman, the acts will include Jerry Stern, star of the Hotel Stevens ballroom show, performing on the accordion, trumpet, piano and drums; the talented young Freddy Wolthing exibiting his unicycle and juggling feats, and comedians McFarland and Brown offering fun and fast tricks straight out of New York and the State Fair circuit.

Other Entertainment Planned

By popular request of QCC members, Mrs. Mildred Germanson and Robert Cocherille will again present several vocal numbers, courtesy of Jack Wainwright of Limberlost Camp.

Over 1,200 members have already returned cards signifying their intention to attend the outing, H. L. Smith, invitations chairman, said this week.

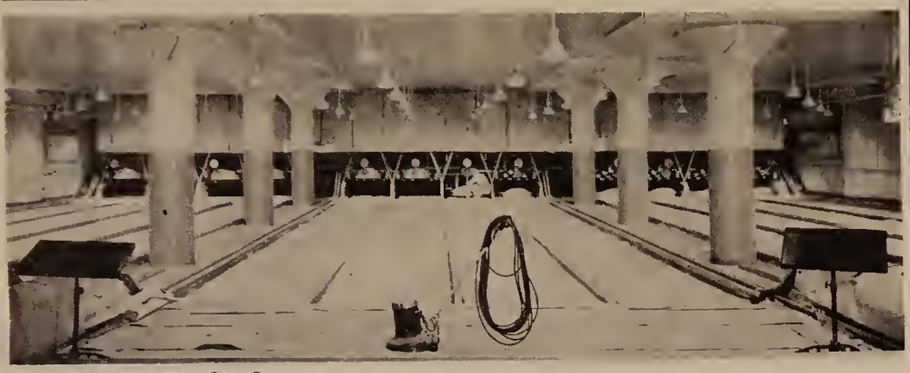
TIMES UP: Is it true, Nolan Riley, that your doctor can see, hear and cure all for just two bucks? You should know by now that your nine days are up. Have you been taken or cured? . . . BIG STORY: Nelson (Busco) Arnold outdid the Beast of Busco story and came up with one about catching 90 bluegills which dressed at 48 pounds. . . . HOT ROD: Recently John Ruhl provided an extra thrill at the South Anthony Speedway when his jalopy caught fire. The state police had to rush to the scene to put it out. John says if he had been lucky enough to have had the whole inside burn out, he would have been eligible to enter the race. If you are sincere, John, mayhe we can help you. We're flushed with matches. . . . DEAD SPARROWS: After the reeent hail storm, Fred Ramsier came in with the story that it hailed so hard and so mueh that his neighbor gathered up three five-gallon pails of dead sparrows. Not to be outdone, Bill Irwin told us that his cousin down in Arcola, Ind., gathered up three bushels. Now, I suppose you are wondering just how many dead sparrows there actually were? Before we can tell you that, we must wait for another hail storm in order to find out just how many sparrows there are to a gallon. . . . RETIRING: Walter (Bing) Englebrecht is retiring today after 39 years of service. It's been swell working with you, Bing, and our sincere wish to you is that the Good Lord will bless you with good health a long and happy life. A party was given for Bing last Saturday night and he was presented with a Dalmatian dog and a purse filled with greenbacks. Bing, being chairman of our safety committee, also was given a pair of old worn-out safety shoes. . . . HOSPITALITY DELUXE: Aaron (Porky) Schoenefeld went to Nebraska to visit his in-laws. Sixty miles from his destination, his father-in-law met Porky with a truck and promptly loaded Porky and his family on the truck (as the picture below will show). Now, you are probably saying to yourself, I don't see anyone in Porky's car. Well, that's easily explained.

Hospitality Deluxe

Porky's asleep in the back seat. Such hospitality Porky says he has never seen before. When we asked him if all the people in Nebraska were that hospitable, all he would say was, "Ya Vohl, Ya Vohl." (Boy what a character.) Since we are known to tell nothing but the truth, here's what actually happened. The old wreck broke down. Since there wasn't a mechanic within miles who would touch the jalopy for fear it would fall apart, Porky's in-laws took pity on him and loaded the old junker on their truck. P.S. As an aet of gratitude, Porky brought his in-laws back home with him for a free chicken dinner. When we asked him for how long, he said he didn't know. . . . WE WELCOME to the Wire Division Rowan R. (Dick) Carlton, who hails from North Manchester, Ind. Dick is working in the Wire Lab. A graduate of Wabash High School, he attended Manchester College. His hobbies include amateur movies, sailboating and swimming.

Amateur photography—and that means black and white, color snapshots, and have movie making—keeps 35 million families clicking one or more cameras every year. That makes it by far the most popular active family hobby in the country. Not even golf, fishing or hunting has half this number of yearly participants.

Lots of changes have taken place since last week. Alice Justus is back on nights and Beverly Roebuck, on days. Welcome to Vera Neate and Elva Hosstetler to group 1x29. . . . Warning to Bldg. 6-4! That new package of dynamite in the assembly group is Jo Lee Zimmerman. We will miss you, Jo. . . . Would someone please bring some bird seed for Cliff Garrison? He wasn't singing the other day, so we figured he hadn't had his quota of the sing and whistle food. . . . Vernon LaFuze got a toaster for his wedding gift from the gang. Incidentally, Vernon says he isn't henpecked yet, but he can't tell us that when he kneels on a cleaning rag. . . . Our siek list elaimed two more last week. Leona Yarbrough is back after an attack of the flu, and Evelyn Braun is off with a case of the shivers. . . . Sweater time is here again and the loud colors are all the go. And stepping out in style are Eula Laisure with her very bright pink and Joan Armstrong with her chartruese. Very pretty, girls. . . . Reggie Enggeman has a new pronunciation for the word "toupe." It's strictly original, too. . . . How lucky can you get! Dale Stalter had a large dish of home made iee cream brought up to him. That is really service with a smile. And, he didn't even offer us a bite. . . . Delores and Jack Daugherty wants to thank the gang for their heautiful wedding gift. . . . Leona Yarbrough, Barbara Ray and Laura Black are leaving us this week. We would like to see all of you back hefore long. . . . Pearl Micheals must not be too good at mathematics. For each year of her married life, on the anniversary, the Micheals put a bean in the bean pot. Now Pearl couldn't remember how many beans there were. She and hubby disagreed on how many years and so they started counting beans. From last report, hubby was right.



VACATIONS — E. F. Waldschmidt returned Monday after his three weeks' vacation in Michigan, and Ruth Fritz completed her two weeks at home. . . . The lure of the "Old Home Town" attracted Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wylie to Niagara Falls for their third weeks' vacation. . . . TELEGRAPH — Bldg. 18-4 now boasts of its new Telegraph Section, and we extend a welcome to Kittie Cooper, who is the chief operator. She was formerly located in Bldg. 6-2. . . . OUR WELCOME AND GOODBYE —Mary Brownfield of Procedures, Bldg. 16-3, is leaving us this week. She is going with her husband who is furthering his theological training. We have enjoyed her friendship and regret to see her leave, but we are pleased that she and her husband are moving ahead. Rose Mary Seifert, formerly of Chicago, is taking Mary's place and we hope that she will like her associations here. . . . Margaret Louise Hills is replacing Janet Horne in the General Superintendent's office. . . . Martin Zernick, a Manufacturing Training Course member, is now located in Mr. Wylie's office on a six week assignment. . . . We extend to Lou Rotterman our very best wishes for success in his new venture and wish to offer Virginia Molden our congratulations on her assignment as WORKS NEWS Editor. . . . SYMPATHY—Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Slater in the death of Mrs. Slater's father. . . . ELEX MEMBERSHIP DRIVE —Your Elex membership drive is now in full swing. Let's all join and make Bldg. 18 the first 100 per cent group! . . . MOVING—Gladys Forst and her husband are moving this week to 2508 Thompson Ave. . . . LABOR DAY VACATION—Three days to labor or play. Please try to remember all of our G-E safety teachings and come back to work Tuesday ready to start all over again. . . . BIRTHDAYS—Mary Cooper, Bldg. 18-2, celebrated her birthday last week with the usual ice cream and cake. . . . Clifford Bieber, Bldg. 18-2, celebrated his birthday during the vacation period. Our belated congratulations to you both. . . . Welcome to Steve Kelker, who will be working in the Labor Relations office for a while. . . . From all reports, we would say that Bldg. 18 was well represented at the golf tournament last Sunday as well as at "Holiday On Ice."

So Long, Mary

BOWLING SEASON BEGINS SEPTEMBER 3

Bowler's Delight — Shown are the G-E Club bowling alleys now being refinished for the big season ahead. According to Charlie Wilt, Club manager, many individual and team openings are still available to employes. Further information may be obtained by phoning Mr. Wilt at 742.

Keglers Will Compete On Refinished Alleys

There are plenty of individual and team openings in practically all leagues bowling in the completely renovated G-E Club, Charlie Wilt, club manager, emphasized this week. Prospective bowlers should not feel that they must necessarily belong to a team or "some clique" in order to enjoy bowling or the many other facilities offered at their club, Mr. Wilt explained.

The entire club has been repainted; alleys, gym floor and stage have been refinished, new steps have been installed in the entrance, pool and billiard tables have been put into first-class shape, lounge furniture has been recovered, new bench pads for bowlers have been installed and even the familiar eolumn in the pool and billiard room has been replastered.

In the gym, insulation is being applied to cover the walls for better aeoustics, a new public address system and stage footlights have been added and new, leather-covered blue and blonde gym ehairs have been purchased. In addition to the many other changes, a huge, electrically-driven movie screen will provide elearer and bigger motion pictures for employes, Mr. Wilt disclosed. Even new clocks have been bought, he added.

New Foul Detector

One of the most spectacular additions to the bowling alleys is a new automatic foul line detector which, operated by small eleetric eyes, rings a loud alarm-like bell and indicates the alley number when a bowler's toes cross the foul line.

Alleys will be available for open bowling Sept. 3 from 5 until 10 p.m. and league competition will begin Sept. 10, bowling reporter Joe Kramer revealed this week.

Prospective bowlers or teams should phone Mr. Wilt on extension 742. Five teams are needed for the Wednesday, 8:30 p.m. league, alone, he said after extending a welcome to all employes.

Employes' boys of 16 years or older are also needed as pin-setters, Mr. Wilt added.

It used to be that the Owl Golfers would be willing to drive to the Brookwood links from Decatur, Leo, Garrett or even Angola to keep their team from losing a match by forfeit. Those must have been the "good old days." The last session of league play was the most disappointing that I have had as secretary of the Owl Golf league. Out of the four scheduled matches only one was played. The Putters, Traps and Flags lost by forfeit.

It looks like the competitive interest of the sport has given away to, "if I don't win, I'll quit," attitude.

Only one week remains in the regular season's play and then the playoff. The playoff is as follows: The league winner draws a bye into the final 18-hole playoff competing against a round robin tourney winner of the next four plaees. The second place plays the fourth place and the third plaee the fifth place team. This will be over the front nine. These two winners will play the baek nine on the following day to deeide who meets the league winners for the championship.

In the only match of the day, the fifth place Brassies led by Dave Mumma, who shot a 44, hung a 4-point defeat on the fourth place Spoons. This almost cinches a playoff berth for Ormsby's lads, who are 20 points ahead of the Bunkers in sixth place. Pappy Garland, the "Old Faithful" of the Spoons, led the lads with 42 strikes at the little white pellet.

Small Motor eame from behind a five-run deficit to defeat Works Lab, 8-7, in eight innings. Zimmerlee drove Stricat home with the winning run. Kiester allowed the Lab team only five hits. He was almost invincible after the first when Works Lab scored five runs on five walks, two errors and a hit batter. Greider gave up eight hits and walked five Small Motor batters. Bob Holman homered for the Lab in the second.

Taylor St. rang up another win, beating Test Engineers, 11-3. Red Butler gave the Testmen only two hits and struck out six. Taylor St. six hits were well distributed. Rife got two, a single and a triple.

The Firemen smothered Motor-Generator, 23-0. No score book was turned in on the game. The only thing we can say is that Jerry Weber pitched his usual excellent game and got ample support from his teammates.

Apprentice Alumni defeated Winter St., 10-6.

Owls Down Zollner A In Playoff, 6-1

by Bill Geist

The G-E Owls displayed lots of power downing Zollner A, 6-1, to win the first game of the play-off. G-E finished second in the standings and met the fourth-place team while Salisbury finished third and met the fifth-place team, Zollner B. The winner of this elimination meets Indiana Rod and Wire for the best of three games.

Tiny Baker greeted Lang of Zollner with a single. Ray Scherer flied out. Cliff Grimes was safe on an error, Baker going to third. A wild pitch scored Baker and Grimes moved to second. Bebe Blauvelt drove one over left center for a homer. The net result was three big runs in the first inning on two hits.

In the fourth inning, Ken Zurbuch led off with a single over second. Jerrie Jacobs followed with a single that scored Zurbuch.

In the fifth, Tiny Baker and Ray Scherer hit successive home runs over the left fielder's head. Cliff Grimes followed with a single, but was stranded on the base paths.

Pitcher Bud Hower held the opposition to three singles before being hit on the arm by a batted ball. In the seventh, he gave up two doubles, good for Zollners lone run.

Pitcher Lang of the Zollners had three for three to lead the opposition's five hits.

The G-E Owls wound up the 1951 softball campaign losing to Salisbury in the second game of the playoffs. G-E outhit the auto men 10 to six, but some free passes ot Salisbury and erratic base running on the part of G-E cost it the ball game.

The play was exciting and feeling tense throughout the game. Salisbury was down three to two, going into the seventh and last inning. Parrish led off with a single. Heisner doubled, scoring Parrish. Wright singled, Heisner going to third. Chappel hit a fly hall to deep center to Cliff Grimes. Heisner scored after the catch and the ball game went to Salisbury, who meets Indiana Rod and Wire for a best of three series.

Dotty Collins led her G-E gals to a victory over Uhlig's at Packard Park last week.

Gert Koldewey pitched the winning game, allowing only five hits, and hit a two-bagger in the eighth, scoring the winning run. Batting was evenly distributed with Koldekey, Getty and Nicodemus getting doubles and Rogers laying down two beautiful bunts.

Uhlig's Whonsetler provided thrills by getting a triple in the sixth and slamming a double in the seventh. Jerry Schweizer, Uhlig's short stop, made a beautiful catch in the sixth, stopping a hard hit hall by Goeglein which would have scored a run.

Koldewey and Drewett made up G-E's battery while Jo Schweizer, Schearer and Beucler did the honors for Uhlig's.

The Girls' League began a tournament yesterday at Packard Park, slated to conclude tonight.

MEMORIES

A famous poet years ago expressed this thought of view,
He said that memory keeps alive our friends and things we do.
He said that in the years to come our thoughts of yesterday
Will linger in our bosom—need not
"die or fade away."

Twenty-seven years ago, I first crossed the door
Of Bldg. 17, worked then on the second floor.
Vern Castle was my foreman, and though years have changed the place,
"Pop" Castle, as his boys all call him,
has not changed, time can't erase.

I wish to offer tribute to my foremen first to last,
I owe them all a debt of thanks, the present and the past.
I thank them for their fairness and understanding ways,
To Vern and Walter and to Jack I offer highest praise.

I will have many pleasant thoughts to sit with bye and bye
To mention all of you, my friends, I will not even try.
To Jerry Snyder, I would wish the path that she trods o'er
We'll have more roses and less thorns than she has had before.

Sweet Floetta Zartman knew just what to say and do
When my sky was dark and gloomy, she brought the sunshine through.
A better friend than Irene Meyers could not be, new or old,
From what I know of her, I'd say she's worth her weight in gold.

I couldn't fix a stator once and knew not what to do,
Mary Foster smiled and said, "I will fix it for you.
And Violet Brower's another whose help I'll not forget, Away back on the "long shells,". I'll remember that, you bet.

And Margaret Monnot, who has been my friend through sun and rain
Since she was just out of high school, to you, luck and gain.
To Ann Kensill, I would like to give a word of praise
For her untiring effort to help me in many ways.

And Billie, I will not forget that twinkle in your eye
As you'd lend an ear to someone who knew "something on the sly."
I'd wonder as I watched you write and shiver in my shoes,
Afraid my "name would be in vain"
in the next week's WORKS NEWS.

When the welders fasten clips to ends of different stator's leads
And crimpers pound them tightly, to supply the needs
Of connectors and then tyers who are working side by side,
In my thoughts I'll join you many times with you abide.

There is much more I would say, but can't take all the space
Of 17-3 column, someone else may want the place.
But as long as we all live, may God
grant us I pray,
The power to keep old memories "never die or fade away."

Edith Paxson

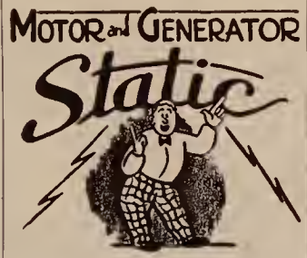
FAREWELL

So you have had a birthday
That certain age has come
When you give up your duties
And it's time to have some fun.

No more dusting up your work place
No more ringing in or out,
No more winding of the alarm
Should make you want to shout.

We wish you lots of joy
As you go along your way
May God bless and keep you
Is what we want to say.

Now I hope this poem covers
Some of the nice things we want to say
May good health attend you always
So "farewell" just for today.

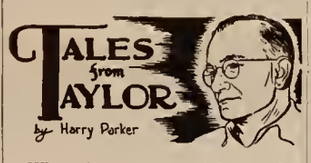


Mary Wright

The girls held a farewell potluck for Edith Paxson last Monday. We wish you lots of luck during your life of ease. . . . Birthday greetings to Goldie DeLong and Julia Scheumann. . . . New grandmas include Iva Mullins and Rachel Jackson. . . . We extend our sympathy to Helen Bricker in the death of her husband.

The new superliner, the U.S.S. "United States," which is expected to return the speed supremacy to the United States, will have no wood aboard except in the butcher's chopping block and the piano. Intent on making this the safest ship in the world, the designers have avoided the use of inflammable material. Even the paint on board is fireproof.

This will be our last report for the second shift of Bldg. 17-3. We have enjoyed gathering the bits of news and also enjoyed passing it on to you. . . . No second shift in Bldg. 17-3 is not history because we have a skeleton crew. Ura Mae Tinder, Catherine Salmon, Eileen Foor and Bea Lantz are still winding. Several packers remain as well as Ralph Armey, foreman. . . . Lewis Davis has been transferred to Bldg. 26-4. He reports that he likes his job very much. . . . The group attended a delicious farewell potluck last Wednesday evening. We had so many good eats that we just couldn't tell who did the best job of cooking. We had plenty of fried chicken, too. The group presented our foreman, Ralph Armey, a lovely farewell gift. Ralph expressed his regrets in having to break the group up. . . . Harry Chism, in expressing himself about the potluck, said, "If I always felt as I do now I'd save money." Who of us wouldn't as we admit, Harry, we all spend plenty for food. . . . Pat Perry climaxed the evening with delicious apple pie. . . . Lillian Murphy had overnight guests from Cincinnati, O. They included her mother, sister, brother, sister-in-law and niece. They were on their way to Chicago, so spent the night and proceeded on early the next morning. . . . Marietta Beckman had a party Thursday evening for Billy, her son who celebrated his second birthday. Marietta said Bill really enjoyed it all, especially his new tricycle. He had three cakes. . . . Your columnist has been transferred to Bldg. 6-2 and also Clara Weisel. I'm not saying goodbye because I expect to see you often. I do want to say thanks a million for all you've done to make our column a success.



Thought for the Week: "The man who waits for things to turn up has his eyes fixed on his toes."—Creswell MacLaughlin.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: Roadside sign of Nebraska restaurant: "We make pie like mother used to make—before she learned to play Canasta." . . . Milwaukee dress shop advertised: "Dresses sold for ridiculous figures." . . . Double billing on Toledo movie marquee: "Three Husbands. Woman on The Run." . . . Business card of gentleman who supervises one of the U. S. mints: "We make the money first. It's up to you to make it last." . . . Frank notice in Brigham City, Utah, paper: "Would appreciate it if everyone would cooperate and not send in any fire alarm on Friday night. Fireman's Ball." . . . Welcome to Bldg. 31-1, Carol A. Kelsay. . . . CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vaughn on the birth of their daughter, Linda Christine. Ed works in the Renewal Parts Section in Bldg. 19-1. . . . What happened to Frank Kreg that caused him to fall off his chair? . . . HAPPY: Vija Radzians has looked especially happy the last two weeks. Maybe her husband being home from school accounts for it. . . . AIR-FORCE BOUND: Les Gordon of the Blue-Print Section is leaving the employ of the company to go into the service. . . . Wonder why George Moses enjoyed the ice show so much?

HONORED AT RETIREMENT—Harry E. Hire, (left), former Wire Division superintendent, is shown receiving a wateh from Ray Kierspe at a retirement party. Mr. Hire retired Sept. 1 after 38 years of serviee. He first was a helper and in 1915 became a beneh hand in Bldg. 17-1. The following year, he became an assembler. Mr. Hire was made a foreman in 1917 and has been superintendent of the Wire and Insulation division since 1926.

When it comes to doing a joh of plumbing, Frank Kimble is a past master. It seems that he installed new bathroom fixtures and renewed all piping. Having assembled all the necessary items, he proceeded using copper pipe on the service lines. After completing the installations, he tested the lies. Not a leak showed up. Anxious to replace the flooring, he got busy. His wife, who was husy in the breakfast nook below, happened to glance up and noticed the indireet lighting fixture was filling up with water. Informing her husband about the matter, he made a quick examination of the service lines and found that he had driven a nail clear through one of the copper pipes. We suggest that he purchase self-sealing pipes in the future. . . . A week before vacation, Lindsey Eastes was a sorrowful looking individual. While working in the yard one evening, a bumble hee took a fling at him, stinging him right between the eyes. The following day, his eyes resembled two good sized drop eakes with a raisin in the eenter. . . . Joe Turley, while on tour of the eastern part of the country during his vacation, reported to us that everything went like clockwork with one exception. One evening in Erie, Pa., after consuming his meal, he walked out of the restaurant and left his hat hanging there. He didn't discover the fact until he was about 75 miles away. Not wanting to drive back after it at that time, he waited until he returned to work. Then he asked his foreman for permission to lay off work for a couple of days so he could return to Erie for the hat. . . . Harold Hart spent the greater part of his vacation in the lake-studded pine forests of Northern Wisconsin. He reports that the weather was ideal and that the fish were biting good. In fact, everything was in good order with one exception and that was the fact that he had to put up with Ralph Unlap, who went on the trip at the last moment. He tells us that Ralph was the only sour note in the entire trip.

We didn't thank Wayne Wemer and Vic Scheele for the new fans they had installed in the Green Room. They eertainly are appreeiated. . . . Pat Hockaday's hushand is finding it a bit expensive to be married. Pat used his shaving cream for tooth paste. . . . The Green Room now claims the best fisherwoman in the Works. While on vacation Dorothy Brown caught a 36 in. northern pike weighing 12 pounds. . . . Belated birthday greetings to Nancy Payne Storey, Jeanette Cook, Lucy Keller and Alma Darnall. . . . Good bye and good luck to Don Coolman, LaDonna Goeglein, Nancy Heiniger and Pat Rooker. . . . Tom Freeman, isn't it disgusting when even a new Plymouth has a flat tire in the parking lot? . . . I don't believe we have ever found anyone so disturbed as Otto Braun was about the 12-year old boy driving the tractor on the highway. He even told the sheriff, Orie Cagnet. . . . Harold Rhine lost his record by 20 minutes. The honors now belong to Leo Klejnot for arriving at work at 9:20 a.m. . . . What is the trouble, Benny Keller? Are you still trying to convince Otto Braun that he should go to the "Old Man's" picnie and have a good dinner once again? . . . Several new faces have appeared reeently. In the M and D Section, we have Melvin Yoquelet, Jack Calkins and Clarence Williams. The Paeking Section has Catherine Krall. . . . Cngratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koontz, who have a new haby boy, and to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Flowers, who have a girl. . . . We hear that Frankie Schlotter really had a tough break with his fishing. He caught his limit. Having no ice in his freezer, all of the fish were spoiled upon arriving home. Frankie worked until the wee hours of the morning burying his catch. . . . Russ James borrowed a sleeping bag and went to Pokagon for several days. Not familiar with sleeping bags, he slept with it flat on the ground, not knowing it had a mattress. . . . Benny Keller is going to have Otto Braun as a new neighbor. . . . Our deepest sympathy to Marjorie Hines, whose brother was killed in Korea recently.

The BIG WIND

Tex" died. . . . Jerry Stier is in training at Great Lakes for two weeks. . . . Elsie (Fabian) Logue wishes to thank everyone for the beautiful wedding gift. She really appreeiated it. . . . Ruby Stucky finally got back after taking two weeks to rest up from her vacation. Maybe they should take her vacation away from her if it does that. . . . Frieda Meyer helped celebrate at Poe Saturday night. . . . Chet Carey really has troubles trying to get squirrels. He'd shoot and they would run. In the end, he did get two.

Donald D. Brayer to Succeed J. B. Greer As Plant Engineer

The Helping Hand—Inspecting the battery charger shipped to FHP Div. 15 from the midwest flood area for emergency repairs are C. J. (Frenchie) LeGras (left), a foreman in Div. 15, and F. R. Allman, an assembler in Div. 15.

Donald D. Brayer has been appointed Plant Engineer, Works Service Department, Robert Wylie, general superintendent, disclosed today. Mr. Brayer will replace Jay B. Greer, who will be associated with the Manufacturing Service Division at Schenectady. The appointment becomes effective Monday.

Mr. Brayer came to General Electric in 1928 as an engineer in the Plant Engineering Division. From 1931 to 1934, he was an assembler and tester at Winter St. In October, 1934, Mr. Brayer returned to the Plant Engineering Division and then became a planning engineer in the STAB Department in 1935.

In 1942, Mr. Brayer was appointed supervisor of plant engineering at the Supercharger Plant. He transferred to the General Service Division in 1944, where he subsequently became assistant plant engineer, which is his present position.

Mr. Brayer graduated from Purdue University in 1928 with a B.S.C.E. degree. He is a registered professional engineer and a member of the Fort Wayne Engineers Club, the Fort Wayne Association of General Electric Engineers, the Supervisors Club, and the Squares Club.

The Brayers have one daughter and live at 2922 S. Anthony Blvd.

D. D. Brayer

Started As TE

Mr. Greer was a test engineer in the Plant Engineering Division when he joined the General Electric in 1928. After nine years service in this Division, he was appointed Plant Engineer, and in 1940 he was named Superintendent of the General Service Division. He holds the latter two positions at the present time.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Mr. Greer received a B.S.E.E. degree. A registered professional engineer, he is a member of the Fort Wayne Engineers Club, F.W.A.G.E.E., the Foremen's Association, the Supervisors Club, and the Squares Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Greer, who reside on Hazelhurst Dr., have one daughter and two sons.

Battery Charger Repaired For Work in Flood Area

The Fort Wayne Works reached out to offer first-hand emergency service to the flood stricken area in the Midwest this week by repairing a battery charger sent to FHP Div. 15 from Kansas City, Mo.

The battery charger, used for industrial trucks, had been under water for more than two weeks. C. J. (Frenchie) LeGras, a foreman in the Special Motors Section, reported that it was encased in one-half bushel of mud and refuse when it was received.

Employes of Div. 15 spent one and one-half days cleaning, scraping and brushing the charger. The complete reconditioning of the set was accomplished in seven working days. It was then rushed back to the stricken area to aid in the rehabilitation program in progress.

Although this model had been subjected to extreme conditions, the only part which needed to be replaced was the bearings.

Wage Offer

Many employees have been asking what the new G-E wage proposal amounts to in cents per hour, in view of conflicting estimates from various sources.

While there is no way of estimating accurately what the combination of the proposed 2½ per cent wage increase and "1 per cent for 1 per cent" escalator arrangement will mean in cents per hour on Sept. 15—this being due to the uncertainty of what the cost-of-living index will be as of Sept. 15—it is estimated that this combination may well average six to seven cents per hour.

Q-C'ers Ready For Big Outing At Oliver Lake

The Quarter Century Club Outing at Camp Limberlost tomorrow promises to break all attendance records, F. C. Zimmer, publicity chairman, indicated today.

Q-C President J. V. Johnson has asked members with available car space to stop by the Broadway Plant on their way to the outing tomorrow to insure transportation for everyone.

Plans have been completed, Mr. Zimmer said, and they will include top entertainment, good food, attendance prizes and sports events.

A map of Camp Limberlost on Oliver Lake appears on page 4.

FHP Committee Named To Aid in Scrap Drive

As organization of the gigantic scrap effort continued to get underway, 22 Fractional Horsepower Motor Department committeemen were named to assist in the procurement of dormant scrap.

L. A. Erickson, FHP scrap chairman, listed the following committeemen and the divisions they will serve:

Div. 1, P. E. Merkey, F. C. Korte, and G. H. Thomas; Div. 15, V. R. Robinson, A. R. Hall, and A. B. Rondot; Divv. 16, E. J. Vosburgh, W. C. McKay and R. W. Dent; Div. 23, C. F. Hattendorf and Edward Klomp; Div. 13, M. L. Hartman, G. L. App, and N. A. Bender; Div. 14, M. N. Brayer and C. T. Culver; Div. 17, K. D. Sheehan, B. B. Gausepohl, and J. W. Bendure; Inspection & Test, M. G. Pugh and E. J. Cade, and Engineering, Paul Berghorn.

The plant-wide scrap drive to salvage critically needed iron, copper and aluminum will continue through September and October.

Working committees will concentrate on salvaging dormant scrap—that is, obsolete machinery, tools, jigs, dies, fixtures, and other equipment for which there is no immediate or future use.

SCRAP BULLETIN

The Scrap Drive at the Fort Wayne Works moved into full swing this week. A. E. Leider, drive chairman, reported the following amounts of scrap were handled during the month of August:

Steel ..... 103,869 pounds
Copper ..... 730 pounds

In Neighborly Fashion

Americans have always been known for their neighborliness, from helping one another across the back fence to giving aid to people in remote foreign lands. This is especially true in time of disaster, when the need is greater and more urgent.

When a hurricane rips through a Florida city or a twister flattens a town on the great plains and the need for aid is great, volunteer help usually is on the way even before it is requested.

For many days several weeks ago, newspapers carried daily headlines of the build-up of flood waters in the Kansas City area, and of the heroic efforts of the people there to hold back the swirling, muddy waters. But the waters of the rampaging rivers in the area crashed through permanent and hastily erected barriers, flooding everything in the low-lying regions.

When the waters receded and returned to normal channels, an even bigger task lay ahead—clearing away the tons of grimy silt and repairing the damage to homes, industrial sites and public utilities estimated at $500,000,000.

But even before the waters subsided, help from many good neighbors was on its way to the stricken cities.

A Good Neighbor

And one of these good neighbors was General Electric. The word went out from G-E service shop headquarters to Company repair facilities in a 10-state area to gear for emergency work. H. F. McCullough, manager of the Company's group of service shops, flew to the scene. Some 20 specialists from as far away as San Francisco and New York were sent to the area to assist. Mr. McCullough said that a Company representative flew to Washington to help get priorities for copper wire and other material needed in this phase of the rehabilitation program.

The Kansas City service shop, undamaged in the flood, increased its working area two-fold. It built a huge oven and other equipment to dry out electric motors and other electrical products. Rush orders for new equipment were sent to several G-E plants which responded immediately, shipping the requested equipment on board planes bound for Kansas City the same day.

While G-E people and facilities were being taxed to the maximum to help the area get back on its feet, to return power plants and electric-powered industrial equipment to working order, the Company Board of Directors in New York speedily approved a gift of $10,000 for Red Cross relief, which George Fiske, manager of the Kansas City office, turned over to the relief officials a few days later.

Kansas City Spirit

City Manager L. Perry Cookingham of Kansas City, Mo., said in a recent interview with the press in New York that "the spirit with which Kansas City has attacked the recovery job is one of the most remarkable industrial stories of our times. It was a display of courage and ingenuity rarely witnessed."

It was a gigantic task, helping out the people and businesses of the flood-stricken area, but we're happy to have been able to roll up our sleeves and pitch in to do our part as a good neighbor and proud of the way G-E employees responded to the emergency.

SICK LIST

The following people have been reported on the sick list, dismissed from the hospital, and returned to work:

Sick List

Luella Boyce, Delores Richard, Suzanne Reith, Carolyn Mullett, Iva Powell, Magdaline Laughlin, Lila Line, Lillian Mallo, Bernice McKown, Virginia Miliski, Harry Nickels, Catherine Orr, Elviera Ostermeyer, Helen Reinking, Mary E. Parent, Bernard Roth, Ronald Stetler, John Donovan, Pinkie Barnes, Robert McCague, John Bastian, Ocea Allen, Lavonda Asies, Naomi Braun, Esther Oetting, Alma Volz, Raymond William, John Pullen, Mary Satterwaitc, Bessie Johnson, Edward Sharp, Mary Cermala, Jesse Calland, June Richardson, Edna Mapes and Donald Doering.

Dismissed from the Hospital

Ralph Craig, Lyle Bireley, Louis Lee, Esther Oetting, Edna Lesh, Harry Nickels, George Taylor and Myrtle Wagner.

Returned to Work

James R. Harris, James Grogg, Wayne Bubb, Vernon Burkett, Ruhy DePew, June Allgeier, Darrell Dennie, Harley Johnson, Clifford Carpenter, Elmer Kochlinger, Harry Greider, Herman Priwer, Russell Stockert, Carl Miller, Cathryn Winans, Paul Watters, Mary Rose, Harry Perl, Clarence Sesslar, Oliver Miller and Maude Mason.

The following employes have left the Company to enter the armed services: Eddie Gonzalez, Harold D. DeBolt, Richard E. Moellering, William L. Davis, William J. Smith, Robert M. Bowyer, Wayne W. Walcutt, Paul W. Harruff, James M. Wrisk, Lloyd W. Justus, Earl J. DeGrandchamp, William H. Schroeder, Jr. and Earl M. Cheever.

Our floor is well supplied with hay fever sufferers. The worst, or top three, are Ed Koontz, Vera Everett and Dick Moore. . . . Joe Troendley is very unhappy because someone put some barbed wire engraving on his new trap gun. . . . Ralph Braden has just returned from the National Trap Shoot at Randalia, O. Although he didn't win the "big money," he did make expenses. Congratulations, Ralph. . . . The fellows in the M and D section are convinced that it is time for Arthur Gallogley either have them all up to Lake George for a fish fry or quit spending so much time there himself. . . . It can't be this week-end because Arthur, Joe Troendley and Ralph Smith are all going to the Quarter Century Club outing. They are really going in style too by riding in Benny Keller's new Buick. . . . Al Topp is "King of the Lake" since he launched his new Chris Craft on Hamilton Lake. . . . Now that Dewey Cobh has his new Hudson, there won't be any acceptable excuses for his being late. . . . The people on second shift surprised Marilyn McKeeman with a potluck Friday night. She is leaving to resume her college studies. . . . Jackie Rhodes has left for a two weeks' training at Great Lakes. . . . Happy birthday, Jackie, and we hope you enjoyed the box of candies and nuts from the girls in the section. . . . Best of luck to Kathleen Hade, Anna Young and Mary Garrett, who are all leaving Friday. . . . Happy birthday to Connie Craig and Bette Hall. . . . Welcome, Loyal Smotherman, to first shift. Ten years on second shift is a long time. . . . Our most sincere sympathy to Gerald Norwalt, whose father died. . . . Bob Montes came through with flying colors at the hot rod races in Sturgis, Mich., last Wednesday night. He won one feature. Good work, Bob. . . . Just depend on Doris Salge to step out in style. Thursday evening she had dinner at the Orchard Ridge Country Club. . . . Lots of good luck to everyone who is returning to college. We had a potluck Friday noon for Jackie Sterner, Bette Venahle, Carolyn Scholer, Peggy Bridges, Carol Moser, Marcella Koomjohn, John Baurele, Deloris Ehinger, LaDonna Schweizer and D. Ahlersmeyer. . . . The second shift welcomes Dorothy DePur, Helen Bradley, Jane Meyer, Betty Adams, Luna Kagin and Ethel Thompson.

AVERAGE MAN

I'm just an ordinary man,
Who lives the average way.
I'm neither bum nor millionaire,
Somewhere between, let's say.

I have a family, six of us.
This once was patriotic.
Today, I'm told that over four,
Is downright idiotic.

I'm paid a salary once a week
By check with six deductions.
I cash it, then proceed to make
A dozen more reductions.

Of course, I use a budget.
The first devised by man.
It's spending what I have to
And saving all I can.

It's spending what I have to
That inspired this bit of verse.
For instead of getting better,
It is fast becoming worse.

I have analyzed my spending,
Using simple mathematics;
And I find it's quite a problem
In financial acrobatics.

There are certain type expenses
That I can't do much about—
Taxes, city, state and federal,
Must be paid, without a doubt.

And, of course, the light and water,
Gas and heat and telephone,
Things to eat and transportation
And repairs on what I own.

I must also buy the clothing
That my family needs to wear.
If I don't, it's pretty certain
There'll be someone going bare.

And the measles, mumps and fevers,
Tonsillitis, colds and croup;
Broken bones and slight infections
Sure can knock one for a loop.

Then, of course, the kids need learning,
That's a long established rule.
And it takes a pile of money,
When they go away to school.

And we always have assessments
For an alley, street, or walk.
And one isn't civic-minded,
If he makes the slightest squawk.

Then between this "have to" spending
And the saving all I can,
Comes the annual contributions
To assist my fellowman.

Two days' salary for a building—
One day's pay to help a cause.
Twenty bucks to make some others
Feel there's still a Santa Claus.

Every one, of course, seems worthy
And deserving of support,
So, I give and then deduct it
On my income tax report.

Life, you see, is like a river
With a distant shore that's dim.
Some folks cross it in a motor-boat,
But average folks must swim.

As a swimmer, I'm not asking
That I have a motor-boat,
But I do say heavy taxes
Make it hard to keep afloat.

And, brother, when the average man
Can't swim across the river,
Our country then will find she's lost
Her most consistent giver.

42 G-E Donors Launch Blood Program

BEFORE AND AFTER—The pensive expressions on the faces of the first G-E donors in the current Blood Campaign changed to warm smiles after they had given blood at the Red Cross Regional Center. In the top picture (l-r) seated are Mrs. Robert E. Lowenstein, staff aide; L. M. Schlaudroff, a tool room foreman; standing, Ab Martin, Works Manager; G. E. Hicks, an FHP supervisor; C. E. Slater, Labor Relations; Wilson R. Garman, Apprentice Alumni president; Thelma Stone, Elex Club president; Miss Mary Jane Lauer, Red Cross nurse, and K. W. Michael, Community Relations. In the bottom picture (l-r) Francis Richards, Labor Relations; Jack Lea, vice-president of IUE-CIO 901; Howard I. Shipman, a leading operator in STAB; Mrs. Paul C. Aumann, nurses' aid, and Mrs. L. B. Marker, canteen worker.

Forty-two General Electric employees, representing every division and G-E organization, donated blood last week to launch the G-E blood donor campaign.

Among the first group of employees to support the Red Cross Blood Donor Program sponsored by G-E organizations were: Francis Richards, Howard Shipman, Loretta G. Bloom, Jack Lea, Garnet Mellinger, H. E. Millisor, C. H. Dunten, V. R. Robinson, Ab Martin, K. W. Michael, A. C. Hensick, J. Johnson, C. Miller, R. Wiltshire, Thelma Stone, Wilson Garman, Robert Blomker, and Leo Schlaudroff.

L. D. Hodell, B. F. Conner, Jr., W. K. Williams, Leo Burkett, Ed Klomp, Carl Metker, G. E. Hicks, C. E. Slater, W. H. Crouse, L. I. Asher, M. J. Lowe, Robert Wildermuth, Irene Offenloch, Robert Lutticken, R. M. Hartigan, Orval Haver, Tom Hutsell, A. H. Schoenefeld, J. P. McFeely, Sharon Lash, C. W. Bowen, K. D. Strong, Grover Rhodes, Tom Hayden, Agnes Ryan, Ivan Standish, C. W. Bowen and Robert Wildermuth.

Part of County Drive

The blood campaign is part of the drive among Allen County industrial concerns to supply blood to the Regional Blood Center here.

Donor cards may still be obtained through foremen.

Organizations supporting the blood donating effort include the Foremen's Association, Elex Club, G-E Squares Club, IAM—Lodge No. 70, IUE-CIO 901, Apprentice Alumni Association, Supervisors' Club, G-E World War Veterans Association, Quarter Century Club, Decimal Minute Men and Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Squares Women's Division To Hold Membership Party

The Women's Division of the G-E Squares will open their 1951-52 activities with a "Get-Acquainted" party at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 11, at the Squares Club Rooms, Mrs. Gordon Harvey, chairman, reported today.

Committees elected to assist Mrs. Harvey are: Mrs. C. J. Herman, co-chairman, Mrs. Henry Reidenbach, Mrs. H. L. Ferverda, Mrs. A. M. Krakower, Mrs. Robert Wylie, Mrs. Ted Ross and Mrs. J. R. Voirol. To be on hand at the door to welcome members and prospective members will be Mrs. Frank Chayka, Mrs. Maurice Felger, Mrs. Merton Edgar and Mrs. Eldon Vosburgh.

New officers to be introduced for the forthcoming year are: president, Mrs. James Capps; vice president, Mrs. Don Reek; secretary, Mrs. Fred Suhr; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Rowe, and members-at-large, Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Richard Thomas.

Committee Chairmen

The following members have been chosen as committee chairmen and assistants for the year: hospitality, Mrs. Don Reek, chairman, Mrs. Joe Donahoo, Mrs. Robert Dobbin, and Mrs. Wendell Hughes; program, Mrs. Jay Greer, chairman, Mrs. Forrest Gibson, and Mrs. Richard Gallmeier; membership, Mrs. Marvin Hamilton, chairman, Mrs. James Walley, Mrs. John Willsey, Mrs. John Spencer, Mrs. Robert Lutticken, Mrs. Ken Michael, Mrs. Charles Howlett, and Mrs. Robert Huffman; publicity, Mrs. Robert Drake; contact, Mrs. Merton Edgar; house, Mrs. Harold Boles; telephone, Mrs. J. H. Flickinger; nominating, Mrs. Lee Beard; ways and means, Mrs. Richard Hamilton, and sandwich bar, Mrs. Charles R. Atkinson.

Three G-E Men To Instruct Purdue Classes

Three G-E men will instruct classes this fall at the Fort Wayne Purdue University Center. They are Keith Ross, L. P. Persing and George Hicks. All three will teach classes on the evening Technical Institute program.

Mr. Ross, Quality Control supervisor, in Bldg. 4-6, will conduct beginning and advanced courses in Quality Control. Mr. Ross is a graduate of Manchester College and the G-E Apprentice School. He is a fellow member of the American Society for Quality Control and is a director of the A. S. Q. C.

Mr. Persing, of the Motion and Time Study training section, will instruct in Motion and Time Study. He has had previous teaching experience at the University of Iowa.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Mr. Hicks is employed as supervisor of wage rate at Taylor St. He will teach Production Planning and Industrial Organization.

SHIPPING: Oh-h-h, what a sparkler Mary Ann Epperson is sporting! Our very best wishes to both of you. . . . What a heat wave we had last Friday! With all the sweating going on, all we lacked was Herb Grueb whistling "Jingle Bells" for the irritation of all his fellow workers. . . . The coolest person in the outfit was Doris Smith, who was on vacation. "A mighty nice one it was, too," she says. . . . Orchids to Lucille Weaver (former employee now residing in Denver, Colo.) who is the proud mama of a baby girl. . . . Bon voyage and very smooth sailing to our grand old Scotchman Buck (Charles) Buchanan, who leaves the company today after 33 years to loll around the back yard. We wish only the best for Buck and the Mrs. . . . RECEIVING: We've said goodby to two of our fellow-workers. Phyllis Emenhiser is leaving today to be a fulltime homemaker. . . . Virgil Reining left last week to join Uncle Sam's forces. . . . Both were presented with a gift. The presentation of Virgil's gift from friends in Receiving and Distribution was made by Paul Thomas. . . . Norma Durnell and Dwila Parish are quite adept at chinning themselves. They inform us that this athletic accomplishment requires daily practice. . . . It isn't time for "dog days," but last week, Frank Parker was observed as he was airing his dogs. Put your shoes on, Frank, you're a big boy now. . . . The girls in T. R. Dent's office have been picnicking in the park Friday noons. It's a nice custom. . . . MAILING: John Pranger made a flying visit to the Smoky Mountains over the week-end. . . . EDITOR'S NOTE TO SANTA: Dear Santa. Please bring Jack Woodcox a thermos bottle so he won't have to mooch coffee from everybody. . . . What's this, a red and yellow polka dot Chevrolet! The owner, John Pranger is sure people will notice it now. . . . The reason for Keith Mast's tired look is because he is working on a construction job in the evening. . . . Farewell to Gerald Gardner, who has been transferred.

Elex Club to Sponsor Red Cross Nursing Class

All G-E women who are interested in Red Cross Home Nursing classes may apply now for the seven-weeks course sponsored by the Elex Club, Thelma Stone, president, announced today.

Lyle Rupert, G-E nurse, will teach the weekly classes. They will start Tuesday, Oct. 2, in Bldg. 16-1. Two sets of classes are being offered; one from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and the other from 7 to 9 p.m.

Any woman interested in taking this course, should fill out the application below and send it to the Women's Activities Office, Bldg. 18-3.

Please return to:

Women's Activities Office
Bldg. 18-3

I would like to enroll in the Red Cross Home Nursing Course beginning Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Apprentice graduate

Emmett Rasor Finishes Course As Apprentice

Emmett A. Rasor graduated from the Apprentice School Aug. 17, after completing the four-year machinist-toolmaker course.

A Central High School student, Mr. Rasor came to G-E after his graduation in January, 1944. He was a stock accumulator in the Wire Mill until he left for the armed forces in 1945.

After six months duty in the States, he served 15 months with the Infantry as a private, first class, in the Pacific Theatre of Operations.

Mr. Rasor returned to General Electric in 1946 after his discharge. He worked in the Wire Mill at Taylor St. until he enrolled in the Apprentice School in February, 1948.

He is married and lives at 1404 Columbia St.

Motor and Generator Static

Thought for the Week: "Nowadays when your ship comes in, the government sees that it is docked."—D. Earle Wilson.

It seems Bldg. 19-1 turned into a zoo last week. Every once in a while an alligator would show up in the drinking fountain or on a window sill. . . . BLESSED QUIETNESS: The girls in Mr. Bobay's office say it will be a lot quieter when Bill Shanebeck leaves. He is forever kicking over the wastepaper basket. Bill is leaving today to enter college. Ed Vaughn is replacing him. . . . It is being rumored around the Motor-Generator Division that "Miss" Burt Spencer, Bldg. 31-1, is desirous of joining the Elex Club. . . . Next week our editors will be back from vacation. Either they are better at finding out news about our fellow employees or it is too hot to do anything.

G-E's first Pension Plan, inaugurated in 1912, provided for pensions equal to one per cent of average annual earnings ten years prior to retiremetn, times the number of years service.

Ed Robins was seen running around his house with his hair up in curlers. In the morning, his wife had to give him gas to ease the pain when she combed his hair. He sure looked nice when he came in to work with his hair combed for a change. . . . Connie Standish left last Friday to return to Ball State Teachers College. Good luck, Connie. . . . Jim Stauffer leaves for the Navy on Oct. 4. We know your folks will miss you, Jim, so take care and good luck. . . . Ralph Waikel has proved that he is a great golf player. He didn't do any good all summer until the chips were on the table. Then he came out on top. . . . Homer McMaken is hiding behind a pair of dark colored glasses. . . . Hank Shirley and Louie Barrow are going to Northern Michigan to get their annual catch of yellow perch. . . . Vickie Hyre enjoyed tbe holiday week-end fishing at Evans Lake in Michigan. . . . Vickie was very embarrassed when the bus driver came to the rear of the bus to tell her that she only put a white penny in the box instead of a dime! . . . Grace Ober is spending the week-end at Indianapolis. . . . Margaret Fuelling got an ice cream bar so she would do them right! . . . There was a little bit of excitement at Silver Lake when Audrey Brindel's 4-year-old grandson caught a 13-inch bass on a 25-cent pole and a nightcrawler. Neither Stevie's mother nor grandfather got a bite. . . . Best wishes to Lois Kauffman, who received a beautiful diamond from Byron Facks. . . . Willard Smith sure looks good in his new "ice cream" trousers. . . . We hope that Clarence Weimer does not have too many ill-effects from his accident. He was riding his bike to work the other day and was hit by a car. . . . Beulah Briner is home from the Mayo Clinic. Hurry and get well, Beulah. . . . Maxine Insley is on the sick list, too. . . . Sam Taylor forgot his glasses the other day. John Figles had an extra pair so he gave them to Sam to wear. He wore them all day and was very glad to have them. It is too bad that Paul Hendricks couldn't have been more liberal the day John forgot his teeth. . . . We hope that Don Mason's baby will soon recover from pneumonia. . . . We are glad to see Mary Warren back. . . . A lot of luck to Bea Webster, Eunice Taylor and Billy Gawthrop, who left last week. We will miss them and also Barbara Tschannen, Christine Comier, Kathleen Beckman and Louise Bell, who are working in other buildings. Goodby to Nancy Anspach and Carla Parker, who are going back to school. . . . Whoever did the knot-tying job on Mary Garrard's apron must have been in the Navy. . . . Edith Juelerat spent Labor Day at the Indianapolis Fair. . . . Helen Boedeker was working on an invention for the inspectors. It was some sort of a ruler that when a lead was too short a horn would blow or a spring would fly up and hit them aside of the head —something must have backfired 'cause Helen came in the next day with a patch on her nose. . . . The following people have September birthdays: Margaret Fuelling, 5; Cleda Wilson, 9; Hazel Herron, 9; Lena Shaw, 11; Anna Ruth Clemments, 8; Larena Hahn, 16; Evelyn Grocock, 19; Hazel Stauffer, 20; Kathryn Gilbert, 20; Paul Ginder, 22; Peggy Tschannen Phillips, 26; Olga Kuseff, 28; Delores Hartman, 29; Ralph Mennewisch, 1, and Ivan Parrish, 26.

COMPLETES 35 YEARS—Elmer Warner (right), Bldg. 19-1, celebrated his 35th anniversary at General Electric August 18. H. S. Garton, his foreman, is shown prescnting Mr. Warner with a letter congratulating him on his long service record.

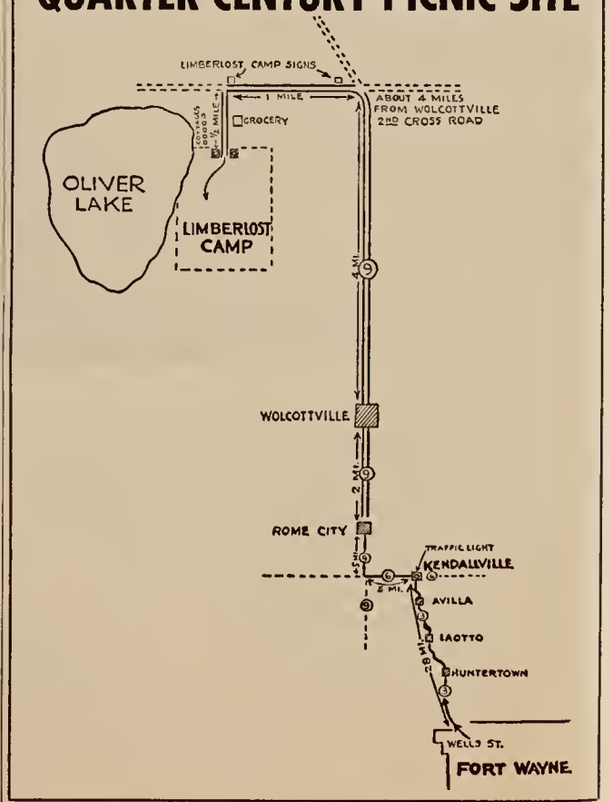
Merwood Dunlap is taking in all the fairs and rodeos this year. He wants to learn how the cowboys rope steers so he can lasso those young heifers at his country home. . . . If anyone can tell John Fleischer why the fish aren't biting, let him know while he still has fingernails. . . . Vernon Burk asked Max Baron to give him a five for five one dollar bills. When Max took the dollar bills and handed Vernon a slip of paper with the number five written on it, Vernon's face turned sickly pale. It really took some persistent begging for Vernon to get his five dollars back. . . . John Roemer thinks everything happens to him. He rented a big truck to move his furniture. The motor stalled going over a bridge and John set the emergency brake as he endeavored to start the motor. However, the truck slowly rolled backwards, smashing the grill of the car behind. . . . Bob Birkenbeul is leaving us today. We wish him a wealth of success in his new job. . . . We are happy to have Del Stickler back in the lathe section. He is replacing John Snyder, who is in the mold section. . . . Chet and Mrs. Reynolds spent a week in Evansville with friends and visited their son who is enrolled in the Evansville College. . . . The gang will really miss Walter Schust, who retired Aug. 31. Two of his daughters were with him when he was presented with presents. We wish him years of happy retirement. . . . Max Baron and Ralph Foust were pike fishing. Max hooked a big pike. As he got it close to the boat he saw that it was really big. Max's bobber would not let him reel the big fish close enough to net. But as Ralph tried to move the bobber down, Mr. Pike took off as the line broke. Max didn't mind losing the fish in a fair fight, but when your fishing pal helps the fish break the line that is just too much. . . . Mrs. Walsh was all in when Mart came home from work. She has chased Tootsie, the cow, all morning trying to get her back on Walsh's property. Then she spent the afternoon fighting bees in the garage. Walter Greiner suggested that Mart hire Woody Hursh with his sulphur gun and Bob Truelove with his crosscut saw and get rid of bees, garage and Tootsie all in one operation. . . . Hank Sandkuhler is buying a new used car. Some elderly woman owned it and the only place she ever drove it was to church on Sunday. Charlie Shipman says she lived in Fort Wayne and drove to St. Louis to church. . . . Elmer Ueber is raising potatoes so big that his wife peels one for a meal. Either Elmer is a good farmer or he is a prospective member of Bernie Byanski's bucketful club. . . . Archie Gwaltney took care of his neighbor's chickens while he was on vacation. He came home through Archie's home town of Poseyville, Ind., and bought six Poseyville watermelons and gave one to Archie for watching the chickens. . . . Mrs. Al DeVaux is preparing to do all the chores, plowing and milking, since Al is named to the grand jury duty. . . . Lloyd Welbaum is chief cook and bottle washer, since his wife is visiting his new granddaughter in New York City. Lloyd says he doesn't mind cooking the meals, but how he hates to eat them.

The Night Wind

Division 17 Taylor Staff

by Hazel Davis

Darold Emrick's family increased last Saturday. A new son-in-law was added to the family. . . . If you have noticed Irene Drabenstot this week, you have seen her ivy poisoning. Irene explains it this way: She and her husband were out looking at a farm and took a stroll through the woods. Therefore, she got the ivy poisoning. . . . Edna Peterson is one of these people learning to drive. Edna says she doesn't believe she will ever learn to back up. . . . Josephine Lutz motored to South Bend Labor Day to visit a sister. . . . John McKee says Labor Day is the day to rest so he rested. . . . Lela Siebert took advantage of a day off and helped can peaches Labor Day. . . . Bill Reffe went to his son's at Indianapolis and attended the state fair. . . . Anyone needing help hanging paper, see Tom Daugherty. . . . We have several people leaving our division, and we hate to see them go. Here is a verse written by Velora Drury.



GOOD-BYE

Transfers and layoffs at the G-E
Have finally caught up with me.
Yes, I have a transfer so they say,
Starting a new job a week from today.

It seems so hard to say good-bye;
Brings a lump in my throat, a tear in my eye.
Now they say work is slack, I do hope someday I'll get back.
Of course, I know that's up to the boss.
He may think good riddance instead of a loss.
But if I never get back on this line,
Truly I think every one's been fine.
I hope to be friends and always say hello
Wherever we are, wherever we go.

Bye, little Becky and Mabel Shinn,
I'll never forget you and your mischievous grin.
Mae, Coy and Wilma, who have already gone,
To them I also say so long.
Bob, Darold and Harley, and Jim, too,
I also say so long to you.
The whole 17 section I'll miss.
This is my way of giving all a hug and kiss.
When ovens and aisle divide us, and you no more I see
Remember, it was Velora who wrote these lines to thee.

MISFORTUNE: Vernon Fairchild's Barn was completely destroyed by fire recently. We are very sorry to learn of this misfortune since Vernon recently moved to the farm. . . . Olie Scheimann, who works in the cafeteria, fell and fractured her right wrist. . . . CONGRATS: They say that Okeleah Stetler is seriously thinking of doing the altar trek one of these days. Congrats, Oke! . . . SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY: The month of August marked the 16th anniversary with the Company for Miriam Moore, Betty Reichert and Jo Ivetich. Strange as it may seem, all are working for Ed Hesher. . . . FRECKLES ARE BECOMING: At least to Treva Myers, they are. . . . WHERE IS THERE A COOL SPOT: We hope that Ed Deitsch has found a cool place in which to spend his vacation. . . . OUR CHARMING AVIATRIX: A breakfast flight was held recently by the Defiance, O., Airport. Among those flying over there and later taking part in a radio interview over an Ohio station were Josephine Ivetich and Marcia Martin. . . . OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohnke visited in Auburn recently. . . . HOT STUFF: Could it have been the heat that caused the quick action and rapid disappearance of Ed Adler one day recently? . . . TRANSFEREES: Pat Booth has transferred to days. Sorry to see you go, Pat, but we do hope you enjoy working days. . . . Mr. VanHorn, better known as hi-voltage, is the electrician on nights. . . . It's happy birthday to Emma Lou Kukelhan this week. . . . WORD FROM KOREA: Ella Sherry received word recently from her son, who is stationed in Korea, that he is getting along OK. . . . OUR CHAMP: Leonard Meyer, who is a champion when it comes to square dancing, plans to attend the State Fair square dancing contest. . . . Fanny Amstutz recently transferred to Group 7-51. Hi, Fanny. . . . SMILING RAY: Ray Moser has been all smiles these days. The reason is that he is a proud grandfather to a little baby boy. Congrats, Ray. . . . ENOUGH IS TOO MUCH: "Garby" Smith wishes to take the resources of this column to thank his many friends for their invaluable suggestions and vocal assistance during the building of his cement block garage. He has requested special mention be made of the efforts of Kenny Beard and Lloyd Shackley, as well as all kids within a seven block radius and all dogs from even a greater radius. Garby is certain it was only because of their combined efforts that the walls do not have more than an 8-inch lead. . . . A group of Office girls gave a miscellaneous shower in the honor of Mrs. Fern (Passwater) Huber recently. Fern received many lovely gifts.

HELLO AND GOODBYE: We bid farewell to Edith Blaising, who left the Sales Division recently to become a fulltime housewife. A luncheon was held in the works restaurant by the Sales girls. She was presented with a lovely gift. We welcome Margaret Snyder, who replaces Edith. We also welcome Isabelle Bartholomew to Sales. . . .

Celebrates

TRANSFER: Wesley Goss is transferring from the DC Division to Developmental Division. To celebrate his last day with DC he wore a bright yellow shirt, and we mean yellow! You've been back here a long time, Wes, but we know you'll be keeping in very close touch so we will see you frequently. . . . CONGRATS: Happy birthdays to Margaret Taylor, Sept. 7, and Paige Thompson, Sept. 9. Margaret is celebrating her birthday during her two weeks' vacation and is now probably pulling in some big ones way up north. . . . WELCOME: To Jean Stokke and LaDonna Gulley. Jean comes from the Developmental Section, and LaDonna is a product of the drafting training school. . . . VICTIM: Jack Kirlin disposed of those sheepskin pads on top of his crutches. The hot weather made them unbearable. Incidentally, those crutches rated him a closer parking place. . . . FISHY: Jake Sherbondy promised Ralph Kacck and "Moose" Foltz he would demonstrate his technique of catching bass out of Sylvan Lake. Jake caught a 16-in. bass for the boys. It was after nightfall and the boys are still in the dark, as to how he did it. . . . OH JOY: Hank Gerdom won a deferment from the bugle calls and standings in line. . . . SUCCESS: The big golf tournament was a huge success even if Dent Manecke did have to carry soda pop. . . . SURVIVED: Dick Richards came through in fine shape considering the fact that he took on a son-in-law. Dick said for once he didn't have to pass cigars. . . . NEW-FANGLED: Charlie Koomjohn has become a shiftless driver since he bought a new Chevy. . . . LUCKY: Bob Dobbin picked a fine hot week to be on vacation. . . . NEW HOUSE: The Ross's (Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross) have started housekeeping in their new house. . . . SOME STUFF: Bob Starkel usually wore sport shirts when he was with the AC Division. Now he wears dainty bow ties. . . . Lowell Ray made a trip to the other end of the office to ask Carl Mann where the "G" folders were. I wonder what his thoughts were when he found they were practically at his elbow. . . . OLD FRIENDS: We were very happy to see three familiar faces last week by the appearances of Rudy Alexander, now working at the Hanford Works in Washington; D. W. Martin, now at San Francisco, and Wilma (Kirby) Mitzenius from the Denver, Colo., office.

Inquiring Reporter:

"DO YOU THINK TRUCKS SHOULD BE BANNED FROM THE HIGHWAYS SUNDAYS?"

SHIRLEY CUNNINGHAM
Bldg. 19-2

"I don't think trucks should be banned from the highways Sundays, or any other day, as long as they contribute to the upkeep of our highways."

DEWEY C. COBB
Bldg. 26-4

"No. Our highways are public property and every individual or corporation paying taxes to build and maintain these roads has an equal right to use them. Banning trucks from the highways on Sundays would be unfair to a vital portion of our transportation service."

CLARA PECKHART
Bldg. 4-2

"Yes. Although the majority of truck drivers are excellent and courteous drivers, banning them on Sundays would relieve part of the congestion on the highways when there are so many pleasure cars out."

HARRY B. RICHARDSON
Taylor St.

"No, not at this time. Although they are a menace to our week-end driving, they are seriously needed to transport materials vital to the defense effort and fresh food which we all need."

FRED TAYLOR
Bldg. 10-1

"I think trucks should be banned from the highways on Sundays, because it is the only time working people can get out and enjoy the highways. It cannot be done with so many trucks on the highway. Then they drive so close together, so let's take them off on Sunday."

Elex Club to Hold Election Sept. 10-14

The Elex Club will hold its annual election of officers for 1951-52 Monday, September 10, through Friday, September 14, Thelma Stone, out-going president announced this week.

Ballots will be distributed to each member by contact girls. Members are asked to return ballots to Gladys Forst, Bldg. 18-1 by 5 p.m. Friday, September 14. The tellers are Virginia Simon, Mary Harper, Geraldine Schmidt, Frieda Knoche, Josephine Eme, Marian Davies, Mable Miller, and Peggy Turschman. Votes will be counted at 6:30 p.m. September 17 in the Women's Activities Office, Bldg. 18-3. The results will be announced September 21.

All terms of office are for one year, with the exception of the candidate for director who receives the highest vote. She will serve for a two-year term.

STAG: The girls in the Tabulating Section had a spaghetti dinner over at Gloria Geesaman's house in Anthony Wayne Village. Irene Whelan made the sauce, and they all chipped in on the rest. . . . Another party was held Sept. 6 at the Colonial in honor of Barb Meyer. She is leaving to attend a girls' college in Texas. Best wishes and good luck to you, Barb. We all miss you very much, so let us hear from you. . . . Welcome: Joe Fotheringham, a trainee from Schenectady, will be with us for six weeks. Hope you enjoy your stay here, Joe. . . . Betty James is with us again as a typist in Regional Warehouse (Customer Billing). It's swell having you back, Betty. . . . Mary Mishler has a new home. She moved to 2311 South Wayne. Best of luck and happiness in your new house. . . . Max Harris' wife had a baby boy which weighed somewhere around eight pounds. His name is Kevin. Congratulations. . . . What's this we hear about Florence Mullaney trying to sharpen her fountain pen, and using a phone for a stapler? . . . Everyone in payroll would like Pauline Meehan to give them all the recipe on how to make cherry pie out of peaches. (That's what she said.) . . . Ruth Meeks and Beverly Goshorn are now a year older. Happy birthday, kids, and may you have many more. . . . We advise Ruth Graft to either wait until it gets cold and the ice is frozen for skating, or else find a rink. It gets rather dangerous using the floor in payroll. It is somewhat slippery. . . . Dora Holycross and Betty Carper went to Chicago over the week-end. . . . We welcome Customer Billing's new girl. She is Lois Baumgartner. Best wishes, Lois, and it's swell having you with us all. . . . Ricky (Accounting) and Linc Young (Sales) spent a nice Labor Day week-end by moving to the El May at Waynedale. (For people who, like me, have no idea what the El May is, it is an apartment building with each apartment having its own outside entrance). Best wishes in your new home, Ricky and Linc. The Youngs also had an uncle come to visit them. He has just recently arrived in this country from Germany. We hope he loves our country like we all do, and hope he also makes it his permanent home. . . . Anyone who finds any stray matches please send them to Lois Harlow in Sales. It seems she is getting blisters on her hands from rubbing two sticks together just to light a cigarette. . . . Mr. Staak of Sales just completed a week's vacation. He attended an alumni meeting in Pittsburgh. We hope he had an enjoyable time. . . . Bill Boggess celebrated his birthday Aug. 29. We do hope you have many more.

PENSIONER PARADE

The postman has been bringing Effie Wyatt a link to her past work at the Fort Wayne Works through letters from Pete Conway, in the U. S. Navy overseas. In 1946, Effie and some of her co-workers in FHP Motor Div. 14 at Taylor St. decided to put their names inside the packing cases in which they placed spare parts for the Navy. A few months ago, Effie received word that one of the boxes she prepared had been received by Navyman Conway, whose home is in Indianapolis, during routine inventory and inspection of condition of spare parts. Effie has been corresponding with Conway and looks forward to seeing pictures of him and wife and child. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ross have returned home from a trip to New Orleans. They visited Pensacola, Fla., Panama City, and stopped at Warm Springs, Ga. One of the highlights of their trip was wading in the Gulf of Mexico. Mr. Ross formerly worked in FHP Motor Div. 14 at Taylor St.

MARKS UP 40 YEARS—A. R. Hall (left), Bldg. 4-5, was the guest of honor Wednesday, Aug. 29, at a picnic to celebrate his 40th anniversary with G-E. Attending the affair were members of the FHP Motor Div. 15 Production Section and their families. Pointing at the big "40" are (l-r) Mr. Hall, J. H. Oman, F. L. Gale, and H. G. Siebold.

THIRTY-YEAR MAN—Edwin Kimmel, FHP Motor Div. 13, is shown reading a letter congratulating him on his 30 years of service with General Electric. Mr. Kimmel completed this record July 23.

HEY YOU, PENSIONERS who are members of the Quarter Century Club, don't forget that we are looking forward to seeing you at the annual outing at Camp Limberlost tomorrow. Bring along some news for our column, won't you? No matter how small the berg is that you live in, there certainly must be some news. For instance, Carl Borchert, from way down in Roanoke, Ind., can't you tell us something about our friend Hap Leider? Check up on him, maybe he's trying to raise headless and featherless chickens, who knows. And, Al Nickolson, are you still down in Markle, Ind.? What's with people down there? The rest of you whose addresses I do not have, come up and let's talk over old times . . . JUNK BROS. Carl (Snuffy), the worrying one, and Clem (Bud), the silent one, both work in the Wire Mill. Then there's Irwin (Butch), guard at Broadway West Gate, the miserly one. They all went fishing. On the way to the lake, they stopped to buy worms. It was Butch, the miserly one's, turn to buy, so he ordered 100 for 35 cents. Snuffy remarked that he didn't believe 100 would be enough. After arguing and losing almost an hour's time, Butch finally cut loose and spent another 35 cents. After fishing awhile, Snuffy happened to look at Butch and began to say to himself, "Oh, no, it just can't be." So he looked again and sure enough it was. Butch had caught an undersize fish, and there he was with his finger down in the stomach of the fish trying to retrieve the worm. When Snuffy asked why, Butch replied, "They cost nearly a third of a cent apiece." Through all this, Bud still remained silent. (Reminds you of Chico Marx). . . . WE ARE SORRY to hear Mrs. Guy Oberlin had to undergo major surgery. Best of everything, Mrs. Oberlin. We wish you a speedy recovery. . . . PLUMBERS: Bill Rohe was discussing with Andrew Woodward the art of picking the plums which cannot be reached with a step ladder. Andy said he knocks them off with a long pole while his wife stands below and catches them in a blanket. Bill says that's the old-fashioned way. "I don't even own a ladder. I use a long pole with a fish sack attached. I knock the plums off with the pole and catch them in the fish sack. Next year I'm going a step further. I'm going to attach a pair of snippers on the end of the pole and let 'em roll right in the sack."

Have you heard about Oscar "Fearless" Rodenbeck and his battle with the bats? It's a very simple procedure. First, he corners them in a bedroom, seals up the doors and goes back to bed. The next day, after calling an exterminator, he is sure that they will be gone. Wouldn't a good swing with a broom be cheaper, Oscar? . . . Mary Jane Howe recently acquired a kitten which she calls Smokey. The rest of her family calls it Tommy, much to Miss Howe's disgust. Wonder what's wrong with Tommy. It seems like a nice name for a kitten. . . . Our deepest sympathy to Wilbur Morehouse on the recent death of his mother. . . . George Wralstad has solved the problem of the high price of a hair cut. We heard that he has set up shop in his garage. I wonder if Maurine makes the appointments. . . . If a certain place is as hot as the sidewalk was last Friday, I bet a few masons will mend their ways. The boys were putting in a sidewalk at the Taylor St. plant and a thermometer placed flat registered 114 degrees. . . . Congratulations to Bettie Casebere on her recent engagement. . . . I wonder if Gibby Hilt ever learned not to wear a straw hat after Labor Day. Last Tuesday, the painter made it resemble a masterpiece of modern art. . . . Did you know that Henry Tucker can read a diagram from any position and still complete an installation? He recently installed a spence valve that wouldn't work. Upon checking the diagram, he noted that it was installed according to instructions. It wasn't until quite some time later that a fellow plumber discovered that the valve was installed according to the diagram, but Henry was reading it upside-down.

Luella Boyce is a patient at St. Joseph Hospital, and Edna Lesh is a patient at the Methodist Hospital. We wish them both a speedy recovery and hope to have them back with us soon. . . . We're happy to hear Helen Stabler is at home after undergoing surgery at the Caylor Clinic. . . . John Winstel and his wife are on a three weeks' vacation, touring the southwest. . . . Murray Johnson is catching the big ones (we hope) at Lake Gage on his two weeks' vacation. . . . Some people prefer traveling to the wide open spaces for a vacation. Others like the lake, while there are a few who prefer to just stay at home seeing their own home town. One of those fellows is our good friend, Homer Hibler. A few weeks ago, Homer and his brother Amos decided to tour the Salisbury Axle Works and also visit their former co-worker, Ralph Poling. The report from the trip was that it was almost too much for Homer. The main object he looked for was a chair to rest at short intervals. . . . Bob Stute either has his mind on his work or his work on his mind. One Saturday morning recently, he jumped out of bed, chastening his good wife for not setting the alarm, causing him to be late for work. Then she informed him what day it was. . . . Anita Boyd went squirrel hunting recently. She spotted one of the little fellows in a tree. She thought she would sit down on the ground and watch him come out for a good shot. It was such a nice warm day, and Anita was so relaxed she dropped to sleep. When she awakened, she found she had been lying in poison ivy.

Welcome to Mabel O'Neil, Jo Lee Zimmerman, Kathleen Beckman, Louise Bell and Thelma K. . . . Delores S.'s husband believes in following directions. Since Delores had numerous things to do one night, she had her husband help mix a cake. A little later she turned around and to her astonishment, he was mixing it with his hands. At her cry of alarm, he explained it said right on the recipe, "if you do not have an electric mixer, blend by hand." . . . Something to see: Delores Gladbach going through her motions of describing a toy egg. . . . Esther M. discovered that oil doesn't work when trying to glue a lead. . . . Zara, it would be nice if we could, but a salt shaker just won't work —you have to use lipstick. . . . Really, it is worth your time to go back in Test and Inspection and see the very entertaining art gallery. . . . Congratulations to George Reagon, the Army Inspector, on the new addition, a boy. . . . What a combination Zirk Rogers had before him—cherry pie, a coke and a light bulb. Did he eat the light bulb, too? . . . Arnold Wendel, they say you have to use a rifle to shoot squirrel instead of a shotgun. . . . Some of the people around the Test Section were complaining Thursday of smelling a dead mouse. It was pretty well cleared up when it was explained that the odor they smelled was a skunk that Moe and Lee received at noon playing euchre. . . . Marty Sexton is leaving us today to go with her husband, who is in the Navy. Bill is home for 24 days and then they will head for Boston. We'll sure miss you, Marty. . . . Margaret Ekelberry had a shock last Friday when she settled down to a lunch of potato and cucumber peelings and egg shells. She brought the wrong sack. . . . Bob Pence bought two buck rabbits. One turned out to be a doe, so now Bob has rabbits for sale. . . . Congratulations to Gene Werling and his wife. A small son David arrived last Saturday. . . . We are sorry to learn that Pinky Barnes is in the hospital. We all hope to see you back with us real soon, Pinky. . . . What is the mystery of why Lubadell D. went around all day with her shoes unfastened.

Elmer Sloan enjoyed a big fishing trip in Wisconsin over Labor Day. . . . The 11 and 21 frame line wants George Miller to accept their apology. From where I sit, I think it's fifty-fifty. . . . A speedy recovery to Helen Doty. . . . The Hoosier Hoe Downers are opening up the Busco Legion next Saturday night. Jerry McKown wants to see his G-E buddies up there, too. . . . Doris Moon can really catch fish at Turkey Lake from what we hear. . . . Marie Wilson is selling doughnuts at the Auburn fair. . . . Oscar Schelper was all worn out the other morning after having an argument with his morning news boy. He even wore his house slippers to work. . . . Katie Clark says, "It's sure nice to have friends when it comes to having flat tires." . . . Elsie Logue got a new Pontiac for a wedding gift, or was it just BIG STAR HAS BRIGHT LIGHT—Betty Hutton, star of "The Greatest Show on Earth," forthcoming Paramount color movie, here poses with the largest incandescent lamp bulb in the world. The giant bulb was provided by General Electric at the request of C. B. DeMille to illuminate the circus grounds during the shooting of the "teardown" sequence.

Charles Rice is sporting some swell blisters on his hands to prove that he is not at all lazy. It all came about when he misunderstood Dick Brouwer about which snow fence to take down and transfer it to Memorial Park. Charley thought it was queer when no one showed up to help him, but he went right on working and struggling. After a long time, he found out that he was taking down the wrong fence. One thing sure is Mr. Rice did not put it back up. . . . Pres Slack is in the spotlight these days by having his picture in the paper and all. One thing is certain, Pres and the other fellows are doing a marvelous job with those youngsters in the Little League, and it is certain to show up in future years. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Red (Harold) Braden are the proud parents of a baby girl named Kay Louise. . . . Marilyn Richards became Mrs. Robert Folsom and quit to be a full time housewife. . . . Harold Hohman is very handy with a trick knife. He is so good, in fact, that it is a good thing that he had his vacation this week or we just might have had a lost time accident. Anyway, we are glad that Harold has all of his fingers left.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to E. G. Waldschmidt on his 35th anniversary with the G-E Company Wednesday, August 29. . . . ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the approaching marriage of Nancy Lee Wells to Duane Cole, son of Minta Cole, Bldg. 18-3. The wedding will be solemnized at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 22, at the Simpson Methodist Church. . . . GRAND CHAMPION: Leola Johnson, Bldg. 18-3, came in to work Thursday morning all excited. Her sister, Dorothea, received the honor of having the 4-H Club grand champion steer entry at the Auburn Fair. That really is an accomplishment for an eleven year old girl. . . . VISITS: Juanita Spice, Payroll, and her husband spent the Labor Day holiday at Muskegon, Mich. Sue Carol Kryder visited a very special friend at Ft. Riley, Kans., over the holiday. Esther Sears, Bldg. 18-3, has been making trips to Indianapolis where her husband is a patient at the Veterans Hospital. . . . WELCOME is extended to Doris McKeefer, who recently transferred to the Personnel Division from Winter Street. She is replacing Barbara Hyman, who has been added to the WORKS NEWS staff. . . . Joan Leider, daughter of A. E. Leider, Bldg. 18-3, has accepted a nursing position in the Decatur Hospital. . . . HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Helen Dafforn, Bldg. 18-1, last Saturday. . . . WINED AND DINED: Jay Greer is being wined and dined this week. He is leaving for Schenectady where he will be added to Robert Paxton's staff. His genial greetings will be missed in Fort Wayne. We hope he will enjoy his new work. . . . A goodwill ambassador, in the form of a slightly soiled blond cocker, made the rounds of Bldg. 18 last week. He seemed unmindful of any and all invitations to leave and refused to accept a warning notice, so he was evicted! . . . Last Friday afternoon, it was 98 degrees at 3 o'clock. Oh well, cheer up, it is almost time for icy pavements.

50,000-Watt Lamp Dramatizes Hollywood Lighting Revolution

HOLLYWOOD—For the shooting of the spectacular circus "teardown" sequence in "The Greatest Show on Earth," a forthcoming Paramount color movie, Director Cecil B. DeMille used two of the greatest incandescent G-E light bulbs on earth.

The bulbs, 50,000 watts each, produce as much light as 1,000 100-watt lamps of the household variety. Their use dramatized a lighting revolution occurring in the color sets of Hollywood motion picture studios.

According to General Electric illuminating engineers, at Nela Park, Cleveland, who are playing a guiding role in the movement, this revolution involves the use of incandescent lighting systems in place of arc lights, which have served the purpose since the inception of color movies.

Incandescent lamps facilitate the production of color motion pictures at a time when Hollywood is emphasizing such pictures as a means of meeting the competition of black-and-white television. Now practical for the first time to illuminate large color movie sets, incandescent systems reduce sharply the heat, weight, power, and cost problems which have bothered studios in the past.

First Large Scale Use

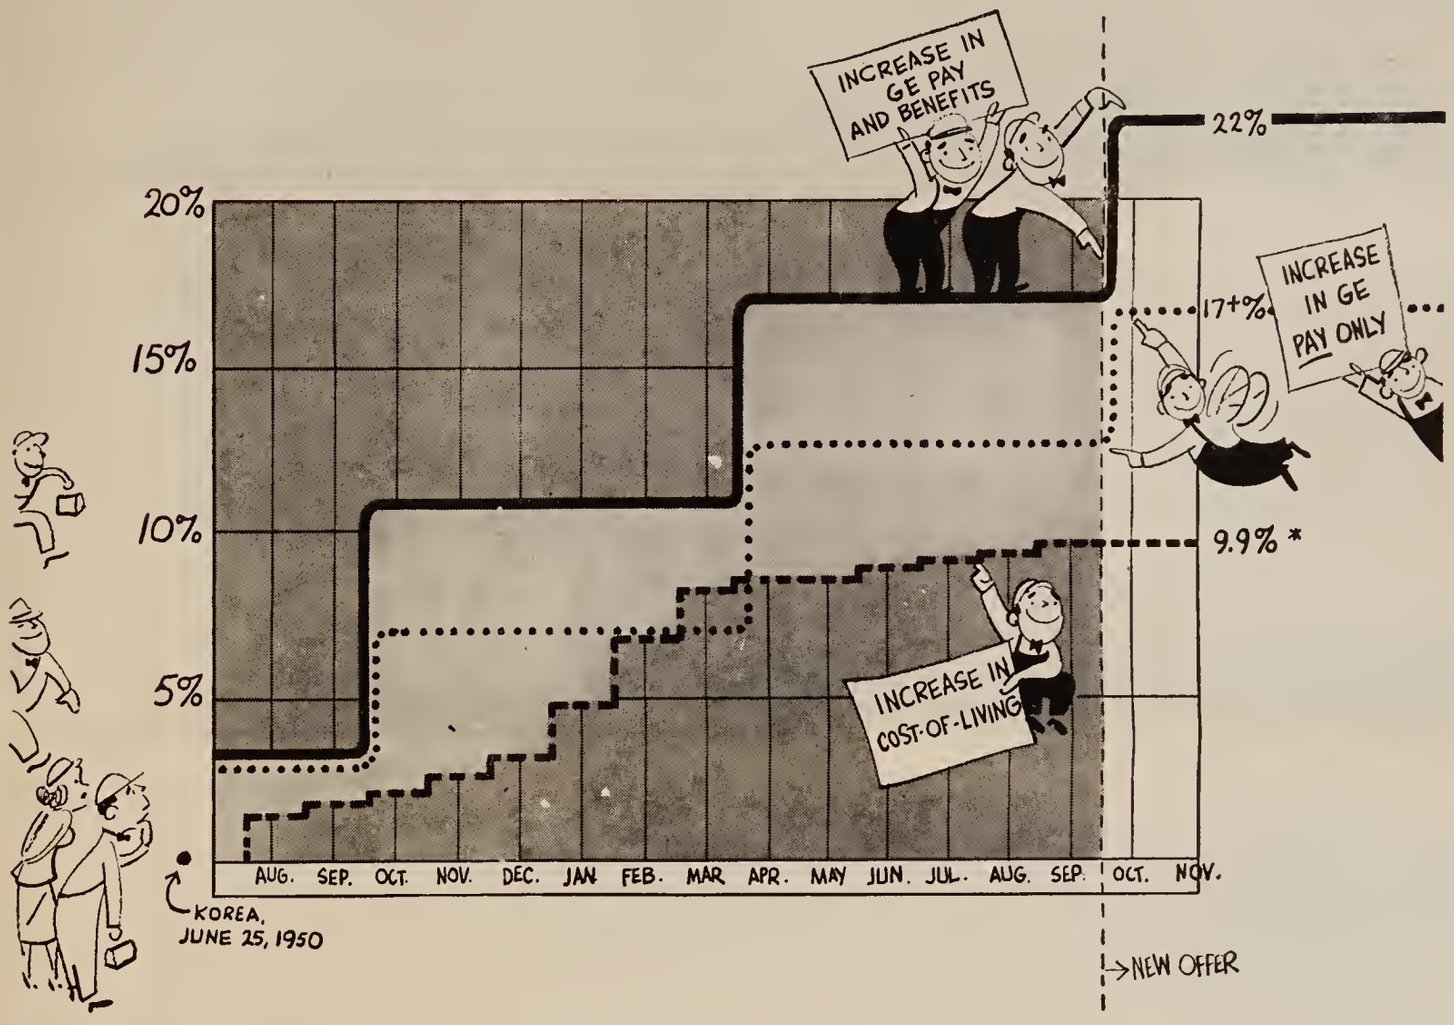
Among the first large scale use of incandescent lighting systems for color movies was that for the DeMille spectacle of circus life. Development of such a system was especially timely, for he had to devise a lighting technique which would eliminate any fire hazard before he could take his cameras under the canvas of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus tent.

Paramount lighting engineers designed incandescent lamps in adjustable beam spotlights. The lighting units comprising 5,000-watt weigh only 12 pounds each, as compared with 150-pounds for arc lights. They have the additional advantages of being operable from a central switchboard, generating so little heat that they could be operated during an entire circus performance, and lacking such side effects as smoke and noise. DeMille said the units were four times more effective than any equipment used previously in illuminating large indoor areas.

Filter Needed

Heretofore, incandescent lamps could not be used to illuminate color movie sets without color-correcting filters. These filters absorbed 60 per cent of the light, and additional lamps required to make up for this loss caused sets to become uncomfortably warm.

Color photography in the past has required approximately four times as much light as black-and-white photography. For this reason, together with the fact that incandescent lamps lacked the same color characteristics as color film, and consequently had to be used with filters, carbon arc lamps became standard for color movie photography on the larger sets.



We can't say Cozy Walper can't kill two birds with one stone. She can blow bubbles with gum and work at the same time. Also happy birthday, Cozy. . . . Dick Patton is known as the "Roanoke Romeo." Is it because she had to gather the eggs first? . . . Who could have nailed Ed Bandt's clothes chest shut last night? He had a hard time getting his hat and shoes. Shame on you, boys. . . . Does George Marschand have a life lease on the check pool in Group 17x70? All the boys are beginning to wonder. . . . Alvie Meyer, 17x11, has been winning all the euchre games. He has a new system, "double trump." The other players would like to know more about it. . . . Also, Mr. Meyer, please keep your chewing tobacco supply a little more fresh. Please don't let it get so stale. Poor Hollie can't do without it. . . . Howard Householder's baby must be getting low on shoe supply as Howard hasn't been winning at euchre lately. Have a heart, fellows. Go a little easy, Herman Meyer, or we will all be barefooted. . . . Watch out everyone, Lloyd Smith in 17x11 has a new Hornet. He had it up to 90 per and thought he heard St. Peter speaking to him, so he slowed down. . . . Jim Stauffer and Marguerite Stahl are looking for sore arms after having smallpox vaccinations.

WE PROPOSE...

LAST WEEK we proposed a new 2½% general pay increase for most all General Electric employees, effective Sept. 15th.

Further—we proposed that our employees also receive an increase in pay equal in percentage to the percentage of increase in the "cost-of-living" (Consumers' Price Index) between March 15th and September 15th; and again next March 15th, if permitted by the Wage Stabilization Board.

The chart above shows you that—on the basis of this proposal—increases in G.E. pay alone would be nearly double the increase in the "cost-of-living"* since Korea.

And when you add the insurance and other benefit increases since last September, you can see that the rise in G.E. pay and benefits together would be nearer 2½ times as much as the rise in the "cost-of-living" since Korea.

TO A PRICELESS FRIEND

When God looked down from Heaven on me,
He saw just what the need would be,
A friend to help me day by day,
To give me strength and guide my way.

You are the friend He put down here.
He crossed our paths that yesteryear
So we could share each other's care.
For friends like you are very rare.

The memories of our joy and sorrow
Mean much today but more tomorrow.
Looking back on years gone by,
How the days and weeks did fly.

The fun we had on line one
Is where our friendship first begun.
Never forget "fluffy goose" and "seven."
We'll talk it over when in Heaven.

Although you're leaving this ole G-E,
We'll still be friends, just wait and see,
For friends like you don't fade away.
They just grow dearer, day by day.

Novelist Plummer

G-E News Editor Has First Novel Published

Miss Catharine Plummer, Editor of the G-E Chemical Department News at Pittsfield, Mass., has been successfully launched on a new spare-time career. She has taken up fiction writing and her forthcoming book, "The Rose on the Summit," which has just been published, is the result.

Miss Plummer has chosen a subject and locale for her book with which she is familiar. Boston and its suburbs has been her home most of her life, and she was graduated from St. Mary's, a school conducted by the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur. In 1940 she came to General Electric as a secretary in the Employee Relations Department. In 1943 she became a WORKS NEWS editor.

In the story, Nodie O'Connor steps across the invisible line between childhood and adulthood during the last four days of high school, which terminate with graduation exercises. Further development shows what a change these four important days can bring to a host of lives.

Although she has looked forward to being grown up, when the time came to assume mature responsibilities, Nodie rebelled at having to give up the security of the known—adolescence—for the insecurity of the unknown—adulthood. Then she realizes that life is a series of new and different experiences. Each person, regardless of age, is undergoing a drastic change either in environment or fundamental attitudes. Mother Sacred Heart is compelled to leave the school that has been her life for thirty years. Nodie's best friend, the beautiful Francesca, has decided on the life of a Carthusian nun. Tommy is reunited with the God he denounced for years. And even her parents overcome their objections to Nodie's desire to become an artist.

Has Emotional Power

According to the publisher's review, "The Rose on the Summit" is a novel of singular emotional power, successfully blending a sympathetic picture of Catholic life which will bring a thrill of recognition to all Catholic readers and a perceptive portrayal of the conflict of youth and age, with both the girls and the Sisters delicately drawn as individuals.

Her first published work appeared in book stores August 24. Miss Plummer has already started her next novel.

G-E Takes Top Honors in Ham League

HAM LEAGUE CHAMPS—Members of the championship G-E Club Ham League team are shown above: (front row l-r) Joe Trentadue, Mike Trott, Bill Holloway, Art Smethers, Perry Esterline; (center row l-r) Walt Hein, Bill Suelzer, Bill Schible, Arnold Konow, Al Hans; (back row l-r) Sam Baumgartner, Carl Reiter, George Langenberg, Fred Bergman, and Joe Ort. Leo Allmandinger was absent when the photograph was taken.

The G-E Club Ham League team finished a very successful season last week winning both the seasonal and tournament championship and copping all the high honors and trophies.

The team played outstanding ball all season. They lost only two ball games all year, one in seasonal play and one in the tournament.

Manager Bill Schible, well-pleased with the results of the season, said every member did his share. Probably the two most outstanding players, according to Bill, were Art Smethers, Club No. 1 pitcher who was one of the best in the league, and Perry Esterline, Club second baseman, who came up with several outstanding plays.

This year's championship was the first for the team since they won the first season five years ago. The Club has placed second for the last three years.

Bowling Starts At Refinished Decatur Alleys

The Decatur G-E Club 1951-1952 bowling season got underway Wednesday, Sept. 5, with the eight-team G-E Fraternal League prying off the season's lid.

Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 10 and 11, the men's shop leagues will take to the lanes. The G-E Women's League will open its season Thursday, Sept. 13, followed by a newly-organized mixed doubles league Friday, Sept. 14.

The G-E Fraternal League began its eighth season this year. The league consists of teams sponsored by Elks, Macklin; Moose, Burke; K. of C., American Legion, Peterson Elevator A. C.'s, Teeple Truck Lines, West End Restaurant, and G-E Club. Teeple Truck Lines are the defending champions.

The alleys have been resurfaced and new G-E tel-e-foul lights have been installed. A new inlaid floor has been laid in the club rooms to add to the attractiveness of the club.

G-E Squares Bowlers Urged to Join Team

The all-Squares bowling team is being organized this year by R. W. Dochterman, Bldg. 4-6. Any members of the Squares Club interested in playing on the team should contact Mr. Dochterman on Ext. 492.

G-E Marksman Places First In Pistol Shoot

G-E marksman Charles R. Atkinson shot his way into one first and two second places at the Camp Perry, O., Pistol Matches Sunday.

Top pistol shots of the country took part in the Camp Perry contest, which ranks second only to the National Pistol Meet.

Pistol Champ

Mr. Atkinson won first place in the .45 caliber time fire match; second in the .45 caliber rapid fire match, and second place in the .45 caliber grand aggregate.

For many years Mr. Atkinson has been taking part in state, regional and national tourneys. He holds several first place medals from state matches and other awards from regional meets.

Mr. Atkinson is an engineer in Bldg. 31-2.

BOWLING NOTES

There are openings for one five-man bowling team and several individual bowlers for the men's teams at the G-E Club. Anyone interested is requested to contact Charlie Wilt at the G-E Club bowling alleys or on Ext. 742.

Six employes' sons of 16 years or older are needed as pin boys at the G-E Club alleys. Anyone interested is requested to contact Charlie Wilt at the Club.

Blind Bogey Foursomes Tee Off At Brookwood Saturday, Sept. 7

The G-E Club Blind Bogey golf tournament will be held Saturday, Sept. 15, at the Brookwood Golf Course. The annual affair will be played all day with the final foursomes teeing off by 5 p.m.

Open to all G-E golfers, there will be no charge except green fees for the tournament. Prizes will be donated by the G-E Club.

Bogey Chairman

In addition to the Blind Bogey, the 1951 championship playoff will be held among the Monday Afternoon, Monday Evening, Tuesday Evening and Wednesday Evening leagues. These foursomes will begin play at 9 a.m.

Denton Manecke, Bldg. 4-6, will serve as chairman of the event.

It is much easier to be critical than to be correct.

TUESDAY BOWLERS

The women's Tuesday afternoon bowling league will start Tuesday, Sept. 11. Anyone desiring to bowl, whether coming into the League by complete team or individuals, please contact Tommy Williams, secy., on 2632 or Loretta Day, vice pres., on phone 2526, Div. No. 17 Taylor St., immediately.

G-E Team Ties For 2nd Spot In Owl League

by Bill Geist

The G-E Owls completed the softball season finishing third in the playoffs. They tied for second place in league standings.

In the first game of the playoff, the Owls downed Zollner A, but lost to Salisbury, who had defeated Zollner B in its first game.

The new champion replacing G-E will be determined in a best of three game series between Indiana Rod and Wire and Salisbury.

The final batting averages for the G-E Owls are as follows:

	AB	R	H	%
Baker	53	10	13	.245	12
Scherer	49	18	14	.286	9
Spiker	23	7	8	.348	5
Jacobs	31	5	9	.290	8
Zurbuch	43	17	16	.372	4
Tipsord	35	13	14	.400	2
Hower	43	11	18	.418	1
Moffitt	19	6	6	.316	7
Grimes	40	10	13	.325	6
Somers	33	4	8	.242	13
Hoevel	22	7	3	.137	14
Crosley	15	3	4	.267	10
Jamison	13	2	5	.385	3
Blauvelt	24	8	6	.250	11
Wiese	1	0	1	1.000

Home Runs: Hower 3, Baker 3, Grimes 1, Blauvelt 1, Scherer 1.

The Putters and the Spoons won their opening playoff matches from the Brassies and Drivers respectively to enter the final phase of the round robin tourney. The winner of this match will meet the four-time champion Hot Shots in an 18-hole affair next Wednesday morning starting at 8:30 a.m.

Paul Billman and Tony Wichman fired 39 and 40 for the Putters to lead in downing the Brassies by nine points. As a team, the winners shot eight and a half strokes below their averages to turn the trick. The Brassies on the other hand pared only one stroke off its team average and that was the difference. Stultz came in with a 42 for the Brassie low of the day.

The Spoons put the Drivers out of the running by posting an eight-point win. Fred and Herman Uhrick played their hearts out but couldn't overcome the handicap of playing with just three men. I don't mean to take any credit away from the Spoons, who shot 12 under team average, but it might have been different if the Drivers would have all been there. Fred shot a 38 while his brother was one behind with a 39. For the Spoons, John Stark carded a 39 for low.

The final league action last Thursday had three forfeits again. The only match pitted the Hot Shots and the Brassies. The Champs came out on top by three points.

DuChemin, Vinson Get New Posts

Nicholas M. DuChemin, of Lynn Field, Mass. has been appointed manager of manufacturing for the General Electric Company, responsible for the Company's Manufacturing Services Division, G-E President Ralph J. Cordiner announced last week. Arthur M. Vinson has been named assistant manager of manufacturing by Mr. DuChemin.

The new manager's headquarters will be at the Company's executive offices in New York. He will also maintain offices at Schenectady. Mr. Vinson will be located in Schenectady.

Mr. DuChemin, a native of New York City, is a graduate of St. Bonaventure's College, Newfoundland, and also has had special courses at Boston University, Harvard, and Suffolk Law School, Boston.

He entered G-E in 1914 at Lynn River Works, graduated from the Apprentice Course, spent two years in service in the Navy during World War I, and returned to the Company in 1919 to work in the Lynn River Works Turbine Department.

Transferred to Lynn

After serving as boring mill hand and machine crew head, he was transferred to West Lynn Works and rapidly advanced to the position of general superintendent in 1923, making him one of the youngest executives in the Company.

He was appointed assistant works manager in 1935, acting manager in 1942, and in 1943 works manager. In 1947, he was named manager of the Meter and Instrument Divisions, and in 1949 an assistant general manager of the Apparatus Department. He was appointed general manager of the

Give Me Those Wide Open Spaces!

Everyone of us who drives a car to work and then wishes for a sky hook to hang it on or a collapsible model to slip in a lunch pail knows that we have a parking problem at G-E.

In the good old days, a great number of G-E people rode bicycles to work. But in the past ten years, employees pedalling to work have become a rarer and rarer sight. Now, nearly everybody has a car—but not every car a parking space.

Ever since the war, the number of cars in Fort Wayne and Allen County has increased steadily. This year, 1951-52, according to the Allen County License Bureau, promises to be the biggest ever in the number of vehicles in operation. There are 70,000 in Allen County alone.

Taylor St. employees have no trouble finding parking places, but at the Broadway Plant, particularly on the west side where the Company is unable to lease more land, there just aren't enough parking spaces for all the people who want to drive. At the Broadway Plant, for example, there are more than 8,000 employees, and room for 1,338 parked cars.

The problem becomes most acute between 2:15 and 3:15 p.m. when second shift people arrive for work and the first trick is still occupying the available spots. Many second shift employees have had to park on the streets and move their cars later when the day people have gone home.

A bad situation became worse about a year ago when weekly bus passes were discontinued.

Problem Parkers

Other causes for the parking muddle are employees like the man who walks farther to his parked car than to his home. Another unpopular parker, who doesn't help the situation any, parks in the middle lane of the lot at any angle in the line. As a result, 50 other parkers may be held up getting out of the lot and premium parking space is wasted.

Local management is thoroughly aware of the problem. But at the moment, short of tearing down a building, no relief for G-E parkers is in sight.

Until a better solution to our parking problem can be worked out, let's triple or quadruple up in our cars wherever possible; ride the buses if we can, or get healthy and walk to work if we live near the plant. Consideration for others will also go a long way toward licking our parking worries.

Red Cross Blood Is Free

Rumors that the Red Cross charges for blood furnished to patients in hospitals are seriously hampering the employee donor recruitment program now underway in the Fort Wayne Works, according to reports received in the Fort Wayne Regional Blood Center.

Contrary to these unfounded rumors, blood supplied by the Red Cross is given patients free of charge. The only cost is the fee which the hospital or doctor charges for administration of the blood—usually about $6 a pint.

Sometimes, for some reason, patients prefer to utilize the services of a professional donor in place of Red Cross blood. In these cases, there is usually a $25 a pint charge for blood.

Let's get it straight and stop these rumors. The Red Cross makes no charge for the blood it furnishes.

As employees eager to help in this nation-wide effort to save lives and help others, we should turn in our volunteer donor cards to our foremen or supervisors now.

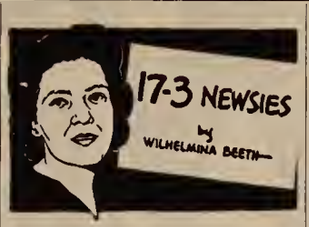
SICK LIST



The following people have been reported on the sick list, and returned to work:

Sick List

Returned to Work

Virginia Mileski, Virginia Meier, Raymond Williams, Glenn Witte, Mary Warren, John Poinsette, Aura Jean Westerfield, Marjorie Wall, Beatrice Eaglcson, Mary Cermola, Elizabeth Cleaves, Fred Baker, Edwin M. Coburn, Harry Kessler, Leon Gamble, Evelyn Harmeyer and Gerald G. Gehl.

NEW BOSS: Marlene Louise, the little miss in three-cornered pants, is the new boss at the Murray and Trella Gause home. The mama is a former co-worker, and Grace Jones is the proud new aunty. . . . Minnie Durnell has a brand new great niece. . . . We think that Juanita Likens has an eye on being a great niece. We think that Juanita Likens has an eye on being a Rockette at Radio City. She has been getting in a little practice in high kicking. . . . Jerry Snyder has joined the "I gotta new car" class. It's a Chevy. . . . SURPRISED: Loeta Hollis and Mildred Briggs had a surprise mud bath the other day on the parking lot. . . . Arlene Winebrenner went to Chicago last weekend to attend a ball game. . . . Virginia Hamilton had company from Denver, Colo. Mary Murphy went to Kentucky to visit her father who has been ill. . . . We extend our sympathy to Harold Robbins in the death of bis small son. . . . VACATIONERS: Naomi Robinson and Frances Wilkie were on vacation last week. . . . Bob Walt took his small daughter to the Auburn Fair. We think Bob enjoyed it more. . . . Jerry Snyder doesn't know what she would do for tomatoes and mangoes if it wasn't for Ivah Grandstaff's garden. . . . Edna Churchward fell and received a foot injury. We hope to see you back soon. . . . Charlie Francies has returned to the local veteran's hospital. . . . Dorothy Johnson is going to have to carry a bucket along for gas. . . . FROM MISSOURI: Joe Jensen is hard to convince. He has had a stiff hip, but he doesn't believe a day's fishing in the sun would be of any help. . . . Nora Vanover has gone to Bldg. 26 to work. The second day over there she lost her purse. We know from experience that is a habit. . . . After tasting a sample of Harold Bowker's daughter's cookies, we are sure she will give some of the 4-H Club girls a little competition. . . . Mae Jones made Labor Day a real labor day. She not only washed, but did her ironing too.

SUMMER ALMOST GONE

It seems to me our summer
Is leaving awful soon;
Though, of course, it's now September
And it started back in June.

But it seems I just got ready
To enjoy it this year;
When I find it's after Labor Day
And fall is almost here.

It isn't that I don't like fall.
Because I really do.
It's just because I realize
What comes when fall is through.

I know, of course, that winter
Is a good three months away.
But if autumn goes like summer,
I'll expect it any day.

I suppose I'm pessimistic
But it seems good things don't last.
If it's something I enjoy,
Time removes it awful fast.

And a thing, of course, like winter,
With its ice and sleet and snow,
Slippery streets and zero weather,
Always moves along too slow.

But I guess I shouldn't worry,
When I know that after all,
We will have before it's winter,
Thirteen weeks of pleasant fall.

So, I might as well enjoy it,
Since it comes but once a year,
And forget about cold weather,
At least until it's here.

Margaret Harrison has a beautiful diamond. The wedding bells will be in December. . . . Adele Wietfeldt, Harley Springer and Art Luessenhop were among those attending the Quarter Century Club outing. . . . We understand Adele helped serve food. . . . Virginia Worley received some very nice gifts on her departure. She wishes to thank everyone. . . . Bob Rodgers and Loyal Hilsmier are leaving to go to Broadway. . . . Mable Shinn brought some nice ripe peaches in and passed them out. They were from her own tree. . . . Wanetta Shoaff is back to work after taking a two-weeks' vacation. . . . Eva Webber celebrated a birthday and passed out candy. . . . Alma Raymer spent the week-end at Moline, Ill., visiting her son and his family. . . . Ruth LaPradd had as her guest over the week-end her brother and his family from California. She also had a family reunion Sunday. . . . Happy birthday to Lou Heckman and Irma Beard.

John Lare Named Supt. Of General Service

John L. Lare was appointed superintendent of the General Service Division this week by Donald D. Brayer, plant engineer. The appointment becomes effective Monday.

. . . new superintendent

Mr. Lare came to General Electric in 1922 as a crane follower. One month later, he entered the Apprentiee School and graduated as a plumber in 1924. After graduation, he spent a year as a craftsman in General Service and then went into the plant engineering division, where he remained until 1932. He worked for five years in the Power Plant, spending the latter two as a foreman.

Returning to plant engineering as a section leader in 1938, Mr. Lare remained there until 1942, when he was appointed assistant superintendent of General Service. He holds this position at the present time.

Organizations to which Mr. Lare belongs are Apprentice Alumni Association, Supervisors Club, Foremen's Association, Squares Club and Quarter-Century Club.

The Lares, who live on Bethel Rd., have one daughter.

Partizan Schedules Meeting Tues., Sept. 18

Partizan Chapter of Elex Club will open their first meeting of the season Tuesday, Sept. 18, at the Leisure Electric Home at 1:30 p.m. Hilda Martin, Dorothea Slyby and Oneita Tobias will be hostesses.

Meter Girls to Meet

Yc Olde Meter Girls Club will open fall activities with a party Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dehler-Hughes Hall.

Scrap Drive Moves Ahead In Large M-G

With a spirit of full speed ahead, the members of the Large Motor-Generator Divisions shifted into high gear this week in their current scrap collection drive.

Foremen have been turning in sizable quantities of dormant tools, jigs, dies, and fixtures, which are being investigated for serapping, S. H. Amstutz, a divisional coordinator in the drive, reported.

A committee has been formed to visit each foreman's section periodieally during the drive and to assist them in locating items which should be investigated for serapping. Members of this committee are F. M. Metrailer, C. W. Hale, A. N. Farrell and S. H. Amstutz.

Lab Puts Atoms to Work Here

Activated Cobalt To Supplement X-Ray Inspection

The Works Laboratory received last week what is believed to be the first shipment of radio-active Cobalt to any General Electric Works Laboratory for industrial radio graphic inspection, reported C. M. Summers, Works Laboratory engineer.

A supply of Cobalt 60, one-eighth ineh long by one-eighth ineh in diameter, was reeeived by the Lab from the Oak Ridge National Laboratories, Oak Ridge, Tenn. This tiny pieee of radio-active metal, no larger than the end of a peneil lead, will be used to supplement the Lab's 250,000-volt X-ray maehine. However, Cobalt 60 has the power equivalent to a million-volt X-ray machine. Such a machine costs approximately 280 times more than this supply of aetivated Cobalt.

Not only is there a large differenee in the initial eost, but the difference in size is tremendous. A million-volt X-ray machine is a barrel-shaped object from six to eight feet high and four feet in diameter. A room about one-fourth the size of the G-E Club gym would be needed to house it, R. C. Mosier, a metallurgical Laboratory assistant, explained.

In eontrast, the Cobalt 60 is enclosed in a capsule, especially designed by Fort Wayne Laboratory engineers and less than one inch long and one-half inch in circumferenee. The eapsule, whieh is made of aluminum and steel, was placed on a hook attached to a ten-pound lead plug and stored in an eight-inch cube of solid lead, weighing

Defense Bond Drive Starts September 24

General Electric announced this week that, at the request of the Government, it would cooperate in the nation-wide Defense Bond purchase program being conducted by the U.S. Treasury Department during the months of September and October.

More than 62,000 employees are now purchasing Series E Defense Bonds at the rate of almost $22 million dollars a year, cost price, and additional "E" bonds are being purchased outside the plan by 18,000 employees at the rate of over $6 million dollars annually.

Thus we can do our part without anyone being high-pressured into making subscriptions from which there might be a too-high percentage of cancellations. Pressure of any sort is to be avoided, as we all want these to be sound sales.

The objective of the G-E program will be to bring to the attention of all Company employees the Government's appeal for additional Defense Bond purchases, as well as to remind employees of the desirability, from a selfish standpoint, of an orderly and more or less automatic savings plan under which they are certain to save more than they would under any hit-or-miss plan, our supervisors have agreed.

The announcement explained that the Government needs to refund, over the balance of this year alone, about $30 billion dollars of the $250-odd billion in total Federal debt just to meet maturing bonds, treasury notes, and other Government obligations. This represents money previously borrowed by the Government and now falling due. In addition, it may be necessary for the Government to borrow additional sums to pay for any defense expenditures not offset by tax revenues.

Borrowing from Individuals

It is highly desirable that the

TO ALL GENERAL ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES:

We have been asked by the Government to cooperate in the nation-wide Defense Bond Drive now being conducted by the U. S. Treasury. General Electric men and women will, I am sure, do their part to insure the success of this effort.

I want particularly to urge your examining the G-E Employee Savings and Stock Bonus Plan. It encourages you to save by the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds through regular payroll deductions. It offers you, as a bonus, the opportunity of becoming a stockholder in the General Electric Company and thus sharing in the growth and progress of the Company in which, as an employee, you have such a deep interest. This should normally provide a higher return on your savings than is obtainable from other forms of investment having a comparable degree of safety.

More than 62,000 General Electric employees are now saving regularly under this plan, and 18,000 others are purchasing Defense Bonds outside the plan. I hope that they will consider increasing their participation at this time, and that all employees not now saving regularly will take advantage of this opportunity to begin participation in these convenient and rewarding types of savings.

President

VETS BOOST DEFENSE FUND—The G-E World War Veterans organization contributed $729.47 to the Elex Club defense program this week. The Vets collected this amount at the Broadway, Taylor and Winter Sts. plants for the current Elex project to send boxes of food to employees now in the Armed Forces. Bringing in a day's collection are Roger Fuller, Taylor St.; George D. Ellison, Bldg. 4-4; Mary Zirkle, an Elex defense project chairman, and Ed Martin, president of the G-E Vets Club.

CHANGE OF SCENERY—The G-E Club's champ checker players, Alva Tucker (left) and Al Hazen, both of Bldg. 17-2, have been playing their daily games in McCulloch Park during the warm weather. Kibitzing (l-r) are Ruben Roller, Taylor St.; Bill Speith, Bldg. 19-4, and Dick Gecowetts, Bldg. 19-5.

Butler Univ. Speaker Slated by Supervisors

Fall activities of the Supervisors Club will open Monday evening, Sept. 17, with a meeting at 8 p.m. in the Squares Hall. Dr. L. Gray Burdin, dean of men at Butler University, will speak on leadership, co-chairmen G. E. Hicks and R. D. Wildermuth disclosed today.

Dr. Burdin is a native of Indiana and holds degrees from Butler, Northwestern, Columbia and Indiana universities. He has lectured extensively throughout the United States on effective speech and human relations. He has also published several books and contributed numerous articles to magazines.

The Squares Hall will open at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments and food will be free of charge.

Drivers Urged To Follow Signs At Fairfield Lots

Safety Engineer Herschel L. Smith said today that the Safety Office has been receiving reports of continued violations of the traffic regulations at the Fairfield parking lots.

All out-bound cars from these lots are required to turn right both from the east and west sides of Fairfield Ave. Drivers who turn left when leaving the lots are making a malicious safety violation, Mr. Smith emphasized, because they are turning directly into pedestrian crossings.

He appealed to employees on all shifts to abide by the regulations in a sportsmanlike way, so that it will not be necessary to turn over the problem to local traffic law enforcers.

Cobalt

250 pounds.

Economical and Flexible

The practicality of the newly-received material lies not only in its economy, but in its extreme flexibility. The material gives photographic access to parts that an X-ray machine cannot reach. The activiated metal will be used in non-destructive inspection of Fort Wayne products.

The gamma rays, which Cobalt 60 casts off, can penetrate at least four inches of steel and may have the abiltiy to penetrate six inches of steel, Mr. Mosier stated. It is because of the deep penetration of the gamma rays that it was recommended by Oak Ridge scientists for this use. Gammagraph, the name of the radio graphs taken by Cobalt 60, is derived from the type of rays cast off.

The health hazards involved in radio-active materials require Lab personnel to take every precaution to see that no one is exposed to the rays emitted by this material. Overexposure would damage the red corpuscles of the body and body tissues.

The capsule containing the Cobalt 60 was shipped in a lead container inside a wooden box, especially designed by the Atomic Energy Commission. The box weighs approximately 250 pounds. The capsule was taken from this box and placed on the hook of the lead plug by special instruments in the very short time of one minute and twenty seconds. The room in which the material is used and stored has twelve-inch solid concrete walls.

Protective Instruments

When working in the X-ray lab, each man will have a pencil-type instrument in his pocket. At the end of each day, the instruments, which absorb the same amount of rays as the persons carrying them, will be measured and the amount of radio activity each person has received will be accurately recorded. Each man is allowed exposure to no more than .3 Roentgens accumulation of the rays per week. This amount is an extremely small quantity of the rays given off.

Remote handling devices designed by the Lab will lift the capsule from its storage box and suspend it near the object to be gammagraphed. No Lab employee will be nearer the radio-active material than the control box, which is 15 feet from the capsule.

This initial use of activated Cobalt here may lead to further use of such materials in other phases of lab work, Mr. Summers explained.

Not only does industry benefit from the use of Cobalt 60, but medical science is finding many uses for this particular activated metal.

Bond Drive

Government borrow this money from individuals rather than from banks. When Government borrowing is from banks, new bank deposits are created and hence new amounts of "check book money" are put in the stream of spending as the Government pays out the borrowed money, causing immediate inflation.

Borrowing from individuals, however, does not add to the immediate supply of money pressing on the market, although such borrowing will mean corresponding inflation later when the bonds are cashed unless the right kind and amount of taxes are then levied to offset the amount of the bonds coming due. Obviously every bit of money that can be obtained through the sale of bonds to individuals will keep, by just that much, the borrowing program of the Government from adding to present inflationary pressures.

Program Schedule

Preparations for this program have been under way throughout the Company during the last few weeks. Plant and Office managers have been advised, and discussions of the program have taken place at all management levels. Instructions have been issued by the Treasury Services Division to all paymasters, and all supervisors are prepared to do their part.

A complete description of the provisions of the G-E Employee Savings Plans will be given to all employees in the WORKS NEWS over the next two weeks, following which, each employee will be contacted by his supervisor during the week of September 24 to 28. Supervisors will be prepared to answer any questions which employees may have regarding the Savings Plans, and to assist each employee in signing up under whichever plan, if any, best suits his needs.

Apparatus Department. He was appointed general manager of the Small Apparatus Division in January, 1951.

In this post he directed and was responsible for the over-all organization, operation, and program for the entire division, which includes the Control Department, Fractional Horsepower Motor Department, Industrial Heating Department, Lighting and Rectifier Department, Meter and Instrument Department, Small and Medium Motor Department, Specialty Transformer and Ballast Department, Welding Department, Fort Wayne (Ind.) Works Service Department, and Lynn (Mass.) River Works Service Department.

Mr. DuChemin is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and tbe American Society of Mechancal Engineers. Active in civic affairs, he is past president of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce, and is chairman of the Lynn Junior Achievement, Inc., a civic group.

Formerly of Fort Wayne

Mr. Vinson joined G-E on the Test Course here at Fort Wayne. He later served here as process engineer, DC Motor section head, and inventory control supervisor.

From 1939 until 1945, he held the position of assistant production manager. Mr. Vinson was then transferred to Schenectady as assistant production manager of the Apparatus Department. In 1947, he was named chairman of the committee in charge of Welding Equipment Divisions and, a year later, became manager of the Welding Divisions with headquarters at Fitchburg, Mass.

Early in July of this year, he was appointed manager of Employee and Community Relations for the Small Apparatus Divisions.

A native of Plainfield, Ill., Mr. Vinson graduated from Michigan State College in 1929.

IUE CONTRACT

applied to the Company for a meeting on signing the necessary extension documents.

IUE had previously notified the Company of its intention to terminate the National Agreement Sept. 15. On Tuesday of this week, however, the IUE made the request for the extension at the close of an all-day meeting in which the union had again sought further concessions beyond the Company's economic offer made Aug. 28. The offer included: (1) 1 per cent increase in wages for each 1 per cent increase in the cost-of-living index since March 15 and (2) another 2½ per cent flat increase across the board, subject to Wage Stabilization approval. The Compnay also proposed that wages again be adjusted up or down automatically next March 15, in accordance with changes in the cost-of-living index since March 15, 1951, if such automatic adjustments are still then permissible under Government regulations. As pointed out in last week's WORKS NEWS, this offer would increase G-E pay alone to nearly double the increase in the cost of living since Korea, and the rise in G-E pay and benefits together would be nearer 2½ times as much as the rise in the cost of living since Korea.

In subsequent meetings with the union, Company representatives have continued to point out that the offer is not only a very good one, but is up to the limit of what can reasonably be justified at this time. In agreeing to the request for a temporary extension, the Company pointed out that this should not be taken as an indication that anything was being held back for some final offer later on.

At several plant locations during the last few days the local Management has been notified by the IUE that unless a contract between IUE and the Company was signed by Sept. 15, the IUE would begin picketing the plants Monday, Sept. 17. It is assumed that a temporary extension of the provisions of the contract would eliminate any work stoppage of this nature.

Did you read about the teenagers in Soviet-dominated Czechoslovakia getting the word from the government? The kids have been told to avoid jitterbugging, and ping pong because such things lead to shiftlessness and crime. We knew a ping pong player once that was a pretty nice sort of fellow. Of course, he may have been an exception. The boys have also been told not to waste their time talking about girls, but to spend that same time singing patriotic songs. Can you imagine the local drugstore crowd singing "America" everytime a pretty girl walks by? Sounds like someone's sense of humor needs Czeching.

"LOOK WHAT I GOT"—Says Gurney Lindley (right) to Mrs. Lindley and Charlie Winans as he shows them a traveling bag his co-workers gave him as a retirement gift. Mr. Lindley retired this month after 22 years of service. He first began working for G-E in 1929 as a machinist in Bldg. 20-1. He then transferred to Bldg. 19-2 as a turret lathe operator, and later moved to Bldg. 27 as a vertical turret boring mill operator. Mr. Lindley then went to the Kokomo plant in 1942, returning to Fort Wayne when the plant closed in January, 1949. He was a machinist in FHP Div. 13 at the Taylor St. plant when he retired.

Sept. 21 Deadline Set For Elex Membership

Sept. 21 is the deadline for membership in Elex Club for any women now on payroll, Irene Meyers, Elex Club advisor, announced today. After this date, membership is closed to all women except those who are off work for illness or are off for lack of work during the drive. Women off work at this time may join Elex two weeks after they receive their first pay check, Miss Meyers added.

Elex will sponsor a special series of cultural classes with guest speakers for its members this year, Marie Fox, educational chairman, reported. The course will consist of ten weekly classes, conducted Monday evenings from 7 to 8 p.m. in room 20, Bldg. 16-3.

A fee of one dollar per person will be charged for the entire course. Members who are interested in enrolling in these classes may register at the Women's Activities Offices, Bldg. 18-3, or at Taylor St. beginning Monday.

Rabbi Doppelt First Speaker

Rabbi Frederic Doppelt will discuss "Peace In a World of Anxiety" at the first meeting, which will be Monday, Oct. 8. The second class in the series will be devoted to effective expression, or how to talk, as presented by Verne Sheldon, instructor at Indiana University Extension.

Home management and diet will be discussed at one of the later meetings by Miss Jane Weston, women's program director at radio station WOWO. Other classes in the course will include "Meet Your Mind," personality, floral arrangements, table etiquette, personal grooming and posture and several meetings consisting of a love and marriage clinic.

All women who went to Bermuda may get a complimentary picture of the group at the Broadway and Taylor St. Women's Activities Offices, Miss Meyers also announced.

Christmas cards and wrapping paper may be bought from any Elex contact girl, at the Elex counter in the Employees Store, Bldg. 8-1, or at the Women's Activities office at Taylor St., Miss Meyers reported. Five varieties of cards are available.

Squares Women's Division Lists 1951-52 Calendar

The 1951-52 program of the G-E Squares Women's Division was announced by Mrs. Jay Greer, program chairman, last Tuesday at the club's Get-Acquainted party.

The meetings and chairmen are as follows:

Oct. 9—Potluck and Bridge, Mrs. W. W. Brooks.

Nov. 13—Pillsbury Pancake Supper, Mrs. Richard Thomas.

Dec. 11—Christmas Party, Mrs. E. M. Stanberry.

Jan. 8—Col. L. J. Dockal, speaker; Mrs. J. J. Clarkson.

Feb. 12—Potluck and Bridge, Mrs. Gordon Walters.

March 11—Style Show, Mrs. Wendell Hughes.

April 8—Guest Bridge, Mrs. Leonard Eriekson.

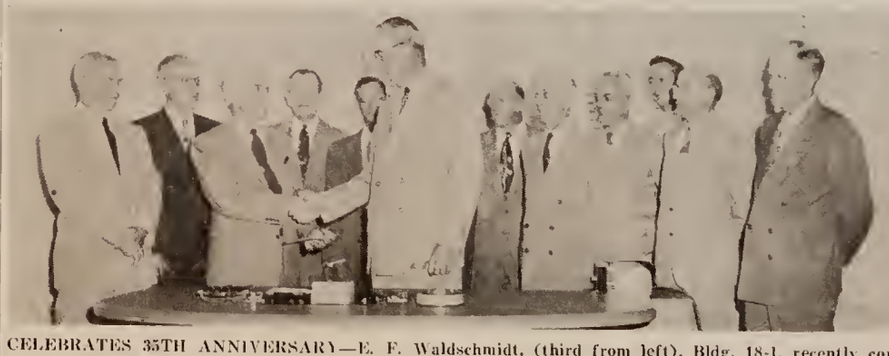
May 13—"Last Round Up," Mrs. Richard Killian.

Happy birthday to Herman Macke and Gladys Cleland. Gladys received a coat hanger and a cigarette lighter from a secret admirer. . . . Best wishes for a speedy recovery for Eileen Younger, who was sticken with polio. . . . Wedding bells rang for Daisy Tannas and Bob Williams last Saturday. They received an electric mixer from their co-workers. It's a big welcome and hello to Connie Mennewisch and Laurel Winans, our new girls in the Bldg. 4-5 office. We all hope the train smoke agrees with you. . . . They are still talking about A. R. Hall's 40th anniversary party. Pete Macke forgot to go to the party after planning for a week. His reason for not going is that the present inflation rate of exchange, $3 is only worth $1.62. We think he just forgot about it. . . . Joe Tricker was invited to the same party, but he arrived a week early. When we have the next party, please notify the fellows in plenty of time. Maybe they will get there in time. . . . Chris Stauffer, Louis Hickernell, Dorothy Jensen, Darrell Franklin, Earl Souers attended the Quarter Century party. Harold Blauvelt left the assembly line to join the production section. Good luck on your new job, Harold. . . . Lee Witte says, "Don't forget to attend the centennial celebration at Monroeville, Sept. 20, 21 and 22.

Albert Phinezy Dies After Week's Illness

Albert B. Phinezy, 41, died Thursday, Sept. 6, at St. Joseph's Hospital. He had been ill for one week. He joined the General Electric Company in 1942 as a helper in Bldg. 20-2, where he worked until his illness.

Survivors include his widow, Florence B.; his mother; a stepson, Donald Pagdett; a stepdaughter, Jo Ann Pagdett; two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Petrie and Mrs. Mattie Lou Collins; two brothers, Ivory and Jefferson Dillard, all of Fort Wayne; a brother, George, of Chicago and a brother, William, of Philadelphia.



Funeral services were conducted Saturday at the Micheaux Funeral Home and the Union Baptist Church. Burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery.

LUCK WAS WITH BOB BLACK: He drove 35 miles and caught of all things, a dog fish. . . . Ralph Waikel and Louie Barrow have been going out to Cedar Shores and beating the kids out of their fish! . . . From all reports all who attended the Quarter Century picnic had a good time. Vera Fetro won a clock-radio.. Luella Hockemeyer won a heating pad. Irma Schneiders won a fan, and Harry Underwood got a fan. . . . Gus Rutz was part of the entertainment at the Quarter Century party. He went hunting and caught two live rabbits. . . . Berniece Johnson has left the Auburn Hospital and is now at home. . . . Clarence Weimer has his bicycle back. He says it is as good as new and he is once again riding it to work! . . . IRMGARD GEHLE has birthday greetings coming her way as does Tom Dickerson. Tom is retired. . . . Frank Voirol nearly popped the buttons off his shirt last week. He became a grandfather for the first time, and it was a boy named Mark Andrew! . . . John Figley sure has a nice looking family. They all look like their dad, especially those long fuzzy ears. They are all registered too. . . . We are so glad that Don Mason's eight month old son is out of the hospital and on the road to recovery. . . . Bill Schultz had to wait while Jake Kugler sold out his onions and fishworms and then they went on to the party. . . . A LITTLE LATE: Louis Sauers and Ray O'Brian were a little late in getting to the Quarter Century picnic. Louis had to stop a couple of times when Ray saw some small potatoes along the road. . . . Al Reber has acquired the name of "Tobacco King" since everyone showered him with the Beechnut. Glen Schwartz must have run him a quick second on that tobacco deal. . . . Joe Adams in enjoying his second week vacation. . . . How come McMaken and Paul Ginder always buy the cuchre cards? Could it be they always lose? . . . No wonder Bob Black doesn't catch bass at night. He quits at 10 and the bass bite between 1:00 and 3:30 a.m. This information is through the courtesy of a night bass fisherman. . . . Maureen Brake is back at work after a week's illness. . . . FOOLED—Violet Elliott sure got fooled. She thought it was the heat rash on her legs. It turned out to be poison ivy. . . . Daily Fogel is getting ready to put his house under roof. It is really going to be a beautiful house when it is done. . . . Dick Crickmore had been having trouble with one of his wisdom teeth. Instead of pulling the sore one, the dentist pulled the one above. Believe it or not, the bottom one stopped hurting. . . . It is good to see Rea Kuhn Graham with us again even if it will be for a short time. . . . Bus Romary is reconditioning the inside of his station wagon by putting all new wood on it. Bus expects to run it another 100,000 miles.

A farewell dinner was held in honor of Gurney Lindley, who retired. He was presented with a traveling bag and several other gifts. We all wish him the best of luck, and I'm sure we will all miss that Lindley humor. . . . SHADES OF GEORGE WASHINGTON: Justin Heaston made an appointment with Paul Boedeker, who was to help him cut down a couple cherry trees after Jess's weekly meeting of the G-E Credit Union. When Paul arrived, Jess wasn't home, but soon arrived. When questioned where he had been, Jess told the time when the meeting ended. On checking the time, it was found he had errored two minutes on the time. Jess said he was window shopping at Kipp's when asked to give an account of the two minutes. . . . Louie Watt is recovering from his operation at his home, R. R. 8, Hazelhurst Drive. . . . John Bastian is also recovering from his operation at his home, 3917 Reed St. . . . Congratulations on those birthdays to Walter Shuler, Jack Pollock, George Houck, and Dale Hershberger. . . . Richard Rodenbeck is the new apprentice boy in the group replacing Don Batchelder. Our good wishes to Don in his new assignment. . . . George Roller is the new sweeper, replacing Andy May, who went to the mechanism group. . . . Forest Gee went to Bldg. 4-2 for the week while Jake Harshman is on his vacation.

... $125* and Up!

THE two "scoreboards" on these pages indicate just how much better your G.E. Pension Plan is—when compared with the plans available to more than one million employees of five other leaders of U. S. industry in the chemical, communications, automobile, steel and electrical fields. You may, however, want to review these especially outstanding General Electric features:

1. After subtracting all you put in during a 25-year period your contributory G.E. Pension Plan is—in actual dollars to be received beyond what you put in—still ahead of the non-contributory plans offered by the five companies comparable to G.E. in size or kind of business (column 7, at your left). And, in addition, you have all the plus values that the G.E. Pension Plan gives you—as shown in the scoreboard below.

2. Your G.E. Pension Plan guarantees pension payments for a specified period to you or, in the event of your death, to your beneficiary (column 2, on your left and column 8 below).

3. Your G.E. Pension Plan provides a minimum payment of $125 a month (including Social Security) for 25 years credited service under the plan even if your income has averaged less than $250 per month (column 1 at left and column 3, below).

4. But of those retiring during the first 6 months of 1951 only about 22% are receiving the minimum of $125 a month while about 78% are receiving more than $125 a month for life. And this percentage will go up as present high rates of pay take effect.

5. After only 1 year of continuous service, you may participate in the G.E. Pension Plan and thereafter be eligible for a pension as early as age 60, women 55 (column 1, below).

6. Your G.E. Pension Plan gives you vested rights to your pension. After 20 years of credited service, if you leave the Company for any reason and leave your contributions, you still get your pension at normal retirement date (column 5, below).

7. The funds of your G.E. Pension Plan (now more than $300 million) are held in a Pension Trust entirely separate from the Company and can never be used by the Company or revert to the Company.

The "scoreboards" shown here are only digests of the many advantages that make General Electric's the better plan. For details, be sure to consult your Pension Plan booklet, or ask your supervisor.

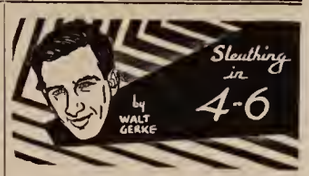
JAKE'S DOWNFALL: The skating party last week was a huge success although Jake Eady had a slight accident after the ball was over. Jake went to slide down the bannister at home, and no bannister was there. Results were a couple of broken ribs. . . . CONGRATS! Dorothy (Ketrow) Schumm is the proud mother of an 8 lb. 13 oz. baby girl born last Thursday evening. Dorothy formerly worked in Bldg. 2. Pete Schumm, Bldg. 1, is the grandpa. . . . A SPEEDY RECOVERY, LOUIS! Louis Drake is on the sick list and may be off work for some time. . . . Red Tumbleson just waits and waits for Friday night to come so he can play cards, but it seems as though he failed last Friday nite for some reason or other. I never heard of anyone playing cards on skates before, did you? . . . Pete Fairchild's project at his ranch is progressing very slowly due to the fact that labor is very scarce and the ground is very hard. . . . UNPREDICTABLE CLOYD: Cloyd Dellinger has purchased a new Hammond organ. This means that the roof he was repairing will have to wait until spring.

. . . Norma Bower is giving her new Pontiac the usual test—to Atterbury and back. . . . RETURNED! Todd Morrison returned to work after a long absence due to illness. . . . GOOD LUCK! Darlene Yoder is leaving us to enter college. Lots of success to you, Darlene. . . . THE BEES-KNEES! Lorene Gerber had a terrible time with the bees over Labor Day trying to clean the hives of honey. His swollen hand is evidence of what the angry bees can do. . . . Ina Noack is enjoying her third week of vacation. . . . BOWLERS WANTED! All parties interested in girls' bowling league contact Evelyn Plasterer or Mary Miller. . . . PEANUTS BY THE PECK! The other evening Mr. and Mrs. Noble Drum attended the Van Wert Fair and, as usual, Noble was hungry. A boy was selling peanuts and Noble said he'd take two bags until the boy said two-bits a bag. Then Noble made his wife give her bag of peanuts back and told her when they go back to Decatur he'd buy her a bag.

LONG DISTANCE: Humorous situations are bound to arise now and then such as the following: The other day Ralph Dunlap and Norman Bender were seated side by side at separate desks in the office. Ralph decided to call someone. Taking up the receiver, he dialed the number. The phone on Norm's desk rang. Taking up his receiver, Norman said, "Hello." They then proceeded to carry on quite a conversation until they finally realized that they were seated side by side and talking to each other over the telephone. . . . IT DIDN'T GET AWAY: Buck Adams had quite an irksome experience over Labor Day. Deciding to do some fishing, he assembled all the necessary gear and then struck out for a likely spot on the lake. It was not long until a big one took his bait. (I mean a big one. It measured a little over 14 inches in length.) In his excitement and in stepping over the middle seat in the boat to reach his landing net, he upset the tackle box and spilled all of his artificial lures into the net. Fearing that he might lose this big fish, he did not stop to remove the lures. Dipping net and all into the lake, he brought the big bass safely into the boat. Then it was an hour's job to get the fish and all of the lures out of the net. . . . PRACTICING: A few weeks ago, our entire division shut down on Friday. It was rather gloomy in the east end of the building and especially so around the packing section. At this juncture, Frank Kimble noticed someone with a flashlight nosing around back there. Upon investigation he found Harold Hart armed with a high-powered flashlight, poking around in all the nooks and crannies in this section. When asked what he was doing, Harold said, "Oh, just looking around." Frank advised him to turn on the ceiling lights then he could see better. Harold persisted in using the flashlight. Frank opined that perhaps Harold was getting in some good practice preparatory to becoming a Scotland Yard man. . . . GOOD SPORT: Our hard-hitting, fast running and excellent sportswoman, June Getty had quite an honor conferred upon her. She was awarded the sportsmanship trophy in the girls softball league. Having observed June's work on the diamond and the good sportsmanship she displays, we certainly would have been disappointed if she had not been awarded the trophy. June, we wish to congratulate you and hope that you win more trophies.



Alumni Slate Stag Smoker

Members of the Apprentice Alumni will get together at a Smoker, Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the American Macedonian Hall, Earl Plummer, publicity chairman, announced today.

The informal meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Hall, located at 3304 Warsaw St. The price is $1.25 per person.

Cowboy Murray Sherman has found out that a three-week-old calf can run faster than he can. . . . Paul Freaser has left this week to return to school. . . . The gang in Bldg. 26-3 had a surprise potluck to welcome Ralph Bradtmiller back. Ralph doesn't know how so many people could keep a secret and also wants to thank everyone. . . . Annabelle Blair, we like sugar in our coffee, not salt. . . . A belated happy birthday to Gladys Freeman and Levona Clark. . . . If anyone saw Ann Wibel's green arm last week, don't worry. She had her arm laying on her ink pad for a while. . . . We hear our new bride Lorraine Papp feels like she's on a vacation. . . . Anyone having any ailments, see Dr. Stella Wells.

BIRTHDAY CONGRATS: To E. M. "Stan" Stanberry, Carl Leitch and Julian Stark. . . . PERMANENT: Joe Baclawski, former TE, is now a permanent member of the DC Division. Hope you can put up with us, Joe. . . . BYE BYE: We bid adieu to Virg Cauthen, who will be associated with Fractional Sales. We know you'll make an A-1 salesman. . . . ONCE MORE: Again AC has reached out its tentacles and grabbed Denver Druesedow back within its folds. . . . SO SORRY: We are all sorry to hear of Walter Hahn's bad luck. We hope that he will soon be "up and jumping" and that his foot will be as good as new. . . . YOUNG IDEAS: Ted Ross' young daughter, all of six years old and now in grade 1-A, proved that she was quite an adventuresome young miss and quite grown up. Having designs on a handsome young lad in kindergarten, she told the young man's mother that she was to go home with her if her own mother were not at home. The sad part of the story is that Mrs. Ross was home and Kathy visited with her admirer until 5:30 P.M., much to the distress of Poppa and Momma Ross. Finally Kathy came walking in big as you please unaware of the frantic search that had been made. Can't you just imagine what took place in the Ross' household that evening, elated that Kathy was safe and using the correct child psychology in a situation such as this?

Herman Bertch can't stand drastic changes. He bought a new Mercury, and the first day he drove to work he ran out of gas. Someone should have told him that they don't make cars anymore that run with batteries. . . . A majority rule of a recent census is that John Lare should accept all medical expenses for Artie Hoffman's wife. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borten on the arrival of a new son last Wednesday. . . . Congratulations to Bettie Casebere, who was married Saturday. . . . Charlie Hartman isn't too well pleased at the way his heard is growing. Just to be helpful, the boys mixed him a lotion which included limburger cheese and applied same. Charlie didn't have to wait for Art Everett's sanitary treatment, he gave it to himself. . . . Forest Somers was very surprised at the way Mary Jane Howe planned to keep her kitten at home. Clipping its toe nails wasn't the answer. . . . Where was Whitie Van Auken during most of the program at the Quarter Century Club picnic? . . . Maybe John Lare should consult Walt Rosselot before he tries anymore vocal entertainment. . . . Frank Meggison has given George Miller the nickname of "Oakstump." After reading the comics, everyone agrees that it fits him fine.

Thought for the Week—"Men of promise are usually those owing the most bills."—Joseph Salak.

LOST: Roscoe Markley, Bldg. 19-1, lost his glasses. He does not know exactly where he lost them. Anyone finding a pair of glasses please get in tough with Mr. Markley. . . . Elsie Ferguson left last Friday for college. Her successor refuses to take the job as assistant division editor. . . . FLASH: Never mind the article about Mr. Markley's lost glasses. He just found his old pair of glasses in the hog pen. . . . We welcome Alice Rosendahl, Norman Wichman, Marjorie Scheimann and Bernice A. Stroh. . . . VERY SAD: "Miss" Burt Spencer feels that the reason he did not receive an attendance prize at the Quarter Century Outing last Saturday is because he did not get his application sent into the Elex Club in time. . . . GOLF—Our genial manager, R. M. Hartigan, played a splendid game of golf last Saturday just before the annual Quarter Century Meeting. We hear through the grapevine, that on the basis of 10 cents a hole, Dick lost $1.40. . . BEANS: We have learned on good authority that a certain Sunday School class, which is headed by George Murray, had a week's encampment at one of the lakes. Mr. Murray was responsible to seeing that certain food was sent up for the use of the class. Due to unforseen circumstances, Mr. Murray was unable to go and was also unable to take care of certain kinds of food. As a result, the class feasted on beans the entire period. . . . BOXING: Forrest Sutter and Jim Poe arrived at work one morning last week with identical bruised cheeks. We hear that they have been trying out as sparring partners with Kid Galvan, the Cuban boxer. . . . OUR HERO: Bud Weaver seems to improve with age. A short time ago, Bud was not the mighty man he is today. Back in those days, he could not eat over three square meals a day and his physical efforts were nil. Then one day while reading the "Woman's World," Mr. Weaver saw a physical culture course ad. Bud investigated, then invested and is now a changed man. A few lessons and the mighty muscles began to develop until today he is a changed man. Where he used to pitch horseshoes on the kiddies court, Bud now has moved the pegs back to twice regulation distance. By doing this he feels that he would not be taking unfair advantage of his less powerful opponents who would toss the shoes only the normal distance. . . . FRAMED: Don Castle and Ralph Garrett recently returned from a fishing trip in the wilds of northern Wisconsin. For a month before the trip, Don was busy telling what he would do on this trip. While Don spoke of his ahilities as a disciple of Izaak Walton, Ralph went quietly about his business. Now they are back and our candid cameraman has furnished two prints of the boys and their catch. One shows Don holding his fish on the palms of his two hands, while the other is of Mr. Garrett on the dock surrounded by a large catch. While Don goes around claiming, "I was framed," Ralph just smiles and goes about his business.

The tree of liberty will not survive too much grafting.

Inquiring Reporter:

"WHAT IS YOUR OPINION OF SENATOR McCARTHY'S CRUSADE AGAINST COMMUNISM?"

JOAN TUDOR
Taylor St.

"I think it is a good thing, and if we had a few more like him or more to help and back him up, it would be the best thing that ever happened to our country."

ARTHUR RUDEK
Bldg. 26-4

"To check and defeat Communism should be the goal of the people of the entire world. Senator McCarthy's Crusade against Communism is just another insurance of free speech, freedom of the press, the right to vote and other liberties we Americans cherish. All True Americans must back those who fight against Communism."

ROBERT D. NORTON
Bldg. 19-1

"If Senator McCarthy's questions and investigations are weeding out and exposing the right Communists and spies from our government, then I am for it one hundred per cent."

PHYLLIS A. SNYDER
Bldg. 4-4

"My opinion is that Senator McCarthy is doing the right thing in trying to rid the government of disloyal government employees. He is doing the people a favor, but too many do not realize the fact."

GERALD B. SCOTT
Bldg. 9

"President Truman's repeated assertions that there were no Communists in the Government—that it was all a red herring, and the subsequent conviction of Alger Hiss leaves a very bad taste in my mouth indeed. I'll put my money on Senator McCarthy any day."

SUPER SERVICE FOR RETIREMENT—Edith Paxton (right), Bldg. 17-3, is shown getting her plate heaped with food by Violet Martz. Mrs. Paxton was honored at a retirement potluck last week. She first came to G-E in 1927 as an armature worker in Bldg. 17-2, but left the employ of the Company a short time later. Mrs. Paxton returned to G-E in 1942. Since then, she has worked in Bldgs. 4-4, 6-4 and 17-3. At the time of her retirement, she was doing coil tying in Bldg. 17-3.

CHEVY TROUBLE: Herb Mailand said there must be something wrong with his Chevy. Everytime he puts the brakes on, the motor dies. Maybe he should trade it for a horse and then shoot the horse. . . . Pondo hasn't been driving his car this week beeause the battery is dead. He hasn't been able to find anything of enough value to pawn to buy a new battery. . . . Gloria Sehorey has taken a leave of absenee. We'll miss you, Gloria. . . . TOO MUCH: Jake Butz has had something to eomplain about. Two stiff necks in one week is enough. . . . The grease is slung around up here. Don LeMaster was surprised when he left work one night, to find it all over the car door handle. . . . Russ Rose spent Labor Day week-end in Michigan and nearly froze. He caught plenty of fish. . . . When Jaekie Keller came back Thursday after being off a day, she had a big all-day sueker waiting for her. Just goes to show you, Jaekie, how much we missed you. . . . THE NEW LOOK: Bldg. 6-4 is gettting a new look. Maybe the odor is terrific, but the new paint job is sure going to brighten up the place. . . . Eleanor Whitehouse came in stiff and sore this week. It was the first bowling of the season, you know. . . . Alva Hostetler is leaving Sept. 27 for England to join her hushand. Lots of luek to you, Alva. . . . ATTENTION FARMERS: If you have any cross-eyed cows, Thelma Purdue will help straighten their eyes. . . . The boxes were really passed around last week. Since Betty T. and Del G. were going downtown Wednesday night to do some shopping the fellows deeided to pass a box for them. On it was the caption, "GIVE! GIVE!" They eollected all of nine pennies. . . . We extend our deepest sympathy to Fred Sarasien on the death of his mother. . . . Many of us remember Phyllis Marqueling and will be happy to know that a little boy arrived in her household. . . . Welcome to Sam Hanes. . . . Lillian Kidder tried for 20 minutes to get in her car one night while at the terminal at Baer Field. She tried every key on the ring, finally asking a man in the next ear to help her. He tried every key. She couldn't understand it until she walked around to look at the lieense number. WRONG CAR! . . . Virginia McCoy is on the sick list. Daisy Ford's mother is ill.

Jets Out of the Night

BLDG. 6-2

by Pauline Stocks

We may be flying low, but we'll drop you a line from Bldg. 6-2. . . . Connie Harris has been called to Alahama. Her father is very ill. . . . We welcome Lela Ryan, Marie Bruggeneoate, Aldena Harris and Catherine Staton. . . . Ask Dorothy Franklin about the new sleeves she's wearing. Could it be the wire is causing Dorothy trouble? She isn't alone, either. . . . It seems like old times to see the smiling face of Don Myers. . . . Our columnist, Pauline Stoeks, and her husband are enjoying a 10-day vacation to the Blue Ridge mountains. . . . Mada Caudle went home Tuesday to spend the evening with her son who left for the service Wednesday morning. . . . Lee Malone was ealled home due to the illness of his daughter Kathleen, who underwent an emergency appendectomy. The latest report is Kathleen is progressing nicely at the Lutheran Hospital. . . . We extend our sympathy to George Swinehart, whose brother-in-law drowned last Wednesday. . . . Bea Lantz said "Hello" to the gang. . . . Dessie George has gained a pound. She says it is due to the cherry pie Babe Gephart gave her. We all know why Babe gave Dessie the pie. . . . We are happy to hear of the arrival of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Fogle. Angie formerly worked in Bldg. 17-3. Congratulations, Angie and Virgil. . . . Also we are glad to announce the arrival of a son, Stanley Wayne, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Verhaegen. Congratulations, Frank and Esther.

Good-bye and good luek to Tom Karns, who has left to operate his own Laundermat at Columbia City. I certainly appreciated your help in gathering interesting items for my eolumn. . . . Perhaps some of you remember that last week it was reported that Frankie Schlotter lost his "lake cateh" and had to bury it due to having no ice. Frankie informs us not only he but also Ray Horstman and Ed Koontz had the same tough luck. . . . Captain Al Topp received his master's papers for his new Cris Craft this week. . . . Did all you fellows at the conneeting bench wonder why Tom Freeman was all dressed up like Tarzan at the lake? . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson, who celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary last Thursday. . . . Christine Arend has left her friends on second shift to take up her household duties and Esther Lehman, Ruth Gerig and Grace Ragan left to resume their studies. . . . Clarence Dick finally made a trip in his new Plymouth. He went to the State Fair. . . . Henry Muller asked the candy lady for saucrkraut flavored ice eream. . . . Otto (One Way) Braun feels quite important. He says he never realized so many streets were named after him until driving through the downtown area recently. . . . Did you see our rootin'-tootin' cowgirl in the office? She wore her boots and all the trimmings one day. Clara Ballard really is from Oklahoma. . . . The Quarter Century Club pienic was well attended by Berniece Kratzseh, Frank Schlotter, Roy Hosler, Joe Troendley, Arthur Gallogley, Benny Keller, Archie Rian, Al Helwig, Ralph Smith and Fred Bender. . . . Art Gallogley says he is in favor of having the fish fry. However, Lake George is completely "fished out" so it will be necessary for the fellows to bring their own A&P fish (as usual). . . . The Green Room people welcome Dean Ramsey and Dorthea Winburn. . . . Rita Osborn is wearing a lovely diamond. The lucky guy is Dalls Pease. . . . We are all looking forward to seeing Talitha Stiekler, who will return from her sick leave soon.

TV Expert

Did anyone notice some monkeys crawling around on a house top on Spatz Ave? They are TV experts Shipman, Mertz and Lea! . . . John Gadomski offered to drive a certain redhead home from work recently. Upon arriving at the parking lot, he found a flat tire waiting for him. It sounds like a put up job. . . . Tom Woodward was seen waving his arms around as he was speaking to Al Miller. The report is he was planting muskmelons! Some melons! . . . Did Val Sitcler think the ladies' rest room had been rearranged when she entered the wrong room recently? . . . Marjoric Gerdom has taken on quite a load for herself. She is working on second trick and going to school during the day. . . . Notice how much more distinguished Louie Sordelet looks with those new glasses? . . . Margie Lehman and Pat Mailer have joined the Hermetics lines. Margie eomes from the west end and Pat from Bldg. 17-3. . . . Dick Shull eame up with a good story, or a new slant at least, to account for some new bruises. Dick claimed he got his thumb stuek in his bowling ball, and later while fixing a tire, the wrench slipped and bruised his face. . . . OH FOR A DOG'S LIFE! Anyhow Norma Smith's dog gets fed hamburger at 75 cents per pound. Not only that, but Norma spends half the day cooking it for "Bootsie!" "Bootsie," ye gads is that a dog's name? . . . Arietta Denny is reported off work sick. . . . Stan Gongaware reports his bother is home on furlough from the service. . . . Bright remarks of the week: "I'm with you through thick and thin, but if it gets too thick I'm gonna thin out!" This statement came from Al Tyson.

This division has always had many friends in Bldg. 31-2. For this reason, we have always had more than just a casual interest in Gerry Sehmidt's "Ramblings." We have long wondered why Toppie Moffatt made so many visits to Bldg. 31-2. It was all suddenly made clear when we read about Minnie Ferguson's new rule, self-made, of eourse, wherein she greets all visitors with a kiss. We know Minnie, and we agree that an added inducement like that is worth coming a thousand miles. Will Pete Prince please note? . . . Frank and Marilyn Schlink motored to the "Dells" over Labor Day. . . . Edna Etzler is seeing Chicago on her vacation. . . . Congratulations to Flossie Shoopman on that new granddaughter. . . . It's a lucky day for Bill Hoke when the "chawin" tobacco man distributes his free samples at Bldg. 19-Gate. Bill being the only chawin' man in the group, the fellows see that he's well supplied. . . . We're happy to hear that Edna Lesh has left the hospital and that Luella Boyce is now able to have visitors. . . . Our visitor this week was "Pappy" Lee. He was looking hale and hearty and in the best of spirits. . . . Our vacationers are Bill Hale, Frank Bitsberger, Paul Seotton, Al Johnson, Lowell Kelsey, George Mallery and Lawrence Pequignot. . . . Birthday congratulations to Fred McIntyre, Ann Fairbanks, Carl Dieke, Lowell Matthias and Bill Wittmer.

Helen Thieme's sad look is the result of young son Leslie starting to school. Helen says, "He is too young to be turned out in the world." . . . We were all thrilled when Marie Johnson displayed the lovely diamond pin her husband gave her. . . . We think Martha Scott was having hallucinations the other day. Martha insists she saw a blind man driving a truck. On this truck was a sign reading, "Please drive carefully, this driver is a blind." It must have been the heat, Martha. . . . To add to the confusion, Doris Dochla says her uncle who is blind has a collection of traffic signs which he couldn't dodge. Now, we don't know who has the most convincing story. . . . Amy Dull wants identification tags hung on the back of overalls of all machinists. Next time you try to push one, Amy, look at his face first. . . . Get-well wishes go to Harold Baumgartner, who is recovering from an appendectomy. . . . Welcome to Clarice Woodruff on nights. . . . Mary Stopher and Ealnor Hoffman are going on days. . . . Elva Hostetler thanks the gang for her gift. She is going to Englang to live with her husband who is in the Air Force. . . . Evidently Vernon La Fuze doesn't know we have a WORKS NEWS. On being informed that his name was in the paper, he left and a while later he said "It must be in the News-Sentinel, because it isn't in the Journal." Someone, please give him a copy of the NEWS. . . . Congrats to Kenny Boggs on the birth of a son, Roger David. . . . Charlie Henderson, our set-up man, is leaving us. He will be stationed in group 1x43.

35-YEAR DECATURITE—Tillman Gehrig (center), of the Decatur plant, celebrated his 35th anniversary with General Electric this week. In the photograph, J. K. Eady (left) is presenting Mr. Gehrig a congratulatory letter, while Russell Owens watches.

Former Stunt Man Still Likes to Get in the Act

Convinced that "variety is the spice of life," John Heine, tool and die repairman, FHP Motor Div. 14, Taylor St., has certainly led a well-seasoned existence.

With a list of occupations which make him the proverbial Jack-of-all-trades, John has crowded out his idle moments with a variety of vocations.

Not satisfied with just attending school, he began to learn the baker's trade when he was fifteen years old. Two years later, he added to this a part-time job of ushering at the old Temple Theater on the southeast corner of Wayne and Clinton Sts.

Lured by the grease paint, John developed the habit of going backstage to talk with the vaudeville performers. Soon his interest in the acts narrowed to the trapeze artists. He and a buddy rigged up a trapeze on a golf course, where Memorial Park now stands. They practiced the acts they saw at the Theater and gave free performances Sundays.

As a sideline, John sandwiched daring stunts as the Slide for Life and balloon ascension with a parachute drop in between practicing the trapeze act.

Listed in Chicago

After four years of practicing and performing at local parties and bazaars, the act, which included feats of strength on horizontal bars and rings, was listed by the Gus Sun Agency of Chicago. The Roman Ring Artists, as they were billed, traveled the vaudeville circuit in the Midwest.

After two years, the act was discontinued and John returned to Fort Wayne to join General Electric Company Sept. 3, 35 years ago. While working in the meter repair section the detail section and on his present job, John has found many occupations to keep him busy. He has owned and operated a greenhouse, a restaurant, Heine's Hen House, a bakery shop, an ice cream plant and a lunch counter at South Side Market.

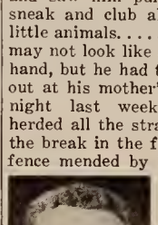
John, the performer, has not disappeared from the scene, for he still entertains for lodges and bazaars, occasionally in a tap dancing act with his wife. He finds time to enjoy his favorite pastime of fishing at his home on Long Lake in Pleasant.

THAT'S ME WITH THE SHORT HAIR—Reminiscing about the time when he was a vaudeville performer, John Heine, FHP Div. 14, shows Norman Biddle, FHP Div. 14, his scrapbook of memories.

Floor Lore

FROM BLDG. 4-4

by Ionena Foster



Clarence Didier got so enthusiastic when he went fishing recently that he knocked the earth out from under him and landed on a pile of stone. He didn't land too easy because he had to go see the nurse. . . . L. Radamaker was all excited about his new car. . . . Bill Putt didn't catch one fish on his vacation. He said it was much too hot. . . . June Allgeier is back, and we are all glad to see her. . . . Some of the girls had a picnic Thursday at Franke Park. They were held up waiting for Gladys Stahley and June Allgeier to arrive. The girls, after riding around the northern part of the city, finally arrived with most of the lunch. . . . Edith Venrick said if we didn't quit making fun of her knife she wouldn't bring it anymore. You sure would leave us in a pickle most of the time. . . . Sorry you all will have to take your belt up that notch because it doesn't look like we will get that rabbit fry. The beagles are gun shy. . . . What's this new name we hear Bertha Bernau has? "Dust Rag Sally?" Anyway, Bertha, we are wondering who will win the race with the Squaw. . . . What is this we hear about Margaret Parisot applying for a job cooking? . . . Clarence Roth, did you get a good look at the cakes Margaret brought in, or was it something else you were looking at?

SHIPPING: Happy birthday to Viola Haiber. . . . Ruth Sorg is back in the swing of things after a glorious week in Cincinnati. . . . Mary Ann O'Brien and Sarah Harris are enjoying vacations this week. . . . Mel Bucler (manager of a girl's softball team known as the "Crabbers") seems to be eternally in trouble getting umpires to listen to his pleas. Mel got so excited over some of the decisions that the Ump tossed poor Mel out of the game. . . . RECEIVING: DeWain Freshwater is quite a juggler. As most performers, he does much better if he has an audience. . . . Marie Renz evidently hasn't heard about the high cost of living. During our picnic last week, she used the plate of butter as a coaster. . . . Anyone that has a heavy overcoat, please lend it to Bob Younghouse. Bob has chills, even when he wears his sweater on a warm day. . . . Paul Thomas intends to have a nice long talk with Noah Webster. Paul thinks that Noah left some words out of the dictionary. . . . TELEGRAPH: We wish the best of luck to Kitty Cooper and Bill Wattier, who will be married tomorrow night at Plymouth Congregational Church at 7 o'clock. . . . MAILING: Farewell to Robert Sturm, who left the gang to enlist in Uncle Sam's Navy. Best of luck to you, Bob. . . . Welcome to Jim Weingartner and Jerry Crowell. . . . Kenny Bodenhamer just can't resist our company. After returning to school a couple of weeks, he just had to return and see us.

We congratulate Arnold Korte on his 25 years of service. Arnold was really surprised though to receive an invitation to the TAB outing recently. That is, until he found it was for his son, a trainee in the apprentice school. . . . Bob Bryan has been in the mountains of Virginia helping to settle an estate. Bob says "Tain't fer me." We wonder if he means the life in the mountains or the estate. . . . Glenn Kline heartily agreed to turn in all his scrap to the current scrap drive. "But," says Glenn, "what am I going to use for tools?" . . . Except for the hay fever, Gus Mittermaier really enjoyed his first Quarter Century Club outing last Saturday. . . . Anyone wishing to serve on jury duty, see Everett Schmidt. He says it should be very interesting, but would anyone be so kind? . . . Kenny Sefton got a good start on his trip to California by wrecking his car. He found that the best place to get your sleep is at a tourist camp instead of while you are driving. . . . Russ Jones has figured out why Bill Mowry never fires a shot, but yet gets the limit in squirrels. He followed Bill in the woods one day and saw him pull the old Indian sneak and club all those innocent little animals. . . . Jack Schemehorn may not look like a farmer or cowhand, but he had to do their duties out at his mother's place one dark night last week. Cowboy Jack herded all the strays back through the break in the fence and had the fence mended by 1 a.m. . . . Kurt Martin is having all kinds of merchandise delivered at his house by mistake. Last Monday they sent 10 tons of coal. Tuesday, it was an 18 lb. turkey. Wednesday it was a load of wood and a bushel of sweet corn. Kurt told Lena, his wife, "Find out if it is paid for—then we take it." . . . Don "Middlecoff" Alcott is proving to all his tool room buddies that he is a pretty decent golfer. He got on a 449 yard par four hole in two strokes and then parred it. The same night Charlie Shipman and Jim Kavanaugh weren't so lucky. Charlie was having trouble blasting trees and Jim was playing the wrong holes. . . . Bill Trumbower is trying to prove to the police that he wasn't the guy who drove his truck into another car. Bill wants to get VanWormer on the witness stand to prove that he was at VanWormer's cottage buying a television set. . . . At a recent fair Bobby Truelove proved to be an expert at throwing pies. He hit the poor guy five out of six times right in the kisser. . . . Our expert fisherman invaded Coldwater Lake last Saturday and we are sorry to report that all of these gentlemen, Art Thieme, Walter Greiner, Glenn Hoon, Woody Hursh, and Jack Schemehorn, didn't catch a decent fish. . . . Glenn Ramsey wishes to report the Quarter Century Picnic was a success because nothing happened to Mart Walsh. He didn't even fall out of the boat. . . . We all wish Mrs. Cary Baker a speedy recovery from the injuries received in an auto accident last Saturday. . . . Art Jenne is an unusual person. He had his car overhauled just to trade it in on a new black beauty, a Dodge.

Is It Paid?

QUARTER CENTURY PICNIC: It was a gala day, the weatherman was kind; the food was perfect and a good time was had by all. J. V. Johnson, president, is to be congratulated upon the success of the affair. It seems that Ab Martin had a rough day. He was playing third base and stoved his finger. Then, when the time came for him to address the group, the microphone wouldn't work—much to Jim Johnson's chagrin. . . . Ed Witte missed the fun just because he went to Chicago. Edgar Waldschmidt arrived late, the 1,251st one, after Herschel Smith had the stub boxes all wrapped and sealed. The question in Edgar's mind is: did Herschel actually unwrap the boxes and put his stub in, because he did not receive an attendance prize? One would wonder, you know. Of course, Robert Wylie was more fortunate. He won an attendance prize but did not hear his name called, so it was delivered Monday. . . . Lois Miller was seen square dancing hack stage. . . . I. H. Freeman looked very dapper in his green cashmere sweater and argyle socks. . . . Wouldn't you know, Irene Meyers was on the coffee committee, and I wonder why they put George Waldschmidt on the gas project. . . . Herschel Smith, besides being keeper of the stubs, spent the entire day trying to get his picture taken. . . . Speaking of attendance prizes, Al Tharpe, Bldg. 18-4, was also a lucky winner. . . . ANNOUNCEMENT was made on Saturday of the approaching marriage of Marinell Bosserman and Chester Fry of Colorado Spring, Colo. The ceremony will be solomnized Nov. 3 at the St. John's Lutheran Church. We extend our very best wishes. . . . ANNIVERSARIES: Juanita Spice and her husband will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Sept. 18. . . . Last week Gladys Forst and her husband celebrated their 31st and the Bonds, their 24th. . . . VACATIONS: Ella Highlands, Rex Mericle and Mary Ann Tescula, all of Bldg. 19-5, are enjoying their vacations this week. . . . ILL: Phyllis Rudolph and Opal Burns are both absent from their duties in Bldg. 18-1 due to illness. . . STINT FOR LAW AND ORDER: Dick Kent, Photograph and Reproduction, is doing his stint for law and order by serving on the grand jury this week, you know by request and not by choice.

He Tried

Sarah Moore reports the Quarter Century Club picnic was very nice and she enjoyed it very much. . . . Bob Robertson thought he was walking in his socks one morning last week when he stepped out on the stones in the parking lot. Lo and behold, he still had on his house slippers. He says it doesn't pay to get up so early in the morning. . . . We wish Iva Powell a speedy recovery from her illness. . . . Gus Harrison says Doyle Sheets needs some new eye glasses, and there was no hat with a feather in his car as no women are allowed. . . . Hady Klejnot's son Al is expected this week for a visit from Denver. . . . What could Alice George be dreaming about that would cause her to fall out of bed? . . . Our sincere sympathy to Peggy Bandt on the death of her brother . . . Jim Stauffer and Guy Johnson are wondering who the student grinder is now? . . . Would someone please tell Alberta Watt and Catherine Chilcote how many eggs a chicken lays in a day. . . . If some people are going to eat cantalope, the cafeteria will have to furnish windshield wipers or goggles for some of us. Ask Clara Gidley all about it. . . . Louise Keller left Group 54 for a fulltime housekeeper's job. We wish you a lot of happiness, Louise. . . . Charley Engle visited his friends last week and told the other side of the story about his California trip and post cards. . . . We are all looking forward to the day when Al Seifert is going to treat us. We wish you many more happy birthdays, Al. . . . Laura Adams' father, who is a patient at the Veterans Hospital, is reported improved. . . . Sydonna Fox, Elinor Laux and friends attended the Van Wert fair Thursday night. . . . Somebody better tell David Bishop the starter on his car is not on the floor.

THIRTY-FIVE YEAR MAN—William F. Meyer, Bldg. 31-1, is showing James Stouder and J. J. Toole (l-r) a letter congratulating Mr. Meyer on his 35th anniversary with G-E.

Believe it or not! During vacation last summer, Stan Tisovic was picking blue berries near Lake of the Woods when he slipped and fell. The berries went flying and so did his wrist watch. The ground was searched diligently, but the watch was not found. Friends who were with him last summer went back to the same place this year to pick blue berries. They found Stan's watch about 500 feet from where it was lost. Some animal had chewed up the strap; the face was a little weather beaten, but it still ran. In fact, Stan is wearing it again. . . . The Minnesota air is coming here in bottles again. This time instead of sending it, Vince Busian received a sample of air from Doug Johnson. Says Doug's letter: "What happened to that Southern Minnesota (Rochester) air after you left? I have enclosed a small bottle of air I picked up on my way by." (The sample, which smells as bad as a "pretty kitty," has the effect of knock-out drops.) "Fortunately, the air in Northern Minnesota (Cass Lake) is as pure and sweet as you might ever breathe." After taking a small whiff of the sample, Les Schowe says now we know why people come from Minnesota. . . . Wilbur Smith, draftsman, quit last week. Wilbur will soon leave for the campus of Purdue University to study industrial engineering. . . . Ray Hamilton has left the hospital in Fond du Lac and is now at his sister's in Brandon, Wis. Recovering from a fall which cracked his hip bone, Ray hopes to be back to work soon.

Girls Bowlers Needed

Several bowlers are needed for the Friday night girls bowling league. Any girls interested in joining the league, which meets weekly at 8:30 p.m., should contact Iris Hebble, on ext. 2526, or Alice Barton, on ext. 664.

From what we hear, no fine press is getting Charles Kirkpatrick down. He spilled his coffee twice in less than five minutes time. . . . Howard McVay has a way of his own for putting out fires. . . . Esther Schlagenhauffen was really surprised the other night to find such a nice old lady waiting for her when she got home. . . . Olka Johnston and Don Niles attended their first Quarter Century picnic. Don was the Beau Brummell of the outing with that plaid shirt. . . . Vi Minnich had a fish fry at her cottage on Goose Lake. The fish were from Minnesota. . . . We are sorry to lose Rita Bowman and Dorothy Webster. . . . Glen Buckmaster attended the fair the other day. He says he only wishes George Miller could have been there too. Was it really that good, Buck? . . . Walt Fair attended a homecoming at Adamshorough, Ind., Sunday. He saw his first school teacher who is now 91 years old. . . . We thank Ruby DeBolt for the letter she sent us girls. We're glad to hear you are feeling better and hope to see you real soon. . . . A speedy recovery to Bernadine Warner, who is on sick leave. . . . Clara Nickelson came into work Monday morning an hour late. Then she tried to smooth it over by bringing her boss an apple.

Beau Brummell

After surviving a perilous trip astride a mule down the Grand Canyon and back, Wendell Miller returned to the safety of the drafting room only to fall off his chair. When asked by Pete, "Have an accident?" Wendell replied, "No thanks, just had one." . . . Is it just a coincidence that Norma Arnold took her vacation the same week that Les Hahn got back from the Army? . . . Hank Lantz of Leo (unincorporated) was 39 years old Monday. Happy birthday, Hank. . . . Any of you poor, unfortunate people who happen to have a broken neck, brain concussion or ingrown toe nails, be sure to see Jim Henry. He knows just how to handle such situations since his girl is in nurse's training. He also wants to tell anyone who is planning on getting sick in the future to be sure to go to the Lutheran Hospital. . . . Question of the Week: Why does Pete want to sell his daughter's bicycle? . . . Anyone knowing who put the note on Mildred Fettinger's desk please contact "Sherlock" Koop of Scotland Yard. . . . Tony Kazelis and Jim Hilfiker are visiting Tony's folks in Weirton, W. Va. this week. I wonder if Tony's Oldsmobile can stand a whole week away from Collins. . . . Here's one that's easy to see through. Norma Arnold received a very unusual post card from two admirers in West Virginia. The only clue to the identity of the senders were the initials "T & J." . . . Helen Campbell had the job of delivering the post cards to Norma and the rest of the gang and found it very embarrassing to say the least.

SEVEN COME 11: Several weeks ago Ralph Hoover drove to Columbus, O., in a line of traffic seven miles long and was seven squares away from a filling station when he ran out of gas. A good Samaritan, who was cutting his grass with a gasoline mower and who lived at 711 some street or other, felt sorry for him and gave him gas out of his mower. Those Fords will run a long way on a cupful of gas, but remember, Ralph, you can't milk 'em dry and expect them to run just on the hot air you put out. . . . SPARKLES GALORE, or haven't you noticed that Mildred Mundt, Engineering, and Mary Clark, Cost, are flashing brand new engagement rings? We don't know yet when the wedding bells will ring but we'll find out. . . . ASSISTANT REPORTERS: The following are the names of our new assistant reporters: Loretta Puff, Martha Meeker, Mildred Mundt, Barbara Cross, Harold Barrick, Steve Bobay, Carl Junk, Leo Elward, Dean Inman, Melvin Bill and Virgil Dennis. If you have anything (news, that is), please give it to them. . . . CONGRATULATIONS to Charles Pepple, who was married last Saturday. We wish you and yours a long and happy married life.

Safety Spud — Even a potato, such as the Irish Copper variety above, has eyes to see protection under a safety shoe toe plate. Found by Leonard Michel, Bldg. 27, on his mother's farm near Huntington, the healthy little spud has firmly attached itself to the old, rusted, but still sturdy tootsie guard. How the original safety shoe found its way into Mrs. Michel's potato patch is one of those unsolved mysteries.

After many long years of fruitless searching, Cy Stonehill has finally found an easy method for growing hair on that portion of his head which has for so long been victim of abuse. Of course, it may have that green grassy look, but we could always call him, "The Man With the Green Hair." . . . When a meterorite falls to earth, it causes much comment throughout the world, newspapers everywhere carry a full description of the occurrence. It is also the same when a bachelor of long standing finally after years of wandering finds the girl for whom he has been looking. This particular event was of such importance that it is hinted that the news even reached behind the iron curtain and that Hedda Hopper included it in her weekly broadcasts. And you ask, what great event could possibly happen around here which would cause such comment? Well, only when "Batchelor of Long Standing Lou Goehring" asks Miss Jane Chenoweth to marry him could this happen. . . . Thursday, Sept. 6, the division gave a farewell party to C. E. Burke and Frank Ondrovik. Clarence is leaving us to become Manager of Sales, Large Apparatus, Philadelphia, while Frank is leaving us to satisfy Uncle Sam's commands. We wish both Clarence and Frank best of wishes on their new ventures.

CRASH! BANG! "I got topped," the familiar words heard so many times during the season are once more ringing out in the G-E Club bowling alleys. The alleys were officially opened last Monday night for league bowling with Harold Carter rolling the first ball.

The G-E office league broke in the refinished alleys, and from the looks of some of the scores, practice sessions have been going on during the summer. H. Brown really had the ball turning over and came up with the night's high of 223. C. Hattendorf was close behind with a 205, followed by W. France with a 203. Drafting and AC won all three games to start the season at the top of the league.

The Ladies Monday Night League took over where the fellows left off and really turned the pins over. L. Fanning's 210 led the ladies, followed closely by Dorothy Askren, 195; Marge Huber, 185, and D. Pogue with 171. Ilo Motter must have been practicing this summer and except for some tough luck in the tenth frame would have had a 200 count. She ended with a 154 average. Team No. 8 and No. 10 each won three games to lead the league.

We want to welcome all the bowlers to the Club alleys and especially the ones who have not bowled at the Club previously. The leagues are filled up with the exception of Tuesday night at 8:30. There are four alleys available for league bowling. Several inquiries have been made about a mixed doubles or a Hollywood league. If anyone is interested, call Charlie Wilt, extension 742, or Joe Kramer, extension 2253.

Top Golfers At Decatur Announced

In the men's division actual score, first place went to William Melchi. Actual score, second place was won by Dwight Girod. Handicap score, first place was captured by Charles Zimmerman. Alvin Windmiller won handicap score, second place.

Ardella Heare came out in first place in the actual score of the women's division. Second place, in the actual score was awarded to Dorothy Schnepf. Women's handicap score, first place went to Cathryn Steele, and Mary Miller placed second in the handicap score.

In the Blind Bogey match, Guy Koos won first prize, which was a golf cart. Charles Cook received second prize which was a golf bag. Other prizes in this play-off were won by George Womack, E. W. Lankenau, Miles Roop, Lloyd Ahr, Bob Lord, John Baumann, Harry King, Janice Thatcher, Don Liby, Dave Moore, Max Odle, Bill Holtsberry, Bob Roop and Paul Hancher.

First, second and third attendance prizes went to Bob Andrews, Guy Koos and Tom Haubold, respectively.

TIME BETWEEN FRAMES—Don Stoneman, Bldg. 20-2, and Vic Rump, Bldg. 19-B, (l-r) are shown getting ready for the next frame at the bowling season opening. The 1951-52 season got underway Monday night at the G-E Club alleys with two 12-team leagues trying for the strikes.

Walley to Pilot Squares For 1951-52 Cage Season

Jim Walley has been appointed manager of the Squares basketball team in the G-E interdivision league for the 1951-52 season. He managed last year's team and led the Squares to their first championship by winning 17 games without a defeat.

Jim Walley graduated from Purdue University in 1947, where he played varsity football and basketball. He joined G-E in the Test Engineers' program and is now employed in FHP Motor Engineering divisions. In 1949, Mr. Walley was a member of the G-E Club's Industrial basketball team.

Cage Manager

First practice of the year will be scheduled in several weeks at which time selection of this year's team will be made. All Squares members and prospective members wishing to try out for the team should contact Jim Walley as soon as possible.

Squares athletic director C. A. Krasienko also announced an opening for a non-playing assistant to Mr. Walley for the coming year. Anyone interested in the position should contact Mr. Krasienko.

Members of the 1950 Squares team were: G. R. Carl, M. Emling, D. Johnson, J. Lindholm, A. Reynolds, M. Hamilton L. Goehring, R. Lewis and C. Krasienko.

Decatur Keglers Open '51 Season

The G-E Club Fraternal Bowling League of the Decatur Plant opened their season Wednesday, Sept. 5, with four teams playing.

West End Restaurant won three games from the Elks, while Teeple Truck Line copped two from Peterson Elevator. Games among the G-E Club, Moose-Burke, American Legion and the K. of C. will be rolled at a later date.

Zelt starred during the evening with games of 225 and 204. A close second was Laurent with games of 214 and 205. Other 200 scores were kegled by O. Schultz, 211, and J. Beery, 201.

Vivacious June (Dolly) Getty, G-E girls' first-sacker, received the Sportsman Trophy, awarded by the Girls City Softball League.

Good Sport

Well-liked by her teammates, June bats a .450 and has been playing for G-E several seasons. She was a member of the team that won the city championship for G-E a number of years ago. June also played for the Bob-Inn team when it held both the city and state titles.

Softball is not her only interest. June also enjoys fishing, bowling, reading good fiction and traveling. This summer, she journeyed to New Orleans, Texas and Oklahoma.

No stranger in the kitchen, June likes to cook and do things around the house. She also is a good mechanic on her car.

June works at the Taylor St. plant and lives at 2917 Holton Ave. with her mother and dog, "Dusty."

Lose Championship

The G-E Girls lost the City League championship to Uhligs, 3-2, Friday, Aug. 31, at Packard Park.

It was a closely contested game with Uhligs getting two runs in the second inning and one in the fifth. G-E scored its two runs in the sixth with a home run by June Getty which also scored Goeglein.

Koldewey and Drewett formed the battery for G-E, and Shearer and Beucler was Uhlig's battery.

The entire Shipping office spent a very pleasant holiday week-end. . . . The lakes in this area were kept busy by Al Kruse, Carol Harrington, Betty Bartley, Jo Quinn, Herb Grueb, Judy Krebs, Faye Alexander, Barb Schuckel, Joyce Grieser, Clyde Satterthwaite, Bud Mendenhall, Dee Hahn, and Carol Kissinger. . . . Bob Roche, Mary Wakeman, Jeannie Smith, Bar Harville visited the State Fair. . . . The Householder farm was lively during the holiday. Vi Schneiders spent Monday with Maxine Householder. . . . Don Feber and Roselyn Standiford went to the Van Wert Fair; Betty Bartley and Norman Gertz to Cleveland; Ruth Steir, Columbus, O.; Dorothy Favorite, Bryan, O.; Barb Harville, the Mammouth Cave; Gloria Kumfer, Bluffton, Ind., and Edith Swain, Indianapolis. . . . We extend a hearty welcome to Kathleen Roush. Kathleen is working on the files. . . . Joyce Grieser and Judy Krebs are happy to report that their boy friends are home on leave, especially Judy. She came to work sporting a beautiful diamond. Congratulations to both Judy and Vern. . . . Grace Taylor could have won a prize if she had entered her tomato at the State Fair. It weighed one pound and 10 ounces and was 16½ inches in circumferencc. She brought it to work to prove it. . . . Mary Caruso just returned from her vacation. Mary spent a week in Cincinnati. . . . Audrey Bradfield and Marilyn Spice are enjoying their vacations. Audrey is in New York, and Marilyn is in Colorado. . . . Betty Bartley has some sad news. Her mother underwent a serious operation. While visiting his mother, Howard (Betty's brother) fell down the hospital steps. He received a broken jaw and a serious cut on his chin. Both are recovering nicely at home. . . . I want to thank Delores Connin for the very nice introduction she gave me. I am sure that everybody in the office appreciated her efforts to make our column a success. Thank you, Delores, and the best of luck on your new job.

Provisions of GE Savings Plans Explained

It is anticipated that many employees will respond to the Government's appeal for additional Defense Bond purchases at this time by either joining the GE Employees Savings and Stock Bonus Plan during the period of solicitation from September 24 to 28, or by increasing the amount of their payroll deduction if they are already participating. Still other employees may wish to purchase bonds by payroll deduction without, however, leaving their bonds on deposit under the Bonus Plan.

STOCK BONUS PLAN

Except in those cases where an employee is saving for an early need, and knows definitely that he will be cashing his bonds before five years have elapsed, the Stock Bonus Plan has many advantages, providing not only a much higher rate of return on the money saved in this way, but also a bonus of General Electric stock as a gift from the Company. Here is a brief description of this plan.

The Savings and Stock Bonus Plan has two features:

1) Employee Savings, and

2) Stock Bonus

The first feature differs little from the plan of purchasing U. S. Savings Bonds, Series E, by payroll deductions. Employees will specify the amount of deductions they wish to have made from their pay checks and the denomination of the bonds they want to purchase. At the end of each month, whenever accumulated deductions are sufficient, a Series E bond will be purchased for the participant and registered in his name or in the name he has specified. The bonds will be deposited with the Company and a receipt therefore will be issued to the employee.

The second feature of the plan is the stock bonus, and this is the Company's contribution. At the end of each year, the Company will contribute an amount equal to 15 per cent of the cost of the bonds purchased by the employee during that year and on deposit at the end of the year. This will be in the form of GE stock, which the Company will contingently credit to the participant's account. The stock will be registered in the name of and delivered to the G. E. Employees Stock Bonus Trust.

Here is an example illustrating the two features of the plan:

Employee authorizes payroll deductions of $8 a week for purchase of Series E bonds of $50 denomination.

Total Savings at End of Year ($8 a week for 52 weeks) $416.00

During the year this has been used to purchase 11 Series E bonds at $37.50 a bond (total cost $412.50), leaving $3.50 in the employee's account.

Company Contribution in GE Stock (15% of $412.50—Cost of bonds) $61.87

At present market price, this would be slightly more than enough to purchase one share of GE Stock.

Thus, at the end of the year the employee has eleven $50 (maturity value) Series E bonds registered in his name, and a balance of $3.50 in his payroll account to apply against future bond purchases. In addition, under the Savings and Stock Bonus Plan, his account has been contingently credited with one share of General Electric stock, and a fractional interest in another share.

To receive the stock bonus, each year's purchases of Series E bonds must be left on deposit with the Company for a holding period, at the end of which both the bonds and the stock bonus applicable to such bonds will be delivered to the participant, together with a check for the income accumulated on the stock.

The holding period commences with the date of purchase of the Series E bonds, and ends five years from January 1 of the year following the year in which such bonds are purchased.

Each calendar year is independent of all others in the operation of the plan.

SHARE DIVIDENDS

The employee is credited at the end of each year with his share of any income of the G. E. Employees Stock Bonus Trust. Such income will be chiefly General Electric Company's dividend payments on the stock. This income also will be held until the end of the holding period. However, should the employee withdraw his bonds during this period, he will receive the accumulated income credited to his account applicable to the bonds he is withdrawing, even though he will forfeit the stock.

If the employee stays in the plan until the end of the holding period, the return on his savings would amount to about 5 per cent a year, compounded semi-annually, during that time, provided the price of GE stock and rate of dividends remain as at present. The rate of income will vary depending on the price of the stock at the time it is allocated to the employee, and on any dividends paid after the stock is allocated. For example, here is what the approximate return would be in five years for each $75 invested in U. S. Savings Bonds:

Interest on $100 Savings Bond during first five years...$7.00

GE Stock Bonus 15 per cent.....$11.25

Income of Trust GE dividends alone (assuming $60 a share and annual dividends of $3.00 a share).....$ 2.70

Total $20.95

The employee buying the Series E bond outside the plan and without the benefit of the stock bonus would receive $7 in interest, as shown in the example. The employee saving under the plan would get about $13.95 more for his $75 investment than the employee not joining the plan, provided the market value of the stock and the rate of dividends remain about as at present. However, at the end of the holding period, when the stock is actually delivered to the participant, its market value may be higher or lower than the $11.25 shown in the computation.

It is, of course, to the participant's benefit to hold the U. S. Savings Bonds until they mature. Interest on a $100 Series E bond would amount to $18 for the second five-year period, compared to only $7 for the first five years.

The Savings and Stock Bonus Plan, as approved by the stockholders of the Company, permits the Company to contribute up to $4,500,000 a year to the plan to provide the stock bonus, and limits the total savings of employees under the plan to $30,000,000 a year. Based on past experience, it is hoped that this will accommodate the savings of the great majority of employees, particularly since the maximum weekly deduction for any one employee is $10. If, during any year, subscriptions actually paid in reach $30,000,000, further deductions under the plan will be limited or suspended for the remainder of that year.

SOLICITATIONS PLANNED

Employees not now buying bonds by payroll deduction will receive a copy of form FN-607A. Those wishing to join the plan should fill in the form completely and return it to their supervisors promptly. Employees now participating in the plan who wish to increase the amount of their payroll deductions should ask their supervisor for form FN-607L. For those who wish to purchase bonds in the regular manner without leaving them on deposit under the Stock Bonus Plan, form FN-609A will be provided. Employees filling out one of these authorizations will receive their bonds promptly each time a new bond is issued to them, but such purchases will not, of course be eligible for the stock bonus. If an employee is already purchasing bonds outside the Stock Bonus Plan and wishes to increase his deduction, he should ask his supervisor for form FN-609L.

RETURN TO CENTRAL STANDARD TIME

At midnight Saturday, Sept. 29, the Daylight Saving Schedule will end and clocks will be set back one hour.

The Broadway and Taylor St. Plants, however, will not change their clocks until midnight Sunday, Sept. 30.

Any third shift operators working Sunday night will ring in on Daylight Saving Time and ring out on Central Standard Time, so that the interval worked will be one hour more than the clock card registration. The Payroll Sections will take care of this adjustment in time.

Community Services Fund Proposed To End All Plant Fund-Raising Drives

One major drive to end the many fund-raising campaigns at the Fort Wayne Works has been proposed for this fall, K. W. Michael, chairman of the organization committee, disclosed today.

The General Electric Employees Community Services Fund of Fort Wayne, as the plan will be called, has been formulated by the committee to care for all requirements for funds placed upon G-E employees. Those subscribing to the plan will become permanent members of the Fund.

Under the proposed plan, employees will only be called upon to sign a pledge card once during their G-E employment. The card will authorize payroll divisions to deduct a small amount from members' paychecks each week. These deductions will be continued from year to year, unless a member wishes to withdraw from the Fund.

An average amount of about the cost of a package of cigarettes will be withheld weekly from each subscriber's paycheck, according to his gross earnings. At a minimum of expense and annoyance, each employee will have the opportunity to contribute to 22 different Community Chest agencies and the Red Cross. All contributions will be on a purely voluntary basis.

Under the constitution of the Fund, employees will determine the policies of the organization. A board of administrators, representing all divisions, will decide the relative needs of each agency and distribute funds accordingly.

Costs Borne By Company

All costs of operating the plan will be borne by the Company.

Similar plans for community service have been operating successfully in other G-E plants.

The Community Services Fund would be a truly democratic way of providing adequate care and assistance for the less fortunate members of the community, organizing committeemen stated.

Members of the organization committee are Theron J. Kitchen and Robert W. Branning, representatives of Lodge No. 70 IAM-AFL; Ivan O. Standish and John H. Lea, representing IUE-CIO; H. B. Leach, C. E. Slater and Ivan D. Rinehart.

MBA Mails Out Checks This Week

Refund Amounts Based On Membership In MBA Class A Plan

Refund checks from the Mutual Benefit Association Class A Plan were mailed to members this week, according to Hubert Myers, MBA general chairman.

Refunds were made in accordance with the Articles of Dissolution of November, 1950, which provided that the remaining assets of the plan be returned to members in shares according to the number of years of membership.

Mr. Myers said the value of each share was determined at $2.57. The following distribution schedule was adopted:

A. Active member of less than one year membership—1 share.

B. Active member of one year but less than five years—2 shares.

C. Active member of five years

182 Employees Garner $2,777.50 In August Suggestion Harvest

One hundred eighty-two employees shared $2,777.50 in suggestion awards during the month of August, A. C. Hartman, chairman of the Suggestion System, reported this week. In this group were 35 people from three of the Fort Wayne branch plants.

James P. McFeely, General Tool Division, headed the list with a $150 award for an idea pertaining to segments in stator dies. Next on the list was Alton Corson, Wire Mill, who received a $125 for designing a better wire guide. An additional award of $100 went to Russell L. Semer, of the Tiffin Plant. His idea was about the rotor loading chute for the furnace there.

An award amounting to $85 was paid to Arthur Bell, DeKalb Plant, whose suggestion concerned Arnold gages used in shaft grinding. Edward A. Huhn, FHP Motor Div. 14, received $75 in addition to a previous award. He suggested improve-

Stockholders—Ordinary People Who Share A Faith in Common

When the General Electric Company declared its 217th stock dividend recently, it also announced that a record number of stockholders owned shares in the Company. There are now 253,319 G-E stockholders, more than at any time in the Company's 60-year history, which places it fourth among American industrial firms in number of share owners.

Four times a year, General Electric, as well as most American businesses, pays quarterly stock dividends to shareholders. These announcements, however, contain little information other than the amount of the dividend—rarely anything about the stockholders themselves.

Who are these people, the stockholders, the owners of General Electric? Are they wealthy businessmen? Wall Street bankers who are often pictured as over-dressed, over-fed and a little shady in their dealings? Big financial combines that manipulate the destinies of millions of people with their millions of dollars? Hardly.

That fellow with the lunch pail you see hurrying off in the mornings from a trim white cottage on his way to punch the time clock on the 7 o'clock shift; the teacher at the high school in your community who, year after year, guides your children through the wonders of American history; the corner grocer, who always has a lollipop for Junior. These are G-E stockholders.

What's the average stockholder like, you might ask? There is no average or typical owner of shares in G-E. But they're typical in one respect. That is in their faith in the American private enterprise system.

And that fellow hurrying with the lunch pail—chances are he will punch his time card at a General Electric plant, for many employees also own shares in the Company.

G-E stockholders live in all the 48 states. Less than one per cent lives outside the U. S., in more than 50 countries and territories. New York State has nearly 57,000 stockholder residents, followed by Massachusetts with about 30,000 and Pennsylvania with about 20,000.

Eighty-seven per cent of the stockholders are individuals. Brokers, banks and all other business enterprises total less than two per cent, while guardians and other fiduciaries account for 10.7 per cent of the number. Various educational and charitable institutions hold in their names about half a million shares of G-E stock.

Note this: forty-five per cent of the Company's stockholders, or about 113,000 are women. About 88,000, or 35 per cent are men. The remaining shares owned by individuals are held jointly.

In 1928, the total number of stockholders passed the 50,000 mark, the 100,000 mark in 1930. The number climbed above 200,000 in 1938 and passed 250,000 on June 17, 1949.

General Electric is proud of its record number of stockholders, not for the sake of the record alone, but in the fact that an ever-increasing number of people have confidence that G-E is a company in which the man with limited savings or the larger investor can safely share ownership because its business is conducted on sound but progressive principles.

Profit Is What You Have Left!

When we talk about a company's profit, we're talking about the net amount earned by the company after paying all expenses, including taxes. It's a sum of money the company can use for dividends to shareholders, buy new machinery, construct new buildings and otherwise expand to make still more jobs.

Consequently, there is no such thing as "profit before taxes," because a company couldn't, for instance, pay dividends out of money owed the Federal government. Sometimes people talk about "profit before taxes" because they want to show how much a company would have earned if the government hadn't taken so much. Mostly, however, they use the expression only because they're confused about the real meaning of the word "profit."

New Columnist

Ed Ellenburg to Edit 'Details From Drafting'

Roll out the welcome mat and say "howdy do" to Ed Ellenburg, the new division editor to the "Details from Drafting" column about the folks in Bldg. 26-2.

A native of Minneapolis, Ed moved to Fort Wayne with his family in 1948. He entered the General Electric Company drafting trainee course that year. Four months after joining the Company, Ed was assigned to Bldg. 26-2 as an apprentice draftsman, which is his present position.

The new division editor graduated from Washburn High School, in Minneapolis in 1945. Stationed in Atlanta, Ga., he served in the Army Airborne Divisions as a sergeant for three years.

Gaining his interest in journalism from working on his high school paper, Ed spends his spare time studying and practicing photography. He also occupies his free moments by keeping his "souped-up" car in running condition.

Ed lives with his family at 1239 Vance Ave.

QUARTER CENTURY PICNIC

It will be two weeks tomorrow,
I enjoyed quite a treat
At our Quarter Century picnic,
An event that's hard to beat.

Every year the club assembles,
Shortly after Labor Day,
For it's annual get-together,
Just to visit, eat and play.

Held at one of Nature's beauty spots,
A place called Limberlost.
We go and just enjoy it,
Our Company pays the cost.

To belong, takes years of service,
Twenty-five to be exact,
So, if you were not invited,
'Twas because of years you lacked.

And I think you ought to know it,
Just in case someone inquires,
That we have a couple thousand
With those years the club requires.

And each year we get some freshmen,
That's the twenty-five year group.
Who in time will be our seniors,
With that forty-odd year stoop.

Of course, they never all attend,
But all of them who do
Are treated to a lot of fun
And entertainment, too.

It was fun to watch the ball game,
Here, the best was even punk.
Abner Doubleday, if living,
Would have said, "My game is sunk."

But the fellows pitching horseshoes
Really seemed to know their stuff.
When you're throwing double ringers
Everytime, it sure is rough.

On the benches were the old folks,
Who preferred to sit and talk,
And a few like me enjoyed
Just to stand around and gawk.

On the stage, we had musicians
That I thought were rather good,
And a lot of tricks in magic
That nobody understood.

Add to that a couple of tumblers
Plus a unicycle, act,
And it leaves a good loud speaker
As the only thing we lacked.

This was felt when Mr. Martin,
Started in to make his speech,
For 'twas then this old loud speaker
Really started in to screech.

Oh, I almost missed a feature
That provoked a lot of fun.
'Twas some guy throughout the program
Hunting rabbits with a gun.

There were nice attendance prizes
And some twenty-five I know
Either won a fan or heating pad,
An iron or radio.

And they even issued gasoline
To those who drove a car.
Because, you see, to Limberlost
From here is rather far.

I'd also like to compliment
The folks who served the dinner.
With swiss steak on the menu,
It was sure to be a winner.

'Twas a picnic all enjoyed,
And it might be just because
Those who went were not attending
Just to pick a hunch of flaws.

New Directors

The new directors are Maxine Baker, Bldg. 17-4, Mary Zirkle, Bldg. 17-3, and Lonnie Rockstroh, Bldg. 26-3. Maxine, who received the highest number of votes for the directors, will serve a two-year term, as stated in the Club constitution.

Say That Again!

"Say that again," was the only thing Donna could say when she was notified of her election last Monday evening. The new president, who is a petite five foot brunette, has been a member of Elex for six years. During that time, she served as director, contact girl and on various committees.

Donna, a elerk in production, Bldg. 4-6, has been with the Company for six years. After working in Bldg. 6-2 for a short time, Donna transferred to production and moved with the division from Broadway to Taylor St. and back again a few months ago.

Richland Plant Contract Renewed For Atomic Work

A five-year extension of the General Electric Company's contract with the Atomic Energy Commission for operation of the Hanford Works in Richland, Wash. and Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory, Schenectady, N. Y., was announced this month by the Atomic Energy Commission and General Electric officials.

The extended contract will run until June 30, 1956. General Electric has operated the Hanford plutonium plant for the government since Sept., 1946, for a fixed fee of $1.00. All costs incurred by General Electric in carrying out its contract are reimbursed from government funds.

The Company will continue to manage the town of Richland.

O'Brien, Garwick Given New Large M-G Duties

J. L. O'Brien has been appointed purchase analyst, Large Motor-Generator Department, according to G. M. Murray, purchasing agent. The appointment of G. W. Garwick to succeed Mr. O'Brien as assistant to supervisor of procedures, in the department, has been announced by C. A. McCuen, supervisor of procedures, Large Motor-Generator Department, Schenectady Works.

Mr. O'Brien joined General Electric Company in 1948 as procedures analyst in the Control Division, Apparatus Department at Scheneetady. Two years later, he was appointed assistant to the supervisor of procedures in the Large Motor-Generator Department here. He held this position at the time of his present appointment.

A native of Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien graduated with a B.S. degree in electrieal engineering from Villanova College in 1947. He received a Master of Business Administration degree in Industrial Management from the Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania.

W. V. Merrihue Named Manager Of Employee Relations Service

Willard V. Merrihue has been appointed manager of the General Electric Company's newly-established Employee Relations Services Department, Lemuel R. Boulware, G-E vice president of Employee and Plant Community Relations, announced today.

Mr. Merrihue's headquarters will be in the Company's New York offiees at 570 Lexington Ave.

The department headed by Mr. Merrihue will be under the Employee and Plant Community Relations Services Division, Mr. Boulware said.

Mr. Merrihue previously was manager of employee and plant community relations of the Company's Large Apparatus Division.

A veteran in the fields of advertising and employee relations, Mr. Merrihue began his eareer in General Electric in 1925 shortly after graduation from the University of Pennsylvania, where he reeeived a bachelor of science degree in chemieal engineering.

After early editorial work in the Company's publicity department, he held suecessive positions of assistant manager of the department's industrial advertising section, division manager of central station advertising, and assistant to the manager, publieity department, in charge of apparatus advertising.

Apparatus Advertising

In 1944, he was named manager of the Apparatus Department's advertising and sales promotion divisions and was appointed a member of the company's apparatus sales eommittee.

Mr. Merrihue rceeived the Charles A. Coffin Award, the eompany's highest honor to employees, in 1933 "for initiative, ingenuity and perseverance in devising a new and unusual sales plan."

Mr. Merrihue embarked upon a new eareer in August, 1947, when Edgar to Succeed Frank Ondrovik As Squares' Pres.

M. W. Edgar has succeeded Frank Ondrovik as president of the G-E Squares organization, it was announced at a special meeting of the board recently.

Mr. Edgar, who was vice president, automatically became president when Mr. Ondrovik resigned to enter the Armed Forces.

K. W. Michael was elected vice president by the board which is composed of J. J. Clarkson, H. B. Carter, M. A. Baker and J. H. Capps.

An old and not very handsome bachelor said to the young lady who had just turned down his proposal of marriage, "You are the 14th girl to whom I have proposed without avail."

"Well," said the girl kindly, "maybe if you wear one when making your 15th proposal, you'll have some luck."

sent policies and plans of action to this end. All activity today is aimed at maintaining high production to assure the filling of essential customer orders as well as providing equipment for the armed services. The importance of both to our national economy demands our entire effort."

Among the featured speakers to be on hand for the conference are W. C. Wichman, Manager of Specialty Transformer and Ballast Department, P. M. Staehle, Assistant to Mr. Wichman, A. W. Bartling, Sales Manager of Small Apparatus Division, Horace Zimmer, Manager of Districts, and J. S. Smith, Manager of the Advertising and Sales Promotion Division.

Following the Thursday morning program, the group will travel to Danville, Ill., to take part in a large customer meeting of fixture manufacturers. This event has been designated Silver Ballast Day, commemorating the manufacture of the 25 millionth ballast at the Danville plant.

Lang Key Speaker

Chester H. Lang, General Electric vice president in charge of public relations, will be the key speaker at the Danville ceremonies Sept. 27-28.

Mr. Lang will address a banquet gathering Sept. 27 officially opening company-sponsored "Silver Ballast Day" festivities. More than 200 lighting-industry executives representing all parts of the country are expected to attend.

Climaxing a schedule of technical forums and plant tours the following day, the G-E executive will present the specially silver-plated 25-millionth ballast to Mayor Donald Wilson in appreciation of the role Danville citizens played in setting the production mark.

In his talk, "Danville, Ballast Capital of the World," Mr. Lang is expected to trace the growth of the fluorescent lighting industry and the contributions it has made to improved living.

A nationally known authority on industrial marketing, Mr. Lang was named G-E public relations head last June. Prior to that he had for 10 years directed the marketing activities of the Company's Apparatus organization.

Charm Course Applications Accepted Now

Applications for enrollment in Elex Club's series of cultural classes are now being taken, Marie Fox, educational chairman, reported today. All Elex members interested in the ten-week course should fill out the blank below and return it to the Women's Activities Offices at Broadway or Taylor St.

The course will consist of weekly classes, conducted Monday evenings from 7 to 8 p.m. in Room 20, Bldg. 16-3. A fee of one dollar per person will be charged for the entire course. At the first meeting, Oct. 8, Rabbi Frederic Doppelt will be the speaker. His subject will be "Peace In a World of Anxiety."

Successive meetings will include effective expression, home management and diet, floral arrangements, table etiquette, personal grooming and posture, personality traits and a love and marriage clinic.

Return to:

ments to punches and dies for stator shells. Additional awards of $65 went to Edward Bienz and Orville L. Dowell, FHP Motor Div. 16. Mr. Bienz's suggestion was about broach key ways, while Mr. Dowell's idea involved improvements to the clutch on minister presses.

Six employees received $50 awards. Zella M. Wittmer, FHP Motor Div. 13, suggested the omission of tube insulation on winding. A Tiffin employee, Raymond Milliron, received his award for an idea about repunching sections. James Turner and Ellen Feasel, also of the Tiffin plant, were paid additions to previous awards. Mr. Turner suggested a change in the grinding method, and Miss Feasel found a way to save half coils.

Mearvin E. Ruhl, Specialty Transformer Div. 91, was paid his $50 for his idea about packing boxes. Richard Dentel, General Service Division, made a suggestion about fire alarm boxes throughout the plant.

Herman Kraft, Tiffin Plant, was awarded $40 for his suggestion about certain wheels on grinding machines. A $37.50 check went to Lawrence Fuller, FHP Motor Div. 15, who made a suggestion about plating. Ressa Ewbank, Danville Plant, received $35 for making a suggestion on certain test set lids. Awards amounting to $35 and $25 went to Donald Welty of the Tiffin Plant, for ideas about Carboloy eyelets and increased clutch pressure. Charles S. Rosenfelt, Tiffin, was paid $30 for his idea involving the overhead conveyor and hoist.

The following employees were awarded $25 for their suggestions: Harold Richmond, FHP Motor Div. 14; Robert J. Robertson, FHP Motor Div. 17; Marvin E. Fields, FHP Div. 17, and Elmer C. Witte, Large Motor-Generator Divisions.

One hundred sixty people received awards ranging from $5 to $25.

THANK YOU NOTE

ON BEHALF OF THE G-E WORLD WAR VETERANS ASSOCIATION, I would like to thank all our members and friends who contributed so generously to the organization's recent postage money drive for Elex boxes to employees in the armed forces. The support this drive received was splendid and the results were very gratifying.

Sincerely,
Ed Martin,
President,
G-E Veterans Association.

Audrey Hickernell is back to work after a bout with a severe cold. . . . Clara Theisman is doing all right after two days in the hospital with an attack of appendicitis. She can even play badminton. What a gal! . . . Bonnie Gerber has left us to take up new duties in Bldg. 31. . . . Charles Rice is quite distinguished looking in his new horn-rimmed glasses. . . . The Birthday Club held its last meeting at the home of Belle Buchan. The girls entertained themselves playing badminton and pitching horseshoes. Later a picnic supper was served by the hostess. The girls with birthdays were Mickey Crawford, Addie Masbaum, Joan Bailey, Ann Tyler and Belle Buchan. Those present were Laurel Weaver, Dorothy Askren, Mickey Crawford, Eleanor Bolenbaugh, Evelyn Scheuman, Clara Theisman, Joan Murphy, Addie Masbaum, Norma Krall, Joan Bailey and the hostess. Ann Tyler was absent because of the illness of her mother.

A STRANGER: Many of us are just beginning to find out that the bewhiskered gent in the Grinding Section is not a stranger but is really our well known co-worker, Jack Richards. . . . "SOUTH BEND, HERE WE COME!" So says Dora Mae Fairchild and Marcia Martin. They will spend the week-end in South Bend visiting friends and relatives. . . . GREETINGS: We extend our greetings to Fannie Amstutz, who recently celebrated her birthday. . . . ON VACATION: A week in which to just relax and take it easy is what Oscar Teeple is planning for his vacation. . . . Leo Bogner is enjoying an extra week of vacation. . . . IN TRAINING: He isn't training for the track. Henry is just in a hurry, trying to keep the work caught up and supplies on hand. Mina Lampy is enjoying another week of vacation, so Henry has to take over. . . . ILL! Annabelle Gehrig is on the sick list. We wish you a speedy recovery, Annabelle. . . . A week of rest is going to furnish the tonic prescribed for Ada Owens. . . . CONGRATULATIONS! To Viola and Russel Melchi on their little granddaughter; to Kenny and Barbara Gaunt upon the arrival of a baby girl, (Jim and Hilda Staley are the proud grandparents); and to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lord on the arrival of Janet Sue. Solomon Lord is the grandfather. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weldy are proud parents of a baby boy. . . . RETURNED TO WORK! George Roop and Veda Egley have returned to work after an illness. . . . VERY CUTE! Doesn't Jean Mansfield wear the cutest outfits, especially that little white cap? . . . BEST WISHES, ETHEL! Ethel Freidt was married around Labor Day to a very charming young man by the name of Charles Hamrick, a former G-E worker. Congrats to both. . . . WANT TO BUY A DONKEY? We heard from Cleva Weaver the other day and she still has that donkey. They sure must be hard to get rid of. How much, Cleva, for the donkey and saddle? . . . A NEW FORD: Have you noticed Cliff Pond is now driving a Fordamatic? . . . Norma Bower had a flat tire on that new Pontiac the other eve. Some of the girls were late getting back from lunch. . . . SYMPATHIES: to Fred Chronister upon the death of his mother. . . . Pfc. Robert Stults, Decatur Employee who is in the armed service, says "Hello" to all of his friends at G-E and especially to his friend Chet McIntosh. We thank each of you for your fine cooperation in our scrap drive. You efforts have produced an amazing amount of scrap. The drive will not end until Nov. 1, so continue your work by keeping alert for dormant scrap. Kenneth Sefton and Gus Kruse were taken by surprise when the inspection committee added a little spice to the scrap drive by presenting them with "B+" grades for their efforts. Kenny had quality while Gus had the quantity of scrap. . . . It was good to see Charlie Klepper back for a visit. . . . We are proud of Vic Barcus. He has joined the gallon club of blood doonrs. . . . Local golfers have had some wild scores on the links later. It is due to a multi-colored object worn on Merwood Dunlap's head. We think you could call it a rainbow cap. . . . The Alfred Arlics received a nine pound baby boy the same week that Al lost the tip of his finger. He must have been chewing his fingernails while sweating out the blessed event. . . . Al Stecker needs some boy scout to show him the art of knot tying. He was given a new set of anchors only to lose one in the bottom of the lake. . . . Wedding bells will be ringing for Willie Bohn, who says girls can sure run fast these days. . . . Some very thoughtful person placed Bill Gallespie's tool box in the scrap drive. He recovered it just in time. . . . Saul Fett claims that a milling machine will fly like an airplane if you can operate it to great extreme. . . . Dick Gecowets claims he has so many pickles out on his farm that it will take two semis to haul them to town. . . . We wish Guy Brown, who is leaving us to take up carpenter work, lots of success in his new vocation. . . . We hear the North Side High School football team has a new assistant coach since Glenn Ramsey's boy made the team. They lost their first two games so we suggest that Glenn resign so they can get a winning streak started. . . . The party at Marion More's cottage was a success except for a few minor incidents. The neighbor's dog was caught eating hamburgers and drinking the refreshments. Marion, with his kind-hearted spirit, started out to deliver some refreshments to the neighbors but got in a fight with a garbage can. Of course, Marion came out the loser getting all skinned up. Leo Schlaudroff and Henry Sandkuhler were very fine short order cooks. Henry Frey thought they even shorted the hamburger in his sandwich. Bob Truelove slept in the car for two hours and Jimmy Mattes got there too late to row the boat for the expert fishermen Art Dicke and Jack Schemehorn. Just as well because they didn't catch any fish. . . . We're glad to see Herb Langer back on the job. . . . We held our scrap drive while Ed Kammeyer was on vacation. He claims the drive collected half his tools and nearly all his government work. . . . Purl Schoeff claims he doesn't need that Packard in his garage. It has only been out of the garage once since vacation. Sell it, Purl, then you will know how much you need it. . . . We extend our sympathy to Chester Burgette in the death of his mother-in-law.

Maggie Moore is spending her third week's vacation this week. We hope you really enjoyed it too, Maggie. . . . We finally found out why Bob Boone is late for work on Monday's and sometimes misses work on Friday. He has a champion horse he takes to fairs to win blue ribbons. . . . There will be an open house in Roanoke when "Woody" Winters gets his house finished. Some of his co-workers has been helping him so long they are claiming half ownership. . . . The Fan Motor team of Taylor St. league, last year's champions, really took a beating from the Lab Thursday night. All three games were lost over 100 pins each. . . . Helen Doty has gone on Navy work in Bldg. 26. Good luck, Helen, we'll miss you. . . . Ruby Stucky went to Dayton over the week-end to see her new niece. That makes a niece and a nephew, both in a month. . . . Jerry Stier must really know how to live cheaply. From what we hear, he lived two weeks on 45 cents. How did you do it, Jerry? . . . Norm Wolf says whenever Harold Mosshammer can beat him playing golf it's high time to sell his equipment. . . . Jennie Kemp had an auto accident over the week-end. She was uninjured, but lost her new car which was completely demolished. . . . Loretta Day had Friday off and says she feels on top of the world this week. She even recommends it and says she is sure it will help everyone's morale but the boss's.

Questions You'll Want Answered About The Stock Bonus Plan

QUESTION: Can I pay a lump sum into the plan?

ANSWER: No. All subscriptions must be by payroll deduction, either on a weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly, or monthly basis, depending on your pay period.

QUESTION: Must my savings be limited to $10 a week?

ANSWER: No. You can authorize additional deductions on authorization form FN-609A, which will be used to buy U.S. Defense Bonds for you outside the plan. These bonds will be delivered to you as soon as they are issued, since they will not be eligible for the bonus.

QUESTION: Can I change the amount of my deduction during the year?

ANSWER: Yes, within the limits specified above, deductions may be increased or decreased by the employee at any time.

QUESTION: What happens if subscriptions exceed the $30,000,000 provided?

ANSWER: If, during any year, subscriptions actually paid in reach $30,000,000, further subscriptions under the plan may be suspended for the remainder of that year. However, in the event of a suspension, deductions from payroll will continue during the remainder of the year and will be used to purchase U.S. Defense Bonds, but they will not be eligibile for the stock bonus.

QUESTION: May I join the plan if I will reach retirement age before the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: Yes. Even though you cannot have deductions made under the plan after you retire, all the money you have previously put into this plan can be left there, if you wish, until the end of the holding period. Even though you are retired, you will then receive your bonds, your GE stock, and your share of the accumulated earnings of the Trust.

QUESTION: Can the Company invest my money in any securities except Defense Bonds?

ANSWER: No. All money subscribed by employees will be invested in U.S. Defense Bonds, Series E, registered in the name of the employee or in the name of any other person selected by him and permitted by government regulations.

QUESTION: What denomination U.S. Defense Bonds will I get?

ANSWER: You specify the denomination of the bonds you want. However, if the balance to your credit at the end of any month is sufficient to purchase a bond of higher denomination, the higher denomination bond will be issued.

Also, at the end of the year, any balance to your credit will be used to buy bonds to the fullest extent possible, so as to insure your getting the largest possible stock bonus.

QUESTION: About how long will it take to save enough to get one share of GE stock?

ANSWER: That depends on how much you save each week, and also on the price of the stock at the time it is credited to your account. GE stock has been selling for about $60 a share. At this price you would get one share of stock by saving about $8 a week for a year. The maximum deduction, $10 a week, would bring you about 1.30 shares of stock, at this price.

QUESTION: My wife is also a General Electric employee. Are both of us permitted to save under the plan and receive the stock bonus?

ANSWER: Yes. The plan is based on individual employee participation. Each family member employed by the Company may participate independently.

QUESTION: What rate of return do I receive on my savings under the Stock Bonus Plan?

ANSWER: Over the holding period it should amount to about 5 per cent a year, compounded semi-annually, provided you remain in the plan until the end of the holding period, and that the price of GE stock and the dividend rate remain about the same as at present.

QUESTION: Will the Company notify me of the Series E bonds purchased for me?

ANSWER: Yes. You will receive a receipt for each bond purchased, showing the denomination of the bond, the date of issue, and the registration.

QUESTION: Why is there a holding period before the stock and bonds are delivered to me?

ANSWER: Because the plan is designed to encourage the habit of saving. Obviously if you got your bonds and stock at the end of the first year you could cash in your bonds and put the money back into the plan the following year. Thus there would be no incentive for you to go on saving—you would be using the same money over and over again.

QUESTION: Am I classified as a stockholder before the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: No. You do not actually own the stock until the expiration of the holding period, when the stock is delivered to you. During the holding period the full shares and any fractional interest in a share of stock are credited to your account but you do not actually own them.

QUESTION: Is any of the money I contribute used to purchase the stock?

ANSWER: No. All the money you subscribe under the plan is used for the purchase of U.S. Defense Bonds, Series E, which are registered in your name or in the name of any other person selected by you. The stock bonus is an outright gift from the Company.

QUESTION: Can I get payment of the bonus in cash instead of stock?

ANSWER: No. The 15 per cent bonus is paid in General Electric stock only. However, you can get cash by selling the stock in the open market at the current price at any time you wish after it is delivered to you.

QUESTION: Is the stock bonus equal to 15 per cent of my total deductions during the year, or 15 per cent of the amount actually used to buy bonds?

ANSWER: The bonus will be equal to 15 per cent of the amount actually used to buy bonds. Any surplus in your account at the end of the year (less than $18.75, otherwise it would be used to purchase a bond) is carried forward to your account for the following year.

QUESTION: Will the Company pay interest on the deductions while they are accumulating?

ANSWER: No. These funds will be kept in a separate bank account on which no interest is paid.

QUESTION: When does the holding period start?

ANSWER: The holding period for each bond starts with the date the bond is purchased, and ends five years from January 1 of the year following the year in which the bond was purchased.

QUESTION: What happens if the 15 per cent bonus entitles me to only part of a share of stock?

ANSWER: The Trust will credit your account with the fractional interest in a share to which you are entitled. Both whole shares and fractional interests in shares will be credited.

QUESTION: What happens if I am entitled to a fraction of a share at the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: It will be held by the Trust until a full share has accumulated, or you may, if you wish, take its value in cash.

QUESTION: Why is a limit of $10 a week placed on the savings eligible for the stock bonus?

ANSWER: So as to give every employee an opportunity to participate in the bonus. The Company's contribution to the plan is limited to $4,500,000 a year and no more than $30,000,000 a year of savings can be covered with the 15 per cent stock bonus. If there were no limit on the amount of employee contributions, subscriptions might quickly exhaust the $4,500,000 Company contribution and leave some subscribers without the bonus.

QUESTION: Won't I lose money if the price of the stock goes down or dividends are cut?

ANSWER: No, you can't lose the money you subscribe since it is all safely invested in U.S. Defense Bonds. Any fluctuations which may occur in the price of the stock or the dividend rate may affect the rate of return on your investment, but not the safety of the money you have invested.

QUESTION: How does the Company figure the price of the stock given me as a bonus?

ANSWER: This will be determined by the average market price of the stock as of the end of each month during the year.

QUESTION: Will I be notified of the number of shares of stock being credited to my account?

ANSWER: Yes. You will receive a statement of your account shortly after the end of each year.

QUESTION: Will I receive the annual report of the Company and the quarterly dividend folders?

ANSWER: Yes, as soon as at least one share of stock has been delivered to you. You are then a regular stockholder of the Company and have the same voting and all other rights of any stockholder.

QUESTION: When do I report the stock bonus on my income tax statements?

ANSWER: When you actually receive the stock. You must report it as income at its market value on the date you actually receive it.

QUESTION: Do I actually receive the dividends on the stock during the holding period?

ANSWER: No. The dividends are paid to the G.E. Employees Stock Bonus Trust. The Trust credits the account of the participating employee with a pro rata share of this income and any other income of the Trust. Such income is not actually paid to you until the end of the holding period unless you withdraw your U.S. Defense Bonds prior to the end of that period.

QUESTION: At the end of the holding period, is the income paid to me in cash or in stock?

ANSWER: In cash.

QUESTION: If I withdraw my Series E bonds before the end of the holding period, do I lose the income on the stock credited to me?

ANSWER: No. All the income of the Trust credited to you which applies to the bonds you are withdrawing will be paid to you at the time you withdraw them. But you forfeit the stock bonus applicable to the bonds withdrawn.

QUESTION: Do I have to include the income on the allocated stock in my income tax statement as it is credited to my account, or when I actually get it?

ANSWER: At the time you actually receive the cash, either at the end of the holding period, or when withdrawing bonds from the plan.

QUESTION: Will I be notified when income is credited to my account?

ANSWER: Yes, at the end of each year you will receive a statement telling you how many shares of stock and what income has been credited to your account by the Trust.

QUESTION: Do I receive income on my interest in a fraction of a share of stock credited to me?

ANSWER: Yes.

QUESTION: Is there any way I can get part of my money out without withdrawing all of it?

ANSWER: Yes, there are several ways you can do this. Each calendar year is independent of all others in the operation of the plan. Therefore you can withdraw your savings for any one year without affecting your participation for any other year. For instance:

(a) You may withdraw the cash in your payroll deduction account which has not been used to buy bonds at any time.

(b) At any time during the year you may withdraw part or all of the bonds purchased for you so far during that year.

(c) You may withdraw all the bonds purchased in any one prior calendar year. It is not possible to withdraw just part of the bonds purchased during any one calendar year, except that part of the bonds purchased in the current year may be withdrawn.

You can obtain money in any or all of the above ways without withdrawing from the plan by continuing your payroll deductions.

QUESTION: Can I stop my payroll deductions at any time but leave in the money which I have already invested?

ANSWER: Yes. At the time you stop your payroll deductions you can leave in all you have invested both during the current and past years.

QUESTION: If I do stop my payroll deductions, may I later rejoin the plan?

ANSWER: Yes. You may rejoin the plan at any time, either during the same year or later, as long as subscriptions are still open.

QUESTION: Suppose I withdraw bonds in the middle of a year. Do I get income on the stock for the first two quarters of the year?

ANSWER: No. The income is credited to your account annually. At the time you withdraw, you get any income credited up to the end of the previous year.

QUESTION: If I leave the Company, may I leave my bonds on deposit until the end of the holding period and collect the stock bonus?

ANSWER: Yes.

QUESTION: What happens if I withdraw bonds before the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: If you withdraw bonds before the end of the holding period you do not receive the 15 per cent bonus on those bonds. However, you do receive whatever income has been credited by the Trust to your account which applies to these bonds for the period during which they were on deposit under the plan.

QUESTION: Is there a minimum period that I must remain in the plan before I can withdraw?

ANSWER: No. You can withdraw at any time.

QUESTION: If I withdraw, can I get back the cash instead of the bonds?

ANSWER: No, because the bonds have been purchased in your name. However, you can cash the bonds at any time sixty days after date of issue.

QUESTION: Suppose I retire before the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: You may leave your bonds on deposit until the end of the holding period and receive your stock bonus and accumulated income at that time.

QUESTION: Suppose I die before the end of the holding period?

ANSWER: Your bonds, plus any amount in your payroll account, the stock bonus, and accumulated income will be paid promptly to the person entitled to them. Notice that in this case, the bonus is paid even though the holding period is not up.

QUESTION: How do I go about withdrawing my bonds?

ANSWER: Sign the custody receipts which have been issued to you, place an (x) in the box calling for withdrawal of the bonds, and turn the custody receipts over to the payroll section. The receipts will be sent to Schenectady and the bonds will be returned promptly to the payroll section for delivery to you. Employees located in Schenectady may obtain their bonds by calling at Building #2 with their signed receipts.

QUESTION: Can I name a beneficiary to receive my stock bonus and accumulated income?

ANSWER: Yes—ask your supervisor or payroll section for Beneficiary Card Form FN-607J.

SHIPPING: Mystery! How in the world could Mary Murphy have gotten as wet as she did during last week's rain? Mary insists she can't understand how it could have rained through that lovely raincoat. . . . Our Heroine, Helen Elbert, (that's the lady wielding the fly swatter) has the gratitude of the entire force for her daring action against the flies in shipping. . . . Dutch (I Got a Sore Shoulder) Wilson started the bowling season with several alibis to cover up for the low score he was afraid he would roll. Contrary to odds, Dutch came up with a tremendous score. . . . Paul Merkert had his bowling troubles too. Someone traded an old ball for Paul's new one. Once upon a time, someone did the same thing to Paul only with his bowling shoes, and worst of all they were one size too large. . . . Herman (Wait For Me) Ebel had poor Mrs. Ebel wait at the gate for over a half hour, just showing who's boss, no doubt. . . . TELEGRAPH: The gals had a swell shower for Barbara Rider at Helene Nelson's home last Wednesday. On the way home, Eleanore (I know the Way) Blake got everyone lost on the way back to the city. . . . Helene Nelson also did great honors for the new bride Kitty Cooper and her brand new hubby as of last Saturday. . . . MAILING: Happy birthday to Garland Helland and Clarence Saylor. . . . Clarence Saylor is now a full-time messenger boy. . . . Who has more trouble than Don Hensler? He doesn't lose his shirt like most people; he loses his trousers. . . . Minta Cole is the busiest person. The reason is the marriage of her son Duane (former employee of Mailing) who is now stationed at Great Lakes. . . . RECEIVING: Be on the lookout for a person or persons who have an atomic ray gun similar to the type used in the adventure comic books. Joe Rygouski started home from work last week with two perfectly good boat anchors, which a friend had so kindly helped him make. On arriving, he called to his wife, "Oh darling, come see what I brought." Imagine their consternation, when Joe opened his lunch pail, he found the anchors had been mysteriously reduced to a mass of scrap iron. . . . Frank Parker attended the State Fair to see the poultry exhibits. However, he was observed watching the chickens in the "fun-house" instead of the henhouse.

Wait for Me

We're glad Cliff Garvisson is back after his accident with not too many ill effects. . . . Reggie Enggeman likes vitamins in her coffee. She says she likes her coffee made in a "Sunshine" coffee-maker. . . . Delores and Wayne Nichols say thanks to everyone for their nice wedding gift. . . . Welcome to Bernie Adams and Gladys Stidham to 1 x 29. Hope you like us, girls. . . . No, that wasn't the mumps that Howard Pfeiffer and Don Ritter had. It was that free sample of chewing tobacco. From the looks of it, they must have tried to chew it all at once. . . . The stork left a 7 lb. 10 oz. baby girl at the Virgil Parker home. Mama and papa are doing nicely. . . . We miss Jo LaBa, who transferred to Bldg. 6-4 on days. . . . Joan Armstrong put up a stiff argument when confronted with a little green worm. . . . Harold Dalman is back after an attack of the flu. . . . Wonder if Ray Belchner has all that chewing tobacco used up yet? He says there are only two chews to the pack, but in our opinion that is a lot of chewing. . . . Helga Wickliffe hasn't completed her sewing course as yet. She was seen stapling her apron string onto the apron. Haven't they showed you that yet, Helga? . . . Betty Zollars should read the newspapers at a closer distance. She reads soap advertisements thinking they are the headlines.

COMPLETES 40 YEARS—E. F. Zollinger (second from right, foreground), Bldg. 17-4, recently celebrated his 40th anniversary with General Electric. He was congratulated by his co-workers in FHP Motor Div. 23. In the foreground are (l-r) O. J. Mettler, Russell Noll, Mr. Zollinger and Carl Hattendorf.

June said yes, she has a conscience even if she did have her bus fare out at noon. . . . Mildred Hoover had a door stick the other day and after pushing to no avail. She gave it the old mule treatment with success. . . . Bill Morton didn't have much of a vacation his third week. His two sons had a wreck with their motorcycle, and the other older boy had surgery Wednesday. . . . Harold Mettler has moved back into town after being up at the lake where it was quiet and peaceful. The other night he could not sleep for the city noise and was asking for No Nods. . . . Clarence Didier has been seen sitting around drawing wiggley lines lately. Did you win yet, C? . . . Thanks to George Ellison's daughter for the doughnuts, Byron Neuman's wife for the cookies and June Allgeier for the gallon of coffee. . . . Dorothea Swank was talking to Betty Skevington. She and her family had a nice trip to California. . . . Pinky Barnes, our ex-matron, had surgery last Thursday and is coming along fine. She is going home this Saturday. . . . All the girls on a diet could not resist the doughnuts today except Florence Fett. She passed hers on to her hubby. Edith Venrick said she finally got hers after the second attempt. . . . Walter Sollberger sure was burning after he found all those motors with wrong rotation the other night. It won't happen again, Walter.

Betty Collier has her dog trained well. It brings home the neighbor children's play things. . . . Dorothy Franklin has the right idea. She keeps her husband's lunch at her table and makes him come after it. It's a good way to check on him, Dorothy. . . . Paul Hapner isn't getting old. He just forgot to tell second shift they were to work last Saturday. . . . Evelyn Krueger was transferred here from Bldg. 17-3. Hope you like us, Evelyn. . . . Joe Tricker is our new foreman on second shift. Welcome, Joe, hope you enjoy it with us. . . . Ruby DePew has returned to work after a recent operation. Ruby formerly was a placer in Bldg. 17-3 and is now winding interpoles here. . . . Betty Collier has an idea, but we pity the nurses if Betty ever lands in the hospital. Ask her about it. . . . Clara Wisel knows how to get a new dress. She just tears them up. . . . Your reporter is back from her vacation which was spent in Virginia and North Carolina, traveling 1,800 miles. . . . Geneva Curtis has a real headache remedy. Sure, we even saw the battle. . . . Babe Gephart got her hand in a hot spot. . . . Elden Cox left the General Electric for his milk route. . . . George R. Swinehart is leaving us for another job. We will miss him on the lathe. Good luck, George. . . . Fern, Dorothy has some of her sleeve material left if you could use it. . . . Kay Dolan received a thank you from Evelyn Chapman, formerly from Bldg. 17-3. . . . Kathleen Clark is spending the week-end in Chicago.

TIME TO MAKE THINGS—Joseph Schible (second from right), FHP Div. 14, will be able to fill his spare time making things on the lathe his co-workers gave him as a retirement gift. His friends at Taylor St. are shown above with him on his last day at work. Mr. Schible began working for G-E in 1912 as a punch press operator. He later became a set-up man, working in Bldg. 17-1 and at the Taylor St. plant.

Lindsey Eastes has been taking a course in the art of detonating explosives. It seems that there are quite a number of stumps on his place west of the city. Being desirous of removing them, he has been taking instructions from a neighbor. Now Lindsey mastered the art in a very short time. He has removed all but three. They are so large that it will be necessary to use an extra large charge of dynamite which will require the use of a special detonator. Being very much interested in the setting off of explosives, he plans on continuing his studies so as to qualify as a full scale demolition expert. . . . Art Brandenburger, who had fractured a vertebrae early last May while working on his new home, is improving rapidly. We are happy to report he is out of the cast and is wearing a brace which enables him to get around in good shape. He attended the Quarter Century Club picnic. From all appearances, it will not be too long until he is back to work. . . . As we sat on the sidelines at the Quarter Century Club picnic and viewed the passing parade, it was quite interesting to note the various costumes some of our colleagues wore. Cecil Sible's ensemble consisted of a dark green loose-fitting shirt generously splashed with brilliant flowers and his straw golf cap with an extra long bill. Then there was Johnny Fuller's brilliant red shirt. It was decorated with sun flowers. Upon his noble dome reposed a scarlet cap. These were the most noteworthy costumes of the event. Words fail us when it comes to a detailed description of them. They surely would have won a prize if one had been offered. . . . Leo Christie, of the General Service Division, is very fond of bananas, so much so that two or three are included in his lunch every day. He even eats them for breakfast. Leo said it is a pity that they spoil so quickly. He is going to try and seek out a method by which they can be canned. Then his worries will be over. He usually buys them by the bunch, but has to eat them fast to prevent spoilage. We suggest that he purchase a banana plantation.

BYE BYE: Del Price, an engineer in the Dev. Div., left in order to take up music. He will study at the Arthur Jordan's Conservatory in Indianapolis. . . . WELCOME: To Diek Hollar, who will work for W. Goss. . . . Also welcome to Joanne Buennagel, engineering assistant in Dev. Div. . . . ON VACATION: Jessie Chadwiek, is taking a vacation this week. . . . GAY DAY: The AC draftsmen had a full-day outing at Jake's cottage on Sylvan Lake. It was a big suecess. Here are events of note: Buck caught a 16-inch bass. Elmer Sherbondy got marooned for awhile with Jaek's sail boat. Jake swamped Carl Lommatzsch and Chuek Kelso. If Carl and Chuck had jumped overboard, they couldn't have been any wetter. Benny ate hot dogs as fast as Miller ate the yellow peppers. Jake and Ralph Kaeek won the two attendanee prizes. Hank Gerdom kept re-boiling the coffee grounds. Kenny French, Dwight Willits and Paul Berghorn held down chairs around the eard table most of the day. When Kirlin's shoes got dry, Jake threw them into the lake again. Kirlin started the day off right. He mashed in a fender when he first got there. I think one of those trees slid down a hill. Moose Foltz, Norm Oetting and Ralph Kaeck caught the fish, while Frank Fleischer and Danny Druesedow just held poles and bathed worms. Walt Gerke did a good job of keeping the mulligan and wieners hot, while Tommy kept the gear shift on the bilge pump hot. . . . WEDDING BELLS: Our new T.E., Jack Nord, failed to muster Monday morning. He got married Saturday. . . . LOTS OF NERVE: Boy, does Marge Walker have lots of nerve. She doesn't care where she walks into the line at the cafeteria. Last week she stepped in ahead of Dent Maneeke. You must always be in a hurry. You don't have to be, Marge, that half-hour is plenty of time. . . . NO MORE: We'll just bet you anything that Georgia Garrett won't trust her husband to paek lunches again. One day last weck, Georgia asked Harold to help her out and fix the lunches. When Georgia opened her saek, she found nothing but cookies. Harold had taken all the sandwiches. . . . TROUBLES: Seene: In the Toby Tyler household. Time: Evening story time for children (radio blasting out full foree). Daughter Jean listening intently. Mama Tyler: "Jean, please turn the radio down!" Jean: (No reply). Mama Tyler: "Jean, did you hear me, please turn the radio down!!!" Jean: (Still no answer). Mama Tyler: (in exasperation and in a still louder voiee) "Jean, Please Turn That Radio Down!" Jean: "Well, the way you're yelling, yon can't even hear the radio!" . . . NEW PIPE: Have you seen Bill Manecke's water-cooled pipe? . . . CONGRATS: Happy birthday to Bob Loveland, Sept. 22; Toby Tyler, Sept. 25; Herb Reitz, Sept. 26, and Jack Jennings, Sept. 27.

THREE LITTLE WORDS.—omitted, but what a difference they made. The engagement of Marinell Bosserman to "Dick, son of" Chester Fry of Colorado Springs, is correct. Anyway—be assured that it is Diek of Bldg. 16-3, who will middle aisle on November 3. I really didn't mean to complieate matters. . . . HOBBY THAT PAYS DIVIDENDS—J. Fred Andrew, of the Data Bureau, Bldg. 18-4, has a hobby, and a right good one too! At least, it has proven more remunerative than collecting buttons or shells. You will agree when I tell you that it is no other than an Irishman's delight "potatoes," not just common Irish Cobblers, either.

Super Spuds

He lives on an acre of ground on the Lincoln Highway west, between Fort Wayne and Columbia City. In order that you eity farmers may have the exaet information on how it is done, here are the details: (Next year I want a report on your yield.) The soil is loam with a touch of sand, well drained with a gentle slope to the east. The ground was prepared by being manured (medium heavy), plowed deep and farrowed. (That is all important, I am told). Now, he planted ten rows, two and one-half feet apart, June 2. He used seed potatoes saved from last year's erop, certified Katahdin variety. Fred planted 115 pounds, yield 21 bushels. That's a lot of potatoes in any man's language. Think of it, three bushels were larger than the first grade size. One bushel was smaller and the balanee of 17 bushels were first grade, white skinned and eame out of the ground clean. Last week, Fred was displaying a sample of his wares. The largest potato weighed one pound and seven and one half ounces. In fact, he had five potatoes weighing a total of six pounds. NOW—If you cannot inerease your potato crop next year, it isn't our fault. If you do not believe my story, ask Fred to see the proof. . . . GIFT — Coworkers in Bldg. 18-4 and former associates in Bldg. 6 presented Kathryn Cooper, who was married last Saturday, with a lovely wedding gift of a blanket and a set of dishes.

Two Complete Apprentice School In Machinist-Toolmaker Course

C. W. Mowery

J. Richard Clendenen and Charles W. Mowery graduated from the Apprentive School after completing the machinist-toolmaker course.

Mr. Clendenen graduated from South Side High School in 1943 and immediately entered the U. S. Marine Corps. He served three years with two years' duty in the Pacific Theater of Operations. Mr. Clendenen was discharged in 1945 as a tank commander with the rank of sergeant.

Coming to G-E in 1947, he first worked as a stock helper at the Winter St. plant. Later he transferred to the Fairfield Ave. Plant as a stoekkeeper. He entered the Apprentiee School in March, 1948, and graduated Sept. 14, 1951.

He is married and has a son and a daughter. The Clendenens live at 2713 Willow Oaks Drive.

A Decatur (Ind.) Catholic High School graduate, Mr. Mowery enlisted in the Naval Reserve in 1945, serving a little over a year. Ten months of his serviee was in the South Paeific. He was diseharged in 1946 as an END third class.

Mr. Mowery began his G-E employment in 1947 as a drill press operator at the Winter St. plant. In April, 1948, he enrolled in the Apprentiee School.

Married, he has two children and resides at R.R. 1, Decatur.

Good Old Horse and Buggy Days. In those days, if you conldn't remember where you lived, old dobbin would always get you there one way or another. No doubt Flaurence (Wimpy) Lemper is among those who miss old dobbin the most. About a month ago Wimpy sent a saw to a Chicago firm to be repaired. After a eouple of weeks had passed, Wimpy started checking as to its return. He was told that it would be shipped Friday and that he should have it in two or three days. Three days passed and still no saw. After a week of checking his mail box and the post offiee, he eame to "ye old editor" (who sees all and knows all) for help. Immediately we started sleuthing and found out that the saw had been mailed to F. A. Lemper, R. R. 2, Monroeville, Ind. Wimpy had given them the wrong address. He lives, he thinks, at R. R. 2, Rothman Road. . . . Red Light and Cop. Lawrenee (Slim) Walters was visiting in Chieago and had quite an experience with a eop. Slim was driving on Miehigan Ave. and stopped for a red light. A cop direeting traffic motioned for Slim to go through the red light (imagine that). Slim's story is that, after doing what he was told, the eopper bawled him out. What did you expect him to do, take you in his arms and kiss you?

Pick Ups

FROM BLDG. 26 - 3

By Earle Bartling

CONGRATULATIONS to Mary Evans on the inerease in her family. She got a daughter-in-law and a son-in-law, all in two weeks' time. . . . Chloa Weitzman is in Miehigan fishing for a week. Harry and Gladys Freeman are in Wisconsin for two weeks for the same purpose. When they all return, we will find out which state has the big ones that always get away. . . . Billie Tueker went to Chicago Saturday for several days to see some ball games. We hope her team won. . . . Happy birthday to Martha Hamilton, Winifred Coates and Bob Richardson. They all seem to be getting younger every day. By the way, have you seen the smallest of Martha's presents? . . . We are wondering if "Dr." Wells has had any patients yet. . . . CHICKEN DINNER: A group of girls were invited to former coworker Ethel Hillinger's house for a chieken dinner and enjoyed it very much. Those going from the finishing section were Doris Rinehold, Nona Hedges and Stella Wells. . . . If you are building a new home and would like nickel floor in it, see Phil Robertson. . . . If you feel that you are getting older and slowing down, see Tom Hildebrand. He has a super jet pill that is a honey. . . . Congratulations to Emma Meyer on winning an eleetric iron at the Quarter Century Club pienic. . . . Lilliam Mallo is telling everybody about her operation. However, it seems many of her co-workers are from Missouri. . . . Max Sprowl had an attaek of stomaeh trouble last week. What's the matter Max, too many oysters? . . . Ask Millie Haslup to tell you the complete story about left-handed hens. . . . NOW YOU SEE IT, NOW YOU DON'T: It seems we have quite a magician in the offiee in the person of Gordon Stinson. He ean pick a card out of a stack and make it disappear in thin air. A half hour later when he makes the card appear again, it has gravy spots on it. How do you do it, son? . . . We understand Al Coxon has deeided to turn pro and has signed a contraet to play with the Daisies next year. The eontraet specifies that he will have to pay his way into the park, though. Wonder why? . . . A week or so ago, Anne Wible wore a heavy sweater on the warmest day of the week.

LEAVES FOR LEISURE LIFE—Jesse Osmpaugh (center) of FHP Motor Div. 17, is shown chatting with his friends at Taylor St. before he leaves for the leisure life of retirement. Mr. Osmpaugh has been an employee of G-E since 1941 and has worked on several jobs at Winter St., Bldg. 20-1 and Taylor St. At the time of his retirement this month, he was working in the repair seetion of FHP Motor Div. 13 at Taylor St.

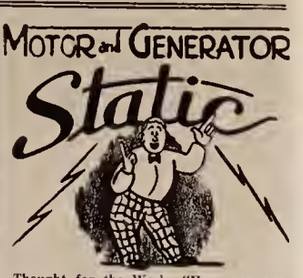
After several squirrel hunting trips recently with not too good results, Charlie Briggs was beginning to believe that one per trip was just standard practice. The boys have been telling him that other fellows do get more than one (occasionally, that is). To prove it, one of his good hunting friends made him a gift of six lovely squirrel tails Monday morning. Charlie says, "Thanks a lot, fellows, for the tails, but what are they good for? You can't have meat on the table with just the tails." Anyone having a good use for six squirrel tails, please contact Charlie. . . . HELP, HELP: This column has not changed places with the WANTED column, but two people in the office are desperately in need of a place to live. Bob Hull is in dire need of a three or four bedroom house, and Marg Stodgell wants a small furnished apartment. Anyone able to help these two very nice people will be doing them a great favor by giving them a call. . . . Peg Turschmann, Lois McWhirter and JoAnn Ley are going to the Elex conference at Oliver Lake this week-end and looking forward to a swell time. Hope the sun shines for you all week-end. . . . Belated happy birthday to Harold (Junior) Niswander and Gene Foster, who were both a year older recently. . . . Roy Rippe has been taking his third week of vacation this week, and it has really been bothering Charlie Gable. But after all, Charlie, you are still just a kid (or so you keep telling us) so how could you expect to get a three-week vacation yet? When you get as old as Sheehan, Briggs, Thomas and Pinkham, you, too, can have three weeks.

Dick Brown received quite a shock when that hot "soup" poured from the compound tank last week. Dick performed a jig getting out of the way of the flood. Later on, Dick, assisted by Jordan Gunkel, had a taffy pull, getting the compound off the floor. It was a good place for a hot foot but fortunately no one was burned. . . . Norma Baker has returned to the fold. Norma, by the way, does some modeling on the side. She models, all dressed up complete with her pretty smile. . . . The most intelligent statement ever made by a tester came from Les Baker, "I'd like to know something!" . . . What's this about Paul Gruber chasing cars all over the parking lot? Paul has a bruised arm to prove it! . . . We think Pat G. had better stick to walking after the wreck she had on that bike. . . . Marge Leiter looks much better this week after she finally broke down her husband's resistance and got to see the Huntertown fair. . . . Wonder if we couldn't put a walking meter on Ruth Durnil and Polly Auer to see who makes the most miles up and down the aisles. . . . This is getting to be a weekly event! Bea Marsh is the latest gal to invade the privacy of the gentlemen's powder room! . . . Joyce (Critter) Kryder forgot her lunch one day last week, but Louise Perry came to the rescue. Louise made the rounds of the other gals, getting morsels from them and soon had a mixed assortment of food for "Critter." . . . Ernie Salzburger is all wet—that is, he was all wet. While mopping the floor, he slipped and fell—you guessed it—right into the mop bucket! . . . The next time you turn onto Taylor St., Gail, watch for cars. You might not be so lucky next time. . . . Our sympathy to Alberta Malcolm in the death of her grandfather. . . . How's about some of you people on the Hermetic Lines getting on the ball and supplying some news for the column. . . . Be sure to catch next week's column. We'll have a guest editor. None other than that famous commentator and analyist, Loretta (You Give Me the Iron, I'll Furnish the Blood) Bloom!

HAIR GROWER: Elmer (Ham Fat) Harshman hays that the ham fat sandwiches he has been eating every day not only sticks to his ribs but is making his hair grow thick and curly again. . . . Why does Bca Stolte hide her face every time the name Leroy is mentioned? . . . Welcome: Mary Tucker, Virginia Hall, Glen Witte, Art Brown, Bill Crain, Verlin Speeks and George Kapp. . . . Irma Hanny and her hubby are going to Denver, Colorado. Hope you have a niee time, Irma. . . . Pondo worked overtime Friday night. Andy and Moe did too. They completely covered Pondo's car with $ signs before they went home. . . . GREEN PICKLES: When Evelyn Partee canned pickles she didn't think they were quite green enough. She put green cake coloring in each jar. . . . This overtime is affecting Moe. He called his wife one day to tell her to pick him up at 6 p.m. only to be reminded by her that the car was sitting in the G-E parking lot. . . . Arnold Wendel has a new Nash. . . . Rita S. set her clock ahead 15 minutes thinking she could watch it and not have to hurry so, but she forgot what she had done the next morning and really broke the record by arriving at 6:30. Betty T. thought it was raining in the elevator, but it was only Marcie sticking out her umbrella over Betty. . . . CLOSE THE DOOR: Elmer Koehlinger worked in the little open cage in the Test Section Thursday. He was complaining of the draft, so Carl Metker closed the cage door for him. . . . If anyone wants to get any place in a hurry, see Marcie G. . . . Esther M. worried everyone to death last Friday when she discovered her billfold was gone. Everyone was looking for it when she remembered it was at home. . . . Remember when you were a small boy and your mother used to say "Be a good boy, study hard and when you grow up you may become President." Andy's Mother should be very happy as her son finally arrived at that goal as President of the Taylor St. Bowling League. . . . The Airliner bowling team got off to a good start last week by winning two games. The fellows thought maybe Bldg. 6-4 would sponsor them, but somehow the idea was a flop. It seemed everyone thought it was a joke. After thinking it over, it was a big joke on us. . . . If anyone has seen a stray sweater, please return it to Andy. He has been chilling without it. . . . Maybe old age is creeping up. I've never seen so many men limping around here as lately. A few are Carl Brenner and Merle Keesler. Mardo Tobias has that tired look.

GETS RETIREMENT SEND OFF—Fred Geisler (right), Bldg. 19-3, is shown receiving a retirement present from R. M. Hartigan (center) on behalf of his Large Motor-Generator co-workers. Elmer Wagner is shown looking on. Mr. Geisler was employed by G-E in 1917 as a machine hand in Bldg. 2-3. Ten years later he transferred to Bldg. 26-4 and then went to Bldg. 19-4 as an assembler. Since 1938, Mr. Geisler has been a sheet metal worker in Bldg. 19-3.

Edna Bailey got her bowling season off to a good start last Tuesday. She rolled a 222. She was so proud that she actually "popped" a button off her blouse. We, being interested in bowling, inquired how did she did this fancy bowling. She says that she owes all the credit to the milking of her five cows, morning and night. Edna, we know that your team is rightfully proud of you. We never could bowl a 222—unless in two games. . . . Dutch Norwalt is having a terrific time keeping his wife from discovering that Ralph Braden gave him five dollars for that scale he made for Ralph. . . . Rollond Mennewisch and his "suit selling" reminds us of the old time carnival shows—50 cents on the outside and $1 on the inside. It seems Rollie went out to sell Al Topp a suit. Here at the shop the price was $40, but out at the house, the price had raised to $63. . . .

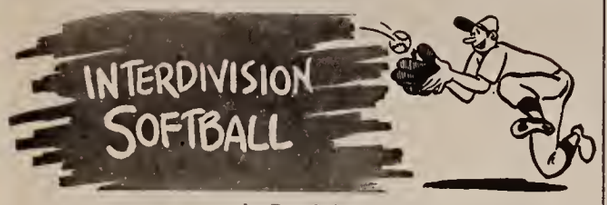


Ex-GI Louie and Daughter

Russ James, one just can't compare a piece of saltwater taffy to corn-on-the-cob. How much did it cost you to have that tooth replaced? . . . Good-bye and good luck to Martha Watson, who left to enter International Business College. . . . Welcome to Dorothea Winburn, Gladys Payne and Gerry Kurtz. . . . Congratulations to Ruben Towns, who was married Sept. 6. . . . Sharron Lash left for a three-weeks' vacation in California. "Alaska Larry" even got to travel back as far as Seattle with them. . . . It seems good to have "smiling" Jackie Rhoades back from the Navy. . . . Bert Stepp has returned to college to resume his studies, and Bob Bell has joined the Test Section. . . . Nettie Englebrecht has moved into her new home and all is in fine shape. . . . We all wish to extend a hearty welcome to Louie Swager, who returned to G-E after serving in the Army Medical Corps at Camp Atterbury, Ind. Before entering the service, he worked in Bldg. 26-1 and he is now working as a time study engineer in Bldg. 26-4. Louie is a graduate of the Apprentice School, is married and has a daughter about eight months old. It's good to have our old friends return to their former jobs. . . . Is Leo Klejnot really a wrestler or was that just an awful mistake? . . . Al, do you force Mrs. Topp to turn over her pay check to you along with the children's or do you just "accidently" cash it every week for her? . . . So long to Bonnie Ayres, who has taken a job in Bldg. 26-5 on second shift. . . . Welcome to Mildred Fast, the new girl in Mel France's office. . . . Violet Yarman is doing very nicely since her recent surgery and she would like very much to have her friends to visit her. She is in Room 278 at the Lutheran Hospital. Best wishes for a speedy recovery, Vi. . . . Ralph Smith must be a real "for sure" hero. One day last week someone even hung a tag on his back saying so.

We have a report that Gus Lepper, who was a former employee is ill. We wish you a speedy recovery, Gus. . . . Happy birthday to Clarabelle Whitman and happy anniversary to Cozy Walper. . . . Sarah Moore is spending a week at her lake cottage. . . . Beverly Numbers entertained Ollie Ragan, Mary Shreve, Clara Gidley, Goldie Waikel, Jackie Keller, Lois Burry and Dorothy Shively at a chicken supper at her home near Uniondale Wednesday evening. . . . The girls in 17 x 54 entertained Mary Shreve with a birthday cake and gift in the cafeteria Friday noon. . . . Billy Putt, son of Vadas Putt, is home on leave for a few days before going to Korea. . . . Ruth Peek's toe is much better. It happened she didn't have her safety shoes on the other day and the stator she dropped broke her toe. . . . Linda Wahrer loves to get mail. She even remails letters and receives them again. . . . Al Reidenbaugh is getting his house all shined up. . . . We wish a speedy recovery to Bob Johnson's wife, who fell and broke her leg. . . . Dick Walters has a new way of catching catfish. He hooks them by the tail. They were three and one half feet long, according to Dick's rubber tape measure. . . . Chet Reinking is going to have an automatic lock placed on his bed so he won't forget his keys any more. . . . Vic Leakey says to tell Chet Reinking he could use his master key, which would help him out a lot when they both forget their keys. . . . Would someone please donate Clyde Boyce a box of tacks so he won't keep losing the heels off his shoes?

Thought for the Week—"Have you ever considered what a drab old world this would be if women were as homely as men?"—Luke McLuke.



WHO IS BOSS IN YOUR HOUSE: James McLain, Bldg. 19-B, manages to get in a jam now and then. Some few months ago he tried to imitate the Duke of Windsor and fell off his horse. During a hot spell, Mr. McLain, while on vacation, repaired the family electric fan. We do not know just what he did to it, but Mrs. McLain became so irritated she aroused James at 2 a.m. insisting that he repair the fan properly. . . . WE DON'T: Bob Kite, who dreamed up the tilted floor cottage, is contemplating a new venture. Says Mr. Kite, "Our cottage was such a success after we became acclimated to the tilt that I feel the public should also benefit from our experiences." Bob explains that after members of the family developed one of their legs to a greater length than the other they had no trouble with the inclined floor. "And think of the advantages," he continued, "you can scrub the kitchen floor and the water will run out the front door. If someone you don't like is coming over to visit, you wax the hall floor. When they enter the door, they slide out. You merely say, 'sorry you are leaving already,' close the door and that's that. Pretty clever idea I think, don't you?" We don't. . . . HORN TOOTER: Ordinarily O. K. Keller, Bldg. 19-1, is a very conservative individual. Getting behind the wheel of an automobile, he becomes an entirely different person. He loves the sound of his auto horn. One evening last week, the writer was crossing Jefferson Street at Broadway. There was Mr. Keller tooting his horn. J. B. Grogg says that he has a musical horn on his car that he has just about decided to donate to Mr. Keller.

Putters Take Owl Golf Crown

by Ray Quinn

After being rained out the previous week for the eighth time this year, our Interdivision teams again resumed their one-game elimination second half.

Small Motors had a big third inning in its game against the Test Men, scoring 10 runs. From there on in, Small Motors coasted to a 14-7 victory.

The Squares took off to a long lead over the Taylor St. team and then almost lost the game. Taylor St. scored seven runs in the last two innings. Final seore was Squares, 12; Taylor St., 11.

Firemen and Motor-Generator played the last game of the evening. It was a scoreless contest during four innings. However, in the fifth inning, the Firemen started to find the range. Manager Art Lindberg, playing at third base, drew his second walk. Plattner also walked and Osbun got his first hit of the evening. Mel Kestner walked and Boyce hit a home run. This made the score 5-0. The winners added two more in the sixth and one in the seventh. Motor-Generator scored one run in the sixth inning. Needless to say, Jerry Weber pitched his usual brilliant ball game, striking out 14 and giving only two hits.

The Lab won by forfeit from the Apprentice School. This narrows the field to four teams.

Beat Champ Hot Shots By 8 Strokes

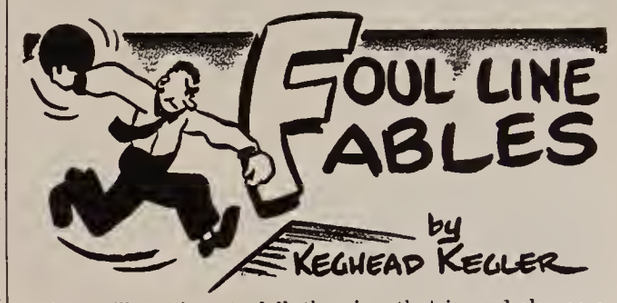
by Earl Stauffer

The Putters captained by Bob Markey won the Owl Golf crown from the four-time champion Hot Shots from Bldg. 19 by eight strokes.

The Hot Shots tumbled from their throne with a resounding bump. The Putters captained by Bob Markey, Bldg. 4-4, are the new champs. They won a convincing vietory in desposing the champs by eight points. All of the Putters, Bob Markey, Paul Billman, Tony Wichman and Charlie Cope, played heads up golf to turn the trick where so many other teams have failed. They pared 13 strokes off of their team average, while the Hot Shots on the other hand bested their average by one stroke.

Paul Billman who played cautious golf led the Putters to the win with an 80. Bob Markey was one stroke baek with an 81. Warren Wickliffe, who holds the league low average for the season, shot the low for the day, a 79, toward the losing Hot Shot cause.

The Hot Shots went down like true champions.



The Summary:

Putters +8

Markey	38-43	81
Billman	39-41	80
Cope	48-44	92
Wichman	42-45	87
		340
Handicap		—18
		322

Hot Shots —8

Wickliffe	39-40	79
Bunch	44-44	88
Grider	41-39	80
Sternberger	39-44	83
		330

They still continue to fall, the pins, that is, and also occasionally a bowler goes over the foul line. The Small Motor League took up where the Monday and Tuesday night leagues left off. Some scores soared and, as always, some didn't do so good. Drafting was the only team to come through with three wins.

If you need a new ball this year, C. Shipman will recommend that you have Charlie Wilt at the Club fit you. Shipman got off to a shaky start but ended up with the evening's high score of 222. Other 200 counts were made by Vonderau with a 209 and Doeherman, who had a 203.

The slow-starting Planning team was really slow in starting and just managed to salvage one game from red-hot team No. 7.

Transformer League

Hobbs started out the season with a pin-heavy 182 average which ineluded a 201 game. Kazelis continued the pace and collected a 214 game to come up with a 175 average. Antalis got topped one frame and miss his 200-game by two pins.

Office League

Who said the alleys were too slick? From the looks of these scores, somebody must have been paying the pin-spotter. N. Hall rolled the high series to date. He put together games of 234, 194 and 235 for a 663 count. E. Aumann counted with games of 212 and 210. Dick Kent, 216; W. Miller, 211; Vic Rump, 202; R. Kaeek, 202, and Ed DeCappeo, 201, got the evenings other 200-games.

A three way tie for first resulted from last Monday's play with AC, Standardizing and Aircraft having reeords of 5-1 each. Team single high game was rolled by Aircraft, a 1005 count. Just four pins behind was standardizing with a 1001 total.

Monday Ladies

Just to show that last week's bowling wasn't early season luck, Marge Huber continued to bowl them over and had a 187 and 178 count for the evening. M. Wolf had a 181; R. Koeneman, 178, and K. Bade and Helen Wagner each had 175 counts.

Last Monday's action saw four teams end up in a tie for first place. Sugar Bowlers, Pepperettes, Team No. 10 and Handicappers have five wins and one loss. High team score was rolled by the Pepperettes, a 781 count, with the Sugar Bowlers just a few pins behind with a 746 series.

Series and Specialty

G. Satterwaite grouped three games to end up with a 549 for the evening, followed closely by Glen Stapleton's 540. Ed (Rocket Arm) Bowser spun the pins to end up with an even 200 count.

Details from DRAFTING

by E. E. Ellenburg

Let the bands play and flags wave. "Commando" Hahn, the Colorado Terror, has returned. Anyone who likes adventure will want to hear about the deeds of heroism performed during the battle of Camp Carson. For those who like mystery, ask Les about the time his company went charging down a hill on mules to capture the enemy. The mystery is that old "Commando" Hahn was still astride his mule when he reached the bottom of the hill. But seriously, it's good to have you back, Les. . . . With Les back, we all felt that we should have someone to represent us in the Army, so George Houser "volunteered" to get drafted. He leaves Thursday. Best of luek, George, but whatever you do, don't send your commanding officer any dead mice. . . . "Week-End Warrior" Anders is still sweating out the activation of National Guard units. With his luek, I don't think he has to worry. Everybody knows how lucky Bob is. . . . Mollie Hile finally broke down and said, "Yes." Our first clue was when she came sailing in this morning listing slightly to the port. The reason for this, we soon discovered, was the 10-carat diamond ring on her left hand. The "lucky" guy is Bob Kline. As yet,

Decatur Bowling

Teeple Truck Line and West End Restaurant led the pack of the G-E Fraternal League to win three games each from the Elks and Peterson Elevator respectively.

Laurent was really on the ball by getting the high series of the evening. He rolled 259, 170 and 224 to garner a 653. J. Beery copped the other high 200 game with a 213 count. Close behind was Zelt with a 212. Other 200 scores were rolled by Faulkner, 201; Petrie, 204; Shackley, 208, and Kitson, 204.

In the Monday Night League, Packers won three games from the Flanges, and Office also copped all their games from Stators.

Briede waxed hot and came up with the high game of the evening, a 233. Next on the list was Lister, who got a 223. Other 200 scores were kegled by McIntosh, 200; Kitson, 205, and Geisler, 209.

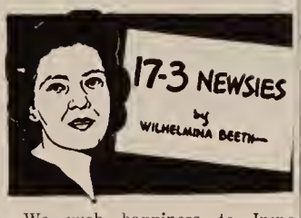
Turf Toppers Cop Title In G-E Club Play-Off

One hundred twelve G-E golfers participated in the annual G-E Club Blind Bogey tournament and season's playoff Saturday, Sept. 15, at the Brookwood golf course.

Turf Toppers of the Monday Evening League copped the 1951 golf championship with a net score of 331. The 19th Holers of the Tuesday Evening League eame in second with a 332, while the Monday Afternoon Highballs was third with a 351. Team No. 3 of the Wednesday hit a 356 for fourth place.

Harold (Red) Braden shot a 72 for the low score for both the Blind Bogey and playoff. Robert Hanna was next with a 75. Hanna sunk a 75-yard approach for an eagle on No. 18 to garner the day's spectaeular play.

Zernick, Bldg. 18-1, won the Brookwood membership ticket, donated by Emma Klein, course owner. Medalists for the day were Braden, with a 72; Hanna, 75; Warren Wickliffe, 76; Billman, 77; Ray Hill, 79, and Carl Saaf, 79.



Group One winners of the Bogey were Bob Dent, Bldg. 2-2; Jim Walley, Bldg. 4-6; Bailey, Bldg. 26-2; Billman, Bldg. 27; J. W. Purman, Bldg. 31-2; Jack Skevington, Winter St.; Walter Sunier, Bldg. 4-6; Ray Hill, Taylor St.; Earl Stauffer, Bldg. 17-4, and Pauley, Bldg. 4-4.

2nd Group Winners

Winners of the second group were Jim Slack, Winter St.; R. Parker, Winter St.; E. Pfeiffer, Bldg. 26-3; Bob Wildermuth, Taylor St.; G. France, Bldg. 26-3; Eldon Vosbaugh, Bldg. 2-2; A. H. Lee, Taylor St.; Walter Mertz, Bldg. 26-5; Folks, Winter St., and E. Misselhorn, Winter St.

Leading Group Three were Arnee, Winter St.; Paul Waldon, Bldg. 4-6; John Willsey, Bldg. 4-6; Bob Dieke, Bldg. 31-1; Joe Rowan, Bldg. 4-6; Claphan, Taylor St.; Hodge Vineyard, Bldg. 31-2; D. R. Mumma, Bldg. 10-1; Carl Koester, Bldg. 31-1, and R. Aldridge, Bldg. 19-3.

The Cash Bogey was won by Floyd Garland, Bldg. 17-3; Bill Kayser, Bldg. 31-1; D. K. Shultz, Bldg. 31-1, and T. L. Lewandowski, Winter St.

We wish happiness to Irene Sehultz, who middle-aisled it with Joseph Halley last Saturday. You will remember Irene as the girl who portrayed the "bunny" in the Easter issue of the WORKS NEWS. . . . ACROBATIC HOT ROD: Jerry Nahrwold owns a hot rod that tried to do aerobatie stunts in the races a week ago Sunday. It stood on its nose and flipped over a couple of times. . . . They were merrily on their way to the Quarter Century Club outing when Mary Wright decided to stop in Kendallville and get some film. In a window close to the drug store was an exclusive hat with a bluebird. However, the exclusive turned out to be not so exclusive. . . . Happy birthday to Mary Schumm and Anna Lehman. . . . Pete Neuman, from Denver, Colo., was a visitor last week. He looked real chipper in his young age. . . . Verna Bullerman visited Fern Wagner last week-end. Fern is a former co-worker. . . . Virginia Pelz is happy these days. Her son is on his way home from Korea. . . . So long to Bernon Hugenard, who has left us to serve Uncle Sam. . . . Heddy Harrison was shopping last Saturday and got caught in an elevator that the doors wouldn't open. We bet that was a long 15 minutes. . . . Gwen Gilstrap is the proud possessor of a new diamond wrist watch. . . . We're sorry to hear that Anna Lehman had the misfortune of swallowing a chicken bone. Dorothy Johnson was looking for her extra apron and couldn't find it. She discovered that she was wearing two aprons. . . . Our sincerest sympathy to Bertha Bertsch in the death of her father. . . . "I HATE MYSELF WHEN I GET THESE FIENDISH IDEAS" or "ON PARADE"

There's just one thing I'd like to see
As I pass by this way
Before my eyes have grown too dim
And my hair has turned to gray.

I know it's just a dream I've shaped
That will never make the grade;
But still I say I'd like to see
An "all officers" parade.

I'd put the Generals in the rear
With Colonels on each flank
I'd have the Majors lead platoons
With a Captain to front each rank.

The First Lieutenants as company CO's
I'm sure would be very proud;
While Shavetails could command battalions
Because they can be so-o-o-o loud.

The Warrant Officers as adjutants
I know would be in place;
'Cause after all they are good Joes
That just sorta fell from grace.

I guess the rest of you will wonder—
All you Corporals, Sergeants and such:
But I just couldn't leave you out
'Cause that would be too much.

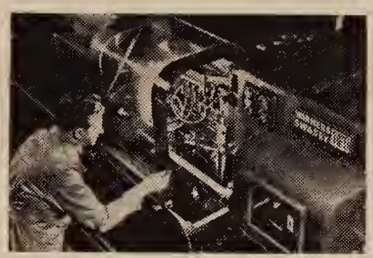
So when the rank begins to promenade
And the companies pass in review,
In my wild plan it's figured out
I've just the place for you.

For you see, in my dream I realized
How happy you could be
And I'm going to be nice and let you watch
From the reviewing stand with me.

Thanks loads to the committee that planned the square dance last Saturday. Everyone had a wonderful time. Another dance is being planned for October so all of you that missed the last one be sure to attend. "Rib Crusher" Lare didn't attend the dance. He must have heard that Artie Hoffman was going to be there. . . . Mark Tam has a very unique way of explaining a dance and then playing something different. . . . Charlie Hartman is on vacation this week. He out-smarted the boys that were going to shave off his beard and gave him three dollars for a shave permit. He says that everyone is welcome at the Monroeville Centennial. . . . Did you know that Somers is going to race next year with the Stanley Steamer? He recently purchased a 1923 Ford for his son. To date, Danny hasn't driven it. It really is very modern to some extent. It doesn't need a heater in the winter time. There aren't any flood boards in front and the heat from the "motor" is terrific.

ICE CREAM MAN: Pres Chaney certainly likes his ice cream cones. . . . Have you noticed Donna Smith's new hair do? It looks very becoming, Donna. . . . Margaret Kenyon attended the Berne fair. Margaret took her friend's children on the merry-go-round so she could go herself. . . . Homer Huser also attended the Berne fair. Homer's son didn't enjoy the merry-go-round so much. . . . Adele Wietfeldt attended her family reunion Sunday at Swinney Park. . . . Mable Shinn went to Oberlin, Ohio, to take her daughter back to Oberlin College where she is enrolled in her junior year. . . . Mable Moser was happy to have her daughter home for a week-end from Ball State Teachers College. . . . Your reporter was surprised with a large birthday cake decorated with roses. I also received many nice cards and gifts and wish to thank the girls. . . . We received a card from Braunie thanking the girls for the gift. Braunie is feeling some better and we hope she will soon return to work. . . . Mary Green's son has started in his first grade of school.

Is the man who owns the ladder "exploiting labor"?



ONE OF THE WAYS many of us earned money as kids was picking cherries. We had to scramble up the tree trunk, stand on one limb, hold onto another with one hand, and pick with the other hand. Slow, not too safe, and we never did reach many of the ripest and best cherries.

If we had had a good ladder we could have stood safely, picked with both hands, reached the ripest cherries, and filled a basket in half the time.

We could have afforded to pay several quarts of cherries a day to the owner of the ladder—we still would have made more money, more easily, more safely. He had the ladder because he had saved for it instead of spending his money on himself.

That ladder is capital—the same as a machine in a factory today. Somebody had to deny himself, and save, to provide it. Without it, workmen could not possibly earn as much as quickly as easily.

Workmen should be the first to demand a good return to the investors who save and buy today's better machines. The interests of workmen and investors are the same; the enemy of both is the socialist or the bureaucrat who wants to make saving impossible.

[Of course, people's minds and muscles work at General Electric. But people's savings work here, too—often in the form of machine tools made for us by Warner & Swasey, by whose courtesy we reproduce the message and illustrations shown above. It takes savings of our 250,000 shareholder savers to provide jobs to our 208,000 employees.]

Have you heard? Comrade Marv Adamson has received the distinguished award of Hero First Class. 'Tis said Comrade Marv got his award for bringing in the winning run for the Squares' baseball team. The "medal," made of paper, was a star on a multi-colored ribbon at the bottom of which was a badge saying "Hero First Class." Another Hero award star was given to Comrade Don Kaiser. He credits his merit to the fact that he did Maurice Emling a favor. Maurice's middle name must be Joe. . . . You can tell how long Marguerite O'Connell has been working in engineering. The other day she started off to work with a bottle of milk under her arm. . . . Speaking of engineers and engineering—were we surprised! That hard fought game which goes on every noon in engineering isn't contract bridge, nor is it poker; it's hearts. They must be giving the gray matter a little rest. . . . Fred Eisenbiegler was here on business last week. We well remember him as one of our DC Navy engineers. . . . It's getting so one can't keep track of who's who in the drafting room anymore. Paul Cox returned to his work of teaching at Purdue Center. Ernest Close and Ralph Cox left to go to school on the campus of Purdue University. Of course, that means we needed some new draftsmen. Joseph Mattes and Kenneth Krider came over from the drafting training course to start here this week. Welcome, fellows. . . . Bob Hickman started off the bowling season with nine splits. Better luck, Bob. . . . No one has been invited, but it's known that there is plenty to eat at Thelma Clement's house. Thelma's name was turned in to the Dinner Winner program. Luckily Thelma's sister, who lives with her, answered the phone with the name of a food to bring them a basket of groceries. Yum, yum. . . . Eric Gawehn is on sick leave. We hope he will soon return.

no definite date has been set for the execution. . . . The card party at Pete Eberhardt's mansion really went over big Friday night, especially for Mauri Cox, who walked off with $14 of Bob Henry's money. Bob Wigent and Dick Koop were also way ahead of the game. Others present were Wendell Miller, Harold Smith, George Owens, A. J. Kazelis, Jim Hilfiker, Ralph Valentine, Ed Ellenburg and one other guy. I think his name was Paul Ohnesorge. . . . Late Bulletin: As we go to press, Leo remains unincorporated. Consult this column regularly for latest developments.

Cordiner, Boulware to Address Women's Interclub Conference

R. J. Cordiner, president of the General Electric Company, and L. R. Boulware, vice president of Employee and Plant Community Relations, will be the principal speakers at the third annual G-E women's Interclub Conference, Irene Meyers, supervisor of Women's Activities, disclosed today. It will be held Saturday, Oct. 20, and Sunday, Oct. 21, at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Mr. Cordiner will address conferees at "The Presidents' Dinner" Saturday evening in the Astor Gallery. The opening luncheon, "Sidewalks of New York," will feature Mr. Boulware as guest speaker.

Ab Martin, Works manager, who will attend the Conference will speak at the "Hattie Carnegie" luncheon, Sunday. I. H. Freeman, Supervisor of Personnel, will also attend the two-day sessions.

Representatives of 14 G-E women's clubs will gather to carry out the theme of the two-day Conference "Together" at New York's internationally known hotel.

Attending from Fort Wayne, so far, are Donna Bauermeister, Dorothy Baumgartner, Thelma Stone, Irene Meyers, Mary Kay Hostetter, Doris McKeefer, Mary Leiter, Ireta Huffman, Olive Walters, Avenel Stanton, Mamie Allen, Peg Cook, Betty Spittler, Betty Carper, Gloria Miller, Veora Habig, Gertrude Kodewey, Dolores Widner, Marge Meyer, June Allgeier, Erna Eley, Thelma Meads, Betty Garber, Jenny Zimmerman and Elizabeth Wert. Clara Cooper, Mildred Van Horn and Myrtle Bennett will represent the Partizan Chapter.

More Scrap—More Steel

Scrap Chasers

The McGees around the Fort Wayne divisions are busy cleaning out their hall closets. At least it would seem that way from the amount of scrap that has been collected during the first month of the plant-wide Scrap Drive.

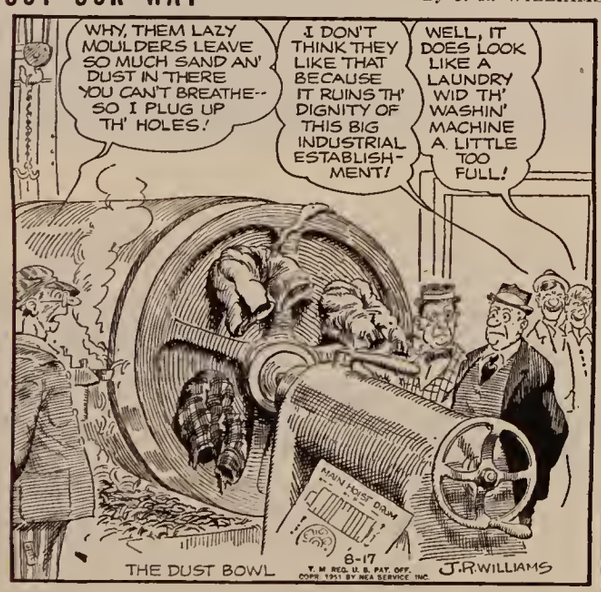
G-E plants, it appears, are a lot like some wives when it comes to saving things. Just as a housewife accumulates the casualties of years of housekeeping in the attic or cellar, so, too, do manufacturing divisions hang on to dormant scrap. Both are great exponents of the we-just-might-want-that-some-day school of thinking. As a result the junk stacks up and scarce materials lie around wasting.

Now when the national emergency makes it doubly important to save materials, it is good to see that all this useless scrap is being dug out and put to work. We still have another month in the current drive to have a real fall housecleaning at the Fort Wayne Works.

'If Winter Comes, Can Spring Be Far Behind'

Unlike official meteorologists who hem and haw about their weather predicting, G-E Hoosiers are boldly forecasting the weather for this winter.

One barometric sage told us today that we are in for a mild winter. The caterpillars (wooly worms) are all black. Last year, says this amateur climatologist, the caterpillars all over Indiana were gray in color, and, as you may shiveringly recall, it was a cold, cold winter.



Another weather prognosticator confirms this fact by observing that the corn shucks are thin this year. Another sure sign of a mild winter. A few pessimists are mumbling that all this doesn't mean a thing—that all the seasons have changed and a man can't count on a sign anymore, but these suspicious fellows are in the minority.

So, there's the dope, folks, straight from the Hoosier weathermen—make your plans accordingly. Let's keep our feet on the ground, however, and not cancel any orders for coal.

Looks like winter, mild as it may be, will arrive as usual.

CITY ELECTION

City election coming up soon,
All politicians getting in tune.
Candidates greet us we never knew,
With, "Well, Mr. So and So, how do you do?"
Planks in their platforms look just the same,
Only thing different is candidate's name.
Those now in office try to explain
Why it's important they should remain.
Those who are not frankly confess,
Those now in office made quite a mess.
Posters in trolley cars now are displayed.
Hundreds of speeches soon will be made.
Ads in the paper, mostly to show
Pictures of candidates few of us know.
Cards by the thousand handed around,
Most of them promptly tossed to the ground.
All agree taxes should be reduced.
This is one plank where most of them roost.
Everyone tells us graft is a sin,
But nevertheless, sinners get in.
Each in his platform, swears sure as fate,
If he's elected, he'll elevate.
This plank was splintered, battered and worn,
Long before most of these fellows were born.
We who are living north of the tracks,
Want more than promises, we want the facts.
Every election, some one has lied,
Now, we are certain, no one has tried.
Of course, this may not be according to Hoyle,
But the next guy who lies, we'll boil him in oil.
Sounds like a gruesome and terrible fate,
But how long, Oh Lord, must Northsiders wait?
So, Mister Candidate, see that you don't Tell us you will, when you know that you won't.

FAREWELL TO FRANCES

Your working day is over
It's time to take a rest.
Try it awhile, Frances,
To see which you like best.

Your friends will miss you
And I'm sure you'll miss us too.
May you have many happy hours
With nothing in the world to do.

May each day be bright and sunny
As you go along your way.
May every blessing attend you.
So good-by, just for today.

Yesterday Frances Wilkie put away her tools and bid us good-by. We wish you the best of everything in your life of ease. The girls held a farewell dinner at the cafeteria. . . . So long to Lee Burton, who left us to study law at I. U. . . . Dan Barnhart has a reason to smile. His son is on his way home from Korea. . . . Bill Ort is going into business for himself. He is going to make reversible roller skates for backward children. . . . Happy birthday to Edith Bohde, Virgie Mayer, Ann Robinson, Marge Ponsot, Bob Rehrer and Bill Martin. Bill's grandson had a surprise birthday party for him, only it wasn't such a surprise. . . . Halley Hosler needs a dredge to dig her sweet potatoes this year. They are really enormous. . . . Mae Jones tells us you can get pretty by eating lots of carrots. . . . Marcille and Delbert Thomas are the proud owners of a new Oldsmobile "Rocket 88," or is it "77"? . . . Gertie and Art Maske are in Wisconsin for two weeks fishing. . . . Jess Hahn was also on vacation last week. We hear he is on a soup diet. . . . Lucy Alexander is waiting for Christmas. She hopes Santa will bring her a tooth. . . . Anne Gibson was seen trying to wrap all the scrap wire from her wastebasket into a large ball. . . . We hope Sarah Meagher is well on the road to recovery by the time this goes to press. . . . Also a speedy recovery to the husbands of Bertha Bertsch and Rosella. . . . Bob Walt was seen wandering around the parking lot. He forgot where he parked his car. . . . In the cafeteria, Doris Ryan was wondering what happened to her hominy. She didn't expect to see it upside down on her tray.

B'dwy Salaried Lunchers To Get 'Six Minutes More'

Effective Monday, Oct. 8, lunch periods for Broadway salaried employees will be increased to 36 minutes and quitting time will be changed from 4:30 p.m. to 4:36 p.m., Works Manager Ab Martin announced this week.

A review of Broadway's half-hour lunch period, which began May 21, has shown that the plan has been successful in general, Mr. Martin said, but a little more time is needed by salaried employees working west of Broadway and in outlying locations east of Broadway.

In studying traffic loads in the cafeterias, it has also been found that there is a need for some rearrangement of the various lunch periods, Mr. Martin stated.

With these needs in mind, the following staggered noon schedules for salaried employees at Broadway will become effective Oct. 8:

11:54 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.—Specialty Transformer and Ballast Department.

12:12 to 12:48 p.m.—Motor-Generator and Works Service west of Broadway, with the exception of Bldg. 21.

12:30 to 1:06 p.m.—Fractional Horsepower Motor Department.

12:42 to 1:18 p.m.—Works Service Department east of Broadway and Employment and Medical Sections west of Broadway.

Sept. Yields 116,795 Lbs. Of Idle Scrap

A total of 116,795 pounds of dormant scrap have been collected in the G-E scrap drive for the month of September, A. E. Leider, drive chairman, announced today. Approximately 1,060 pounds of the total amount is aluminum, and the remaining poundage is iron. There was no copper collected for scrap during this period.

Reporting on the progress of the drive, Mr. Leider said, "We have had considerable success in contributing to the scrap collection, but we still have a lot of work to do in examining tools and equipment to determine whether or not they are obsolete."

He cited the General Tool Division of the Works Service Department for the excellent job they have done in collecting dormant scrap in their division.

W. P. Altekruse, drive chairman of Works Service, stated that collection and inspection of the areas in his department will start next week.

Inspection of Fractional Horsepower Motor Department will be conducted the middle of October, L. A. Erickson, department coordinator, announced.

A number of approvals for scrapping tools and equipment in STAB Department have been reported by H. R. Korte, department chairman. He said that work on the drive has been progressing satisfactorily in his department.

Detailed inspections of all areas in Large Motor-Generator Department will be held soon, S. H. Amstutz, divisions coordinator, made known this week.

350 Insurance Policies Unclaimed at Taylor St.

Three hundred and fifty group insurance policies remain unclaimed at the Fractional Horsepower Motor Department Payroll Section, Taylor St., H. H. Reinking, supervisor, announced today. Mr. Reinking has asked that Taylor St. employees who have not received their policies contact the payroll division on extension 2224.

Shortages Cut Output Of G-E Wares

Because of materials shortages, the General Electric Company is being forced to curtail production greatly on all small appliances, C. K. Rieger, general manager of the small appliance division, has announced.

"The materials situation is really tough," Mr. Rieger said, disclosing that the Company is stopping all production of its roaster and waffle iron.

According to R. L. Fischbach, supervisor of the Employee Stores, most of these items can still be purchased here. However, he urged employees who expect to make purchases of small appliances to do so now, in order to avoid disappointment.

Nurses Hear Two G-E Men On Defense

Col. Chester Lichtenberg, and C. M. Summers, Works Laboratory Engineer, addressed 200 registered nurses from Fort Wayne and Allen County at a Civil Defense Nursing Institute held Tuesday, Sept. 18, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Col. Lichtenberg, director of civil defense in Fort Wayne and Allen County, reviewed the broad activities of the Federal civil defense administration and the Indiana Department of Civil Defense.

Mr. Summers, vice chairman of the Rescue Service Committee of the local civil defense organization, described instruments used to detect radiation in volume, and their operation.

Veda Orff and Lyle Rupert, G-E nurses, attended the Institute.

CANDY WAGON SERVICE

Candy wagon service in Bldgs. 19, 20, 26 and 27 will be discontinued at the close of the second shift today. Service through vending machines will be available beginning tomorrow morning.

SAT. CAFETERIA SERVICE

The cafeteria in Bldg. 16-1 will be open tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 12 m. for the benefit of those employees who will be working during the annual inventory.

V. G. Hartman Appointed Ass't to FHP Cost Head

The appointment of Virgil G. Hartman as assistant to supervisor of costs, Fractional Horsepower Motor Department, has been announced by M. R. Cameron, supervisor of costs.

Mr. Hartman came to the General Electric Company September, 1943, as cost statistician and analyst in the Power Drive Division, Winter St. Two years later, he became associated with government terminations in Bldg. 18-3. In 1946, he transferred to Tiffin, O., to do cost work.

Mr. Hartman became supervisor of costs at the Tiffin plant in 1948. One year later, he transferred to was supervisor of cost in FHP Motor Divs. 19 and 20. In 1950, he went to the FHP Motor central cost section at Taylor St., where he remained for one year before joining the FHP Motor audit staff. Six months later, he returned to the central cost section, which was his location at the time of his present appointment.

Barbara Schukel To Edit Taylor St. Shipping Column

A pert blonde with an avid interest in sports is the new division editor for the WORKS NEWS column, "Memos from Taylor St. Shipping." She is Barbara A. Schukel, who is replacing Dolores Connin. Dolores has transferred to FHP Motor Sales Division.

Barbara has been with the company since May, 1950. During this period, she has worked as a file clerk, stenographer and editor in Taylor St. shipping section.

The new division editor graduated from New Haven High School in May, 1950. She enjoys reading mystery stories in her spare moments, but her main interest is playing first base on the St. John's New Haven Girls' softball team. Barbara has played the same position since she joined the team eight years ago. She also enjoys

Pugh, Broat, Jones Complete Apprenticeships

J. M. Pugh

R. C. Broat

W. E. Jones

Three men have graduated from the Apprentice School, W. J. Wolf, school supervisor, announced. Robert C. Broat completed the drafting course Sept. 7, while James M. Pugh and William E. Jones finished the machinist-toolmaker course today.

A native of Gloversville, N. Y., Mr. Broat graduated from the Gloversville High School in 1947. He then enrolled in the Apprentice School at the Schenectady Works. While there he was assigned to the Motor Generator, Induction Motor, Gas Turbine, Aircraft and Ordnance divisions. He transferred to the Fort Wayne school July, 1950.

Mr. Broat is married and has one son. They reside at 711 Walnut St.

Mr. Pugh attended the South Side High School before enlising in the Navy in 1943. He served as a MoMM, third class, with the Navy Amphibious Force with 14 months in the Mediterrancan. After his discharge in 1945, Mr. Pugh returned to high school, graduating the following year.

Joined G-E in 1947

He was employed by G-E in 1947 as a final assembler in Bldg. 26-5, and later transferred to electrical test in the same building. His next assignment was in developmental test in Bldg. 17-4. Mr. Pugh entered the Apprentice School's machinist - toolmaker course in April, 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh and their child live at 2242 Thompson Ave.

A former Columbia City High School student, Mr. Jones entered the Army Air Corps following his graduation in 1944. He saw overseas duty in the Pacific Theater of Operations and was discharged in 1946 with a sergeant's rating.

Mr. Jones came to General Electric in 1947 and worked on various jobs in Bldgs. 4-3, 17-4, 19-5 and 26-5 before enrolling in the Apprentice School in 1948.

Married, he has two children. The Jones' make their home at 412 E. Market St., Columbia City.

All meals and meetings will be held in the Astor Gallery. This year, club exhibits illustrating the most outstanding project of each club will be on display at the Conference in the Gallery.

Reservations Taken Now

Elex Club members who are interested in attending the Conference should make their reservations with a five dollar down payment as soon as possible at the Women's Activities Office, Bldg. 18-3, Broadway, or with Evelyn Blakley, Taylor St., Miss Meyers said.

A reservation fee of $30 will be charged every woman attending. This fee includes two luncheons, one dinner, room accommodations at the Waldorf Astoria and tips.

Club members in Fort Wayne and the surrounding area may travel to New York by car, or may go with the group in private coaches on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The round-trip train fare to New York will be $40.25. This includes two meals on the train and transportation from the New York depot to the hotel and return to the depot.

Oct. 17 Deadline

No reservations or cancellations can be made after Wednesday, Oct. 17. Payments will be taken until Friday, Oct. 19, which is the day the group will leave.

Midwestern area women who travel by train will leave Fort Wayne at 5:27 p.m. Central Time, Friday, Oct. 19, and arrive in New York City Saturday morning, Oct. 20. Departure from New York will be at 5 p.m. Eastern Time, Sunday, Oct. 21. The conferees will arrive in Fort Wayne at 5:39 a.m. Central Time, Monday, Oct. 22.

A letter has been received from the president of the women's club at San Jose, Calif. expressing regret that none of their members would be able to attend, but that they would be represented by a memento which they are sending every woman attending the Conference.

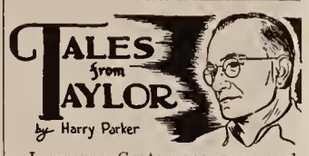
BYE BYE: We bid good-by to Isabel Bartholomew, who was transferred to Sales at Taylor St. . . . CONGRATS: Congratulations to Fred Volmerding, who completed 40 years of service Sept. 26. . . . BYE BYE: Today we bid farewell and good luck to two of our test engineers. They are Floyd Smith, who will go to our Lockland Plant, and Myron Egtvedt, going to Schenectady where he has signed up for the "A" course. . . . HOWDY: We would like to introduce Billy Campbell, our new test engineer, who hails from South Bend, Ind., and Purdue U. He is married and reports to Mr. Stanbery. . . . BACK AGAIN: We were glad to have Wally Clayton back with us last Monday after he spent one week confined to his home due to illness. Still on the absent list, however, is Walter Hahn, and we hope that he will be back with us very soon. . . . CONGRATS: Happy birthday to I. E. (Ted) Ross today, and Marge Walker, Sept. 21. . . . VACATIONERS: The lucky vacation people for next week are Ernie Spaulding, Herb Reitz, Adolf Strasser, Harry Balz and Helen Conrad. Hope you all "have yourself" a pleasant vacation.

In AC there's a big wheel
Who is very fond of food;
If he doesn't get his lunch on time,
He's in a lousy mood.

When the bell rings and we all know
That it's time for daily chow,
He doesn't want his next week,
Or tomorrow, but right now!

He rushes down the hallway,
Takes the steps three at a time;
Then he staggers in the dining room,
Simply breathless from the climb.

If he sees that there's a long line
Waiting at the cafeteria,
He may throw a scene, well, I would say,
It borders on hysteria.



By all means don't delay him
As he hurries to his meal—
If someone took your place in line,
How nasty would you feel?

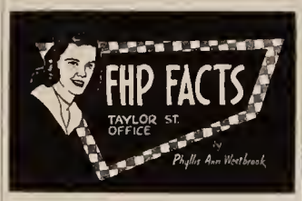
I'd like to give his name to you,
But that's a dirty trick;
Still I'd hate to see him starving,
I don't want to make him sick.

So in order to keep this unknown man
From being downright panicky,
Don't ever try to step in line
In front of Mr. —.

BUTCH LOGS 35 YEARS—A. R. (Butch) Vegalues (second from right), G-E Police Chief, logged 35 years with the Company Saturday, Sept. 15. The day before several of his G-E friends joined in congratulating him. Left to right are D. D. Brayer, A. S. Johnson, Chief Vegalues and Robert Wylie.

Lawrence Garton manages each year to take the third week of his vacation during the Bluffton Street Fair. The reason for this is that he is a big wheel in the affairs of this yearly event. He is the director-general of traffic. It is his duty to provide adequate parking facilities for the thousands of visitors, and also see that traffic flows smoothly in and out of Bluffton. He, being chairman of the entertainment committee, is responsible for the quality of such, so if any of you have any complaints, take them to Lawrence. The fact of the matter is, that if it were not for him there would be no fair. . . . Denver Carpenter came to work the other morning feeling very low. In fact so much that he had to make a trip to the dispensary. Some of the boys were quite worried about him and inquired about his trouble. Now, Denver, who has had quite a lot of stomach trouble, explained it was nothing to be alarmed about as he had taken an overdose of ulcer remedy. . . . Harold Hart purchased a can of super auto polish. In passing Ralph Dunlap's home and seeing his car parked in the drive, he decided to stop and tell Ralph all about the qualities of this polish and do a little demonstrating on said car. Ralph objected, saying it would not do the work. Harold got busy, however, and polished a small area and it looked wonderful. Now, when Mr. Dunlap's spouse arrived home and lamped the shiny spot on the car, she demanded an explanation. Whereupon she insisted that Ralph purchase some of this polish and finish the job. So insistent was she that he had to spend the entire day on the job. Now we are wondering what he will do to Mr. Hart. . . . Dick Howell, faced with the problem of moving to a new place of residence, persuaded Ralph Hill to help him do the job. Now he regrets his action, saying that every time he left the place with a load of furniture, Ralph would get in the refrigerator and eat whatever looked good to him. This went on for two evenings. Finally the food was all gone.

SICK LIST



The following people have been reported on the sick list:

Sick List

WHERE'S CHARLIE: For those who have been wondering what had become of Charlie Fisher, we can truthfully report that he is on the job on the third trick. He is still the same versatile fellow. . . . RETIRING: Mary Meyer, of the Switch Dept., is retiring after 22 years of service. Everyone is going to miss Mary and we sincerely want to wish her good luck and good health. . . . TAKING PROMISES: Just step back, fellows, no crowding. It has already been promised. What? Why nothing less than Jack Richard's beard. Rudy Brandyberry asked for it first. But the mystery is this: How is Rudy going to transfer them from Jack's face to his head and make them stay? . . . GeCODE CLUB: The GeCode Club has on display in the Credit Cage in Bldg. 2 some of the articles they have for sale. Take note from time to time. . . . BLUFFTON FAIR: A group of Decatur people attended the fair last week. Among those seen enjoying themselves were Dora Mae Fairchild, Marcia Martin, Lucile Foor and family, Edna Callow, Ed Hesher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Nile Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dellinger, Ella Scherry and Leona Fruchte. . . . PLEASANT WEEK-END: Esther Meyer and Helen Wellman enjoyed the Smokies recently. "Very pretty this time of year," they report. . . . BIRTHDAY GREETINGS: This week to Anna Womack, Mary Meyer, and Ralph Stanley. . . . EXEMPTIONS: It's another boy (the second) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weldy; at Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schindler's, a baby girl. Mrs. Schindler is the former Mary Ellen Beer, who worked for Mr. McDougal. . . . ON VACATION: Another late vacationist is "Mac" McClure. . . . TURN THE CLOCK BACK: These cool mornings would be wonderful for trying to catch up on our sleep. We will turn back our clocks an hour tomorrow and that will give all of us an extra hour to use as we wish. . . . NEW ADDITION: The ground has been broken and forms made for the addition to be built at the home of Anna and George Womack. . . . GEE, HAM SANDWICHES! ! Art Denig isn't bragging any more about what he has in his lunch. He bragged to the wrong person about what nice ham sandwiches he had. When he went to eat his lunch there were no sandwiches. . . . THE NEW GENTLEMAN: In case you do not know who the new fellow is in the Flange line, it is Dave Langston. . . . A SPEEDY RECOVERY: Faye Foreman is confined to the Memorial Hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis. . . . M. JUNE CERAMIC STUDIO: June Christen announced that she is starting fall class for beginners and advanced students. She specializes in china painting, lace work, and sculpturing. She has a complete line of greenware and supplies and does custom firing. For an appointment Call 3-9933. . . . CONGRATS: Margaret Waltke celebrated her 29th wedding anniversary. . . . Does anyone have a house for rent? Karl Schnepp would like to rent one. If you know of one, please contact him as he is in need of one very badly. . . . FISH ENTHUSIASTS: The fish were biting at Chippewa Lake, Mich., recently. At least, Ada and Mina said they were, but we don't have any proof. Stan Ball, the owner of the cottage, said that he never saw anybody who were such gluttons for punishment as those two women. After hearing that, they must have spent all their time trying to catch a fish. . . . For an interesting demonstration and lecture on the correct way to put on an apron, contact Ralph Stanley. . . . Jake Keller returned to work after enjoying his third week of vacation. . . . VOTE OF CONFIDENCE: The wife of Charlie Cloud (Charlie is a machine tool expert, master auto mechanic and city planner) recently told him that her washer was not working. Charlie went to work fixing it. When she looked in about 20 minutes later and saw a leg of her beloved washer in one corner, its skirt in another, and miscellaneous parts all over the floor, she rushed for the phone and called a popular service center store to come and fix her washer. She just new Charlie was in trouble. Besides a slap at his dignity, Charlie had to use his winnings from Kleinknight to pay the bill. . . . FIRST CLASS: You've heard of first-class toolmakers painting the neighbor's boat, thinking it was his own. Now comes the story of our top electrician, "Peck" Hilton, had to go to a garage to have a loose wire reattached to a spark plug on his car.

NEEDED REST: Dora Holycross spend a hectic week. Things happened that just shouldn't happen to one person alone, such as: Calling the emergency for fires instead of accounting, going in to the drug store and asking a man for some aspirin, who didn't even work there. Right before lunch her skirt zipper broke, and she even slipped on her checking account balance. Don't you all agree that she needs a rest? . . . STALE PEANUTS FOR SALE: Ask Harriett Heaney about the Bluffton Street Fair and why the peanuts weren't selling. Could it be because she was behind the stand? . . . FAREWELLS: Al Volz, of Tabulating, is leaving the company. He had a party with ice cream and cake. Al also received a gift from his fellow-workers. It was a Sheaffer pen and pencil set. Lots of luck, Al, we all will miss you. . . . Roseanna Boyle, of Customer Billing, is leaving to stay at home and take care of her little son, Eddie. Do call and say hello to your old friends once in a while. . . . Sales bids good-by to Lois and Dick Harlow, who are leaving for Schenectady where Dick will continue his test. It has been grand having you all with us and we wish you lots of happiness and success in your new location. By the way, Lois, has Dick bought you a lighter or are you still rubbing sticks together to light those cigarettes? . . . WELCOME: Marge Clark is pinch-hitting in the Sales file room until Pat Brueggeman returns. Marge is also a G-E wife. Her hubby, answering to the name of Harold, works in Bldg. 26 at Broadway. . . . Kent Tiller is now off test and working with us in Sales. His last test was with Motor Generator. . . . Joanne Graham is Sales' newest member of the ediphone room. . . . Isabel Bartholomew, who has been working with J. J. Horan's section at Broadway, is now with George Wright's section in Sales. . . . Marjorie Albee, who transferred from Sales to work for Bill Weikart some time ago, is now with us again temporarily in the ediphone room. For the past several months, she has been with her husband, who is in the service.

Pick Ups

FROM BLDG. 26 - 3

By Earle Bartling

CONGRATULATIONS to Cleo Dicks on her 30th wedding anniversary. Girls in the Finishing Section had a surprise potluck dinner to help her celebrate the happy occasion. . . . Belated birthday greetings to Anna Allman and Lynn Veazey. A potluck dinner was held for Lynn. We wonder why the cake was decorated with a little devil on it. . . . Jenny won 50 cents from Lynn. . . . FALSE ALARM: Shorty Jackson was seen at the "main attraction" at the Bluffton Street Fair Saturday night, fair officials thought the tent at this same attraction was on fire. On investigation, discovered it was Charlie Adams puffing on his pipe a little harder than usual. . . . Girls, if you wish to stay slender like Walt Heyn, ask him for his diet menu. It includes ten hot dogs for Thursday's luncheon. . . . Velma, did you see Niagara Falls while you were in Buffalo, or did you have barrels of fun without going there? . . . WANTED—GUIDE DOG: Applications will be made for two seeing-eye dogs—one for Aylene Speice to help her find her car in the parking lot and one for Fred Smith so he can get off the elevator at the right floor. . . . If your furnace needs any repairs ask George Manisto about his five-year plan. One to tear it down, and four to put it back together. . . . Jane Eiler had her troubles baking a cake. The first one ran all over the oven and the second was dropped on the floor. Don't give up, Jane, old man "Percy Verance" will help. . . . WELCOME: Welcome all new employees on the floor as well as old ones who have transferred back. . . . Delores went to see South Pacific. By the way, one individual asked, "What is South Pacific?" She knows now. . . . Another of life's embarrassing moments was for Ed Becker last week. Just mistaken identity, huh, Ed? . . . You probably wonder why Levona quit writing this column. She was seen posting figures on the blackboard with a lead pencil. The doctor said the strain was too much for her but predicts a rapid recovery. . . . WORRIED: We are also worried about Willard Lenz's condition after hearing him tell Bob Noll that Bob Noll wouldn't he in to work one afternoon. . . . We would hate to see Lola with a broken arm if she tried to dress and redress it as many times as she did her sore finger. Keep the stretcher handy, boys. . . . We're sorry to hear of John Hixson's accident in which he was injured and his car wrecked. . . . Carl Nolan was initiated into that great organization, "The Greasy Ear Club," last week. . . . George Brehm made one of his long drawn out specches to your reporter recently. George said (and I quote), "Good morning." . . . Saturday is annual inventory—Oh Joy!

It's good to see you back here again, "Poodle." . . . BELATED: Mr. Krumbiegel of Tabulating celebrated a birthday last Friday. He passed around the traditional box of candy. I trust the day was a happy one for you, sir, and may you have many, many more. . . . GADABOUTS: Dorothy Crist and Gertrude Kasimier are going to the Notre Dame-Indiana football game. I sure hope the game turns out like it did last year. I sure was proud of our old Indiana.

A good listener is not only popular everywhere but after a while he knows something.

Inquiring Reporter:

"HOW MUCH INFORMATION SHOULD THE U. S. RELEASE TO NEWSPAPERS ABOUT HER ADVANCES IN ATOMIC ENERGY, OR SHOULD SHE KEEP THEM SECRET?"

C. RAY LOVELESS, SR.

Bldg. 8-1

"I see no reason for keeping atomic energy a secret. The papers have told everything except how we gain power by the use of it and what can be done with it now and in the future. As long as such a few people know how we get it, I believe we should let the public know some of the developments."

WILLIAM H. LASHURE

Bldg. 2-1

"My opinion of giving the U. S. advances in atomic energy to the newspapers is that it would not be right at this time. I think she should keep the advances secret. Further advances in atomic energy are possible, and I think the U. S. should wait until she develops these so that she can give the people a better idea of atomic power."

ARMILLA CONRAD

Bldg. 26-2

"I think it is well to inform the public through the newspapers of the general advance that is being made in atomic energy; however, for the security of our country, the technical advancement in this field should be kept a secret."

E. E. ALLMANDINGER

Bldg. 19-2

"With the world situation as it is today, I believe it would be an advantage for the U. S. to keep any advances in atomic energy secret for the present. Our enemy (Communism) would most certainly convert peacetime atomic energy to war weapons of destruction."

PAULINE K. WIMMER

Taylor St.

"I do not think any information should be given out about atomic energy. I think it is the biggest defense weapon that we have and if it is in the papers other nations will know just how far they could go if they wanted to attack us."

Dorwin Stanley had a notion to miss the Apprentice Alumni Smoker last week when he heard that fish was on the menu. However, he found that the fish sandwiches were really good and consumed his share of them. . . . Heine Guenther can boast of a nice selection of orange and grapefruit trees at home. Let us know when you bring in the next pickings, Heine. . . . Ralph Van Osdale won two boat races at Ridgeville recently and would have won another but his motor konked out. Ralph noticed a sparkplug was loose so he grabbed the plug. Instead of winning that race, he found out how severe a hot spark plug can burn. . . . Russell Kensill helped another motorist to park on a downtown street but the fellow didn't appreciate it much. Perhaps it was the method, since Russ was banging in the fellow's fender. . . . We have two proud fathers. Our congratulations to Bob Plasterer and Everett Schmidt on the birth of baby daughters. . . . The fellows extend their sympathy to Ralph Reed in the death of his mother last week. . . . We now have another candidate for the old rocking chair as Les Hines has joined the Grandfather's Club. . . . Speaking of strange hobbies, we understand that Don Eme recently started a hobby of collecting old rotor punchings, stripper bolts and sawdust. Nevertheless, we think it is a PUTTY good hobby, Don. . . . All the fellows thank Leo Schlaudroff for the invitation to come up for a party last night. However, we regret that we cannot accept since the lake he was referring to is located in Minnesota. . . . Kurt Martin has invented the Fish Micrometer. He has been boasting to Henry Frey and Gene Denig that it measures within .005 of an inch. It is usually best to catch some fish first, Kurt, before you worry about measuring them. . . . Gus Kruse, the most generous man in the Tool Division, was seen performing another good deed in helping his brother-in-law haul a hundred sacks of cement. . . . Lloyd Welbaum visited our friend, John Hensler, and found him up and around. John thinks he'll be able to come to work soon. . . . One person thought Eddie Kammeyer had transferred over to the scrap shed, but we informed him that Eddie was only hunting through those railroad cars for his government job that was caught in the scrap drive by mistake. . . . Charlie Shipman may not be much of a golfer, but his sister in Indianapolis had her name in the paper for making a hole-in-one. . . . After seeing Mary Ellen Owens pile up her racing car in a movie the other evening, most of the fellows say "give her plenty of room." . . . Adrian Libbing was desperately trying to drive his car and knock the ashes off of his cigar. It's a tough job, especially when your pals have threaded a small wire through the cigar. Adrian succeeded the next time though. He smoked his cigar as he walked home. Then had to walk back and get his car in the parking lot. . . . DIE PLANT: We wonder how Carl Zion will respond to Carl (Doc) Click's noon massage treatments. . . . John Bartle is looking forward to next Wednesday night. He is going to exhibit a few tricks of magic at the die plant workers' party at Miller's Farm. See Carl Click for directions, if you plan on attending. . . . Ray Steinacker deserves mention this week as he has joined the gallon blood donation club.

Come to My House

"A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother."—Proverbs 18:24.

THERE ARE SMILES: Of course, the song title is dated, but 1952 is the date of the Brookwood Golf Membership that Martin Zernick, Bldg. 18-1, recently won in the G-E Club golf tournament. It brought smiles, too. . . . BIRTHDAY greetings to Charles Slater.

Converted Candy Wagon

He celebrated Sept. 20. . . . CONVERSION: We heard of conversion units for a gas furnace, conversion from peace to wartime production, etc., but did you know that old G-E candy wagons don't die—and they don't fade away? They are converted! Elmer DeBolt, Bldg. 18-2, will tell you that his purchase of one of these scrapped candy wagons has proved very profitable. Elmer and son Larry, aged 8, attach their's to a garden tractor and use it to transport tools, etc., to the garden and their produce back to the house. Son Larry also has given the old candy wagon quite a beating riding the neighborhood kids around. Although Elmer had to sign a pledge saying that he wouldn't use the wagon to sell candy, he says there is nothing in the pledge to keep him from selling hot tamales or popcorn when he retires. . . . TAB Day: Tomorrow is the annual get-together between the management and technical trainees. The plans for the affair, while a little secretive, certainly hold promise. . . . SORRY: We are all sorry to learn that Mary Occleston, formerly of Bldg. 18-2, is ill at the Methodist Hospital. She underwent surgery, but is recuperating satisfactorily. . . . Luella Mulligan, Bldg. 18-1, is a patient at the Lutheran Hospital where she underwent surgery on Saturday. Hope that you will both soon be well again. . . . WELCOME to the fold is extended to Thelma Voirel, Bldg. 21, who will report the happenings in the Employment Office for this column. . . . This week's activities include a party last Monday night in the Portage Room of the YMCA. The guest of honor was Connie Kearns, who is leaving with her husband to make their home in Schenectady. Best of luck to you both. . . . ANNIVERSARIES: Irene Ofenloch has celebrated two anniversaries this week. Sept. 25 she celebrated her 10th wedding anniversary and yesterday her 44th year with the General Electric Company. We are proud to have Irene in our office as she now has the honor of having the longest service of any girl in the Fort Wayne Works. . . . WARNING! Anyone driving down Weisser Park Ave., be sure to take along your best sun glasses. WHY? Bob Hodell has painted his house a fire-engine red. . . . LEAVING: A party honoring Doris Lehman, Bldg. 18-2, who is leaving shortly to take up household activities, was held Wednesday evening at the home of Marilyn Mattes. Those present were Hazel McDougall, Helen Gellert, Mary Cooper, Lucille Curie, Joan Miller, Jane Bradtmiller, Ilene Geiger, Edna Miller, Martha Hallett, Eva Keller, Irma Tibbet, Mary Brouwer, Helen Meyer and the guest of honor. A miscellaneous shower of gifts was presented, including a gift from the men of Bldg. 18-2. . . . Elizabeth Carnell and Juanita Spice both reported to the blood bank last Wednesday. They were a little nervous but came through OK.

Elga Ginder will no doubt call his new draftsman by his first name, instead of sneezing the last name. Our newest draftsman is "Signor" (as Chuggy would say) Diego Cacciatore. Diego is from New York. . . . Vince Busian and his wife recently discovered that their truck runs better on gasoline. Vince's wife called and said the truck had stopped. Vince should bring the car and pull the truck. On their arrival at home, they found that the truck's gas tank was empty. . . . This week is Helen Clark's last week to work at G-E. Helen will take up her duties as a fulltime housewife. . . . This is to certify that Bea Heck's wreck was not caused by women drivers but by faulty brakes. As Bea stepped on the brakes to stop for a traffic light, the brakes refused to work. She crashed into another lady's car. No bones were broken. . . . Wedding bells rang last Saturday for Bob Rietdorf and Vivian Grepke. Congratulations to the bride and groom. . . . (Added Note) We wonder if it wasn't something more than the traffic tieup at the Harvester that caused Gerry to be late the other morning. Did you notice the way her lipstick was smeared?

HAS 35 YEARS' SERVICE—Elton Swank (right), Bldg. 20-2, completed 35 years' employment Thursday, Sept. 6. In the photograph, Mr. Swank is being congratulated by a few co-workers in the General Service Division. Left to right are Oscar Beatty, Edward Trabel, W. O. Luebke and Mr. Swank.

An inebriated man walked into an elevator shaft, fell four floors to the bottom, stood up, brushed himself off, and shouted, "I said UP!"

Services Fund Drive Dates Set

G-E Employees Community Services Fund

Constitution and By-Laws

ARTICLE I

The name of this organization shall be the "General Electric Employees Community Services Fund of Fort Wayne, Indiana."

ARTICLE II

Participation in this organization shall be by the employees on the payroll of the Fort Wayne Works of General Electric Company, including those at the Broadway, Taylor, and Winter Street plants.

ARTICLE III

The objects and purposes of this organization shall be:

Section 1

To establish and maintain an Employees Community Services Fund (hereinafter called "the Fund") in a systematic manner, by payroll deductions, from which contributions shall be allocated to help defray the budgeted needs of established non-profit, charitable, health, and social welfare agencies whose services are dependent, wholly or in part, on voluntary contributions.

Section 2

To assist employees in meeting their community obligations to charitable, health, and social welfare organizations without the necessity of numerous and recurring campaigns being conducted within the General Electric plants in Fort Wayne on behalf of such organizations and to avoid excessive solicitation and collection costs in connection with these appeals.

No contribution shall be made for increasing the capital investment of any organization, such as by building funds.

Section 3

To establish a Board of Administrators which will be representative of the employees contributing to the Fund. This Board will:

A. Administer the Fund in accordance with the provisions of the constitution and by-laws.

B. Appraise each request for contributions in light of the approved agency or organization budget to be met each year.

C. Make allocations from the Fund to the social welfare agencies according to its findings of service and need, consistent with the desires of the contributors to the Fund.

D. Investigate complaints about the services of the recipient agencies and report verbally the facts thereon to the Board of Administrators. The Chairman will in turn report verbally to the inquirer.

E. Furnish information regularly to members showing the extent of contributions from the Fund to various agencies.

F. Make full use of bulletin boards, publications, and other facilities available to employees for dissemination of reports and information.

G. Do all other things which will accomplish the purpose of this organization.

BY-LAWS

ARTICLE I—DEFINITIONS

Section 1

G-E Employees Community Services Fund is that Fund derived from the collective contributions of employees and employee organizations which Fund shall be held by the Board of Administrators for distribution in accordance with the provisions of these articles.

Section 2

A member is one who authorizes continuing payroll deductions to be contributed to the Fund, or any other G-E employee as described in Article IV, Section (b) of the By-Laws who may contribute such sums as are required to carry out the purposes of the Fund.

Section 3

Board of Administrators means those persons selected or elected to transact the necessary business required for the collection, administration, and operation of the Fund.

Section 4

By-Laws means by-laws of the G-E Employees Community Services Fund and as they may be amended from time to time.

ARTICLE II—ADMINISTRATION

Section 1

The control of the Fund shall be vested in a Board of Administrators composed of elected and appointed Administrators (hereinafter called "the Board"). Twelve (12) Administrators shall be elected from the membership; two appointed by Fort Wayne Works management, one of whom shall be designated as Treasurer of the Fund; and one appointed by each of the unions certified by the National Labor Relations Board as representing the Fort Wayne Works employees.

The twelve elected administrators shall be chosen by the members, two, one salaried and one hourly, from each of the following Fort Wayne Works Departments:

1. Winter Street (ACD)
2. Motor & Generator
3. Spec. Transformer & Ballast
4. FHP Broadway
5. FHP Taylor Street
6. Works Service

A quorum of the Board shall consist of 11 administrators.

All administrators must be members of this Fund.

Section 2

At the organization meeting of the Board, the elected administrators shall draw lots to determine the tenure of their membership so that six shall serve for one year and six for two years. Thereafter, each administrator shall be elected for a term of two years or until his successor is chosen by vote of the members.

Any vacancy occurring during the term of an elected administrator shall be filled by the Board in a manner to continue the representation outlined in Article II, Section 1 of these By-Laws.

Appointed and union administrators shall hold office until their successors are named. Vacancies which may occur during the term of office of an appointed or union administrator shall be filled by reappointment as described in Section 1.

Section 3

The Board of Administrators shall:

(a) Annually elect its own Chairman, Vice Chairman and Secretary.

(b) Be fully responsible for the Fund and shall provide all of the safe-guards necessary to insure its protection, including the securing of a bond, satisfactory to the Board, for each of its officers. (The Company shall bear the expense of such bonding of officers). All checks covering payments from the Fund will be signed by the Treasurer or the Secretary and countersigned by the Chairman, or Vice Chairman.

(c) Have the authority to review the contribution plan established in Article III with a view to amend so that it meets the objects and purposes of this organization and which is acceptable to the members.

(d) Meet on the call of the Chairman and not less than quarterly on a date, to be fixed by agreement of its administrators, to receive the Treasurer's report and to take action on any business that may be properly presented to the Board.

(e) Appoint such plant committees or representatives as shall be deemed necessary to fully carry out the intent and purposes of the organization.

(f) Seek out, and request from any appropriate source, information which will provide a fair appraisal of requests for support from this Fund.

All Employees May Join New G-E Plan Week of Oct. 8-12

The Community Services Fund drive picked up momentum this week as the dates of Monday, Oct. 8, through Friday, Oct. 12, were set by the organizing committee for conducting the single campaign for charitable contributions among all employees of the Broadway, Taylor St. and Winter St. plants.

As plans for the drive rolled along, division chairmen were appointed by product division managers and met with the committee to review plans and select solicitors, who will contact every employee.

The chairmen and the divisions they represent are Hubert Myers, Works Service; Dwight Myers, Motor-Generator; Roger Grant, Winter St.; Roy Soughan, Transformer and B. R. McClure, Fractional Horsepower Motor. Co-chairman for FHP Motor at Taylor St. is John Flickinger; FHP Motor co-chairman at Broadway is E. J. Vosburgh.

With the goal of gaining 100 per cent voluntary participation in one drive, the committee has provided a swift, convenient method for employees to meet their community obligations. Employees will sign a pledge card only once during their G-E employment.

Weekly Deductions

The card will give payroll divisions authority to deduct a small amount from their pay check weekly and turn it over to the Fund. By this method, employees will not be bothered with digging down into their pockets 23 times to give for the 23 or more agencies aided by the Fund.

Representatives of the employees will distribute the money subscribed by the members according to the relative need of local organizations. The board of administrators will be composed of these representatives. It will issue regular reports to the members explaining how their donations are being distributed.

Employees may voluntarily join the Fund or withdraw from it. The Company will take care of all costs of operating the plan.

Under the constitution and by-laws of the Fund, each employee can feel that he is contributing to 23 or more local agencies and yet the cost to him is much smaller than if he were asked to donate to each agency individually.

Civic Agencies

The non-profit groups which operate by contributions and which will receive aid from the Community Services Fund are: Associated Catholic Charities, St. Vincent's Villa, Boy Scouts, Children's Day Care Association, Community Chest, Family and Children's Service, Fort Wayne Jewish Federation, Fort Wayne Urban League, Girl Scouts, Hospital and Home Service, Lutheran Social Service, Public Health Nursing Services, Rescue Home and Mission, Salvation Army, Social Planning Council, Y.W.C.A., United Defense Fund, American Hearing Society, National Probation & Parole Association, National Travelers Aid, Indiana Mental Hygiene Society, Westside Neighborhood Center, Red Cross and any other agency which the administrators vote to include in the plan.

The constitution and by-laws of the plan are published in full on this and the following page.

Section 4

The Board of Administrators shall have the power to interpret these By-Laws.

ARTICLE III
CUSTODY AND ALLOCATION OF FUNDS

Section 1

All monies contributed to this Fund shall be used solely for the objects and purposes outlined in Article III, Sections 1 and 2 of the Constitution.

The General Electric Company shall be responsible for the collection of all payroll deductions authorized by the members of this Fund, and shall transmit each month's accumulation of such collections to the Treasurer of the Fund by check made payable to the "General Electric Employees Community Services Fund." No charge shall be made to the organization or to the Fund for that service.

The amount in the Fund shall be carried only in bank accounts in the name of the "General Electric Employees Community Services Fund."

Disbursements from this Fund shall be made only as authorized by a majority of the Board to agencies and organizations approved as provided in this article.

The Company shall allow the members of the Board such compensated time during regular working schedules as is necessary to faithfully discharge their duties as members of the Board. Members of duly appointed committees or representatives are to be similarly compensated for time required during regular working schedules to discharge their duties in the administration of this organization and of the Fund. Furthermore, the furnishing of a bond for each of the officers, as well as the furnishing of an annual audit and report to the Board of Administrators relative to the Fund records, shall be the responsibility of General Electric Company, and the Company shall bear all the expenses of such bonding of officers and audit reports.

There shall be no payment by the Organization or out of the Fund for services performed for them. The Company shall defray all of the clerical, organization, and administrative expenses of the Organization and the Fund.

Section 2

Only those agencies and organizations rendering services within Allen County, in whole or in part, shall be eligible to receive contributions from the Fund. The following agencies are approved for contributions from the Fund:

1. Allen County Community Chest and Social Planning Council
2. Fort Wayne-Allen County Chapter American Red Cross

Agencies and organizations may be added to or deleted from the approved list by two-thirds (⅔) vote of the Board. Any agency to be removed shall be given an opportunity to appear before the Board prior to its removal.

ARTICLE IV
SCHEDULE OF PARTICIPATION

The basis for membership shall be contribution to the Fund through:

(a) payroll deduction

Deductions are to be in multiples of 5 cents with no payroll deduction less than 15 cents per week. Following is the schedule of contributions:

When Gross Earnings (40 Hrs.) Are:	Weekly Deductions Will Be:
$60.00 or less	15c
$60.01 to $70.00 per week incl.	20
$70.01 to $80.00 per week incl.	25
$80.01 to $90.00 per week incl.	30
$90.01 to $100.00 per week incl.	35
Over $100 per week incl.	½ of 1%

Deductions will be adjusted semi-annually according to the hourly or salary rate in effect commencing July 1, 1952, and on each January 1 and July 1, thereafter.

Deductions shall be made over a maximum period of 52 weeks in each year. Authorizations will be continued in effect from year to year unless revoked by the participant in writing upon two weeks' notice to the respective payroll division.

When a member's earnings for a regular period cease for any reason, no contributions will be required from future earnings to make up for such period.

Deductions for all members may be suspended for specific periods when, in the opinion of at least eleven (11) administrators, the Fund is sufficiently large to fulfill either the approved and anticipated requests or the desires of the members.

(b) cash contributions

G-E employees not on Fort Wayne payrolls through direct solicitation for cash contributions.

ARTICLE V—MEMBERS

Section 1

Any employee desiring to join the organization shall sign an authorization card indicating the amount to be deducted.

Section 2

Membership in the Fund shall not be a condition of employment.

Section 3

Members shall not be solicited for additional contributions on Company premises except in case of emergency and then only with the approval of ⅔ of the Board of Administrators.

ARTICLE VI—FINANCIAL REPORTS

Section 1

Financial reports of the Fund shall be made quarterly by the Board and posted for the information of members. An audit report shall be made and posted annually.

Section 2

No refunds of contributions shall be made for any reason, since such funds are currently used to pay commitments to the recipient agencies.

ARTICLE VII—OFFICERS

At their first meeting following each annual election, the Board shall elect officers consisting of Chairman, Vice Chairman, and Secretary. In case of vacancy of an office for any reason, the Board by majority vote may designate one of its members to fill such vacancy.

The Chairman shall preside at all meetings of the Board and shall perform the duties usually appertaining to that office, and such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board. The Chairman shall be jointly responsible with the Treasurer for signing all checks covering disbursements from the Fund, as authorized by the Board in accordance with Article III.

The Vice Chairman shall perform the duties of the Chairman in the absence of or inability to act of the latter, including the signing of checks covering disbursements from the Fund and such other duties as the Board may prescribe.

The Secretary shall keep accurate records of all meetings of the Board and shall have custody and care of such records. He shall perform such other duties as the Board may prescribe, including the signing of checks covering disbursements from the Fund during the absence or inability to act of the Treasurer.

The Treasurer shall be responsible for receiving and depositing all collections transmitted to him by General Electric Company and for maintaining all the necessary financial records in connection with the administration of the Fund. The Treasurer shall be jointly responsible with the Chairman for signing all checks covering disbursements from the Fund, as authorized by the Board in accordance with Article III.

The Board shall elect officers annually as soon as practicable after the first of the year and the terms of the officers shall be for one year after election except that the officers chosen by the first Board shall take office immediately and continue in office until their successors are elected. Officers may be elected to succeed themselves. No officer shall hold more than one office at the same time.

The Treasurer, appointed by management, shall continue as an administrator and in office until his successor is appointed.

The officers shall receive no remuneration from this organization or the Fund for any services as officers or otherwise.

ARTICLE VIII—ELECTION PROCEDURE

In order to effect this organization, a temporary Organizing Committee shall be appointed by the Fort Wayne Works Manager for the purpose of arranging for the election of the elected members of the first Board of Administrators, who shall take office as soon as elected.

This Committee shall establish election districts to coincide with the six major divisions listed in Article II. In order to provide adequate representation for each of the hourly-rated members and the salaried members, separate election districts shall be formed as to these groups within each major division.

The Organizing Committee shall supervise the nomination and election of an Administrator to represent such district.

Each participating member with an election district will be furnished a nomination form on which he will be requested to suggest the name of the person whom he desires to nominate for office of Administrator to represent his election district.

The Organizing Committee shall tabulate the returns of the nominations for the position of Administrator and prepare a list of these nominations arranged in order of the number of votes received. The two members on this list receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared the nominees for Administrator, and their names shall appear on the final ballot. If it should become necessary to choose these two nominees from among several individuals because of tie votes, the final selection shall be made by drawing lots.

Ballot forms shall be prepared and the election shall be held by mail. The nominee receiving the highest number of votes in each election district shall be declared elected to represent that district on the Board of Administrators.

Subsequent elections of Administrators shall be held annually on or before December 1 of each year beginning in 1952.

Each retiring administrator shall appoint a nomination and election committee consisting of three members of the organization from the election district he represents. The Committee shall nominate two members of the organization from its election district for the office of administrator.

The committee shall also conduct the election by mail under the general supervision of the Board of Administrators. Ballots will be prepared and will carry the names of the two candidates. Names will be placed on the ballot in alphabetical order.

ARTICLE IX—REVISIONS OR AMENDMENTS

Section 1

(a) Amendments to the By-Laws may be made by affirmative vote of two-thirds (⅔) of the Board.

(b) Amendments to the Constitution may be made by an affirmative vote of two-thirds (⅔) of the members voting on the proposed change. Voting may be accomplished by mail.

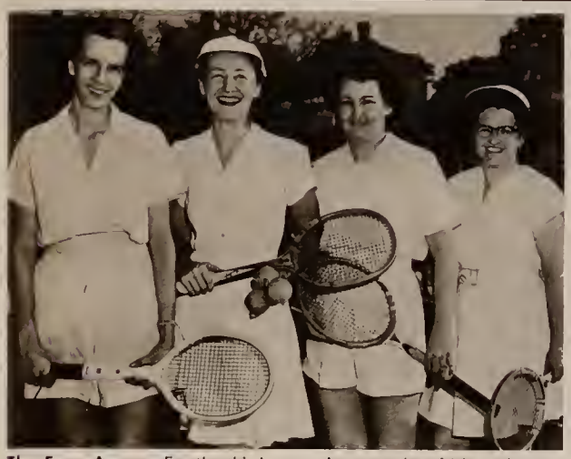
(c) Any proposed amendment to the Constitution and or By-Laws must be submitted in writing to the Board. Approval of a two-thirds (⅔) majority of the Board will be required before submitting proposed amendments to the Constitution to the membership for vote.

(d) Any amendments to the Constitution and/or By-Laws shall be posted on bulletin boards in the various divisions not less than one week prior to the vote by the membership on such amendment.

ARTICLE X—DISSOLUTION

Section 1

The organization shall continue in operation unless terminated by a vote of two-thirds (⅔) of the members.



Section 2

In the event the organization is terminated, such monies remaining in the Fund shall be distributed to approved local agencies or special projects for community welfare by the Board of Administrators.

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC NEWS

Picture Supplement

VOLUME 16 SEPTEMBER 28, 1951 No. 9

The Four Aces... For the third successive year the girls' tennis team of Bridgeport Works has copped the city championship in the industrial league. Victorious smiles of GE's No. 1 team belong to (from left): Helen Adams, Ella Eadie, Gertrude Golar and captain-manager Zelma Smith.

Bringing Home The Bacon... There was joy in the Jensen household when Hans Jensen, Schenectady Works, greeted his wife and 8-year-old daughter Janie with a $750 check for his most recent suggestion. Mr. Jensen has been with the company since 1916 when he came to this country from Denmark; has had 14 suggestions accepted out of the 17 he's submitted.

MPA Special Visitor... French ambassador Henri Bonnet attempts the impossible as he tries to break the lens of an outdoor lighting unit with baseball bat aboard GE's wonder train when it stopped at Pittsfield. Patrick J. Garey, assistant to the commercial vice president of IGE, is at right. During its tour, the MPA Special visited 160 cities and was inspected by a quarter of a million visitors.

A Lift With A Lilt... The Hotpoint Choristers, whose members are employees of Hotpaint, Inc., GE affiliate, bring hours of vocal entertainment to patients at Great Lakes Naval Training Station Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill. This nationally-famed industrial charal group, under the direction of Wayne Ruggles, has appeared on national television hookups, at the Chicagoland Music Festivals, the Chicago Railraad Fairs and many others.

An Inside Job... Believed to be the first man ever to wark inside a turbojet engine, Harold Kirkendall, of GE's Lockland Plant, is shown here discussing an inspection problem with Jerry Mefford, an engineering supervisor. Only 47 inches tall, his small size enables him to do a good job of inspection inside the jet.

GE Constan

GENERAL ELECTRIC through the years has always tried to make GE a good place to work. It has been the Company policy, in its efforts to make jobs better, to be a leader in providing employee benefit plans, to mointoin clean and pleasant working conditions, to have an aggressive safety pragram and, obove all, to see that employees have goad bosses leading them in their daily work.

With GE supervisors and foremen numbering in the thousands, it would scarcely be possible for each of them to be a perfect boss. However, the Company is always striving to make each of them a better boss. GE seeks first to select bosses who have administrative ability, initiative, leadership and human understanding. Beyond this, the Company carries on training programs ta assist its foremen and other supervisors to give employees real help in their jobs.

Various GE locations adopt different methods in improving supervision. Erie Works, for example, is doing its best to obtain gaod bosses through a supervisory selectian pragram, based on personal interviews, written tests and pre-supervisory training. Following selection, Erie management provides the Foremen's Guide for supervision, informative meetings, and other training practices.

In the Lamp Division, Camp Foremen provides foremen from all af its operations with excellent twa-way communication help in doing the jab better. Supervisory informative meetings and management informative conferences are alsa being utilized as a means of improving supervision.

Pictured on these pages are same of the methods being used to provide good bosses.

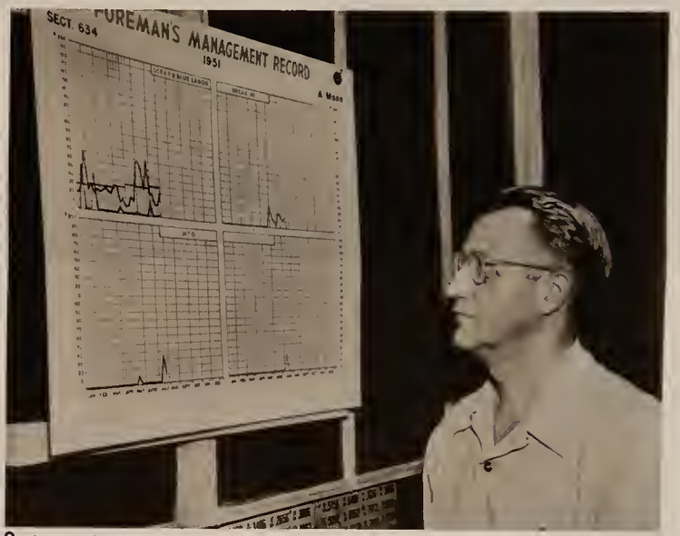
1. At Erie Works a program to provide better bosses begins with the supervisor (left), who discusses with employee the chances for advancement and what he needs to move on to a better job.

2. A group of employees, who were selected by their foremen as having supervisory potentiol, are given a number of carefully-developed psychologicol tests.

3. After the test results have been reviewed, superintendents submit names of thase accepted to take a program which will be a help in preparing them to advance to more responsible jobs later.

4. Once a man is actually selected for a supervisory position, he is then prepared through individualized training according to his needs and the division where he will be assigned.

5. Later, o program—which has been designed and developed by foremen — is given to provide foremen with information about various services and how they affect their jobs.



6. Foremen at Erie Works also attend informative meetings to help them do a better job and thus become better bosses.

ly Works To Provide Good Bosses

7. As on additional step in the program designed to improve supervision, members of the Erie Works management learn the Principles and Methods of Supervision through discussion and classroom work.

8. In one division of Erie Works during 1950, a total of $300,000 was saved through the combined efforts of all foremen, who kept a record of manufacturing losses. This is a good example of improved efficiency through better informed bosses.

9. At one Lamp Division plant in Cleveland, Supervisory Informative Meetings bring the plant manager and his foremen together for two-way discussions of any mutual problems.

10. Management Informative Conferences, like the one above at the Circleville (Ohio) Lamp Works, give the plant manager an opportunity to meet regularly with his production workers.

11. Two-way help is the keynote of the Lamp Division's Comp Foremen. Here the manager of a lamp plant, right, explains his use of co-operation and unit competition in quality control for two foremen from another plant, who may adopt the idea for use in their own operation.

12. Comp Foremen is also providing questions and answers on many of the marketing problems, as shown here during one of the group sessions held at Nela Park last August.

"THERE'LL BE SWEET DREAMS TONIGHT." Benny Keller received a pair of foam rubber pillows from his son and daughter-in-law to celebrate his birthday, which is this week. What birthday is that, Benny, your 25th? . . . It's really something when a sheriff gets put in jail. Ora Cagnet decided he didn't want to grow a beard for the Monroeville Centennial, so he was put behind bars until he handed over two dollars for bail. . . . Ray Craft is leaving the company to go to Arizona. Have a good time, Ray. . . . Kenny Ramp is leaving the company Wednesday to have a short vacation until time to leave for the army. We are going to miss him. . . . The girls in Type M Section surely enjoy your singing and dancing, Rolland Mennewisch. You are so graceful, everybody wants to know if that comes naturally or if you won a free course from Arthur Murray. . . . What's this we hear about Jane Maloney locking her keys in her locker the other day. Did you think someone would take them, Jane? . . . Congratulations are in order for Mary Jane Vigneaux and Margie Hines. Mary Jane is getting married Sept. 29, and Margie was married Sept. 22. . . . We hear that Otto (coffee pot inspector) Braun may soon be leaving us. He's been tooting his horn so much for Cadillacs, the rumor goes, that they've offered him a very choice position as a Cadillac salesman. . . . POOR MENNEWISCH! Al Topp was so highly indignant about Menni jacking up the price on that suit (last week's news) that Menni had to throw in six extra pair of trousers to einch the deal, besides splitting his commission with Al. It's no mystery now how Captain Topp is able to afford that yacht on Hamilton Lake. . . . We welcome to Bldg. 26-4 Nova Walker, Gwen Robinson, Nora Vanover and Agnes Robinson from Bldg. 17-3. They have joined the stackers. A welcome also to Pat Holley and Sarah Beard of the Green Room. . . . Will someone give Dutch Norwalt a 10-foot boat so he can turn around on that lake of his without having to get out on shore? . . . For the first time in centuries, Mr. Schurenberg has given up his third week's vacation during the World Series. He says they are "Sour grapes." . . . HOW THE MIGHTY WILL FALL. Edna Bailey bowled her usual 120 last week. Did milking the cows have anything to do with that? . . . We sure wish Al Topp would quit making monkeys out of Lawrence Klaren and Bob Enz. They were seen crawling up and down on the test cage after reading last week's news. . . . Does anyone have a seeing-eye dog they aren't using? George Harmeyer surely would appreciate borrowing it for awhile. He wouldn't give any explanation, but when he came into work last Saturday—well, you could see for yourself. Someone had really given him the old one-two. Maybe you could hire Mel France out as a bodyguard, George. . . . Gladis Getts, the former reporter for the column, who left the company last Friday, would like to thank everyone for the wonderful gifts she received. She said, "I loved everyone of them." (I'm sure we all hate to see her leave, and wish her much happiness in the future.) . . . BEST WISHES to Jean Stell, who will be married Saturday, Sept. 29. The office girls are planning a dinner for her at the Colonial.

SHOWS OFF GIFT—Walter Schust (second from left), is showing a toaster he received as a retirement gift to his daughters Dorothy Pooler, Bldg. 31-1 (left), and Mildred Heinkel, Bldg. 4-6 (second from right), and Robert Pequignot. Mr. Schust retired this month with 32 years of service in the General Tool Division. At the time of his retirement, he was a boring mill operator.

BIG BOWLING: Andy certainly had a big night Wednesday bowling. He had a 632 total, and that's good in any language. Hope you do equally as well for the Airliners. . . . Happy birthday, Evelyn Kissinger. We all wondered what the surprise was as you gently lifted the package and walked away with a glitter in your eye. . . . In case anyone would like a new profile, ask Bernice and Betty. They have a new one on display. . . . After reading a certain article in the paper Sunday, Elmer Harshman has decided to hire a body guard. . . . Helen Baringer ran a screw driver in her finger last week and had to go to the dispensary. When she came back, the first thing she did was pick up the screw driver and ram it in another finger. . . . Ruth R. extends her appreciation for the beautiful flowers sent when her mother-in-law died. Our deepest sympathy to you, Ruth. . . . Millie is adding a new member to her family—a little puppy. . . . Our sympathy to Nora Redley, whose sister died. . . . I've heard Buckmaster cut his hand on a piece of tin. Buck says he hit his wife. The truth is he was going to spank his son when something slipped up and Buck was the one who took it. . . . SO LONG, FRANK: We are going to miss you, Frank Quinn, but we want to extend our best wishes and years of happiness. We had a hard time catching Frank last Friday long enough to present him with a gift. Finally he was brought up handcuffed to Bill Walt, so he couldn't get lost again. Good luck, Frank. . . . Mardo Tobias was on vacation last week, but he ended the week helping Dick, his son, build his garage. Mardo says it's not enough to have stiff legs and sore hands, but now he is losing the seat out of his pants from scooting around on the roof. . . . Margaret Hilgeman, her husband and a friend made a canoe trip last week-end from Spencerville to Fort Wayne in 10 hours. Margaret says the trip was a great success, with no spills or accidents. . . . IT COMES BACK: Maxine R. always gets her money back somehow. She put 10 cents in the coke machine. A half hour later she remembered her five cents change and it was still there. She sent a dollar bill down on her tray in the cafeteria, but got it back just in time. . . . Jack Hoopingartner is the teller of tall tales, especially fish. Jack says the fish jump in the boat so fast he has to take the pole and knock them back out.

SHIPPING: Welcome back to former employee Betty (Yoder) Stebing, who's giving the files her closest attention. . . . Another new face greets us in Complete File. Upon closer investigation we find the owner is Barbara Nichols. . . . Farewell from all the gang to a grand old gal, Mary Ann O'Brien, who leaves the plant today to take up duties elsewhere. . . . Betty (Millhouse) Campbell talked the Army into giving hubby (former third floor employee) a furlough so they could visit all their friends and relatives. Texas must be agreeing with Betty, because she looked swell. . . . Flash! ! C. L. Saurbaugh has taken the lead over Helen Elbert in the fly swatter versus the fly race. Mr. Saurbaugh has one of those new bright yellow plastic fly swatters, possibly that accounts for his amazing record. . . . Happy birthday on Monday to Marie (Welch) Dunn, and Thursday to Charlotte Daun. Belated greetings to Sarah Harris and Katie Minehart. Anyway, gals, the candy was delicious. . . . RECEIVING: Dorothy Ehernman is in the market for a canteen, Army style, one that fastens around the waist. Dorothy is always forgetting to take her thermos bottle home and this would solve her problem. . . . Things have been rather quiet in the Receiving Section. So quiet, in fact, that Marie Renz had decided to liven things a bit by passing out song sheet copies of "I'm Just Wild About Harry." While we all sing together, Marie, tell me very confidentially, who is this guy? . . . Paul Thomas and Joe Rygowski might have patched up their little differenees, if Paul would have had enough courage to have given Joe that coke he had for him, a special kind, one of Paul's own recipes.

If in trouble call the sheriff
For good dependable service
Day or night, Fortune-danger
Who is it? Bob Kurtz—The famous fatman

MAILING: Welcome to Bud Hensler. . . . Belated birthday greetings to Ralph Miles. . . . Hurrah for Jack Woodcox. He has a brand, spanking new thermos.

"My advice is, henceforth don't go into the wrapping department and argue politics!"

The A. F. A. B. M. (The Association for Abolishing Blue Mondays) is growing quite rapidly under the leadership of Richard Koop. . . . Dick Arnold and Les Hahn spent Saturday in Detroit. Dora A. would like to know if they met Arthritis? . . . Since the candy lady won't be with us long, Tony K. brought his cow to work. What we would like to know is how he's going to get chocolate milk. . . . Mauri Cox and Ed Ellenburg are on vacation this week. . . . To make the week complete Hank Lantz and W. A. Miller were off Monday. No wonder it was so quiet. . . . All kidding aside it's just too quiet, hope they're back soon. . . . Question of the Week: What part of the car is E. E. Ellenburg driving, or is it a car? . . . Dick A. might improve the appearance of his Ford if his partner would give him some co-operation. It has been said that the only thing wrong with his car is the loose nut behind the steering wheel. . . . Mystery of the Week: Does Tony have any more nickels?

POOR DOG: The other day Al Telschow spied a dark spot on their new living room rug. Mrs. Telschow got ammonia water and tried to clean the spot while Al was looking for the dog. The next morning they discovered the spot was a shadow of a leaf from a planter-lamp. . . . We miss seeing Robert McCague around. Bob had an operation this week and is in the St. Joseph Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery, Bob. . . . Lois Yager had the surprise of her life when she sent her husband to the store. He came home and gave her a box. The surprise was a new watch. . . . What kind of memory does Irma Beard have? She walked to the far end of the parking lot and then remembered she parked near the guard house. . . . What did Harley Springer do to get all the brass on his baseball team? . . . We missed Elise Jones at work. Since it was the Bluffton Street Fair and Elsie had company, we can understand. . . . Coy Copesius went to Albion to visit her mother, who has been ill. . . . Erma Fredricks had a busy week-end as hostess for a family reunion at her home. . . . Hazel Dillworth entertained company Sunday. . . . Mary Rose is spending the week-end in Kentucky with relatives. . . . The following poem was found on the floor so we shall put it in the news, hoping to find the author.

TRANSFERRED

I have been transferred to a new joh.
I certainly hope I don't play hob.
I am leaving my old boss who was a swell guy
To get used to a new one, who doesn't know me.

I can tell by the look in the new man's eye
He's not so sure he likes little ole me.
But I'll tell him how lovely he looks
You see men like him only in hooks.

His clothes are perfect and, oh, what hair
I could chase a man like that into his lair.
I like his looks and I hope he likes mine.
They tell me he's known as Fireman Prine.

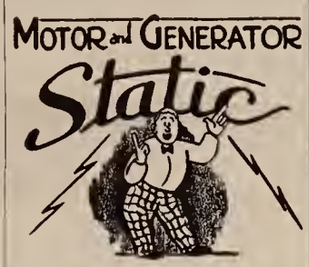
Gladys Pantazin and Clara Gidley attended the Elex Conference at Oliver Lake over the week-end and report a wonderful time. A lot is in store for the Elex program this year. . . . George Ryan has dirt for sale by the teaspoon or any amount. He still has about three yards to get rid of. Why did you buy so much, George? . . . We think Gus Harrison's new name "Adorable" is quite cute, and also Doyle Sheets' name, which is "Herkimer". . . . Pearl Everly, Laura Gerber and Linda Wahrer called on Iva Powell, who has been ill for some time at Churubusco. . . . Catherine Chilcote is a patient at the Lutheran hospital following an operation. Louise Sinn called on her Saturday and reports she is coming along grand. . . . The girls in group 17x61 would like to know where Cozy Walper got her bright blue apron. We have heard of Little Boy Blue but not Little Girl Blue. . . . We welcome Ann Tredway, Rosie Koons, Alice Alspach, Marie Forst and Pauline Babcock back to work. . . . What kind of hammer was Doyle Sheets looking for in the catalog? Ball-bearing hammers are hard to find. . . . Harold Fletter would appreciate any information on how to grow banana trees in his back yard. "For greater economy on the family pocketbook," says Harold, who likes bananas three times a day.

Wants Recipe

. . . Anyone wanting to know how to roast squirrel ask Maurie Roe. He has a recipe all his own. He says they are delicious if you have sharp teeth. . . . Gladys Pantazin would like to know how to cook chicken and noodles that don't taste like feathers. . . . Maybe if Charley (Squirrely) Briggs would talk real nice to Eric Hellwig, he might tell Charley where that good squirrel farm is located. Are you going in the fur business, Charley? . . . We wonder where George Marschand got his bouquet of roses at the Bluffton Street Fair? . . . There are several stories going around about Bob Johnson's wound on the top of his head. He says the garage door fell on him. Stick to your story, Bob. . . . The squirrels don't come to Paul Lecoque fast enough, so he took a squirrel caller along with him. We hear it wasn't so successful though. . . . We hear Queenie is getting some rest since the fair is over.

Get-well wishes go to Emma Bultemeier, who underwent surgery at the Lutheran Hospital, Room 261. We miss you, Emma. . . . Polly Frohning got a very deserving kiss the other day. But then, people who wear signs on their backs, should be kissed. Don't you think, Polly? . . . Esther Weeks hurt her hands. We think she did it on purpose so her hubby will have to do all the housework. . . . Happy birthday to Helen Duff and Ida Pratt. The treats were wonderful, girls. . . . Herb Staak has got his wings. He's going to Aircraft. . . . Welcome, Jack Roop, to 1x29. . . . Martha Scott had a very mysterious phone call. Better call out the dogs, Martha. Incidentally Martha feels pretty bad about her cocker spaniel taking off for parts unknown. . . . We wonder who had the most fun opening gifts at the party, Betty Madden or her daughter Vicki. I'll put my bet on Betty. . . . We want to thank everyone for their cooperation in helping the Madison Larry family. It was really appreciated. . . . Doris Doehla got sprinkled the other day. But isn't it a little late in the season for that, Doris? . . . There isn't enough floor for Delores Nichols to walk on so she walks on her skirt. . . . Dale Stalter keeps the candy machine empty of all Planters peanuts. Whenever Dale runs low on energy he runs for the candy machine for more peanuts. . . . Congratulations to Dick Clancy. The stork left a baby girl at the Clancy house. . . . Jim Ryder is driving a new Plymouth. . . . Lucille Heatherington is looking at the world through new eyes. . . . Alice Knerr is leaving us this week. Our best wishes go with you. . . . Betty Madden ate some pork brains a week ago and she says she can still taste them. But there is quite a difference between baked beans and pork brains. How do they taste? Certainly not like baked beans. . . . When, Jim Lindley walked down the aisle everyone hollered "Moo." It is his "cow-moo" shirt, but it looked more like a guernsey cow.

Our friend Ross Sonday is leaving for the Army soon. Be sure and come back and see us whenever you have the opportunity and let us know how you like army life! . . . Hazel Stauffer has decided that she doesn't want to go on a camping trip after her experience last Friday. She went with her daughter on a Girl Scout overnight camp. Wouldn't you know, it rained. . . . Peg Tschanen Phillips' hushand walked out into the hall of the apartment building in his stocking feet and the door shut behind him with the key on the inside. Imagine his embarrassment when he had to walk down the hall and call Peg and ask her what to do. What he didn't know was that she had a hiding place in the hall for an extra key! . . . Fern Hollowell goes just wild about antiques. She tried to buy everything at the Antique show. . . . Wonder why Lee Cupp and Louie Barrow didn't stop in Logansport. . . . Del Winters is on his vacation. He went to Arizona. . . . Edith Harchelrode got her sleep out the other morning and she thought it was time to get up. When she went to get the morning paper, it wasn't there. She looked at the clock and it was 4:30 a.m., just an hour too early! . . . BEULAH'S BACK: Beulah Briner is back at work. She started the day off right by becoming a grandmother again. Another grandson answers to the name Dennis Craig. . . . There has been some additional sparkle around Anith McMaken and Ruth Gerhardstein. They both came to work the other day with new diamonds. Hope both you girls and your husbands-to-be will be very happy. . . . John Figley sure is happy since the picture of his family is posted again! . . . Avery Spade doesn't think he is living right. The fish just don't bite on the plugs he uses. When he uses yellow ones, they are biting on red ones! . . . As we all knew John Figley was up in Michigan on his vacation. What we just found out is that he got his shoes full of sandburs. He thought it was buckwheat and he brought it home to sell. He finally sold some of it to Bill Schultz for a bunion cure and now Bill had to take his week's vacation to rest his feet! . . .



Recruits Wanted

Russell Rose bought a lot at Palmer Lake in Michigan. Next spring he will be looking for carpenter recruits! . . . Jay Meichiel is on his vacation, probably at his cottage at Jimmerson Lake. . . . Wilbur Wells might be a whiz in finding his directions in the woods, but he can't find his way in a parking lot! He parked his car at a different place and couldn't find it. . . . Ruth Hinc is known to friends as "Penny Ruth" since she collected 110 pennies from the check pool last week. . . . There are some people in this world whose hearts are in the right place. The donations for the Madison Larry boy amounted to $50. Thanks to all the nice people in Bldg. 4-3 who gave so graciously.

Another bit of good advice is never to start anything you can't stop.

Jerry Weber allowed only one hit and struck out eight as the Firemen walloped the Works Lab. Boyce led the Firemen attack with a home run, triple and two singles. Norm Greider struck out eight Firemen, but received very poor support from his mates as Works Lab made their poorest showing of the year.

Thought for the Week—"The secret of my success? Clean living and a fast-moving outfield."—Lefty Gomez.

TYPOGRAPHICAL TIDBITS—Classified ad in Thompsonville (Conn.) Press: "WANTED—Man to Wash Dishes and Two Waitresses." . . . Wedding story in Muncie (Ind.) Star: "She Wore a Juliet cap encrusted with seed pearls, to hold in place for her two-tiered veil of illusion and white ballerina slippers." . . . Headline in Salt Lake City Tribune: "Girl Passenger Says She Was Not Being Kissed; Driver Fined for Carelessness." . . . Filler in Bedford (Ind.) Times-Mail: "The nomadic Nunatamik eskimos built portable dame-shaped willow huts." . . . Personal item in the Wellington (Ohio) Enterprise: "Although not entirely completed, the ..... family is now occupying its new residence." . . . BIRTHDAY: Congratulations to R. G. (Dick) Saunders on his 30th birthday that he celebrated Sept., 24. Dick received several telegrams from very important people and quite a few birthday cards. Dick passed the candy around. . . . FRAIDY CAT: We have just learned that K. L. McDaniel celebrated his birthday during his vacation in the month of August. He kept it rather quiet, as he was afraid we would find out about it. However, he did not fool us. We know he was just 39. . . . INDIAN SUMMER: The annual argument that occurs with the going of summer is here again between yours truly and Carl Shidler, Bldg. 31-1. I still contend that Indian Summer sometimes arrives after November 11. I would appreciate any information on this subject. LUNCH—Bernice Stroh brought what she thought was her lunch one day last week. Upon opening, she found she brought a sack of peaches. . . . PIPE SMOKER. Talked to Monroe Brosius today regarding his pipe. He says the pipe has now become so strong that instead of him pushing, it pulls him along. . . . POISON PEN: Don Schultz, otherwise known as Poison Pen, again laid down on the job. This week he gave us no news whatever. Hope you can do better next week, Don.

Small Motor defeated the Squares 7-6, in a close, hard-fought game. Kiester struck out seven Squares and gave up eight hits as he bested Gil Carl, who gave up six hits and struck out six. Ed Bienz had the big blow, a home run with two on, in the third inning to put Small Motor out in front, 3-0.

Small Motor and Firemen will clash Wednesday night for the second half championship. Firemen are first half winners, and should they win this week, they will be league champions. If Small Motor wins, they must play Firemen in a two out of three playoff for the league championship.

If you've ever put in a long day of cross-country driving, you probably got a new idea of how big this country is. But maybe you didn't know that our country covers nearly 2,000,000,000 (that's right, two billion!) acres, and more than half of them are farm lands.

ROUNDS OUT 30 YEARS—Joseph B. Kuehner, Bldg. 4-1, is shown at his job as a punch press operator. Mr. Kuehner celebrated his 30th anniversary with G-E Wednesday, Sept. 5.

Turf Toppers, Owl Putters Take G-E Club Golf Titles

The pins are continuing to fall in the Small Motor League with L. Dolan's 226 topping the evening play. Kenny Williams sweated out a light hit in the tenth frome and collected a strike to get his first 200 game this season, a 201. Kammeyer bunched strikes and spares to pick up a 203 and Gucher ended with a 210.

The quiet Dubs are leading the league with a five win, one loss record. Drafting, Tools, Office and Koorsen Painters are tied for the next spot with a four and two record.

Ladies' Friday Night League

Team No. 8 is leading the league with a 6-0 record, followed closely by teams No. 4, No. 12, and No. 6, who have lost only one game for a record of five and one.

Sue Siedel was high for the girls with a 213 game. Sue's evening total was 534. Team No. 4 collected a 802 for team high game. Lee spilled the maples for a 197 and Plattner gathered a 177.

G-E Masonic League

Doric is still leading the league with a seven win and two loss record. Fellowcraft and Squares are tied with 6-3 each.

W. Gidley put together two 200 games, a 211 and a 222, plus a 172, to end up a good night's bowling with a 605 count. Braden counted with a 223. Moore and Lauterberg had identical scores of 212 and Ficher had a 202.

Ladies' Monday Night League

The Pepperettes continued to lead the league by winning three games to make the season's record of eight wins against one loss. Handicappers are close behind, just one game out with a seven and two record.

Pepperettes had the night's high score of 2167 with Team No. 7 rolling a 2,158. Marge Huber added another 500 score to her record by rolling a 504.

Office League

Standardizing and Aircraft still are tied for first place with an eight win and one loss record. The night's team high score was rolled by Standardizing, a pin heavy 1,055. Reproduction Team got hot and came up with the next high, a total of 1,007.

F. Schlink led the single game high, a big 256 count. W. Miller was next with a 210; M. Oberlin, 205; T. Ross, 204; C. Rump, 202, and D. (Plunger) Stoneman, 202.

Bob Zollers is practicing on splits. At least, he is trying to make double pinochle. He had it three times Monday night.

G-E Fraternal League of Decatur

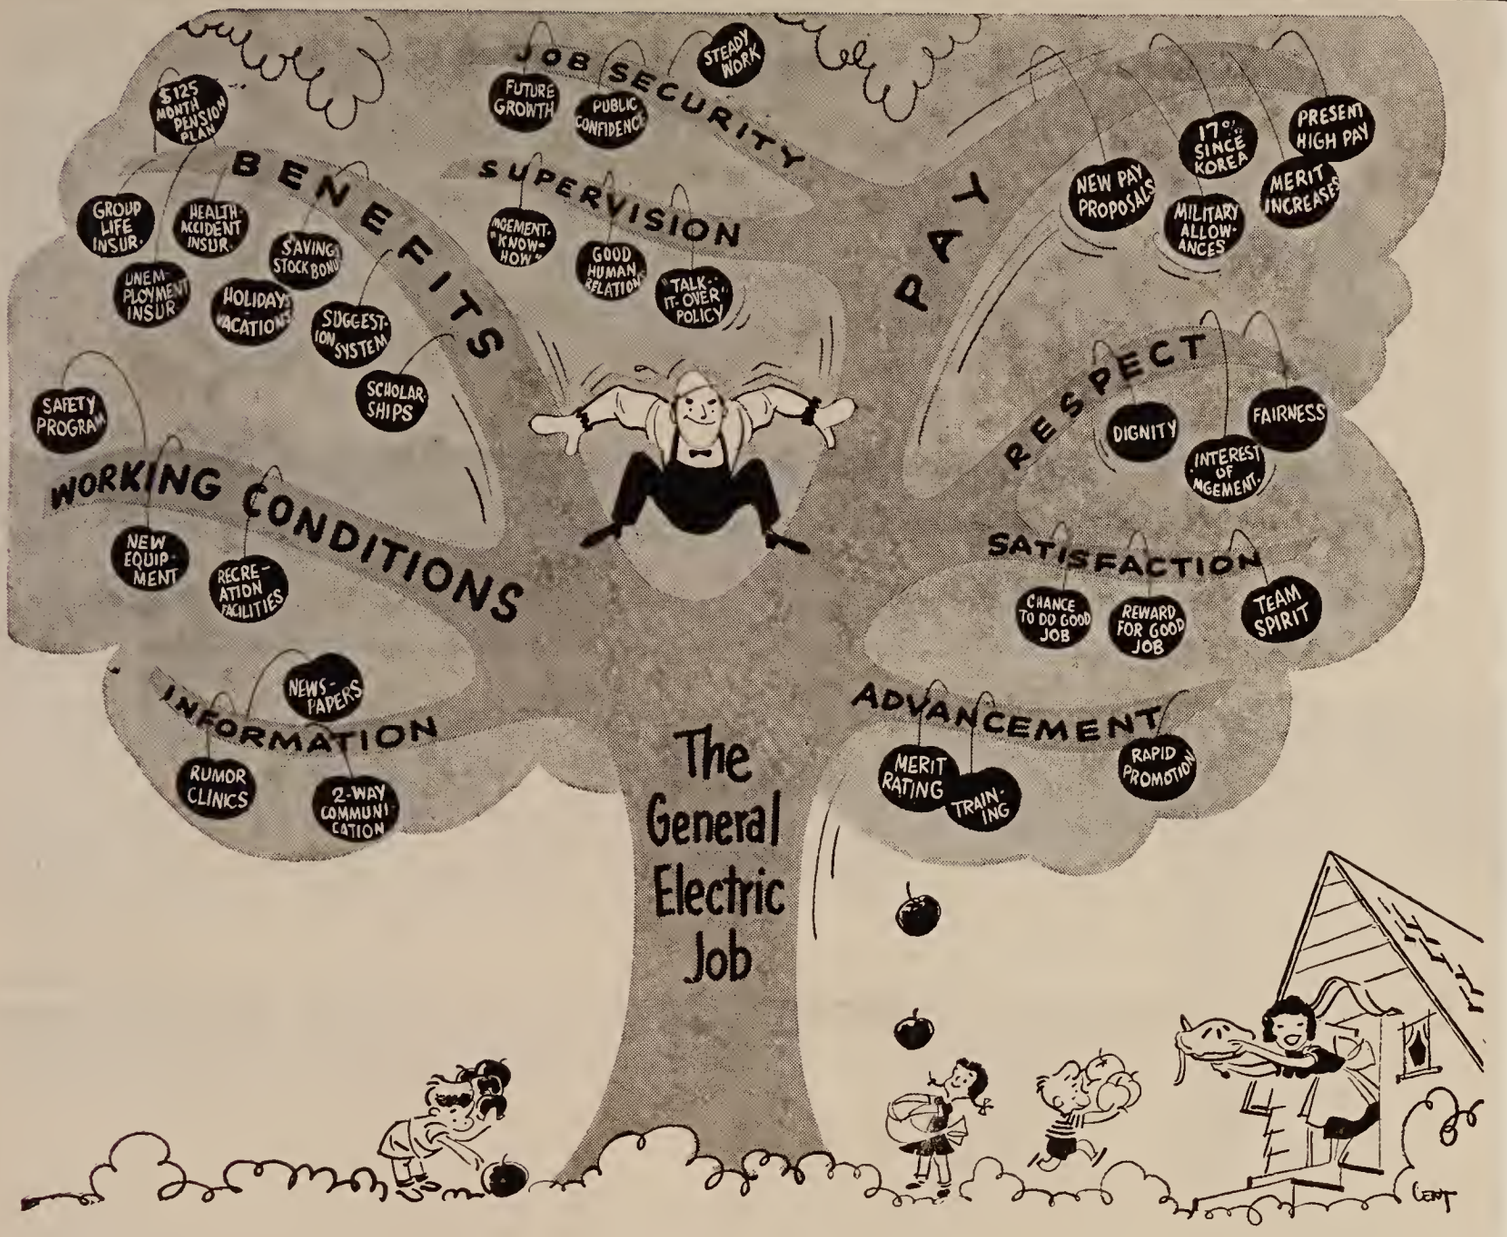
Peterson Elevator was red-hot and won three games from K. of C. and Teeple Truck Lines won three from G-E Club. Moose-Burke won two from Elks and the American Legion team was on top of two games, winning two of three from West End Restaurant. Teeple Truck Line had the high game for the night, a large 1,015 count with West End Restaurant right behind with a 1,004.

Faulkner beat Berry out for the night's high series. Faulkner had games of 147, 237 and 254 for a total of 638. Berry bunched games of 262, 192 and 182 for a total of 636. Other 200 counts were Zelt, 223; Petrie, 244; Andrews, 203; Reynolds, 208; P. Hoffman, 203; Laurent, 205; G. Schultz, 212; Briede, 201 and 207; Kitson, 205; Bales, 212, and McIntosh, 210 and 223.

Monday Night League of Decatur

Paekers won two games from Stators and Office won two games from Flanges.

Schuster had games of 202 and 213; Laurent, 213; August, 213 and 209; Geisler, 203, and Berry, 211.



Apprentice Hoopsters To Enter G-E League

The Apprentive School will again enter a basketball team in the Interdivision basketball league. This year's team, along with a nucleus of players from last year's squad, will be strengthened with the addition of several new players.

Last year's team, under the direction of Thomas Ahr, went through a fair season and the following players are returning: Donald Batchelder, Jack Enycart, Donald Beitz, Harold Wilkerson and Thomas Ahr. Most of the new men formerly played for a local or area high school, or an independent team.

Paul Wuttke has been chosen to lead the team as player-manager. Paul has played on several teams in the Interdivision league in past years, with this his third year as an apprentice team member.

The first practiee of the year will probably be scheduled sometime next week, Mr. Wuttke said. All apprentices or apprentice graduates interested should turn out for this first practice as a selection of this year's team will be made. Contact Paul Wuttke for further information on Ext. 739.

BIG Apples...and Lots of Them!

LOTS of big apples show through the foliage of the General Electric "job tree" above. But there are many others hidden by the leaves. And there are many more yet to come, we hope, as time goes on and we work out improvements together. Still, we thought it might be worthwhile to take this look at the already great variety of attractive benefits which have thus far grown to maturity on our job tree.

Memos FROM TAYLOR ST. SHIPPING

By Barbara Schuckel

Vivian Grepke was the guest of a dinner shower at the Berghoff Gardens. Attending were Vi Schneiders, Carol Harrington, Maxine Householder, Betty Bartley, and Barbara Schuckel. Marilyn Spice and Mary Wakeman were unable to attend. Vivian will be married Saturday and will spend two weeks honeymooning in Florida. . . . Welcome to Ruth Crockett and Walter Roggensee, two newcomers to our office. . . . We're getting kind of used to seeing Johnny Welch around. He's been helping out as edit man. . . . Kathleen Roush seems to be well settled in our group. She won't play cards with us, though. She's too busy knitting a pair of socks for her husband who is stationed in Alaska. . . . Marilyn Spice's folks celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday. Marilyn said they all had a wonderful time at the reception but it left her a little tired. . . . Carol Kissinger will be getting around a lot from now on. She just bought a '50 Chevy. . . . Someday Al Kruse may give up smoking cigars. He gets an awful lot of complaints. . . . Norman Gertz stays back in his cubby hole at the mail desk so much we girls are beginning to think he's afraid of us. . . . Gloria Kumper is on her vacation. . . . Clarence Schafer has news about the Bluffton Fair. Says he has a side show there. He's selling the tickets. . . . Audrey Bradfield had an offer to pose for a picture. The photographer will title it, "Love in Bloom at the G-E." . . . Joyce Grieser, Grace Taylor, Jean Smith, Bonnie Johnson and Phyllis Clifton were on our sick list this week.

Ted Waggoner got his MBA check a day later than he should have. He received it, but only seemed concerned with the blue slip that was attached to it. Ted, you should practice what you preach about checking all envelope contents. Ted's new name is "Stinky." . . . Wonder what Mrs. Pierson bought with Roger's check? . . . Bill Lewis has left for a visit to his homeland of England. . . . Harry Nickels has returned to work after an operation. Hope you are feeling better, Harry. . . . Welcome back to Bud Meese of the Broadway Power House. Bud has returned to work following his "vacation" with Uncle Sam. . . . The next time Frank Mann gets curious about a valve, he'd better call a plumber, especially if there is 90 pounds of pressure in the line. . . . Walter McKinny, a General Service pensioner, was a recent visitor to the plant. Don't stay away so long the next time, Walter. . . . Mary Roth had her picture taken recently. Forest Somers has a copy that he would be glad to show anyone.
